CORN BORER DISCOVERED AT KITCHENER MARKET

Farmers Asked To Husk Corn Before Making Sale.

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Evidence of the corn borer in many ears of corn sold on the local market Saturday resulted in the food inspector, Dr. Everett, issuing an order that henceforth all corn must be husked before being sold. Farmers need not husk until they make a sale, but they must leave the husk at the market to be burned in an effort to stop the spread of the pest.

FOUR DROWN NEAR HANLEY

Parisian Foibles

I have used beige and brown combination which runs close to black and white in popularity and which seems even more subtle, most successfully in this afternoon dress of printed chiffon. The important accessories include a beautifully cut and somewhat sophisticated broad-brimmed hat, a brown chiffon shoulder flower, and a brown belt of finest leather. The dress itself is made with long tight sleeves, a square neck two short flounces of graceful fullness and a long and squarely cut but full volant in the back of brown tulle. The simplicity of the bodice is a perfect foil to the novelty of the skirt.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

SOME ONE—I just forget now who it was—gave us a simple recipe for Iced Tea in the mail, not long ago, and I thought it was just fine. I have discovered how the trick is done in making some others so I thought perhaps you neighbors might be interested too.

* * * * * * *

It hasn't been so hot lately that we have been thinking of cold beverages—one would almost think of some hot dish—soup at every meal, for instance instead of a cold salad. But as the hot weather has not gone to stay yet, it is well to be prepared for it when it arrives again.

* * * * * * *

Sherbet Orangeade is very nice, and is made from three juicy oranges, half a pint of orange sherbet with ice water and sufficient sugar to suit the taste.

* * * * * * *

Nothing seems to take the place of the serving of simple refreshments to our guests before their departure, whether it be morning, noon or night.

* * * * * * *

Spiced lemonade is something a little different from the plain lemonade which we have been serving for years—it consists of three lemons which are thinly sliced, half a cup of sugar, one quart of cold water, and one medium sized piece of ginger root which has been covered with boiling water and steeped for an hour. Both the water and the root are used. Added to this are six peppercorns.

* * * * * * *

All this is mixed together and put in the refrigerator for half an hour or more. When serving the glasses are filled about half full of cracked ice and the well stirred lemonade is poured over it. One slice of lemon is put on the top of each glass before serving.

* * * * * * *

Another tempting dish which will make you ask your hostess what it consists of, is Mock Ice Cream Soda.

* * * * * * *

Vanilla ice cream is used and a number of the various soft drinks which have been chilled. When serving the glasses are filled about three-quarter full with the soft drink, and one heaping tablespoon of ice cream is added.

These sodas are excellent to serve as each person can have the special beverage preferred. Grape juce is well liked if diluted with charged water, but, of course, this is only one of the varieties of soft drinks that can be made into Mock Ice Cream Sodas.

* * * * * * *

Cucumbers, like tomatoes, have passed through a period when they were considered unwholesome. In the early part of the nineteenth century tomatoes were called love-apples, and were appreciated for their decorative beauty rather than their food value.

* * * * * * *

But for the past generation the place of the tomato on menus has been steadily increasing until to-day tomatoes are a good staple.

* * * * * * *

The history of the cucumber is showing a similar advance as a staple edible. Instead of being used only when fresh sliced it is now cooked in numerous ways and is also combined with vegetables and fruits to supply substantial entrees, and even main dishes for luncheons and suppers.

* * * * * * *

For fried cucumbers, we cook as many as there are persons to serve, dipping each cucumber in fine bread crumbs, in the white of an egg, and again in the bread crumbs. They are fried in deep fat like croquettes and are served piping hot with a piquant sauce, such as Chili sauce, tartar sauce., etc.

* * * * * * *

If you have never tried fried cucumber, I am sure that you will like them very much.

* * * * * * *

Have you any new way of serving cucumbers, tomatoes, or any otherwise ordinary vegetable? If you have I am sure the neighbors will be delighted to try it too!

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

INTERRUPTED PLAY.

"Now you children run along and play. And don't call me for anything short of a fire for I want to get this work done. Don't interrupt me. Now remember. Yesterday you called me about fifty times for nothing at all. I don't want to be interrupted."

"All right mother."

The children went out to the vacant lot nearby where they were building a hut and its belongings—tunnels and chimneys and gardens and wells and all the other joyful accessories. Fred was up on the roof struggling to make two rolled out tomato cans into a chimney stack and he had just succeeded in making the two edges lap on one section when his mother called. F-r-r-r-redd-eee."

"All right." Fred struggled on with the slippery tins and the wiggily wire and forgot all about that call.

"F-r-redd-ee. Come right over here. How many times do you expect me to call you. Come right over here. This minute. You hear me?"

"I'm coming."

He let go the wire and the tin and they clattered to the ground. Fred strode off in bad humor. "What you want?"

"That's a nice way to speak to your mother. And me trying to give you a treat. Working my head off to get ready to make you some ice cream for dinner. And you make yourself deaf when I call you. And grumble. Here. Go down to the store and bring me bag of rock salt. And hurry."

Fred flew. The sooner he got that salt the sooner he could set that chimney and they simply must make a fire in that hut to-night. The potatoes were waiting for the roast and the feast must go on.

Breathlessly he delivered the salt and went back to his work. He had almost fastened those two tin stacks in place when— "F-r-r-redd-ee" startled the calm. "Come over here. I want you."

Muttering dangerously, Fred went back once more.

"What you want now?"

"Is there anything else you want? 'Cause 'Im going back to the store again. For goodness sake. Why can't you make a list of what you want and not keep me running all day for stuff? I'm not grouching. Well, I don't care if I never get any ice cream if I have to keep running for things all day. Aw, I did not."

Of course that spoiled all the fun inside the house and out. You cannot interrupt a child's play and expect him to be harmoniously happy. Once started on his idea his whole being, body and soul surges ahead full speed. When you stop him it is like tossing a wrench into the machinery. It is not to be done save in emergency.

The boy was right to demand that errands be listed and done in their proper time. Mother did not want to be interrupted and forbade the children to do so, but she did not think that they had the same dread of broken threads as she had. Plan the day and let the play time, and the work time, go on serenely and smoothly, without interruption. Interruptions are a pain the the mind.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE THROAT AND INTESTINE.

One of the first lessons we learned as students was that in throat conditions, tonsilitis or other congestion, that the first thought in treatment was not the throat itself but the intestine.

The throat was also sprayed or gargled to give relief.

You'll remember that the old-time physician always looked at the tongue in any case of sickness and the coated tongue always called for the calomel, salts, or castor oil.

Thus it has been truly said that the tongue, and the throat also, are really a sort of mirror of what is taking place in the intestine.

And now an interesting observation has been made by Dr. Armaingand, a physician of the famous mineral springs of Cauterets (Pyrenes), whose patients are made up solely of patients with chronic inflammation of the vocal cords, the throat itself, and the nose and sinuses.

He has noticed that all these patients have a chronic infection of the intestine, and often also have a liver that does not do its work properly.

Many persons on the day following excessive eating have hoarseness, and inflammation of the nose passages.

Physicians in charge of the health departments of large industrial plants have found that there are more "colds" and sore throats after the Saturday, Sunday, and other holidays than at any other time. They attribute this to overeating, with no work or exercise to use up the excess food eaten.

Now this does not mean that cold damp weather, exposure, overwork, overuse of the throat is not to some extent responsible for hoarseness, and other nose and throat conditions, but it does mean that the organisms of an infected intestine do get carried up to the mucous membrane or lining of the nose and throat and cause them to become inflamed.

Of course, the treatment is obvious. It simply means that avoiding overeating, and seeing that the body gets exercise enough to use up the food, is the best method of keeping nose and throat free from infection.

POTATO FLOUR.

For creamed soups and gravies, potato flour makes an excellent thickener. It does the trick perfectly and gives a clearer appearance than regular flour.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne Wilcox:—

I have thoroughly enjoyed your column since you started writing it, and think you are doing splendidly. But where are all the neighbors? I do miss their letters, and I had counted on reading them just the same as usual, even though I might not have the pleasure of answering them.

Quo Vadis is still active, and what a thrill it does give an exile from Peterborough to read her so friendly letters! Quid Est, too, is doing her share as usual, which is, of course, only to have been expected.

Maybe after vacation is over the other neighbors will find time to write—I certainly hope so, because I wish so much to read their friendly comment. If you will allow me, I will come once in a while myself, just to stay in the neighborly circle.

Yours sincerely,
MARION.

My, this is a surprise, Marion! I'm sure the neighbors will be delighted to hear from you again—so many have asked for you in their letters and send their kindest regards, best wishes etc., for your success. Do come again sometimes—we'll all be delighted to hear from you.

* * *

"Dear Anne:—

I would feel very much obliged if you would send me the helps I have asked for and I certainly hope I am not asking too much of you.

You will have to excuse me for not writing a nice long letter like the rest of the neighbors write but really when it comes to writing letters I am a failure and I don't have to be told it either.

While I think of it I have a little hint I think is very good. When you find a ladder or run in your stockings just take a fine crochet hook and catching the stitch draw each bar through it until you have gone as far as possible and then there will only be a small hole to darn instead of a long one.

Wishing you every success in your work, I am,

MRS. J. S."

Your helps have been forwarded too, "Mrs. J. S." and you are certainly welcome to all that are on the coupon as long as they last. I am endeavoring to have some new ones printed in a short time. Thank you for the hint about the runs, they are a terrible nuisance aren't they? Even though your letters aren't long, we shall be quite happy to receive a note from you often.

* * *

Dear Anne Wilcox:—

You stepped into a hard position in taking over Marion's page, as we were all very attached to her. But you are doing well Anne, and are to be commended. I always felt as if I knew Marion personally (and maybe I did at that, who knows?) Curiously enough I am going to differ with you in my first letter and that is, re married men taking other women out to dine or a married woman going out to dinner with another man. It can't be done with safety Anne. As a rule the only one who has the chance to do that is the man, because the average woman is usually busy planning three meals a day, keeping the house nice and looking after the children. I would love to see the man who would offer to take his friend's wife and two children to dinner, or even for a soda. No, it would only be the girls in the office who would get such an offer, and I do not blame them for turning it down as you have only to be seen once or twice doing that to lose your good name.

There are some things that simply 'aren't done' and that is one of them. Can you imagine a man working all day over a hot stove canning fruit, attending to a teething baby, arguing with the wash lady about the best way to do the laundry, and attending to all the hundred and one jobs around the house. Then his wife saunters in about 8 p.m. and tells him she has been to dinner with the male stenographer, and expects him to smile and look interested?

If the wife can't have those privileges then why should the man? In 99 cases out of 100 it's only the man and unmarried girl who have the chance. As a rule, it is public opinion which governs the rule of conduct in these cases, and you cannot buck public opinion without coming off second best. The average girl respects herself too much to be seen dining with a married man. The average married woman never gets the chance to refuse.

In regard to faith its generally the one who stays at home who has to exercise that virtue. If I were asked to-day to dine with another man, I would refuse, and I am neither so old nor so ugly but I know my husband would not like it, and neither would I like for him to do it. "It is not good, either to eat flesh, or to drink wine or anything, whereby thy brother stumbleth or is offended, or is made weak."

Women with all their so-called freedom are still more handicapped than men because they are the mothers of the nation. Why then should the men have all the good times and the women all the faith? If women have to give up these things when they marry, it is no harder for the men to give them up.

Oh Anne Wilcox, I could write yards more to prove my point, but I will not say any more. In married life, as in business life there has to be a code of ethics. Women have to "stay away from other men." Then let men "stay away from other women."

Wishing you all success and hoping the neighbors will let us know their opinion of this subject. Give my regards to Marion when you write her.

Sincerely,
QUO VADIS?"

Your letter was certainly worth meditation, "Quo Vadis". Gossip is a terrible thing isn't it? One can't do very much these days without everyone hearing of it! Don't you think "Quo Vadis" that the time will come when people will be able to go out with other people without so much talk about it? I think it will, it is just because the people of Peterborough are not accustomed to this sort of thing that many resent it. It "isn't being done" as you say. As I said in the article conversation would get rather dull if one always went out in the same company. "If two people love each other and understand each other they can well afford the luxury of going out with others. I enjoyed your letter "Quo Vadis" and hope that I may receive many more interesting ones—you must feel more like writing early in the morning as your letter indicates!

THE OLD LADY SHOWS HER HEELS.

"The liner she's a lady," and, in the instance of the Mauretania, also a thoroughbred. It has been over twenty-two years since the pride of the Cunard fleet, and until recently the swiftest vessel in the passenger trade, began to shuttle over the ocean. That is a long time in the life of a ship, especially one which has been going at high speed. But when the Mauretania passed Sandy Hook yesterday she had bettered her own best time westward by 5 hours and 26 minutes and had come within 4 hours and 26 minutes of equalling the time of the brand-new Bremen.

It may be—so fleet is the Mauretania—that had Captain McNeil not been obliged to slacken speed on Tuesday when the sea roughened the empress-dowager of liners might have come closer to the record of the Bremen. But whether she ever does, so long as the Mauretania remains afloat there will be a warm place for her in the hearts of all who love a ship. They include millions who have never traveled on a ship and who have never had the delight of seeing the slim Mauretania gliding down the Hudson toward the sea which is her home.—New York Times.

A NEWER LEARNING.

A local Marco Polo causes but little flurry in the family in this age that has stripped distance of its mystery and also its discomforts. Once upon a time an almost forgotten uncle or cousin on a visit from Winnipeg or Vancouver or San Francisco would have kept the homefolks up at nights with the accounts of the sights he had seen in far places. To-day the roads are lined with whole families on the move, and children who once thought of a trip by train to Toronto as a big event, or who might have regarded the visiting relative as a stranger from some other planet, are themselves hardened and more or less sophisticated travelers.

This facility of travel is a factor in the broader education of our youth that has incalculable benefits. Many a boy and girl throughout this country knows the Provinces and probably some of the neighboring States with all the fullness and accuracy of fresh observation. Geography is a reality to him, instead of being splashes of color on a wall map. In his knowledge of his country he is beginning where his father leaves off and where his grandfather never reached.

And this objective information is only one phase of the advance many children to-day are making beyond the old limits of the public schools. Their natural curiosity is leading them also into new fields of aviation, radio, television, and kindred fields which their parents should not neglect if they are to keep abreast with Junior and his sister.

INDEPENDENT RETAILERS' PROBLEMS.

In his striking address on retail trade and its prospects before the Interstate Merchants' Council meeting in this city, Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, brought out certain important truths established or emphasized by recent surveys and inquiries.

The superficial notion that the chain store and other competitors are driving the independent small retailer out of business derives little support from the facts, according to Dr. Klein, confirming the conclusions of other investigators. Failures in retail trade are due far more frequently to avoidable errors in management than to keen rivalry or alleged radical changes in the economic situation.

To start a business with insufficient capital, to extend credit too generously or too carelessly, to offer for sale too many or too few commodities, is to court difficulty and disappointment. The retailer, said Dr. Klein, should cultivate his peculiar advantages. He alone is able to "render a pleasingly individual service." He can devise original methods of appeal. He can adjust his stock to the demands and tastes of his customers, present or potential. He is bound by no fixed rules and is subject to no restrictions imposed from a distant centre.

Success in these days, however, presupposes more science and more thought on the part of every man of affairs, whether those affairs be large or small, than was necessary in the past. The retailer can survive and prosper provided he adapts himself to the particular conditions by which he is confronted, just as does the successful contemporary wholesaler, manufacturer, exporter or importer.—Chicago News.

IMMIGRATION FIGURES.

Official figures issued at Washington show that Canadian emigration to the United States dropped 12 per cent. during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929. The total numbr of Canadians moving to the States in the period mentioned was 64,440, as against 73,154 in the preceding twelvemonth.

This is an encouraging sign. It does not take into consideration, either, the large number of Canadians who returned to their native country, or the number of American citizens who moved to Canada in the same period. The American influx has come to be an important factor in Canadian immigration figures. We in this part of the country do not see so much of it, but in the Western Provinces it is no small matter. The reason for this change of residence by Americans is found in the unequalled farming opportunities that our Prairie Provinces offer. Naturally, the movement of Americans in this direction is one that Canada appreciates and encourages, for there can be no more desirable type of immigrant than the American. He speaks our language and his customs, habits and general outlook are approximately the same as our own. Consequently, he readily adapts himself to conditions in Canada and in no time at all becomes an excellent Canadian.

Much is heard in the United States about over-population. If this is beginning to worry the American authorities, the solution lies close at hand. Canada has room and opportunity for several million Americans of the right type.—Border Cities Star.

PREMIER'S SCHOOL PLAN.

In his address at Lindsay last Friday, Premier Ferguson said he had no intention of withdrawing his plan for providing the means of extending the public school course in rural sections. This assertion was characteristic of Mr. Ferguson, because many of those in his audience were Victoria farmers and their wives, and the opposition to his proposal has come chiefly from rural parts of the Province.

"What we have in mind," he said, "is to provide a course of study that will carry a child in any school up to the age of sixteen years."

The Premier carefully stated the optional feature of his plan. No school section will be compelled to adopt the extended course. Special grants will be offered by the Government to pay for this local secondary education, but any school section will be free to decline it.

Mr. Ferguson mentioned a letter he had received from a woman living on a farm twenty-two miles from Listowel, whose daughter had just passed the entrance examinations. To continue her high school or Collegiate Institute studies the child would have to go a considerable distance from home at an age when every girl needs a mother's guidance. Many mothers in the country had to face that problem, the Premier stated, and he could have found quite a number of them throughout this district.

For everybody is aware that children are graduating from the public schools to-day at a much younger age than the children of their parents' generation. If you travel the C.N.R. between Port Hope and Peterborough, and between Belleville and Peterborough, and also from this city to Lindsay and beyond to Markham, you notice during the school term groups of children from the country and village stations who go by train to the secondary schools in the larger centres. Some go to Port Hope, others to Campbellford, some to Belleville, others to Lindsay, and so on. Conductors have a fatherly eye for them, nevertheless most parents would perhaps agree that for such children of twelve and thirteen years their rural school, equipped as Mr. Ferguson suggests, is the proper place for them. He proposes an extended or high school course for pupils up to sixteen years. As the Premier presents it, his case seems to merit the consideration of rural school sections, but so far, as Minister of Education, Mr. Ferguson has not had much success with his several ideas for what he regards as desirable for the children of the farms.

JUSTICE IN TWO COUNTRIES.

A wealthy young American, driving his automobile on an English road, smashed into a motorcycle with such violence that its rider died three days later. The American was arrested and charged with manslaughter. He pleaded not guilty, employed a famous criminal lawyer for his defence, and called eminent medical experts in an effort to disprove the Crown's contention that his admitted consumption of five "Pimm's No. 1 Cups" the day of the accident had some relation to the manner of his driving.

The New York Times contrasts effectively the procedure in this case in England and as it would have been in the United States, in these words:

"The defendant's counsel asked that consideration be shown him as a foreigner, as a wealthy and generous man, who had made a handsome settlement on the widow. His youth and excellent character were dwelt upon. The judge told the jury, in effect, that this was all irrelevant. The same justice was due to foreigner and to native, wealth and generosity had nothing to do with the case. If the man had not volunteered to compensate the widow, he could have been made to by the law. 'Try him just as you would a London costermonger charged with knocking somebody down through driving a cart furiously.' So the unsentimental jury brought in their verdict. The unsympathetic judge found imprisonment for five months the least sentence that could be justified. This in addition to the entire cost of two trials at London and one in the lower court.

"What would have happened over here? You can almost hear the jury talk. 'Oh, he's a good fellow, after all. The police always say that a man is drunk if there is any smell of liquor on him. He's done the best thing he could. Sentencing him to jail won't bring back the dead. Let him go.' And they would have shaken him warmly by the hand after his acquittal. It would have been a proud recollection that they had assisted in the rescue of this young man from the hands of the law. In their easy good nature they would have forgotten the public safety. A serious crime would have been lost sight of in the gush of fraternity and sentimentality. The judge's duties would have consisted largely in keeping his mouth shut, much as he would have liked to interfere in the interest of common sense and justice."

The Times especially commends to the attention of a party of mid-Western judges and lawyers, now in England at the invitation of the Lord Chancellor studying legal methods and court procedure, the place of the judge in an English trial. "The judge's hand in a trial," it says, "may seem to them a part of English court procedure that the United States could most profitably borrow." English judges, it adds, do not sit as puppets. It is the inference that American judges are forced into that inglorious role.—The Ottawa Journal.

A Thought

TRUE LIFE

"How can life be true life without friends?"
Constant and solid, whom no storms can shake,
Nor death unfix, a right friend ought to be;
And if condemned to survive, doth make
No second choice, but grief and memory
But friendship's best fate is, when it can spend
A life, a fortune, all to serve a friend.
—Katherine Phillips.

What To-day Means To You.

"LEO"

If August 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The influences for this date are not good, and your emotions will need to be kept under control, and your actions guarded to prevent doing things from irritation or impulse, which will damage your prospects. Be cautious in all respects! Be alert!

Children born on this August 12 will have a distinct interest in things scientific, especially the practical side of these questions. They will have genial, happy natures and will mak many friends. They will desire to travel, and it is augured that they will be able to make this desire come true.

If a man, you worship at the altar of success—you pride yourself on being on top of your job. There is an air about you of ruthless efficiency, combined with that charm of manner that is the hallmark of intellect and self-confidence. You are a convincing talker and speaker and you act with foresight and decision.

You should not marry early in life, if at all. You are better suited to a free and luxurious single existence, than for the cares and responsibilities of a home. You are capable of deep emotions, but you are naturally a little selfish and do not like interference with your personal comforts. You are a generous and genial host, but not a sympathetic friend. One would go to you with joy, but not with tears. Until you have tasted personal sorrow, or experienced a devastating love, you cannot "feel" with others.

If a woman, you are naturally a "clinging vine" type, although, if thrown upon your own resources, you have plenty of latent ability to come to your rescue. You are shrewd, and you have a far better mind than you have taken the trouble to use. You are mentally lazy, and only dire necessity will ever waken you up. You demand considerable love and affection.

SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

Mrs. John Lunn Entertains the Members of Millbrook Women's Institute.

GOOD PROGRAM.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 12.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. John Lunn entertained the local branch of the Women's Institute for its annual picnic outing at her home, First line, Cavan, on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 8, the wide verandah of the big homestead and the large grounds being particularly suitable for an out-of-doors gathering.

There were over one hundred in attendance, the guests of honor for the day being the grandmothers of the community; another guest who was also especially welcomed was Mrs. T. A. Skitch, of Bailieboro, the district president of the East Durham Institute, who, by special request, occupied the chair.

The warm greeting which the hostess extended to her many guests made every one feel immediately at home and after a pleasant time spent in social converse, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Skitch, and the regular business session proceeded with.

Among the items receiving attention was the matter of giving the prizes for the local Rural School Fair again this year, and the secretary will immediately notify J. Y. Kellough, the agricultural representative, to that effect. The prize money is divided equally for the best collection of fruits and of vegetables exhibited by any school in the South Cavan district.

It was also decided to continue the Women's Institution section of exhibits and prize money at the local Fall Fair, the secretary to be given word of this in the immediate future.

The committee to be responsible for the September meeting was appointed as follows: Mrs. H. A. Earle, at whose home the gathering will be held; Mrs. D. L. Armstrong and Miss Pearl Burnham. The meeting will be in the afternoon on the second Saturday in the month.

The answer to the roll call called for a pickling recipe or a household hint. Apparently not all of the members were prepared with the necessary information, and though it is sometimes the custom to impose a fine of five cents for answering merely "present," this rule was omitted on Thursday. The secretary, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, reported eighty-two members enrolled so far this year, and this number will doubtless be further augmented as others are still joining; the hope is that the century mark will be reached.

Convenors for the committees in connection with the banquet to be served in the Armouries on the evening of Aug. 22, when the official street opening will mean a big day for the community, were named by the secretary as follows: Miss E. Grandy, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. L. Morton, Mrs. T. Ingram, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. G. Falls, and Mrs. H. A. Earle; each of these will secure four waiters for the tables.

The district president, in her address, mentioned especially her personal pleasure in being present, and explained the fact that more members of her local branch were not on hand, though an invitation had been hospitably extended, because of the withdrawal of their regular meetings through July and August.

Mrs. Skitch devoted some time to enlarging on the value of the Institute to the individual member, developing speakers who lost their timidity and the fear of hearing their own voices, and raising also the standard of home life in the community. "A community after all is a collection of improved homes, the result of Institute activities," and the social side of the monthly gatherings was given emphasis, "as it lifts the busy homemaker each month out of the rut of domestic work and worry, teaching her that beyond the mere business of living is that of living a life."

"Friendship" was the subject of the inspiring paper which Mrs. Skitch had prepared, developing the thought that sincerity and confidence are the rock upon which it is founded, that it multiplies joys, divides griefs, subtracts from labor and adds to the capital of life, and leading up to the joy of having the supreme friend, Jesus Christ, "who when all else shall fail will never leave thee, nor suffer thee to perish in the end."

For the sports program the grandmothers, each distinguished by a dainty flower which had been pinned on by Miss Grandy, were asked to take seats on the verandah and enter into a darning contest, being given a limited time in which to mend a good sized hole in a woollen sock. The winners were: 1, Mrs. A. J. Henderson; 2, Mrs. G. Freelove; 3, Mrs. J. McBride.

Everyone had a chance at guessing the number of beans in a bottle, the ones coming nearest to the correct answer being: 1, Mrs. Robert Brown; 2, Mrs. W. Hilton; 3, Mrs. George Brown.

A "slow race" for the grandmothers, three minutes being the time limit for going round a certain area, was won by: 1, Mrs. J. Pritchard; 2, Mrs. H. C. Lord; 3, Mrs. Thomas Wood.

A "shoe contest" was also specially arranged for the grandmothers, the one who could put on the shoe of the young lady facing her, across a given space, fasten it, and run back to her original place being adjudged the winner: 1, Mrs. Robert Lunn; 2, Mrs. Elmer.

Girls 10 to 14—1, Mary Cathcart; 2, Vera Armstrong.

The picnic tea was served from long tables laid under the trees, so the rather heavy shower which came up just at supper time did not cause much inconvenience. Fortunately the rain had passed when the tables were filled a second time.

It was in the early evening hours that the happy picnickers returned home, the thanks extended to Mrs. Lunn for her hospitality being warmly expressed and genuinely felt, and the outing was considered one of the most successful in the history of the Institute.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 14.

"Mother, it's the strangest thing," he went on seriously as the old woman watched him with bright, serious eyes and did not speak—"It's the strangest thing. I know men whose wives aren't anything like as lovely as Beatrice, or loved"—he laughed—"loved one-half as much as I love her," he went on, steadily, "and they—well, they fail them in all sorts of ways. Nagging and extravagance and stupidity and utter unsympathy with them—why, the homes of some men are hell!" Hugh finished. "And mine—when she's there——"

"She can't!"

"Nonsense, dear! Why, when Pauline was a little girl, don't you remember the tremendous fancy she took to you——"

"She was about eight, mother."

"Certainly she was! Oh!" said his mother in a slightly altered voice. "Oh, I see——"

"If it's going to happen, it's going to happen," Hugh said presently, in a voice he tried to make philosophical. "And if I have to face it, I have to face it. But it seems to me that if anything—if anything ever takes—my little girl away from me——"

"It seems to me," said his wise old mother, in a silence, after a somewhat anxious glance at him—"it seems to me that Beatrice is the sort of woman who does whatever she does thoroughly—whole-heartedly. There's nothing petty about her. You're just — fortunate, Hugh, that's all. I gather she had a hard childhood and was only waiting for a sympathetic atmosphere to bloom out as she has. You'll have to be very gentle and very generous to hold her, Hugh, but you'll hold her, even when she—grows up. And meanwhile"—she paused—"meanwhile, I wouldn't encourage interests that——"

"That what?" he asked, watching her intently as she hesitated again.

"Well, that draw her away from you, that accentuate the discrepancy in your ages."

"And friendships too?"

"Well—" said his mother, with a significant shrug.

"Now do you know, mother," he said, after a silence, "I differ with you there."

"I know. What I advised seemed like managing her—restricting her. But it would be only for her own happiness in the end, Hugh."

"I think her own happiness," Hugh suggested, "is to find her own feet and to understand."

"It might upset her most terribly, Hugh. She's little girl enough still to want to be protected, to be afraid of life."

"Yes, but it would have to be, mother,"

"Not that, perhaps. That's bound to happen; that's happening all the time. But if she——"

He stopped, his tone reluctant, as if it pained him to go on.

"If she fell in love," she said. "You mean if she fell in love? That is, in the young sense—in the emotional sense—as girls do——"

"I suppose so."

"Hugh," his mother asked, after a silence, "what makes you think that she doesn't love you, dear?"

"Oh, she does. She does. But there seems to be a different kind of love for every year of a woman's life," he said wretchedly.

"You never were jealous of Alice," she reminded him, mildly remonstrative, after a while. "And Alice—Alice liked to play with fire now and then too," the old woman presently added, smiling.

"Yes, I know she did. But I never was jealous of Alice. I was young when I married Alice; I took life for granted. But now—now," he said, throwing away his cigarette, crossing his arms, and trying to smile, "now I take nothing for granted. There isn't an evening, when I go home to her, that the miracle of her—the sheer sweetness—doesn't strike me. When she comes down to the office and opens the door of my room and steps inside and closes it behind her, and stands there looking at me from under her hat—why, I might never have seen her before! Just to have her on the seat of my car, beside me, makes me feel as if it were a party. It's'—he laughed, but there were tears in his eyes — "it's that way with me!" he said simply.

"She isn't at all the type that pays any attention to other men," said the mother, after thought.

"If ever she does," Hugh assured her, "she shall have her head. I'll put nothing in her way; she'll go as far as she likes: she shall have anything—anything!—that means happiness for her."

"I hope there'll be a child!" old Mrs. Challoner said abruptly, after a silence in which she had looked irresolutely at her son and away again more than once.

"I hope so too."

"Does she?"

"Hard to say. Her one feeling," Hugh said slowly, "about losing her baby, seemed to be that she must save me, spare me. I think she felt my disappointment as much as—perhaps more than—her own."

"Extraordinarily sweet nature——" his mother mused. And for a long space there was silence on the porch.

The blue surface of the lake, seen between s urdy pine trunks down the slope, lay like a sheet of pale satin; close to the shore the shadows were deeply, softly green. heron skimmed the water; a canoe, with a man and a girl in it, shot out across the peaceful expanse, and the girl waved.

"It's young Harriet, with the Tait boy," said the oldest Harriet of them all, waving a stout, majestic old arm in answer. "Where's Beatrice?"

"Playing tennis."

"Why aren't you playing, Hugh?"

"I was. We had men's doubles, and she scored. But it appears that she and Bert had some bet left over from yesterday, and they plunged right into a game when we finished."

Mrs. Challoner looked at him sharply, but he was staring off into space, a vague smile in his eyes, and did not meet her glance.

"Who else is down there, Hugh?"

"Oh, everyone, Minn and the Herendeens and Peter—unless he's gone for a shower; he played in our set."

"Seems awfully hot for tennis," the old woman said in a faintly discontented tone. "If you swam afterward," she added, "they must be 'most done."

Loud shrieks from the direction of the tennis court, coming faintly through the woods, confirmed her words, and two or three minutes later Beatrice, scarlet-faced and still gasping, with Bert, also breathless and flushed, and some of the other members of the family, came through the pines laughing and shouting and settled down beside the old woman's winged, chintz-ruffled chair like a flock of birds.

"Oh, what a game!" Bert said briefly, burying his tousled head in his hands, his broad shoulders heaving under the thin, perspiration-soaked white shirt.

"Bee got the first, six-nothing," Minnie Challoner White said, maternally approving, "and Bert took the next, six-four."

"And Bert had to fight for the last, believe me," Beatrice said, speaking for the first time and smiling into Hugh's eyes as she spoke. "Oh, how I love tennis! Hugh, will you swim? Come on, we've got an hour before lunch!"

"I'm just out," Hugh explained.

"Oh, did you swim? Oh, Hugh, why didn't you wait?"

"Because I was hot and filthy, and I wanted to see mother——"

"And you went in all alone?"

"No, the kids and nurse were down there and little Harriet and young Tait"

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Annual Meeting of Cavan Liberal-Conservative Association Held At Millbrook.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, August 12. — The annual meeting of the Cavan Liberal-Conservative Association was held in the town hall, Millbrook, on Saturday evening, when the officers for the ensuing year were elected, and the delegates appointed to attend the Durham County convention to take place at Orono, on Wednesday, Aug. 21, beginning at 2 p.m. standard time.

The president, ex-Warden J. L. McCamus, occupied the chair, and briefly addressed the gathering; the attendance was good, and enthusiasm was strongly in evidence throughout the evening. The officers elected were President—James L. McCamus.

Vice-President—W. W. Brown.
2nd Vice-Pres.—J. H. McGill.
Treas.—James H. Paul.
Secretary—I. W. Larmer.

The delegates appointed included the following:

Ward 1—Mr. and Miss May Earle, Mr. and Mrs. George Fair; Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Gibson; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Armstrong.

Ward 2—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Earle, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Fallis; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fallis.

Ward 3—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fallis; Mr. and Mrs. James Roddy; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McKnight; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Belch.

Ward 4—E. Keegan; Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Winslow; Mr. and Mrs. George Morton; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Seney.

President—Mrs. J. R. Eakins.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. H. Paul.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Ira Lowes
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. A. J. Fallis.
Treasurer—Miss Margaret Whyte.
Secretary—Mrs. J. A. Vance.

The chief speaker at Orono will be the Honorable C. R. McRae, Minister of Mines. Besides the election of officers, the candidate to contest the Riding of Durham at the next provincial election will be chosen. Dr. G. C. Bonnycastle is president, and Alan Campbell, secretary; both are of Bowmanville. It is expected that the convention will be largely attended.

WHEAT CROP YIELD OVER EXPECTATIONS

Crop of Garnet Near Lethbridge Averages Twenty Bushels To Acre.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press). — The first spring wheat threshing return was recorded to-day and the out-turn was better than expected. On a field of Garnet wheat on the 5,000-acre Smith farm, just east of Lethbridge, the combine showed a yield of twenty bushels to the acre. This was on spring plowed land which had been reclaimed after drifting badly.

The wheat was raised under dry land conditions and had not been expected to yield more than fifteen bushels to the acre.

OIL SECTION IS IRREGULAR

PRECIOUS METALS QUIET.

TORONTO, Aug 12.— (Canadian Press).—Trading was firmer on the whole at this morning's session of the Standard Mining Exchange. Most of the leading non-ferrous issues improved, the precious metals were quiet and the oils were irregular.

Noranda led the upward movement with a rise of 1.50 to 62.00. Arno which was leader in turnover with sales of 168,929 added a point at 48 and. Amulet strengthened 10 to 2.70. Newbeck was firm at 48 under good demand. Hudson Bay advanced 45 to 19.75. Sudbury Basin 15 to 8.90, B'Wana 40 to 5.50, Abana 4 to 2.04 and Sherritt Gordon 10 to 7.74. But Base Metals were off 15 to 5.25, Pend Oreille 10 to 6.30 and Big Missouri 1 to 1.58.

Falconbridge Nickel was up 25 cents at 13.50 but most of the high priced precious metals were marking time. Mining Corporation rose 15 to 4.50 and Teck Hughes dropped 5 to 8.10.

In the oils Calgary and Edmonton stengthened 25 to 9.25, Chemical Research 50 to 16.00, Ajax 8 to 2.78 and Dalhousie 5 to 3.75 while Associated dropped 10 to 3.90, Alberta Pacific 15 to 4.30 and Mayland 25 to 9.75.

Chicago Wheat Drops Under Favorable Reports

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Good rains in Argentina and Australia, together with a sharp unexpected drop in Liverpool quotations, led to-day to an early set-back of wheat values here. Aggressive selling on the part of commission houses developed with the market showing but little power to rally. Starting 5-8c to 2 5-8c off, Chicago wheat later underwent some further loss. Corn and oats likewise were weak, corn opening 3-8c to 1 1-8c down, and subsequently declining still more. Provisions tended upward.

HUNDREDS OF ACRES RUINED

Districts in Alberta and Manitoba Suffer Heavy Damage.

OVER THE WEEK-END.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 12. — (C.P.) — Isolated hail storms took a heavy toll of grain crops in western districts during the week end. Storms also took a toll of one life, a ten year old boy being instantly killed by lightning near Fortier, Man., west of Winnipeg, while operating a binder on his father's farm.

In Alberta a hail storm swept across country from Sampsonton, approximately 40 miles northwest of Calgary, to Medicine Hat, levelling fields of grain and causing losses estimated at 10 per cent to 100 per cent. Hundreds of acres of standing grain, wheat and oats, were ruined.

The Poplar Point-Ell District suffered from hail devastation, late on Saturday. A severe electrical storm was followed by the damaging hail and wind. Crops were ruined and many telephone and telegraph poles crashed to the ground. A stretch of grain fields, a mile wide and 17 miles in length was affected; crops suffered from 10 per cent to total destruction.

In the Fortier District, across the river from Poplar Point hail damage was from 10 per cent. to 50 per cent; many wheat fields being hard hit.

A train passing through the Poplar Point district at the height of the storm received a severe buffeting. Car windows were broken. Many of the passengers had narrow escapes from fragments of flying glass, and a young newsboy was injured, suffering severe facial cuts.

TRADING LIGHT TORONTO CURB

Major Offering in Which a Interest Displayed Gain From One to Two Points.

NICKEL AMONG LEADERS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 12 (C.P.)— Toronto Stock Exchange was slightly firmer this morning. Trading in most issues was light, but major offerings in which interest was displayed gained from one to two points.

International Nickel, Brazilian and British American Oil were again leaders in activity. On sales of 8,755, British American gained 1⅛ to 57⅝. Brazilian rose 1⅜ to 73, and Nickel was up the same amount to 52¼. Massey Harris, under more demand than usual, added 1¼ to 58. Loblaw "A" was steady at 21½ as was Walker's at 18¼.

Canada Gypsum was within a fraction of its high for the year, at 121, a point gain, and Shawinigan was in the same position with a rise of 2¼ to 101. Among the stocks in which trading was slower, British Columbia Packers gained 2 to 25, Lake Superior Corporation 1 to 24, Steel of Canada to 98, while there were fractional rim-1 to 62, Canada Cement Preferred 1 provements in Cockshutt Plow at 35 and Famous Players, 62.

F. N. Burt dropped 2 to 62½, Tip Top Tailors, 1 to 46, and Laura Secord, 1 to 45. Bell Telephone sold off slightly at 174½ and Ford of Canada did likewise at 44¾. Canada Dredge reached a new low at 62½.

Bank of Montreal added three dollars at 350 on sales of 29 shares. Imperial Oil rivalled British American in volume but remained unchanged at 29¼.

Last year Americans consumed 350,000,000 gallons of ice cream. Less than 20 years ago the United States consumed only 80,000,000 gallons annually.

SPECULATIVE CONFIDENCE IS RESTORED ON NEW YORK CURB

MANY GAINS REGISTERED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 12.— (C.P.) — Speculative confidence in the stock market, which had been badly shaken by the sharp break which followed the raising of the New York Federal reserve rediscount rate last Thursday, apparently had been fully restored to-day as bullish operations were resumed with considerable violence in a wide assortment of issues. Gains in the active shares ran from 2 to 15 points, with many of the leaders going above the prices recorded just prior to Friday's break.

The credit situation has not yet revealed the effect of a higher rediscount rate and a lowering of the buying rate on bankers' acceptances, as call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent. And there were no changes in the rates on other monetary accommodations. Wall Street awaits with considerable interest the weekly report of the Federal Reserve which will show to what extent the Central Banks have increased their purchases of bills and government securities to provide additional credit for the harvesting of crops and the normal fall expansion in trade.

The Consolidated Automatic Merchandising Corporation was formed in May, 1928, to merge a number of concerns in the automatic machine field. The company owns at least 80 per cent of the common stocks of the General Vending Corporation, Sanitary Postage Service Corporation, the Automatic Merchandising Corporation o America, Remington Service Machines, Inc., and the Schermack Corporation of America. In 1929 the company acquired control of the Automatic Ticket Register Corporation and an interest in the Autodrink Corporation.

The company makes, distributes and services automatic machines for vending cigarettes, gum, candy, tooth paste, groceries and many other packaged articles. It has developed a counterfeit coin detector attached to its machines of which some 80,000 are in use. Among its chief customers are the large 5- and 10-cent store chains, tobacco store chains, drug chains, grocery chains, and department stores.

The income report of the first year is not yet available but the business of the first part of 1929 is reported to have been the best the company ever had.

Funded debt totals $4,500,000. Capital stock outstanding includes 200,000 shares of $3.50 cumulative, convertible preferred stock of no par value and 2,050,000 shares of no par common. The common stock is deposited in a voting trust. The preferred is convertible into common at the rate of 2½ shares of common for each share of preferred up to December 31, 1929. Dividends are being paid regularly at the required rate on the preferred. None has been paid on the common.

The latest balance sheet available dated December 31, 1927, including the subsidiaries afterwards acquired shows total current assets of $4,875,082, current liabilities of $896,941 and net working capital of $3,998,141. Book value of the preferred was $33.08 a share.

THREE CHARGES FACING HEATH

Enters Plea of Not Guilty and Returns To Jail In Default of $5,000 Bond.

WIFE SIMILARLY CHARGED.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—John M. Heath was arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd today on three charges growing out of the death of Richard J. Sandlands, Federal Prohibition Agent. Heath stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. He was ordered held in the county jail in default of $50,000 bond.

The charges against Heath were the same as those made late last week against his wife, Maxine. He was charged with assaulting, resisting and interferring with a Federal Officer in the performance of his duty, resisting the officer's attempts to seize his boat, and using a dangerous weapon in resisting him.

GOVT. SELECTS BREEDING HOGS

Will Distribute Car-Load of Ideal Bacon Sows Among Local Farmers.

SOLD AT MARKET PRICES

A car-load of young breeding sows will in all probability be distributed soon among the farmers adjacent to Peterborough. The Department of Agriculture is co-operating in the purchase of these young gilts and they will be sold to the farmers at practically market prices.

D. A. McKinnon, the Government grader at the Canadian Packing plant, stated that he expects this car of sows will arrive in the city on or about the last week in September. He further expects that there will be a big demand for these young sows in view of the current market quotations for hogs, which are fairly attractive, and the fact that the adverse reports on feed crops throughout the Dominion makes the prospects in connection with the hog industry and hog prices look good for some time to come.

Must Have Right Type.

"Good breeding stock is the foundation and starting point for the improvement in the livestock industry," said Mr. McKinnon. "You may be an excellent feeder, using the best feeds available, but you can't produce select bacon hogs from short, bunty, off-type brood sows.

"Thriftiness is essential for cheaper production," he continued. "The most profitable hog for the farmer must be quick maturing and a good feeder. The best information available indicates that no one particular breed of hog is better than any other in regard to cost of production, but that certain strains and individuals within each breed are better than others. In selecting breeding stock particular attention should be paid to choosing gilts from large, uniform, early maturing litters with every indication of thriftiness.

"Every week large numbers of young sows from the best breeding stock in the country are sent to market. Government hog graders are in a position to select these and return them to the country for breeding purposes. During the past few years a large number of gilts have been distributed in this way. By clubbing together, farmers may make use of this service, or by forming bacon hog clubs. The Ontario Branch of Agriculture will supply a pure-bred boar."

It is Mr. McKinnon's wish that most of these sows will be placed in the one district or within a small radius, the object being that a pure-bred boar may also be placed for the service of the sows thus distributed.

Farmers wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity should see or write D. A. McKinnon, Government hog grader, at the local Canadian Packing plant.

MINING BRIEFS.

WRIGHT-HARGREAVES.

What looks like a new ore body has been cut on 500-foot level of Wright-Hargreaves. Find is in line with east continuation of south ore zone and is about 800 feet west of Sylvanite.

CONSOLIDATED SMELTERS.

An additional group of 29 claims owned by Michael Syndicate in the Goudreau gold field have been taken under option by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. They are located about two miles north of the McCarthy-Webb properties, which are at present being sampled by Smelters. The new option brings Smelters holdings in Goudreau up to 38 claims.

AMULET.

Extreme measures are being taken by the Amulet management to guard against information concerning the drilling on the new ore leaking out. It may be they have something to hide now. Those at the property are reported to be very optimistic, however, says our field men.

DOMINION PLANS TO PRESERVE MANY OLD HISTORIC SITES

129 Places Have Already Been Marked By Federal Board.

OTHERS CONSIDERED.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Scattered throughout the Dominion of Canada are physical evidences of some of the most romantic and interesting incidents in the annals of the North American continent. In order that these historical features should not be lost to posterity, the Minister of the Interior a few years ago appointed the Historic Sites and Monuments Board to advise the department on all matters relating to this subject.

Since the inception of this work in 1919 the Department of the Interior, on the recommendation of the Board has marked 129 sites by the erection of suitable memorials. Others are being acquired from time to time and it is hoped to mark eventually all those throughout Canada which are of a distinctive national character.

During last year a number of sites of national importance were marked and among the monuments unveiled amid appropriate ceremony was one commemorating the landing of Jacques Cartier in Canada at the Ile-aux-Coudres on September 6, 1535. The inscription on the monument sets forth that "On 6th September, 1535, Jacques Cartier anchored his three ships near this place, explored the island and named it Il-au-Coudres." Cartier's historic landing was also the occasion of the first recorded Christian service on what is now Canadian soil.

At the present recent meeting of the Board, 125 sites were reviewed, and several recommendations were forwarded to the Department of the Interior.

Of the new sites or events selected for commemoration, the following are the most outstanding:

First Coal Mine in Cape Breton— Site of the first regular coal mining operations in America, begun by the French in 1720.

Minto Coal Mine, N.B.— To commemorate the discovery of coal by the French near the present town of Minton soon after their occupation of Acadia.

King Mountain, P.Q.—The site of the first triangulation station of the Geodetic Survey of Canada, established in 1905 about 9 miles north of the city of Ottawa.

Kingston, Ont. — Commemorating the treaty signed with Mississauga Indians 1793 whereby a large tract of land in Eastern Ontario was purchased for the settlement of United Empire Loyalists.

Fort Erie, Ont.— Commemorating the enterprise and courage of the men of the Royal Navy and Royal Marines in capturing the United States ships of war, Ohio and Somers in the Niagara river, August 12, 1814.

Bay of Quinte Carrying Place— Commemorating the treaty concluded with the chiefs of the Mississauga Indians in 1778, by which a large tract of land in western Ontario was ceded to the Crown.

Quesnel, B.C.— To commemorate the beginning in 1865 of work on the Collins Overland Telegraph line intended to link America and Europe by way of British Columbia, Alaska, Behring Straits and Siberia.

Fort Frances of Wales, Churchill. —The most northerly fortress on the American continent built by the Hudson's Bay Company in the years from 1733 to 1747 to safeguard the harbour.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 12.—(C.P.) —Foreign exchange steady; demand rates: Great Britain 4.84 3 8; Canadian Dollars 9-16 of one per cent. discount.

pmitted subject to a trust or subject to some terms limiting the survivorship provision, this can not be prevented.

The question of liability on endorsed notes and liability of each partner for all the debts of a partnership notwithstanding secretly created debts by one partner was deal with by Mr. Gordon as well as the liability that children have regarding maintenance of their parents and the matter of automobile insurance. On the subject of recent changes in the Devolution of Estates Act he pointed out that where a man dies leaving one child and has not provided for the disposition of his estate by will, such a child was entitled to a one half interest in the estate instead of two thirds and the widow is entitled to the remaining part.

Be Familiar With Laws

A man in partnership when going into a company should familiarize himself with the laws pertaining to the situation and, in the case where he enters with a capital not sufficient to give him control, see that provisions are made so that he can not be forced out of the company or his salary be affected by the wishes of those with more stock in the new company. By an oversight in such a matter a man might easily forfeit the profits of a lifetime's work, the speaker said.

The appreciation of the club for the kindness of Mr. Gordon in giving his time for the purpose of addressing the club was expressed by W. R. Morris.

Young Minister Drowns In Waterworks Pond

WOODSTOCK, Ont., August 12 (Canadian Press). — Rev. Harold Carr, 27, Philadelphia, succumbed to a heart seizure while bathing in the Water Works pond at Tillsonburg shortly before noon to-day. He was visiting with his parents Rev. Albert and Mrs. Carr, Tillsonburg, for a few days, and had occupied the pulpit at the Baptist Church for the Sunday services.

Mr. Wilfred Davey returned home after attending summer school at Guelph.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 12. Isolated on the northernmost point of Australia, the family of a telegrapher named Gunn, at Cape York station, claims to be the loneliest in the world. They are cut off from the rest of the continent by impenetrable bush and shark-infested waters. They have few visitors; they have seen only 20 persons in the last three years.

WATSON FAMILY HOLDS RE-UNION

Miss Margery Watson, of Winnipeg, Honored At Gathering.

SOFTBALL GAME.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—A most enjoyable picnic was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Crow River grounds when representatives of the Watson family gathered in honor of Miss Margery Watson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James Watson of Winnipeg. Included in the number were Miss Watson's uncle, George Watson of Rawdon with his wife and family; her aunts, Mrs. Thomas Rowe, Campbellford, and Mrs. W. C. Dracup, Rawdon, with their families were also present. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Watson and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Nelson and son, Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nelson and family. Mrs. George Walker, Cobourg, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. and Mrs Gordon Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Spencer and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Milne, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hay and family, Miss Eloise Watson, Miss Mary Watson, Miss Laura Watson, Donald Jack, and Lorne Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Watson, Miss Edith Stillman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchison and family.

After a bountiful dinner, which everyone enjoyed the boys repaired to the ball grounds, where a friendly game was staged between the Watson group and a picnic crowd from the 10th Line of Lawdon Church. Twelve men to the side was the ruling number. The Watson line-up was as follows: Arden Watson, Stanley Nelson, A. G. Watson, Lorne Watson, Craig Nelson, Don Watson, L. Anderson, Murray Hutcheon, Will Nelson, Earl Nelson, Earl Hay, Jack Watson, Omhir Dracup.

Stan Nelson pitched a steady game and the most that the Rawdoners could collect in ten times at bat were 8 runs, while the Watson crew hammered out 38 lusty counters. The church team lined up in this manner: Cliff Anderson, Vic Irwin, Willis Irwin, Thomas Reid, Percy Gibson, Garland Irwin, Robert Scarlet, Vern. Heath, Thomas McKeown, William Morton, Dick Morton, Jim Gibson.

The umpires were George Anderson and Andrew Milne, but the hardest worked man of all was Herbert Watson, official score-keeper. The date of the return game has not been decided yet.

WEDDING BELLS

CLEMAGER—BARRONS.

A wedding of much interest in social circles in the communities of Marmora and Belmont, took place quietly in Havelock in the forenoon of August 8th. The Rev. M. E. Wilson, M.A., performed the marriage ceremony. The contracting parties were Miss Barrons, daughter of the late Charles and Mrs. Barrons of Corodva Mines, and Joseph E. Clemager, resident in Belmont municipality.

The bride was attended by Miss Vivian Clemager, sister of the groom, while Mr. James F. Barrows, brother of the bride, was the groom's best man. The bride looked very charming attired in a gown of blue silk, while the bridesmaid was similarly attractive also in a gown of blue silk. The wedding ceremony being promptly over, and after the customary signing and witnessing of the marriage register and certificates, the happy couple motored back for the wedding lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemager will join together in making their new home in the community where the families of both have been so long resident and well known, followed by the congratulations of their many friends and the very best wishes of everybody for a most happy and prospeorus life journey.

INSTITUTE MEETS.

ROSENEATH, August 12. — Misses Eliza and Annie Brown entertained the Woman's Institute at their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown. A large number of members and many visitors were present to enjoy the afternoon program The Woman's Institute has been most active in the past few months, which means a great spirit among humanity to a community.

Mrs. Lottie Nichol gave a paper, "What have we done for the Woman's Institute and what has the Woman's Institute done for us?" Her address contained much good and advice to everyone.

Little Gwendolyn Lircoe recited "Two Little Kittens." This little tot is a great help to the Institute, especially when the program committee has forgotten its duties. Gwendolyn is always ready and willing to help out.

Mrs. Delbert Brisbin gave a reading, after which the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. A delicious lunch was served and the usual half-hour spent in social chat.

Grain Yield Average.

The hum of the threshing machine is to be heard again in our neighborhood. The grain yield is on an average of last year. It is mostly fall wheat that has been threshed so far this season.

CHURCH SOCIETY WILL HOLD SOCIAL

Mrs. A. Nill Hostess To Members of Fenella Women's Missionary Society.

FENELLA, Aug. 12. — (Examiner Correspondence.)— The Fenella Women's Missionary Society held the August meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Nill Wednesday afternoon with an attendance of eighteen members and two visitors.

The devotional leaflet, "Plan and Pledge" was read by Mrs. Knox and pointed out that the gift without the giver is bare, that God is the owner of all; that man is a steward, and should administer all that he has as a sacred trust; and that God's ownership and man's stewardship should be acknowledged by the contribution of a definite portion of time, energy and possessions to the special service of God.

This was followed by a solo, "Teach Me to Pray," by Mrs. A. Nill.

"Doings and Dreams," chapter X in the Study Book, was covered by several descriptive leaflets telling of the work which has been accomplished in Angola. These leaflets were read by the following: Mrs. S. Leach and the Misses Donna Talling, Ruth Knox and Jessie Waldie.

At the close of the meeting Miss Hazel Smith of Jacksonville, Florida, gave a very interesting talk on her stay in that country. Mr. S. Minnis of Hamilton, came in at the close of the meeting and delighted the audience with a half hour of instrumental music on the piano.

Mrs. Nill, assisted by the girls of the organization, served lunch.

JACK PINE FAVORED FOR TIES.

Jack pine is now used more than any other species for ties in Canada. Its adaptability to creosote treatment and its natural strength have made this species a valuable material for this purpose.

During the Han Dynasty in Ancient China (about 400 B.C.) it was the custom for certain classes to pay money regularly to their medicine men and healers to keep them healthy and strong. The gods of their ancestors admonished them to preserve and cherish the "blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh."

Don't wait until attacked avoid constipation NOW

PAY attention to the warnings of future evil if you are listless—half-well. Like a thief in the night constipation will steal health and vigour. To combat the effects of faulty elimination and the daily storing up of body poisons, include more roughage in your diet.

Act now. Eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly. Good to eat, it helps to furnish bulk to your diet. You'll enjoy bran in a most appetizing, delicious form.

Make this two weeks' test and note the difference

Constipation must not be neglected. Start a two weeks' test now. Order a package of Post's Bran Flakes from your grocer.

Start by eating a dish of Post's Bran Flakes for breakfast. Eat it as a cereal with milk or cream. You will find it as delicious as it is effective. Do this every day for two weeks. We predict you will find a real difference in the way you feel.

But don't stop at the end of two weeks. Eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning for health and regularity. Post's Bran Flakes is sold by all grocers in a wax-wrapped package. Ready to eat. Write for free trial package to Canadian Postum Co., Limited, Toronto 2, Ontario.

Cases of recurrent constipation due to insufficient bulk in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.

The Empire's Greatest Timber Stands

THE last great stand of soft-wood timber in the British Empire lies in British Columbia. The timber industry of this province sets in circulation each year, eighty-four million dollars. It provides employment for one in every four workers in this province. It represents capital investment of one hundred million dollars. Nearly four thousand firms, spending fifty millions each year on equipment and supplies, are engaged in the timber and allied industries.

These are tremendous factors in the rising tide of British Columbia's prosperity. But apart from the timber industry itself, vast forests make this province a land of opportunity and a place where life is better.

Forests provide watersheds and control stream flow for hydro-electric power, a factor in British Columbia's rise to the third province in Canada in power and industrial development. Forests conserve moisture for irrigation for prosperous farms. They prevent floods and temper climate. They clothe British Columbia in beauty which attracts tourists.

And because of British Columbia's mild climate and rich soil, new forests grow rapidly on logged and burnt-over areas, contributing what is roughly estimated at six billion board feet of lumber annually to our timber wealth. Visit the Coast this summer.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12.—Crop reports which traders considered conflicting regarding the Canadian wheat crop brought wheat values slightly higher in the brief week-end session of the local exchange Saturday. Opening 1¾c to 3¼c higher, prices generally pointed to a widespread upturn. Gains were held for the first half of the session, but the publication of the Canadian Government report on crop conditions brought about a change in sentiment and the market weakened to close 1⅛c to 1⅞c higher for the day.

On bullish reports from Canada, Liverpool closed 1⅞d to 2⅛d higher. While temperatures in Manitoba Saturday hovered about the 100-degree mark, showers were experienced in all three Prairie Provinces and the weather conditions were regarded as favorable.

Wheat delivered by farmers to country elevators Saturday totalled 68,220 bushels, compared with 54,327 bushels on the same day last year.

Cash wheat spreads from No. 4 to No. 6 were generally ¼c to ½c better. Coarse grains were fractionally higher, with the exception of rye, which closed about ¾c lower.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Prices on the local cash grain market were unchanged Saturday.

Butter prices were nominally unchanged here Saturday with No. 1 Eastern Townships selling from 37¾c to 38¼c per pound in a wholesale way. Receipts were 4,597 boxes.

Cheese values were unchanged, while receipts amounted to 18,707 boxes.

Egg prices were unchanged Saturday, but in price lists for this week sent out by wholesale jobbing houses, more increases in fresh egg prices are announced. Extras and firsts will be 2 cents higher, and seconds 3 cents higher. Storage eggs will also be listed for the first time this season, owing to the current scarcity of offerings of fresh eggs. Receipts Saturday were 1,587 cases.

Potatoes were cheaper at last weeks' close, values having dropped to $1.25 per bag of 80 pounds. Live poultry was slightly easier, with dressed lines steady.

EARTH TREMORS MOST DISTINCT

In Bailieboro and district it was so severe that all the buildings in the village shook and dishes and glass in one of the stores in that centre rattled very distinctly. The farmers about the district all report having felt the quake.

However in Lakefield there seems to have been no one who felt any disturbance.

Shock Wakens Toronto

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 12 (C.P.).—An earth tremor lasting about a minute was felt in many parts of the city early to-day. The shock, the first felt in Toronto for about five years, occurred at 7.25 o'clock, but according to first reports no damage was done. Houses were shaken and windows were rattled, while scores of persons reported they were awakened by the tremor.

The shock was general throughout the whole city. East end residents along the lake front reported the vibration jarred houses in a manner similar to a heavy truck passing along the street. Members of the life saving crew felt the shock distinctly. Dishes on the table at which they were seated slid along the cloth and a leading chair toppled over. Atop the 100-foot tower the lookout man felt the structure tremble.

Up in the northern end of the city along the St. Clair district, the shock sent householders to the telephones, and newspaper offices were flooded with inquiries.

No report of a disturbance in the lake waters was received.

Upper Storeys et Worst

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 12 (C.P.).—A series of tremors which lasted about sixty seconds shook Hamilton at about 7.25 this morning. The shocks were felt most violently in the upper storey of buildings and houses, and seemed to be travelling from side to side, little up and down vibration being noticed. The quake started with a dull and distinct rumbling sound followed by lateral vibrations which gradually increased, culminating with a sharp jolt, which marked the finish of the phenomenon.

Citizens throughout the district reported seeing chairs, tables and beds move, while dishes rattled.

No damage has been reported as yet.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 12. —(C.P.)—Brantford district felt distinctly an earthquake at 6.25 this morning. Those who were in bed felt the tremors quite distinctly, while others who were up reported that even in cellars the vibrations could be felt. Dishes rattled and furniture was moved. No damage was reported at an early hour but the local newspaper office was flooded with queries as to whether there really had been an earthquake.

BEDS MOVED.

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 12.—Earthquake tremors were felt here quite strongly at about 6.30 this morning. People felt their beds shake violently, while others felt the tremors distinctly for nearly a minute, the quivering being quite pronounced.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 12.—A sharp earthquake was felt along the lake front at 7.20 o'clock this morning. Windows were broken, but no other damage was reported.

NIAGARA ALLS, N.Y., Aug. 12.—(C.P.)— Distinct earth tremors were felt here at 7.25 a.m. to-day. The disturbance lasted ten seconds and in many sections of the city houses shook, furniture was displaced and dishes were thrown from tables and shelves. The tremors were accompanied by a rumbling noise.

Reports from various neighboring towns and villages indicated that the tremblor was felt throughout the whole Niagara district, including the Canadian border line. As far as could be learned no serious damage resulted.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM PROPERTY

Barn Owned By A. L. Burbank, of Campbellford, Struck By Lightning During Storm.

CONTENTS A LOSS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 12 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Unless his barn was struck with lightning earlier in the day, L. A. Burbank is at a loss to explain the cause of the fire which completely destroyed the building and contents Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Burbank were out of town during the afternoon and did not learn of the fire till they returned about eight in the evening. There was a short, sharp electric storm in the morning, and it is thought that the barn was struck then, and the fire did not break out till several hours later.

Mr. and Mrs. Burbank had gone away for the afternoon, but their daughter, Mrs. Brown, and her husband were at home. Mrs. Brown was the first to detect anything unusual. She was on the lawn between the house and the barn, taking some newly-washed garments off the line, when she heard a sort of crackling sound from inside the barn. She thought it was the rabbits nibbling hay or some of the stock prowling around. Suddenly before her astonished gaze, the whole side of the barn next to where she stood, burst into flame. She rushed indoors, and called her husband. The fire alarm was sent in and the rescue work began.

The only animal in the building was a driving horse. It was taken out. Cows, sheep, hens and other stock were free in the barnyard or in the pasture. There were a few rabbits, some of them were destroyed and others saved. The barn was a large "L" shaped structure, wooden walls on a stone foundation with cement floor and metal roof. Its ground floor consisted of a cow stable and driveshed. In the loft was somewhere between twenty-five and thirty tons of hay. In the drive shed were a few horse vehicles, but no farm machinery. The building and its entire contents were a complete loss.

When the fire truck arrived, there was no hope of saving the barn. It was a raging inferno of flame, topped by a huge column of black smoke. The firemen concentrated their efforts on the surrounding buildings. Perhaps fifty feet from the blazing building, there was a sheet metal hennery. The heat soon had smoke coming from the walls of the smaller building, and it was only by working under cover of two firemen's coats that the men were able to get close enough to spray the walls with chemical. A bucket line to the wooden summer kitchen at the back of the house, saved the situation there.

Mr. and Mrs. Burbank had gone to meet their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hendricks who were coming from Stratford. They left town about two in the afternoon and returned about eight in the evening. Their first intimation of the disaster was when they saw the light as they drove up the road. The building and contents were covered by insurance, Mr. Burbank said, but the amount was "not enough."

The Burbank barn is situated a few yards west of the corporation limits, on the Hastings road. This is the third fire, resulting in a total loss which has occurred just outside the corporation within the last few weeks.

AGRICULTURE AGENT HAS THREE IDEALS

Gains Confidence of Farmers and Their Co-operation in Establishing Sound Agriculture.

People often ask what is the work of the agriculture representative of whom so much is heard lately. That question can best be answered by referring to the county agent work in the States, which is defined by the United States Congress and States Legislatures, and which work is similar to the agriculture representative's work in Ontario.

The Act of Congress under which the county agent work was established a number of years ago states among other things that the ideal of the county agent is to help to establish a profitable and economically sound agriculture and a satisfactory home and community life.

Expressed in another way as it is explained in the State of Indiana, the work of the county agent is strictly educational in character and consists in the building and execution of a program that will give information and secure the establishment of improved practices on the farm and in community and home life.

Has Three Ideals.

The work of the agriculture representative in Ontario is then comparable to that of the county agent. To tackle the job properly and to render efficient service to the farmers and the agriculture of the district or county the representative must have three ideals, namely (1) an object or a realization of the problems; (2) a well defined plan; and (3) a unity of purpose. In short, he must plan his work and work his plan.

The representative first studies the local conditions and becomes familiar with the problems and acquainted with the farmers, gains their confidence and seeks their sympathy, support and co-operation.

The recommendations that were sent out from the head office to the local representatives were four in number and were submitted four years ago for the purpose of building a more or less definite program for each county or district.

These which still exist were firstly that each representative prepare an agriculture survey or county analysis which merely is a business-like statement of township and county conditions based on a study of statistics and observations, showing the trend of agriculture during the past two or three decades and the indicated developments of the future.

The second recommendation was that such an analysis be studied and a development program be drafted covering a period of years, to be done in co-operation with local organizations and county leaders.

The last two were that a carefully prepared program be arranged for the year, and that a work calendar be drafted out and followed as closely as possible.

These recommendations have been out into effect and during the past four years excellent progress has been made with the county or district analyses, but owing perhaps to the newness of the undertaking and some consequent misunderstandings, all analysis submitted are not 100 per cent. perfect.

However, the analys's of the situation is the starting point in representative work and that the agriculture development program should help one to carry on.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.— (Canadian Press).—Word of the death to-day of Sir Edward Kemp came as a distinct shock to his relatives and a wide circle of friends and business associates. Sir Edward, with Lady Kemp and his family, had been at their summer home "Mississquoi" near Pigeon Lake in Peterborough county and was apparently in good health. The Canadian Senator had made periodical trips to his office here during the past two months.

SOVIET CROWD IS BROKEN UP

Youthful Communist Is Arrested in Saturday Night Meet.

TORONTO, August 12. (C.P.) — Another Saturday night melee between police and Communists occurred here on Saturday when the police attempted to break up a street corner gathering of the Soviet sympathizers.

Able Pearl, a youthful Communist was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, while a banner was confiscated which called on workers to revolt against the police reign of terror in Toronto.

The Communists plan to hold a meeting to-morrow night at Queen's Park, but Chief of Police Draper has renewed his edict banning these meetings.

SMALL BOY INJURED.

Donald Thompson, of Lakehurst, Falls From Top of Haystack.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HALL'S BRIDGE, Aug. 12. — An accident that might have led to much more serious consequences occurred in the barn of William Thompson, of Lakehurst, on Sunday, when Donald Thompson, aged five, fell fifteen feet from a stack of hay to the floor of the barn. Dr. Edwin E. Willis of Buckhorn was called, but examination fortunately revealed that the little lad suffered no more injury than shock to the system.

Reg. Dixon Is Winner Of Dinghy Sailing Event

GOOD PROGRAM OF WATER SPORTS PROVIDED AT ANNUAL McCRACKEN'S LANDING REGATTA

Children's Events Hold Interest Throughout the Morning Session.

KEEN COMPETITION.

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 12.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — Although handicapped by a sharp thunder storm, accompanied by torrents of rain in the morning and lowering skies in the afternoon, McCracken's Landing regatta scored its greatest success on Saturday when a large crowd from all over the lake, Peterborough, Lakefield and the whole district, gathered to watch the races and to cheer their favorite contestants on to victory. The regatta had its origin years ago with Mr. A. F. Choate's idea of promoting sport among the growing colony along the shore. For years this event was known as "Choate's regatta" and grew from year to year until now it has reached the point where McCracken's Landing regatta draws entries from all over the Kawartha Lakes. This year was the crowning success and already the committee, tired but happy, are planning for even better things in 1930. Even the disagreeable weather did not prevent the regatta from going over the top in every respect. The prizes were especially fine, being handsome silver cups suitably engraved. For the sailing events there were three new and very attractive trophies, the Peterborough Canoe Co. gave a trophy for the dinghy sailing, W. T. Hall of Peterborough for the open sailing, and C. J. Porter of Toronto, for the canoe sailing.

The sailing races were all well contested and were very pretty to watch; in the dinghy sailing fixture the friendly rivals of many a hard fought fight, Reg Dixon and Otto Gliddon, again tried out their prowess and Dixon won by a small margin. Gliddon was the victor at Chemong and these contests between two such good sportsmen, who learned the art on the same lake, and who can lose or win like gentlemen, are watched year by year by scores of mutual friends.

The canoe sailing was not quite such an even contest, but it was well worth seeing nevertheless. The open sailing race, which was put off till afternoon, had a fair wind and a close finish, the Flavelle craft, the "Cuddy Spark," repeated its Chemong victory, winnink by the smallest of margins from Blomfield's "Ace" of Oak Ridge Camp. Gordon Selatthen's "Skidly" which is rather a rival of "Cuddy Spark," finished a close third. The morning, with the exception of the sailing, was given over to the junior regatta, which was run this year separately, but with the same general committee. It was considered to be a very ambitious plan to run a "double header," but it was proved to be worth while. In the morning the crowd consisted largely of children, their parents and interested friends, and in spite of the downpour of rain the regatta went on, the program being run off as though the day was fine. "Were they downhearted?" Not a bit; they were the jolliest crowd of yongsters one could wish to see, racing well, showing the true British traditions of sportsmanship in the way they lost and won. There were seven or eight entries in nearly every race and though the rain poured down children and adults remained cheerful and full of optimism.

Pie Plate Race Popular.

The pie plate race, as usual, was so popular that it was run off in heats and was well contested, perhaps the most popular event of the morning's program was the boys' 'cushion' fight which brought out six entries, and like tilting was worked out by the process of elimination. The semi-finals between George Cooke and Tom Curvin vs. Charles MacLeod and Spencer Piper was a duel between two well matched teams and lasted long until the former finally successfully dumped his opponent and then met a team of much smaller boys, Kenneth Dawson and Joe Blewett, the latter showing promise of his father's skill as a canoeist and managed the boat like a veteran, while Ken, undaunted by the size of his rival busied himself with the cushion and though he lost he fought a spendid battle and won hearty applause as he made a remarkably good showing against overwhelming odds.

Ruth Gouinlock won the highest number of points for girls, and George Cooke for the boys, each scoring sixteen points. "Skookie" Elmsley and Spencer Piper were runners up.

Messrs. J. O. McCarthy, H. E. Ringel and George MacLeod were judges for the junior regatta and F. Porter the starter.

Keen Competition

The afternoon brought out even a larger crowd, as boats of all descriptions came from all over the lake bringing a crowd who apparently had the optimism of the morning crowd and though it did rain in the afternoon it was only a passing shower which hurt no one. Mr. Blonfield's demonstration with his canoe was a special feature and he displayed a skill in handling what is generally called a frail craft which seemed really super human. The crowd held its breath at his daring performance as he walked the gunwale of his boat balancing with hand and paddle, he gave a demonstration of rescuing two boys tipped from a canoe which was done in the briefest space of time and was well worth seeing. He also showed a unique method of landing at dock, end paddling, jumping, holding the balance with paddle, the double flip, shakeout and the shakeout with two in a canoe. He brought grasps of wonder from the crowd by standing on his head on the stern deck of his boat. The applause showed the appreciation of the crowd who witnessed the remarkable feat.

The mixed tandem canoe was one of the most popular events of the day as there were thirteen entries and all paddled well, the finish being so close as to keep the judges busy making sure of just how they crossed the line.

The gunwale race had also a big entry list, with lots of pep displayed. The tilting brought out only four contestants, but it was well worth seeing and had its big moments.

George Wadds eliminated Jack Livingstone in a brief but exciting contest, while Reg. Blonfield even more speedily sent N. Petiolas into the lake so skillfully that the young lady who paddled him was not even splashed. Then Wadds and Blonfield began the final battle which lasted until the former, by a lucky poke sent Mr. Blomfield overboard winning what might well be called a "famous victory."

The skiff paddling was better than ever and makes fun for everyone, no one minds if they tip over, that seems part of the fun.

Prizes Presented

The prizes were presented immediately after the regatta by Mrs. H. E. Ringel, the gracious chatelaine of the regatta committee, who in her graceful way performs this service each year.

At the close, Mr. Porter, president of the committee, presented to the press representative a very handsome silver cake plate for co-operation and assistance to the committee.

In reviewing the day's success one must not forget the members of the committee who deserve a very great deal of praise for their well balanced program, the excellent arrangements and the splendid prizes. This all meant a great deal of work and it was work well and cheerfully done, and never one word of complaint was heard when the weather man did his worst. A new and very nifty flag flew for the judges stand, with the blue and white of McCracken's Landing prominently displayed. The following are the members of the committee and regatta officials:—

Arthur Ham Eliminated By Forest Hills Youth

RYE, N.Y., Aug. 12 (C.P.).—Arthur Ham of Toronto, one of Canada's "Big Six" tennis stars, was eliminated from the Eastern singles grass-court championships yesterday by a determined, fighting youth, C. C. Hubbell, Jr., of Forest Hills, 7—5, 3—6, 6—3. The defeat of Ham was one of the surprizes of the day, as he was one of the seeded players in the tournament.

Gilbert Nunns, another Torontonian, however, experienced a better fate and advanced to the third round through two easy victories. In the morning he defeated Fred Saggs, New York, 6—0, 6—4, and later downed Paul Martin, Mamaroneck, N.Y., 6—2, 6—1.

SKEETERS LOSE TO LEAFS TWICE

Superior Pitching Gives Toronto Team Advantage of Week-end Series.

POOR ATTENDANCE.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Pitching was the dominating factor in a three-game week-end series played between the Toronto Leafs and the last place Jersey City Skeeters at the Westside Park.

Because their hurling was just a bit better than that of the Skeeters, the visitors managed to emerge with the victory palm in two of the three games.

The Leafs won 1-0 on Saturday, and 3-1 in the second game yesterday. The home forces managed to win yesterday's first game 6-4.

The teams will be idle to-day, the game having been advanced to provide for a Sunday double-header which was poorly attended.

BIRDS TAKE ONE FROM BUFFALO

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—The Birds were up on the second perch after winning the opening game of yesterday's double bill with Buffalo, 7 to 2, but they fell back to third place by dropping the nightcap, 6 to 4.

BRUINS AND RED WINGS SPLIT TWO.

NEWARK, August 12. (C.P.) Newark and Rochester divided a double header here yesterday, the Bruins winning the opener in 12 innings by 4 to 3, and the league leading Red wings snatching the night cap with a home run barrage by 7 to 2. The split gave Rochester the short series by two games to one.

Carl Fischer went the route in the long opening game. He allowed only seven hits and struck out ten batters.

READING WINS ON HITS

READING, August 12. (C.P.) — George Quellich, the Reading outfielder, set a new world's record for most hits in succession when he ran his streak to 13 in a row here yesterday when Reading beat Montreal 11 to 4. Quellich, who started his streak on Friday, hit four straight, two of which were home runs, to break the old record of 11 held by Tris Speaker. Quellich has hit four home runs, a double and eight singles.

Bailieboro Defeats Precious Corners

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 12.—(Examiner Correspondent.)—On Thursday evening the local hard ball team journeyed to Precious Corners, to play a return game of ball. Bailieboro played a whirlwind game which ended 14-1 in their favor. The game was featured by heavy hitting and clever pitching of Woods, the local southpaw. Woods also contributed a circuit blow. The line-up:

Umpires—Heigh and Dolley.

RUTH CLOUTS 500TH HOMER

Sets New Record in History of Professional Baseball.

YANKS LOSE 6-5.

CLEVELAND, August 12. (C.P.) — Babe Ruth became the first player in the history of baseball to hit 500 home runs when he slapped one of Willis Hudlin's offerings over the right field screen in the second inning of the Yankee-Indian game here yesterday. The bases were empty when Ruth hit his history-making homer.

Ruth's drive was his 30th of the season, and it increased his margin in the American leadership, in addition to sending him into a tie with Melvin Ott of the Giants and Hack Wilson of the Cubs for second place in the interleague race. Charlie Klem of the Phillies leads both leagues with 33. Gehrig's blow was his 27th and gave him possession of second place in his circuit.

Ruth's mark of 500 major league home runs is exclusive of 13 he has hit in five of nine world series.

HAMILTON CLUB ATHLETES WIN ELEVEN EVENTS

Olympic Club Members Feature Provincial Championship Meet.

L. MILLER TAKES SPRINT.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press). — Hamilton Olympic Club athletes are the holders of eight out of seventeen Ontario field and track championships. In the clean-up Saturday at the provincial championship meet, held at University of Toronto stadium, the Hamiltonians romped off with every track event except the mile run, the high hurdles and the two mile walk. In addition they captured the discus and hammer throws.

The Hamilton boys began their title drive with the very first event on the card when Harold Webster smashed the Canadian five mile record. It was the only Canadian mark to fall during the meet, coming before a thusnderstorm broke over the field and left the turf and track in a soggy condition.

Webster was the master throughout his five mile tour. For a while Walter Hornby, a team mate, kept him company but dropped back late in the race and Fred Sargent of Galt, running unattached, finished strong to take second place a hundred yards or more behind the winner. Wilf. McClukey, of the Monarch A. C., Toronto, captured third place, 35 yards behind Sargeant.

Edwards Is Winner

An unfortunate accident to Phil Edwards, British Guiana negro who competed for Canada at the 1928 Olympic games, failed to halt the dark-skinned New York University star in a sensational finish to capture the half mile event. Badly spiked as he finished the first quarter mile, Edwards lost his stride momentarily and then streaked through the whole field, minus one shoe, and won in 2 minutes 3 4-5 seconds eased up over William Johnston, of St. Catharines A.A.A.

So complete was Hamilton's domination of the sprint events that after the heat eliminations, the four final qualifiers for the 100 yard dash were all Hamiltonians. Leigh Miller won the dash, streaking off the distance on the rain-soaked track in 9 4-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second slower than the Canadian record.

Vic Pickard, Hamilton boy and another Olympic man, won both events in which he was entered, the javelin throw and the pole vault. Pickard, who has starred at pole-vaulting with the University of Pittsburgh athletes, competed unattached.

West End "Y" Ranks Next

The West End Y.M.C.A. of Toronto ranked next to Hamilton in titles captured, winning three of the field events. G. Smallacombe is the wearer of the running high jump crown, scaling 5 feet 9 inches; Chester Smith outdistanced his opponents in the running broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 10 inches, and Smallacombe came in for his second title by winning the running hop step and jump with a mark of 44 feet 9¾ inches.

The Central "Y" of Toronto took two title, H. Cleman winning the two-mile walk in 15 minutes 59 3-5 seconds, and Ben Fallman the 16-pound shotput with a heave of 38 feet 6¾ inches.

Honors in Mile Run

Art Keay, another of Canada's last year's Olympic squad, carried the colors of the Toronto Police Athletic Association to a championship in the mile run. Keay shook off the sprint challenge of Eddie King, of Hamilton, and held a 15 yard lead at the finish. Keay's time was 4 minutes, 24 4-5 seconds.

Arthur Shapman, of Windsor, unattached, led the way in the 120 yard high hurdles, with W. Pierdon, of Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, second, and A. Ravenscale, of Cobourg, unattached, third. Shapman's time was 16 seconds.

The Hamilton Olympic Club broke into the winning column in the field events when A. Zvonkin hurled the discus 129 feet 7 inches. F. Eddenden gave the H.O.C. their second field title, slinging the 16-pound hammer 126 feet 2½ inches.

Ray Lewis, speedy Hamilton negro captured the 440 yard event with a sensational finish sprint that beat out Bern Irwin and Alan Christie, Lewis' team mates. The winner's time was 51 4-5 seconds.

The 220-yard dash also fell to Hamilton, R. Adams winning in 22 1-5 seconds, F. Robinson, of Hamilton, took second, and G. D. Powell, of the Spartan A.C. Toronto, third.

Central "Y" of Toronto captured second place and the Toronto Police A.A. third. The Hamilton team went the route in 3 minutes 33 2-5 seconds, holding a lead all the way.

NEW YORK BARS TEUTON BOXER

COMMISSION GIVES DECISION

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Only a few short weeks ago the path of young Max Schmeling led smooth and straight toward all the glory and wealth of the world's heavyweight championship. To-day the colorful Teuton is threatened with fistic oblivion, apparently barred for life along with his American managers from the rings of New York State. Out of a clear sky the New York Athletic Commission, through Chairman James A. Farley, yesterday issued its final sentence in the involved and heated controversy that has raged about Schmeling's head almost since his arrival here a little over a year ago.

"The State Athletic Commission and boxing fans of the State of New York," the formal statement said in closing, "can get along without Schmeling and those who are handling his interests, not only now but for all time."

Helen Wills Clinches Wightman Tennis Cup

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 12 (C.P.).—Helen Wills clinched the Wightman Cup for the United States on Saturday, when she defeated her youthful English rival Betty Nuthall, and regained the emblem of women's tennis supremacy for this country.

For nearly an hour, while a gallery of more than 8,000 spectators sat thrilled, the queen of the world's courts was played to a standstill by the sounding, impetuous rush of the 18-year-old English girl.

"Queen" Helen won finally by scores of 8—6, 8—6.

LACROSSE PRACTICE HOLDING INTEREST

Many of C. G. E. Club Players Rapidly Rounding Into Shape.

Lacrosse seems to be taking hold among the C.G.E employees who formed a club for the promotion of this game a few months ago. Practises are being held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Sacred Heart church grounds on Romaine street and about eighteen fellows have been turning out regularly and are fast becoming proficient in the use of the stick.

The only fly in the soup however is the fact that a few old lacrosse players who do not work in the C.G.E. but who are being permitted to attend the practises are showing a tendency to "hog" the ball.

Many of the newcomers to the game are complaining that they never touch the ball at a practise and as a result are losing interest. This is a condition that will not be tolerated and if the experienced players who are non-employees do not pass the ball they will be barred from the practises.

Another condition which is causing dissension is that to-date there has not been a full turnout, which means that there are about six fellows who have sticks but are neglecting to attend the practises.

A check up is being made at every practise and the delinquents will soon be given the alternative of either turning in the sticks or being on hand every night.

There will be no practise to-nipht (Monday) due to the E. P. League playoffs but things start with a bang on Wednesday when every player should be on hand.

The exhibition game staged last Monday at Campbellford between a team from that town and C.G.E. fellows revealed the fact that the local boys are making splendid progress. Campbellford won 7-4 but the locals had a 3-0 lead for the first half of the game when they weakened and slumped before the superior condition of their opponents.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Many prominent players in "The Divine Lady" which opens at the Capitol tonight. Corinne Griffith in stellar role. Has Victor Varconi and H. B. Warner heading the supporting company.

There have been many "all-star" casts heralded by motion pictures, but "The Divine Lady," the First National picture which opens at the Capitol theater today comes as near meriting that phrase as any production of the season.

The real star of the picture, of course is Corinne Griffith, who has her greatest screen role as Lady Hamilton in this picturization of E. Barrington's moving historical novel.

More than a dozen players of great prominence in addition to character players who appear in microscopic bits surround Miss Griffith.

Victor Varconi, who has made such rapid progress in American films in a comparatively short space of time, plays the role of the heroic Lord Nelson.

H. B. Warner, whose greatest achievement on the screen was "The King of Kings," has a role of almost equal prominence as Lord Hamilton. Varconi, incidentally, first attracted real attention with his portrayals of the small but important role of Pontius Pilate in the same production.

Who does not know Marie Dressler, veteran comedienne, who, more than twelve years ago, eclipsed even the great Chaplin in the first feature-length comedy, "Tillie's Punctured Romance."

Ian Keith, handsome player, prominent on both stage and screen, lends his striking personality to the role of Greville, whose affair with Lady Hamilton in her youth started her on her illustrious career.

Dorothy Cummings, Michael Vavitch, Montagu Love, Helen Jerome Eddy, William Conklin, George Periolat, Mary Mersh, Syd Crossley, Hugh Ford, Gustave Partos and many others in small parts and "bits" are in the cast.

"The Divine Lady" is the first of four big productions Frank Lloyd has contracted to direct for First National Pictures. It is scheduled as the most pretentious production of this year for that organization.

American Tourist Lands Big Maskinonge; Careful Policing Makes Fish Plentiful

There seems to be no end to the large maskinonge in the waters around Oak Orchard. On Saturday, Melvin, of New York, N.Y., while trolling had a heavy strike and after a battle royal succeeded in landing this monster which weighed 25½ lbs.

This is the fourth lunge weighing over 22 pounds caught in these waters during the past three weeks and the general opinion is that winter policing and the spring careful guarding of the spawning fish, is showing the results. Cutting out the fishing through the ice has certainly kept the large ones from being snared as in the past. Putting on extra overseers in the spawning season and the careful checking of the water levels has also shown its results, according to Perry Alexander, who further stated the catching of these large fish has given the Peterborough district a boost among fishermen. Even in Cobourg the other day, it was mentioned by several. A party of N. Y. fishermen drove up from where they were stopping to see this last fish and had it photographed and measured and the facts wired to their local club, which is bound to spread the news. I wish every section would catch an extra large one every day or so for that would convince the fishermen that the Kawarthas are not fished out."

KIWANIS JUNIORS ENTER PLAY-OFFS

Meet Belleville in Bay of Quinte Town To-morrow Evening.

Kiwanis Juniors enter the first round of O.B.A.A. play-offs to-morrow evening when they meet Belleville juniors in the Bay of Quinte town. Deannard's aggregation had no trouble in downing this team in an exhibition game here a short time ago and it is expected that the locals will come through series with flying colors. The return will likely be played next Saturday.

SHOOTING MEET MUCH LARGER

Marksmen Seek Place on Next Year's Bisley Team at Connaught Ranges.

ENTRIES DOUBLE

OTTAWA, Ont., August 12 (Canadian Press). — The increased interest in rifle shooting is very pronounced in Canada this year. Reports coming in from the local ranges show the attendances to be almost double what they were last year. This is expected to result in increased attendance at the national matches held by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association at Connaught Ranges near Ottawa from August 1'. to 17. Last year 500 riflemen from every province competed, and the indications this year are that there will be well over 600, constituting the largest attendance since the war.

The D.C.R.A. program this year has not been changed materially from that of last year, but any of the changes made will meet with general approval, particularly the addition of 100 more prizes to The Governor-General's Match will be shot this year in the usual two stages and the final stage will be at 300 and 900 yards, when fifteen shots must be fired at each range. Both ranges of the Bankers' Match will this year be in the Grand Aggregate.

King's Prize Separate.

The King's Medal Competition will be fired on Thursday afternoon as a distinct event. The Ozowski and Dundonald Matches will be conducted as team events, as they were in the old days at Rockcliffe, and will have no connection with the King's Medal Match. The conditions of the King's Medal Competition call for four practices. The first is for deliberate shooting at 600 yards. This will be followed by the fire with movement practice, which means that the competitor will start from 600 yards and fire ten shots at distances up to 100 yards. The target will be exposed for 45 seconds for each two shots, and in the interval between exposure, which is only 15 seconds, the competitor prepares for the next round. When the target appears he must run to the next firing point 100 yards away, and fire two shots, all within the period of 45 seconds. The third stage is a rapid fire competition at 300 yards ,and this is followed by a snapshooting test at the same distance. The rapid is ten shots at a standard target, in 40 seconds, and the snapshooting is at a .22 inch disc which is exposed ten times at irregular intervals. An added feature in the King's Medal Match will be a team competition, for teams of four men whose combined scores make the highest total. For this match General Sir Arthur Currie is offering a valuable trophy, and the competition for this should be very keen.

More Interest This Year.

Greater interest than ever is expected in the Governor-General's match. What the King's Prize is to Bisley the Governor-General's is to the D.C.R.A. It is the supreme test of riflemen's skill. What will give the match added significance is that the D.C.R.A. will by that time have some 50,000 associate members in all parts of Canada. They will have a chance to win valuable cash prizes, running into thousands of dollars. The prizes will be awarded on the final results of this match, the member holding the ticket of the winner of course getting the big plum, although anyone drawing a ticket of a competitor who gets into the final stage will be substantially rewarded.

Of course, the hope of almost every competitor is to win a place on the Bisley team of 1930. The team is chosen by the consistency of the shooting of any competitor throughout the week.

In the Service Revolver Match, the .45 Colt is admitted on equal ground with the .455, as a concession to the R.C.M.P., who are armed with the .45.

Egg Pool Held.

An Egg Pool Competition will run continuously throughout the week and valuable prizes are offered daily, besides a valuable list for the aggregate of the week.

The Bounding Deer Competition inaugurated two years ago is sure to be a success as that the competitors have become familiar with the target and conditions. Added prizes are offered this year in this event.

Col. D. R. Street will be executive officer, Lt.-Col. R. J. Birdwhistle assistant executive officer and Col F. F. Clarke, D.S.O., chief range officer.

The Association has provided interesting social amusement features and the big attraction each evening will be the band concerts by three well-known bands — the G.G.F.G. the Ottawa Highlanders and the Regiment de Hull. On Tuesday evening the Small Arms School will give a demonstration of night firing with tracer bullets.

Sixteen competitors from each of the provinces are given free transportation and in addition a refund of one-fifth of the single fare is made by the Association to all who attend.

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

(By "TED" OUTRAM)

All steps lead to Exhibition Park this evening, where Bethany is making a determined attempt to wrest a victory from Cognawagas in the second game of the E.P.L. playoff. Cogs are one up on Doc Hamilton's lads, but that is a narrow margin against a hitting aggregation like Bethany, which lists such fence busters as Ryley and Phillips on its roster. Bethany has trimmed here before this season and many favor them to repeat and tie up the series. "Casey" Masterson will likely get the call to the mound from Manager Davis, while Harold Ralph, deceptive right hander, will weave them across for the mountain villagers.

Irvine Bailey has not yet signed his contract for 1929 with the Maple Leafs, and the offer to be made to him is causing considerable discussion among the club's directors. He finished his three-year contract when the final game was played last spring, and he has developed into the scoring ace of the team, being most popular with the fans. It is understood that he is holding out for a much higher figure for his next contract and rightly so, for he is worth a pretty penny to any of the N. H. L. clubs. He was a goal getter that attracted a big rush at the gate.

Meanwhile the other players are keeping in shape for the coming season in various endeavours. Andy Blair, the sensational forward of last season, is in England completing a special course at Oxford. Big things are expected of this youngster this winter.

Frank Neighbor, veteran Ottawa centre star, and one of the brainiest hockey players in the game to-day, believes in starting early. Last season he was troubled with a trick knee. Yesterday he went under the operating knife at the Civic Hospital in Ottawa to have a cartilage removed from the knee of his right leg. Neighbor went under the operation as a last resort to rid himself of the kinky knee.

The tragic death of Shorty Horne is likely having it seffect on the organization plans of the Leafs. He was understudy to Ace Bailey and was going so brilliantly that it was firmly expected that he would have been a star in his own right this season.

Ball fans should rally to the support of the Rays in their stiff final series with Oshawa Arabs for the championship of the Lakeshore League. This team has been giving them good baseball for several years now, and last year they came within an ace of copping the Provincial championship. The trips around the Lakeshore circuit are costly and the plan of depending upon the fans when the hat is passed has not proved such a great success. Fans here are seeing best ball in the province, and at the cheapest rate. The Rays deserve their support and the game on Wednesday night with Oshawa will be a struggle of outstanding merit.

The position of the three leading clubs in the International league race did not change over the week-end. The Leafs were in third place for several hours yesterday, dropping the first game of the double header at Jersey City, while Baltimore was defeating Buffalo. But the Leafs regained their position by winning the second fixture, the Orioles at the same time losing out. Advantage in their twirling staff carved the two victories out of the three games for the Leafs, Joe Samuels and Phil Page, each turning in excellent performances.

The Leafs should gain in the next few days. They play the lowly Newark Club, while Rochester invade Baltimore in a supreme tussle.

Max Schmeling's star has been in the ascendant until about a month ago, and it looked as though the young Teuton would soon be on Gene Tunney's vacated throne. After having successfully disposed of every outstanding contender for the crown, Schmeling is now rifled of all his honors by an edict of the New York Athletic Commission. Schmeling got in bad over his managers and failures to keep several contract fights. The commission was not pleased with the planned bout outside New York State for the world's title between the German and Jack Sharkey. This was in defiance of their orders and has now been abandoned. The latest word to Schmeling from the commission bars him from further bouts and concludes in clear type that boxing can get along without him not only now but for all time.

Schmeling meanwhile is in the West on a barnstorming tour, but oblivion awaits him in the East. Bill Carey, successor to Tex Rickard, is also flatly through with the Uhlan of the Rhine.

That lacrosse is regaining a strong footing in the city is indicated by the glowing reports of the large turnout of players at the practises. Thirty to forty seasoned and novice players three times a week are playing the great game on Sacred Heart grounds. It is to be hoped that next year Peterborough will have a team in the O.A.L.A.

The important baseball final games are attracting so much attention that this week the regular practises have been shifted to Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Sacred Heart grounds. A full turn out is requested and a special invitation is extended to any old timers who would like to step out and give the boys some pointers.

Recently a Toronto hockeyists drove a golf ball a distance estimated to be over 360 yards. He thought that he had snared a world's record, but a glance backward shows that in 1912 E. C. Bliss, favored by a wind and a downhill grade, whipped a ball away from the tee for a trip of 415 yards. Joe Guisto, of Oskland, has the 429-yard mark, while back in 1905, James Braid, playing at Walton Heath, connected for a 395-yard advance. Phillips Finlay, playing at Pinehurst in 1928, averaged about 290 yards for fourteen drives.

Records are deceptive, wind and ground conditions having to be taken into consideration. It is possible, on an ice-covered surface to propel the little white ball over a mile.

The softball fixture between Harrison's and Bridgenorth Wildcats should not be forgotten. These teams are tied for first place in the league, and this is the deciding game. Both play sparkling ball.

The athletic bill for the week is an imposing one and every game is important. On Thursday night the Bantams, Grafton's and Maple Leafs, hook up in the second game for the championship.

GENERAL TEAM BEATS PACKERS IN PHELAN CUP

Westwood Scores in Two Minutes—Cup Tie Tactics Prevail in First Half.

Both Goals Under Bombardment As Players Scramble Through Downpour.

The Canadian General soccer team added another trophy to their list on Saturday afternoon, when they scraped through by the score of two to one against the Canadian Packing before a large attendance of spectators that stood in the rain.

At the conclusion, President Charlie Lloyd presented the cup to the captain of the C.G.E. team, Alex. Burgess; also complimenting the players on the sportsmanship displayed.

"That Winning Goal

When the Canadian General got the second goal, it was necessary for the official referee to consult the authorized linesmen. Before consulting the linesman, a player was heard to remark, "Oh! It's finished now, we won't get the goal." But the linesman was a "real sportsman"; he gave the decision as he saw it and the award reverted back as a lesson to the player, who should appreciate services that are given gratuitiously.

A Two-Minute Goal

The spin of the coin went against the C.G.E. and they kicked facing the sun. Their left wing made progress towards goal until the defence got hold of the ball. Carmichael sent his wing men along the line to let Westwood grasp an opening that he accepted. He ran forward to be aided, as the ball fell dead in the water, quick as a flash, he landed the ball in the net after two minutes' play.

C.G.E. Defence Good

Encouraged by their success, the Packers hammered their opponents' defence repeatedly, to gain unsuccessful flag kicks. Time and again, they made inroads in their tactics to test the qualities of Robb as a custodian. He made a great save from Laidler's left-footer at 10 yards out. Play ran from end to end, with Williams (Packers) keeping the Electric Boys busy saving their citadel from downfall; in fact, they were playing a four-back defence and two inside forwards dropping in half back line.

Everything But Score.

For ten minutes the Packers laid down a continual barrage of shots that resulted in scrimmages in front of goal. A breakaway by Burgess gave them a respite on the defence. He travelled down into the corner to get permission of a free kick that went across the goal-mouth. Griffin managed to touch the ball away from the foot of Rankin, who was lying upmarked on the left wing. Craig carried the attack back into the Canadian General vicinity to bombard the goal with all kinds of shots. Of course, credit is due to Figg and F. Wade on the full-back department, who never faltered to meet any onslaught.

Hesitation Gave Goal.

Dilatory plan on the part of the Packers' defence allowed Burgess to get the ball on the touch line on the right. He centred across the goal when J. McMaster equalized with a gentle tap into goal. At the same time, B. McMaster with outstretched arms, appealed for a flag kick. Conciliatory arbitration between the game officials resulted in the referee abiding with his previous decision.

Half-time—One goal each.

Half-time.

On resuming the second moiety the C.G.E. raided their opponents' goal to end in a scrimmage that went a-begging . Robb transferred the play to the Packers 'territory, where McMaster ran through the two backs with the ball to put his team ahead

Play in Rain.

A heavy downpour prevailed for the rest of the tussle, but this did not retard the players' enthusiasm to make it interesting. At this point, the C.G.E. confined their attention to the Packers' goal with long shots from a distance. A little later, the same tactics were shown against Montgomery's charge.

Nice Combination.

Cup tie methods were used until the McMaster brothers put forth a little combination to work inside the Packers' goal area. They found the going hard and like the rest of the players reverted back to their usual style, after an excellent attempt to upset a stalwart defence in Laidler and Downer. As the game drew near the finish, both teams raised a final attack to get a goal, but the score stood the same—C.G.E. 2, C.P.C. 1.

The Teams.

C.G.E.—Montgomery, goal; Figg and F. Wade, full backs; Robb, Jack Wade, and Mitchell halves; Young, J. McMaster, B. McMaster, Rankin, and Burgess, forwards.

C.P.C.—Griffin, goal; Agnew and Downer, full backs; Carmichael, Craig and Bromley, halves; N. Downer, Beggs, Westwood, Laidler and Williams, forwards.

Referee—Alexander McKinley.

Linesmen—T. Stewart and W. Curtis.

HOSPITAL NURSE CONFESSES

"I could not work without Kruschen Salts"

SUPPORTS THREE CHILDREN TOO

Read her own statement

"I am a nurse trained in three hospitals and am also a widow with three young children. I wish to let you know the great benefit I have received since taking Kruschen Salts, two years ago. I would not miss the daily dose for anything, as I can truthfully say I would be unable to do my work (owing to a severe form of Neuritis and Rheumatism) if it were not for your valuable Salts, so you will understand how fully I appreciate the splendid health I receive from them."

Are you one of the wise ones like Nurse Cooper, who trust to Kruschen to keep them always fit and ready for work—free from rheumatism, neuritis, and all other troubles? If not, start the Kruschen habit to-morrow, keep it up, and you'll never regret it as long as you live.

Kruschen is a perfect blend of six natural mineral salts which we all need every day (i.) to help liver and kidneys to perform their natural duties in a natural way; (ii.) to clear away, gently but completely, all the poisonous waste matter that has been clogging the system; (iii.) to purify the blood. The analysis is on the bottle. There are sodium and magnesium to stimulate the organs of elimination. To feed your tissues, there's the tonic potassium. Each "little daily dose" is a full day's supply of these six vital salts: just the right amount to keep your body and mind tuned up to a pitch of real constant fitness.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle, and is manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1756). Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

A forcing take-out or a forcing overcall of an adverse bid at Contract (the bid of one trick more than necessary yet short of a game bid) is frequently employed in an effort to reach a Slam even though there be an immediate game assist or a possible immediate Slam assist in the hand. The procedure of the East player in this deal is an excellent illustration of a Small Slam being safely reached through the medium of such a forcing bid.

Salient Points of Bidding.

Auction: West bids originally one Spade, which North overcalls with two Clubs. East, holding strong support for his partner's bid, assists by bidding two Spades which becomes the final declaration.

East is now faced with a problem of how best to show his powerful holding. His values clearly warrant an immediate assist to four Spades for game, or five Spades to invite a further bid from West if well able to make it. In preference to a Spade assist, East maks a forcing bid of three Diamonds which is an imperative demand, and not merely an invitation, for a further bid by partner. Any forcing bid implies another bid in hand and East's three Diamond take-out may, or may not be a denial of Spades. It is unquestionably, however, a demand for additional information from West about his holding.

South passing, West bids five Diamonds showing clearly by such jump assist that he holds, in addition to his original Spade bid, strong support for Diamonds including at least four cards of suit.

East, assured that the Diamond suit is practically solid (at least nine cards between the two hands headed by the Ace King) bids for the Small Slam at partner's original declaration, Spades, although having the option of making the same bid at Diamonds.

It will be noted that had East bid either four Spades or five on the first round of bidding, a Slam contract would have been missed as West cannot slam the hand lacking any Ace but the Spade.

Salient Points of Play.

North leads initially the King of Clubs, which West wins with the Ace in Dummy and stops to consider his next play in view of the possibility that the adverse Spades may be split 4-1.

One of the advantages of four-card suit bids, where partner also holds four cards of the trump suit, is that such hands are flexible, enabling the Declarer to ruff in either hand while keeping the trump situation protected in the other. West, in this deal, proceeds to capitalize this advantage. He leads the six of Clubs from Dummy, trumping with his Ace so as to avoid any possibility of blocking a trump entry into Dummy's hand. He next leads the three of Diamonds from own hand, winning with the Ace.

West now leads Dummy's remaining Club, trumping in own hand with the Queen. He now leads the Jack of Spades but before altogether losing trump protection against a Club force should the Diamonds not break, he must lead another round of Diamonds, realizing that unless the Diamonds break there is no chance for making his contract.

The outstanding adverse Diamonds being equally divided, Declarer leads the King of Spades and follows with the nine and eight, discarding on the last two Spades the blocking ten and eight of Diamonds. In this way six odd can be made.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"I am a nurse trained in three hospitals and am also a widow with three young children. I wish to let you know the great benefit I have received since taking Kruschen Salts, two years ago. I would not miss the daily dose for anything, as I can truthfully say I would be unable to do my work (owing to a severe form of Neuritis and Rheumatism) if it were not for your valuable Salts, so you will understand how fully I appreciate the splendid health I receive from them."

Are you one of the wise ones like Nurse Cooper, who trust to Kruschen to keep them always fit and ready for work—free from rheumatism, neuritis, and all other troubles? If not, start the Kruschen habit to-morrow, keep it up, and you'll never regret it as long as you live.

Kruschen is a perfect blend of six natural mineral salts which we all need every day (i.) to help liver and kidneys to perform their natural duties in a natural way; (ii.) to clear away, gently but completely, all the poisonous waste matter that has been clogging the system; (iii.) to purify the blood. The analysis is on the bottle. There are sodium and magnesium to stimulate the organs of elimination. To feed your tissues, there's the tonic potassium. Each "little daily dose" is a full day's supply of these six vital salts: just the right amount to keep your body and mind tuned up to a pitch of real constant fitness.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle, and is manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1756). Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

A forcing take-out or a forcing overcall of an adverse bid at Contract (the bid of one trick more than necessary yet short of a game bid) is frequently employed in an effort to reach a Slam even though there be an immediate game assist or a possible immediate Slam assist in the hand. The procedure of the East player in this deal is an excellent illustration of a Small Slam being safely reached through the medium of such a forcing bid.

Salient Points of Bidding.

Auction: West bids originally one Spade, which North overcalls with two Clubs. East, holding strong support for his partner's bid, assists by bidding two Spades which becomes the final declaration.

East is now faced with a problem of how best to show his powerful holding. His values clearly warrant an immediate assist to four Spades for game, or five Spades to invite a further bid from West if well able to make it. In preference to a Spade assist, East maks a forcing bid of three Diamonds which is an imperative demand, and not merely an invitation, for a further bid by partner. Any forcing bid implies another bid in hand and East's three Diamond take-out may or may not be a denial of Spades. It is unquestionably, however, a demand for additional information from West about his holding.

South passing, West bids five Diamonds showing clearly by such jump assist that he holds, in addition to his original Spade bid, strong support for Diamonds including at least four cards of suit.

East, assured that the Diamond suit is practically solid (at least nine cards between the two hands headed by the Ace King) bids for the Small Slam at partner's original declaration, Spades, although having the option of making the same bid at Diamonds.

It will be noted that had East bid either four Spades or five on the first round of bidding, a Slam contract would have been missed as West cannot slam the hand lacking any Ace but the Spade.

Salient Points of Play.

North leads initially the King of Clubs, which West wins with the Ace in Dummy and stops to consider his next play in view of the possibility that the adverse Spades may be split 4-1.

One of the advantages of four-card suit bids, where partner also holds four cards of the trump suit, is that such hands are flexible, enabling the Declarer to ruff in either hand while keeping the trump situation protected in the other. West, in this deal, proceeds to capitalize this advantage. He leads the six of Clubs from Dummy, trumping with his Ace so as to avoid any possibility of blocking a trump entry into Dummy's hand. He next leads the three of Diamonds from own hand, winning with the Ace.

West now leads Dummy's remaining Club, trumping in own hand with the Queen. He now leads the Jack of Spades but before altogether losing trump protection against a Club force should the Diamonds not break, he must lead another round of Diamonds, realizing that unless the Diamonds break there is no chance for making his contract.

The outstanding adverse Diamonds being equally divided, Declarer leads the King of Spades and follows with the nine and eight, discarding on the last two Spades the blocking ten and eight of Diamonds. In this way six odd can be made.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

PRIZE-WINNERS IN GARDEN CONTESTS

Competitions Most Successful Ever Held in Peterborough County.

The home garden contests that were recently held in the Peterborough district were the most successful that the county has had, accordingn to information released from the office of the local agriculture representative.

The difficult part of the work was the judging, as the competition was so keen that it was a hard task for the judges to declare winners in a great many cases.

The work in this line is constantly growing and the junior farmers are becoming greatly interested in the home garden contests that are held yearly.

Girls—

Thelma Henderson R.R. No. 7, Peterborough, 1st, $3.00; Myrtle Kidd, R.R. No. 1 Warsaw, 2nd, $2.00; Eunice Hammond, R. R. No. 4, Peterborough, 3rd, $1.50; Frances Metcalfe, Norwood, No. 2, 4th, $1.00; Lillian McLaughlin, R.R. No. 2, Norwood, 5th, $1.00; Barbara Dawson, R.R. No. 11, Peterborough, 6th, $1.00; Ruby Miller, R.R. No. 1, Keene, 7th, 50c.

Boys—

GREAT CONSERVATIVE STATESMAN VISITS CANADA

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the former British Conservative Government, landed at Quebec Saturday on a visit to Canada. Accompanying him are his son, Randolph, and a nephew, Major John Chamberlain. Col. L. S. Amery, former Secretary for the Dominions, also accompanied the party, left immediately upon arrival for a camping trip to the Rockies. The photographs here show different interesting phases of Winston Churchill's career: (1) As a Major in the Yeomanry during the war; (2) characteristic fighting expression; (3) as a polo player; (4) most recent photograph of Winston Churchill, showing him as he is to-day; (5) as a young man in politics when his energies were directed toward prison reform; (6) in the paddock at Worcester Park polo meet, and (7) as a well-known figure in the streets of London.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

PLAYING WITH FIRE.

At first I emitted expressions of joy,
When I heard men were seeking to find
Stern merciless bugs which wouldpromptly destroy
Their biting and crop eating kind.
"These bugs," I averred will supply a great need;
One cannot applaud them too much.
I trust they will swoop down by millions to feed
Upon gnats and mosquitoes and such.

"I hope they will send them to home and to farm
To drive all the bad bugs away,
That they'll daily increase in their power to harm
And be cruel and hard to their prey.
I shall send for a few hundred thousand myself
My fast fading garden to guard,
And perhaps before long I shall get back the pelf
I have spent on my barren back yard."

And then I reflected that sooner or late,
When the pests had at last been destroyed
That the bugs in the role of a conquering fate
Might not have their appetites cloyed.
Then, trained to destruction, and thirsting for gore
After flying 'round vainly to see,
The quarries that now were not there any more,
They might sink their fangs into me.

The monster that Frankenstein built, you'll recall
At last got quite out of control
And the pride of invention was turned into gall
For that harried and sorrowful soul.
If these bug eating bugs, lacking worms, grubs and flies.
Should begin to eat us to the bone
We'd discover too late that perhaps it is wise
To let old Dame Nature alone.

LABORER DIES

ST. ALBANS, Vermont, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Oakley Longway, 42, a laborer, and three of his ten children died from suffocation in a fire in the Longway second-storey tenement to-day. The children were: James, 7; Frederick, 6, and Francis, 4. Mrs. Longway carried an infant to safety and three other children jumped to the street from a window and were unhurt.

The fire was confined to the room in which Longway and his three children were sleeping, and was quickly brought under control by the fire department. Mrs. Longway was awakened by the crackling of the burning timbers, and after carrying her infant child to safety attempted to re-enter the home to awaken her husband, but flames blocked her entrance.

NERVES GONE CAN'T SLEEP?

"Fruit-a-tives" restores good health

Are you tired? Downcast most of the time? Worried at trifles? Can't sleep? Mr. J. O. Ringheim, Wydnndel, B. C., writes:

"My nerves were completely gone. I owe my present good health to 'Fruit-a-tives.'"

"Fruit-a-tives" is a combination of intensified fresh fruit juices and the most scientific medicinal ingredients. In a natural, gentle way it stirs lazy liver, bowels and kidneys into normal, healthy action, soothes the digestive tract, and calms the troubled nerves. 25c or 50c boxes at all druggists.

BABIES VOTE

LONDON, Aug 12. The recent election here brings to mind a case in 1922 when in the General Election a number of children were allowed to vote because their names accidentally got on the register. A boy of two, in Portamouth, voted, as did a lad of three at Balham and a boy of five at Hull.

CRISIS AVERTED AS COMMITTEE IS ADJOURNED

—Commending Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden for his firm stand at the Hague conference on reparations, the Sydney Sun to-day say Great Britain in its war debts and reparations dealings has shown a magnamity which has obviously been misunderstood.

"No sooner has the Dawes Plan begun to operate than another American financial genius invents means for making it lighter for Germany and harder for Britain," says the Sun. The newspaper compares the absence of unemployment in France and Italy, with the "ghastly" unemployment in Britain, and concludes Britain is already over-burdened.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (C.P.).—The Express to-day quotes David Lloyd George, leader of the Liberal party, as saying, "I fully approve of the stand taken by Right Hon. Philip Snowden, and hope and am firmly convinced that he will stick to it."

IN POLICE COURT

Permilla Hill, wife of Davis Hill, nursing a two months old baby, pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning to operating a still at her home.

Provincial Officer Thompson, with two other officers, made a descent on the Hill abode, set away back in the woods of the township, during the early hours of Sunday morning They found the still in full operation, Mr. and Mrs. Hill busily watching and bottling its liquor product, while the baby slept close by. The officers seized the still along with a large quantity of freshly-bottled goods. Mrs. Hill claimed that she owned the still and was operating it.

Because of the baby, Magistrate Langley fixed only the minimum upon the woman, $200 fine or six months in jail. The fine, it was said, will be paid within the week.

Found drunk in charge of a car on Saturday night. A. Miller pleaded guilty and was sentenced to ten days in jail.

Harry Jackson, charged with having liquor in his possession while not being the holder of a permit, pleaded guilty. He was fined $100 and costs, or three months' imprisonment.

"This is a peculiar case and we want to investigate it further," said the Crown, concerning Ernest Haselayne, who pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. It was said that the young man came from Haliburton, and had been living in the south-end of the city, where he became madly in love with a young girl He kept the girl up to a late hour, and her parents growing angry with him, had sent him away. In a few days he returned, telling them that the police had given him authority to take the girl away, and they must turn her over to him.

He was remanded without sentence for a week to allow further time to look into the matter.

Fragments of a family row in East City were next unfolded. A local young man was the informant against his uncle on a charge of assault and doing actual bodily harm. The fight commenced over a bottle of wine, it was said, which the young man had taken from his uncle. The older man retrieved the treasured bottle after a chase, and then, when he was attacked by the lad, had used it as a club, breaking it over his head. The matter was adjourned for a week. The defence wanted it dismissed, but the Crown considered it too serious an affair.

A drinking bout on Braidwood Avenue, in which three young farmers participated, ended when each was fined $10 and $6.50 costs for consuming in an illegal place.

"I was drunk, alright, but it wasn't in a public place," maintained Edward McNut, charged with being intoxicated in a public place. "It was on the Norwood Road, and this man was sitting in his truck dead to the world. "The truck had two punctured tires, and it was stalled in the centre of the road, making it impossible for traffic to get around it," said Constable Thompson. Finally the man admitted that it was a public place. He will pay $20 fine and costs of $11.05, or spend 20 days in jail.

Four young men pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct in Victoria Park and were fined.

STEAMER GOES AGROUND ENTERING BOSTON HARBOR

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 12 (C.P.).—The passenger steamer Far North of the Farquhar Line, from St. John's, Newfoundland, and Halifax, N.S., grounded off Nix' Mate as she was entering Boston Harbor to-day in a dense fog. The vessel was reported resting easily on a sandy bottom and it was expected she would be floated on the afternoon tide. Eighty passengers and a crew of 50 were aboard.

SCHOONER WRECKED IN NORTH

SEATTLE, Aug. 12 (C.P.).—Radio advices saying the fur schooner Elisif had been wrecked in the Bering Sea, either having been crushed by ice floes or pushed ashore by their movement, were received here last night. The messages indicated the crew had escaped without injury and that a Russian ship named the Stavatoll was proceeding to the rescue.

CAR BURNED ON HIGHWAY.

A small roadster, belonging to Joe Minicola, was badly damaged by fire yesterday afternoon about fifteen miles down the Port Hope highway.

The driver said that the first that he knew it was burning was when the motor began to spit and miss, and on investigation it was found to be in flames.

Before the fire could be extinguished, the front part and top of the car was badly burned. None of the occupants were injured.

TORONTO HORSES TO BE HERE.

Mayor Roland Denne, returning from his recent visit with Frank P. O'Connor, reports that the Toronto horsemen will be at the Peterborough Industrial with their fine horses.

JUST A LITTLE TIPSY.

He was a gay and irresponsible youth, who had, in some manner, accumulated a large and enthusiastic load of liquor. He cavorted gaily down Hunter Street on Sunday morning, about half-past eleven o'clock, clad in a debonnair style in a fancy striped jersey, a pair of grey trousers and a straw hat. In his right hand he carried a bright yellow flower, holding it out in front of him in the manner ascribed to the late Oscar Wilde, when he used to walk down Piccadilly attired in a symphony of his favorite blue and green, and bearing a triumphant sunflower.

The young man stepped off the curb and then turned to frown heavily upon it. Regaining the sidewalk, he came to a temporary anchorage in front of Lynch's Drug Store, where he embraced the tall curb post with an affectionate right arm. Relinquishing his hold with apparent reluctance, he commenced gambolling along the way, tossing the yellow flower up in the air and catching it as it fell. Suddenly he shot across the street, right in front of a surprised automobile, which swerved hastily to avoid striking him. Casting not a glance to right or left, he wove merrily around the corner to George Street and was lost to view.

WINS HOPE CHEST.

Mrs. John McNeely, 88 Morrow Street, was the winner of the hope chest which has been raffled in aid of St. Vincent's Orphanage. The sum of $180.35 was realized. The draw was in charge of Mrs. W. J. Young and Miss M. Maloney.

STRAW HAT TRAGEDY.

A story without words was presented for pedestrians on Charlotte Street Saturday afternoon. A new straw hat, which must have been the pride of its owner, lay in the middle of the road. To all appearances, on being inspected from one side, the chapeau was in perfect condition, but a closer inspection disclosed evidence that a remorseless automobile tire had recently passed over it. Oh! What a cruel world!

PUBLIC BROADCAST.

During the past few evenings, those on the north part of George Street have been entertained by a series of radio programs from one of the shops which operates a loud-speaker for the benefit of passing pedestrians. The reception has been very clear and the amplifier can be heard for a distance of a couple of blocks.

JUDGE AT PLOWING MEET.

J. J. Duffus has received word from J. Lockie Wilson, managing director of the International Plowing Match, notifying him of his selection as one of the judges of the plowing competition at the International Plowing Match and farm machinery demonstration this year. It will be held on the Government Farm adjacent to the city of Kingston during the week of October 15.

PASTORATE OF REV. MILLYARD STARTS IN CITY

New Minister of George Street United Church Preaches Powerful Sermon.

UNITED CONGREGATIONS.

"Why I Am Christian" Subject of the Evening Discourse.

Reverend J. E. J. Millyard, the new pastor of George Street United Church, preached two powerful sermons to the united congregations of Murray street Baptist and George street yesterday, his first Sunday in the city.

"Why I am a Christian" was the subject of his evening sermon preached in Murray Street Church. He took as his text Acts, 26th chapter, verse 28, 'Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." He explained that in the Revised Version of the Bible this verse read, 'And Agrippa said unto Paul' With what little persuasion thou wouldst fain make me a Christian.' This he said was a truer transiation of Agrippa's meaning.

Although Paul had impressed Agrippa with his bearing and words and had proved his innocence these words were meant to be a little sarcastic of Paul's enthusiasm for Christianity, said the speaker.

"Why should we not all be persuaded to be a Christian" asked Rev. Millyard, and he went on to tell his reasons for being an apostle of the Christian Church.

"First I am a Christian because of the Christian conception of God" he said. Few persons will go so far as to say 'There is no God' but there are many conceptions of Him, he continued. To Christians God is One, God is a Spirit and God is Love. All together indicate the superiority of God. "The Holy Trinity is something we cannot explain, but which we must believe" he stated.

Secondly there is Christianity's Christ. The faultlessness of character is not possessed by anyone except Jesus Christ, he stated. "He never formulated a Creed, never sat on a throne, lived his life in an insignificant country, and died on the cross" said Mr. Millyard. The Christian Church has grown during the past nineteen centuries until now it numbers more than 400 millions of people.

The Christian teaching concerning death and life eternal was his third reason for being a Christian.

In closing he stated there was nothing more tragic than for a person to be almost persuaded to be a Christian.

Mrs. H. F. Doig sang a beautiful solo in sweet voice.

Canada Now Selling Four Times the Manufactured Goods She Did in 1910.

IMPORTS RAW MATERIAL.

(Special to The Examiner; Copyright, 1929.)

OTTAWA, August 9. — The Dominion of Canada is on a permanent walkout as a "hewer of wood and drawer of water" for the United States, or any other country. The Dominion Statistician, reviewing Canada's 1928 trade, intimates that Canada is exporting a smaller percentage of raw materials and importing a larger percentage. In other words, she is every year turning out more manufactured goods for herself and for export, and bringing in less, in proportion to her total trade.

From 1910 to 1928 Canada brought in raw materials to the extent of 24.2 to 25.6 of her total imports. In 1910, 24.2 per cent. of the goods brought into Canada came in to be further manufactured and give employment to Canadian labor. In 1928 25.6 per cent. of the imports were such raw materials.

In 1910 51.2 per cent. of her exports were raw materials which other countries used for manufacturing. In 1928 this had dropped to 47.2 per cent as Canada increased her manufacturing facilities and manufactured more goods from her own raw materials.

The extent to which Canada has increased her manufacturing facilities at the same time increasing her production of raw materials, is shown by the Dominion Statistician's report that from 1910 to 1928 the imports of raw materials into Canada were $90,900,000 to $283,000,000, or 212 per cent. increase. The exports of manufactured goods increased from $91,200,000 to $458,800,000 or 403 per cent.

The raw materials included to a large extent goods which could be only manufactured a short step further if at all. In 1928 those included $414,400,000 of grain, fruits, seeds and raw tobacco or 33.7 of the whole. Only 13.5 per cent. of the total exports were raw materials which might have been manufactured further and not in the class already mentioned.

The imports into Canada from Europe included 87.6 per cent. fully manufactured goods 7.3 per cent. raw materials and 5.1 per cent. partly manufactured goods. Her exports to Europe included 69.6 per cent. raw materials, 23.7 per cent. fully manufactured goods, and 6.7 per cent. of semi-manufactured products.

U. S. Greatest Customer.

The Dominion's greatest trade is with the United States from whom she buys $868,055,897, and sells $500,167,599. She does her shopping in the following order: United States, United Kingdom, France, Germany, Belgium, British India, Netherlands, Switzerland, Argentina, Columbia, Fiji, Barbados, Cuba, British Guiana, Jamaica, Peru, Italy, Australia, Trinidad and Tobago, Czecho-Slovakia, China, Spain, Ceylon, Newfoundland, Sweden and other countries afterwards. The most significant feature in her shopping is that New Zealand has risen from 21st place in 1928 to 6th place in 1928.

In selling her goods, Canada's customers buy in the following order: United States, United Kingdom, Germany, Netherlands, Japan, Belgium, China, Italy, Australia, New Zealand, France, Argentine, South Africa, Greece, India, Newfoundland, Norway, Denmark, Brazil, Portugal, Spain, Jamaica, Sweden, other British West Indies, Egypt, Hong Kong and so forth. The list has not changed much in the last four years save that Italy has risen from 11th to 8th place, and Russia has dropped from 25th to 33rd place.

Britain Most Profitable.

Canada's most profitable trade in that she sells more than she buys is with the United Kingdom with whom the favorable trade balance is $237,648,000. Next comes the Netherlands, to whom Canada sells $34,449,000 more than she buys. These figures are somewhat deceptive as much of the trade to Holland is for the interior countries. Japan is Canada's next best customer, to whom the Dominion sold in 1923 over $29,186,000 more than she bought and Germany $26,681,000 more.

The United States has a balance against Canada of $345,241,000 more sales than purchases. The other unfavorable balances are small, the next largest being France of whom Canada bought $9,972,000 more than she sold. The balance can be accounted for by Paris gowns, perfumes and other luxuries. The next on the list is Colombia, with $5048 in her favor.

Her trade with the continent of Europe showed a favorable trade balance of $358,665,000, with the semi-continent of North America an unfavorable balance of $6,157,000; with the continent of Asia, a favorable balance of $53,904,000; with Australia a favorable balance of $15,073,000, and with the continent of Africa a favorable balance of $18,064,000.

WEDDING BELLS

MORRISON—McARA

A wedding of interest to a large circle of friends took place on Wednesday, August 7, at 6.30, at the home of Mr. Peter McAra, Victoria avenue, Regina, when his youngest daughter, Miss Elizabeth Raney (Bessie) McAra, became the bride of Fred Barrie Morrison, Toronto, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Morrison, Peterborough, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Samuel Farley, Regina, and Rev. Thomas McAfee, Indian Head.

Graham McAra was the best man; Miss Mary Thomson, the bridesmaid; and Miss Barbara Macpherson, Calgary, the flower girl. Mr. McAra gave his daughter away. Miss Beth Thomson played the Wedding March and the accompaniment for Miss Violet McAfee, who sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride's gown was of white moire made in princess style, the train being lined with shell pink. Her long tulle veil, edged with lace, was arranged in juliet cap effect, completed with lace inserts and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid wore a model gown of buttercup yellow satin in princess style and with a long drape effect at the back. Her bouquet was of larkspurs and yellow roses. The flower girl wore a white Indian embroidered frock and carried a basket of rosebuds.

About sixty guests were present for the ceremony and the reception which followed. The bride's table was centered by the wedding cake and bud-vases of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The toasts to the bride and the bridesmaid were proposed by R. D. McMurchy and Mayor James McAra and responded to by the bridegroom and the best man.

Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom left for Toronto where they will reside, the bride travelling in a Lido blue ensemble with hat to match. She also wore the gift of the bridegroom, a two-skin red fox fur.

JUST WHAT WE NEED

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Mrs. Chas. B. Cochran has hit upon something that the theater public has been crying for, for many years. She has conceived the idea of printing theater programs on black paper in white ink. They can easily be read by holding them up to the light from the stage.

HON. R. B. BENNETT PROTESTS AGAINST THE BIG IMPORTATION OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES

64.8 Per Cent. of Canadian Imports Are Fully Manufactured, States Leader.

QUOTES TRADE REPORT.

Hands Off Policy of Premier King is Severely Criticised.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Aug. 13 (By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—With a vigorous protest against the large amount of fully manufactured goods being imported into Canada, Hon. R. B. Bennett, here last night, resumed his speaking tour of British Columbia. The Conservative leader contrasted the percentage of fully fabricated imports by the Dominion in those products as again the United States. "Of Canada's imports from all the world for the year 1928 as now reported," he said, "64.8 per cent represented fully manufactured goods. But of United States imports from the nations of the world only 31.7 per cent were fully manufactured." Mr. Bennett proceeded. "For the year all goods imported into Canada from the world, 25.6 per cent were raw products and of all things imported by the United States during the year 50.3 per cent was represented by raw materials. Quoting from an official trade report just issued, the Opposition chieftain stated these figures for the fiscal year ending in 1928 indicated the difference in policy between the two countries.

Chief Whip is Along

Officially welcomed on his arrival Mayor S. P. McMordie, Mr. Bennett spoke to a large gathering. The Opposition chieftain was supported by General A. D. McRae, chief Conservative whip; Sir George Perley, member for Argenteuil and J. C. Brady, member for Skeena.

"In 1921," the Conservative leader declared, "the late President Wilson of the United States went out of office. A new administration, a Republican administration came into power. It at once began to raise the tolls on goods coming into that country from the world. It was not against Canada alone, but against the world. What happened? In one year Canada had her market in the United States reduced by $100,000,000." A consequence, he continued, illustrated the danger of building up a foreign trade which could be destroyed at the caprice of a nation, and neglect our domestic markets.

On the advent of the present Minister of Finance, Hon. J. A. Robb, took office the Canadian tariff was reduced so that more goods from abroad entered the Dominion. The late Mr. Fielding refused to become a party to that when he was in office, Mr. Bennett observed, "but the Prime Minister had his way. Mr. Robb was more easily handled."

Criticises Premier King

"And now," the Conservative leader continued, "confronted with new increases in the tariff, Premier King in Parliament had stated we should not provoke the United States on the issue. "Are Canadians not to be afforded competition?" Mr. Bennett asked. Congress is legislating for their own people. Why should we not legislate for Canadians?"

Sir George Perley recalled the sacrifices Mr. Bennett was making in assuming his role of party leader. He was only too glad of the opportunity of "standing behind" his leader in National policy for Canada.

Britain To Withdraw Troops From Rhine Zone

LONDON, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—Whatever the fate of The Hague Conference, and whether or not Premier Briand succeeds in postponing the vital question of the British share of reparations under the Young plan until the League Assembly meets in Geneva three weeks hence, it was learned definitely last night that Great Britain has served notice on France, Germany and Belgium that, settlement or no settlement, she will withdraw her troops from the Rhine before the end of the presenf year.

MAKING GOOD RECOVERY.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13.—(C.P.)—Rev. Dr. Buchanan, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, is recovering from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile June 4 and will shortly be able to leave hospital here. He was injured just before he was scheduled to preside at the Annual General Assembly of the church in Ottawa.

BIG POWERS TRY TO SAVE YOUNG PLAN

Financial Experts Quietly Attempt To Break Deadlock at The Hague.

TO WITHDRAW TROOP.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—The great statesmen of six powers this afternoon took their effort to settle the post-war problems of Europe out of the limelight and attempted to reach a compromise on disputed provisions of the Young plan in the privacy of their hotel apartments.

While the financial experts of the conference quietly attempted to break the deadlock between Great Britain and her Allies over British demands for increased share of German reparations, the heads of the French, British, Belgian and German delegations met to talk over the date for evacuation of the Rhineland.

Consult Military Advisers

Officially, no dates have been even mentioned yet, but the chiefs of the delegations carefully consulted their military advisers before beginning discussion this afternoon.

Gossip at The Hague persistently mentions Christmas as the date on which the Germans will be able to celebrate the final freedom of their territory from foreign occupation.

Important proposals representing a spirit of compromise by France, Belgium, and Italy are expected to comprise the next act in the reparations drama.

To Make Proposals

The proposals probably will be made to-day to Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden British Chancellor of the Exchequer, either by Henri Jaspar, Belgian Premier, or by Louis Locheur, French Minister of Labor, the former conferring with Mr. Snowden this morning and the latter after he is through.

The nature of the proposals was not disclosed, but they were understood to involve compensation to Great Britain for the sacrifices it would have to make in accepting the Young Plan in lieu of guarantees under the Dawes Plan and the Spa percentage arrangements for division of reparations. Mr. Snowden's insistence that these sacrifices went beyond anything great Britain could accept was the bar upon which the

CIVIC WELCOME IS EXTENDED TO THE ARCHBISHOP

Suitable Address Is Read By His Worship Mayor Denne.

RECEPTION IS HELD.

Before a large representation of the citizens of Peterborough, His Grace the Most Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Archbishop of Armoria and Coadjutor Archbishop of Kingston, was tendered a civic reception on the grounds of St. Mary's School last night. Many hundreds of justly proud citizens turned out to the official welcoming home of Peterborough's son after his extended visit in Europe.

The grounds had been specially decorated for the occasion and together with the decorations in the adjoining streets and about St. Peter's Cathedral they presented a colorful scene. The ceremonies took place in a booth on the west side of the grounds. Amplifiers provided for the occasion enabled the crowd that made use of the standing space to hear with ease each word of the speakers.

Guests on the occasion were many of the city's most prominent men. The City Council was well represented as well as various organizations of the city. Before the ceremony commenced these men were greeted by Archbishop O'Brien and they took their places behind the dias.

The welcome and congratulations of the citizens of Peterborough were then conveyed to the Archbishop through His Worship Mayor Denne, who read the following address:

Address to the Archbishop

"May it Please Your Grace:—

"I desire, on behalf of the City Council and citizens of Peterborough, to perform a pleasant double duty, namely, to welcome you home from your visit to Europe, including the City of Rome, and to congratulate you on your elevation to the honors, dignities and duties of an Archbishop.

"During the sixteen years that you have occupied the high office of head of the Diocese of Peterborough you have held the highest respect and esteem of this community. Your readiness to encourage and assist in community enterprises has been fully appreciated, and your attitude of friendliness to all has done very much to maintain the spirit of co-operation and goodwill among all sections of the citizens, which is one of the outstanding characteristics of the people of Peterborough.

"We feel an especial pride in your elevation because you are one of ourselves, a native and a life-long resident of our city. We have seen the success of your efforts to improve the moral standing of the community, especially among the members of your church, and have been gratified by their marked success.

"There is only one regret in our minds, and that is that your appointment as Coadjutor Archbishop of Kingston with the right of succession to that important post, may result in your removal from Peterborough, but when it does we assure you that you will take with you the very best wishes of your fellow citizens of this city for your continued good health and happiness."

Striking the key-note of gratitude to the people of Peterborough, of pleasure with the advancement of the people and satisfaction with Peterborough itself, Archbishop O'Brien replied to the Mayor's address, speaking at times with a subtle humor that was a delight to his audience.

"I wish to thank you all as sincerely as possible and with a heart full of gratitude for the tribute you have paid me. This is not the first occasion on which the Mayor who has read the address has brought pleasure to me for one of the first communications I received after my new position had been conferred upon me in Rome was from Mayor Denne on behalf of the city council and the citizens of Peterborough.

"In Rome I told the Holy Father of our great city and when I told him of the many telegrams I was receiving he was further assured regarding our fine city. I told him of my beloved city. I am justified to call it beloved since for over fifty-fifty years it has been my home.

The Archbishop explained his affection for the city, saying that he was born here, educated here, ordained a priest here, and finally after spending 32 years as a priest of God arriving at his new post. "I would be devoid of sentiment and heart if I had no affection for this city. My good fortunes have been due in much larger measure to the good-will of the people than to merits of myself.

Praise City

Regarding Peterborough as a city His Grace expressed deep appreciation of the beauty of this city. "One who travels a great deal comes back with the knowledge that our city is one of the prettiest cities of the world." He eulogized many features of the city, giving the opinion

Department Of Mines Puts End To Barnyard Prospecting Near Ottawa

OTTAWA, Ont., August 13. (C.P.) — Backyard prospecting in Westboro, a suburb of Ottawa, ceased to-day, when the Department of Mines threw a dash of cold water on the aspirations of the prospectors.

Hopes that silver might lie in vast quantities beneath the soil in the little town were shattered to-day when the prospectors found that their samples contained nothing more than iron pyrites. The Department of Mines stated to-day that no record was at hand of silver being found in limestone formations such as that on which the town stands.

The silver mining effort is said to have been the result of an old legend, almost forgotten, but revived again with the finding of the iron pyrites.

Million Dollar Ton Of Raw Opium Seized

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 13.—(C.P.)— Federal narcotic agents were seeking the source and destination to-day of a ton of raw opium, which they seized in a downtown warehouse.

The opium, which was valued by its captors at $100,000, wholesale, or $1,000,000 bootleg prices, was confiscated after truck drivers directed the agents to the storage place to which they had moved it.

FIRE THREATENS FRAZER VALLEY

First Serious Blazes of Season Takes Hold in New Westminster District.

HUNDREDS FIGHTING.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Valuable timber areas in the Fraser Valley are menaced by a number of forest fires which are reported burning in widely separated districts and which are being fought by 140 men. The outbreaks are the first serious ones in the New Westminster timber district this season.

One hundred men are fighting a serious outbreak ten miles north of Haney at a camp of the Abernethy-Lougheed Logging Company. A fire eight miles north of Mission was reported last night and another outbreak at Stout between Hope and Boston Bar creeping down the mountain side above the timber line. The blaze has jumped across fireguards and considerable timber is threatened.

TENSION GROWS IN MANCHURIA

Despatch To London Press States 2,000 Soviet Nationals Have Been Arrested.

Paraded Through Streets.

LONDON, Aug. 13.— (Canadian Press).—Despatches to the Daily Mail last night from Harbin, Manchuria, told of a growing tenseness in that city and other parts of Manchuria, with alleged Russian sabotage along the Chines Eastern Railway and Chinese retaliations.

The correspondent did not attempt to say whether Chinese were actuated by fear or a desire for revenge, but he described parties of Russians, bound with ropes and with faces bleeding, who were marched through the streets of the city on Sunday. He estimated that 2,000 Soviet Nationals had been arrested during the past two days and sentenced either to imprisonment or deportation.

DEAN OF McGILL STATES VIEWS ON WATERWAYS

National Section of St. Lawrence Should Be Developed First.

WATER RIGHTS UNCERTAIN.

Canadian Gov't Reluctant To Add Too Heavy Expense So Soon After War.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 13.— (Canadian Press).—Addressing members of the Institute of Politics to-day P. E. Corbett, Dean of the Law Faculty of McGill University, discussed the proposed St. Lawrence waterway and outlined the attitude of the Canadian Government to the project.

"The Canadian Government in its correspondence with the United States Government has suggested that, if the scheme is proceeded with, the national section of the St. Lawrence should be developed first and the international section should not be developed until Canada has had time to absorb the new power produced in the national section," he said.

"A matter which has caused Canada to hold back in the negotiations is the uncertainty regarding the respective powers and rights of the Federal and Provincial Governments in regard to waters."

Another factor which had delayed negotiations somewhat, he said, was the Canadian Government's reluctance to commit the country to heavy expenditures before it had fully recovered from the cost of the Great War."

Heaton Upholds Snowden

Defense of Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden's demand for a larger British share of German reparations than that allotted in the Young Plan was made by Professor Herbert Heaton economist of the University of Minnesota and a native of England.

Snowden was justified in his objections to the desertion of the Spa percentage and the distribution of unconditional German payments, professor Heaton declared.

"Snowden's demand for the restoration of the Spa percentage involved an additional payment to Great Britain of about $12,000,000 a year, he said.

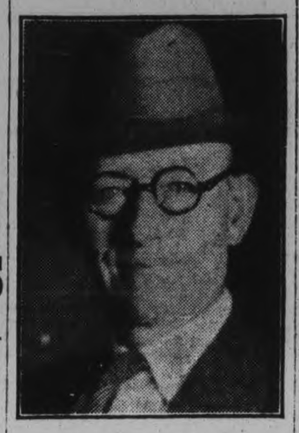
Gilbert Won't Recognize Father Even In Death

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 13. (Canadian Press)—John Pringle, 67, actor and veteran head of stock companies in New York and Chicago, known as the father of John Gilbert, screen star, is dead.

Gilbert refused to recognize Pringle, who was his mother's first husband, as his father, saying his mother had told him he was born of a second marriage to a man named Gilbert.

GENERAL MAILS ARE ROBBED; TILLS LOOTED IN SMALL HOTEL AND IN STORE OF G. S. TAYLOR

OLD BOY RETURNS.



PERCIVAL J. COONEY
of El Monte, California, native of Peterborough, author of "The Kinsmen" and "Dons of the Old Pueblo," who is visiting the city and district at present. He is teacher of Americanization in the High School at El Monte, California.

Forty-nine Dollars Is Secured in Store and Seven in Hotel.

MAIL IS DESTROYED.

KEENE, August 13 (Examiner Correspondence). — Thieves ransacked the post office, a general store, and the hotel some time during the night, and carried off a sum of money from each. In the post office, which is operated by Gilbert Howson it is not known just how much money was taken, but it is thought not to have been large. Every letter and sealed article in the mails were ripped open and their contents thrown about the floor of the office. One parcel containing a suit of clothes was also torn open, but the clothes were not touched. As a result of the destroying of the letters no mail was able to leave Keene this morning.

In the general store of G. S. Taylor an entry was forced in the same way as at the post office—that was by cutting a hole in the front door and then pushing the bar back or turning the key. In this store the thieves secured the sum of $49.00. No other articles in the store were touched. In the hotel, which is operated by M. Kennealy, an entrance was forced through one of the windows, and here the sum of $7.00 was taken. In the hotel considerable hunting around was done before the money was found. Boxes were upset and tables overturned.

In all three places it was apparent that the intruders were after money, as nothing else was taken. Who they are and where they came from remains a mystery. The only clue that the police have is that three men were seen parked on a side road just outside the village about ten o'clock last night. What time the robbery occurred no one knows, but it is thought to have taken place some time between midnight and four o'clock this morning.

Provincial Constable Harry Thompson was notified by the owners when they went to their premises this morning, and is investigating the cases.

KING WILL SOON BE ABLE TO GO TO SANDRINGHAM

Excellent Progress Has Been Made By His Majesty in Past Few Weeks.

LONDON, Aug. 13.— (C.P.) —The King has made such excellent progress from his recent operation at Buckingham Palace that he will probably soon go to Sandringham, one of his favorite country sojourns. The King and the court were on the point of going to Sandringham when his operation became necessary a month ago.

Bright and sunny weather recently has enabled His Majesty to spend a good deal of his time in walking or resting in the gardens of Buckingham Palace, which are now at the height of their summer beauty.

WHEAT CROP LESS THAN HALF LAST YEAR'S, SAYS R. HARSTONE

But Farmer With High Grade Almost As Well Off As Last Year With Half Crop.

DAILY INFORMATION.

In response to The Examiner's request for a summary of the many telegraphic and other reports he has received from the western provinces, Mr. Robert Harstone said he was not disposed to be pessimistic of the final results of this year's crop.

Spring seeding was begun and carried on under favorable circumstances owing to the lack of subsoil moisture. Farmers generally had satisfactory conditions for putting in their wheat more rapidly than if the ground had been wet. The early weather, however, was cool and growth was downward rather than up. Throughout June little progress was made in the growth of the grain. Showers were insufficient. In fact there had been no genral rain in the west since Spring. By the first of July the outlook began to be serious, especially in central Alberta. In that district there had been little or no rain from seeding time until July and none since then. As a result of that lack of moisture there will be practically no crop on the stubble ground and only about five bushels to the acre on summer fallow, likewise no oats and no barley. This condition extends over a very large area which was frozen out last year, leaving feed very scarce.

Average of Ten Bushels

In central Saskatchewan where the soil retains moisture better than the clay, and also because there were some rains the summer fallow will average around ten bushels. In some parts the stubble crop will not be cut because the straw is too short, only six to ten inches or thereabout, and only combines could cut it. And short straw means short heads. The crop sown on the stubble will be nothing to speak of, Mr. Harstone said. The summer fallow which has been seeded with wheat this year represents less than one-third of the entire acreage of Saskatchewan. On some half sections the summer fallow which was cropped this year averaged about 75 acres.

A Serious Outlook

The district south and west of Moose Jaw to the United States boundary will be from bad to serious

Man Dies As Result Of Sting From a Bee

Ten minutes after a bee had stung him, Jack Brasher, aged 43, died at his home in Corbyville yesterday. He appeared to be in good health previously, and death came with abrupt suddenness after his contact with the bee.

Mr. Brasher was a native of Cambridge, England, but had lived in this country for several years. Besides a cousin in this city, whose name is unknown, he had no relatives in Canada.

The funeral service will be held in Corbyville at 2 p.m. Wednesday, conducted under Masonic auspices.

BOY SCOUTS BREAK CAMP

AMBASSADORS OF PEACE.

ARROWE PARK, Eng., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press)—Tens of thousands of boys trekked out of Arrowe Park to-day as camp was broken and the great world jamboree of boy scouts came to an end. Fifty thousand youths left for their homes in nearly fifty different countries.

The night was passed largely in leave-taking as big contingents of boys toured the camp and bade their comrades farewell. At dawn they began passing through the ark on their homeward journey to far countries of the earth.

They took with them the farewell message from the chief scout issued before he left the camp, the keynote of which was, "from now on the scout symbol is a golden arrow.

"From the northlands, southlands, eastlands and westlands you came at the call of my horn to this great gathering. Today I send you back to your homelands across the seas as my ambassadors of peace among the nations of the world."

FOREST FIRES UNDER CONTROL

BURNING IN SCRUB.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 13.— (By the Canadian Press.)—Though forest fires are still burning in many parts of the province, they are well under control so far as the menace to settlements, power plant, transmission lines and valuable timber are concerned.

Danger which threatened towers and transmission lines at Great Falls and Lac Du Bonnett, north of Winnipeg, has been averted by the construction of fire-guards.

From Swan River to the extreme north there was a heavy rain yesterday, and it quenched most of the fires which have been burning in that territory.

In the Rennie district, near the Ontario border, several fires are burning firecely through scrub and slashings, but all are well away from the town which has been threatened with destruction on several occasions during the past two weeks.

The Weather

We have had no excessive heat this summer for prolonged periods. Only on one or two days has the temperature reached 90 degrees, while the nights have generally been cool — too cool, many will say. Highest point yesterday 82 degrees; lowest last night 59 degrees. As this section was visited by an earthquake yesterday morning there seems to be hazy ideas as to what causes these tremors. As the earth grows older its crust shrinks, and rocks in the interior, perhaps ten miles down or possible 100 miles down, have to adjust themselves to the changing conditions. They slip or slide slightly. This sliping occurs at what is known as "faults." The nearest of these faults to us is the channel of the Hudson River in New York State (where the 'quake yesterday originated) and the Saguenay River in Quebec province. If it is any consolation to the timid reader I might say that this section of Canada is considered by the geologists as about the safest place on old mother Earth there is.—W. P.

BRITISH GOV'T MAY FACILITATE WAY FOR POOR MAN'S DIVORCE

Eight Additional Assize Towns Recommended For Hearings.

27 DIVORCE COURTS.

LONDON, Aug. 13 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Facilities for obtaining divorce at the minimum expense will be extended if the recommendations of the Government Committee, published to-day, are adopted. Before 1922, divorces were granted only in the High Court Division, sitting in London. For many years this system was widely condemned as virtually limiting divorce to those with long purses, able to afford the expense of bringing witnesses to London and bearing heavy legal costs.

Accordingly in 1922 it was ordained that divorce proceedings of a certain class could be taken at selected assizes in the country. Out of 60 assize towns, however, only 19 were selected.

The committee now recommend eight other assize towns should be added to those where divorce proceedings can be taken.

The committee admits that in principle there is no reason why divorce cases should not be heard in every assize town, but in practice they apprehend there would be danger because assize registrars who undertake the preliminary work have no experience of divorce law and practice.

These facilities for obtaining divorces in the country are of course taken advantage of mostly by poor people. The committee pays generous tribute to the "self-sacrificing and unostentatious work of solicitors who perform this difficult and frequently distasteful work for no remuneration whatever, and frequently at considerable personal expense, on behalf of clients who are not only often difficult but are more exacting than the client who pays for the work done."

AUTHOR, LECTURER AND TEACHER RETURNS TO CITY OF HIS BIRTH

Percival J. Cooney Is Spending Several Weeks in Peterborough and District.

TO ADDRESS KIWANIS.

An interesting visitor to this district at the present time is Percival J. Cooney, a native son of Peterborough, who has achieved renown in various ways. He is the author of two books that have had a wide sale in Canada and the United States, and has another volume in process of construction at the present time. He is a Professor and Director of Americanization in the High School at El Monte, California, where he resides, is a lecturer of note, and is one of the 20 000 select who are listed in "Who's Who in America."

Mr. Cooney, who is a first cousin of Mrs. W. J. Grady, of Claraday Post Office, is renewing old acquaintances in the city and the surrounding district, during his visit to Canada after a lapse of many years. He is addressing the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon on Friday next, August 16.

Mr. Cooney was born on May 21, 1871, at the end of Gilmour Street, and his father was employed by a Mr. Gilmour, who owned greenhouse and nursery situated where G. W. Hatton's house now stands. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Cooney left Peterborough to reside in Norwood, and then in Arnprior and Renfrew.

Attended Norwood School.

Mr. Cooney, who was the eldest of the family, graduated in 1888 from the Norwood School and in 1895 the family went to the United States, and settled in Montana, where a brother Howard died a few years ago, where his brother Frank is a retired business man, and another brother Byron is a member of the House of Representatives. Florence the only sister, became an artist. She married in her profession, and with her husband is at present travelling abroad.

The parents both died in Montana. The elder Mr. Cooney, John N., who lived to the ripe old age of eighty-six years, was a well-known figure in Peterborough in the sixties and seventies. At that time, he had a bakery and confectionery store in George Street, and prior to that he and his brother-in-law, Martin Joe-

Nephew Of Actor Injured In Crash

STAMFORD, Conn., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Harry Sothern, nephew of Henry Sothern, famous Shakespearian actor, and himself director of the Actors Playshop here, is in a critical condition in Stamford Hospital from injuries received in an accident on the Bandbury road near New Canaan, last night.

Harry Sothern was riding in the car of James J. Van Dyke of Verona, N.J., which crashed into a tree. Sothern's left lung was punctured, his scalp lacerated and his skull probably fractured. Van Dyke was arrested on a charge of driving while drunk.

MANY INJURED IN COOLIE RIOT

TAKE TO ARMS.

APIA, Samoa, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Fourteen coolies were injured when policeman fired in self-defence in a riot caused by 250 striking coolies here yesterday. The coolies were injured by bullets and police batons. Several policemen were hurt by stones thrown by the rioters.

Samoa has been an active centre of unrest for some years, agitation being fomented by the Mau, or league for native home rule, which is opposed to the administration of the island by New Zealand, which holds a mandate from the League of Nations.

SCHILLER MISSING TWO WEEKS FOUND SAFE AT WAGER INLET

Sends No Explanation of Long Delay in Sending Message.

FEARS ALLAYED.

THE PAS, Man., August 13 (Canadian Press). — A formal business message, flashed to The Pas by radio and telegraph yesterday brought relief to many who had awaited news from the northland since "Duke" Schileir had been reported lost in the Baker Lake area with two companions.

"Schiller is safe," was the news flashed to the world yesterday afternoon from The Pas a few minutes after the formal message had been received here. Tom Creighton, one of the discoverers of the Flin Flon Mine, and E. Humble, mechanic, accompanied "Duke" on the trip to the far north.

While searchers scouted the barren lands in search of the Schiller plane to-day, Miss May Beltee, local secretary for Creighton, received the message, "Arrived at Baker Lake," it said, but there was no explanation for the delay in the plane's arrival at the far northern destination.

TORONTO, Ont., August 13. (C.P.) —C. A. "Duke" Schiller, ace of the Northern Aerial Mineral Exploration Company, and his companions, Jack Humble, mechanic, and Tom Creighton, prospector, were located at Wager Inlet on Saturday, said a message received here yesterday by Jack Hammell, president of the N.A.M.E. Company.

"Located Schiller party tenth. All safe and well, at Wagar Inlet," said the message which was despatched to Hammell by T. M. Reid, one of the pilots engaged on the search for Schiller and his companions.

Hammell said it was just what he expected. He insrtucted one of the planes to go to Wager Inlet last week believing that the trio would be found there.

The locating of the men ends a search of New Ontario which was entering on its third week The party started out on a prospecing flight about a month ago.

CONVENTION OPENS IN TORONTO TO-DAY

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—More than 1,200 delegates from many parts of Canada, Great Britain, Germany, United States and other countries are quartered in this city preparatory to the opening to-day of the International Apple Shippers' Association 34th annual convention.

Premier G. H. Ferguson of Ontario will address the shippers at the annual banquet on Thursday. The convention will last four days during which a wide variety of problems affecting the trade will be discussed.

Freight rates will be the leading topic of discussion at a joint meeting to-day of the shippers and the Trans-Atlantic Shipping Conference although all questions concerning apple transport on the Atlantic will receive attention.

David L. Dick, secretary of the association, said yesterday that the Ontario apple crop this year would amount to 900,000 barrels; last year's crop was 750,000.

"Most of the fruit will be exported to Great Britain and Scandinavia," he said. "We shall not send any to United States because in addition to the duty they have sufficient crops to meet their own needs."

Two Are Killed in Fall From Roller Coaster

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—A 15-year-old girl and a man, 23, were instantly killed in an amusement park here last night when they were thrown from a car on a roller coaster as it made a turn at the top of an incline, 40 feet above the ground. Two employees of the device were arrested for the coroner. The girl's body was severed when the car passed over it on the lower track.

RANKIN LEAVES TOWARDS HOME

Made Trip To Mexico in Tiny Plane On 75 Gallons of Gas.

FOUR CYLINDER MOTORS.

AGUA Caliente, Mexico, August 13. (C. P.) — Having succeeded in making a nonstop flight down the coast from Canada to Mexico, Tex Rankin, United States aviator, groomed his little plane for a take-off here to-day in the direction of Portland, Ore., his home.

Rankin completed the southward flight by landing here late yesterday, 13 hours, 7 minutes and 49 seconds after leaving Vancouver, B.C. He covered the 1350 miles at a pace of better than 100 miles an hour despite headwinds encountered during the first part of the flight.

The plane has an 80 horse power, 4 cylinder motor. It consumed about 75 gallons of gasoline, making about 18 miles to the gallon.

ANCIENT FEUD BREAKS AGAIN

Two Families Open War With Two Deaths in First Clash.

TWO ARRESTED.

ASHEVILLE, N.C., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Two men are dead and the 12-year-old daughter of one of them may die following a flare-up of a long dormant blood feud between two mountain clans—the Landers and the Stantons—in the Shelton Laurel section of Madison County, one of the wildest parts of the southern Apalachians.

The dead men are Arthur Stanton, whose home was near Greenville, Tenn., and Albert King, of Shelton Laurel. The wounded child is Agnes Stanton, daughter of Arthur Stanton.

Sampson and Albert Landers, brothers, are held in Madison County Jail at Marshall, awaiting preliminary hearings on charges of having fatally shot King and Stanton and wounded the latter's little daughter.

EXPLOSION TRAPS MINERS

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 13 (C.P.) —Four men were severely burned, 25 were trapped in smoke-filled tunnels, and a mine fire was raging under the central part of the city last night following an explosion in the Primrose vein of the Sherman Coal Company here.

SINGER IS READY TO AID INQUIRY

CABINET CONSIDERS OFFER

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The Canadian Cabinet is considering an offer made by Louis M. Singer, K.C., to co-operate in the investigation of the activities of the Amalgamated Builders' Council, said W. F. O'Connor, K.C., counsel for Singer, last night.

Mr. O'Connor said that in reply to a wire from Mr. Singer to Premier Mackenzie King, he had received a message which said the Cabinet would consider the offer.

Singer to-day enters the 13th day of his confinement, while two appeals to the Ontario courts and one to the Privy Council are pending. He was jailed on August 1 for contempt to Gordon Waldron, K.C., chairman of the Royal Commission now investigating the branch of the Council at Sandwich. Singer had refused to hand over the books of the Council and its associated organizations.

KEMP FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY

Great Canadian To Be Laid To Rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Services At Toronto Home.

TORONTO, Ont., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Funeral services for the late Sir Edward Kemp, prominent Canadian statesman and business man, who died at his summer home, Mississquoi, near Bobcaygeon, yesterday, will be held from his residence here on Wednesday, August 14. Interment will take place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

TWO FIREMEN DIE IN WRECK

CHIEF BADLY HURT.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 13 (C.P.) —Two firemen are dead and two others are in hospital in a critical condition as the result of their fire truck turning over while speeding in answer to a fire call here yesterday. The call proved later to be a false alarm. The dead men are: Fred Doulding and Alex. Morrison.

Doulding and Morrison were rushed to hospital after the accident, but succumbed to their injuries shortly after being admitted. Doulding died from a fractured skull and Morrison received fatal chest injuries. Chief Dickson and Dure were reported as having slight chances of recovery.

WEIGHS 3,600 POUNDS

House-broken and kind with children! "Black Bill" looks mildly interested as the Misses Bernice Rundel, Janie Parkhurst, and Nancy Shrubb sit astride his broad back. Black Bill is reported by his owner to be the largest steer in the world. He weighs 3,600 pounds, is seven years old and not a thoroughbred. He is owned by George Isaac, Fenelon Falls, Ontario. The photograph here was taken at Cream of Barley Camp, near Bowmanville, Ontario.

HITCH HIKERS RETURN THANKS BY BEATING UP WOMEN HELPERS

Steal Lady Tourists' Car, Leaving Them To Die On Side of Road.

ON WAY FROM COLORADO.

HOXIE, Kas, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The victims of two young hitch-hikers to whom they had given a ride from Colorado, Miss Leda Beauregard, 21, and Mrs. Beatrice Walsh, 34, both of Concordia, Kas., were in a hospital to-day with injuries received in an attack near here late yesterday.

Nude, beaten and slashed with a razor and apparently abandoned to bleed to death, the two women were found bound in a pasture east of Hoxie by a ranch foreman. Physicians said they would recover.

Miss Beauregard, a telephone operator, and Mrs. Walsh, a widow, were returning from a vacation trip when they were hailed by the two young men near Limon, Colo., they said. The youths, about 20 years old, were well mannered and asked for a ride, saying they were returning to their home in Kansas City. The attack, the woman said, came without warning.

After the attack the youths drove off in Mrs. Walsh's car. They have not been captured.

Chinese Warring Tongs Sign National Peace

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 13 (Canadian Press). — A national peace agreement between the On Leong and Hip Sing Tongs was signed last night in the office of the Chinese Consul-General by 30 Chinese, heads of Tongs in the principal cities of the country. The leaders said they had agreed to make the peace permanent. Provisions for arbitration to avoid the outbreaks of shootings that marked former disagreements between the Tongs, were written into the agreement.

ELEVEN CASES OF PARALYSIS

Dread Disease Spreads in Ottawa District—Three New Cases Reported.

BABY SHOW CALLED OFF.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Three new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in this district over the week-end, bringing the total number of cases in the present outbreak up to 11. One case was reported from outside the city, another from a family in which there was already one case, and the third involving a woman 53 years of age.

On the advice of Dr. T. A. Lomer, Medical Officer of Health, the baby show in connection with the Central Canada Exhibition to be held here has been called off owing to the spread of the disease.

PERU ENTERS ACTIVITIES OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Will Co-operate Again After Eight Years of Abstinence.

LIMA, Peru, August 13 (Canadian Press). — Peru has ended its long abstinence from participation in the affairs of the League of Nations. Decision was made yesterday to resume full co-operation in all activities.

Peru withdrew from official participation in League activities in 1921, after protesting election of Augustin Edwards of Chile to the League Council, on which Peru was not represented.

CHOLERA IN SHANGHAI.

SHANGHAI, August 13 (Canadian Press). — Health authorities of the International Settlement to-day announced Shanghai had become "an infected port" as a result of prevalence of cholera, which, it was stated, has reached an epidemic stage.

FEDERAL TROOPS VICTORIOUS.

CARACAS, Venezuela, August 13.—(C.P.) — Venezuelan Federal troops Sunday inflicted a complete defeat on a large group of revolutionaries who attempted to take the city of Cumana, a fruit training port about 250 miles east of Caracas.

Communists Plan Meet In Spite Of Police Ban

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press). — Communists announced last night that, regardless of whether police plan interference or not, they will hold a well organized meeting in Queen's Park to-night.

Tim Buck, organizer of the Communists, said that between 400 and 500 members of the party would meet.

Daniel Mianski, 31, Russian, was taken into custody by police while carrying a quantity of Communist literature advertising to-night's meeting. He was locked up on a vagrancy charge.

Ranger Loses Finger In Encounter With Bear

POWASSAN, Ont., Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press).—Conrad Weiler, fire ranger, is minus a finger to-day, the price he paid for avoiding an encounter with a large bear yesterday morning.

Travelling on a speeder over an old logging railway near Trout Creek, Conrad was suddenly confronted with a large bear. Owing to the down grade, the speeder skidded when he applied the brakes, and in the excitement his hand was caught in the cogs. The speeder left the tracks, the bear ambled off and Conrad's hand was treated at an outpost hospital.

FARMERS GO TO CITIES.

DUNEDIN, New Zealand, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The drift to the cities is unbalancing the distribution of population in New Zealand, in the opinion of farmers' associations here. It is officially stated that there are 3,318 fewer farmers on the land in the Dominion than last year.

Conditions in New Zealand, according to the Farmers' Union, are such that all products of secondary industries must be marketed in New Zealand, so that the demand for farm labor is strictly limited.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Tell me what you eat . . . and I'll tell you what you are"

Jean Brillat-Savarin, a French soldier, statesman and traveller, "the historian of cookery," wrote these famous words more than one hundred years ago in a book on food and cookery which has since become a classic in every country throughout the world where cooking and eating are properly considered as fine arts.

"A man who is badly fed," he said, "cannot bear the fatigues of a prolonged labour for a long time; his body becomes covered with perspiration, his strength soon abandons him, and for him sleep is merely the utter impossibility of action.

"If his labours be mental, his ideas are crude and without precision. His reflection refuses to combine them, or his judgment to analyze them. The brain exhausts itself in such vain efforts, and the soldier falls asleep on the field of battle."

"Eat right," is Savarin's constant advice throughout this amazing book. "Tell me what a man eats and I'll tell you what he is," he says. Truly there is a very significant meaning for you in these words. Eat right to make yourself what you want to be!

Right food—the kind which supplies to the body all those various elements which are necessary for healthy growth, energy, strength and endurance—is unfortunately hard to find among the foods of today. That is why under-nourishment is found to be as prevalent among the wealthy classes, where an abundance of food is available, as in the homes of the poor.

The wonderfully delicious food Grape-Nuts was deliberately designed to overcome this condition. It supplies five vital elements, one or more of which is often found to be lacking in modern diets. These precious elements are: dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates, which supply energy; phosphorus, which develops strong, healthy teeth and bones; protein, which is the body-building element; iron, which is needed for rich blood; and the important vitamin-B. Grape-Nuts is crisp—to tempt chewing—which gives healthful exercise to teeth and gums. It is twice baked—to make it one of the easiest of foods to digest.

THINK of one of the best-loved of all foods giving your body five elements of nutrition, fostering the growth of beautiful teeth and gums and aiding digestion! Grape-Nuts does this. Include it in your breakfast, and your children's, beginning tomorrow.

Buy Grape-Nuts in the wax-wrapped package at your grocer's. It is ready to eat—with milk or cream. A helping —four teaspoonfuls—costs less than one cent.

AVIATION WILL SERVE PUBLICITY

Flying Discussed At Convention As Future Tool of Advertising.

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Aviation as one of the most important future tools of advertising, was discussed before the International Advertising Association in convention here to-day.

"The aerial age has commenced and flying will serve publicity at every point. It will speed up all preliminary work of advertising, and deliver journals to distant points so rapidly that the radius of merchandizing will be enlarged for all products.

"Goods will be delivered over wide areas in a shorter time than local deliveries can now be made." He added that, thanks largely to press, "that has not only recorded progressive stages in the history of flight but has stimulated the art of flying by offering prizes and trophies and awards that have been a great incentive, a world-wide network of international airways will soon be developed that will have as great an influence on industry as the telegraph and railways."

The delegates to day were divided into fifteen specialized groups for luncheon meetings to study different fields of advertising.

FASHION SERVICE

The simple pastel voile dress for wee maids of 2, 4 and 6 years for summery days is illustrated in Style No. 3407 in the new orchid shade. An Embroidery Fruit Motif in a yellow pear with green leaves is placed at left side of tiny yoked bodice to prove its French origin.

It will delight mother for it is so easily made. It is simply a one-piece dress. It is shirred at either side of front and back and attached to straight yokes. Inset shoulder bands join front and back of dress. The dress can be made in full length or in shorter length as sketched with bloomers peeping below. Pattern includes bloomers that are held in with elastic at waist and knees.

You can copy it exactly with 2 3-8 yards of 36-inch material for dress and bloomers in the four year size.

Pink and white gingham check with plain pink gingham, yellow and white pique, nile green chambray with green and white checked gingham, sprigged dimity, printed lawn, candy striped tub silks, and sailor blue cotton broadcloth with tiny white dots with plain white are adorable suggestions.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Emb. Trans. No. 700 (blue or yellow) cost 15 cents extra. Address Pattern Department. New Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

SALAD DRESSING

(Contributed by Mrs. R. W.)

Mix 1-2 cup white sugar, 1 1-4 tablespoon of flour, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, some pepper. Add beaten egg, and 1-2 a cup of vinegar and 1-2 cup of water. Cook and stir to keep from burning and when cooked add a small tablespoon of butter.

This dressing will keep some time.

EDEN UNITED CHURCH HOLDS ENJOYABLE PICNIC

MOUNT JULIAN, Aug. 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Eden United Church held its annual picnic in John Booth's grove recently. The weather was ideal for the occasion and a large crowd gathered on the grounds in good time.

The ladies as usual gave a good dinner and supper. Mr. Gorden K. Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, and Mr. William Clink, of Toronto, had charge of the sports, races, etc.

The grab-bag greatly amused the weefolks.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor worked faithfully to make the picnic a success. Many thanks are due the Anglican ladies who kindly gave their assistance in helping to wait on the table as well as providing cake, pie, salad, etc., for same.

Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, held the lucky ticket for the tablecloth; Mrs. Rose, of Warsaw, the one for the rayon spread; Mrs. William Church, Mount Julian, the one for fruit cake, donated by Mrs. Sam Wilson, of Haultain.

The church is indebted to the following for donations: Gordon K. Fraser, Burleigh Falls; William Clink, Toronto; William Thompson, Mount Julian; Mrs. I. D. Church, Mount Julian; Mrs. Sam Wilson and Mrs. William McCauley, Haultain; Mrs. Oscar Church, Peterborough.

The proceeds for the day amounted to $195.35.

In the evening the crowd dispersed feeling satisfied that a very enjoyable day had been spent by all present.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

LET THEM TRY.

"I'm gonna try."

"Jimmie, don't you dare wet your feet," screamed mother, from her place high on shore.

"I'm gonna try," said Jimmie doggedly, and into the water he strode, lifting his feet high, like a prancing horse. "If anybody could walk on the water, I can."

"You're the very worst boy I ever saw. Now you go straight to bed this minute. I don't care if it is the middle of the afternoon. The idea. Right before everybody. Such a dreadful thing to say."

Now Jimmie didn't know at all what his mother was talking about. Just last night she had read him a beautiful story about the One who had walked on the sea and he was going to try it. Nor did he know what it was dreadful to say it right before everybody. Nor why he should not try to do anything he wished to do.

It would have been just as well to have taken his effort as a matter of course. The water was shallow. He could not drown in it. He would have made no loud remarks about his reason. He would have learned a lot. Of course he learned a lot as it was but the learning was the sort that did him no good.

Grownup people had strange ways. They never wanted you to try anything. They scolded you without cause. They put you to bed for their pleasure and rendered you very unhappy. Better not tell them when you want to try things. They don't help.

You see all children have to try to do things—dangerous and otherwise. Some danger there will always be in every effort. Life is a dangerous adventure. The danger lies in the particular thing you fear most. Each of us has his own. It is best not to pass them along to the children but let them lose as many of the traditional fears as may be. Public opinion among them.

Public opinion is always on the side of the brave. That may be but another way of saying it is on the side of the winner but even then, I believe in that firmly. If children are not to be allowed to try, if they are not allowed to experiment, if they must accept the things of the world as they find them, how are they to know any thing beyond the close horizon set by the older generation?

Be generous in allowing the children to try. Guard them from danger but let them try themselves out. Let the little girl learn to manage the kitchen and the car and the airplane too. Let every boy and girl learn to try out every experience that touches their life. Seek only to protect them from too great risks, too heavy costs.

"You can't do that—you're not old enough not big enough, not skilled enough," is a challenge to a child to do it behind your back, and that is never good. Arrange things for safety and let them try if possible. If it is not possible that day, plan for the day to come when it will be. You cannot tell. This child may walk on the water. Courage is a great life preserver and faith is a lifeboat.

Parisian Foibles

If you wear this gown to a tea or cocktail party I feel you will undoubtedly be envied and admired. It is of beige lace and to the waist line perfectly plain, except for the full drape of the sleeve from the elbow. Extremely tight about the hips, it descends to four scalloped flounces graduating ever so little in the back while the hem line is of enchanting unevenness, with even a suggestion of a train which does not quite reach the ground. The color of beads to be worn is to your own taste, but the sophisticated picture hat is essential.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

IN A TRIP down George Street yesterday I heard so many comments on the heat of the day that I began to feel uncomfortably warm.

* * * * * *

So I went into an ice cream parlor and mused on the cause and cure, while I took a temporary relief in the form of a soda.

* * * * * *

All the usual cures occurred to me of course. A cold bath reduces the over-allness of heat, but one can't have a cold bath when one is in the hottest place down town.

* * * * * *

And the suggestion of a popular magazine writer that one hold one's wrist under the cold water tap for ten minutes wasn't made for me. For one thing, there are eighty working in The Examiner, and if each took ten minutes a day to cool off, it would mean a loss in working time of 800 minutes, or 13 hours.

* * * * * *

Then, too, they have spring taps here, so that one can't leave the water running!

* * * * * *

Another idea is to leave meat alone. But I like steaks and chops and roasts and fricassee too well. Of course one reduces the quantity in summer, naturally, but one can't be a martyr!

* * * * * *

In fact, it's all right to obey these "Thou shalts" and "Thou shalt nots" as a help, but I don't believe that they go to the root of the trouble at all.

* * * * * *

The best way to keep cool is not to think heat!

* * * * * *

Don't race about. Take your work and your pleasures calmly

* * * * * *

We read last week about a pyjama-clad man who electrified Toronto. Every pioneer was called crazy. Of course we are better off in the way of sensible clothing than the men, but there room for improvement still.

* * * * * *

To my mind (speaking about men's dress) the sight of a man in pyjamas would be no less edifying on the street than the sight of the same man with coat and vest off, collar turned in, and face like a boiled lobster.

* * * * * *

To get back to keeping cool. Don't get excited. If someone wants to row, go away from there. Anger will make you hot.

* * * * * *

Don't fret about the heat, and don't talk about it. When someone else croaks about it, just say: "Isn't it grand?" She will think you're crazy, but you will be taking the way of psychology to coolness.

* * * * * *

Kid yourself into liking the sun; you can't do anything really about it, so you MIGHT AS WELL like it!

* * * * * *

And as a matter of fact, nothing is more delightful than a baking sun on the human back. Not too long, of course.

* * * * * *

* * * * * *

Instead of fighting the sun—which has never yet been done successfully—co-operate with it. Enjoy it!

* * * * * *

* * * * * *

And of all these rules, the most important is: THINK coolness.

WEDDING BELLS

HAM—TREMAIN.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place on Monday, August 12, at 9.30 a.m., in St. Andrew's United Church, when Isabel Katheleen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tremain, became the bride of Gordon Arthur Ham, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ham, Honolulu, Hawaii. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles V. McLean.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and looked very charming in a gown of beige silk lace with moire hat, shoes and hose to match, and carried a shower bouquet of Butterfly roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid, Helen Elizabeth Tremain, sister of the bride, wore a nile green georgette ensemble and carried a bouquet of Templar roses.

Mr. Ham and his bride left later by motor to spend their honeymoon at Rideau Lake, after which they will reside in Smith's Falls.

MULTI-COLORED SCARF.

For the white frock, with white felt hat and white shoes, the multi-colored scarf of crepe de chine is very chic. One ties it in a bow under the chin or in a bow that hits one just above the waistline in front.

AUSTRALIAN LADY BECOMES AIR PILOT

Is Victoria's First Lady Flier After Passing Hard Series of Tests.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Miss K. Bloomfield, 24, is the first woman in the State of Victoria to gain an air pilot's license. She has passed her final tests—they were pretty severe ones at that—with flying colors.

If women only knew how thrilling flying was, said Miss Bloomfield, she was certain that the number of women fliers would soon increase.

"I first caught the flying craze," Miss Bloomfield said, "when I was in Great Britain last year and flew as a passenger from London to Brussels. Soon after I returned to Melbourne, I became frightfully keen on learning and began to take lessons. Every day for two months, except when weather conditions made flying out of the question, I was up in the air for about half an hour. I need not say that I have not attempted to do any acrobatics yet. What I may do later, of course, remains to be seen. You must keep your mind on what you are doing. And if you don't—well."

A DOZEN different things may cause a headache, but there's just one thing you need ever do to get immediate relief. Aspirin is an absolute antidote for such pain. Keep it at the office. Have it ready in the home. Those subject to frequent or sudden headaches should carry Aspirin in the handy pocket tin. Until you have used it for headaches, colds, neuralgia, etc., you've no idea how much Aspirin can help. It means quick, complete relief to millions of men and women who use it every year. And it does not depress the heart.

THE CHILD'S MIND.

You are reading much these days about the workings of the mind in children, and later as they become adults.

It is agreed now that the first few years of the child's life, the years he spends around home with his mother before he starts to school, have a great bearing on his whole life.

If the mother keeps him too much to herself, doesn't let the father have much to say or do with him, does not let him play outdoors with the other children, then this child is not going to be as well prepared to meet the world and its contacts as he should be, if he is to fit in to the affairs of the world.

In other words, when the youngster gets over the idea that he is different—either better or worse—than other youngsters, then he is likely to become normal in the real sense of the word.

Every one of us has to take a stand on the positive or negative side of life. There are, of course, extremes in both directions.

And if the youngster, by being too much with his mother, running to her for sympathy and protection on every little occasion, is not dealt with firmly, but kindly of course, by the mother, then the youngster is likely to be looking for sympathy and protection in the days that are to come.

I believe that school teachers do a wonderful bit of work in the world as they take a youngster in hand and try to show him exactly what is expected of him—to do his share of work, and to get his share of praise or blame for what he does.

Parents are well advised not to take sides with their youngster against the teacher without investigating matters. Teachers are human and make mistakes but they are in the right most of the time, as all parents will admit.

So with your youngster in the home, or your youngster starting school for the first time, try to see that he stands up for himself, and yet is not too selfish.

And above all, let him play with other youngsters, not only for the health of his body, but for the health of his mind.

W.M.S. HOLDS MEETING

Lakevale Women Meet at Home of Mrs. J. Hunter, Smith Township.

The W.M.S. of Lakevale Presbyterian Church held their July meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Hunter, Smith Township. A very interesting programe was given by the Mission Band, which was held the same day. Mrs. Craw and Miss Craw, of Peterborough, were present at the meeting. Miss Craw gave a very interesting talk from Rev. Stanley Jones' book, "The Christ of the Indian Road."

After the meeting about thirty-five partook of a dainty lunch and ice cream, which was served by the hostess.

HUSKY HAS GIVEN ME THE HEALTH I WAS WANTING

"This Medicine Has Made Me Feel Strong and Well and I Never Have a Pain," Says Well-Known Woman.

MRS. HELEN M. WHEELER.

"Ever since I started the Husky treatment my stomach hasn't given me one bit of trouble," said Mrs. Helen M. Wheeler, of 57 Chestnut St., Stratford, Ont., as she told of the most wonderful results she is getting from this medicine.

Mrs. Wheeler, who has been a well-known resident of Stratford for years, went on to tell of her case as follows:

"I was suffering so much with my stomach and, in fact, I had been a sufferer from stomach trouble for three years. My stomach would hurt me severely after I ate a meal and so often I would vomit. My back was weak and achy and the pains were so bad at times I could not do anything.

"I had been using Husky only a day or two when my stomach stopped hurting and I felt more like eating. Now I don't know what it is to have a pain in my stomach or any of the old trouble. And my back is as supple and free from pain as can be. Husky has just given me back my health and I am glad to tell others that it is the very best medicine I have ever used. It is so efficient and helps so quickly."

Begin using Husky to-day and note how soon you get relief, how your food tastes better, sleep is more sound and restful and you feel stronger and better in every way. It is wonderful what this medicine will do for you in just a few days. Husky can always be obtained at Bond's Drug Store here and at other good drug stores everywhere.

IN A QUANDARY.

The Toronto Globe ascribes an increase in crime in Canada to the increased consumption of alcohol as dispensed under Government control in all the Provinces except Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Referring to the report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on the liquor traffic in this country, the Globe says: "The same story is told in every Province of the operation of Government sale of liquor. It has resulted in increased drinking, in increased crime, in an increase of danger to human life through the operation of automobiles by drunken drivers."

The Globe arrays two facts, which may be accepted as correct, and then with ready logic relates the one to the other. There is more crime in the Provinces in which liquor is sold under the system of Government control because the sale is greater.

Assuming the correctness of this deduction, what is to be the conclusion of the average temperance man when he looks from the "wet" side of the United States boundary to the "dry" side? And lest there be any doubt of the application of these terms, the "wet" side means the Canadian. He is first to believe on such credible testimony as the word of Henry Ford and the teetotal decision of the Republican party that prohibition to the south of us is a success.

But the temperance man looking for reassuring and convincing facts finds that in the "dry" United States crime has increased to such an extent that prisons are dangerously overcrowded, and enlarged accommodation is an urgent and serious problem which authorities declare must be dealt with at once. This condition is acknowledged as being one of the main causes of recent outbreaks in three prisons. In one of them 1,600 prisoners were confined to cells built to hold 1,160; and at Auburn nearly 1,700 prisoners were kept in a prison designed to accomodate 1,226. The fact is that the increase in serious crime in the United States is vastly greater, proportionately, than in Canada. The Baumes laws, devised as a deterrent to criminals, are especially responsible for the packing of the prisons in New York State. In other words, if crime in Ontario and the other wet Canadian Provinces has increased under the Government sale of liquor, its increase is apparently even worse under prohibition in the United States.

The Globe also says: "The report records a steady increase in the number of deaths listed as caused by alcoholism, and also in the proportion they bear to the total."

The same statement applies with equal truth to various parts of the United States, which during the last year have reported an increasing number of deaths from alcoholism. And not so long ago one of those "gold cure" institutions in the United States announced its decision to enlarge its sanitarium as a result of the steady increase in the number of alcoholic patients.

No wonder the observant and hopeful temperance man and woman in this country is in a quandary. The statistics deplored by the Globe tell their own story, but in spite of it there is still a feeling in this Province that the sale of liquor under Government control can be satisfactorily carried out.

PAVE THE BUS ROUTES.

Mayor Denne's suggestion that the paving program for next year should include streets of the bus route in Ashburnham, merits the thought of the Council when the work for 1930 is being laid out. This year's pavement on Park street south of the intersection with Rubidge street is an improvement that will be appreciated by the many residents of that part of the city who frequently use the busses.

When the street cars were discontinued the public was deprived of a transportation service that was comfortable and commodious. Since then the bus routes on streets pitted by traffic have not contributed much comfort to the daily experiences of those people who need the busses in going and coming between their homes and the business centre of the city. If the Council recognizes any obligation to the public since the street cars passed out, the least it can do is to extend the pavement along streets the busses travel.

In a few years every bus route could be paved, adding comfort and speed to the present service. This evidence of co-operation might introduce a general improvement in the busses themselves, and restore a large measure of satisfactory transportation the electric car system provided.

AN ELECTION STRAW?

Premier Ferguson may indulge a Jovian humor in evading a categorical answer to the question of an early election, and his airy manner might suggest that this decision is farthest from his mind. But there is more than a playful spirit in Mr. Ferguson's attentive notice of the utterances of the Liberal leader, and especially of any criticism Mr. Sinclair levels at him.

Their long distance exchanges may be nothing more than a crossfire from the vantage points of the picnic season, but they may also be a prelude to a general campaign. Certainly the Premier's speech at Lindsay showed a sensitive regard for the favor of rural Ontario, and likewise a real concern for the condition of the Government's fences in the back forties.

The Ferguson projects for the benefit of the farmers include higher education in the little red school-house, which is to-day quite an imposing modern building; better township roads leading to the provincial and county highways, and cheaper electric power to reduce the age-old labor in the farm home and about the barns, and relegate the inevitable lantern to the scrap-heap that has been piled high with old buckboards.

Incidentally, the Premier's reference to improved sideline roads followed within a few days upon Mr. Sinclair's criticism that the Government had showed favoritism in the grants for colonization roads and had generally neglected their development in some parts of the Province. Mr. Ferguson's statement may not have been timed by the Sinclair comment, but on the other hand it may have been a purposefully prompt reply, and to that extent a tiny straw indicating the direction of the expected election wind.

Their conversations across the picnic sectors are sharp enough to be a foretaste of a pitched political engagement.

PAYING FOR PUBLIC SERVICE.

A City Council report records the fact that members of the recently-appointed Old Age Pensions Board of St. Thomas are receiving pay at the rate of $4 per meeting. The report adds that, while the pay has been $80 for the first four weeks, or $16 per member, the meetings, after this first six months or so, will be held with less frequency. It is not likely, therefore, that the amount to be paid the five members of the local board will either break or make the city.

But some fear the adoption of the plan of paying the members of the Old Age Pensions Board may be the thin edge of the wedge. At present members of the Mothers' Allowance Board, performing a service not unlike that being rendered by the Pensions Board, are not paid. Neither are the aldermen, the school trustees, the Hydro and Water Commissioners, of the hospital governors, all of whom spend many hours in the transaction of the city's business. It doesn't seem right that the members of one public body should be paid and others asked to give their services free. Will it be followed up a demand that all be paid?

In a city like St. Thomas, we do not think it should be necessary to pay members of elective bodies and, so far, there has been no demand that the members of the Mothers' Allowance Board, other than the secretary, be paid. The Council, in making a distinction in the cases of the Old Age Pensions Board, has established a precedent which may yet prove costly to the municipality. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

DICTATORS.

Britain's Premier wields power almost equal to that of a dictator, according to Mr. George Young, member of the House of Commons in the Old Land. He sees a new trend in European politics, a tendency toward the form of Government now in effect in Italy.

Mr. Young is right in one particular. Britain's Premier has wide powers, as has the Premier of any British dominion or province, providing he has the strength of will and personality to exercise his powers. It is not quite correct, however, to lock on this as a new trend. It is as old as parliamentary government.

It is safe to say that every successful premier, certainly every one who could lay claim to fame, has been a dictator. He has ruled his party, and through it, the country. And why not? These men were chosen leaders of their parties, and "leader" is no empty word. To lead, a man must rule, and this is what all the great men have done.

Britain has had its Gladstone, its Disraeli and its Lloyd George, all of them party tyrants, if you will, but all of them leaders. Canada has had Macdonald and Laurier, of the same stamp. These men did not simply wait for their parties to work out policies for them to follow. They dictated policies, and the parties followed.

Such power, of course, is dangerous in unscrupulous hands, but when one finds a combination of intense patriotism, high ability and the character to lead and dominate, nothing more can be desired for the head of a government.—Border Cities Star.

"GLAMOUR" IN ADVERTISING.

When advertising first began painting rosy pictures of the products it wanted to sell, the general public was not allowed behind the scenes. But in the last few years, magazine articles and whole books have been devoted to initiating the man in the street into the mysterious methods which induce him to buy one breakfast food, shaving cream or cigarette instead of another. The veriest ignoramus these days has heard of "sales resistance" and "sales psychology." Some one—perhaps it was an ignoramus for maybe just a realist—must have have been protesting at imaginative descriptions now in vogue among advertising writers, for one of the latter has sprung to the defense of "interpretative ad. writing" in the house organ of the agency where she works.

Her arguments are persuasive. She is no believer in exaggerations or unwarranted embellishments of facts. But if she is writing about something green, she does not believe in comparing the shade to the color of mold or slime. She prefers to find something beautiful. Her green is "the color of new grass in the spring, the sea off the coast of St. Malo, the jade Buddha of an Emperor, the emerald in a Sultan's crown." No doubt her choice depends on the nature of the thing she is advertising. Furniture for the lawn or garden might well be the color of early grass, but jewelry or silk frocks might better be compared in shade to the sea.

"Glamour" without lies or insincerity is the watchword in the new school of advertising. The manufacturer of a good face cream will not let his writers tell the feminine world that it is better than any other brand because a certain titled lady uses it, but if women's souls are titillated by this bit of news, why should it be withheld from them? The dazzling smile of a movie star gleams brighter because she uses a certain tooth paste. Let her admirers have the pleasure of using the same dentifrice, says the advertising writer. She admits that her dentist told her that salt and water are as good a combination for the care of the teeth as may be found, and she believes him. Yet "suppose when I spend a quarter for tooth paste I do pay two cents for literal cleanliness and twenty-three cents for glamour—what, after all, more precious would my money buy?"

So long as advertising writers confine their glamourous words to harmless gush there can be no protest on moral grounds. But competition is keen, and exaggeration grows by what it feeds on. Many advertising agencies maintain a strict self-censorship, however, and little downright untruthfulness gets past it. Even when they tell us that "nothing gives such an air of elegant sophistication" as a certain type of cloth for suits, or that "this face lotion is compounded according to a formula favored by the aristocracy of Europe for fifty years," most of us smile a little incredulously. Then we go out and buy the suit and the lotion.—New York Times.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Linwood A. Miller, who succeeds John N. Willys as president of the Willsy-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Willys now becomes chairman of the board. Mr. Miller for the past four years has been first vice-president of the company, and during that time maintained a close personal contact with Mr. Willys. He is especially well equipped for his higher responsibilities, having been an executive of the company for the past 15 years. He is recognized as an official of force, experience and foresight. His approachability and fairness have made him extremely popular in Toledo and in the field, and his choice is strongly welcomed throughout the organization.

WORK

Let me but do my work from day to day,
In field or forest, at the desk or loom,
In roaring market place or tranquil room;
Let me but find it in my heart to say,
When vagrant wishes beckon me astray,
"This is my work; my blessing, not my doom;
Of all who live, I am the one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way"

Then shall I see it not too great, nor small,
To suit my spirit and to prove my powers;
Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours,
And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall
At eventide, to love and play and rest,
Because I know for me my work is best.

—Van Dyke, in "Forbes."

What To-day Means To You.

"LEO"

If August 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to noon, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., and 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 6 a.m. to 7:15 a.m., and from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The tablets of memory will not have many entries of importance to make for this date. Conditions will be unsettled, and both time and energy will be wasted. There will be much action and considerable travel but unfruitful results.

Children born on this August 13 will be high-strung and restless, and more than the usual care should be taken of their physical welfare in order that they may overcome their nervous tendencies. They will be more or less successful at whatever they undertake.

Your greatest gift to your fellow-men is your easy and marvelous sympathy. You are the kind of man or woman to whom one dashes when in grief, puzzled or hurt, to be received (metaphorically) with open arms. You understand, advise and are mum. You are not a sieve-like listener, for you are able to keep a trust and confidence. At no time, are you a mischief-maker or gossip.

Your chosen work should be with "humans," and not with science or figures, for here you show love and reveal skill. You are endowed with another rare gift—possessed by few—complete discretion. And this, above all else, is essential when dealing with the troubles of mankind. In the business world, you are not practical, and you could never make yourself a great success, or find happiness in such a field.

You are sincerely and deeply religious, although you make no outward show of your beliefs. You are as tolerant in this respect as in others, and do not try to force others to accept your creeds and doctrines.

Both men and women are home-lovers, and will derive their greatest happiness around their own firesides. Family and friends are more attractive to you than adventure and travel.

TEMPERANCE TALK HEARD

Fairmount Women Given Address by Mrs. (Rev.) Moyer.

The regular monthly meeting of Fairmount W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. R. M. Hooton on Wednesday afternoon. After devotional exercises, Mrs. (Rev.) Moyer gave an instructive talk on temperance, and Mrs. J. Seymour gave a very helpful paper on fifth chapter of the study book. After the meeting a social hour was spent and dainty refreshments served, with Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge, Mrs. J. H. Earle, Mrs. Richard Earle and Mrs. R. M. Hooton as hostesses.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 15.

"You understand that Bert gives me fifteen on every game?" Beatrice, her thoughts back on the game, explained seriously to Hugh's mother. "I bet him a grand boss yesterday that I could beat him with that handicap."

"And I wanted her to bet that she could force me to a four-six or a deuce game, which, as it turns out, she did," Bert said. "But she wouldn't have it that way. So now I've got a grand boss on her!"

"Little did I dream," old Mrs. Challoner said—"little did I dream, when my children started that nonsense about 'bosses,' that it would become a family institution."

"I think bosses are the finest things in the world," Beatrice said stoutly. "Hugh and I have them all the time, don't we, Hugh? I got my fox skin on a grand boss."

"You mean you lost the boss, and I forced you to get the fox," Hugh said, glancing up from the refractory shoe lace of his white buckskin oxford.

"Well, certainly!"

"It sounds the other way," he said, laughing.

"I remember when I was little," Minnie White said, her eyes absent, "it used to just break my heart when Hugh or Harriet would get a boss on me. We used to make each other do terrible things in those days. I remember once that Hugh made me go and stick out my tongue at Aunt Sarah——"

"Why is it always a grand boss? What does one do with a little boss? Ours always are grand," Beatrice said.

"Oh, little bosses would be—well, like answering a telephone or writing a note of excuse or calling for something at the cleaner's. The children used to use them to get the front seat in the car, on a short trip—things like that," Mrs. White explained quite seriously.

"Here's a funny thing, mother. Never, in all our childhood—nor since either, for that matter"—Hugh observed, "have I known one of us to go back on a boss!"

"Oh, that would have been the lowest treason—that would have been unforgivable!" exclaimed Minnie.

"We never have either, mother," a small daughter said, round-eyed and virtuous. "We always play fair with bosses."

"It's funny to have Beatrice here talking about bosses," her mother-in-law said.

"When Hugh first told me that he'd bet me a boss about something, it sounded crazy," Beatrice contributed, looking up from the floor, where she sat propped against the railing, with a smile. "But now I think they are wonderful. Only"—she added, with a dark look at Bert—"only I hate to lose them, of course. Everyone does."

"What are you going to make her do, Bert?" some small cousin demanded with relish.

"Oh, I haven't thought yet. But, believe me, it's going to be good," Bert said mysteriously.

"Mother," asked Minnie's awkward, overgrown, ubiquitous twelve-year-old—"Mother, if Bert wanted Bee to kill Hugh, f'r instance, then she wouldn't have to do that, would she?"

There was time for several uneasy if almost imperceptible movements on the part of the circle before Beatrice's joyous laugh eased the situation. Mrs. Challoner sent a perfectly expressionless glance toward her son. Bert caught his breath on a short laugh, and Minnie White fixed her youngest-born with a hard, cryptic stare.

"Oh, no!" Beatrice aid eagerly, innocently, appealing to them all for confirmation. "You wouldn't have to do anything wrong, would you, Hugh? I mean that—that would spoil it all, wouldn't it? I think bosses would be absolutely dangerous if you had to do that!" she finished, still laughing, but faintly puzzled by something constrained, something a little odd, in the expression on their faces.

"Why don't you use your boss to make her dive, Bert?" a child suggested.

"No fair!" Beatrice protested, childlishly terrified.

"She's going to dive to-day, anyway," Bert said. "Come on, if we're going to swim, let's swim!"

Beatrice wore a trim dark-blue bathing suit with a paler blue band circlin$ it like a belt at her slim waist. Her sunburnt slender legs and her round brown arms were bare; under her dark-blue cap her hair curled up in little coppery spirals.

Crossing the sun-baked sandy shale between the bathhouses and the water, she stepped high with sheer animal vitality and glorious spirits; stepped "like a circus horse," Bert told her.

"'I love it!" she said, unashamed, holding her palms up to the blue sky, like a sun worshipper. "I love the feel of these hot rocks, under my bare feet."

"Are you going to dive, you coward?

"Skeered!" she answered.

"Well, are you going to try for the raft?"

"Oh, the raft—that's nothing, now!" She had seated herself on the hot edge of the pier; the younger members of the family were already splashing about her like dolphins. Her bare feet dangled in the cool water.

"Stay near the rope, idiot!" Bert warned her as suddenly she flung herself off and began to swim strongly toward the float.

"I don't need the rope!" Beatrice wild with the joy of it, called back confidently. Bert swam beside her, watching her, and ready to extend the hand she did not need. In a few minutes she pulled herself triumphantly up to the shadowed float, gasping and laughing delightedly. "I love it!" she said superfluously.

"It seems farther out than usual this morning," Bert commented.

She sat dripping, deliciously cold, getting her breath, staring appreciatively at the exquisite dreaming hot morning—the blue sky, the lake so blue in the sunshine, so softly green here in the shadows; the pine forests stretching away on the sloping shores, and the occasional white dip of a sail down toward the southwest, where the hotel was.

Oh, what a heavenly, what a cloudless life! A bee buzzed close to her ear and she gave it a wet slap and laughed to see Bert studying her with half-closed eyes.

"What complicates the whole situation——" Bert said, and paused.

"Oh, nothing!" he said. "Do you realize that you have had a very definite effect on my destiny?" the man began again presently, in an idle sort of voice.

"Oh, how do you mean?" she asked, widening her eyes as they met his.

"You've made me—" Bert lowered his voice. He was lying on his elbow, his splendid young body stretched in the sun, the light bright on his sunshiny chestnut hair. He looked down, and moved a forefinger slowly on the dried painted canvas of the float, dragging a drop of water into circles and lines.

"You've made me want to amount to something—and you've made me an American," he said, a little huskily.

Beatrice looked at him, faintly puzzled, entirely sympathetic.

"How do you mean, Bert?" she asked again.

"Well, I'd lived away from America a little too long," he said.

"Do you mean that you really want to live here now?"

"Yes. I want to live in North Underhill now," he said, looking up.

If there was any significance in his level tone, she missed it.

"Not very," he answered disappointedly.

"Oh, Bert, why not?"

"Well—it's not so thrilling. Some day, maybe, I'll go back into the family business—granny wants me to, anyway," he said.

Beatrice considered this maternally.

"Keep at it, with the Atlantic, for a year or two," she suggested, "and then go back; all the more valuable."

"You little know what my allegiance to you costs me," Bert said dryly, as she continued to look away from him toward the blue distances of the lake and said nothing more.

"To me? To your father, you mean," Beatrice answered absently. "You know, for a rich woman's son, Hugh is really quite extraordinary," she presently added, with animation. "He is so normal, Hugh. He went through college; he won the Drew scholarship in architecture; he told your mother that if she would give him one year in Paris he'd take care of himself the second year; he did everything exactly as he said he would!" she exulted innocently. "And now—well, of course, he's the firm!" she added, spreading out her hands in her own characteristic gesture of explanation.

"Exactly."

"Well—" His tone had disappointed her. "Isn't he?" she asked.

"Of course he is," Bert's tone was profoundly bored, but she did not analyze it. "Aren't you curious to know what I'm going to do with my grand boss?" he asked.

"I'm in an agony of suspense!"

"Suppose it was—" he lowered his eyes to his own hand again, moving it over the drying drops of water. "Suppose I asked you to dine with me in town, some night when dad isn't coming out to the lake, and go to a show?" he suggested.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF CANADA.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Drs. Pidgeon, Endicott and Gunn, of the United Church of Canada, in a broadcast, 12 July, ult., by the Canadian Press, claim for the Settlement Committee of that church much of likeness to the Presbytery in the Presbyterian Church, in the calling and settlement of ministers. In fairness to the Presbyterian Church, will you kindly permit brief correction?

The Act of Parliament, incorporating the United Church, making it a civil corporation, subject to Parliament, and subject to change at the will of Parliament, is as follows:

"Any pastoral charge in view of a vacancy, may extend a call or invitation to any properly qualified minister or ministers; but the right of appointment shall rest with the Settlement Committee, which shall report to the conference for information only." (The Ministry 5).

The rule of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which is not a civil corporation nor subject to Parliament, whose laws Parliament cannot touch, change or end, is as follows:

"All members in full communion, male and female, have the right to vote at all congregational meetings, and to them exclusively belongs the right of "choosing ministers, elders and deacons." (Section 14).

Each of the above rules gives an exclusive right. In the United Church it is the "right of appointment" of ministers to congregations. In the Presbyterian Church it is "the right of choosing ministers" for congregations.

In the United Church that "right of appointment" belongs solely and only to "the Settlement Committee." In the Presbyterian Church that "right of choosing belongs exclusively to the members of the church."

In the United Church that "right of appointment" over a congregation is by those outside of it. In the Presbyterian Church that "right of choosing" for a congregation is by those within it, by its own members, by itself.

In the United Church the Settlement Committee in its "right of appointment" of a minister over a congregation, is supreme. It can appoint whom it will, regardless of the people's wish or call, or of any church court, for it "shall report to the conference"—not for approval or sanction, but "for information only."

In the Presbyterian Church, the members of the church, in their "right of choosing ministers," are supreme. No Presbytery nor any other power can "choose" a minister for a self-supporting congregation, or appoint over them a minister whom they do not choose.

The Settlement Committee, with its "right of appointment" over the people, is autocracy, once world-wide both in church and state. The "right of choosing" by the people is dedemocracy, modern constitutional freedom.

But the Presbytery has its place and work. The people, in their "right of choosing ministers," do not deal directly with the minister chosen, nor present their call to him personally. That would be congregationalism.

In the Presbyterian Church the people present their call through their Presbytery, consisting of the minister and an elder from each congregation in a given district. The Presbytery "considers" the call to see that it is "regular," right in every way, and that it fairly represents the whole congregation, and not merely a part of it. And while the Presbytery cannot "choose" for the congregation, it is free to choose its own action, free to forward the call or to decline forwarding it.

If, for example, the Presbytery finds the call signed by only a small proportion of the membership, it may decline to forward it as the call of the congregation, for it only represents a part of them.

One of our congregations, a few months since, came to its Presbytery with such a call. The Presbytery declined to forward it as the call of the congregation and returned it for fuller signature.

A little later the congregation asked to have this call withdrawn, and then presented a new call, to another minister, unanimous and fully signed. It was forwarded and accepted. The congregation was soon happily settled, and thankful to Presbytery for all it had done.

The Presbytery may find not only a lack of interest in the call, but strong opposition to it, and that its acceptance might cause division in the congregation. Presbytery may therefore decline to forward it and may ask the people to try and reach agreement among themselves. And Presbyterian history in Canada, for well on to two hundred years, shows that where Christian people have responsibilities and rights in the church they will always rise to them.

If the people conclude that a Presbytery is needlessly hindering their call, they can petition Synod or Assembly. A petition of this kind (a very rare event) came before the recent General Assembly in Ottawa, June ult. The Assembly granted the petition, instructed the Presbytery to proceed with the call, and the congregation is happy with the minister of its choice.

Presbyterians, while cherishing a spirit of unity with all, of every name, who teach and live Christ, prize their own church with its liberties and rights of the people; and these liberties and rights they will not surrender. No human power gave them these rights, and no human power, in church or state, can take these rights away.

EPHRAIM SCOTT.

COMPANY IS READY.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—A gentleman connected with the Nicholls Hospital Board asked me recently if my attitude (in The Fortnightly) towards the hospital by-law could not be changed by further explanations of the needs of that establishment. It seems that the board or the hospital, or perhaps both, have more or less reached an impasse. This letter is to call the board's attention to the fact that neither it nor its members have in any way taken notice of the fact that the Fortnightly announced that a capable company was ready to take the hospital with all its obligations and duties off their hands without further expense to anybody. This company is still ready, as the head of it informed me the other day. "If the board officially asks me for the name with a view to business, it may have it at once."

It remains only to call attention to the fact that most of the new hospitals are now being managed in this way. Voluntary boards and other slip-shod methods are out-of-date.

LAND HIS UNDOING

LONDON, Aug. 13.—When a sailor gets on land he's lost and yearns for the sea again. A shore leave was fatal to Sailor Scarlett, of H. M. S. Eagle, recently. He couldn't ride land contraptions and on climbing astride a motorcycle, lost control, crashed into a wall and was killed.

STEEL COMMON LEADS ADVANCE

TIME MONEY EASIER.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 13.—(C.P.)—Led by U. S. Steel common, which soared more than 10 points to another new high record at 239 7-8, the stock market shook off its early irregularity to-day and pressed forward to the accompaniment of a series of bullish demonstrations in the Steel, Public Utility, Investment Railroad, Electrical Equipment and aviation shares. Laclede Gas, which broke 60 points last week, rallied 40 points, and others were run up 1 to 10 points.

The spectacular rise in steel revived rumors of stock split-up and higher cash dividends, but such action is not generally expected until the end of the year.

Steel broke to 218 1-2 in last Friday's break. The floating supply in the hands of brokers at the end of July was about 2 per cent. of the total shares outstanding.

The credit situation showed signs of easing to-day, despite the bullish activity of the last three sessions. Call money renewed unchanged at 8 per cent. but was quoted at 7 per cent. in the outside market in the early afternoon. An easier undertone also was apparent for time money.

LEAD ISSUES SHOW DECLINE

Lighter Trading Accompanied By Irregularity Feature Day's Session.

ON MINE MARKET.

TORONTO, Ont., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Lighter trading accompanied by irregularity resulting from slight declines in popular issues marked the morning session of the Standard Mining Exchange to-day.

Among the decliners' stocks were Noranda which dropped 35 cents to 62.35, Amulet 3 to 2.70, Arno 1 to 46, Newbec 2½ to 45, Abana 10 to 1.92, and B'wan 5 to 5.70. Pend Oreille lost 30 to 6.45. Hudson Bay was an exception, reaching 20.00 on a gain of 35 points, while Base Metals rose 15 to 5.50, and Ventures and Sudbury Basin were up 10 apiece to 8.20 and 9.00.

Ajax was strong and active among the oils, adding 13 at 2.88. Calgary and Edmonton was up 5 at 8.75, while Home dropped 30 to 24.20, and South-west Petroleum 10 to 4.30. Most of the others were quiet. Precious Metals continued sluggish, Lake Shore adding 50 at 26.00 and Falconbridge Nickel receding 20 to 13.50.

$11,238,176 Profit International Nickel

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).— The International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., to-day reported net profit for the first half year at $11,238,176, or 74 cents a share on more than 13,750,000 shares. This figure included the earnings of Mond Nickel Company Ltd. In the first half of 1928 International, without Mond Nickel, had net profit of $5,086,521 or $2.87 a share on about 1,700,000 shares.

Team Is Picked To Represent England

LONDON, August 13 (Canadian Press Cable). — The team which will represent England in the fifth and last cricket test match with South Africa which begins at the Kennington Oval on August 17, was announced to-day. It consists of the following players: Carr, captain, Wyatt, Hobbs, Sutcliffe ,Hammond, Woolley, Leyland, Ames, Tate, Freeman, Clark and O'Connor, twelfth man.

AMULET.

Rouyn advises that drill is still working on holes 223 and 224 at Amulet. These are being put down to further test the new ore body. Results should be known shortly.

New well at Ajax is further ahead than expected. We are also informed that the pool on this stock is about to begin to operate.—Stobie, Forlong & Company wire.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

LIST FIRM IN LIGHT TRADING

International Nickel and Steel of Canada Among Issues To Advance.

POWER GROUP STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The Toronto Stock Exchange was firm this morning with a number of advances. Trading was light, but showed a fairly wide range.

Fractional gains appeared in International Nickel, which was active to gain ½ to 52¾, Loblaw "A" 22, Steel of Canada 62¾, DeForest Crossley 72, and Canada Cement at 27. Walkers at 18½.

One point advances were made by Service Stations, 67; Tip-Top Preferred at 112, Canada Dredge which recovered 1 to 62, and Abitibi at 55½.

In the power and utilities group, Brazilian failed to hold firm, being off ½ to 71½ at noon, after rising slightly at the opening. Dominion Power rose 5 to 70, and Shawinigan 1½ to 101¼. Bell Telephone was steady at 174, and Power Corporation at 125.

Massey Harris was firm at 58, Canada Steamship Lines Preferred up almost a point to 91 7-8, and Canadian Pacific at 227 was 1 higher than yesterday's bid. Exceptions to the general firmness were Lake Superior, which dropped a point to 24¼, and Canada Gypsum, which was off ¾ to 120¼.

Super-Test gained 2 to 35, and the oils were firm on the whole. British American, however, dropped slightly to 56½.

NO GRAIN SHIPS OVER WEEK-END

Only Boat Clearing Port Arthur Port is Coal Freighter.

ONE LOADING.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 13.—(C.P.)—Not a bushel of grain left the port of Fort William-Port Arthur over the week-end or yesterday, the only boat clearing, besides passenger vessels, being the Jones, which was here with coal. The Royalton is loading grain and two boats are en route light for grain.

Two coal boats are unloading and two are enroute.

Following is yesterday's report on vessel movements:

Cleared—(August 11)—B. F. Jones, Superior, light. (August 12)—Huronic, Sarnia, Noronic, Duluth, Alberta, Port McNicholl, passengers and freight.

In port—Sarniadoc, J. Frater Taylor, discharging coal; Royalton, loading grain; Calgadoc, loading flour; Ashbas, Fairmount, Assiniboia, discharging freight.

Wheat Values Rise Under Heavy Buying

CHICAGO, Ills., August 13.—(C.P.)—Indications of good sized export buying of United States wheat led to early upturns in wheat values here. There were also advices that in three Argentine provinces where rain was the most needed, showers only were received. Opening 7-8c to 1 7-8c higher, Chicago wheat prices kept near to the initial range. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat, corn starting 1-4c to 1 1-4c up and later showing losses, but then advancing again. Provisions tended higher.

OIL GOSSIP.

FOOTHILLS.

Foothills No. 2 struck about 9,000,000 feet of wet gas Sunday morning and was officially reported late Sunday evening as steadily increasing in gas flow. This well had about two or three million feet of gas before the latest strike. It was officially reported Friday by Imperial Oil Company at 4,693 feet, or 336 feet in the lime.

What production may be secured cannot be estimated until the well is placed on a separator. It is quite probable that it will continue to increase for two or three days until the lime rock at the bottom has been cleared out. During this period the separator cannot be used efficiently and would not give an accuarte estimate of the production. Foothills No. 2 is located a few hundred yards north of Okalta No. 1, one of the largest naptha wells in Turner Valley.

It is probable that the present flow is similar in wetness to Okalta No. 1, although this cannot be known definitely until tested by the separator.

HOME NO. 3.

Home No. 3 held up temporarily as result of rods being unscrewed. No rods were dropped nor was any damage done.

ASSOCIATED.

The situation remains unchanged.

OUTWEST.

Drilling at 2,740 feet.

HOMESTEAD.

Drilling at 3,040 feet.

MERCURY.

Mercury No. 2 drilling at 240 feet.

MIRACLE.

Miracle No. 1 drilling at 2,250 feet.

A. P. CON.

Alberta Pacific Con. No. 1 drilling at about 2,30C feet. No. 2 drilling at about 1,600 feet.

WELLINGTON.

Drilling at 3,120 feet.

WIDNEY PETROLEUM.

Reported at 1,870 feet. Drilling in Lower Bentons.

INVADERS PETROLEUM.

Drilling at about 725 feet.

HUDSON BAY MARLAND.

Hudson Bay Marland No. 2 on Highwood structure being rigged up and hoping to spud in shortly.

BRITISH DOMINION.

Making new hole around 4,810 feet. Reported in Dalhousie.

COMMONWEALTH PETE.

CALMONT.

New rotary rig for Calmont No. 9, Old Seneca well, expected to arrive in Okotoks this week. It is intended to instal rotary as quickly as possible and move standard rig now at No. 9 to Calmont No. 7 on Dallas lease adjoining Home wells. Hoping to spud in No. 3 on original Calmont lease adjoining Okalta within week.

EAST CREST.

East Crest No. 2— boilers arrived, now being installed. Probably spud in shortly.

Southwest Pete

Home No. 3

Home 3 officially reported at 5,112 and drilling steadily with about 7 million feet of gas being maintained. If this well runs true to Home 1 and 2 it will probably hit an increased flow in about 30 feet, or 122 to 125 feet in the lime. Biggest flow in Home 1 and 2 reached at about 172 to 175 feet.

Foothills

Foothills 2 going down steadily about 331 feet in the lime at 4,688 feet. This well has had a few million feet of gas for some time but will be carried down to a fairly deep test unless a big flow interferes with operations.

Lowery

Lowery Pete, which has been making exceptionally fast time, reported nearly 1,500 feet.

Baltac

Sterling Pacific

Mayland

Mayland 2 continues making new hole at satisfactory rate and now at 1,949 feet. Mayland 1, circulation of oil is being started, but it is probable drilling of new hole will not be under way for few days.

Hargal

Nothing official yet when Hargal, adjoining Home Wells will be spudded in, but believed preparations practically completed.

East Crest

East Crest started drilling new hole Thursday morning. Reported at 4,145 feet. Hoping to spud in No. 2 August 10th.

Freehold

Freehold No. 1 in north end of Turner Valley, making new hole at 2,325 feet. Freehold No. 2 near Home wells, drilling at 2,840 feet.

Model

Model running 8 1-4 inch casing and new 85 horse-power boiler completely installed. About 500 feet of oil standing in hole at 5,235 feet.

Mill City

Mill City is now negotiating contract for drilling three wells. Expect to have contracted and operations started within a month.

Wellington

Wellington ready to resume drilling at 3,090 feet. Have been under reaming and running 12 1-2 inch casing.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. — Foreign Exchange steady; demand rates Great Britain 4.84 5-16; Canadian dollar 3-4 of one per cent. discount.

NICKEL.

Stobie, Forlong & Co., wire. International Nickel: Earnings of Nickel for the first half of 199 were equal to 74 cents per share. Balance sheet of June 30, 1929, shows total current assets of $30,398,194. Assets of $40,999,333, and current liabilities of $9,398,861.

A Special Service to the Examiner

Steel Officials Study Columbia Property

NEW YORK—Investigators of the United States Steel Corporation are understood to have arrived on the Pacific Coast and begun the survey of the properties of the Columbia Steel Corporation which was arranged for recently in conferences between the officials of the two companies held in New York. The survey is expected to take more than a month and probably will not be in shape for consideration and decision by the officials of the United States Steel Corporation much before the ninety days which was the time period stated in the agreement.

The apparent discrepancy between the statement from Columbia Steel officials that an option for ninety days had been arranged for at the New York conference, and the one statement that has been issued by the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation that no papers had been signed, is explained by what is understood to have been the basis on which the conferences were conducted.

It is understood that the officials of the United States Steel would not commit themselves as to whether they would be interested in the purchase of Columbia Steel until they had had an opportunity to investigate the properties.

Sockeye Catch in British Columbia Reported Good

VANCOUVER—With prospects of another expansion in the salmon pack, combined with further reduction in operating costs, the outlook is for continued progress in profits and earnings of B. C. Packers this year.

This is going to be a big sockeye year, figures made available July 27 indicating that 25,150 cases of sockeye had been packed on the Fraser compared with 5,191 for the corresponding period of last year and only 2,151 for the corresponding period of 1927. On the Naas River, the sockeye pack amounted to 12,588 cases compared with 4,006 in 1928 and 7,145 in 1927. The Skeena pack was also well ahead of the preceding year, amounting to 49,809 compared with 21,309 in 1928. It was slightly behind 1927, when 53,147 cases were packed by July 27. This is an off year for pinks and the catch of this grade is down sharply.

While operations in 1928 were rendered much more profitable from the fact that "B. C. Packers" and other groups were working on a more friendly basis, the co-ordination of operations by B. C. Packers did not go into effect until the month of May, at which time many contracts had been entered into by the two units. The benefit of the merger and the general improvement in conditions throughout the salmon packing industry will apply to the entire year of 1929 and it is believed will result in considerably larger savings over 1927 than were secured in 1928.

High Rate of Business Activity Well Maintained Through July

"The high rate of business activity has been well maintained through July and it can now be definitely seen that there will be no pronounced mid-summer recession. Confidence and optimism in the business outlook prevails, and the pessimists who have been fearing a major reaction have had to postpone still further the fulfillment of their predictions, even though it be granted that some slowing down may be expected eventually following such an extended period of unusual activity. Production in the steel industry is still running close to capacity, while other basic industries are continuing the new high production records established in the first half year. Wholesale distribution of commodities is in large volume, and no serious accumulation of inventories has come to our attention.

Sustained activity in domestic trade and industry has resulted in full employment of labor and large purchasing power in the form of payrolls, which are estimated to be running 9 per cent larger than one year ago for a broad group of manufacturing ndustries.

An outstanding feature of the month was the favorable showing of earnings statements that were published covering the first half year. Combined net profits of 284 companies engaged in various lines of manufacturing and trade were 33 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of last year. Net income of the railroads as a group gained 21 per cent and set a new high record, while public utility systems gained 18 per cent 600 leading corporations, classified according to lines of business, which in the first six months of 1929 reported aggregate net profits of $2,083,823,000 compared with $1,674,[illegible]3,000 in the same period of 1928, representing a gain of 24 per cent.

British Columbia Mineral Output Increased 7.8 per cent in First Half of 1929

VICTORIA, B. C.—The mineral output in British Columbia for the first six months of the year, aggregated $35,256,034, an advance of 7.8 per cent over the figure for the first half of 1928, according to statistics made public here by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines.

The statement says: "This year will probably set a new high record not only for output but for actual dividends paid by British Columbia's well established mining enterprises, a dividend figure of over $12,000,000 being expected.

The statement says: "This year will probably set a new high record not only for out put but for actual dividends paid by British Columbia's well established mining enterprises, a dividend figure of over $12,000,000 being expected.

The output for the six months follows: Gold 90,000 ounces; silver 5,250,000 ounces; copper 145,000,000 pounds; zinc, 97,000,000 pounds; coal, 1,172,645 tons.

Mayland

Mayland shares seem quite scarce. Calgary was buying the stock Thursday, but only 500 shares came out at $10, while Toronto saw only 225 shares sold at the same price. Large portion of the stock is held at much higher prices. Mayland will be drilling again on No. 1 about the week end, while No. 2 has an excellent oil showing.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

Solloway, Mills & Company Through

Home—C. and E. Merger.

Home and C. and E. Land Amalgamation. — If Home and Calgary and Edmonton Land amalgamation takes place, would mean combination of tremendous potential assets. Understand C. and E. Land has about 70,000 acres now out under oil drilling contracts, comprised of 40 separate drilling contracts. Has much land around Highwood structure, also considerable distance south practically to the boundary. C. and E. contracts are made as follows: Twelve and half per cent. royalty from revenue of oil companies until oil company has paid drilling costs. After well cost paid for, C. and E. takes 15 per cent. if well produces 50 barrels or less, and 20 per cent. if well produces more than 50 barrels. C. and E. is capitalized at 3,250,000 shares no par value. Understand 2,415,000 have been issued. Assets reported as mineral and petroleum rights on approximately 1,100,000 acres with $45,000 in cash and oil petroleum refundable rentals.

Amulet.

Current rumor in Rouyn this morning is that Amulet has obtained ore in both holes 223 and 224. Our field man is checking results.

Smelters.

Estimated profits of Consolidated Smelters for the first half of 1929 were $4,559,943 against $4,416,025 for a similar period in 1928.

Arno.

Directors of Arno officially report the opening of a new zone of mineralization below the 290 foot level at the Coxhealth. New ore traced down for nearly 100 feet and averaged 6 to 12 per cent. copper.

Amulet.

Official news on Amulet scarce during the week end. Diamond drill hole No. 223 was expected to reach objective August 9th.

Noranda.

Rapid progress being made with smelter additions to bring Noranda tonnage up to 2000 per day. The seven roasters are in readiness. Second reverbatory furnace is being built and the floor being poured. The third and last converter is installed, and is being lined.

Oriole.

Due to encouragement met with in surface exploration of Elstone-Kirkland ground, Eastern Kirkland Lake, Oriole is undertaking quite an extensive diamond drilling campaign.

Wright-Hargreaves.

Wright-Hargreaves' newly discovered ore body at the 500 foot level is of much importance to this operation's improvement. Commercial values extend across a width of 18 to 24 feet, and the indicated average value is thought to be close to the average recently going to the mill.

CARLSON SYNDICATE

This small group of local people including many T. and N. O. men, who are operating a diamond drill on their claims in Dufay Township, Que., are reported to be meeting with some considerable success.

COPPER CREEK

Adjoining the Carlson on the north in Dasserat Township, the Sulphide Mining and Development Company is installing a small portable plant. Their program is to sink a small prospect shaft on a promising quartz vein carrying good copper and some silver values.

DOME

Good buying has developed in Dome. Closing price Thursday was $11 and action of stock indicated that a little buying would mean higher prices.

ASSOCIATED

Best authorities are of the opinion that removal of Association bit will not take long after all drill rods are removed and direct contact with bit made. Previous efforts to jar bit loose were made with a few hundred feet of old rods attached to bit and pressure on these rods had to be used carefully. With old rods off and heavier new ones attached, greater force may be used.

MANDY.

Diamond drilling program to be launched at Mandy in Flin Flon area and will test out the schisted area by deep drilling from 1,000-foot level.

HUDSON BAY.

Buying spurt which has carried Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting shares up to $20 has been due mostly to New York orders, placed in Toronto. Shares are closely held and the floating supply is not large. The shares have been regarded as undervalued, but as production was a year away, it was not expected that the stock would become active until the fall. Pictures sent out from the operation show splendid progress being made on the power plant and smelter.

FALCONBRIDGE NICKEL.

Construction work on Falconbridge smelter is making rapid progress. Brick work on dust chamber completed and steel work in position for furnace and converter building. Chimney has reached a height of 175 ft. In the mine development work is concentrated on two levels, 250 ft. and 1,000 ft. At the deeper horizon the ore body will be crosscut at 200 ft. intervals and a diamond drilling campaign started this fall. Intention is to prepare 250 ft. level for intensive mining in order to have it ready when the smelter is blown in about year end. Falconbridge company will establish a townsite near the mine and plans have been prepared and contract let for the erection of 25 houses for permanent employees.

Richfield.

Illinois-Alberta.

Illinois-Alberta No. 2 making new hole at about 3643 feet. This depth less than 40 feet from the bottom of old hole where bit was lost. New hole now being made beside former hole at total depth of about 100 feet in lime.

Okalta.

Okalta No. 5 spudded in and drilling. Okalta No. 4 drilling at about 400 feet.

McLeod.

McLeod No. 5 derrick probably completed over the week end.

Sunlight.

Drilling at 2305 feet.

Freehold.

Drilling at 2895 feet. Freehold No. 2 drilling at 2890 feet.

Amulet.

Mail and Empire's mining correspondent states new ore indicated on Amulet introduces favorable questions indicative of a better destiny for the operation, now definitely assured of a concentrator and railway spur line. New ore runs higher in copper than previous deposits. If Amulet contains high grade copper deposit, zinc production will become secondary consideration.

B. C. Production Increases

Six month report of British Columbia Minister of Mines indicates mineral output was more than $32,000,000—an increase of nearly 8 per cent. over similar period in 1928. Copper, lead and zinc showed increases; gold and silver decreases.

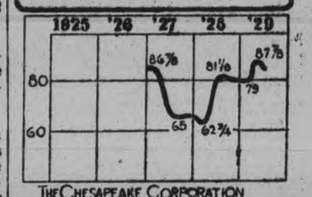
Ventures.

Ventures is reported in Vancouver as dealing for interest in Aurum Gold, Hope district, 120 miles east of Vancouver. Aurum advanced from 50c to $1.30 asked in Vancouver in the past week.

Marmot Gold.

Marmot Gold is said to be in $15 ore in No. 3 tunnel. Company has acquired new properties adjacent to George Copper.

STOCK A DAY



THE CHESAPEAKE CORPORATION

The Chesapeake Corporation was formed in May, 1927, to acquire control of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad through acquisition of 600,000 shares of C. & O. common stock held by the Nickel Plate road and the General Securities Corporation representing the holdings of the Van Sweringen Bros. It was stated that their method was taken by the Van Sweringens to simplify their holdings and secure a wide distribution of the Chesapeake and Ohio ownership represented.

In January, 1929, the Alleghany Corporation obtained control of the Chesapeake Corporation, the former being organized to hold the stocks of the Van Sweringens in this and other companies. Net income of the Chesapeake Corporation from dividends on its C. & O. stock interest and other income amounted to $3,755,751 in 1928. This compared with $2,117,696 in 1927.

Funded debt totals $43,374,000. Capital stock outstanding consists of 1,800,000 shares of no par value, of which a majority is held by the Alleghany Corporation. An initial dividend of 75 cents a share was paid in October, 1927, and this has been maintained quarterly since. A stock dividend of 33 1-3 per cent was paid July 1, 1929.

As of January 1, 1929, total current assets amounted to $3,861,017. Current liabilities totaled $296,266 and net working capital was $3,564,751. Book value applicable to the capital stock amounted to $68.64 a share.

HOME TOWNERS
CAMPBELLFORD
Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous

The third annual picnic of the Grills family, held recently at Twelve O'clock Point, was a decided success. The picnic was a re-union of the family in Northumberland and Hastings. There were one hundred and twenty-eight present, and an enjoyable day was spent with sports and entertainment for men and women of all ages. There were races, soft ball, and a tug-of-war. Dinner was a real get-together when all sat down at long tables and exchanged conversation with members of the family they had not seen, in many cases, for years. There were prizes awarded for the oldest man, the oldest woman and the youngest member of the family present. The oldest man was John Grills of Tweed. He is a farmer, eighty years of age and still active. Mrs. William Grills from the English Line, Seymour East, was the oldest lady. She is seventy-six. The youngest member present was also a resident of the English line, and also of the fair sex. She was Doris Lorrain Grills, three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grills. The fourth re-union will be held at the same place next year on the first Wednesday in August. The officers for this year are: Mr. Ostrum of Belleville, president; Mrs. Mernie Grills, Tweed, secretary-treasurer.

PASS EXAMINATIONS

CAR COLLISION

There have been numerous near-crashes at the intersection of Front St. south and Mill street; but Saturday afternoon at three o'clock there actually was a crash. Tait's delivery truck came into contact with a sedan bearing New York markers, and the result was some bent fenders but no serious damage. This intersection is a favorite spot for motorists to turn around, and many near scrapes are daily occurences.

ROAD DETOURS

Last summer this town had a several weeks demonstration of what it takes to make a detour, and what it requires to drive over them. Last winter the drivers of this district took a post graduate course over the Orland detour. Now they have an opportunity of completing their education along this line by paying a visit to Norham and Warkworth. It is possible to drive to within a few rods of the Norham store and then find that the road, as far as cars or vehicles are concerned ends there. So back they go and detour either east or west according as their destination requires. So far, only the concrete base is being laid. There is still about two miles of this to be put down. As yet, no surfacing has been done. The paving company are apparently adopting the same plan as used in Campbellford last year. They laid almost all the base before they started to surface. Even then, the concrete gang was hard put to keep ahead of the "Black Gang."

The Orland situation looks good to those who drive the Campbellford-Brighton county road. During the winter months after the Orland bridge went out, there was a detour on either side about four miles long. Several weeks ago, this was shortened to perhaps a quarter mile by placing a temporary wooden bridge a few yards down stream and using a couple of farmers' driveways. Now the bridge is being erected and is nearing completion. All being well, it will be only a few days till traffic returns to the normal route.

BUT THE MELODY LINGERS ON

Shades of Old Home Week still hang around Saturday night some of the young fellows tried their vocal chords while cruising the street after midnight. Sunday night, a mouthorgan was the centre of attraction on Front street about midnight. The "organist" laid no claim to any musical degrees or association with any college of music, but his harmony was appreciated by a notable gathering whose feet became more than a little affected by the rythm.

BIG GAME

Speaking of fish, Dick Cole thinks he has something to crow about up at Dorie's Point on Crow Bay. The monster of the deep is a member of the maskinonge family, weighing thirty-nine and a quarter pounds and measuring four feet seven inches from tip to tip. Among the pickerel catches was one weighing nine and a quarter pounds. The champion small mouth black bass so far is a five and three-quarter pound contribution.

LIQUOR EXPORTS DOWN.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug 13.—(C.P.)—A reduction of 112,641 cases in clearances of liquor and beer to the United States from Canada in the Detroit area in July 1929, as compared to July last year was reported to prohibition headquarters today by Walter S. Petty, acting Customs Collector at Detroit.

BANNERS CONFISCATED

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Communist placards were seized and destroyed by police here to-day when four young girls appeared at a downtown corner bearing the signs advertising the Communist open air meeting called for tomorrow night to protest against "police terrorism." The demonstration was broken up without any arrests being made.

HAD ECZEMA VERY BADLY
Hair Fell Out Terribly. Healed by Cuticura.

"My little girl had eczema very badly. It started in small blotches on her head and then formed scales all over her scalp. Later it spread behind her ears and formed wet, sore eruptions. Her hair fell out terribly. She was bothered about three months.

"I tried all kinds of remedies but the trouble kept getting worse. A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and five boxes of Cuticura Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Lyman Earle, Pleasant Lake, N. S., Aug. 13, 1928.

HEALEY FALLS GAINING FAVOR WITH TOURISTS

Trent River Resort Rapidly Becoming Famous As Summering Place

SCENIC GRANDEUR.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, August 13. — Only a few years ago, Healey Falls was a beauty spot where people from the district and a few, very few, tourists came to spend a day or two in the solitude of some of the numerous beauty spots along the river bank. Fishing has always been an attraction both above and below the Falls, and tent camping gradually gave place to more permanent summer residences. Now the shores of the river are occupied by summer cottages and summer resorts and the locality is fast becoming famous as a summering place where the tired business man, his wife and family, may come and enjoy a genuine rest with just enough recreation to make life interesting and whet the appetite to a good healthy edge, that can only be satisfied by generous helpings of the game fish from the Trent River itself.

Sunday is generally considered as a sort of unofficial visitors' day. The campers take their rest by journeying from one colony to another, during the afternoon and early evening. As a rule, bedtime comes early so that an early start for the fishing grounds can be made next morning. Nevertheless, a cruise around some of the resorts on a Sunday afternoon invariably proves interesting. For those who admire scenic grandeur, the mile stretch of road along the cliffs on the north side of the river below the falls affords a view that is not soon to be forgotten. The road leads east from the north end of the Falls bridge, and ends at R. H. Cole's summer colony at Dorie's Point. The road itself, runs along a few feet from the edge of a cliff nearly one hundred feet high. Across the river is the long concrete dam with the water flowing down in a foaming series of small cataracts till it reached the level of Crow Bay. The opposite shore is steep and well wooded. Almost every visitor to the camp, hesitates long enough to take a picture or two as they drive along.

Favorite Fishing Ground

Dorie's Point is the old name of the land that forms the shore line at the junction of the Trent River with Crow Bay. Practically opposite the point, Crow River adds its contribution to the water system. For years, this has been a favorite fishing ground. The camp is frequently referred to as just Dorie's Point, but it is more correctly named, Oak Rest. R. H. Cole, better known perhaps as Dick, is the proprietor of a nineteen-acre camp site. Including the main cottage which is used as his family residence, there are fifteen in all. There is also a camping ground which may be used for picnic parties. For fishing parties and accommodation of pleasure parties, there is a fleet of thirty-four boats, some with outboard motors, and one motorboat which is used for general service and larger parties. The cottages and general camp work is attended by a staff of five. Guides and so on may be obtained if desired.

One feature of Oak Rest is the little store operated for the benefit of the camper folk. Fishing tackle, tobacco, chocolate bars, cold drinks and such articles are on sale. It is also possible to purchase fresh eggs, dairy butter, and fresh milk. So that motorists may not worry about their gas supply, there is a gas pump on the property.

Record Catches

The fishing, so they say, "was never better." In three hours Sunday morning, one of the campers returned with three lunge, five pickerel and two black bass. Such luck as this has been one of the reasons that the cottages are practically booked up till the end of the season. There is an occasional vacancy occurring before the end of September, but Mr. Cole says "he has had to turn people away." He is not inclined to consider his colony complete as yet. Before next season, he plans to construct three or more cottages, perhaps five. He will also add to his fleet of boats. One thing, he believes to be lacking, is a place where the campers can meet in the evening for a general get-together. The cottages will not accommodate any large gathering. His plans, are to an open air community hall, where old and young may gather in the evenings to exchange fish stories, dance, play cards, listen to the radio, or simply sit and read. Although Dick Cole has been camping at Dorie's Point for eighteen years, it is just the last five years that he has started catering to the tourist trade. During that time he has built up the large summer colony known as Oak Rest. Each year he secures spawn from the government hatcheries and takes a keen interest in the fishing situation at Crow Bay. That the resort is well known may be learned by a glance at the register. Names appear there of people from the states of New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and from many towns and cities in Ontario and Quebec.

Rest-A-While

If the driver turns west at the north end of the Falls Bridge, his road will lead him to Rest-A-While, the well-known resort owned and operated by Fred Keller. Sunday afternoon found the camp presenting an almost deserted appearance with all but one family away visiting. But every cottage along the waterfront was occupied. The river was slightly rough for fishing in the open water, but every bay that could be seen from the lawn held its full quota of fishing boats, their occupants busy still fishing. At the main residence, things were in preparation for the chicken dinner which is the high light of the Sunday bill of fare. The dining room is always sure to be well filled two or three times every Sunday when the chicken dinners are served, and not only campers but people from the district avail themselves of the opportunity.

"Rest-A-While" is noted for its immaculate appearance. Not even a cigarette butt is to be found on the close-clipped lawns. There are no fish scales left lying around the place where the day's catch is cleaned and prepared for the table. The cottages are immaculate. The main residence is a shining example of domestic science up-to-date. The garden is a picture that would gladden the eye of most any landscape gardener. With Mr. and Mrs. Keller as host and hostess and a capable staff to do their bidding, "Rest-A-While" has earned an enviable place in the estimation of its patrons and the residents of the district. For the fisherman who loses his tackle, the smoker who exhausts his supply, the motorist who runs out of gas and for the camper who runs short of mostly anything, there is a source of supply right on the property. This is another reason why the camp is one of the favorite resorts along the Trent River. Russel Aitken, writing for the July number of the National Sportsman, describes the fishing lure of this section of the Trent and has plenty to say in praise of Fred Keller, veteran fisherman and guide, a native son of the district, and a man who knows where the fish are.

But the afternoon was almost over. It was time for the news writer to think of the back trail. On the way out, he met a procession of cars coming in. They all carried Ohio state license markers. This explained the deserted cottages. They had been visiting friends in the neighborhood and were returning in time for the chicken dinner.

Other Accommodation.

There is no doubt that Oak Rest at Dorie's Point and "Rest-A-While" are the two largest tourist camps in the vicinity, but they are not the only places where the visitor may seek accommodation. Near the north end of the Falls Bridge, there is a house known as Shady Nook, where summer visitors may find lodging. This is operated by W. J. Latta. If the cars parked there yesterday were any indication, Shady Nook was doing capacity business. At the opposite end of the bridge, Cedarmere owned and operated by Mrs. M. Dunham was another attraction to the seeker of rest and solitude combined with beautiful scenery and solid comfort.

GOVERNOR PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT TO ROTARY CLUB

3,182 CLUBS.

Twenty-two Countries in Europe Now Have Rotary He States.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Yesterday was another red letter day in the local Rotary Club when the District Governor, Rotarian Charles Buchanan, Toronto, paid an official visit and addressed the local Rotarians. In defence to the visit, the regular luncheon hour was changed from 12.30 to 6.15 in the evening. There were a number of the local club absent, away on their summer vacations, but the number of guests more than filled in the gaps. There were also several Rotary Annes present, who enjoyed the address of the District Governor.

The guests of the club last night were: Chas. Buchanan, Governor of the 27th District, Rotary International, Toronto; Rotarians A. L. Killaly, W. R. Widdess, Jack Gillespie, Ross Dobbin, James Juby, W. R. Morris, and Jack Seels, all of Peterborough; Douglas Maybee, Dr. O. C. Watson and C. Dickson Dawson of town.

Governor Buchanan's address was of particular interest to Rotarians and dealt with Rotary the world over. One after another he listed the clubs of the various countries, and emphasized the expansion which Rotary was enjoying. Last year, there had been Rotary in forty-seven countries of the world. This year there were Rotary clubs in fifty-five countries. The total number of clubs was 3,182. Of these, two hundred and fifty-two were new during the last year. At various times during his address, the Governor enumerated the clubs of different countries. Great Britain and Ireland had three hundred and sixteen; Norway had five; Sweden had five; Denmark boasted seven; Holland and Belgium each had ten, and Germany had seven clubs. The situation in Germany was of unusual interest. Rotary had only entered that country two years ago. At that time, representatives from France, Belgium and Germany had met in a little Belgian town. The situation had not been an easy one. Governor Buchanan described it as ticklish. For some time, the atmosphere was tense. Then a Belgian who had lost five sons in the war, rose and shook hands with a German. That brought relief.

Great Booster

Not a little of Rotary's expansion was due to Rotarian Jim Davidson of Calgary who, with his wife and family, was on a world tour in the interests of Rotary. It was of special interest to note that Rotary has no paid organizers. One club organizes another, and so on. Jim Davidson was touring the world at his own expense. He had organized clubs in several new countries, and was still doing great work in the interests of the movement.

Thanks to Jim Davidson, twenty-two countries in Europe now had Rotary. Twelve countries in Africa had it. In South Africa alone there were ten clubs. There was a club in Jerusalem. China had three clubs and Rotary was going strong there. India had five clubs. Ceylon boasted one. A club was being formed in Rangoon, Burma, and a similar organization was taking place in the Federated Malay States.

Well Represented in Eastern Ontario

Returning from his world statistics of Rotary, the governor stated that practically every good-size town in Eastern Ontario had its Rotary club. In this district, there were Brighton, Madoc, Stirling and Tweed without clubs. The Belleville club was to visit these towns and size up the situation. Should any or all of them decided to adopt Rotary, the governor requested that the local club assist with the organization. Belleville club, he said, was mighty proud of the Campbellford club. They looked upon it as a husky infant with a brilliant future.

Rotary the world over was doing great work, and nowhere any greater than right in this district. The work among the boys was saving many of them from trouble. Boys who were inclined to get into mischief that would cause trouble were trained in the Rotary camps to be better citizens. The Rotary clubs were doing a great work among the crippled, maimed and sick children. Then, too, there was the selfish point of view, such as better roads in the district. The governor though this might be a good tip for the Campbellford club. Such work would stand as a monument to Rotary long after the present members had passed away.

This district, he said, was the greatest example of Rotary International in the entire organization. In it there were sixty clubs, thirty in the United States and thirty in Canada. He hoped as many members as possible would attend the district convention in Niagara Falls, and especially urged that the younger members make a point of being present. He hoped that Campbellford Rotarians would pay him personal visits when they came to Toronto. Whether or not they found him, he issued an invitation to them to sit at the Rotary table in the Toronto Board of Trade restaurant, on the top floor of the Royal Bank Building, King and Yonge streets. They did not need to be members of the Board of Trade to enjoy the privileges of the table, he said. He also asked them to visit the Toronto club any time when they were in the city.

President N. Alec MacColl of the local club, was brief in his expression of appreciation of the address. He had been deeply impressed, he said and would not attempt to "gild the lily."

Rotarian H. N. Carr gave the club a pleasant surprise when he handed a cheque for ten dollars to the president. This cheque was the prize money won by the DeLaval Company of Peterborough, for their float in the Calithumpian parade at Campbellford's Old Home Week. The cheque had been mailed to the company. It was received with thanks, endorsed and returned to Mr. Carr, with the request that the money be turned over to the Rotary Club or used for some equally worthy cause. The cheque was received with much appreciation.

Jack Seels, Peterborough Rotarian, invited Campbellford Rotarians to visit the Boys' Camp at South Beach, Kawartha Lakes. He mentioned specially the Sports Day on Wednesday. But he wanted the Campbellford men to see the camp and perhaps another year they would like to send some of the local boys there for a holiday. This year, Lindsay had sent twenty. From the several inquiries made by local members, it is only reasonable to suppose that some of them will be visiting the camp.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Ont., August 13.—The cattle run was about equal to the offering for the first market day last week, the opening tone of the market being very uncertain. Buyers were holding off, and till eleven o'clock only 200 cattle had passed over the scales. Prices look steady according to quality. Light steers sold at 8 to 10½, with the odd of butcher cows at 6 to 8 dollars. One dozen baby beef were sold at 14½.

Western cattle in the offering are not so numerous as last week. Salesmen expect a draggy trade with a large holdover at the close.

Calves opened steady at $14 to $15 for most of the choice veal, with an odd top at $15½. Pain grass calves were steady at 6 to 7 per hundred.

Hogs were a very small supply and no quotations were issued by the buyers. The men are asking $13 50 f.o.b. for select of $15 off cars, but do not expect to mark any ticks today.

No lambs were sold up to noon. Buyers offered 50 cents lower at $4.50 for choice and salesmen were asking $15.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. — In a swift collapse of wheat values yesterday, the market went down 5 3-8c. a bushel, largely owing to break-up of Argentine and Australian drought. Record-breaking increase of the United States' visible supply acted also with tremendous force in the direction of lower prices, but in the late dealings something of a rebound took place from the day's bottom figures, the lowest that wheat has reached in fully a month.

Visible Supply Increases.

The climax, however, of the consequent downward swing of wheat prices here was simultaneous with signs which afterward proved correct that the United States wheat visible supply yesterday would show an increase for the week greater than any ever before known, and that the supply itself would outdo in volume all previous records. About the only immediate encouragement for buyers was word that the Canadian Growers' Pool had estimated Canada's wheat crop condition as being equal to only 52 per cent. of a hree-year average, whereas the Canadian Government report issued Saturday, said 66 per cent.

Corn and oats weakened with wheat. Rains southwest tended also to promote corn selling.

Influenced by upturns in hog values, provisions averaged higher most of the titme, but later eased down with grain.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13. — Liverpool started the weakness in wheat yesterday, and Chicago kept the bear movement going in later stages, which resulted in a break of about 4½c. Feeble support came into the market, and the close was 3 3-8c. down on all futures.

Spreaders were taking further quantities of May wheat sales against sales of Chicago May, and locals were buying Decem r against sales of May.

Weather conditions in Western Canada were mostly fair and moderately warm over the week-end, with scattered showers in all three Provinces.

Trading in cash wheat was dull and featureless. Offerings were very light.

There was a fair demand for feed oats for domestic use, but cash business in other coarse grains was dull. Coarse grains were without feature, closing virtually unchanged.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Conditions on the local wholesale produce market yesterday were virtually unchanged from last week's close with a fairly steady tone in evidence in butter and obvious strength in eggs. Dealers state that conditions are quite normal in both branches of the market for this time of year and view the future with confidence. Butter was quoted at 39 cents per pound for the No. 1 grade creamery and from 37 to 38 cents per pound for the No. 2 grade.

A good demand was in evidence for the available egg supply yesterday, and, although a distinct absence of a plentiful supply was in evidence, the situation is in no way abnormal under the existing weather conditions, and the shortage occurs every year during the same period. Dealers were quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered and cases returned as follows: Fresh extras, 35 cents per dozen ;fresh firsts, 33 cents per dozen; fresh seconds, 23 cents per dozen.

Cheese prices strengthened yesterday for no very obvious reason under very quiet trading, but local dealers were of the opinion that the quoted rise to 13 cents per pound for the No. 1 large colored paraffined and Government graded cheese was caused by buying by exporters in order to fill past orders for delivery at the present time.

THIEVES ENTER HAVELOCK HOME

Money and Jewellery Taken From Residence of Mrs. J. Thompson.

EARTH TREMORS FELT.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).— Thieves entered the home of Mrs. J. Thompson, King street, some time in the early hours of Sunday morning while members of the family and visiting friends slept. It is thought the thief entered by a rear window. Mrs. Clifford Knox, a sister of Mrs. Thompson was the first to notice anything amiss when she answered the call boy from the C.P.R. rounchouse. She noticed the doors open and the general air of disorder which follows a ransacking.

When the rest of the family were aroused it was found that a sum of money belonging to Mrs. Thompson, about twenty-three dollars, thirty-five dollars of Mr. Knox's, a diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Knox and a 22 calibre rifle of Mr. Ditchman's, besides a flashlight owned by a bank clerk who boards in the house, were missing. It is not known if there was anything else taken.

A number of local youths were questioned but so far no arrest has been made.

Earth Tremors Felt

Three distinct earth tremors were felt in Havelock yesterday. The first one about 6.25 was only a slight one, lasting about twenty seconds. There was an interval of about twenty seconds and a more severe tremor, sufficient to shake pictures of the wall in one house and knock dishes down in another, and all who felt the tremor state there was a decided shaking of their beds and rattling of furniture throughout the house. This lasted about thirty seconds. Another interval of quiet and then a slight tremor of twenty seconds. This was only in the vicinity of Donald and Alexander streets and was not felt on the front streets. Edward Williams, on Concession street at the north end of Havelock says there was a much more severe trembling at about 1.06 a.m. when the shaking was severe enough to knock a box containing cutlery off the buffet in his dining room.

that the policeman who were to be seen at the reception were merely there as decorations such was the high standard of conditions in Peterborough.

He touched on some of the improvements that an "old-timer" can not help noticing in the city. Fifty-five years ago there was no C.P.R. and no direct connection to Toronto, except by a roundabout route through Lindsay, the speaker said. "There were no electric lights, no water works, no walks, no sewers, no roads, no great factories. It was nothing like now. But the Canadian General Electric and many other companies came. He mentioned here that while in Rome he saw a person on the street carrying a package of Quaker Oats and on stopping the surprised person, discovered that it was made in Peterborough.

Greatly Missed Old Home Week

Archbishop O'Brien extended sincere congratulations to all who made Old Home Week a success, saying that he missed it greatly. He told his audience of the happy idea of Father Costello of getting the children of the school to write to him during his visit in Rome. One day, he said, over eighty letters arrived. These almost all mentioned Old Home Week, indicating a pleasing civic spirit among the young who will be the men and women of the community in a few years, he pointed out.

"For the future what will I say? I do not wish to undertake to lecture you or advise. However, there is one thing I should like to advise. Keep the country clear of any agitators, either reds, communists or socialists. We have peace and harmony among the employers and the employees and there is no room in these busy times for disturbances such as strikes. There is something more valuable than money, that is, peace and hormony. In Europe one is impressed by the extensiveness and dangerousness of these agitations. In Italy the agitators so overrun the cities that laws have been made to control the situation. Strikes are controlled by government decision. It is of great importance that we maintain peace in our country.

"I am going away in a month or two from the city but I shall always regard it as my native town and hold the same affection for the city and its people. I wish that the best possible good may come to everyone in the city.

"In conclusion I will say that if any come down to Kingston or get sent down when I am there, I will do the best I can do to make your sojourn as pleasant as possible. Call wherever I am, every man, woman and child and the only introduction that will be necessary will be to say that you are from Peterborough.

Before concluding his address, Archbishop O'Brien re-iterated once more his deep gratitude to the people of Peterborough for their goodness and kindness, saying that he will leave with the highest esteem for all in his heart.

Following this address the audience were given the opportunity of meeting His Grace the Archbishop.

CHARLES WIGHT

(Examiner Correspondence)

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 13.—The funeral of the late Charles Gilson Craighead Wight, (youngest son of the late Andrew and Mrs. A. Wight of "Cedar Isle") was largely attended Thursday afternoon at Havelock. Service was held from the residence of his sister, Mrs. P. Logan, King street, conducted by Rev. John Lennox of Knox Presbyterian church assisted by Rev. W. R. Archer of Havelock United church. The service was as follows, hymn "Jesus Lover of My Soul," prayer by Rev. John Lennox; hymn "There is a Better World They Say"; scripture reading of Psalm 23rd, by Rev. W. R. Archer, who also gave a brief address with words of comfort to the bereaved ones. Hymn, "Safe In the Arms of Jesus". A short address by Rev. John Lennox and Rev. W. R. Archer pronouncing the benediction.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, signifying the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall bearers were: Ray McCann, Bud Inkster, Jack Garneau, Frank Garneau, Harry Evans and Jack Liberty. Besides a sorrowing mother there are left to mourn four sisters and four brothers as follows: Mrs. P. Logan, (Mary) of Havelock, Annie at home; Laura and Agnes in Peterborough; Thomas and Melville at home and William and Norman in Peterborough and the aged grandfather Thomas Wight, sr. After the service at the house the procession proceeded to Maple Grove cemetery where interment was made.

Cogs To Meet Lakeshore League Champions

WinSecond Fixture 15-1

Cogs Have No Dififculty in Subduing Bethany To Win E.P.L. Honors.

RAGGED BASEBALL.

Cognawagas are 1929 champions of the ast Peterborough League and will continue on into the O.B.A.A. Intermediate playoffs

The Cogs swamped Bethany 15 to 1 in the final game for the championship played on Exhibition Park last evening. The lopsided score and the disordered play of the Bethany team disappointed the largest crowd of the season who expected a tight battle, building that opinion on the previous competition between the two teams.

Doc Hamilton's boys were away below par, turning in their worst exhibition of the season. They fielded their positions raggedly, threw the ball to all corners of the diamond, and tossed away their own few opportunities to score by absent-minded, fool hardy base running.

The Cogs on the other hand played their usual bang up baseball. They fielded their positions smartly and were quick to take advantage of ever Bethany misplay. They shone especially at bat, crashing out a total of fifteen sound hits.

Percy Vannest pitched for the winners and he kept the Bethany five hits well scattered and was superior to the batters on all occasions.

Harold Ralph oiled on the mound for Bethany and beginning wild he seemed to lack much of the ability that has carried his team into the finals. He never stopped trying and had six strikeouts.

After getting two runs in their half of the first Cogs cracked the game wide open in the second, scoring nine runs to make their total eleven. Twelve men faced Ralph in that innings and aided by poor fielding, wild base-throwing and seven hits, the runners scurried around the bases in a montonous fashion. Bethany got their single counter also in the second innings.

After that the struggle began to shape up a little more like a ball game, but in the third on more hits and errors, Cogs made their total fourteen. Their other run came in the sixth.

Bethany had several opportunities to score but tossed them on the sacks.

CARDS BEAT PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—A three-run attack in the fifth inning that drove Elliott to cover, enabled St. Louis to beat Philadelphia in the final game of the series 7 to 5.

The game was a free-hitting affair, with Haines gaining credit for the triumph despite a wobbly start.

FARM FROM HOME.

ORANGE, N.J., Aug. 13.—Sergeant William Curtin never touches drink, but he thought he was seeing things when he saw an armored covered little animal stroll across his beat. He captured it and found it to be an armadillo, native of hotter climes. Police headquarters are trying to make a pet of it.

In 1300 B. C., Egypt had maps of its trade routes in use.

Smelters Drop 8-1 Decision To Nationals

AS THE FATHER IS

Although Miss Beverly Vaio is only 16 years of age, she gives promise of developing into one of the greatest rivals that the famous Ethel Catherwood is likely to have. And as the boys will put it, like the Olympic champion, she is extremely easy on the eyes. Not only is Miss Vaio outstanding in the high jump, she is also a good performer in the sprints and plays basketball as well. She comes honestly by her athletic prowess. Her father, Brooke Vaio, for four years was the premier sprinter of British Columbia and won the Canadian standing broad jump championship at Winnipeg twenty years ago, with a leap of 10 feet 2 inches. Miss Vaio may shortly make a trip east—seeking other feilds of competition.

111 GOLFERS WILL COMPETE

Participate in 36 Hole Qualifying Round of Canadian Amateur Golf Championship.

SOMERVILLE ENTERED.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(C.P.)— One hundred an eleven golfers will participate in the 36-hole qualifying round of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship to be played on the Canadian National course at Jasper Park, Alberta, August 19, it was revealed yesterday afternoon when the pairings for the medal round were made public by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Indifferent to superstition, a contingent of thirteen players from the United States will contend for the crown at present worn by C. Ross Somerville, of the London, Ont. Hunt club.

Although the Canadian open championship has been won annually by United States players since 1915, the amateur title has never left the country. Somerville will defend his title. There is one British entrant, Hill Freme, of Wentworth, England.

To retain the title this year, Canada will have to quell the strongest invasion from the south in the history of the Canadian amateur tournament. The American contingent includes Eddie Held, of New York, Arthur Yates, Rochester, N.Y., W. K. Lanman, of Columbia, Ohio, runner-up to Somerville last year, Charles F. Shelden, of Rye, N. Y., Philip D. Armour, of Lake Bluff, Ill., D. Clark Corkran, of Baltimore, Md., and other well known American linksmen.

British Empire Games During August 16-23

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 13 (C.P.).—The British Empire games will be held in Hamilton, Ont., the week of August 16 to 23, inclusive, 1930. Decision to this effect was reached yesterday at a meeting of the executive of the British Empire games committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada held here under the chairmanship of E. W. Beatty, K. C., with J. F. Savage, of Montreal, Major D. S. Forbes, of Montreal, Col. W. Bovey, of Montreal, Professor T. R. Loudon, of Toronto, president of the AUF of C. and M. Robinson of Hamilton, chairman of the Hamilton committee, in attendance.

DIDN'T START YOUNG

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Herbert Rollett, a Grimsby artist-grocer, didn't start painting until he was 30 and now, at 56, he has had pictures accepted by the Royal Academy for six successive years. His first paintings were landscapes, made at 5.30 in the morning. After he finished his painting he returned to the store and took up his job behind the counter.

WOODS PULLED IN 4TH FRAME

Belleville Compiles Eight Runs in the First Four Innings.

UTRONKI ON MOUND.

MARMORA, Aug. 12.—Playing their poorest game of the season before a fair-sized crowd, the Smelters went down to defeat at the hands of Belleville on the Deloro enclosure on Monday afternoon by the score of 8 to 1. Wood, who started for the homesters, was pulled in the fourth when eight runs had been compiled in that and the previous innings and Buck was brought in from centre field to finish the game. Utronki lasted the whole game for the Nationals and gave a very good account of himself.

Belleville were soon disposed of in the first. Blakely hit to second. V. Weir fanned. Hughes grabbed H. Mills' hot one to retire side.

The second innings passed quickly. W. Mills fanned. R. Scott rolled to Hughes. Weir singled over third; M. Green out on grounder to third. W. Scott out, R. Scott to W. Mills. Brown hit to shortstop. Regan walked, stole second. Hughes flied to V. Weir.

In the third, E. Green hit to pitcher. Utronki beat out a bunt to make first and then stole second. Blakely walked. V. Weir's double between centre and right field scored Utronki and Blakely. Weir stole third. Mills flied to Buck, scoring Weir. W. Mills flied to Buck, retiring side. Wood fouled to H. Mills. Buck struck out. Elliot walked. Scott flied to Weir.

Belleville had things much their own way in the fourth. R. Scott walked. A. Weir out, Regan to Hughes, Scott advancing to third. M. Green took first, being hit by pitcher. R. Scott stole home. E. Green singled. Utronki's single to right scoring M. Green. Blakely walked. V. Weir's bunt scored E. Green. Utronki out trying to steal home. H. Mills singled to right, scoring Blakely. H. Mills out stealing second after Buck had taken the mound. Deloro did nothing in reply. Quinn walked. W. Scott fanned. Quinn caught off first. Brown struck out. In the fifth W. Mills flied to centre field. R. Scott walked and stole second. A. Weir singled, advancing Scott. M. Green hit to pitcher. Scott out at plate. E. Green out, Buck to Hughes.

Deloro got their lone run in the next frame. Regan fanned. Hughes singled to left. Wood hit to pitcher, Hughes making second. Blakely muffed Buck's drive to short, scoring Hughes. Buck stole second, Elliott hit by pitcher. G. Scott out, V. Weir to Mills.

In the sixth Utronki beat out a slow roller, but was caught stealing second. V. Weir fanned. H. Mills hit to pitcher. Quinn singled to left. W. Scott fouled to W. Mills. Brown hit to R. Scott, Quinn advancing to second. Regan flied to V. Weir.

In the seventh W. Mills walked. R. Scott's grounder taken by Regan. A. Weir flied to shortstop. M. Green flied to Wood. Hughes fanned. Wood out, V. Weir to H. Mills. Buck fouled to W. Mills.

The eighth looked threatening for Deloro. E. Green singled to left. Utronki beat out a roller to second. Blakely hit to short, forcing Utronki at second. E. Green caught off third. V. Weir walked. H. Mills walked. W. Mills flied to Elliott.

Elliott flied to right field. G. Scott flied to V. Weir. Art Quinn hit to pitcher.

In the ninth R. Scott was retired at first. A. Weir walked, but was caught out stealing second. M. Green singled on Regan's error, but was thrown out at second.

Deloro went out in order. G. Scott flied to shortstop. Brown hit to pitcher and Regan flied to shortstop.

Belleville.—H. Blakely, ss; V. Weir, 2b; H. Mills, 1b; W. Mills, c; R. Scott, 3b; A. Weir, cf; M. Green, lf; E. Green, rf; V. Utronki, p.

TECO DEFEATED BY C.G.E. SQUAD

FINAL ROUND 16-11.

Taking advantage of the most spectacular blow-ups of the season, C.G.E. came from behind in the eighth to trounce the Teco boys by a score of 16 to 11 at Confederation Park last evening.

Aside from the fact that both teams were pick-ups, both sides played the worst brand of ball, and both outfits had the most fun of the series, it was a first-class game of ball, that is, if you wanted to think so. The crowd did, though it was small. There is no doubt about the fact that it was a real burlesque match, with some high spots thrown in and the odd bit of snappy ball tossed in for spice.

C.G.E. opened the fracas by nabbing two runs in the first two sessions, one each, then running scoreless for the next four. Teco collared two in the second, and three in the fourth, and then looked pretty dark when they came across with another three in the sixth to make it eight. However, the Electric squad showed the odd spark of life by tallying twice in the sixth and brought their score to four, so things sort of brightened up again. Another in the seventh for Teco, brought a return of two for the C.G.E.. Teco came back with two just to show them they still had a little punch left also. This was done when Stanley flapped a beautiful triple away out in the hills. Hopkins followed with a single to right White grounded out to first. Frick drove a nice double through centre, chasing both Stanley and Hopkins in with the runs, then Webb came along and wafted out a long triple, but made the mistake of going so fast he forgot to touch second, and so forfeited the lovely batting practice the Teco boys were indulging in, to their opponents. And maybe they weren't rarin' to go. Luckless Wilson started things by striking out, but that didn't hinder the rest from their little part. After that it was a grand procession, and six of the Sparklers galloped around the bases so fast that Frick became dizzy and retired to centre field to recuperate. Webb thought he would take a whirl at the pitching, but when he got in the box and started to wind up, he remembered the way the C.G.E. lads were slamming the pill, so he retired in favor of Carruthers. The regular did his best, but to no avail, with the result that four more tallies were hung up in the old wigwam just to make sure that Teco wouldn't go home with any illusions as to who was the best team. Nor did they, in the ninth the last chance they had to right the awful mess, they went down one, two, three.

The summary:

Double plays—Frick to Westbrook to Miller. Three-base hits—Stanley Webb. Two-base hits — Newson, Webb, Frick, Miller. Outstanding player—Westbrook (he caught two flies).

The line-ups:

Score by innings:

C.G.E.	1	1	0	0	0	2	2	(10	-	16

George Quellich Sets New Baseball Record

READING, Aug. 13. (C.P.) — Reading made a clean sweep of the three-game Montreal series by winning the final here yesterday 11 to 8. The Keys pounded Elam Vangilder for 17 hits, including home runs by George Quellich and Earl Grace.

Quellish's sensational hitting streak was broken in this game after he had hit safely 15 consecutive times to set a new world's record.

INDIANS SCALP YANKEES 11-7

BROWNS LOSE OUT.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—The Cleveland Indians belted three Yankee pitchers for 14 hits and an 11 to 7 victory yesterday that dropped New York another full game behind the pace-setting Athletics.

Babe Ruth's 31st homer of the season, with two on in the third, started Joe Shaute toward the showers, but could not turn the tide.

SENATORS WIN FROM BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—Braxton held the St. Louis Browns to five hits yesterday, while his team mates were gathering nine off Crowder and the Washington Senators took their third straight game from the Browns 3 to 2. The winning run was scored with two out in the ninth on successive doubles by Judge and Rice.

ERRORS LOSE FOR DETROIT

DETROIT, Aug 13 (CP) — Lefty Rube Walberg returned to form yesterday and allowed but five hits as the Philadelphia Athletics shutout the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 0

Despite the score the game was quite a pitching battle with George Uhle limiting the "A's" to eight hits. Three Detroit errors ruined his cause.

WHITE SOX LOST OUT 3—0

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—The White Sox suffered from too much Danny MacFayden yesterday and they lost the third game of the series to Boston, 3 to 0. It took the bespectacled MacFayden just one hour and 25 minutes to turn the Comiskey team back with just three hits.

HOMER WINS FOR ROBINS

Frederick Poles Circuit in Tenth To Give Brooklyn 4-2 Victory.

REDS EVEN SERIES.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Johnny Frederick, Robin centre-fielder, broke up the game with Pittsburg in story book fashion yesterday, poling a home run in the tenth with Gelbert on base to give Brooklyn the victory 4 to 2.

CUBS BOW TO BOSTON BRAVES

BOSTON, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Guy Bush, leading pitcher of the National League, lost his second game of the season yesterday, bowing to the Boston Braves as a relief hurler, 4 to 3, in ten innings. Bush has won 16 games for the league leaders.

Ben Cantwell held the Cubs to six hits, while the Braves gathered 13 from Malone, Nehf, and finally Bush, but left 14 men stranded on the bases.

REDS EVEN UP WITH GIANTS

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 13 (C.P.) —The Cincinnati Reds evened the series with the Giants yesterday, winning the fourth game, 5 to 2, behind Pete Donohue's steady pitching.

With the score tied at 2 to 2 in the eighth, the Cincinnati attack knocked the game out from under Larry Benton, Giant hurler, with a three-run barrage.

BAILIEBORO TEAM HEADS BALL LOOP

Tuxis League Brought To a Close—Plan Boys' Sunday.

(Examiner Correspondence)

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 13.—The East Durham Boy's Work board held their monthly meeting in Garden Hill on Friday evening. In the absence of the chairman, Mr. Barnes of Millbrook, Robert Waddell acted in that capacity. Representatives from Bailieboro, Garden Hill and Canton were present.

The chief business for discussion and settlement was the finishing off of the Tuxis hardball league, and making preparation for Boy's Sunday on September 8.

The schedule for the ball league has been finished and the standing as follows.

	Won	Lost
Bailieboro	6	0
Garden Hill	2	4
Plainville	2	4
Elizabethville	1	5

The two teams tied for second are to decide a winner before August 22, when the winner plays Bailieboro at Millbrook street opening.

Plans were laid for Boy's Sunday, September 8. Services will be held at Bailieboro in the morning, Garden Hill in the afternoon and Millbrook in the evening. The services will be taken by the boys and speakers from Toronto will assist.

Those from Bailieboro who attended the meeting were, Archie Deyell, Arnold Brown and Keith Barnard.

CANADIAN TUG SEIZED IN U. S.

Supposed To Be Carrying Liquor But None Could Be Found.

WILL INVESTIGATE.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 13 (C.P.) — United States customs officials at the Michigan Soo said yesterday that the tug Archie Mack of Thessalon, was seized last Friday at Spring Bay, on a charge of running liquor into the United States.

The commissioner said that no liquor had been found on board the tug, but they had been notified by Canadian officials of the fact that the boat had cleared from Canada with liquor on board, so the seizure was made.

The tug is being held by authorities at the Michigan port while further investigations are made.

"The Divine Lady"

This picture is not a "Talkie." Probably it was in the making long before the conversational screen came into its own. But it is an extremely interesting picture, nevertheless, and the music that accompanies it serves to add much to the attraction of the story of one of England's greatest heroes and the woman who ruled his love life.

"The Divine Lady" is the story of the romance of Horatio, Lord Nelson, Baron of the Nile and Admiral of the Fleet, and Emma Hart of Paddington Green, the cook's daughter who became Lady Hamilton, Ambassadress to Naples, and then the inamorata of England's sea idol. It does not make any attempt to gloss over the character of Lady Hamilton. She was beautiful and unmoral and the picture does not go out of its way, as so often happens, to make her anything else. Neither does it try to palliate Nelson's love for her. It just happened so. Both paid for their romance and both were willing to purchase it at the price demanded by Fate.

Corinne Griffith is remarkably good in the role of the 'Divine Lady'. She has the necessary pliability and lack of strength of any sort, and her beauty shines out in the old-time costumes of the late portion of the eighteenth century and the early part of the nineteenth. The picture is very kind to her. The lapse of a quarter of a century leaves no mark on the loveliness of the beauty immortalized by Romney and Gainsborough. Romney himself appears in the picture at the time when Emma Hart is the mistress of Charles Greville, the designing youth who manoeuvres to bring Emma to the notice of his uncle, Sir William Hamilton, in the hope that a light love will keep his uncle from marrying and displacing him as heir, to his title and fortune. But Greville's plans go awry when Sir William, baulked in his first designs through Emma's adherence to the faithless Greville, finally makes her his wife and a sharer in the honors of his station as English Ambassador to the Court of Naples. Later, Nelson steps into the picture and it is a case of "all for love and the world well lost."

The Court of the English king and queen and the court of the King and Queen of Naples are depicted in this picture, which also shows a huge amount of historical research in the manner in which the manners, dress and customs of that period are copied. The battling ships of the line, with their full rigging and heavy cannonading, engage in a thrilling sea fight when Nelson's forces meet those of Napoleon, and the action is accompanied by appropriate orchestral music and sound effects. The singing of Lady Hamilton is also carried out in sound, but the sub-titles carry the rest of the explanations and conversations.

It is an emotional, a dramatic and a romantic picture, with a famous love affair as its raison d'etre. Not the least interesting episode is the visit of Greville and Emma to Vauxhall, the wonder-place of the England of that century, where pygmy fights and Punch and Judy shows took the place of our modern amusements.

The honors with Corinne Griffith, as Lady Hamilton, are equally divided in the male roles, between H. B. Warner, as Lord Hamilton, Victor Varconi as Lord Nelson and Ian Keith as Charles Greville. Dorothy Cumming and Michael Vavitch have good parts as the king and queen of Naples.

The comedy is one of those clever, all-talking bits which the gabby drama has brought to the movies. The conversation is the main thing and the action is nil, in direct contrast to the comedies of the silent screen. In "Sardines a la Carte" Raymond Hitchcock, plus a monocle, engages in a battle of verbal wits with an extremely verbose waiter, and comes off second best. The audience is enlightened considerably as to the habits of fish and sardines in particular, also with regard to the early Paleosoic Age, and learns some extremely long words in the meantime. It is a comedy of the English type and is somewhat extraordinary in its very 'different' efect.

YOUTHFUL CANADIAN SCULLER HAS HIS REVENGE

Working like a piece of machinery, his arms like well-oiled pistons, Jack Guest slowly but steadily pulled into the lead at the Canadian Henley, leaving Joe Wright, Jr., Johnny Durnan and Elwood Role of Winnipeg in the rear.

At the English Henley recently, experts proclaimed that within a short time Guest would be the smoothest sculler in the world and possibly the fastest. Now that he has taken the mighty Joe into camp it looks as if he may probably be another Diamond Sculls winner for Canada. Joe Jr., however, is by no means out of the picture yet, and this defeat will probably only serve to spur him on. Although both men were present at the National regatta at Springfield, the results will not satisfy the Canadian sporting fan and the only thing is a race in Canadian waters.

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

(By "TED" OGTRAM)

Bethany looked very bad in their game with Cogs last evening in which they were wortsed 15 to 1. During several innings, especially in the second, they could do nothing right, and the parade of runs mounted against them. A great share of their misplays and raggedness could be laid down to sheer nervousness and strain. All their fire on the attack, which had carried them to a string of eight straight victories, and the top rung of the league, evaporated.

One man who was the butt of a great deal of unnecessary razzing from some of the fans, was Reynolds, the catcher. Reynolds' work was admittedly away below par, but he was giving the best he had. When the circumstances are understood it is to be wondered that he could play at all. He had a large boil on the thick of his right arm, and every movement of that limb caused him extreme pain.

* * * * * *

Bethany is a sporting club, and they exhibited their good sportsmanship at the conclusion of the debacle by giving Cogs a cheer and being the first to wish them luck in the next series.

Doc Hamilton, one of the keenest sportsmen in the district, was more than pleased and satisfied with the showing his team has made this season. He promised that he would field another nine next year that would be fighting for the championship.

Cognawagas, to celebrate the winning of the pennant, had a chicken dinner at which congratulations on the season's success was voiced by officials of the league. Cognawagas are now preparing to go to the bigger goal of the Ontario championship. They are strong in every position, have two first string pitchers, and are a hard-hitting crew and will take a lot of beating. They will now begin grooming themselves to meet the Lakeshore League winners.

* * * * * *

Raybestos should be the Cogs opponents in the next round, and what a series that would prove, but first the Rays have to conquer this Oshawa Arab outfit, and that is not easy. Oshawa has been hanging close to the Rays' tails all season, and close scores have been a feature of every game in which these two clashed. Hank Kohen has a splendid bunch of ball tossers on his team. Their infield of Hubbel, at first, McDougal, second, Crossett, short, and Elliott at the hot corner, form a smooth working combination. Hubbel and Crosset are the outstanding hitters and the former in a game at Port Hope, slammed out two circuit clouts along with two doubles. The Rays on the other hand, have made a name for themselves as being one of the best hitting teams ever organized locally.

Fans can be assured that the game at Exhibition Park to-morrow evening will be a winner. The Rays need the financial support of the fans. The minimum admission charge has been set at ten cents, but those fans who wish to give what they know the game to be worth will have their contribution gratefully received.

The Kiwanis Juniors play their first game in the O.B.A.A. play offs this evening in Belleville against the Moose team, champions of the Quinte town. It was expected that after the two big defeats Jack Deannard's nine had handed the Moose in exhibition games, that they would not have to meet them in this series. However the games have been arranged, and the Belleville champions will play the return fixture here next Saturday.

* * * * * *

The Petes play in Oshawa to-morrow afternoon. A win will put them in second place. Each of the four clubs in the league has still four games to play.

ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO OVERTAKE ATHLETICS

Philadelphia drove the last spike into the American League flagpole yesterday when they shut out the Detroit Tigers by 6 to 0 while the New York Yankees were losing at Cleveland 11 to 7. Taking into consideration the inevitable slumps that attach themselves to most contenders, the A's have now such a commanding advantage that it would be a baseball miracle if they were overtaken. They are regarded a sone of the most versatile teams of all time, and even Connie Mack is willing to concede that the 1929 Athletics are the equal of the famous machines that won pennants for the Quaker Town years ago. The Yankees, irrespective of the fact that Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig are still two of the greatest sluggers in organized ball, have been outdistanced. They couldn't see the A's with a telescope, all of which bears out the contention of many that the Mackmen were more outlucked than outplayed in the 1926 race. Connie Mack didn't build this machine as rapidly as he did the Athletics of yesteryear, and there was a reason. The bank roll of the New York club owners stood at defiance for many seasons and it was a long time before Mack realized that he would have to loosen up the strings and use the New York artillery to get an even break. He parted with a lot of money to pry "Lefty" Grove, George Earnshaw, Joe Boley and Max Bishop from Baltimore, but he made no mistake when he completed the deals. The late Jack Dunn must not be overlooked in this connection. He was Mack's friend, first, last and always, and he was the most astute manager the minors ever knew. Connie Mack, great pilot that he is, owes a debt of gratitude to the former manager of the Orioles, who knew his baseball as well as any man. It was little wonder that a man such as Dunn should lead the Birds to seven consecutive pennant triumphs in the International League. He had the players and he knew how to direct them. It is also a well known fact that Dunn refused several offers to lead major league teams. He could have had a big salary had he so desired.—Toronto Globe.

MACHINE SHOP HEADS LEAGUE

Competition Keen As C.G.E. Inter-Department Softball League Draws to a Close.

ELEVEN VICTORIES.

Competition in the C.G.E. inter-department softball league has been as keen this year as ever and with but two weeks left to complete the schedule, the race is sure to be a close one.

The Machinists at present are heading the list with eleven wins in twelve starts, for a total of 22 points. This team is one game ahead of schedule.

The Industrial Control No. 1, Office No. 1, and Engineers are tied for second place with 16 points apiece, while the Toolmakers who are next in line with 14 points can make it a four-cornered tie by winning a postponed game from the Punch Press.

This standing is up to August 12 inclusive, and it was found necessary when compiling this list to credit both teams with a loss whenever they failed to field a team as per schedule.

COMMUNISTS TO HOLD MEETING

Protest Against Suppression of Their Activities By Toronto Police.

MEMBER ARRESTED.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13.—(C.P.)—Local Communists continue to announce that they will hold an open air demonstration here to-night to protest suppression of their activities by police.

No permission to hold the meeting has been given by police, who state that they will not allow it to go and apparently intend to pursue the same tactics as on August 1 when a similar demonstration was broken up. Four or five hundred members of the Communist party will be present, according to Tim Buck, organizer and secretary.

The latest development in the clash between Communists and police is the arrest of David Merensky, aged 31, on a charge of vagrancy. Merensky was apprehended when distributing Communist pamphlets on the streets last night. He is aleged to have stated that after 15 years in Canada he is "fed up" with it and would like to be sent home to Russia.

SOUTH AFRICA BACKS SNOWDEN ON HAGUE STAND

British Taxpayer Has Much As He Is Prepared To Stand.

BETTERS GERMAN FEELING.

CAPE BRETON, South Africa, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press Cable, via Reuters).—To the chorus of Dominions' newspaper voicing wholehearted support of the British stand for an increased percentage of the reparations from Germany, was added the voice of the Cape Times to-day. This newspaper also expressed belief that Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden's attitude at the Hague would lead to better understanding between Great Britain and Germany.

"In South Africa at least there will be nothing but applause for the firmness with which Mr. Snowden is endeavoring to put the 'bilkers' of Great Britain's war obligations in their places" the Times says. The newspaper pays tribute to the British Chancellor of the Exchequer for his consideration for the British taxpayer, and refers also to his attitude on the question of imperial preference, declaring he intends to impress upon others besides continental Europe that the British taxpayer has had about as much as he is prepared to stand. "The British taxpayer has found a voice and the voice is Snowden's" it adds.

Dislike of Britain Increases

"It is fairly clear," The Times continues, "that French, Italian and Belgian dislike of Great Britain will increase, but no very great increase is possible, and there is still the consoling reflection that the French, Italian and Belgian dislike of America would be even greater. On the other hand the present crisis seems likely to lead to a better understanding and closer relations between great Britain and Germany. Between them they financed their reconstruction of Europe since the war. They are milch cows whose substance has fed and marked the prosperity of France, Italy and Belgium for the last five or six years.

"This new feeling of common Anglo-German interests will doubtless be accentuated by the fact that upon the issue of the reparations dispute depends the evacuation of the Rhine, which is most close to the heart of the Germans. The enigma of the present situation is America. She is the only country on the Allied side that is ultimately concerned with reparations and it is therefore to her interest to prevent abandonment of the Young Plan. What is she going to do?"

PILOT REPORTED MISSING.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Ten days have elapsed since any word was received concerning the whereabouts of Pilot C. E. Stroup, flying for Interprovincial Airways between Seven Islands, Que., and Ungava Bay.

Planes belonging to the company are still combing the long stretch of wooded country in which it is believed the flyer has been forced down but have sighted no clue which will lead them to the missing machine or its pilot.

AUTHOR, LECTURER, RETURNS TO CITY

dan, were engaged in lumbering in the northern townships.

Taught First Separate School.

Mr. Cooney's mother, who will also be remembered by many of the senior residents of the city, taught the first Separate School established in Peterborough, and many of her pupils still reside here. Her maiden name was Mary Ann O'Callaghan.

Mr. Cooney is at present renewing old friendships in Arnprior and Renfrew, and intends to return to Peterborough this week, where he will again visit Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Grady.

Asked by the Arnprior Chronicle how he came to write "Kinsmen" which has the Arnprior district as a setting, and which has Mr. Cooney's early teacher there the late Barclay Craig, as its hero, he replied that he first wrote "Sons of the Old Pueblo," a book that found a ready sale in the Southern States. Looking over the book one day, Byron Cooney, brother of the author, remarked rather jocularly that the story of the coming of the Scottish Chieftain McNab to the township that now bears his name, together with the trials, tribulations, intrigues, successes and happinesses of those times, would provide a fitting theme for a story of fact and fiction. Mr. Cooney had always been impressed by that story as he heard it told by the older residents of Arnprior. It made a deep impression upon his young mind, and, when he set about the task of weaving a tale in which was entwined truth and fiction, the sequence of the story came easily to his mind. The book sold beyond his greatest expectations; from all parts of the American continent there were demands and repeat orders, until finally the issue was entirely out of print. "Kinsmen" gives, according to the critics, a more vivid picture of conditions in Canada at the period of the Rebellion of 1831, than any other work of fiction.

One of the purposes of Mr. Cooney's visit to Canada at the present time is to assist in getting out a new edition of "The Kinsmen," which is being put on the market by the well-known Toronto firm of McClelland and Stewart.

Mr. Cooney hopes shortly to retire from the teaching profession and will then devote his efforts toward an undertaking of a unique character. His ambition is to write a story of the Tom Sawyer type, telling of the humor, the pathos and the escapades of "our gang" and taking Arnprior with its groves, its rivers, the old swimmin' hole, the streets and the vacant lots, as the scene; the characters to be the Arnprior boys and girls of forty years ago. He hopes to produce a story even more gripping and with a wider appeal than that made by his other successes.

On Monday evening, August 12th, a dinner was tendered to Mr. Cooney by a representative gathering of the citizens and a special invitation was tendered the many people of the township who know him by his story of "The McNab."

Mr. Cooney wished to return to Peterborough for Old Home Week, but was unable to do so. He is back in the city after an absence of nearly a quarter of a century, the date of his last visit being many years ago. Members of the Kiwanis club on Friday next will have an opportunity of welcoming to his home town a native son who has made a name for himself on the American continent.

WHEAT CROP LESS THAN HALF

and east of Moose Jaw to Regina there is a similar crop condition. Southeast of Regina to the international line the situations is serious for wheat and all coarse grains. In the district south of Regina for 150 miles there are some very fair stands of wheat. The straw is two feet high and filling satisfactorily. That district reaches one hundred miles to Lampman, Sask.

Those farmers who were fortunate in having some crop on summer fallow will average ten or more bushels to the acre, and with the present price outlook for wheat these growers will be in about as good a position as last year when the price and grade were low. In expressing this opinion Mr. Harstone said he was assuming at least a No. 3 Northern grade or better and also the present market quotations.

"The farmer who has a No. 3 grade or higher will be in a better position with 10 bushels to the acre at present prices than he was last year," Mr. Harstone repeated by way of emphasizing this brighter possibility.

The Unfortunates

If the quality of the grain shows deterioration, it will be lighter and of lower grade, that is No. 4 or 5. This will tend to place the crop at much less value than last year, which was a poor year for those who had 4 and 5 grade wheat. The unfortunate ones, Mr. Harstone said, are those who will have no crop and no feed, with higher prices to pay for almost everything.

The area directly south of Regina to Weyburn and from Weyburn to Moose Jaw embraces the greatest wheat-growing district in Saskatchewan and is most seriously affected. Incidentally Mr. Harstone said that Red Fife had resisted drought much better than any other wheat. A compensating factor which may enter into the final evaluation of the crop is the likelihood of a higher protein content in this year's wheat. Any area that produces wheat of the contract grades, No. 1, 2 and 3, Mr. Harstone explained, should obtain a premium this year on account of the protein content, which is usually higher in a drought year.

Northern Areas Good

His reports from the areas north of Saskatoon show that the wheat crop varies from fair to good.

"Many estimates have been made of the season's yield in the three provinces," Mr. Harstone continued. "From all the information to hand especially during the last two weeks it may be said that deterioration in the last ten days has been rapid, and my contention is that we shall have less than half the crop we had last year. And last year's total was 330,000,000 bushels."

Then as to cash returns, his opinion is as follows: "Although the drought has been severe, nevertheless if a farmer obtains ten bushels to the acre on the summer fallow, and his wheat is of contract grade, he will be in as good a position as he was last year, although he has only half the crop."

Mr. Harstone's information is obtained from the Department of Agriculture at Regina, from hail insurance companies, and also by extensive inspections made by his own agents throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press). — Tex Rankin, Portland aviator, who left Vancouver, B.C., at 4.30 a.m. yesterday in his airplane "Three Flags" for a non-stop flight over the entire Pacific coast section of the United tSates, landed at Agua Caliente, Mexico at 5.45 1-2 p.m. yesterday.

GRAF FLIGHT IS POSTPONED

Zeppelin Will Not Take Off For Tokyo Until Thursday Morning.

MORE PASSENGERS.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Dr. Hugo Eckener, after a "cabinet meeting" with his chief officers, to-day decided to postpone the start of the Graf Zeppelin for Tokyo on the second lap of its round-the-world flight until the early morning hours of Thursday.

Weather reports received during the night indicated a low pressure area over Siberia moving eastward more rapidly than had appeared yesterday afternoon. With a day's delay there was still hope that Dr. Eckener might be able to choose the great circle route west of the Bohemian Mountains to Koenigsberg into Russia. Even should this hope be disappointed and he must, as yesterday seemed inevitable, choose a route along the Danube, the Zeppelin officers are convinced another day's wait will prove advantageous.

Sixty human beings will board the Zeppelin on the Tokyo flight, Captain Von Schiller stated. "Our crew will be only forty instead of the usual forty-one, because Ludwig Marx, our oldest mate, who was in the late Count Zeppelin's service and who was on special duty as helmsman and elevator man during the America flights, is not well and cannot risk the journey."

TARIFF PROBE IN AUSTRALIA

Report Will Deal With Effect of Question on Dominion as Whole.

EFFECTS UNKNOWN

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—Australia is anxiously awaiting the report to be published shortly by the expert economists who have been inquiring into the tariff problem. It is expected that the report will point out means of revising the tariff so that Australian industry will not be penalized. The possible effect of the report on Imperial tariffs and the Canadian-Australian schedule is unknown, but the report will come at an opportune time in view of the recent statement of the Minister of Justice that increases in the cost of living, due to unemployment in Sydney and Melbourne, made the attainment of an effective tariff very difficult.

The economists who are preparing the report are not acting in an official capacity, but they are such authorities on their subject that the government is bound to take notice of their recommendations. It is predicted that the report will not be directed merely to settling of the issues between free trade and protection, but will deal with the effects of tariff protection on Australia as a whole, and also on Australia's international relations.

One of the main points that all economists are striving to settle is the effect of overseas borrowing on the tariff of Australia. Some of the money lent in Australia comes here in the form of goods. To tax those goods through the tariff is to treat Australia's own borrowings as a source of revenue. This aspect was considered by the recent British delegation.

WILL GO AFTER TOURISTS

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—New Zealand realizes the value of the tourist industry and this year is making a strong bid for more travel from Canada and the United States.

The government has appointed J. L. Wheeler, managing director of a San Francisco travel bureau company, as tourist representative of New Zealand. The appointment was announced by the Prime Minister, Sir Joseph Ward.

Sir Joseph said that Mr. Wheeler had already organized and conducted many personally conducted tours from America through New Zealand. The arrangement was by way of an experiment for one or two seasons, renewable, if desired, by the government. Mr. Wheeler had been instructed to book as much travel as possible over the railroads of New Zealand, and all bookings will be done through government departments.

Is Sickness holding you back?

The most expensive brake on business is sickness. Canada's yearly bill for time lost because of preventable illness, runs into millions.

On the other hand, good health is just about the most valuable asset that men and women can have. With good health, they are always on the job and their minds are on their work instead of on their aches and pains. Have you lost more days from the office or shop than you should? Are you letting indigestion, headaches, bad stomach, bilious attacks, backaches, colds, rheumatism and other every-day troubles hold you back from promotion?

With ABBEY'S, the famous saline correcting digestion, regulating bowels, neutralizing uric acid, keeping the blood pure and invigorating the whole system, well days will replace sick ones, and promotion will come as a reward of work well done.

Many players with the North-South holdings in the above deal would fail to make the maximum number of tricks possible due to their attempting to set the Heart suit in North's hand (Dummy) instead of putting themselves in a position to cross ruff. As the North hand lacks the needed re-entries to bring in any long Hearts if established, Declarer's perferable procedure is to employ the cross ruff principle of laying down his winning high cards as soon as possible, for fear of an adverse over-ruff, and then trump out the losers in own and Dummy's hand.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South bids originally one Spade holding considerably in excess of the values required for an original bid by Dealer. West overcalls with two Clubs. North has insufficient support for Spades to accord an immediate assist and therefore makes a defensive Heart bid, not so much with the idea of playing the hand necessarily at Hearts as to encourage South to make a further bid, if able, and thus permit North to show specifically his secondary Spade support should this seem necessary or expedient.

East passing, South bids two No Trumps despite the fact that he does not hold double stoppers in the suit adversely called. Clearly South cannot support Hearts, nor can he soundly rebid Spades which have been denied by partner, yet his high card strength is too great to pass. As he has the three suits other than that bid by partner stoppd, he bids two No Trumps, as stated above.

West, falling support from partner, passes, and North bids three Spades, showing specifically that he holds exactly three cards of the Spade suit and that he prefers the hand be played at a suit trump rather than No Trump. Three Spades thus becomes the final declaration.

Contract: The first and second round of bidding proceeds the same as in Auction and for the same reasons. South, however, bids four Spades following his partner's secondary assist as he holds additional probable trick strength to that shown by his original bid.

Salient Points of Play.

West leads initially the King of Clubs, which South passes, playing the 5, to start putting himself in a position for a cross ruff. West, having no reason for a shift, continues with the Queen of Clubs, which South wins with the Ace, thus stripping his own hand of Clubs.

South now leads the 5 of Hearts, West going up with the King and Dummy's Ace winning. He then leads the 9 of Diamonds, East plays the 10 and South finesses the Queen, which holds. He next lays down his Ace of Diamonds, following with a small Diamond which he trumps in Dummy. Following out the cross ruff play, Declarer leads the Club 8, trumping in own hand with the 3 of Spades. He next plays his remaining Diamond, West discarding the 7 of Clubs, and trumps in Dummy with the Spade 4.

At this point it becomes obvious that South can now lose but the Ace of Spades and one Heart trick, thus making four-odd on the hand.

It will also be seen that should Declarer attempt to establish the Heart suit, the West player will hold off with his Ace of Spades until the third round of that suit, which kills the only possible entry (Jack of Spades) in the North hand for bringing in the Heart suit or for taking the Diamond finesse.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ELEVATION TO ARCHBISHOP CAME AS SURPRISE TO BISHOP O'BRIEN

One of Most Pleasant Days on Trip Was Receiving of Letters From School Children.

AIR OF PEACE IN ITALY

One of the most pleasant of the memories of Archbishop O'Brien, with regard to his trip to Rome, was the day when, confined to the hospital through an accident which kept him indoors for nine weeks, in the English-speaking hospital of the Holy City, he received more than eighty letters from the children of the separate schools of the city. The little boys and girls were anxious to write to their beloved pastor, whose homecoming was eagerly looked forward to by them.

The Archbishop also mentioned with pleasure the many expressions of good-will which reached him in Rome from the non-Catholic, as well as the Catholic, residents of Peterborough.

The voyage was commenced on April 13th, in company with Dean Crowley of Sault Ste. Marie and Rev. Father McAuley of Ennismore, by Bishop O'Brien. The message announcing his elevation to the metropolitan diocese of Kingston crossed the ocean to Canada at the same time that he was crossing to Europe, and it was only after his arrival in Rome that he was made acquainted with the Pope's wishes.

After landing at Havre, the trio motored to Lisieux, a matter of fifty miles or more, and there they spoke with the Superior of the Lisieux Convent. This nun is a sister of the "Little Flower," St. Therese of the Holy Face, whose canonization took place recently, and the Bishop and priests asked her to pray to her holy sister in their behalf and for the members of their dioceses.

Visited Lourdes.

After spending some time in Paris, the party proceeded to Lourdes and there visited the world-famous Shrine of the Blessed Virgin and said Mass at the Grotto of the Apparitions, where the Blessed Virgin appeared in 1858 to Bernadette Soubirous, a humble girl of the town. From there the Archbishop sent home four casks of Lourdes water from the spring which is regarded as miraculous in every part of the world.

Later, they visited the South of France and the French and Italian Riviera. At Genoa, they went to the home of Christopher Columbus, and when at Naples, some time after, they visited the church which is erected on the spot where St. Paul landed as a prisoner when he came to Rome to appeal to the Emperor for justice, as is narrated in the thirteenth verse of the twenty-eighth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. The ancient name of this place was recorded as Puteoli. It is now called Pozzuoli.

Then the party proceeded to Rome, where the time was spent until the end of July, when the Archbishop, after many weeks in the hospital, after his accident, embarked on the Italian liner, the "Conte Grande," for home.

Is Doing Great Work.

Asked as to conditions in Italy under the dictator, Mussolini, the Archbishop said that there is no phase of national life which has not been beneficially affected by this marvellous man. Great public questions have been solved and there is an air of peace and optimism throughout the land. While wages are not high, work is plentiful. That the people generally are satisfied with the present regime was shown in the last general elections, when a mere negligible minority voted against the Government.

There is no mention in Italy of the rumor which imputes to Mussolini the ambition to become Emperor of Italy and the gossip as to his ill-health, according to the Archbishop, has subsided.

"He goes back and forth every day, a big, husky man, to his office in the Department of the Interior. One wonders how he stands the strain."

No Strikes Allowed.

Under the rule of Mussolini, no strikes are allowable in Italy. The employers and employees alike have their own executive committees, empowered to meet and discuss grievances on either side, and the Government acts as final adjudicator. Attempting violators of the Government finding would be immediately placed in jail.

The Archbishop alluded to the universal rejoicing over the signing of the Lateran Treaty and the Concordat which heals the breach between the Quirinal and the Vatican, after a lapse of fifty-nine years. By the treaty the Pontiff retains the hundred acres of land on which stands the Vatican Palace and Gardens and the Church and Square of St. Peter, and the Concordat, regulates the mutual relationships of civil and church laws. Among other things, it changes the Italian marriage laws. Formerly, the State insisted that marriages be solemnized before some civil authority, but now that system has been abolished and the State recognizes the purely religious ceremony, of any creed, as being all that is necessary, just as is done in English-speaking countries.

"The rule of Mussolini," said the Archbishop, "has freed Italy from the grasp of the demagogues and little, self-seeking factions which used to dominate the land. It has established the freedom of worship for all creeds, it has provided for the teaching of religion in the State schools and it has brought back to the Capitol of Rome the cross which was taken down from its dome in 1870."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

EXPLAINING GREECE.

(Dr. MacGoffin says that Greece fell because she would not turn to commerce.)

The Greeks were a marvellous folk,
They should all have had college degrees,
Because every one of them spoke
Their classical language with ease.
Moreover they knew how to fight from their birth
And their army made raids and excursions
Until they had gained the control of the earth
Which was formerly held by the Persians.

The Greeks were all bear-cats at art;
Their buildings were grand and sublime;
When they put up a temple or mart
They built it to last for all time.
Such grace and refinement they learned to display
In their towering marble creations
That we Yankees are proud to repeat them to-day
In designs for our gasoline stations.

But alas! the Athenian race
From its glorious height has been hurled,
And gone is the masterful place
That it held a brief time in the world.
No longer the people of Pericles lead
In the science of learning and letters;
One is forced to admit they were clever indeed,
But they simply would not be go getters.

Mid the glories that used to be Greece
The bats and the pigeons now dwell.
Why triumph in war and in peace
If you simply will not learn to sell?
If Athens had only extended her trade
We now at her feet might be humbled
But no talent for commerce at all she displayed!
And now all her splendors are crumbled!

TOO MUCH TO ASK.

It is going a bit too far to ask New York City to provide one of the battlefields for the Russo-Chinese war.

SPEEDING UP.

Zeppelin travel is growing so popular that the management is thinking of establishing a two trips a year schedule.

A POOR SPORT.

An engineer on the Boston and Maine ran over and killed a moose last week He might have waited till the open season.

LOCAL DELEGATES ATTEND CONVENTION

Receive Royal Welcome at Hartford During Meet of Ancient Mystic Samaritan Order.

The two carloads of Samaritans, members of Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24, Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans of this city who left here on Sunday, July 28 last, to attend the meeting of the Supreme Sanctorum at Hartford, Conn., arrived there safely on Monday.

As the business session did not begin until Wednesday, everyone had ample time to visit numerous buildings of interest in the city, all of which were thrown open for inspection by the visitors.

Several of the Peterborough contingent also visited New York City, returning in time for the big doings in Hartford, provided by Korom Sanctorum No. 195 under the charge of the genial John McIntyre, General Convention Chairman, who was the right man in the right place, and always on the job night and day.

Governor Trumbell of the State, Mayor Batterson of the city, the Chief of Police and his men, together with the officers and members of the Board of Commerce, all united successfully in making our visit to Hartford, one long to be remembered by those privileged to be present.

The Peterborough contingent all arrived home safely on Monday last, tired but happy, having lived up to the motto of the order, "We Never Sleep."

The members who made the trip from here were: G. J. Wyatt, (representative), A. Brotherstone, Harry S. Zacks, in whose cars the trip was made; F. J. Batten, G. E. Johnston, W. F. Green, Sam Thomson, bagpipe player, and a whole band in himself, Herb McFee.

The 1930 convention will be held in Birmingham, Alabama. The following is from the Hartford Courant:

Skirling bagpipes and the red fezzes that began everywhere to dot the city's downtown crowds on Tuesday were the first signs of activity that is to follow this week as 10,000 members of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans, social organization of the Oddfellows, gather in Hartford for their twenty-seventh annual international convention.

Beginning at 9 o'clock this morning and until late Saturday night the red-topped tribesmen will find their time fully occupied. Parades, dinners, convention sessions and entertainments will fill almost every hour of the four days.

Bagpipe Band Parade

The bagpipe band, first of the musical organizations arriving for the convention, is representing the A. M. O. S. Sanctorum of Peterborough, Ontario, and Tuesday evening its members indulged in a series of impromptu parades that brought them to the attention of thousands. Other bands and drum corps, including the women's drum corps of the Buffalo Samaritan organization, are due to arrive to-day and the city streets will not lack for music.

About 800 Samaritans were in Hartford Tuesday night registering at various hotels and lodging houses. Many continued to come by train and motor during the night and today the majority of the visitors will be in the city. The first big delegation this morning is the Buffalo group, due at Union Station at 9:30. The Korum Sanctorum Band of Hartford will meet the guests and escort them.

HOW ABOUT A TRIP TO THE WEST THIS SUMMER

A region which can offer the finest in natural beauty is the one which makes a direct appeal to the vacationist. If that region has good hotel accommodation and every facility for vacation enjoyment, the greater the appeal.

For the person taking an August or September vacation no better choice could be made than Banff and Lake Louise in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. There you can enjoy the finest of golf, tennis, horseback riding, mountain climbing and afterwards a dip in the warm pools.

Banff Springs Hotel or Chateau Lake Louise are well equipped to make your stopover there most enjoyable.

Nearest Canadian Pacific agent will be glad to furnish literature and full information.

REGISTER Of Social and Business Meetings

The Register is published to enable organizations planning major meetings to know in advance, and reserve evenings on which there are no rival attractions. It will pay Peterborough organizations to consult the Register prior to settling dates. Responsible officers should mail notices well in advance.

Before deciding a date for any event, consult the Register to ascertain that there is no conflict with other events—and then send in YOUR date quickly so that other organizations will not use it.

STRANDED CREW REPORTED SAFE

Steamer Caught in Ice Flows May Not Be Total Wreck.

U.S. CUTTER ASKED TO HELP.

ST. PAUL, Alaska, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—Messages from the crew of the wrecked schooner Elisif, which was beached on the bleak shores of northeastern Siberia after being ground between ice floes in the Arctic, indicated that the men to-day were proceeding or about to proceed to East Cape, Siberia, in small boats or aboard the Russian steamer Stavatoll, which had been standing by the Elisif.

R. S. Pollster, supercargo of the Elisif and agent of the Olaf Swenson Company of Seattle, owners of the schooner, sent a message asking the United States coastguard cutter to pick up the crew at East Cape about Sept. 10. The message indicated the Elisif was not a total loss as had been previously reported. The 20 men of the crew were reported well.

COAL MINE FIRE GAINS HEADWAY

Twenty-five Miners Have Narrow Escape From Four Explosions.

MORE FIREMEN CALLED.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 13 (C.P.).—With three additional explosions shortly after midnight spreading the flames over an area 250 feet long, a heavily marshaled fire fighting force continued to-day to battle a fire in the Primrose vein of the Sherman Coal Company here.

Twenty-five miners at work when a series of four explosions started a fire in a gas pocket last night, escaped through the air breach in an intersecting gangway, but four men, members of a rescue party, were severely burned.

The fire quickly spread through the vein of soft anthracite which runs beneath the southern end of the city and was stubbornly resisting the efforts of more than one hundred mine employees, city firemen and emergency assistance from Minersville collieries.

The fire continues to gain headway.

IN POLICE COURT

Stanley Graham, 18, English immigrant, appeared for sentence in Police Court this morning on a charge of uttering forged documents to which he had previously pleaded guilty. An inspector of immigration stated that the lad had come to Canada in July of this year and had been in considerable trouble ever since. The Magistrate decided that the best thing would be to have the boy deported back to England, and he sentenced him to three months in jail so that this course would be followed.

Joseph Hills, on remand on a charge of stealing twenty dollars, pleaded not guilty. The Crown asked for a further remand, since the chief witness was in Calgary. The Magistrate gave the prosecution another week to get its witnesses.

C. Ibey pleaded not guilty to carrying dangerous weapons and was again remanded until Friday, the Crown being warned that it must hasten its evidence against the man or the case would be dismissed. His bail was lowered to one surety of $100.

Another beauty was landed on Saturday in Stoney Lake when William Groschel was successful in catching a 25-pound maskinonge. The big muskie put up a real fight and the landing of the fish proved a real task.

INCREASED TRAFFIC

The freight traffic over the Peterborough-Lakefield line has grown to such an extent so as to warrant the putting on of another freight train in order to accommodate this increase.

The growth is due to the cement company in that village which has been shipping more of its product than ever. Last year was the first year that cement has been shipped from Lakefield in recent years, and the traffic was heavy then, but this year it has surpassed the previous figures and the Canadian National Railways have decided to increase the service on this line.

* * *

A decided improvement is being undertaken on the top of Hunter Street Hill in East City. A steam shovel has been working, cutting away the bank on the left side of the road, making the roadway much wider and safer for the traffic over the hill to the Lift Locks.

CONCERT ABLY RENDERED

The Sunday evening sacred concert as rendered by the Wright Brothers' Orchestra at Chemong, scored a big hit among the crowd that gathered to listen to them. Their rendition of the old hymns and light concert airs was a treat to anyone who heard it. The feature of the evening was perhaps when Don. Wright, trumpet player and leader of the orchestra, played a solo on a Chinese fiddle, which is a one-stringed instrument. This number was encored time after time and the crowd was very enthusiastic over the offering.

However, when the band played "O Canada, a thrill was experienced by all those who were present and many expressed the thought that never had they heard the patriotic air more ably rendered, and this was made all the more delightful to think that such a small band could play in such an exceptional manner a piece of that nature.

Anne Golding of Toronto also contributed to the success of the evening by her several solos, which were well received.

CARS COLLIDE.

Two large cars, one bearing a New York license and the other carrying a Pennsylvania license, crashed at the corner of Reid Street and the Chemong Road last night. One coming from Chemong collided with the other, which was just leaving the city, doing considerable damage to both cars. No one was injured in the impact.

FALSE ALARM

Some boys played a very foolish prank and one that might have had very serious results yesterday evening at Inverlea Park. They put in a call for the pulmotor over the special wire that leads direct to the Fire Hall from the park. The firemen speeded the pulmotor to the scene in less than three minutes and found to their chagrin that it was only a false alarm. The serious part of the affair is that a real and immediate call for the services of pulmotor might have been made while it was away on the wild goose chase to Inverlea Park. Three cars carrying members of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade also made the run.

THIEVES AT WORK.

Inverlea has been visited by thieves several times recently. Last week several of the girl bathers reported the loss of certain parts of their negligee, and last night a pair of expensive black oxfords were removed from the men's dressing room. Attempts are being made to trap these sneak thieves before they reap a greater harvest. Bathers are warned to be cautious about leaving valuables in the dressing rooms while they are in swimming.

RE-PLANTING SHRUBBERY.

The great American outdoor sport of gathering small shrubs and trees from the rural districts and bringing them back to the city seems to be spreading to Canada. Many cars have passed through Peterborough of late with trees and bushes tied to the sides. Most of these had been dug out in such a way that the roots are intact so that they can be planted again on home soil. Not only are foreign tourists practicing this but many of the cars bear Canadian licenses.

FIRE ON MAIN STREET.

At 2.21 yesterday afternoon the firemen were called to the Barrie Building, where some tinsmiths in operating an oxy-acetylene welding outfit had ignited the woodwork on the face of the building where they were at work. Little damage was caused by the fire.

WORK ADVANCING.

The fixtures are now being placed in the new Kresge store building in preparation for the opening on August 24. This morning counters and other paraphernalia were being taken into the store.

NO INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Contrary to the rumors that have been current that there were several cases of infantile paralysis in the city, it was stated with authority to-day that there is not a single case of that dread disease here.

C. S. Stapleton, sanitary inspector, said: "I was told that there was a case on Gilmour Street, but along with Dr. T. W. H. Young, M.O.H., I investigated this case, and can say definitely that there is no indication of infantile paralysis.

"The other stories of similar cases have also proved baseless," he continued. "I can say with assurance that the city is absolutely free of this disease, and that the city has an almost clean bill of health."

FERGUSON DENIES AGREEMENT RUMOR

Matter Still At Standstill Regarding Beauharnois Power Contract.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Premier Ferguson did not agree today with a report from Montreal that the Ontario Hydro Power Commission is about to enter into an agreement with the Beauharnois Power Corporation for a supply of power outside the province.

"That is an old story," said Premier Fergusbn. "Premier Taschereau promised to sell us 250,000 h.p. providing the Province of Quebec did not need it. That is where the matter now stands and nothing further has been done."

conference to-day stood adjourned—at Mr. Snowden's own suggestion—until Wednesday, a move generally regarded as made just to permit these private conversations, between Messrs. Jaspar, Locheur, and Snowden, to be made.

The general atmosphere of the conference was one of more optimism than yesterday, when the board endorsement of Mr. Snowden by Premier MacDonald led to fear the British viewpoint would become only the more uncompromising.

HUGE GASOLINE TANK EXPLODES KILLING MAN

Five Workmen Are Seriously Burned When Refinery Tank Explodes.

SAN PEDRO, Calif., August 13 (Canadian Press). — One man was reported killed and five others were believed burned fatally in an explosion this morning of a refinery tank of the Shell Oil Company at its Dominguez Junction plant. The name of the man killed was given as F. M. Ferguson. The injured men were taken to a hospital for treatment.

The blast was terrific and started a fire which menaced the section. Several large refinery tanks adjoined the ruined structure, and there was possibility of their being ignited.

Meagre reports said the men were working near the tank when it exploded. The cause could not be ascertained immediatly.

PLANS MADE FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—A service in memory of Bliss Carman, poet, will be held in Christ Church Cathedral at Fredericton, August 20, it was announced to-day by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Premier of the Province. Arrangements are in the care of Hon. C. B. Richards, K.C., and Judge O. S. Crocket, and are nearing completion. Dr. and Mrs. King will leave Boston with the ashes of the famous poet on Aug. 18 and arrive in Fredericton on the following day. They will spend a few days in the Province before returning to their home.

COSPIRACY HINTED

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Conspiracy in connection with the recent Toronto plumbers' strike was suggested at the resumed session today in the Sandwich court house of the Royal Commission investigating alleged trade restraint practices of the Amalgamated Builders' Council and its affiliated body, the Canadian Plumbers' and Heating Guild.

A. W. Peck, assistant secretary of the district branch of the plumbers' combine was recalled to the stand. He is the first and as yet the only witness of the inquiry, which was started yesterday before Gordon Waldron, K.C. Twice this morning he was warned by the Commissioner against holding back evidence.

Investigate Drinking At Crystal Beach

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 13 (C.P.)—Reported drunken orgies of American tourists at Crystal Beach are to be a subject of a wide investigation, Premier Ferguson states to-day.

"We will not permit drunken debauchery either by our own citizens or visitors," said Premier Ferguson. "I am having inquiries made into the report to see how accurate this report may be. You know a person cannot even permit drunkenness or debauchery in their own homes."

DECISION MADE IN RADIO CASE

SUIT PENDING SINCE 1927.

WILMINGTON, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—A judgment said to involve approximately 90 per cent. of the country's radio manufacturers and an estimated $20,000,000 in back royalties has been handed here by Federal Judge Hugh M. Morris against the Radio Corporation of America.

The judgment, which was announced yesterday, affects three beneficiaries, Francis W. Dunmore, employed in the Bureau of Standards, Washington; P. D. Powell, former Bureau employee, and Dubilier Condenser Corporation of New York, all appearing plaintiffs.

The decision is the result of a suit brought in 1927 against the Radio Corporation of America, alleging infringement on patents owned by plaintiffs for the manufacture of instruments for radios which eliminated the necessity of storage batteries and made it possible to operate from standard residence lighting systems

ENGLISH PRAISE HEAPED ON KEMP

LOVED BY BRITONS.

LONDON, August 13 (Canadian Press Cable). — English newspapers to-day contain many tributes to Sir Edward Kemp, former Minister of Defence for Canada, who died near Bobcaygeon, Ontario, yesterday, at the age of 71.

The Daily Telegraph remarks that, heavy as was his duty in conveying the Canadians to the battle front it was as nothing to the problem that faced Sir Edward when the time arrived for repatriation. "It was difficult to explain to men who had been without a sight of their own country for four years, how impossible it was to place them all on troopships directly the Armistice was signed." The Telegraph points out.

"Considering all the impediments facing the Ministry for Overseas Forces, it was creditable that it accomplished the greater part of the repatriation work early in the summer of 1919."

The Telegraph also comments that Sir Edward's genial disposition and manifest liking for meeting the Briton at home, earned for him a great amount of goodwill on this side of the Atlantic.

DEATH FROM LIQUOR IS FINDING OF JURY

Post Mortem Shows Traces of Alcohol in the Stomach.

PORT HOPE, Aug. 13.—Suffocation, attributable to the influence of liquor, was the substance of a verdict brought in here last night at the inquest regarding the death of James McCormack, an employee of a fruit house, who was found dead on Aug 4 on the outskirts of Port Hope.

Frank Clarke and D. Cluff told of finding the body. W. Sculthorpe and Harvey Yeo, who saw the victim before noon on the day of his death, testified that he was staggering under the influence of liquor. In the post-mortem report, submitted by Dr. W. F. Beamish, it was stated that the contents of the stomach bore traces of alcohol.

RUMSEY, Alta., Aug. 13.—(C.P.)—Damage estimated at $30,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed the B. C. cafe, Raskin's general store, C. T. Thompson's real estate office, the Weinbom general store and the telephone office yesterday. Volunteer fire fighters prevented spread of the flames to other structures.

United States Player Defeats Canadian Champion

WESTCHESTER COUNTRY CLUB, RYE, N.Y., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Miss Olive Wade, of Toronto, Canadian women's singles champion, and the only Canadian representative in the women's eastern court tennis championships being played here was forced to bow before the stellar playing of Miss Ethel Burkenhardt, of San Francisco, in the second round to-day by scores of 7-5, 6-1.

The youthful Canadian girl gave a fine display in the first set, but Miss Burkenhardt managed to pull it out by 7-5. In the second set the United States player won in convincing style by 6-1.

DEATH FOUND ACCIDENTAL

Inquest Is Adjourned Into Death of Man Killed On Trip of Mercy.

SLIPPED BETWEEN CARS.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Accidental death" was the verdict returned last evening by the coroner's jury investigating the death of Frederick George Mcwe, brakeman on the A. O.R. who died in a hospital here yesterday morning after having his leg crushed when he slipped between two cars while setting a hand brake in Michipicoten on Sunday.

The inquest into the death of Ingvold Johnson, who was run down at a level crossing inside the city, by the special train which was bringing Frederick George Howe to the Sault hospital, was opened last night, but was adjourned until Wednesday after some evidence had been taken. William Merrifield, Engineer of the special testfied that it was a very foggy night and that it was difficult to see forty feet ahead of the engine. He stated however, that the head lights were burning and the bell was ringing steadily for some time before the crossing was reached. Merrified said he felt no jar and that he knew nothing of Johnson's death until he was told of it in the morning and asked to make an inspection of the engine when he found traces of blood.

Montreal Rifleman Wins Daily Prize

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont., Aug. 13.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Lieutenant J. Boa, Montreal, won the Daily Prize in the miniature rifle match at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet here yesterday, according to figures issued to-day. Lieutenant Moa also won first place in the rapid revolver contest. Lieutenant Desmond Burke, Ottawa, a former King's prize holder, won the running man competition, in which competitors fire at a running silhouette.

It is estimated that there are now about 3,500 persons in the United States who are more than 100 years old.

U. S. IMMIGRATION PATROLMEN CAPTURE SMUGGLER WITH NINE ALIENS ON LANDING OVER RIVER

Officers Lay in Wait As Boat Makes Two Trips With Men.

CURRENT VERY DANGEROUS

Two Runners Escaped Back Towards Canada As Rest Are Taken.

NIAGARA FALLS N.Y., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press). — An alleged alien smuggler was captured, two others escaped and nine aliens were arrested by United States immigration border patrolmen under Captain Stuart McDonnell between this city and Lewiston early to-day. The alleged alien runner said he was Frank Muzzillo, 23, this city. According to Captain McDonnell, he and his men lay in wait on the lower river bank while the outboard motored craft made two trips from the Canadian shore about a quarter of a mile above the Queenston Power House of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission had landed the aliens. The crossing at that point, where the current is very swift, is considered exceedingly hazardous.

Arrested on Second Trip

As the last of the aliens left the boat as it landed on its second trip, the patrolmen rushed them. Two alien runners in the boat escaped by speeding back to Canada in their craft. Five of the aliens and Muzzillo, who met them on this side of the river, according to the federal men, were captured without difficulty. Four ran down the tracks of the Niagara Gorge Railroad Company, pursued by several patrolmen, who fired into the air. After a long chase, the aliens were captured. No shots were fired at the two smugglers who fled in the boat.

Hazardous Decent to Make

To reach the water's edge at the point here the boat put off from the Canadian shore it is necessary to make a hazardous descent of the almost perpendicular bank for a distance of more than 200 feet. It is believed that a cable was used by the men to aid them in their descent.

Stability of Europe Depends a Lot On Good Relations Between France and Germany

Britain and U. S. Co-operate.

Disarmament's Best Plank Is Good Will of All Nations.

(By W. M. Murray, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

MONTREAL, August 14. — The need for good relations between France and Germany as pre-requisite to stability in Europe, and the perseverance of Great Britain in policy of establishing closer harmony between the Empire and the United States, were the outstanding features of the first address delivered in Canada in the course of his present tour by the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer. Mr. Churchill spoke yesterday to over 1400 persons at the Canadian Club.

Mr. Churchill did not think that France would be willing to reduce her army to such a point that nothing stood between her and invasion but the goodwill and faith of the German people; nor was he at all sure that even if the French so rendered themselves defenceless that the peace of Europe would rest upon any more secure basis than to-day. The only way to promote disarmament was to develop confidence and good will between all nations, and to develop alternative forms of national endeavor in commerce, science and trade.

Key Is Good Relations.

And if it was desired to promote disarmament in Europe, the key to that was good relations and the growth of common interests and particularly commercial interests between Germany and France. "In this way," said Mr. Churchill, "old quarrels fade and old animosities and apprehensions are alike obliterated in the growth of new interests and co-operation."

The central policy of the British Government had been to promote a common understanding between Germany and France and thus to stimulate the goodwill between these countries. Britain had also shown itself ready to run risks and to make sacrifices for that purpose, because the friendly relations between Germany and France were the keystone of European peace and because no other nation in the world had a greater interest in the peace of Europe than Great Britain or the Empire associated with her.

TWO WOMEN DIE IN AUTO CRASH

Companion Dying and Driver of Other Car Badly Injured.

WERE ON WAY HOME.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Two young Hamtramck, Mich., women are dead, the mother of one is dying and a Kingsville man is in a hospital in a serious condition as the result of an automobile collision near Old Castle early to-day. The Americans were en route home from Schenactady, N.Y.

The dead are: Miss Marion Elizinsky, 20, driver of one car, who died just as she was placed on the operating table at Hotel Dieu, and Miss Stella Wzuzchouski, 21, who was killed instantly. Mrs. Pauline Elizinski is dying, and Theodore Maxwell, Kingsville, driver of the other car, is in a critical condition at the same hospital.

MOB ATTACKS COMMISSIONERS

Dozen Persons Are Assaulted and Four Shot in New Orleans.

WAVE OF DISORDERS.

NEW ORLEANS, La., August 14 (Canadian Press). — After being attacked by an angry mob in the Council Chamber, the city commissioners late yesterday took steps to curb a wave of wild disorders which swept through the city in a renewed outburst of rioting by street car strike sympathizers.

Four city commissioners were set upon by groups of a mob of 300 or more in and about the City Hall. A dozen policemen were assaulted, four persons shot, and a number of disturbers arrested on Federal and State charges before sufficient policemen arrived to quell the fury.

SLAYER, 75, TO JAIL FOR LIFE

Farmer Who Killed Wife Expects "Pardon" From God.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, August 14. — A 75-year-old man who murdered his aged wife to put her out of misery, was taken to the state penitentiary to-day to serve a life sentence — a term he said would end soon "with a pardon from God."

Fred Erb, the retired farmer, who put a pistol to the head of his invalid wife, Susan, and pulled the trigger while she slept, looked forward to the pardon as he was taken to the Union Pacific station to board the gasoline motor train that makes a daily trip to Lansing where the prison is located.

"Susan and I have never been away from each other before," he said, "and we won't be apart for long now." The doctor promised me that before what happened on Thursday.

"What happened on Thursday" was the murder. Erb tried to end his own life, but the pistol jammed on the second shot. The doctor told him he was suffering from an incurable disease, Erb said.

The old farmer pleaded guilty yesterday and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He made only one request—that he might attend the funeral of his wife. The judge refused his plea but arranged for him to see her body at the undertaking rooms before he left for Lansing.

WOULD ABANDON CANADA ROUTE

Col. Edward C. Carrington Writes To President Hoover About Water Scheme.

OBJECTIONS ARE OUTLINED

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Colonel Edward C. Carrington, Chairman of the Great Lakes-Hudson Waterways' Association, which is working for an All-American ship route between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic, wrote President Hoover yesterday, advising him to abandon his attempt to reach an agreement with Canada on the proposal to build a Canadian-American route and to devote his efforts to constructing a route via the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys and the Hudson River.

"Canada will insist that she be compensated for the diversion of the waters of Lake Michigan by Chicago," Colonel Carrington held.

Insist on Lowering Tariffs

"She will insist on the lowering of our tariffs on agricultural and other products; she will insist on receiving credit for the cost of constructing the Welland Canal and other canals related to the St. Lawrence project which she has built within her own territory. She will further insist on receiving five-sixths of all hydro-electric power that may be developed along the proposed St. Lawrence waterways, while at the same time demanding that we pay one-half the cost of the development.

"We have reached an impasse. The time has arrived when conversation should cease and the work of constructing your alternative route by way of the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys and the Hudson River should begin."

MEMBERS FOR LIQUOR PROBE ARE SELECTED

Investigation Into Liquor Laws May Last For Three Years.

To Come To U. S. and Canada.

Personnel Is Equally Divided Between Alcoholic and Non-Alcoholic Elements.

LONDON, Aug. 14 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Ten of the twenty members of the new Royal Commission on the Liquor Licensing Laws of England and Wales have already been selected. The enquiries by the commission, which was promised by the Labor Government on its assumption of office, may last three years and possibly will take it to Canada and the United States.

The personnel of the commission, as so far announced is composed equally of "Alcoholic" and "Non-Alcoholic" elements. It might be likened to that harmless and unstimulating beverage known as shandygaff.

Ten Chosen Already

The commissioners already selected are Mrs. E. Barton, Secretary of the Co-operative Women's Guild; George Bryston, Chairman of the Birmingham Licensing Justices; Rev. Harry Carter, Secretary of the Temperance Council of Christian Churches; S. A. H. Findlay, General Secretary of the Union of Patternmarkers; B. T. Hall, Secretary of the Union of Clubs and Institutes; Arthur Jenkins, Agent of the South Wales Miners' Federation; John Morgan, Chairman of the Licensed Victuallers' Defense League; Arthur Sherwell, Secretary of the Temperance Legislation League; Thomas Skurry, President of the Brewers' Society, and Sir Edwin Stockton, famous Manchester commercial magnate.

No M. P. is Selected

Lord Amurlee, formerly Sir William McKenzie, a leading authority on the licensing question, had previously been appointed chairman. It will be noted that so far no member of Parliament has been selected.

The terms of reference are the widest possible. The Commission, however, applies only to England and Wales; a separate enquiry for Scotland being promised later.

MINISTER'S BODY FOUND IN LAKE

NO ONE SAW FATALITY.

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. T. A. Steadman, 56, of Byron, Ont., was drowned while bathing in Lake Huron, nine miles east of this city this morning. He was on leave of absence owing to ill health, and was summering with his wife and family at a cottage on Lake Huron beach. Following his usual custom went into the lake to bathe before the other members of the family were up.

It is believed he suffered a weak spell and collapsed without being able to shout a warning. His body was discovered near the shore line by a boy. He had been in the ministry for thirty years, holding charges in this district. A son, Ford, lives in London and two sisters, Mrs. A. Clarke and Mrs. A. McKinney in Woodstock.

Airplane Crashes In Fog

Plane Turns Turtle Into Lake Erie As Pilot Misjudges Skyline.

STEAMERS RESCUE THREE.

WINDSOR, Ont., August 14 (Canadian Press). — Search is being made in Lake Erie for John Kasper, co-pilot of the Thompson Aeronautical Corporation amphibian plane, "Miss Detroit," which fell into the lake near the south-east shoals, four miles from Pelee Island late yesterday.

Cy Caldwell, the pilot, and Mrs. Robert Little, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a passenger, were rescued by the crew of the freighter, Mid and King and have been taken on to Buffalo.

C. A. Lapole, engineer of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation of Paterson, N.J., was taken aboard the steamer Denmark of the Great Lakes Steamship Line, and brought into Detroit.

Disappeared in Da k.

Kasper was last seen swimming in a life preserver, but the rescue ships lost track of him due to the darkness it was reported . Detroit.

Officers of the M. A. Hanna freighter Quiney Shaw, bound for Cleveland, stood by for several hours last night at the scene of the mishap, searching for possible survivors. A Thompson, emergency aeroplane, piloted by Ralph Devore and Otis which left Cleveland base at daybreak to-day is searching over the lake with another plane sent out from Detroit. A coast guard cutter and several steamers joined the hunt this morning.

Only Up Half Hour

Clear weather prevailed at the outset of the trip but a heavy fog was encountered four miles west of Pelee Island. Pilot Caldwell misjudged the skyline in the fog and crashed while setting his ship down in the water, according to the same report.

Plane Fills With Water

The wings were smashed. The ship turned over and filled rapidly with water. Crawling onto the upturned cabin the four occupants donned the life belts. After clinging there for an hour the quartet decided to swim south in the darkness in hope of reaching the regular steamer lane and they became separated in the darkness.

Lapole, swimming alone was the first rescued after his shouts had been heard by the Denmark, bound up for the Lake Superior ports. The Denmark stood by for three hours as did the Midland King which, subsequently had picked up Mrs. Little and the pilot, Caldwell.

TWO SUICIDES NEAR WINNIPEG

Clerk Found in Red River and Artillery Private in Suburb Bush

LATTER MISSING MONTH.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Police Tuesday night announced the definite identification of two bodies found to-day, one, a woman, floating in the water; the other, that of a man, discovered in the woodlands of a suburb. Both had committed suicide.

Pierced through the chest by two bullets from a small calibre rifle, the body of Private Frank Allen, of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, stationed at Tuxedo Barracks, Winnipeg, was found in the bush in the suburb of St. Vital. He had been missing since early in July. A brother, R. Allen, resides at Kinselle, Sask.

Miss J. Cantley, 50-year-old departmental store clerk, disappeared from her home Sunday night. Today her body was found floating in the Red River.

ADVERTISERS WANT PEACE.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.— (C.P.)— The world of advertising went on record to-day favoring world peace. The resolution committee of the International Advertising Congress in session here approved the peace resolution submitted by Lord Riddell, leader of the British delegation and seconded by the French delegation.

RUSHED OUT OF PARK.

Jack MacDonald, Leader of the Community Party, who was rushed out of Queen's Park, Toronto, last night when the "Reds" attempted to hold a Meeting.

Mayor Speaks Highly of Force But Says Must Be Some Who Overstep Duty.

Police Affair, Says Premier.

Citizen Offers $50 To Aid in Prosecuting Police Who Molested Bystanders.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14.—Canadian Press.—While upholding the stand taken by Police Chief D. C. Draper in suppressing Communist activities, Mayor Sam McBride declared to-day that members of the force who restored to alleged brutal methods in dealing with the Communist demonstration last night must be disciplined.

"Of a large force there must be one or two officers who will overstep the bounds of discipline" said his worship. He spoke highly of the force as a whole but stated that unless the Chief disciplined the guilty parties that this would be done by the Board of Police Commissioners of which he is a member.

Board of Control Meets

The matter arose when Controller E. A. Hacker at a meeting of the Board of Control called attention to a report in a morning paper that Jack MacDonald, Communist leader had been beaten and kicked by officers.

Premier G. Howard Ferguson when interviewed stated that the matter was one for the city police entirely.

Through a local evening paper J. E. Atkins, a local citizen, has offered $50 to aid in prosecuting police who molested any bystander other than a Communist, at last night's demonstration. This citizen stated that he believes that the Communists were "foolish people" but that they had a right to express their views.

Six Are Remanded

Of the seven men arrested six were remanded when they appeared in court to-day and the seventh was allowed to go.

Stewart Smith, editor of a Communist organ, and Meyer Klig, both declared Communists, were remanded for a week on a charge of being members of an unlawful assembly. They were granted bail of $200.

Douglas Godfrey, Howard Carvello and Harry Daly were also remanded for a week on the same bail on charges of disorderly conduct.

Robert Kilgour was allowed to go when he declared that he had no connection with the Communists. According to police Kilgour's offence consisted of not moving on when ordered to do so. Kilgour remained in jail all night rather than accept bail from members of the Communist party.

SOVIET PLANE FORCED DOWN

HAD FLOWN 3,726 MILES.

MOSCOW, August 14. (C.P.) — The flight of the Russian military plane, "Land of the Soviets," from Moscow toward New York, has ended in a forced landing 170 miles from Irkutsk, Siberia. There was no information as to whether either of the men aboard had been injured or whether they would be able to continue their flight.

Tass, official news agency, said the plane had come down in an uninhabited region after taking off from Krasnoyarsk Sunday afternoon. Up to the time of the forced landing the plane had covered 3726 miles in 36 flying hours.

REMOVED FROM CLINIC

PARIS, Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Former Premier Raymond Poincare to-day was removed from the Clinic where he was operated on two weeks ago, and taken to his home to await more complete recovery and a second and more serious operation about Sept. 15.

Fifteen states had adopted woman suffrage before the nineteenth amendment became a national law. The earliest of these was Wyoming, which had women suffrage in 1869, when it was still a territory.

THREE STATES SWEPT BY STORM LEAVING TRAIL OF DESTRUCTION

HIGHWAYS BLOCKED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 14.—(C.P.) —Wind ,rain, hail and lightning, sweeping through three Eastern States left a trail of destruction, marked to-day by damaged buildings, blocked highways and ruined crops.

Regions in Pennsylvania, New York State and Vermont were visited by a series of storms yesterday in which damage by fire and flood was added to the havoc wrought by wind and hail.

A wind of hurricane force cut a swath 25 miles wide through Vermont from Lake Bomoseen to Middlebury ,overturning cottages and damaging other buildings.

The main highway between Rutland and Middlesbury was blocked by fallen trees and communication between Rutland and Lake Bomoseen was cut off.

Farmers in the path of the storm lost sheep and other stock and suffered severe damage to barns and othe. farm structures.

In the vicinity of Reading, Pa., a series of electrical storms fired three barns while the torrent which accompanied the wind and lightning poured streams over their banks, flooded property and made bridges impassable.

At Glen Falls, N.Y., and in the vicinity of Lake George hail stones described by residents as being as large as hen's eggs punctured the tops of automobiles, broke windows and stripped foliage from trees.

Ukranian Commits Suicide On Roadside Cherry Tree

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—A grim sight met the eyes of tourists on the Niagara to Hamilton highway this morning when they passed the outskirts of Grimsby. Swinging from a large cherry tree, a few yards from the road was the body of Peter Storgryn, aged 38, a Ukrainian farm hand.

Yesterday Storgryn's fourteen-year-old son saw him polishing a large strap. It was this that he used to hang himself from the tree. He leaves a wife and family.

EIGHT JAPANESE OFFICERS KILLED IN BOMBER CRASH

Great New Machine Fell From 900 Feet on Inspection Trip

TOKYO, Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Six officers of the general staff were killed and another seriously injured when a new bombing plane in which they had started an inspection trip fell 900 feet to-day at Tachikiwa Aerodrome, near Tokyo.

The dead included Major-General Tsunes Aburo, Chief of Operations Staff; General Fukioka and Major Abe.

Major Rukayama, the injured officer, died soon after being taken from the debris. The body of a non-commissioned officer also was found in the wreckage, bringing the total dead to eight.

School Girls, City's Mayor and Chief of Police Among Those Arrested In Raid On Speakeasies

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 14 (C.P.).—Girls of school age, a mayor, a police chief and men and women operators of scores of speakeasies were among the 200 persons arrested last night and early to-day as Federal Prohibition agents mopped up an alleged liquor and vice ring.

By one o'clock this morning 165 persons had been arrested in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor, the two cities against which the agents concentrated their drive.

Nick Sudowich, catalogued as a lieutenant of Scarface Al Capone and as one of the leaders of liquor traffic in the Calumet district, also was seized.

Mayor Hale and Chief Regan were charged with conspiracy and a similar charge was made against Sudavich, who was found in the cabaret he operates.

LABOR MEN CRITICISE ACTION OF POLICE IN QUEEN'S PARK RAID

RESOLUTION PASSED.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.)— Leaders of organized Labor in Toronto, who do not countenance the Communists in organized Labor, are to-day outspoken in their criticism of the force and violence reported to have been used by Toronto Police in preventing a Communist meeting in Queen's Park last night.

Six persons were arrested, charged with disorderly conduct, and will be arraigned in Police Court to-day.

"I think myself that the police are very foolish in their methods of dealing with the Communists," said Sam J. McMaster, President of the Toronto District Labor Council. "They are really aiding and abetting the Communists, in a way making martyrs of them."

Spreads Communism

"We are generally opposed, I think, to the tactics displayed by the police," said John Gillonders, President of the Building Trades' Council. "It only aids the spread of Communism. Non-suppression would be more effective than the repression that is practised," he said.

"It was unthinkable, awful," Thomas Leader told a meeting of the Earlscourt Labor Party, which passed a resolution addressed to the Board of Police Commissioners protesting against the methods and actions of Chief D. C. Draper's force.

"Free speech must be enjoyed," the resolution said, "and we wish to com-

Sunken Engine Raised From Welland Canal Bed

WELLAND, Ont., Aug. 14. — (Canadian Press).—With the aid of four pontoons and two huge derricks, a Michigan Central locomotive was last night raised from the bottom of the canal, where it had laid since June when it plunged into the water while the bridge was swung, leaving a train load of Kiwanis delegates safely on the tracks.

The investigation will now continue at St. Thomas.

STREET CAR STRIKERS MOB COMMISSIONERS

Council Takes Action To Prevent Further Bloodshed.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—With blood having been shed in the City Hall, the Commission Council to-day prepared to carry out its mandate against a repetition of yesterday's violence in the street car strike during which city commissioners were mobbed in the Council chamber, four persons felled with bullets and street cars stormed. T. Semmes Walmsley, acting Mayor, declared, "Anarchy must cease."

Placing responsibility for the riots upon the inspiration of "irresponsible demagogues and firebrands in the community," the Council ordered the police force augmented and invoked strict enforcement of the city ordinance practically banning jitney competition with the street cars.

SPECTATORS SUFFER AT "RED" MEETING

WITNESSES CLAIM MACDONALD IS BADLY BEATEN BY OFFICER AS POLICE CLEAR TORONTO PARK

Innocent Citizens Claim They Are Victimized By Officers.

SEVEN ARRESTED.

People Driven Out Into the Streets Full of Motor Traffic.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.).—Mounted, dismounted and motorcycle police last night nipped a Communist meeting, in Queen's Park, in the bud. The police did not stand on ceremony. They asked no questions but used their fists, batons and feet freely. In the crowd of several thousand people in the park it was impossible to say how many were Communists but the great majority of them were ordinary citizens enjoying a little fresh air on a fine summer evening and curious people attracted by the announcement of the meeting and the prospect of a scrap. The roadway surrounding the park was jammed with a line of motor cars three deep. The signal for vigorous action on the part of the police was the gathering of a little group in the east side of the park. In the centre was Jack Macdonald, leader of the Communist Party in Canada. Several men and women were walking with him. They made no scene but were walking quietly.

Police Rush Park

Suddenly the police in uniform who had been stationed about the bandstand rushed in that direction. Dozens of plain clothesmen, hitherto inconspicuous in the crowd sprang into activity.

Macdonald was singled out for special attention by the police and, according to witnesses, was beaten and kicked as he was run out of the park. This occurred, witnesses state, despite the fact he protested he would go quietly and that he had not spoken.

There were many reports of violence by the police in clearing the park, a number from persons who declared they were not Communists and were set upon by the police apparently because they had not moved fast enough.

Everyone Is Put Out

Macdonald disposed of, the police turned their attention to clearing the park. The motorcycles roared, officers on horses dashed hither and thither. Old men reading newspapers on benches were hurried off. Everyone was ordered to move. The slightest hesitation or attempt at argument led to the person being grabbed and bodily rushed out of the

Killer Reports To Police Admits Serious Crime

NEW YORK, August 14. — The confession made by Joseph Edelman, who strolled into a police station yesterday and said he killed Dr. Horace G. Silver at Eaton, O., in 1928, was revealed to-day.

District Attorney John E. McGeehan made public the confession in which Edelman, an ex-convict said he and a man named Thompson went to the Silver home when the family was away. They had obtained two diamond rings and were preparing to open the safe when the doctor returned.

"Ed began hitting him over the head with a hickory stick," the confession read.

He said they did not know the doctor died until some time later, after they had escaped to California where they staged a hold-up in San Diego.

MISSING PILOT FOUND IN BUSH

Forced Down By Engine Trouble 200 Miles North of Seven Islands.

WAS NOT INJURED.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Pilot C. E. Troup of the Inter-provincial Airways, who had been missing nine days, was discovered late yesterday afternoon by one of the six rescue planes that had been searching for him 200 miles north of Seven Islands, Que. He had been forced down by engine trouble. Troup was well, and suffered no ill effects from his experience. He was flown back to Seven Islands last night, and today spare parts will be flown to the wrecked plane, and it will be brought back to Seven Islands.

LOGGERS FIGHT LOSING BATTLE WITH B.C. FIRES

Lumbermen Retreat With Their Equipment As Blaze Sweeps Valuable Timberlands.

SECOND DEATH IN WEEK.

Golden Ears Mountain and Valley Both Raging Away Uncontrolled.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Life and property has been endangered during the past ten days in the valuable forest regions of the West and Pacific Coast, but valiant work of Forestry Rangers aided by hundreds of volunteers has saved both from devastating fires.

In British Columbia sections, forestmen have been driven back from the fire lines, and logging camps menaced. In the Haney district of British Columbia hundreds of acres were fire-swept, and lumbermen were retreating from the flames, removing valuable logging equipment and machinery from the danger zone. The fires were completely out of control, sweeping at a terrific rate over logged land in Golden Valley.

Killed by Falling Snag

Reports brought news of the second death in a week due to forest fires. C. S. Hatton, 35, of Sedro Wooley, was killed when a 125-foot burning snag he was guarding, crumpled and fell on him.

A thousand-acre fire near Haney, B.C., was raging uncontrolled after sweeping over Golden Ears Mountain and Golden Valley. A hundred loggers, exhausted from a 12-hour continuous battle, were trying desperately to save logging equipment.

Contents Not Sufficient Thieves Take Cottage

BEAVERTON, Ont., Aug. 14.—(C.P.) — Returning from a two-months' trip on the Pacific Coast, C. H. Tisdale, a Point Maru farmer, discovered that a small cottage on his property had been stolen. Four corner post holes are the only evidence that a cottage formerly existed there.

GREAT BROADWAY NIGHT CLUBS ARE LOSING OUT IN MODERN AGE

Many Are Closed and Others Are Expected To Follow.

SUCKERS ARE FEW.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Broadway echoes the yawns of cabaret hostesses and entertainers sipping rickeys under the electric fans of the most deserted set of night clubs that the street has known in years. The bleat of swindled yokels has driven many of the cabarets out of business and those that remain are in the doldrums.

A survey indicates many of Broadway's night resorts have closed for good and that those still open are starving to death

An acute unemployment situation has arisen among men and women who work in these resorts. Unscrupulous "agents" who obtain employment for cabaret workers are taking advantage of the situation to extort money from the jobless. Fees taken by those agents used to amount to about 10 per cent. They now amount to 25 per cent. or more in many cases.

Persons who know their Broadway say the cabaret business is dying on its feet because the number of persons willing to be taken for suckers is decreasing. The Broadway district is always dead in summer, but this summer it is so dead, at least in so far as cabarets are concerned, that it is extremely doubtful if the cool of autumn will revive interest.

Lucky the night club hostess who can get a job these days and doubly lucky the girl who, when she has a job can extract pickings from customers to augment the $20 a week or less the cabaret proprietor pays her.

Wild Duck Plight Pitiful As Sloughs in West Go Dry

REGINA, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Dry weather on the prairies has thinned the ranks of wild ducks. Thousands of young birds have been found dead in the bottoms of dried-up sloughs, and flocks of ducks are reported to be flying many miles to find water. In many cases mallards and other ducks have kept close watch on farmhouses, where kindly people have pumped water for them.

At Lancer, exhausted ducks have been picked up from village lawns. They were too weak to fly further in their search for water.

GERMAN COUNT POLISHED DOORS IN BIG HOSTELRY

German Sea Devil Spent Years of Travel in United States.

RAN AWAY FROM HOME

Once Walked Across Continent to See Great Buffalo Bill.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The old Majestic Hotel overlooking Central Park is coming down soon to make way for another New York skyscraper, and one of the chief mourners at its demolition will be Count Felix Von Luckner, German "Sea Devil" of World War fame. Von Luckner, not only has the sentimental feeling of an old guest for the Majestic; he loves it because he knows every door knob in the place. He polished them 27 years ago.

The huge German nobleman who by his good nature and sportsmanship won over even those he made prisoner, whose daring raids aboard an ancient wind-jammer have become a wartime epic, reveals in a magazine that even before the war he knew America better than most Americans—knew it because he walked its railroad ties from coast to coast before he wound up with a brass polishing job at the Majestic.

It was all because he wanted to see Buffalo Bill, hero of American Wild West shows, Von Luckner relates. He had run away from home to go to sea as a boy of 13, but not before he had been thrilled by reading tales of the white-haired scout in Germany.

Long Journey on Foot.

Landing in San Francisco on an early voyage, he inquired where Buffalo Bill lived. When told the plainsman lived in Denver, he asked the way and a practical joker pointed to an eastbound railroad track. Von Luckner, penniless, started out to walk to Denver—and did it, after five weeks!

"Sometimes a brakeman let me ride on a train, but mostly it was the ties," he said. "I was hungry, and hunger is a thing I never liked. Sometimes I worked for something to eat, sometimes I could steal some corn or a chicken."

But he got to Denver, intending "to ask Buffalo Bill if I could ride with him and hunt buffalo over the plains of Colorado." Then the heavy hand of iron clapped him in the face. He went to the home of Col. Cody where he was told that Buffalo Bill was with his Wild West show in Germany!

"There was nothing to do but get back to the sea, so I decided to take the ties for New York," he continues. "Only those Americans realize how great their country is who have walked across it on ties."

It took him five months to reach New York. Then, unable to get a sea-going job, he finally found work polishing brass at the hotel.

NEW GOV'T DOCK IN OWEN SOUND

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Announcement has been made by W. P. Telford, M.P., North Grey, that negotiations have been completed with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a strip of the local harbor frontage to be used in the construction of a new wharf. Contract for the first 450 feet of the wharf has been let.

Transfer of this property to the Canadian Government will enable the Department of Public Works to carry out extensive harbor improvement which will continue for several years, it is understood.

VERDICT GIVEN OF SEPTICAEMIA

Doctor Who Performed Illegal Operation Died Yesterday.

ANOTHER HEARING.

TORONTO, August 14. (C.P.) — Death from Septicaemia, resulting from an illegal operation, was the verdict returned last night by a coroner's jury enquiring into the death of Helen Cowling, on July 31.

Dr. W. A. Fish, Toronto, who was under arrest on a charge of performing the operation resulting in the girl's death, died yesterday following a long illness. He was allowed to stay at his home under bond of $50,000. A charge of aiding and abetting in the operation is standing against Andrew Bennie, 21. He will appear for hearing August 21.

CARS IN SMASH UP

Sparks flew for a moment in front of the St. Lawrence Hotel last night when two cars met head on. The crash came about ten o'clock when there were plenty of spectators nearby. Both cars suffered considerable damage to their front ends. One was taken to Meyer's garage for repairs, the other continued north towards its home garage. The local police investigating the smash found no one injured and since the drivers reached an amicable agreement, no action will result.

BAND ACTIVITIES

Last night the band went to Simpson's Grove near Pethericks Corners to execute a dual mission. They were to play for the lawn social there and also to cheer for the Clerks who were playing softball against the team from Menie. Before they started out on Abernethy's truck, there was a discussion regarding band concerts. It had been their intention to play an open air concert on Thursday night. Now they are not sure whether to have the concert on Friday or Sunday night. In any event, there will be a band concert in the near future.

BOWLING CLUB BRIDGE

This week's bridge party at the bowling club was somewhat smaller than usual owing to the number of ladies who are absent at their summer homes. Yesterday afternoon there were four tables of bridge played at the club house. Mrs. J. B. Ferris and Mrs. A. T. Linton were hostesss. The prize for high score was won by Mrs. William Smith, Booth street. As a rule there is no consolation prize at these bridges, but yesterday afternoon there was a beautiful bouquet of gladioli which was greatly admired by the ladies present. It was decided to give it as a consolation prize. Mrs. J. Ernest Birk was the winner.

SOFT BALL.

Since before Old Home Week, the Campbellford Softball Association has ceased to function on the diamond. According to the original schedule, the final game should be played this Friday, and the play-offs begin next week. If this game is played there are still eight to play before the final standing for the league can be computed. So far the Clerks are on top. Last night they played an exhibition fixture with the Menie team at the lawn social at Simpson's Grove and came out on the long end of the score. This evens the score for the round. During Old Home Week the Menie team took the Clerks for a ride.

EXECUTIVE MEETS.

Old Home week is still the topic of much discussion. It is generally agreed that it was a success. Many of those who worked to make it such, are in favor of repeating it in five years' time. The Marathon Swim committee believe that there could be another similar event staged in Campbellford next year. There is also a general feeling that the town ought to have an annual regatta each summer. These and other items of business will be discussed at the meeting of the Old Home Week executive which is scheduled for Friday evening this week. For those who are anxious to hear of the financial end of the celebration, Mayor Davidson said last night that he believed they would break even.

WINTER CHAUTAUQUA

Representatives of Canadian Chautauquas Limited are in town endeavoring to book Campbellford as one of the towns for the Eastern Ontario circuit of Chautauqua this winter. This will mean that the entertainments will be in Campbellford during either February or March. It is necessary to have the guarantee of certain financial backing before the shows can be booked. Canadian Chautauqua was recently presented in Warkworth. At every entertainment, there was a packed house. The officials with the company stated that it would be necessary to provide a much larger tent for their return engagement next year. While the winter circuit shows will not be identical, the representatives have guaranteed that they will be of an equally high standard. The season tickets will be cheaper than for the summer circuit, but there will be only two matinees. Last night, six men had signed the agreement to provide the necessary money guarantee. Twenty-five are required, and the representatives believe they will have no trouble in securing them, when it is remembered that many Campbellford people attended Chautauqua in Warkworth during the summer.

CROP OUTLOOK FINE IN NORTH

Hay, Barley, Potatoes and Alsike Harvest Good in Timiskaming.

HAY HEAVY IN ALGOMA.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.).—The Temiskaming district in Northern Ontario will harvest a fine hay crop this season besides a good yield from a large acreage of barley, said J. A. Carroll, Director of Crops and Markets for Ontario, on his return from a survey of the northern districts.

The farmers there, he said, will have a good amount of seed for sale and with a good potato crop and plenty of alsike clover, they should enjoy a good year.

"In Algoma they have the best crops I have seen this year," he said. "They have excellent fields of oats and heavy hay crops. Dairying is making splendid progress because the local markets absorb the entire output."

APPLE SHIPPERS PLAN ACTIVITIES

All Matters in Connection With Transportation Are Settled.

NOVA SCOTIA PROTESTS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—All matters in connection with the transportation of apples and other fresh fruit to Great Britain and Europe for the coming season were arranged satisfactorily at a closed session of International Apple Shippers' Association delegates and the Trans-Atlantic Shipping Conference here yesterday.

James Sinclair, Chairman of the Shipping Conference; A. O. Mitchell, Secretary of the Canadian Trans-Atlantic Shipping Conference, and E. W. J. Hearty, Chairman of the Apple Shippers' Association issued a joint statement last night, in which it was said there were no definite changes in policy or basis for rates. A protest from Nova Scotia shippers was met by the assurance from the steamship lines that the contract system which prevailed last year would not be continued. The rates of last season will be continued this year.

Replying to Mayor McBride's speech of welcome, James H. Bawden, St. Louis, Mo., said that he hoped apple sellers and apple eaters of Canada and United States will see to it that no clashing of selfish interests nor squabbles over tariff tempering will be permitted to disrupt the friendly and neighborly relationships which have existed between the two countries for the last century.

Mr. Bawden is a native of Kingston, Ontario.

NORTHERN HAY IS PLENTIFUL

TRANSPORTATION NEEDED.

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Reports of many thousands of tons of Red Top hay available in the Carrot River Valley, Cumberland, Sask., and The Pas, Man., districts yesterday, brought cheer to many farmers in some Central Saskatchewan district where feed was badly damaged by drought. Consideration is being given to the problem of transportation from the northern areas to the sections where feed will be required.

In almost all sections of the large Cumberland district wild hay grows in abundance, and already a large quantity has been shipped to The Pas for storage.

At Colon, Canal Zone, the rainfall in the wet season averages 116 inches.

NEWS IN BRIEF

(By Canadian Press)

SEEK TO STOP RAILROAD

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 14—The Merriton town council has instructed their solicitors to take action to prevent the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto railway from operating their trolley cars over the streets of the town. An injunction will be asked at the sitting of the High Court before Mr. Justice Raney in St. Catharines, during October, without jury.

LIBERAL LEADS BY 127.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., August 14—(C.P.) — With ten of fifteen polls still to hear from, D. A. Hall, Liberal candidate in the Cumberland constituency, provincial election, last night had a majority of 127 over John Beda, Independent Conservative.

TRIPLE DROWNING.

EDMONTON, Alta., August 14. (C.P.)—Word of a triple drowning tragedy at a picnic at Hanna Beach on Buffalo Lake, near Botha, Alta., reached Edmonton yesterday. The victims were Margery Horton, 15, Frances Horton, 14, and Edna Payne, 14. The three girls went to their deaths when they stepped into a deep hole while bathing. The Horton girls were sisters.

CHINESE SLAYING RUSSIANS.

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—The official Tass Agency last night declared that Russians on Soviet soil have been killed and wounded by "White Russians," supported by Chinese troops of the Manchurian forces. It was said that attacks had been dispersed "by determined actions by our troops."

The statement read: "From the very beginning of the Chinese Eastern Railway conflict and with the direct co-operation of Chinese troops, White guards have systematically fired at our outposts and on the civilian population.

LIVE ROULETTE GAME.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—A restaurant here has a game of roulette which is played with live dancers as pawns. The floor is the table and while the orchestra plays a wheel is spun with 36 numbers on it. When the wheel stops the orchestra stops and the dancers on the lucky number win the prize.

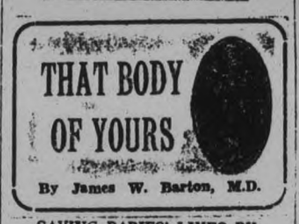
CHURCH SERVICES.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH.

The Sunday services in St. James' United Church were conducted by officials of the Sunday School—Mr. A. E. Prest, superintendent Mr. McLaren, assistant superintendent, and Mr. Phillips. The morning message was presented by Mr. Phillips, who spoke to a large congregation on "The Grace of the Christian Life." Taking for his theme the story of the sinful woman who anointed the Lord's feet, Mr. Phillips contrasted the characters of the woman, Simon, and Christ, emphasizing the fact that to win others to Christ we must make our Christian life attractive to others.

In the evening the girls of St. James' Young People's Society took charge of the service, which was led by Connie Wagar. The Scripture lesson, which was taken from the second chapter of Ephesians, 1-10 was read by Jean Hammond, and prayer was offered by Alice Scott. The subject of a short sermonette was capably dealt with by Mabel Dulmage, who held the interest of the congregation throughout. Her subject, "God's Minute," was found in the 15th chapter of St. Luke's Gospel. By spending every minute for God it will grow into hours of service. These minutes may be spent in different ways for God. In prayer, Bible study and helpfulness to others especially in soul-winning. A passion for this particular work may be obtained through prayer. The need for this passion is also emphasized when an accident occurs people ask "if the life was insured." They should ask rather if the soul was insured, meaning did the life belong to Christ. Many of us make excuses for not speaking to others about the welfare of their souls. We are too tired, too busy. We may have nothing to give, may not want to pay the price. We may be too timid, or we may be saved and selfish. But we should at least feel our responsibility. Some reasons why Paul was successful in his service for Christ were, first, he seized every opportunity; second, he was humble, sympathetic, brave, and persevering; third, he loved; fourth, he prayed without ceasing; fifth, he did not shirk responsibility; and sixth, he was willing to pay the price of service. "I press on toward the mark of the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."



SAVING BABIES' LIVES BY DEXTROSE.

One of the sad sights of former years was the infant with such severe indigestion that it was unable to retain anything on its stomach.

Everything known to medical science was tried, the skin was rubbed with foods in liquid form, food was inserted into large intestine, but all to no avail.

And so, in the hot weather, with the intestine upset by poorly kept milk or other food, and the stomach refusing food, the poor youngster had little better than just an even chance of making a recovery. Parents dreaded the summer months because of the great loss of life among babies.

However, food is food, no matter how it gets into the system or blood stream, and so the idea of injecting dextrose (starch sugar) into the muscles was tried and the results were most satisfactory.

The dextrose is injected slowly into the large muscles of the thigh, the physician watching that the first lot is being absorbed before injecting more. If the muscles become distended he, of course, knows that the sugar is being absorbed very slowly.

Now, dextrose is a wonderful food in that it rapidly gets into the blood stream and is thus of use in supplying energy in a very few minutes; much sooner than most other foods.

Besides this it has the power to make fats burn and thus supply energy quickly, because next to sugar fat is the principal food which creates energy in the body.

Now, this injection of dextrose is not only used in the treatment of starving youngsters, but in practically every condition in which a patient is unable to take food in a normal manner. After periods of prolonged illness, where there has been much wasting and loss of weight, this treatment is of great help.

So, if your youngster or other member of the family is ill, and food by mouth cannot or should not be taken, and your doctor informs you that he must make these injections into the thigh muscles, you will know that everything possible is being done for your loved one.

PRIZE-WINNERS IN GARDEN CONTESTS

Competitions Most Successful Ever Held in Peterborough County.

The home garden contests that were recently held in the Peterborough district were the most successful that the county has had, accordingn to information released from the office of the local agriculture representative.

The difficult part of the work was the judging, as the competition was so keen that it was a hard task for the judges to declare winners in a great many cases.

The work in this line is constantly growing and the junior farmers are becoming greatly interested in the home garden contests that are held yearly.

The prize winners are:

Girls—

Thelma Henderson R.R. No. 7, Peterborough, 1st, $3.00; Myrtle Kidd, R.R. No. 1 Warsaw, 2nd, $2.00; Eunice Hammond, R. R. No. 4, Peterborough, 3rd, $1.50; Frances Metcalfe, Norwood, No. 2, 4th, $1.00; Lillian McLaughlin, R.R. No. 2, Norwood, 5th, $1.00; Barbara Dawson, R.R. No. 11, Peterborough, 6th, $1.00; Ruby Miller, R.R. No. 1, Keene, 7th, 50c.

Boys—

SINGS TO EDISON.

Miss "Brownie" Peebles, noted Canadian prima donna with the American Opera Co., who last week met Thomas Edison, the electrical wizard. "He was sitting," Miss Peebles relates, "beside the piano, and I was sitting there too. One of the party asked me to sing to him, so I put my arm around him and sang 'Annie Laurie' into his ear, for, you know, he has been deaf since a boy. Mr. Edison seemed and said that that was the first music he had heard for years. I was quite thrilled that I had sung to him, because few people ever get that close to him," Miss Peebles' home is a New Westminster, B. C.

Parisian Foibles

Of butcher blue linen is this beach or sporting sports ensemble. The pleated skirt opening at the side is worn over the daintiest of pantaloons of the same material. The dress is sleeveless, of course, and the matching jacket is loose and trimmed only with wide pockets. Just Between Us Women

IF YOU FEEL as I do these days, you don't wish to read anything heavy —I don't want to write it! I feel so hot!

• • • • • •

I just like to think of the cool lake-side where, because of my coming to Peterborough, I can't hope to have a holiday this year.

• • • • • •

Likely most of you are either looking back on a pleasant time just past, or living in anticipation of one to come.

• • • • • •

Sometimes, of course, one is disappointed, but not often, in these anticipatory dreams. There was Solomon Grundy, who

Packed on Monday,
Arrived on Wednesday,
Swam on Thursday,
Golfed on Friday,
Fished on Saturday,
Got the bill Sunday—
And that was the end
Of Solomon Grundy.

• • • • • •

Most of us would not make that mistake; we ascertain before starting just what the holiday would cost us, so that we might enjoy it in peace.

• • • • • •

There's one thing this year; the sun burn fad has made it unnecessary for us to worry about keeping covered up, and we can revel to our heart's content. But I just wonder what is going to happen when winter comes, and it is necessary to go into decollete frock some evening!

• • • • • •

Methinks most of us will wish we weren't just so brown!

• • • • • •

If any man should read this he will pause to remark at this point something about the foolishness of a woman who considers appearance in opposition to enjoyment.

• • • • • •

It's funny how the idea has grown up, for some strange and obscure reason, that women are vainer than men. Of course, men started the delusion, but I'm afraid women helped them spread it by agreeing with them.

• • • • • •

It's hard to understand, especially on a hot day like this, when the brain wants to rest. The way I figure it out, men are first attracted to women because of their looks; not on account of their brains.

• • • • • •

Indeed, considering this demand of attractiveness, there is reason to believe that every man considers himself worthy of only attractive women. THAT, if you please, is VANITY!

• • • • • •

But let a woman devote attention to her shiny nose, and she is labelled "vain." Let her pause by a mirror to arrange her hat or dress, she is "vain." If she does anything to improve her personal appearance it is because of her incurable vanity.

• • • • • •

Such is man's idea.

• • • • • •

But let me appear with a shiny nose, and I'm careless! It's no sign of vanity to powder our noses. A shiny nose is something we should properly be ashamed of.

• • • • • •

Men don't wish us to appear other than at our best, and on their record in the past they could be indicted as accessories before and after the fact of our attempts to beautify ourselves. Men disclaim their responsibility, however, which is not so chivalrous as men would like us to think they are.

• • • • • •

And did you ever see the men strut the board walks by the lake side when they were newly fitted out in their summer toggery?

• • • • • •

Talk about vanity!

• • • • • •

And did you ever look in the register at a summer resort, and see a woman's name parted in the middle? But how many signatures do you see like this: "F. Crawford-Fitzgerald." Back in the office where he adds and subtracts all the rest of the year, he is "Fred," and probably signs himself "Fred C. Fitzgerald."

• • • • • •

Nature demands that we women pay special attention to our appearance. So don't take too many liberties during the summer vacation—or I fear you will have some regrets when the fall season opens up.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Toronto

"Dear Anne Wilcox:

I'm delighted that you invited me to come to your neighborly circle, and very pleased to notice that you are apparently being taken very much to the hearts of the neighbors. I had a very pleasant year with them, and miss the contact greatly.

I enjoy your column. You bring to it a freshness and change that I'm afraid was much needed, and I'm sure The Examiner readers appreciate it.

I, of course, am not writing a column now, and I feel so lost, without it that I'm glad you give me the chance to do a little! A holiday is all right, but not from things one likes.

Here, everyone is starting to talk about the exhibition—in fact the booths are already going up and supplies are arriving in spite of the fact that the "biggest annual show on earth" doesn't open till a week from next Friday.

I spent nearly all day Sunday at Sunnyside, getting sun tanned. I guess it's blue measles and mumps; some people "catch" easily—I never did. It's a mystery to me why a lot of the people I saw there wish to get tanned—honestly. Especially the blondes. Of course, it's a fad! but I'm thinking of fall and the demand for peaches and cream complexions—and the burn is getting so deep with some I doubt if it will ever come out!

But . . . new times, new modes. On a stroll along Yonge street the other evening I saw a display in Eaton's window that shows how fast the world is moving. There were parcels delivered from the Graf Zeppelin and the European novelties that came in them — lovely shoes and handbags. It wont be long 'till what is new in Paris today will be on sale in Toronto day after tomorrow!

You know, Anne, I have a great curiosity. It has led me into a great many difficulties, but it has also brought me many pleasant and interesting experiences. One of these entertaining hours occurred on Saturday night, when I found my way to Kensington avenue. I don't know now what it's all about, because I was scared to ask! But there, the whole length of the street, were open air stalls with people selling everything from bananas to live chickens—and crying their wares in a dozen languages. If I find anyone who knows why the open-air market exists, I'll tell you.

And up on Dundas street west I got into a crowd just like that which one knew on George Street on Saturday night. People weren't going anywhere in particular, but strolling there seemed to be the thing to do!

I think I've written nearly enough for one time. I remember, however, how I used to urge the neighbors to send hints, so before I close I must live up to my own teachings!

You know how we used coal oil to clean sinks? Well, the other day I learned an improvement. Dissolve a box of soap in two quarts of boiling water, to which two tablespoons of coal oil have been added. This makes a jelly that can be kept handy. It will not only clean the sink, but every cleaning will make the next easier.

Good luck, Anne, to you and all our neighbors. I look for the old familiar pen names just as one looks for old friends.

Sincerely Yours,
Marion."

It is nice to know that you are taking such a continued interest in the page, that you are able to write such an interesting letter to the neighbors. I'm glad you took the opportunity so soon of answering my invitation.

• • •

"Dear Anne:

Welcome to our page. Please excuse this tardy welcome, but writing seems a trouble these hot days. You certainly are doing splendid and your articles are most interesting, and am sure Marion will be pleased to see her work so ably carried on. I was delighted to see a letter from Marion in tonight's mail and hope we will hear from her again.

Well Anne, I quite enjoyed reading Quo Vadis' letter and agree with every word, when I read the article tonight, thought, well Anne has a new outlook on life or rather one that suits the newly married flapper. Am unmarried myself and have travelled quite a lot both here and in the Old Country, but certainly would never dream of going out to dinner with a married man unless his wife was there too, or at least a third person. As 'Quo Vadis' says, it simply can't be done. I knew a lonely girl once who took pity on a married man who was away from home on business and lonely at night, and she went out with him to a place of amusement once or twice and then the talk began. His wife knew all about it, but that did not stop the neighbors' tongues any. No, if a woman is away from friends, she either has to stay in, or go to places alone and a man do the same, at least that has been my experiences of life. Of course there are exceptional cases.

Wishing you the best of luck and hoping that the neighbors will all soon be writing once again. Would love to hear some more of Sonny Boy.

Yours sincerely,
"Mack."

Thank you "Mack" for your welcome—you're letters must be equally as interesting as those which "Quo Vadis" writes. I'm glad to know your opinion, it takes all kinds of people to make a world you know! I wonder if "Sonny Boy" is reading the letters, if she is her ears must be burning, for more than one has been asking where she is. I hope we may hear from her soon.

FASHION SERVICE

A pretty dress for graduation. Style No. 2864 is a gay deceiver with its triple tiered ruffles. It is a one-piece affair. The gathered ruffles are simply stitched to kimino sleeves and skirt of dress along perforated lines. The lower ruffles are attached to the lower edges. The round neckline is gathered at each side and finished with a binding. It is very effective in white cotton voile with dainty embroidery in white. The bows at each side of upper edge of top ruffle are of white faille silk crepe. Sprigged dimity, pale blue batiste, pink shantung, printed lawn, orchid organdie, flowered voile, yellow and white checked gingham and crepe de chine in white or pastel shade are lovely suggestions.

It is designed in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. For the 8-year size, 2¼ yards of 40-inch material with ¼ yard of 36-inch contrast for bows is sufficient. A Picture Chart included illustrates the entire making of garment. Emb. Trans. No. 713 (blue) cost 15 cents extra.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department. The New Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

WATCH THE POISONS.

When you swallow Carbolic Acid or Tincture of Iodine, by mistake, you at once become alarmed and say, "Send for the doctor, I have been poisoned." For one person poisoned from these preparations, there are thousands of persons poisoned daily from faulty elimination of poisons produced by the body itself. When the kidneys or the liver are not working well, they fail to carry away these dangerous poison, and the result is that you wake up in the morning with a headache, a stiff back or stiff joints, caused by poisons that remain in the system. If you wish to correct this condition, procure a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will enable the kidneys to eliminate these poisons from your body and will make you feel fit and active for any kind of work.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are for sale at Lynch's Drug Store, and if they fail to do what we claim for them, your money will be refunded. w.s-7673

OUR CHILDREN

SOAP AND POWDER.

One of the choicest gifts to childhood these warm days is a nice cake of soap and a box of powder. Perspiration makes the skin very uncomfortable. Left to itself it chafes the skin, makes the child very uncomfortable indeed, if not actually sore. A sweaty, uneasy child begins to cry and between weeping and smarting is soon reduced to a state of torment. For him, a good cake of soap and a box of good powder.

There is no excuse for any of us if we neglect to provide these comforts during the warm days. The world is full of soaps, lovely frothy, slippery, sweet smelling and delightfully colored soaps. Any child will delight in riding about in a bathtub filled with foamy suds that have the sweet smell of good soap.

It won't do to take any cake of soap that is offered. You have to match the child's skin with the soap it prefers. Some skins cannot tolerate some soaps while others do very well with them. Experiment a little and make sure.

One child likes one sort and another child needs a very different kind. All the better. Each can have his own cake in his own little soap box and learn to be personal in this matter of cleanliness. Of course the prettier the cake of soap is, the better.

When all the dirt and perspiration has been washed away it is time to be patted dry, not rubbed as in cold weather, but patted. When perfectly dry it is powdering time. Children love to shake a cloud of powder over themselves. It will do no harm to the bathroom so let them shake away. Only be sure about the powder. It must be smooth, no grit, no burning quality hidden in it. There are some sorts that actually make a tender skin smart so select the powder as you select the soap with the child who is to use it in mind. One child's powder is another child's blister. Be careful.

Every child ought to have a pleasant soap bath at the end of each warm day unless his physician has forbidden it. In that case wipe his body with some cooling lotion, bathe the parts most needing soap and water with the soft suds, wipe him dry and powder him.

Don't forget about the child's feet. Little feet get hot and dry in this kind of weather. Leather-soled shoes and hot pavements, rubber soles and warm sand, make little feet smart. Bathe them carefully, dry them quite as carefully, and let the child powder them well, especially between the toes.

At this time attend to finger and toe nails. Any grit under or about the nail sets up irritation, makes infection spots, causes nail biting and consequent struggle. We want to keep cool and smooth in warm weather. Begin with the soap and the powder.

SCOTLAND YARD TAKES ON CASE

SERIOUSLY HURT.

LONDON, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—England, recently aroused by the triple poisoning of a prominent West-End family, diverted its attention to-day to the search by Scotland Yard experts for the assailant of Philip Eaton, 27, wealthy young American pedagogue.

Eaton, understood to be the son of a Harvard professor, and identified as a teacher in the exclusive St. Mark's School for Boys at Southboro, Mass., was found beaten, cut and badly battered in his fashionable Mayfair apartment yesterday. The condition of the sumptuously furnished apartment indicated a furious struggle had taken place.

He was on the hospital danger list to-day, with his condition extremely critical and unchanged.

BORN FOR SUCCESS.

The biography of the late Sir Edward Kemp, who died on Monday at his splendid summer home on Pigeon Lake in Harvey Township, leaves a deep impression that he was born for success. Setting out as a comparatively poor boy to make his way in life, he eventually reached the peaks of business, politics and society.

But the youth of to-day who reads the story of Sir Edward Kemp's career, in the hope of finding therein a chart to guide him in his ambitions, will be disappointed and baffled. For the forks and turns that led to achievement can rarely be retraced. Men like Charles Schwab, many of them, have acknowledged that they were unable clearly and definitely to account for the good fortune to which destiny directed them.

In 1874, when he was sixteen years old, Edward Kemp, according to his published reminiscence, concluded that farm work held no future for him. "Just what I could do I did not know at the time," he recalled. "Money was scarce as we were given only a few cents occasionally. I managed to save enough to pay my fare to Montreal. There I found work at small wages. It was not easy by any means, but I was determined to succeed, with the result that I tried several things before I could make much progress. My education was obtained at Clarenceville and Lacolle Academy, Quebec, and having a fair knowledge of Mathematics, I found a position as a bookkeeper. That gave me an insight of business methods and was the foundation of my later activities."

In 1885 he reached Toronto, and made his entry into business as a partner in a small tinsmith's shop. Two years later he bought out his partner, and gradually broadened and expanded his enterprise until it blossomed in the Sheet Metal Products Company, which finally merged into the great corporation known as General Steel Wares, Limited.

Such is a sketch of an outstanding personal success, accomplished in this country. In all probably it omits details that would illumine the path Sir Edward Kemp trod in commerce, perhaps revealing fortuitous circumstances which could effect only his career. Nevertheless, the aspiring young Canadian will find the old copy book maxims shining through the code of young Kemp when he decided to leave his father's farm in Quebec.

"I was determined to succeed." His narrative leaves no doubt of that purpose. The will was there, and the young man found the way. Those are the only guide posts in his early career that can be of any help to ambitious boys of to-day.

So many factors of character and opportunity, and likewise so many accidentals are woven into an obviously successful life like Sir Edward Kemp's that they are beyond unravelling for the guidance of those who come later. Financial success is ever elusive, and its tides are almost invariably recognized only after they have passed and are ebbing out.

Young Kemp believed in himself, and in his later years, when the public listened to his words, he declared his unbounded confidence in the ability and integrity of Canadians. His faith and his purposefulness were abundantly rewarded in so far as their public effects could be observed and assayed.

THE PLACE FOR COMMUNISTS.

Little groups of Communists in Toronto, Port Arthur and Sudbury, to mention at least three Ontario centres in which they attempt activity, who proclaim their desire to fight for the "Fatherland of Communism-Soviet Russia," should be given the opportunity to exercise their loyalty where it might be acceptable if it is not actually needed, in Russia with the rest of the Bolsheviki.

They are not needed nor are they welcome here, and they would probably be no more welcome in Russia, for the Kremlin uses in the propagation of its subversive political doctrines just such willing agents as the street corner Reds who pester the Toronto police of a Saturday night, and those others who called upon the "workers" of Port Arthur to rally around the emblematic hammer and sickle of the Red flag in the proposed demonstration that had been planned as a universal Communist gesture on August 1st.

The Toronto group of Communists pretend that the so-called imperialistic nations are preparing to support China in a war against Soviet Russia. And their mention of China is a reminder that in the one country where emissaries of the Bolsheviki had apparently made some real progress in their policy of boring from within, the Soviet has become so distrusted and detested that they provoked the Chinese to the verge of war.

This Province will be helped by a broader discussion of its political problems, but Old Man Ontario has nothing to gain nor learn from Bolshevist Russia. We might give more serious heed to the lesson of China as presented to the rest of the world, and simply show the door to every advocate of Sovietism. Ontario, and Canada as a whole, is engaged in too many fine constructive undertakings to admit the vain and disruptive distractions of Bolshevism. If we approach socialistic ideals in some of our public and humanitarian enterprises, such as old age pensions, they shall be of our own designing and the expression of our democracy.

It might be said that we are inclined to take our Ontario "reds" too seriously, that they are insignificantly few to bother about, but the answer to that indifference is that there is no compromise in the Bolshevist spirit and methods. And Toronto's street corner Communists are evidently a pale pink imitation of their Moscow prototypes. The only place for them is Russia.

U. S. LABOR'S NEW APPREHENSION.

Organized labor in the United States scents a new menace to its economic interest by the increasing practice of American capital to invest some of its large available surplus in branch factories in Europe.

Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, discussed this change of policy at the Institute of Politics now in session at Williamstown, Mass.

Since the war European countries have received enormous loans from United States banks and similar financial sources. This money has been largely used in the general rehabilitation of some of the nations that suffered directly or indirectly from consequences of the war, or it was diverted for the extension of public utilities, stabilization of currency and in some instances it helped to restore European industries. One of the motives for this financial aid was ultimately to increase the buying power of Europe, and in the long run to find its way back in the form of purchases from American manufacturing industries.

A reaction in Europe, and especially in France, has been a growing alarm at the possibility of American capital obtaining a dominant interest in French industrial concerns. The temporary advantage of abundant funds for necessary works would be offset by the threat of ultimate control by American financial interests and the possibility of eventual embarrassment of French labor and investors.

But American labor professes to discern a menace to itself in this exportation of American capital. According to Mr. Woll, the establishment of American branch factories in Europe instead of American investment in European plants may tend to reduce purchases from abroad of American-made goods, but may turn a flood of commodities made in branch factories in Europe against American labor itself by invading the United States market after successful attacks on the American tariff.

Mr. Wool stated that three and a half billions of American dollars is invested in productive enterprises in other countries, including a billion in Latin America and more than a billion in Canada. And since 1917 the United States has loaned to Europe about twenty-five billions of dollars. Press reports have told of Henry Ford's new factory in Ireland, and Mr. Woll declares that Ford has ceased manufacturing tractors at home and has transferred his entire operation to Ireland. The entire payroll was turned over to Irish workmen and the Ford taxes are paid to Ireland, not to the United States. And the tractors enter the United States duty free as agricultural implements.

It is an industrial phenomenon in the process of expansion, for Mr. Woll says 150 American concerns have done almost the same as Henry Ford, their products including cameras, cash registers, radiators, breakfast foods, clothing and many other commodities. It is a highly interesting development issuing from the new wealth of the United States, and its complications can be only briefly and incompletely suggested. It indicates the extension of industrial competition with results that cannot be now foreseen, and it may be an influence which will help to shape the proposed trade agreements between the British communities.

THE NEW DOMINION LABORATORIES.

The Federal Government instead of spending a million dollars on the commencement of a new national research laboratory at Ottawa, is to proceed at once with the erection of a complete three million dollar plant. This will definitely place Canada in the forefront of national research. Ontario has its own provincial research project, but it need not conflict with the Dominion plans. The governing bodies of the two enterprises have, indeed, some members in common, and there is every prospect of co-operation.

As to the need of research work, abundant testimony is available from medical, industrial and agricultural sources. The Great War also taught painful but salutary lessons as to the value of a trained corps of expert research workers with adequate laboratories. Germany had such a corps. The Allies had to create one. And while it is to be hoped that the last world war involving human bloodshed has been fought, there are wars of another kind which are certain to continue; the war against disease, the war of commercial rivalry, the war against agricultural pests—to name only three. The nation which is best equipped to win victory in these conflicts of peace has an assured advantage in the matter of health, happiness and prosperity.

There is another aspect to the new enterprise. It will retain in Canada Canadian-born or Canadian-trained scientists whom the Dominion cannot afford to use. And give them a work to do commensurate with their talents and training.—Toronto Star.

NOT PROFITS ALONE.

Someone has cynically remarked that the smartest merchandisers are rigidly honest by policy if not by inclination. There is a certain angle of that which we doubt.

For instance, Owen D. Young, speaking at the dedication of the Harvard Business School two years ago, declared: "The leaders of our business are in a large measure the trustees of our opportunities. . . . We need to-day more than ever before, men who are not only highly skilled in the technique of business, who not only have a broad outlook in history, politics and economics, but men who have the moral and religious training which tends to develop character."

Such a statement, being idealistic, will be checked off immediately by many readers as just so much fine talk—a nicely phrased sentiment for a gathering of educators and students. Others will realize immediately the rock-bound, earthy truth of Mr. Young's remarks.

For example, men with minds can understand, but only men of character can believe in the narrowness of the profit-at-any-cost motive of doing business. Only the latter have the faith to know that any way you look at it—from the viewpoint of profits alone—this banging away at the door of immediate, dollar-sign results is a short-sighted policy.

Men of foresight know it probably is true, but only men of character are convinced that no form of substantial business can avoid its burden of responsibility in the improvement of the living standards, mental and material, of the people it serves. They recognize as one of the few axioms the fact that any firm which merely exploits, taking as much as possible for as little as possible, is a short-sighted and undoubtedly short-lived business. Those who march under the results-at-any-cost standard may be envied mightily to-day. But they are generally on crutches to-morrow.

This is both a comforting thought for honest business—if honest business needs a comforting thought—and a clear call for men with the foresight and moral strength which Mr. Young has in mind. Foresight alone, as the opening statement implies, would give one the ability to see the ultimate and very real wisdom of such a policy of absolute honesty to the public one serves. But character alone can put it into practice to the point where it becomes the very flavor of one's business.

COUNCIL FIRES WEED INSPECTOR

North Monaghan Council Men Want New Law Enforced in Township.

APPOINT TAX COLLECTOR

The North Monaghan Council held its regular meeting at the Court House, Peterborough, on Monday, August 12, with all members present, Reeve Rye in the chair.

After the reading of the minutes, the question of building a house for the power grader and for storing township machinery was brought up for discussion. The dimension of the building talked of was 30' long, 25' wide, 10' high, concrete walls and galvanized iron sides and roof. Archie Patterson, road superintendent, brought up the question of building a new culvert on Romaine street. Reeve Rye brought up the question of underbrush and the drain on the T.A.S. Park road. The question of a new culvert on concession eleven, commonly called Succee's culvert, was again mentioned for building.

A resolution was passed that the former committee re house for power grader, W. Waterman and W. Kent, interview Fred Finnie and ask for estimate for cost of building for storing power grader and machinery, 30' by 25' by 10', concrete base, galvanized sides and roof.

The committee is to report at the next meeting.

A resolution was passed that a special meeting of the Council be held on Monday, August 19, at 2 p.m. (standard time) to inspect Romaine street culvert, Succee's culvert and the T.A.S. Park road drain, and to settle the question of building a machinery shed and any other business which may come up for the Council's attention, the Council to meet at George Whitfield's residence and the said T.A.S. Park road drain.

Asked to Resign.

The Council instructed the clerk to write and ask for the resignation of the weed inspector. The weeds in the private lots at this day had not been cut. W. Whitfield and W. Kent were appointed as a committee to have more trenches dug at the dump ground.

A resolution was passed that Roy Emery be paid $23.60, balance due him for the amount of charges in taxes. A letter was read from the Brinton Carpet Co., asking for permission to instal a hydrant and water main on Braidwood avenue. This request was granted by resolution of the Council.

By-law 928 was introduced and read, appointing C. B. Adair tax collector for the township for the year 1929, was regularly read and passed.

E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for the Peterborough Utilities Commission, wrote asking the Council to have a by-law passed authorizing the said Peterborough Utilities Commission to lay gas mains and pipes on the streets in the township of North Monaghan. No action was taken by the Council in regard to this matter.

A resolution was passed that the joint and several bonds of the tax collector and the securities be the sum of $25,000.

Plaxton Hueston & Co., Toronto, wrote to the Council regarding liability insurance to township roads. John Edgar wrote to the Council in regard to the case of a woman confined in Cobourg Hospital, inclosing a bill for $10.15 for examination of the said patient by Cobourg doctors. This case was referred to Peck, Kerr and McElderry, township solicitors, for payment.

The following accounts were passed: International Harvestor Co., mower, $90; A. Patterson, wood. $61.75; Drummond and Hall, scraper, $14; Peter Hamilton Co., plough points, $1.10; David Huggins, shoe for mower, $1.

A resolution was passed that A. Comstock & Sons be paid $15 re funeral of a patient.

A Thought

DOUBTS

Doubt of any sort cannot be removed except by action. — Thomas Carlyle.

What To-day Means To You.

"LEO"

If August 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3:15 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger period is from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

In nearly every respect, conditions are in your favor on this date. An over-optimistic attitude will have to be guarded against, especially in business affairs. Your physical being will respond to the invigorating but harmonious influences, and you will feel unusually mentally and physically fit.

The child born on this August 14 will be light-hearted, merry and exuberant, fond of play and amusement, and will court approbation. Its enthusiasm will run wild, and its emotions will not always be under control, but it will outgrow its hysterical stage.

There is only one thing for which you will fight in this world, and that is for your ease and comfort. You have no outstanding ambition, your tastes are simple, and you desire neither Fame nor Fortune. If you take an "arm-chair" view of life, you must not be surprised if you are sat on. The call to thought, to action, and to feeling is myriad-tongued, but you hear and heed so little of it. You are so sadly content with a routine life that you make no attempt at mental or physical flights.

A great deficit in your character is your total lack of imagination. It has saved you from much, and robbed you of much. It has saved you from considerable worry, and the anguish of unfulfilled dreams. It has robbed you of the joy of dreaming, and the pleasures of anticipation. It has kept you from a fuller and richer life—on the other hand, it has given you an easy contentment.

You are mild tempered, gentle tongued and almost habitually serene. Your enthusiasms are rather luke-warm, and it is very seldom that you leave the level plains of existence, to ascend the heights of joy, or to descend into the valleys of despair. You should marry your complete opposite.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 16.

Beatrice was surprised, and not quite pleased by his manner.

"Why, Bert, that would be idiotic! Why shouldn't I? I certainly wouldn't waste a grand boss on that!" she exclaimed, laughing. "It would be more sensible to dine at home, on the porch, and then leave Hugh to the memorial, and you and I run into town to the show—I'd love that!" she said after a pause.

"Oh, you think so?"

"Oh, yes. Because the dinners at the Underhill are so—I don't know, pot-roasty. And the club doesn't compare to Ellimony's dinners."

"True," Bert conceded, dispassionately. He rose. "We've got to get back, Bee. They've all gone in."

"Oh, I hate to go back!" she lamented, rising slim and tall in her blue bathing suit, to stand beside him, with the hot sunshine blazing on her copper hair. "I'd love to go in again this afternoon!"

"Well, why not? Suppose I used that boss to suggest that we—you and I—go down to the cove at about five. It's lovely there then."

"Oh, but Hugh'll probably play golf, if it isn't too hot!"

"Yes, but I said 'you and I'."

"We could send all the kids down there ahead with the suits and things," she was planning. "I might ask Hugh not to play."

"Why not let dad do whatever he wants to do?"

"Oh, well, of course!" she agreed, laughing.

"And you and I do what we want to do," Bert pursued, with delicate emphasis.

"Naturally I want to do whatever Hugh wants to do!" Beatrice reminded him, with a little air of hurt childish dignity.

"I see," he said. And immediately he dived, to come up as smoothly as a seal, below her in the rippled water, with his mane flung back and his expectant eyes upon her.

"Going to dive?"

"Oh, I'm afraid." She hesitated a moment, hunching up her shoulders, hugging herself with her brown arms, and then sat down at the edge of the raft, and put her legs into the water. A minute later she was swimming beside Bert to the shore.

"Plenty of wind?"

"Fine!"

"Take it easy."

"I am."

"You can put your feet down here," he said presently, and Beatric with a great gasp of pleasure and triumph, dropped to a walking position and came out through the shallow water, dripping and happy.

"Hugh, I am getting so that that swim is nothing! I thought I should have to ask Bert for his shoulder, and look at me! I'm not even out of breath!"

"It's divine to-day," Hugh said, in his pleasant, sympathetic voice. "I came mighty near going in a second time myself."

"Oh, why didn't you?" They were walking toward their own cabin now, to get ready for regular Sunday luncheon at Hugh's mother's house, and she dismissed Bert with a carefess farewell over her shoulder: "See you later, Bert! Hugh, are you playing golf this afternoon?" Beatrice asked.

"I was thinking perhaps I wouldn't," he said. "We'll not be finished at mother's until almost three, and that's the hottest hour of the day. I thought I might get Kreutzmann out, after lunch, and have another go at that, and then perhaps swim, around five."

"Oh, Hugh, that'll be so much more fun!" she said ardently. "Bert wanted to swim, around five, down at the cove, and I said I thought you were going to play golf."

"But you could have gone swimming, Bee," he said, watching her glowing face as if he were testing her.

"Not if you were playing golf! Why, I always follow you round, Hugh," she reminded him reproachfully.

"I know. But you don't have to, dear."

They were in their own room now, and Beatrice disappeared into the bathroom, whence sounds of splashing and toweling ensued. When she came back Hugh had changed his tie, and brushed his thick dark hair, still presentable, if not as heavy as it had been twenty years ago.

"Yes. But her people—young Larry's father, and all of them—were all those blond square-shouldered giants."

"Bert looks like the men in the clothing advertisements," Beatrice observed, at her dressing table now, brushing her bright hair straight off her face with great sweeps of the brush and backward jerks of her head.

She was wearing a brief satin slip that stopped well above her knees and a loose embroidered batiste jacket that slipped up and down on her smooth arm with the rapid movements of her hands. Her slim legs were incased in transparent flesh-colored silk, and her green kid slippers heeled in white. Still breathing hard, still glowing, she radiated the sweetness of youth and sunburn and salt water, fragrant soaps and powders and toilet waters, firm, healthy skin and wind-tossed hair.

Fascinated, Hugh watched the swift combing of the curly red mass into order and the knowing little twists of her fingers that tucked it securely into place at her neck. She powdered her straight white nose violently; she needed no rouge to-day.

"Did Alice like swimming, Hugh?" she asked suddenly.

"Sometimes. Not the way you do, no. Alice"—said Hugh, hesitating as he formulated his thought—"Alice liked everything—how shall I say this? She liked everything in the way other persons did—just a few persons, at that. She wanted to be correct."

"Rather," Hugh conceded dryly. "She never omitted to do the right thing, Alice," he pursued, thoughtfully. "And she never—really—did anything else!"

"It seems to me, if you did, you couldn't," Beatrice said obscurely. "I mean," she elucidated, now surveying herself complacently in the mirror, as she pulled the soft flower-figured petals of her dress into place—"I mean that if you telephoned everyone you ought to telephone, made all the calls you ought to make, kept every dressmaker and French-teacher appointment, ran your house, gave dinners and teas and went to dinners and teas—you simply couldn't do anything else? Besides, there'd be Christmases and birthdays," she went on, half aloud, "and friends in the hospital, and flowers and baby presents to send, and her own clothes and Bert's to buy, and dentist and church to do—no it simply couldn't be done!" she finished cheerfully, now glancing at her complete self over one one shoulder and obviously pleased by what she saw.

"It's perfect!" Hugh commented, of the new gown.

"Don't you really think it's lovely, Hugh?" she said eagerly.

"But, then, how will you manage all that, Bee?" he asked as Beatrice took a small green hat from a box half filled with silky tissue-paper and began to press it carefully upon her head.

"You mean all that Alice did?" she asked blankly. "Oh, I shall never try, Hugh! I'm not—that kind of a wife at all," Beatrice reasoned, coming toward him and seating herself childishly on his knee. "Nobody expects me to do all those things—we don't give dinners, and I haven't got all the old friends that Alice had, to get sick and have babies—"

He laughed.

"But mightn't you like it if we did all those things, Bee?"

"Oh, Hugh, no! Would you like it?" she asked, alarmed. "Wouldn't you rather be just ourselves, evenings, than have all those engagements and—interruptions?"

Instead of answering he looked into her face, half-smiling, half-thoughtful, his arms about her.

"Bee, haven't you a jealous bone in your body?" he asked after a space. Beatrice twisted about a little, to bring her amazed eyes to his face.

BUILDERS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Many From City Take Part in Trent River Gathering.

GOOD PROGRAM.

TRENT RIVER, August 14 (Examiner Correspondence). — The general builders of Peterborough held a picnic at Cedar Isle resort. Over one hundred men from the General Builders of Peterborough motored from their home town on Saturday afternoon to hold their picnic and field day at Cedar Isle resort. There was a cooling breeze that just seemed to be made to order for those who spared no pains in getting everything in ship-shape form, and drew a large crowd. The field sports were run off at the Athletic Park, where there was all kinds of fun—married men's running race, single men's running race, fat man's race, tug-of-war. Prizes were donated to each of the fattest, thinnest, youngest and oldest on the field. A game of quoits caused much excitement and a good deal of skill, played individually by every man on the field for a prize donated by the Peterborough Hardware Company. The events were all examples of keen sportsmanship demonstrated in the highest degree. During the course of events auction sales were taking place, which caused much merriment. The aquatic sports were held on the main channel of the Trent Canal above the bridge. There were boat races, swimming races of various kinds. Afterwards the crowd repaired to Cedar Isle grounds, where a hammer and nail race was put on. This race was carried on in the form of teams—a captain for every five men to each team. Some hit their finger instead of the nail. A saw race was the next event—some saws were dull, some sharp, consequently the man with the sharp saw won out. The most outstanding feature was the tug-of-war. The booby prizes were so small they could hardly be found. In the event of the hammer and nail race it was more fun than ever, as the winners each received a prize of a small piece of china for "my gal and me." An unusual race took the form of kicking one's own cap for 100 yards. Many who entered this found their caps behind instead of head of them. This brought forth much applause. Still another race causing amusement was a race of 75 yards run backwards. At the end of the events an auction sale from a box containing nine articles which were advertised as domestical, educational, historical, etc. This caused great fun, and brought receipts of $4.00 towards the fund which the committee is pleased to say, left a balance of $40.00 or more after all expenses. The program and picnic was arranged by the following: Harold Ephgrave, Walter Mortlock, Isadore Gordon, and Thomas Hall. These gentlemen devoted many hours during the past two weeks to make a success of their picnic. The judging committee were: T. C. Ephgrave (who deserves special mention), Mr. Ferguson of the Brinton Carpet Works, and Jack Miller. The starters for events were Harry Huffman and Fred Rowan. At the end of the day, which was much enjoyed by all, it was unanimously decided that this special day be an annual event, only on a much larger scale with promise of assistance and boosting by all the bosses of Peterborough. The money donated as prizes was equally divided amongst the events, and other articles donated were also divided in equity to the cash paid out as prizes for other events. The following from Peterborough donated prizes: E. Wand, $5.00; Peterborough Lumber Co., $10.00; Peterborough Hardware Co., $25.00 set of silverware; W. R. Turner, $5.00; T. C. Ephgrave, $10.00; Miller & Powell, electric iron; Grant & Thorpe, flashlight; H. Huffman, $5.00; Higgins Hardware Co., $5.00; Conger Coal Co., half a ton of coal; T. Rehill, $5.00; Curtis Brick Yard, two $5.00 gold pieces; J. K. Hughes, Ltd., one leather cushion; Lesurf & Steinkrauss, box of cigarettes; Goselin, box of cigars; Fred Rowan, box of cigars; Tommy Hall, six-piece cut-glass cruet; Brinton Carpet Co., two mats. Special mention should be made of the sumptuous supper that was served on long tables at Cedar Isle resort dining-rooms, and everyone appreciated the service given by Mrs. A. Wight and her daughters. This, by all means, did not end the day, as Jack Larock, violinist, furnished music for the light fantastic held in the King Edward Hall on Cedar Isle grounds. The committee wishes to thank all those who donated prizes.

COLBORNE

Mrs. G. Payne has returned to her home in Chicago after a month's visit with friends in Colborne, Port Hope, Peterborough and Kingston.

Mr. Thomas Grosgean of Toronto spent a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Grosgean.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Brooks and children of Port Hope and Mrs. H. Tinner and daughter of Peterborough were visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Brooks over Sunday.

Mr. A. Tinner has returned to Peterborough after spending a couple of weeks at Colborne.

Salem Sunday school held their picnic on Thursday at Cobourg public park where they took the opportunity of presenting Mr. and Mrs. Frost with a lovely reading lamp before their removal to Toronto. Mr. Frost has taught the Salem public school for the past three years and both Mr. and Mrs. Frost have taken part in church work both in the Sunday school and church and their help was sincerely appreciated by the community.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, August 14. — Monday's cattle market closed with a slight decline amounting to 50 cents a hundred on heavy steers and 25 cents on all other grades of butchers. There are 1,800 stale cattle added to Tuesday's fresh receipts. Trading was very dull during the morning, with only a few butcher cows moving. Cow prices were steady at 6 to 8 dollars a hundred, according to quality, but buyers were still bearing down on steers especially of the weighty kind. Store cattle prices were firm under a small supply. Light stockers brought 7 to 8 cents a hundred, with some good feeding steers up to $9.65.

Calves sold at steady to strong prices with a good demand from exporters for the better grade. Choice calves bought 15 to 15½ with medium at 12 to 14½. Grass calves moved slowly at 6½ to 7.

The hogs supply was again very light, but there was no further price advance. Early sales were at Monday's level, of $13 75 f.o.b. for select or at $15.50 off cars. Select hogs off trucks sold at $14.50.

The lamb trade opened slowly with salesmen holding for higher prices. Packers' bids were steady with Monday's at 14½ for best ewes and wethers.

TORONTO, August 14. — Trading on the local wholesale butter market yesterday was unchanged from that of Monday, and prices held steady in all grades. The trade was quiet but steady, and local dealers were of the opinion that a firm future was to be expected, although there was little prospect of an immediate advance in prices. No .1 creamery was quoted at 39 cents per pound and the No. 2 grade at from 37 to 38 cents per pound.

Egg prices were stronger in trading on the wholesale market yesterday, and there was not enough eggs to supply the demand in evidence. A substantial amount of competition appears to be existing between the Toronto and Montreal markets, and this had a buoyant effect on prices. In addition to this there were no eggs arriving locally from the West, and it was stated that the Coast demand was using all that were available at the present time. Prices firmed from 1 to 2 cents per dozen and local dealers were quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered and cases returned, as follows: Fresh extras, 37 cents per dozen; fresh firsts, 35 cents per dozen; fresh seconds, 23 cents per dozen.

The local wholesale cheese market was quiet yesterday, with prices maintaining the Monday advance and the No. 1 large colored, paraffined and Government-graded product selling at 18 cents per pound.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.— The local grain market was steady yesterday with no price changes.

The egg market was active with mixed Westerns selling at 35c. for firsts, and 26c. per dozen for seconds, f.o.b., Winnipeg. Ontario fresh sold at 40c. for extras, 37c. for firsts and 25c. per dozen for seconds, f.o.b. Ontario points. Prince Edward Island eggs were sold at 40c. per dozen for extras, f.o.b. Prince Edward Island points. Retail prices wereunchanged. Receipts were 1,531 cases, as compared with 1,257 cases on the same day last week.

The local butter market was quiet, with prices unchanged. Receipts were 48 boxes, compared with 758 boxes on the same day last week.

The cheese market was also quiet, with prices unchanged. Receipts were 8,707 boxes, compared with 11,416 on the same day of last week.

There were no changes in potato prices.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14. — Broadening out of export demand for North American wheat, together with fresh complaints relative to the Southern Hemisphere crop outlook, sent wheat values climbing yesterday. However, profit-taking on a large scale led afterward to price set-backs. It was estimated that 2,000,000 bushels of United States and Canadian wheat was bought yesterday for shipment to Europe.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular at 5-8c net decline to 1 1-8c off, and provisions varying from 40c drop to a rise of 2c.

Emphasizing the market effect of big European purchases of domestic and Canadian wheat yesterday were advices that Argentine rains had proven to be inadequate to afford complete relief from drought, and that a similar situation is apparent in Australia. Despatches at hand said the Provinces of Entre Rios, Cordoba and Sante Fe, Argentina, had received only showers, and that in Cordoba, especially wheat is suffering from drought. Other reports contained news that even with perfect weather from now on the three Eastern Provinces of Australia cannot raise more than half a normal crop.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14.—Following an opening advance of 2⅛c to 3¼c, the wheat market yesterday slumped sharply around mid-session, all gains being wiped out and fractional losses marked up. Trading was light and featureless, and final quotations were 1-8c lower to 3-8c higher for the day Strength at Liverpool was responsible for the early upturn, but the overseas market was soon ignored by traders and the weakness set in.

Weather conditions in the West had no effect on the trading. Cooler conditions prevailed on the Prairies Monday, and rains were reported in grain-growing sections of Manitoba.

All grades of cash wheat were in good demand at prices generally unchanged to 1c higher than the previous close.

Coarse grain trading was dull and featureless. Oats, barley and flax recorded losses, but rye scored fractional gains.

Cables from London reported that a good export business in all grades of wheat from No. 3 Northern to No. 6 wheat was expected.

SANTE FE EXPRESS DERAILED

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 13. (C.P.)—A main line eastbound Santa Fe train was derailed 20 miles east of here early to-day. The first reports said three pullman cars on the train had overturned, and a number of passengers had been slightly injured, but so far as was known none had been killed.

OBITUARY

CHARLES VEALS

(Examiner Correspondence)

OMEMEE, Aug. 14.—There passed away early Friday morning, an aged resident of the district in the person of Charles Gilland Veals, following a lingering illness. The deceased was a highly respected citizen and had resided on his farm about two miles west of Omemee for a number of years. His wife whose maiden name was Kathleen Herbert, predeceased him a year ago last November.

He leaves to mourn his passing, four sons: William C. on the homestead, Rev. B. Veals of Hamilton, Rev. John of Magnetawan and Howard of China, now home on furlough, also two daughters, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan and Miss Alice at home.

The funeral which was held on Sunday from his late residence was largely attended. Interment took place in Emily cemetery. In the absence of his pastor, Rev. Holmes of Lindsay, a former pastor, Rev. Mr. Cooney, of Toronto, assisted by Rev. P. B. Thornton conducted the service at the house and later at the grave.

The pallbearers were his four sons and Messrs. S. D. Vaughan and A. C. Veals of Franklin.

CAR TURNS TURTLE.

Occupants Escape With Slight Injuries in Accident on Trent River Road.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Aug. 14.—Sunday evening a sedan turned turtle on Trent river road just south of the culvert near Maple Grove cemetery. The occupants of the car, three ladies escaped serious injury, suffering only slight bruises. The lady driver who was unfamiliar with the road, crowded over too close to the edge in making way for a car coming in the opposite direction and the car slid into the ditch which at that point is rather steep. A crowd collected and a number of men, soon succeeded in getting the car back on the road. The damage was slight and it was able to proceed forward under its own power.

MEXICO FOLLOWS THORNTON'S PLAN FOR NATIONAL RAILWAYS

President Portes Gil Asked To Adopt Suggestions of C. N. Chief.

JOB FOR CALLES.

(Special to Examiner. Copyright, 1929.)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14. — Plans for the reorganization of the National Railways of Mexico, drawn up by Sir Henry Thornton, Canadian National Railways chief, as a result of his inspection of the Mexican railways system two years ago, upon the invitation of the Mexican Government, figured prominently in discussions at the concluding session here of the Transport Commissions' convention.

President Portes Gil will be asked to expedite the reorganization of the railways, and in so doing, to take into consideration Sir Henry's suggestions, the essence of which was the taking of the system out of the Government's hands, thus giving the lines complete independence with a view to placing the roads on their feet financially.

Engineer Peimbert, representing the Minister of Finance, declared that it was unfortunate that Sir Henry had left Mexico hurriedly before he had completed his study of the system, but added that the Canadian railway chief fortunately had made suggestions which offered practical solution to the problem the Mexican nation faced in regard to its national railways.

Sir Henry's recommendation that the board of directors be reduced to three, "one of whom should be always travelling, another always sick, and the third always working," was made much of in the final sessions discussions.

Ex-President Calles had been appointed to undertake the reorganization of the railways, and has stated that Sir Henry's plan will figure prominently in his scheme.

Although nothing has been officially announced or given out regarding the matter from Government sources, it is stated here that the Mexican Government looks with considerable favor upon the suggestions for placing the lines on their feet, suggested by Sir Henry.

It is believed that Calles will more than likely take into consideration Sir Henry's plans when he returns from Europe and begins reorganization work, which is one of the greatest problems facing the Mexican nation.

While Sir Henry made but a brief study of the national railways—he was in Mexico only about twenty days and his suggestions were not concerned with technical phases of the problem—his plans are deemed apparently workable in well-informed circles here.

park or pushed in front of a horse or motorcycle.

Men, women and children scurried to the roadway where they were met by a solid stream of motor cars which made crossing impossible. They jostled one another on the curb with the police behind and the packed roadway in front until officers stopped the stream of cars and hustled the frightened pedestrians through.

Seven Arrested

Seven arrests were made, six men being taken into custody at the park, and a woman arrested near the stockyards. She is alleged to have been distributing Communist literature to factory workers.

Five of the men held were charged with disorderly conduct and allowed bail of $200 to appear in police court tomorrow morning. The woman was charged with vagrancy. The sixth man, a newspaper reporter, was held following a scuffle with a police officer at Queen's Park.

Officials of the Communist Party gathered at their headquarters after the disturbance and decided to continue their protests until they achieved "recognition of their rights of free speech."

Stewart Smith, son of A. E. Smith, Acting General Secretary of the party, attempted to speak at Queen's Park and was one of the men arrested.

Several members of the Communist Party exhibited minor bruises. Macdonald said he had been "kicked and beaten by paincloth esmen a dozen times." He said he had no chance to defend himself.

No Reports of Injury

Chief Constable Draper said he had had no reports of injury to peaceful citizens.

"These Communists are simply playing for publicity," he said. "The police are in a very unfortunate position. We are here simply to enforce the law and protect the citizens."

He was asked concerning reports that Macdonald had been beaten, and replied that Macdonald had been personally warned by an inspector.

"The inspector warned him that he could not go on the platform," Chief Constable Draper added. "He attempted to speak just the same. If a man persists in wrong doing he must be stopped." He said every precaution had been taken to avoid violence and that he had the highest respect for the manner in which the crowd had been handled.

HOLSTEIN BULL BOUGHT FOR $1.50 MAY BE WORTH AMERICAN CHAMPION

REGINA, August 14. — The thoroughbred horse rescued from the glue factory to win a classic Derby has provided the excuse for more than one Hollywood movie. But Saskatchewan can more than tie that with a seven-year-old pure-bred bull that was saved from the butcher's block to win championships at the largest fair in Western Canada the first time he was placed in the show ring.

The animal was purchased for $150 by S. P. Rogan, a 24-year-old dairyman of Fort San. Although he had never exhibited his live stock at a show before, he was so impressed with his acquisition Gano Paul Bruce, that he decided to enter the bull in the Regina Provincial Exhibition this year. There it competed with some of the finest Holsteins on the continent, and was adjudged the best animal of its class in the province.

True, the open championship was carried off by a bull from New Brunswick, but there were many who said that Rogan could have won that award, too, but for inexperience in fitting animals for the show ring.

The live stock men of the province are urging the youthful exhibitor to send Gano Paul Bruce to Toronto for the Royal Winter Fair. It is expected he will do so.

Western Canadian breeders declare that, properly fitted, Gano Paul Bruce, in spite of his seven years, will defeat any other Holstein bull on the North American continent.

Bears Put Crimp in Leafs' Pennant Aspirations

"DOC" PRUETT HOLDS LEAFS TO SIX HITS

Toronto International League Club Drops 5-0 Decision To Newark.

ROYALS WIN FIRST.

NEWARK, August 14 (Canadian Press). — The medical profession was too much here yesterday for the Toronto Maple Leafs, who went down before the Newark Bears by a score of 5 to 0.

Dr. Hubert Pruett, spinning the best slow pills in his medicine chest, held the Canadians to six hits. But he was not exactly alone in putting a crimp in the pennant aspirations of Steve O'Neill and his charges.

ROYALS WIN IN 12TH.

JERSEY CITY, August 14 (Canadian Press).— Montreal won the first game of the series here yesterday by 7 to 5, when they got the deciding marker in the twelfth inning. Henry broke up the long session when he connected for three bases and scored on Haints' sacrifice fly to Kunesch. Conley also tripled and scored, while Hopkins tossed out Urbanski.

RED WINGS BEAT ORIOLES.

BALTIMORE, August 14 (Canadian Press). — The Rochester Red Wings gained first blood on the "crucial" series with the Orioles by winning 8-4 here yesterday. The Birds got to Irvin for four runs when Loepp cleaned the sacks with a homer in the sixth, but Littlejohn held them safely thereafter.

The Wings started with a four-run rush in the opening frame on three hits, one of which was "Rip" Collins' thirty-second four-base clout of the season.

A'S INCREASE LEAGUE LEAD

Take 4-3 Victory From Tigers While Yankees Lose To Cleveland.

BOSTON DOWNS SOX.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 14—(Canadian Press).—The Athletics closed their final series of the season in Detroit with a 4-3 victory yesterday. The triumph gave the leaders three out of four in the series and increased their lead to twelve and one-half games as the Yankees lost to Cleveland. This is the greatest margin the Macks have had at any time this season.

WIN IN NINTH

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Johnny Hodapp's triple with two on in the ninth inning gave the Indians a 3-to-2 victory over the Yankees in the final game of the series here yesterday and enabled the tribe to make it three out of four.

"Lefty" Heimach held Cleveland to four hits in the first eight innings while Wes Terrell, young Cleveland right-hander, held the visitors to seven hits and won his twelfth victory of the season.

BOSTON DOWNS WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Big Ed Morris stopped the White Sox yesterday, and Boston won the final of the series 8 to 2, to take three out of four and five out of the last seven with the Comiskey team.

CHICAGO VICTORY INCREASES LEAD

Pace-making Cubs Rally To Take 4-2 Decision From Braves.

BOSTON, August 14 (Canadian Press). — While the runner-up Pirates were idle in Brooklyn, the pace-making Cubs rallied here yesterday to defeat the Braves by 4 to 2 in the final clash of the series. The victory gave the Cubs the series by three games to one and stretched their margin over the Buccaneers to eight and one-half games.

REDS TROUNCED BY CINCINNATI

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 14 (Canadian Press). — Fred Fitzsimmons' mastery of the Reds was ended here yesterday when the Cincinnati team won by 3 to 1 to take the odd decision in five. Fitzsimmons had defeated the Reds five times this season, four of the games being won by the shut-out route.

WATERFOWL CENSUSES.

SEVENTY-FIVE WOME N LIKELY TO ENTER SWIM

It is expected that seventy-five young women will start in the ten-mile marathon for women at the Canadian National Exhibition, Friday, August 23rd. The cut ABOVE shows the eight who have the best chance of defeating Miss Ethel Hertle of New York, last year's winner, who is a pronounced favorite to repeat. No. 1, is Miss Martha Norelius of New York and Virginia, one of the greatest amateur swimmers the world ever knew, who recently turned pro. after being suspended and is considered to have the best chance of defeating Miss Hertle. Miss Norelius has never yet gone the distance, but at short distance she was unbeatable in amateur ranks. No. 2, is Jewel Cheatwood of Toronto, who swam last year, but did not get into the money. She is much improved this year. No. 3 is Leah Riley of New York, a 17-year-old youngster, who, on her amateur form may provide one of the big surprises of the race. No. 4 is Olive Gatterdam of Seattle, who was the sensation of last year's race when she emerged from swimming obscurity to finish second to Miss Hertle. No. 5 is Geraldine Widmer, also of Seattle, a newcomer to these swims. No. 6 is Anne Benoit, who finished fourth in last year's swim. No. 7 is Mrs. George H. Corsan, Jr., nee Ruth Tower, who finished third in last year's swim. No. 8 is Doris Beresford, a 16-year-old Toronto girl who is the native Canadian hope. Miss Beresford only broke into the pro. game at the Campbellford swim where she was the third girl to finish. She showed unexpected class and is considered to have a real chance to get in the money, even in the face of the strong opposition provided by the best girl swimmers of America.

KIWANIS JUNIORS LOSE FIRST GAME TO BELLEVILLE MOOSE

Fixture Marked By Heavy Hitting and Frequent Errors For Both Teams.

FINAL COUNT 10-8.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., August 14 (Special to The Examiner). — In a listless exhibition of baseball the Belleville Junior Moose team took a fall out of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club here last night in the first round of the Junior O.B.A.A. playdowns. The score was 10 to 8, with the locals on the long end when Umpire Colling of Belleville called the pastime as the two clubs were about to enter the seventh inning. There was little interest attached to the game, and the handful of spectators who witnessed the affair appeared to be little enthused over the ultimate result. The game was marked by plenty of hitting, frequent errors, and in fact it was featured by ragged work on the part of both teams.

Belleville have now reached the first rung of the climb in the O.B.A.A. junior play-offs, and in order to enter the next round they must defeat the Petes in the return fixture. Cripps pitched practically the whole game for the Kiwanis, and was wild and ineffective during the early stages. Crary was rushed into the fray in the last frame, and the locals scored but one run off his delivery. Cripps walked seven batters while he struck out six, but the Belleville club bunched their hits well, nicking him for seven bingles. He was in trouble continually due to errors on the part of his team mates and his own wildness.

Ab Young twirled for Belleville, and he, too, was threatened with disaster several times although he managed to weather the storm. With to runs on the bases which would have tied the score in the sixth frame, Young fanned the last two batters to face him. It was the only redeeming feature of the hole engagement.

In all, thirteen errors were committed by both teams and paved the way for most of the runs. Young fanned ten batters and walked four. Lionel Blaker, stellar first baseman with the Moose team, was forced out of the game when he twisted a ligament sliding into third base. He was replaced by Darragh.

Belleville Opens Scoring.

Belleville opened the scoring early when they counted five runs in the first inning. Barriage started by singling, while Peets, who followed him, walked. Mott fanned, but Blaker promptly singled. Young, who batted next, doubled, clearing the bases, while Darragh got a life on Cripps' error. Jenkinson fanned, but McKinnon walked and a run was forced home. Morgan doubled, scoring two more runs.

Belleville grabbed another brace in the second. Peets struck out, but Mott drew a walk and Blaker drove out his second hit, a long double. Young was safe on Cripps' error and Mott counter. Jenkinson walked, as did McKinnon, and another run was forced home. Morgan fanned to end the inning. The Moose, not content with the early lead, let fire with both barrels in the third frame and added another brace. Barriage struck out, but Peets went down on Weir's error. Mott gained first on Gordon's miscue, and Darragh pounded out a double, scoring both of them. The last two batters were out on infield grounders. Belleville scored their tenth run in the sixth when Darragh was safe on Hartley's error. Young walked, but E. Darragh struck out. "Moose" Darragh however, sounded the tocsin on an overthrow.

The Petes scored one in the third when Hope walked and counted on Barriage's error. In the fourth they hammered the ball hard and often, and six runs resulted. Starr opened by singling, while Austin walked. Holland singled sharply, and Saunders went down on four balls. Starr was forced home. Cripps went out at first but another run scored, and while Hope was being thrown out by the shortstop, the Petes added another. Weir was safe on Morgan's error, and Saunders went home on the play. Hartley and Gordon both singled, and the former, by pretty base running, reached home. Starr, batting for the second time in the same frame, fanned. Peets' error gave the Kiwanis their last run in the fifth when Austin was safe, scoring on Saunders' single.

Jack Baird, sterling third baseman for the Bridgenorth Wildcats and Lefty Connors, catcher for the same aggregation, and one of the outstanding men behind the bat in the Softball League, suffered painful injuries at the twilight game last night on the Central School diamond, between the Harrisons and Bridgenorth teams, which were tied for first place.

The accident occurred in the first half of the third innings, when Green, at bat for Harrisons, popped a short one between home and third. Connors and Baird both travelled at top speed for the put out, when they collided with terrific force, knocking both players out. The impact of the two bodies hitting was heard all over the field as they struck each other.

Dr. D. W. Clark was called and attended the injured players, after which they were removed to their homes. He refused to make any comment on their condition, Baird being hurt about the mouth and Connors' head was badly injured. The exact extent of their injuries will not be known for a day or two.

MEXICAN DAM FINISHED BY CANADIAN COMPANY

Will Aid Irrigation of Over 100,000 Acres in Michoacan and Guanajuate.

START HYDRO PLANT.

Supply Electrical Energy and Transit Facilities To Mexico's Southwestern States.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14.—A Canadian concern, the Mexican Light and Power Co., which has its head office in Toronto, has completed work on a dam, forms part of one of the most important combined hydro-electric and irrigation undertakings in North Amereica. The Company and Mexican national irrigation commission are co-operating in the project, which will represent an investment of about 20,000,000 pesos ($10,000,000), on the part of the company, and about 5,000,000 pesos ($2,500,000) by the Mexican government.

The dam is on the Orma river, near the town of Tepuxtepec in the State of Michoacan. The work has created an artificial lake about 11,000 acres in extent, and it impounds 500,000,000 cubic meters of water. From this lake the Mexican government intends to irrigate an arid tract of more than 100,000 acres in the States of Mishoacan and Guanajuato, thereby making available for farming purposes another extensive area of the republic. Michoacan adjoins the State of Mexico on the west and extends to the Pacific seaboard, while Guanajuato lies northwest of the capital.

More than 2,000 men, many of them Canadians and Englishmen, were employed on the dam and are now working on an electric power house nearby. Energy from the dam will be used by the Southwestern Light and Power Co. of Mexico, a subsidiary of the Mexican Light and Power Co., to operatee light, power and transit facilities in the southwestern states of the republic.

The dam had its inception during the administration of President Calles, who was desirous of solving the two-fold problem of the flood protection and irrigation in the valley of the Lerma river.

NORTH ENDERS AGAIN VICTORS

Grocers Defeat the Bridgenorth Wildcats in Exhibition Softball Tilt.

PLAYERS INJURED.

Harrisons took an exhibition softball game from the Bridgenorth Wildcats to the tune of 8-6 last night at Central School Grounds. Although the Wildcats had a makeshift team after the first of the third innings they gave the Grocery Boys a close run for their money.

The game was scheduled to be a regular fixture, but when Baird and Connors for the Cats were knocked out in the third frame, and Delahey of the Westclox team took charge of the second sack for the Bridgenorthers, the game automatically went to Harrisons, but it did not effect the play-off standing of the League leaders as the North-Enders and the Cats are far enough out in front of the rest of the League to assure them of being in the finals, and the game last night meant only the decision of the League leaders but not the winners of the group.

Shearer, after the accident in the third innings which put Baird and Connors out of the game, went into right field; Baker went behind the plate; Delahey went to second; Weese took over third, and Galbraith went into left field for a shifted Bridgenorth team, which after it stepped onto the field in the last of the third, nicked Harrisons for five runs to tie the score.

Line-up:

Bridgenorth—G. Dormer, ss; H. Dormer, 1b; Galbraith, rf, lf; Weese, 2b, 3b; Gillespie, cf; Baker, lf, c; Shearer, rf; Baird, 3b; Delahey, 2b; Connors, c; Forsythe, p.

Score by innings:

Harrisons	0230201—8
Bridgenorth	0050001—6

Umpires—Ranger, Delahey and Mahood.

There will be no soccer game on Wednesday evening owing to the working conditions in the respective plants.

On Saturday afternoon the replayed cup tie game between Brinton A.A. and Canadian Packing will be played on King Edward Park. Kick off at 3 o'clock. Referee A. Aitkenhead.

A formal notice was handed to the vice-president calling for a general meeting to be held in Chamber of Commerce rooms on Monday next, Aug. 19th, at 8 p.m., to elect directors to the vacancies of those who have not attended and others who have left the city. A financial statement will be submitted by the secretary.

Browns Collect 20 Hits To Defeat Senators 14-2

ST. LOUIS, Mo., August 14 (Canadian Press).—The St. Louis Browns pounded three Washington pitchers yesterday for 20 hits, including several for extra bases, and won the final game of the series, 14 to 2, for the Browns' only victory in the four-game set. Ogden allowed the visitors 11 hits, but kept them fairly well scattered.

GRAFTONS WIN BY BIG SCORE

HEAVY SLUGGING.

MARMORA, Aug. 14 (Examiner Correspondence). — Deloro Bantams were privileged to play their first game on Tuesday against an outside team and the question of how they would fare against the more experienced Graftons of Peterborough was settled by the home team losing by 24 to 1. For the first innings only did the Deloro boys make any stand. Afterwards, the larger lads did much as they pleased even when three of heavier build were allowed to reinforce Jules Ethlier's bantams. The game was a revelation to local ball fans of what an organized bantam team can be. Many of the Grafton's showed promise of being worthy acquisition to the intermediate teams of Peterborough if they continue to sojourn in the city. A return game will be played at Peterborough as soon as it can be arranged satisfactorily.

Teams were:

Grafton's.—O. McCullough, 1b; C. Cadd, c; G. Braund, lf; H. Mowry, rf; O. Graig, 3b; R. Routley, 2b; G. Jay, ss; H. Frost, cf; R. Clark, p; K. Hetherington, cf; J. English, rf; Patterson, 3b.

Deloro.—J. Rice, c; J. O'Neill, lf; W. Simmons, 1b; R. Loveless, 2b; P. Gray, ss; G. Stewart, 3b; E. Gray, rf; J. Reynolds, cf; V. Callery, p; L. Paquet, cf; F. Callery, G. O'Neil.

Umpires—W. Kerr at plate; F. Leal on bases.

PICTORIAL GOLF

TOO MUCH PIVOT DETRIMENTAL TO DRIVE.

There is such a thing as overdoing the golf pivot. When we swing around too far the chances are ten to one that there has been a broken rhythm or a false movement somewhere along the line, most likely at the impact.

The body, after it has performed its duty of helping the arms in the follow-through, need be asked to do no more. Any extra twist or turn cannot help the little ball that has been dispatched on its way.

The head is held down too long sometimes, which is also quite unnecessary. This only prevents the upper part of the body, particularly the right shoulder, from coming through.

"Sid" Farrar, Famous Ball Player, Reaches 70; Daug hter, Geraldine and Old-timers At Party

RIDGEFIELD, Conn., Aug 10 Sidney Farrar, idol of baseball fans a half century ago, when the game was young, celebrated his seventieth birthday here Saturday surrounded by those he loved best—his famous daughter, Geraldine, and old cronies of his diamond days.

The celebration was informal and jolly, and much of it revolved around his daughter, star of the opera and the concert stage, who was her father's comrade when she was a little girl and is no less so to-day. Miss Farrar returned from Europe late last month for the specific purpose of helping her father celebrate his birthday.

Their comradeship dates back to her childhood in Melrose, Mass., where her father kept a store in the Winter months, faring forth every Spring to play ball with the Philadelphia National League team, for a star's wage—in those days—of $5 a game.

Miss Farrar started the celebration of her father's birthday at noon with a luncheon at her home, attended by members of the family and a few close friends. Saturday afternoon they returned to Thirty Acres, where a reception was held.

There were about seventy-five guests and many of them were ball players of "Sid" Farrar's own day, and big league officials. There was music and dancing in the garden.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"SYNCOPATION" A MELODIOUS MOVIE! AMAZING TALKING! SINGING! PLAYING! EXTRAVAGANZA OF THE SCREEN OPENS AT THE CAPITOL TO-MORROW.

Marking a New Era in Screen Entertainment, "Syncopation" a 100% Talking Picture with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, will burst forth from The Capitol Screen To-morrow in a Veritable Fountain of Golden Melody.

"Syncopation" has been billed as an extravaganza by the producers, the first great musi-film review ever to be made ,an effort to produce what is actually a full blown musical show in film form. And the result is a rousing, roaring scoring success, making another step forward in the realm of perfect entertainment.

The synchronization was accomplished by the Photophone process of RCA which records sound on film.

Aside from the technical aspects which are striking in their results, "Syncopation" first of the new Radio pictures, is a genuinely sparkling musi-comedy success. The stars sparkle, the jazz melodies of Fred Waring's famed Pennsylvanians scintillate, the songs melt the heart and a number of them are real hits. In addition there are all the accoutrements and embellishments of an extravaganza in the specialty musical numbers, the peppy dancers and the sparkling repartee.

And just as you leave a musical show humming the song hits so will you go away humming that haunting theme melody, "I'll Always Be in Love with You," and some of the other original hits written for this show which include, "Jericho", "Do Something", and others.

"Syncopation," which was adapted from Gene Markey's novel, "Stepping High" is a gripping heart interest tale of Broadway hoofers that doesn't despise the tear while it inveigles the hearty laugh from its lair.

KIWANIS HANDED SURPRISE AT BELLEVILLE.

The unexpected occurred in Belleville yesterday when the Quinte Moose team slipped it over the Kiwanis team, local champs, in the first game of the first round in the Junior O.B.A.A. playdowns 10 to 8. Jack Deannard's outfit had previously swamped the Quinte hopefuls in two exhibition games, and something must have slipped to cause their defeat yesterday. The report of the game indicates that it was a poor brand of ball, and this is unusual for the Kiwanis.

The return game will be played here on Saturday. If the Kiwanis play as they did to win over the Lockworks, they will win the next game and the series.

THREE IN TIE FOR SECOND PLACE IN C.O.B.I.

With Oshawa, Deloro and the Petes all tied for second place in the Central League and only four games left to be played anything may happen. The Petes are slated to play in Oshawa to-day, and if they can pull a win they will be off to grip second place.

There will be no game here on Saturday, the Petes playing in Deloro. There are still two home games with Belleville to be played.

THE LIVELY BALL.

Baseball is not the only pastime in which the ball comes in for discussion. Over in England there has been so much heavy batting in cricket that it is felt that something should be done to aid the bowlers, who have been at the mercy of the batters.

Several suggestions have been made as to how the bowlers could be given a better chance, one being that the seams on the ball be heavier so that the bowlers can get a better grip on it.

It doesn't make much difference how long they use one ball in cricket, while in baseball a new ball is put into play every few minutes. Absorb this alarming situation in cricket, as it is expressed by one commentator: "So long as the bowler can get a grip on the ball he is liable to take a wicket. At present the seam is pretty well worn away by the time 150 runs have been scored. Slightly harder twisted twine might do the trick, and make all the difference.

BRITISH EMPIRE GAMES IN CANADA, 1930.

As a result of a meeting held in Montreal this week, definite plans have been made concerning the long-proposed British Empire games. The games will be held in Hamilton during the week August 16 to 23, 1930. The games will consist of athletics, rowing, wrestling, boxing, tennis and swimming. It was also decided to stage international competition in lawn bowling, yachting, speed boat racing, trap shooting and canoeing. Rugby and soccer will be added to the program if desired by the respective governing bodies.

Hamilton is the greatest centre of athletics in Canada and the Ambitious City, if any place can, will put over this very ambitious program. A national committee, headed by an old Varsity Rugby player and a good sportsman, E. W. Beatty, K. C., president of the C. P. R.

ENGLISH RUGBY GAINING GROUND.

English rugby may soon be played by a Dominion-wide union. In the West, especially in British Columbia, "rugger" has been one of the greatest games. Recently a league has been developed in Toronto, which is attracting ever-widening interest. In the Maritimes it has been played in the schools and colleges for more than fifty years.

A conference has been called for Winnipeg at which Ontario will be represented and plans will be made for the formation of the interprovincial union.

BIG FIELD AT DALHOUSIE SWIM.

The Pritchard brothers, Lyle Huggard, Martha Norenus, and over fifty other noted swimmers, are to-day competing in the Port Dalhousie one mile swims this afternoon. This is just a sprint race, and George Young, Ernst Vierkoetter and Byron Summers are not entered.

A despatch from Toronto stated shortly after the race at Campbellford, that the Pritchard boys were not going to enter the C. N. E. swim. The two declared definitely at Campbellford that their names were already on the list and that they would most assuredly particiticipate. The question is, are they merely speedsters or can they withstand the cold water and stand up under the fifteen-mile grind. All who saw them perform at Campbellford will say that they have a swimming form that eats up the distance and delights the eye with its free, almost effortless perfection.

And if you don't believe it, take a run out to the course some time and listen.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

WE LIVE AND LEARN.

When Uncle Abner used to say:
"We're goin' ter have a rain
When I was pitchin' hay to-day
My knees begun to pain."
I quickly turned away because,
Though I was young in years
I felt convinced my Uncle was Too soft between the ears.

When Aunt Eliza would remark
In shrill prophetic tones:
"The snow'll be three foot deep by dark,
I feel it in my bones."
My head I smilingly inclined,
But did not deign to speak;
I thought that the old lady's mind
Was getting rather weak.

But now a scientist maintains—
And proves it, if you please—
That changing weather does cause pains
In people's arms and knees.
And when they say: "It's goin' to snow
Or mebbe sleet to-night,
My legs is achin', so I know"
They usually are right.

To-day I frequently deplore
My children's want of tact
They've got to doubting, more and more
That I state only fact.
But well those scientific chaps
Their work have gone about,
And in a few more years, perhaps
My kids will just find out!

JUST A SIDE STUNT.

Lindbergh has found a long lost Maya city, which to our mind is nothing like as remarkable as finding Paris.

TOTAL EXTINCTION.

It is suggested that small cars be built with which to cross busy streets. That would be the last step in the inevitable snuffing out of the pedestrian.

A REAL PERIL.

For a time the drought seemed so menacing that it was feared New York would have nothing to drink but Scotch.

WALKER MATCH ON TO-DAY'S PROGRAM

Dull Weather Marks Third Day of Rifle Association Prize Meet.

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES Ont., August 14 (Canadian Press). —Dull weather marked the third day of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize meet now going on here. Early this morning a fairly high nine o'clock wind was blowing across the ranges, and conditions were not very good.

To-day's program calls for the second and final range of the Walker match. The first range, 300 yards was fied yesterday, and to-day's 600 yards contest is now going on. No results of the first range were issued The Macdonald Brier match, which will also be fired to-day, is one of the richest and most important. It carries with it a challenge shield for teams and money prizes aggregating $1,185 presented by the Macdonald Tobacco Company. In addition there are D.C.R.A. silver and bronze medals for the two highest individuals, besides large cash prizes.

The final match on to-day's agenda is the Harold Borden Memorial and individual and team prize event.

The 48th Highlanders, Toronto, won the Aylmer-Gard Cup, team competition held in connection with the Banker match yesterday, according to results issued this morning. Second place went to the Toronto Regiment, and Canadian Scottish, Victoria, B.C., took third. The Highlanders scored 383 at 200 and 600 yards, Toronto 380, and Canadian Scottish 377. Seaforth Highlanders won the event last year with 379.

Calgary High School Cadets won the Victoria Rifles of Canada Trophy, awarded to the team making the highest aggregate scores at 500 and 600 yards in the "5649," Macdonald and Banker matches. The Westerners scored 425. Princess Louise Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, Hamilton, were second with 422.

COTTON FIGHT IN THIRD WEEK

Workers Remain Firm in Stand Refusing To Start Work With Reduction.

Master Spinners Arbitrate.

MANCHESTER Eng'and, August 14 Canadian Press Cable). — Although the situation in the cotton dispute has been much improved as a result of agreement by the master spinners to accept the principle of arbitration authoritative circles believe settlement is still a long way off. Meanwhile half a million workers throughout Lancashire are nearing the end of their third workless week firm in refusing to start work under the 12½ per cent. reductions in wages announced by the employers on July 29.

Sir Horace Wilson, Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Labor a leading figure in the constant conferences, is unable to decide whether or not he can sail on Friday for Canada to join Right Hon. J. Foreign Players Still In Running

RYE, N.Y., Aug. 14 (C.P.) — Three players from foreign lands, Gilbert Nunns of Toronto, and H. W. (Bunny) Austin and J. S. Oliff of England remained in the running to-day for singles honors of the annual Eastern grass court tennis championships.

UMPIRE INJURED IN RIOT AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 14—Joseph Rue, American Association umpire, is in a hospital here suffering from concussion of the brain received in a free-for-all fist fight at Nell Park late yesterday during the ninth inning of a Columbus-Milwaukee game.

A pop bottle thrown when spectators rushed from the stands when Plate Umpire Larry Goetz ordered the Columbus bench cleared of all players except those actually in the game is believed to have caused Rue's injury.

Joe Carr, baseball magnate, stopped a flying fist with his jaw and several other unidentified persons were cut and bruised before police could quell the spectators.

Goetz ordered the Columbus bench cleared after he charged that some of the players were "razzing" him because he had ordered a Columbus player from the game.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR MARATHON

Fourteen Women and Forty Men Entered in Port Dalhousie Swim.

MANY RENOWNED STARS.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Increasing cloudiness, betokening a possible thunderstorm and a fair southerly breeze, blowing inshore, promise that the two mile swim of Wrigley aspirants at Lakeside Park, Port Dalhousie to-day, should be ideal from the spectators' standpoint. The triangular course is off the west pier and the entry list remains at 14 women with an even forty men; Allan Clark, St. Catherines, being the only post entry. His sister, Alma, is in the ladies class.

The former event is scheduled for 1.30 p.m. and the latter at 5.15.

Renowned stars are: Martha Norelius; Ethel Hertle, who was last year's winner; Anna Beniot, and the Widmer twins

In the men's section, the Pritchard and Sadlo Brothers, Lyle Hubbard, Mathias Adler, Biondo and Tommy Walker are favored to show in front.

GLADIOLUS SHOW NEXT SATURDAY

C. G. E. Horticultural Society To Hold Display At Heintzman Hall.

The C. G. E. Horticultural society which has enjoyed consistent success since its birth last spring, will hold the first annual gladiolus display at the Heintzman Hall, Hunter Street, on Saturday next.

About the fifteenth of May this society distributed 600 bulbs among the ninety odd members who were instructed to plant the bulbs between May 21 and 24. The collection consisted of five varieties which are known only to the officers of the club who are not eligible for the competition. These men found it very difficult to set a date for the competition that would afford each member a fair chance, due to soil conditions.

There will be four prizes for each of the five varieties and special prizes will be given for the best individual spike exhibited by any member of the society regardless of where the bulbs were procured.

No entry charge will be made and the competition is open only to members of the C. G. E. Horticultural society. All spikes for entry must be at the Heintzman Hall between 1:30 p. m. and 3 p. m. on Saturday, August 17. The flowers displayed will remain the property of the society.

Judges will be Fred Hall and Harry Carter.

Prizes for First Annual Gladiolus Display

First, second, third and fourth prizes will be given for each of the five varieties of gladiolus distributed by the society. The value of the prizes will be as follows:

First prize, value $2; second prize, value, $1.50; third prize, value $1; fourth prize, value 50c.

Special Prize

For the members who wish to display spikes from other varieties than those distributed by the C. G. E. Horticultural society, special prizes will be given for the best single spike of any variety regardless of where bulbs were procured. There will be a first, second, third and fourth prize in this competition.

The judges for the show will be Mr. Fred Hall and Mr. Harry Carter.

There will be no entry charge made. Only members of the C. G. E. Horticultural Society way enter. All spikes for entry must be at the Heintzman Hall between 1:30 p. m. and 3:00 p. m. on Saturday, Aug. 17, 1929. The spikes displayed will remain the property of the C. G. E. Horticultural society.

YOUNGEST CAPTAIN TRIES ENGINE ROOM

Has Desire to See Which Job Requires Most Work and Brains.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 14 (C. P.)—Captain Thomas Douglas Kelly, 24, of Vancouver, is probably one of the youngest master mariners in the world. And now that he has won his master's papers he is going to quit the quarter-deck and try his hand in the engine room for a while.

"I want to see which job requires the most work and brains", says young Captain Kelly, "the captain's job or that of the chief engineer".

Captain Kelly won his master's papers at the age of 23 and was given command of a deep sea oil tanker last March after spending more than five years at sea in various capacities. Although the youthful navigator has spent most of his life in British Columbia, he was born in Liverpool. He joined the Royal Naval College at Esquimalt in 1920, remaining there until the college was disbanded two years later.

Many players write to ask me how one can tell in advance whether or not there may be a possible squeeze play in a hand, such play consisting of forcing one or both adversaries to discard a winning card, or the guard to what would otherwise be a winning card. When one adversary is so forced, the play is termed a single Squeeze; when both are so forced, it is termed a double Squeeze.

While the possibility of a Squeeze can be frequently foreseen in the early development of a hand, there can be no marked certainty of one until after the adverse holdings have become clearly marked by the play.

Many hands occur in which a Squeeze may be tried for, although not clearly marked. These consist of hands in which a player cannot possibly develop the hand beyond a certain number of tricks in any other way. Consequently precedent to any conscious try for a Squeeze must be the count of the two hands of Declarer and Dummy to determine their limitations beyond which no further tricks can be obtained against perfect defense except by a Squeeze.

Salient Points of the Bidding.

Auction: South bids one No Trump originally rather than making an introductory Club bid, as he has all four suits stopped. Clearly South need not ask partner to bid No Trumps for him, nor does he need further information as to partner's holding before bidding No Trumps, as would be the case had he held a wholly unprotected suit. Following South's one No Trump, all pass.

Contract: South bids two No Trumps originally at Contract, showing all suits stopped of which three are doubly stopped, and at least 4 Quick Tricks which should normally develop 7 Probable Tricks either at No Trumps or in support of a suit bid by partner.

North holds 2 Quick Tricks and therefore the probability of four tricks in all in support of partner's No Trump. Accordingly, he adds his four to the seven shown by South's bid and makes a jump assist to four No Trumps, a clear invitation for a Slam yet an underbid of the full quantitative values held.

South now bids five No Trumps, indicating that he holds 1 Probable Trick in excess of the seven shown originally and in turn inviting a Slam by North if able. North accepts the invitation by going to six No Trumps, his unvalued Queen-Jack of Clubs and high intermediates justifying the second raise to a Small Slam contract.

The Play.

West leads initially his fourth best Club, the 3, which is won by Dummy's Jack. South now stops to count the hand and figures his positive tricks as four Clubs, four Diamonds, three Hearts and one Spade, or 12 in all. Should the adverse Hearts be split 3-3, a rand Slam can be made; or should the Hearts be split 4-2 and the player holding the four Hearts also hold the King of Spades, then thirteen tricks can be made by a Squeeze as such player could not retain both a long Heart and a high Spade since Declarer has 12 solid tricks. Thus the possibility of a Squeeze becomes apparent to Declarer as soon as the Dummy hand is exposed, enabling Declarer to count the two hands.

Accordingly, South plays four rounds of Diamonds after winning the first Club lead with the Jack; then lays down Dummy's Queen of Clubs and the Ace of Spades so as not to block the possibility of establishing his Queen by a subsequent Squeeze. Following this he comes into his own hand with the Ace of Hearts and next lays down the Ace of Clubs.

It will be seen that East has now been forced to make one Spade discard on the fourth Diamond lead and a second Spade discard on the third round of Clubs. He, therefore, is down to the following: Spade King; Heart Jack-Eight-Seven.

For the tenth trick, South lays down the King of Clubs and East is squeezed, forced to discard either his good King of Spades or the guard to what would be a winning Heart.

Thus a Grand Slam, while not soundly biddable, is made by reason of the Squeeze. It will be seen that South put himself in a position either to pick the adverse Hearts at the end, if split 3-3, or to effect the Squeeze should four Hearts and the King of Spades lie in the same hand.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

BULL MARKET IS SLOWING UP

Fears of Another Federal Reserve Brokers' Loan Increase, Inspires Heavy Selling.

CALL MONEY DOWN TO 6.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—The wild "bull" movement, which has been under way in some of the high priced industrials and rails since last Friday's drastic break, showed signs of slowing up to-day under the heavy selling inspired by fears of another large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans this week. A sprinkling of issues, including U. S. Steel Common, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and Consolidated Gas, were whirled up 8 to 16 points, to a new high records in the early trading, but sagged 2½ to 6½ points below their highs in the early afternoon selling movement.

Credit conditions showed signs of further relaxation despite the bullish stock market activity of the last few days. Call money renewed at 7 per cent. as against 8 yesterday, and dropped to 6 in the early afternoon. This was the first time in six weeks that call money has been quoted as low as 6 per cent. Time money rates also were shaded slightly. Meanwhile, London cables announced the shipment of more than $5,000,000 in gold to New York.

STAND. STEEL GAINS 6 POINTS

Trading Is Very Quiet on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

TORONTO, Ont., August 14 (Canadian Press). — Trading was quiet on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, with very little change and activity restricted to a few issues.

Standard Steel was a sharp exception to the narrow range of price changes moving up 10 to 110 and reacting to 106. Among the other activities Brazilian gained 1⅜ to 71¾, Service Stations added a point at 68½, while International Nickel was firm at 52. Under good demand Walker's was steady at 18, as was Ford A at 43. Loblaw B rose 1 to 23, and there were fractional advances in Canada Gypsum at 120 and Steel of Canada at 62½.

On sales of only ten shares Massey-Harris dropped slightly to 57¾, and the wheat group was generally sluggish. Other recessives were Deforest-Crosley, which dropped 2 to 70, Lake Superior 24, and Canada Dredging 66, both of which sold off fractionally. The latter began strongly rising to 67½ in early trading. Oils were firm under fair demand.

REPORTS OF FROST STRENGTHEN WHEAT

After Slow Morning Wheat Takes Upturn On Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 14 (C.P.).—Reports of frost in Canada did a good deal to send wheat prices upward here to-day after downturns at the start. Notable strength which the corn market developed was likewise a factor on the side of higher prices for all grains. Opening ¾c to 1⅛c off, wheat afterward rose sharply above yesterday's finish. Corn started at ½c decline to ¼c advance and subsequently scored rapid general gains. Oats followed corn. Provisions went lower.

MAY GET LARGE INCREASE IN LAKE SHORE DIVIDEND

Operations Provide Promise of Early Bonus On Earnings.

BUY OVERSEAS.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—Substantial bonuses are expected to accompany dividend distribution of Lake Shore on Sept. 15 and Dec. 15, either that or a particularly large distribution on Dec. 15. During 1928 the company paid dividends of 20 cents per share for the first three quarters, while for the last quarter a bonus of 20 cents accompanied the dividend. This year, while earnings have far exceeded the 1928 record, yet the dividend rate of 20 cents quarterly has prevailed. A factor entering into the present situation, of course, is the enlargement this month of about 15 to 20 per cent in mill capacity an dthe further construction to be completed this year which will give the plant a 100 per cent increase over that prevailing at the beginning of the year. This will involve heavy expenditure.

Owing to the nature of the work in hand at Falconbridge, this company has been more or less out of the news for some time. Construction on the smelter is making rapid progress, brick work on the dust chamber having been completed and the steel work placed in position for the erection of the furnace and converter building. The chimney has reached a height of 175 feet. Plans have been prepared and contracts let for the erection of 25 houses for permanent employees and the establishment of a townsite near the mine is planned. In the Falconbridge mine, development work is concentrated on two levels, 250 and 1000 ft. horizons. At deeper level, the ore body will be crosscut at 200-foot intervals and a diamond drilling campaign started this fall. The intention is to prepare the 250-foot level for intensive mining in order to have it ready when the smelter is blown in at the end of the year.

Rumors that recent diamond drilling below the 975-foot level of Noranda has encountered new ore are spiked by official information. The report referred to intimated that a new ore body had been encountered at a depth of around 1,500 feet. However, officials state that there has been no drilling recently to that depth. The rumor probably originated through recent mention of a development some time ago at the 1,600 foot horizon.

It will be recalled drilling to the drilling ago at the 1,600-foot horizon. It will be recalled that drilling to the later depth north of the known limits of "H" ore body encountered ore. It is not known definitely whether this ore is a continuation of the "H" deposit or an extension of a separate occurrence. There have been no recent changes in production. Profits are at the rate of around $100,000 per week, while next month will probably witness the proposed large increase in output.

Reports of a decidedly optimistic nature in connection with developments on the Amulet property persist. A rumor freely handed about the street was that the new drill hole No. 223 had encountered high grade copper for a distance of 30 or 40 feet. Insofar as could be learned there was absolutely no confirmation of the rumor and even those who were handing it out could give no explanation as to its source or merit. It is learned on good authority that the issue of new treasury stock by Amulet Mines Limited is being brought to a satisfactory conclusion. On a basis of a stock issue of one new share for each six held by shareholders, shares will be distributed at $1.25. In this connection 500,000 additional shares will be issued bringing the total outstanding capital stock up to the full authorization of 3,000,000 shares. Of the total new issue referred to, 416,666 shares will be available for subscription by shareholders under the proposed plan. The total block, however, has been underwritten, so that Amulet stands to receive $625,000 of new funds. Taking the stock on the market at an approximate price of $2.50, the value indicated for the new rights is in the neighborhood of 18 cents. It is anticipated that trading in the rights will be underway in the early future.

International Nickel and Consolidated Mining & Smelting have bought a large block of shares in Henry Gardner and Company of London. The Gardner company, which registered in 1919, carries on the business of dealers in metals and rubber. In other words, it distributes metal products of the type which represent the output of International Nickel and Smelters. As a result of a recent reorganization scheme the paid up capital now consists of £812,500 in £1 ordinary shares, in addition to which there are 187,500 wholly unpaid ordinary shares. Of the unpaid shares, 37,500 are restrained by existing shareholders and will be called not later than Sept. 30. It is the remaining 150,000 unpaid shares which are being taken over at par by International Nickel and Smelters. The obvious suggestion was that some of the street rumors about closer cooperating arrangements between International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters might have some foundation in fact. But an authoritative statement made it plain that the linking of the names of International Nickel and Smelters in the London company has no deeper significance.

OIL GOSSIP.

East Crest

East Crest No. 1 drilling at about 4,190 feet. Company officials believe possibility reaching lime in next thirty or forty feet. East Crest No. 2 spudded in Monday.

Illinois-Alberta

Illinois-Alberta No. 2 struck very hard formation and able to make only small footage, but going ahead steadily. Well over 100 feet in lime.

Richfield

Richfield, Waite Valley's first well, running casing at 2,010 feet, where some caving developed and geologists believe well is just breaking into Dakotas but not certain.

Invaders Petroleum

Drilling at about 860 feet. Expect to run casing at 1,000 feet. Present indications point to relatively shallow drilling to lime.

Regent

Regent No. 2 drilling around 2,000 feet. No. 3 drilling at about 150 feet.

Dome

Commonwealth

Drilling at 2,700 feet and report small gas flow.

Okalta

Officials report steady progress at No. 2 and No. 3 where drilling and under-reaming being carried on. No. 4 drilling at about 400 feet and will run 16 5-8 inch casing at about 500 feet. No. 5 drilling about 200 feet.

Southwest Pete

Southwest Pete made splendid footage during week-end. Made about 66 feet and reported Monday at 5,108 feet. Experts believe possibility of lime within next 100 feet.

Highwood

Still reaming to enlarge hole through shale bands.

Calgary and Edmonton—Home

Vancouver advice is that Home Oil shares will be split six-for-one before merger with Calgary and Edmonton. Definite announcement on merger expected shortly and believed basis will be two split shares of Home for one present share of C. and E.

Devenish

Understand government report on this well in Skiff field sent to Ottawa and may be released within a day or two.

Home

Practically assured of consolidation with strong Calgary and Edmonton Corp., Home Oil's prospects are further brightened by resumption of drilling at No. 3 well, which is over 90 feet in lime and already has a gas flow of 7,000,000 cubic feet.

Maple Leaf

NORANDA LEADS IRREGULAR LIST

OILS WEAKER.

TORONTO, August 14. — (C.P.) — Price movements were irregular on the Standard mining exchange this morning with trading distributed over a fairly wide range of issues. Noranda gained almost a dollar to 63.70, and B'Wana was strong at 6.40, an advance of 75 cents, but Hudson Bay dropped 50 to 19.50; Teck Hughes 25 to 7.80; Sherritt Gordon 10 to 7.55; Sudbury Basin 20 to 8.75, and Pend Oreille 10 to 6.40. Newbec was in demand at 46; amulet was firm at 2.70 and Arno sold off 2 1-2 to 44.

Dome rose 25 at the opening to 10.75 and reacted to 10.60 while the changes in the other precious metals were in a restricted range. Oils were weaker, particularly in the high priced issues.

Calgary and Edmonton was off 25 to 8.00 and Home the same amount to 23.50. Mayland dropped 20 to 9.75. Ajax, after reaching its high for the year at 3.00, sold off to 2.95 for a net loss of 3. Eastcrest rose 10 to 2.60 and Dalhousie 4 to 3.70.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Harbour Improvements, Port Hope, Ont.," will be received until 12 o'clock Noon (Daylight Saving), Thursday, August 22, 1929, for the Repairs to West Breakwater and South End of Centre Pier at Port Hope, County of Durham, Ont.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on printed forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each Tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent. of the amount of the Tender. Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or Bonds of the Canadian National Railway Company will also be accepted as security, or Bonds and a Cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

NOTE.—Blue prints can be obtained at this Department by depositing an accepted cheque for the sum of $20.00 payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, which will be returned if the intending bidder submit a regular bid.

By order,
S. E. O'BRIEN,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, August 1, 1929.

will have 900,000 shares of split Home stock and an impressive interest in the projected Home—C. and E. mergered operation. This, in addition to A. P. Con's strong treasury position and own Turner Valley development program.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

Solloway, Mills & Company Through

Nickel Increases Dividend

Declaring a quarterly dividend Monday of 25 cents a share on common, payable September 30 to shareholders of record August 31, International Nickel is placed on a disbursement basis of $1 per annum, against 80c in the past.

Base Metals' Profits

Basing deductions on all known factors, Main and Empire's mining correspondent estimates indicated profit for Base Metals at $16 a ton, $3 higher than the original estimate. This would permit a disbursement of $1 per share annually.

Amulet

Field man reports that diamond drills are still working on holes 223 and 224 at Amulet's new copper orebody. Definite results should soon be obtained.

Buena Vista

Vancouver reports that Buena Vista Mines will shift operations to Salmon River glacier side of property. If development proves successful, Consolidated will likely run up Texas Creek to Big Missouri.

International Nickel

Robert C. Stanley, president of Inco. In Sudbury, states that smelter and Frood mine development work is proceeding well in advance of schedule. Both should be in operation by the middle of 1930.

Snowflake

B.C. Government engineer in report states that while Snowflake has possibilities as prospect, no orebodies of commercial importance have been developed.

Central Patricia

Noranda

Engineers in Quebec now estimate Noranda smelter will be ready for 2,000 ton ore treatment daily Sept. 1st. All smelter feed, with exception of development work, is coming from open cuts on A. B. and C. orebodies.

Ventures

Canadian Mining Journal suggests liklihood of Ventures, Limited, securing control of McDougall and Bedford Mines in Rouyn district, as a step towards gaining ultimate control of Sherritt-Gordon. Bedford and McDougall own 150,000 shares each of Sherritt.

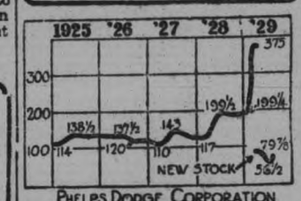
FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 14 (C.P.)—Foreign exchange steady. Demand rates, Great Britain 4.84⅝, Canadian dollar ⅝ of 1 per cent. discount.

C.N.R. EARNINGS

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending August 7th, 1929, were $5,118,131, as compared with $5,217,318 for the corresponding period of 1928, a decrease of $99,187, or two per cent.

STOCK A DAY



PHELPS DODGE CORPORATION

The mining of nonferrous metals is the principal activity of the Phelps Dodge Corporation which was organized in 1885. The company has since that time purchased various interests and extended its holdings which included the Arizona & New Mexico Railroad. This railroad was subsequently sold by the corporation to the El Paso & Southwestern for $4,500,000. In 1928 the company acquired a joint interest with others in the Nichols Copper Company which is constructing a refinery of 100,000 tons capacity a year at El Paso.

The holdings of the company are operated in groups. The Moctezuma Copper Company group consists of 38 claims covering about 3700 acres in Sonora, Mex. It is connected by a narrow gauge railroad with Nicozari. The Bunker Hill mines are in the Tombstone District. The Copper Queen branch is near Bisbee and there is a reduction works at Douglas. The Burro Mountain branch covers about 4,530 acres. The Morenci branch is near the town of Morenci. The Stag Canyon branch owns 11,000 acres of coal mines. There are smelters at Douglas and Clifton.

The year 1928 showed excellent profits, with a total net before depletion of $10,077,500. After depletion net was $3,681,685. There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding totals $50,000,000 in shares of $25 par value. The par of the stock was reduced from $100 to $25 in Feb., 1929, and four new shares issued for each old share. Regular dividends have been paid since 1888. The present rate is 75 cents a quarter on the new stock.

As of Jan. 1, 1929, total current assets were $35,216,964, current liabilities were $6,829,465, net working capital was $28,387,499 and book value of the capital stock was $60.59 a share. This was on the old $100 par stock.

STANDARD ROYALTIES COMPANIES MERGE

TORONTO, August 14. — At the meeting of the shareholders of Standard Royalties, Limited, held yesterday, it was decided to accept the offer of one million five hundred thousand preferred shares and one million common shares of second Standard Royalties for the assets of their company. The "merger" will place the latter company with reported total assets of approximately two million dollars in producing oil royalties, with an income of $800,000 annually. At the close of the company's financing when there will be 3,000,000 preferred shares and 4,000,000 common shares outstanding, and 1,000,000 common shares held in trust for the treasury.

Second Standard Royalties, Ltd., was organized in March last, for the purpose of investing in producing oil royalties in the oil lands in Oklahoma, Northern Texas and Southern Kansas. Dividends on the preferred were commenced on May 1.

plain about such things as have been occurring between police and Communists in the past ten weeks."

Injured in Hip.

Jack MacDonald, head of the Communist Party of Canada, who witnesses said was singled out for special attention when the police charge commenced, said that he was slightly lame in one hip as a result of being kicked in the body several times.

"Chief Draper probably is teaching the workers the things we stand against far more rapidly than we can ourselves," MacDonald said. "Our purpose in calling the meeting was to protest against police methods.

Our speakers did not need to say anything. What happened in Queen's Park explains itself far better than any speech.

"I was kicked and beaten by plainclothesmen a dozen times, and I had no chance to defend myself. I told the detectives if they had any charge against me to arrest me but not to beat me. What I said had no effect."

Edward Smith, of Toronto, who said that he was not a Communist, and had no sympathy with them, told him to get out of the park, but before he had a chance to do so, he was hit with a baton. A few seconds later a mounted policeman rushed at him, and he said he yelled: "I am a Canadian citizen." "Then he struck me four times," said Smith, who protested against the action of the police.

GRAF IS READY FOR LONG TRIP

Twenty Passengers For Flight Are Eagerly Waiting Start At Midnight.

HOPES HIGH.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 14.—(C.P.)—Final preparations were made to-day for the Graf Zeppelin, mighty German dirigible, to take off before dawn to-morrow for Tokyo, in continuation of its round-the-world flight.

The Zeppelin's five engines were gone over once again, a last inspection was given the fabric which clothes its rigid framework, food, supplies and the ship's cargo of mail were stored away, and a final check-up made of every element.

The 20 passengers, who with 40 officers and crew will be aboard the Zeppelin already have gathered here from all parts of Europe.

They were happy at the prospect of getting away to-morrow (probably before midnight to-night E.S.T.). No one seemed to fear the outcome of the trip or to be contemplating it with any emotion other than enjoyment.

MENACE TO PEACE.

HYANNIS, Mass., August 14. (C. P.) — "Our mounting tariff barriers and naval rivalry with Great Britain are evidences in the United States of narrow nationalism, which is the most serious menace to world peace in this century," Dr. Carleton J. H. Hayes of Columbia University told the Institute of World Unity in session here.

Other indications of this, he said, were the refusal of the United States to join the League of Nations, its attitude toward the world court, immigration restrictions, and intolerance toward minorities.

OBITUARY

KENNETH JOHNS

The funeral of Kenneth Johns, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johns will take place Thursday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griffin, 141 London street to Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Dudgeon of St. James' United Church.

The Weather

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, Toronto, Ont., Aug. 14.—(C.P.)—An area of low pressure centred over Northern Ontario has caused local thunder storms in the region of the Great Lakes. Local showers have also occurred in the West Maritimes, while elsewhere the weather has been fair.

It has been quite cool in Manitoba and a little warmer in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Pressure is high over the Middle Western States.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place recently at Cobourg, when Edna Doris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffries, became the bride of Wilfred Charles Pinn, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pinn, both of Peterboro.

MERE MAN'S KNOWLEDGE

That mere man knows little of the washing machine was exemplified yesterday afternoon. A car with a strange looking apparatus affixed to its roof was parked on Simcoe street. It attracted a score of men but not one of them could tell what the thing was, though many amazing theories were advanced, ranging from a new kind of advertising to a new invention to facilitate traveling in traffic whereby the driver might bring into play the propeller-like arrangement and fly over other cars. Finally the owner of the car appeared and enlightened them, saying that any woman would have known that it was merely part of the internal mechanism of a washing machine.

JUDGE AT PLOWING MEET.

J. J. Duffus has received word from J. Lockie Wilson, managing director of the International Plowing Match, notifying him of his selection as one of the judges of the plowing competition at the International Plowing Match and farm machinery demonstration this year. It will be held on the Government Farm adjacent to the city of Kingston during the week of October 15.

ONE OF THE BEST

The Shredded Wheat Company announced that Sam McKinaly of 18 New Romaine street was awarded the second prize, consisting of $25.00 for printing a set of Shredded Wheat alphabet inserts. The company states that his entry was considered one of the best received during the month of July.

HIT THE DIRT

An ardent softball fan was somewhat inebriated at the game last night grew so excited in the dying stages of the affair that a catastrophe occurred. As a runner was making a wild dash for the plate and the ball was due to reach the catcher at the same time, this fan jumped up and down yelling wildly—"Hit the dirt, hit the dirt" when he suddenly lost his footing, and fell upon his own straw hat. That finished his yelling and he left the game with a crestfallen look, and a somewhat battered straw.

WHAT A COMBINATION

This summer has often raised the question of "What will the female tourist wear next?" All manners of dress and combinations of outfits have appeared on the city streets as the American cars parked all along the curb, but yesterday afternoon the most sensational habit or ensemble startled the usually peace loving main streeter. A large woman clad in a blue shirt and overalls strolled nonchalantly from fruit store to fruit store. What a contrast, she wore overalls, but on her feet were a pair of tan high heel shoes!

CULLING INSTRUCTIONS

For the next three days a culling course will be conducted at the office of J. B. Nelson, district agriculture representative. A number of men from the district attend these set of lectures and demonstrations as given by J. F. Francis and R. Graham of the Poultry Department in Guelph then they are qualified to cull flocks for the farmers throughout the country.

The first day is given entirely to instructions, while the next two are spent on the various farms throughout the district when the practical work is carried out.

Mr. Nelson stated that all the men from the farms in the district were welcome.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT

Dr. Thomas Johnston, veterinary inspector for the Humane Society ,issued his report for the month of July which showed that during the past month twenty four calls were made.

These included four emergency calls, two cats which had been run over by automobiles and two dogs that had been poisoned were looked after by the inspector.

Numerous investigations were made and a main street inspection carried out which revealed the fact that all the horses on the thoroughfare were in fit condition and were being driven properly.

Complaints were followed up and one local man was warned to give better stable care to his horses after he had looked into the matter following information received against this man.

Many cats and dogs were cared for and treated during the course of the month and treatment recommended for many sick animals.

APPLES AND BLOSSOMS

A natural phenomenon was shown The Examiner this morning when a branch of an apple tree was brought into the office which bore blossoms and large apples at the same time. Last week when the little green apples were growing on one part of the tree, the rest of the branches were in full bloom making a lovely sight. Apple blossoms in August are at all times rare without having to have apples on the same branch.

The tree belongs to Mrs. Heely Chase of Havelock, Ontario.

ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The President of the Trent Waterway Association, J. Bruce Stanley of Midland announces that the annual meeting of the Association will be held toward the middle of September in Orillia where delegates and all interested in tourist development work will be the guests of the town. Local arrangements for the discussion will be the business of the meeting.

ANOTHER WARRIOR FOUND

Boys will be boys! Two little lads were engaged in a fist fight in the west end of the city yesterday. After a few minutes one decided it was no use to fight any longer so he began to run. The other followed closely on his heels in a very brave manner, but when the routed one finally got too tired to run any farther and was forced to stop the follower thought he was about to retaliate. After an instant of doubt the former pursuer took to his heels in the opposite direction.

MAN PLEADS FOR DOG'S LIFE

Unable To Pay License So Must Lose His Only Pal.

STRICKEN WAR VETERAN.

A war veteran of this city, sorely stricken from war service and unable to work, loves a dog, but that dog, which is almost his constant companion, may be taken from him. Unless someone pays the $2 fee for the dog's tag within a week, it will be killed. The man cannot pay.

The man is Andrew Jackson, 211 Stewart Street; the dog is a fine specimen of the German shepherd breed, and the man pleaded for its life in Police Court this morning.

The particulars of the case are these. The dog catcher noticed the dog running at large on the street, and paid a visit to its owner's home. The woman of the house received him uncivilly and slammed the door in his face. Later the dog catcher returned and again he could get no satisfaction.

The dog catcher reported the case at the police station and the dog's owner was hailed into court. He served overseas and was severely gassed, and is even now under the doctor's care. He can do only light work, and he has had very little employment for several years. His pension is very small.

Magistrate Langley told the man that although he felt sympathy for him, he could not allow him to break one of the city's laws, and the dog's tax must be paid.

"I cannot pay it," replied the man, "and if the only alternative is destroying the dog if I do not pay, I guess it will have to be killed."

Chief Newhall, knowing that the man took his daily exercise walking with the dog, and being himself a dog lover, asked for an adjournment for one week to give the man time to find some way to keep his dog.

NEW YORK GIRL SEEKS DIVORCE

SUIT REJECTED.

PARIS, France, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Mme. Jean Assolant, the former Pauline Parker of New York, was said at the office of her attorney to-day to have fyled a suit for divorce from Jean Assolant, French pilot of the trans-Atlantic plane Yellow Bird, but that the suit was rejected because the necessary papers, including her birth certificate, were not attached.

Mme. Assolant has wired to the United States asking for the necessary papers and according to her attorneys will refyle her suit as soon as they are available.

The grounds for the action were not disclosed.

WEDDING BELLS

COLLINS—JONES.

The marriage was solemnized at 8 o'clock on Monday morning in Sacred Heart Church by Rev. Father Maloney, of Margaret Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, 197 Lock Street, and Joseph A. Collins.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a gown of white georgette, trimmed with silver lace, with veil, and carried pink gladioli.

She was attended by Miss Rosaline Collins, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, who was in a frock of pale yellow, and carrying yellow gladioli; and Miss Marcella Jones, sister of the bride, acting as flower girl, carrying sweet peas.

High Mass was sung by Father Maloney, and her two brothers, Bernard and Henry, were altar boys.

Following the ceremony, lunch was served to about sixty guests, and the happy couple left on the 3.30 train for Toronto, Detroit, and Chicago, the bride travelling in an ensemble of blue celanese crepe, white felt hat and fox fur with hose and shoes to match. On their return they will reside at 51 Crescent Street.

Among the gifts which the bride and groom received was a set of dishes from the employees of the De Laval Co.

DIED.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.) —George Findlay, 27, died here to-day in hospital as the result of injuries received when he was struck on the head in a free-for-all fight last evening.

Findlay was presumably hit with a baseball bat in the midst of a melee that followed a dispute at a girls' softball game. Arrival of police stopped a near-riot and three men were arrested. They were allowed to proceed to their homes after questioning.

KNOX ORGANIST RESIGNS OFFICE

R. J. Davey Accepts Position in St. James 'Church, Perth.

LEADING MUSICIAN.

R. J. Devey, organist and choirmaster of Knox United Church for the last three years and a half, has resigned, having accepted an invitation from the officials of St. James' Church, Perth, to take charge of their choir and organ from September 1st next. A prior engagement at St. John's Church extended over seventeen years.

Master Presentation

Chief among these was the presentation of "The Messiah," in the Grand Opera House, with local chorus and the Conservatory orchestra, in combination with members of the Toronto Symphony orchestra, and Toronto soloists. The following year "Judas Maccabaeus" was given in a similar manner.

Other sacred works were: Stainer's "Crucifixion," "Daughter of Jairus," "Come Let Us Sing" (Mendelssohn), Haydn's "Creation" (part one), "Olivet to Calvary," "The Darkest Hour," and "Thanksgiving," a harvest cantata.

In light opera, "The Mikado" was presented twice; "The Geisha" twice; "San Toy," "A Greek Slave," and "Utopia, Limited," once each.

Three of these operas were presented in Toronto. "The Mikado" at the Princess; "The Geisha" at Loew's Winter Garden, and the first act of the latter play at the Earl Grey Musical competition at the Royal Alexandra. Three weeks after the competition, His Excellency Earl Grey, Governor General of the Dominion of Canada, expressed a desire to hear a complete production of "The Geisha" by the Peterborough Amateurs, to mark his appreciation of the splendid performance of Act 1 in the competition.

The performance was given and attended by His Excellency in the Grand Opera House; the box occupied by the Vice-Regal party was afterwards decorated with the Royal Arms by the late J. J. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Devey will probably be leaving Peterborough at the end of August, but Sunday, August 18, will be Mr. Devey's last Sunday at Knox United Church.

SENATOR KEMP IS LAID TO REST

TRIBUTES PAID.

TORONTO, Ont., August 14 (Canadian Press). — The remains of Senator Sir Edward Kemp, who has been a leader in industry, finance, and statesmanship in the Dominion, were entombed this afternoon in Mount Pleasant Mausoleum after a simple funeral service at the home of the former Minister of Militia, Castel Frank.

Tribute to the life work of Sir Edward, who died last Monday morning after an attack of acute indigestion, was paid in a brief address by Chancellor R. P. Bowles of Victoria College. Rev. George H. Williams of Hamilton, and Rev. Dr. H. J. Cody also participated in the funeral service.

Mail Addressed To Steamer Passengers

A complaint has been received in regard to the manner in which letters for outgoing and incoming steamers to be delivered at Father Point, Quebec, are addressed.

The postmaster suggests that these letters be addressed:

Name of passenger,
Passenger on the outgoing Steamer,
Off Father Point.

Letters for passengers on incoming steamers should be addressed similarly except that the word "incoming" should be substituted for the word "outgoing."

TO SEEK ARBITRATION.

MANCHESTER, England, August 14 (Canadian Press). — The joint committees of both organization of cotton employers here have decided to invite the employees to meet them with the object of agreeing on arbitration in the present stoppage of the cotton industry in Lancashire.

The committees also decided there could be no question of re-opening the terms of the proposed arbitration have been mutually arranged.

FIGHT POSTPONED

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 14.—The Vittorio Campolo-Tom Heeney bout scheduled for ten rounds to-night at Ebbets Field was postponed until to-morrow night because of threatening weather Humber J. Fugazy announced the postponement just after the men weighed in. Campolo scaled 223 pounds and Heeney 204.

GRAF LEAVES 10 TO-NIGHT.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, August 14 (Canadian Press). — Dr. Hugo Eckener to-day set the time for departure of the Graf Zeppelin on the second leg of its round-the-world flight at 4.30 a.m. Thursday (10.30 p.m. Wednesday E.S.T.).

The passengers were ordered to enter the gondola at four o'clock to-morrow morning.

EIGHT RIFLEMEN TIED FOR FIRST

Great Performance Is Made By Marksmen At Big Shot.

WEATHER IS BAD

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Eight marksmen are tied for first place in the Walker match, the second range of which was fired in a rainstorm at the Dominion Rifle Association meet to-day. All eighty scored possibles at the first range, 300 yards, last night, and duplicated at the 800 yard range to-day in spite of the rain and dim light. Veteran marksmen here consider to-day's performance one of the greatest in years, owing to the abominable weather conditions.

The eight men are: Sgt. S. M. Beckington, Toronto; Lt. Desmond Burke, Ottawa; G. H. Collings, Vancouver; Capt. J. E. Foreman, Hamilton; Cpl. G. E. Matchett, Hamilton; C.S.M. N. J. McLeod, Toronto; Sgt. M. Penman, Montreal; and Pte. R. A. Sweet, Hamilton.

RAYS PLAY ARABS THURSDAY NIGHT

Game Is Called Off To-night On Account of Rain.

The game between the Oshawa Arabs and the Raybestos, scheduled to-night at the Exhibition Park, has been called off on account of rain and will be played to-morrow (Thursday) night, starting at 6.15. These two teams have played great baseball all summer, with the Rays finishing on top of the Lakeshore league but the Arabs a close second. In the first game of the play-offs played last Friday night in Oshawa the Rays won by one run, the final score being 4 runs to three. To-morrow night a real live battle is expected and the grand stand is expected to be filled to see the fixture.

McCORMICK-DEERING NEWS
"Good equipment makes a good farmer better"
Published by
W. BURNS
THE FARM EQUIPMENT MAN
Vol. 1, No. 21 Peterboro Wednesday, August 14, 1929

Watch for the "News" each week. Suggestions and news items invited.
W. Burns, Editor.

Visitor: "Will you kindly tell me if a man belongs to your club with one leg named Walker?"

Doorman: "I don't know, sir, but I'll find out. What was the name of his other leg?"

The silo-filling job goes easier, faster and better when McCormick-Deering Corn Binders, Ensilage Cutters, and Tractors do the machine end of the work. Remember, we can supply you with McCormick-Deering equipment for the whole operation.

Bigamy is a form of insanity which makes a man insist on paying three board bills instead of only two.

You knew that an accurate governor on a tractor engine was essential for satisfactory operation on drawbar as well as on belt work but did you know that present models of McCormick - Deering Tractors have governors with all working parts entirely enclosed and with all joints thoroughly oiled, thus insuring even-running at all times with practically no attention?

Did you know that all McCormick - Deering Tractor engines have removable cylinder sleeves made of exceptionally hard cast iron of uniform thickness, making it possible to replace one or all of them in three or four hours, at a cost far below that of a reboring job, which construction means a longer - lived tractor with low repair charges?

The combination of magneto ignition and an efficient fuel mixer makes the McCormick-Deering Engine easy to start and economical to operate in even the coldest weather.

So Long. See You Next Week.

W. BURNS—The Farm Equipment Man.

14-Year Old Boy Tries To Wreck Wolverine Flyer

ACT TO WRECK DETROIT FLYER UNCOVERED BY RAILROAD POLICE AS YOUTH CONFESSES WILD ACT

Admits Placing Tie Across the Rails Outside Town Limits of Tilbury.

BOY PLACED IN JAIL.

Train Tears Station Platform Up Going Sixty Miles An Hour.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Details of an attempt at Tilbury of a youth to wreck the Michigan Central Railways Wolverine Flyer, last Tuesday night were learned to-day. A fourteen-year-old boy, who was arrested to-day by Michigan Central police has confessed he placed a tie across the tracks west of the town of Tilbury, the authorities announced.

A wreck was avoided by a remarkable close margin, it was explained. The tie was caught between the pilot and first wheel of the locomotive and was dragged for a mile. The planks of Tilbury station were ripped from place as the train wheeled through at 60 miles an hour, the engineer making a desperate effort to bring his engine to a halt.

The railway officials are confident that a derailment of the train would have been inevitable if the tie had not been caught by the pilot. A charge has been placed against the youth, who is held at Tilbury jail. The train was bound from Detroit to New York.

Two U. S. Army Deserters Admit Attacking Women

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Two deserters from the United States Army Gordon Frost, 22, East Pepperell, Miss., and Wayne C. Aldrich, 18, Chicago, who confessed last night that they had beaten and robbed two women motorists near Hoxie Kansas, Sunday night, were held here to-day for Kansas authorities.

Frost gave no reason for the attack and Aldrich said he did not know "why I did it. I must have been crazy—but they kept screaming, and it seemed the only way to shut them up."

KETTLE MAN FALLS WHEN STEPS MOVE

Percival Gold Is Badly Burned By Pail of Hot Pitch.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL.

Percival Gold, 48, 249 London street, suffered serious burns to his arms and face from boiling pitch at 11.30 this morning. Mr. Gold was carrying a pail of bubbling hot pitch up a ladder, when the ladder slipped and he was sprayed by the boiling fluid. Dr. Murray Fraser was called and, after some of his clothes were cut off, the man was rushed to Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Gold was the "kettle man" on the job of re-roofing T. Hooper's centre store on George street. He was carrying the pail of pitch, boiling at 276 degrees Fahrenheit, from the second roof to the third. He was climbing a ladder and was midway up when the ladder slipped. Man and pitch fell to the roof below and the man was sprayed by the flying liquid.

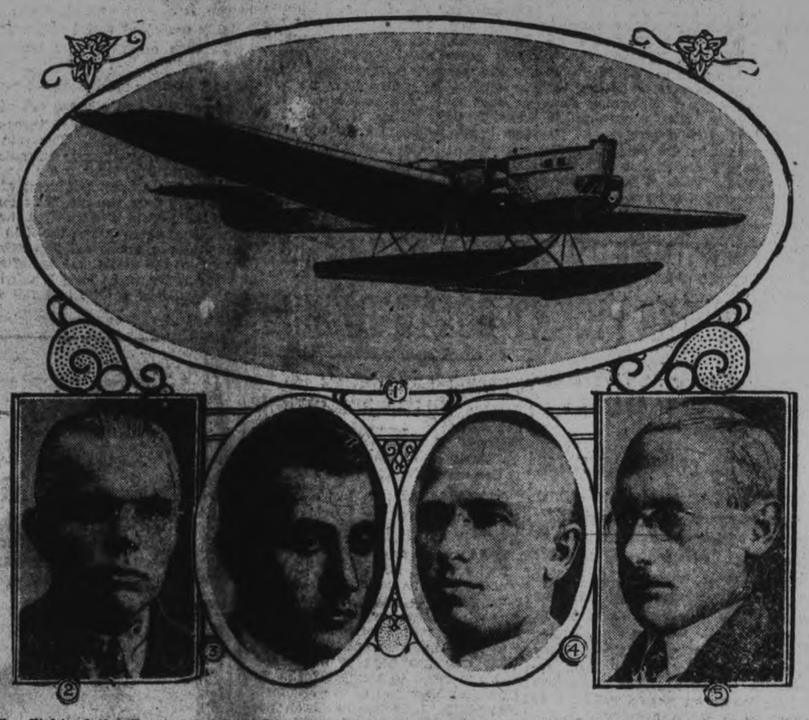
His hands, arms to the elbow, and part of his face were burned. His clothes were coated with the hot pitch and had to be cut off. His condition is not serious, although some injury to his eye may result.

Mr. Gold served with the Fourth Battalion, Second Contingent, during the war.

DIES FOLLOWING FALL.

GALT, Ont., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—John Rob Lowder, 45, married, a war veteran, died during the night in the hospital as a result of an accident in the R. McDougall plant yesterday. He was assisting in moving a lathe with a block and tackle, and, completing the job, put a ladder on another machine to take down the block and tackle. The ladder slipped and he fell on his face on the machine. His jaw was fractured and it is believed his skull also was fractured. An inquest has been ordered.

FLIGHT ENDS IN FORCED LANDING IN SIBERIA



The flight of the Russian aviators from Moscow to New York by way of Alaska in the Russian-built airplane called "Land of Soviets" (shown in No. 1) ended in a forced landing about 170 miles from Irkutsk, Siberia, after the aviators had flown 3,726 miles in 36 flying hours. The crew was composed of (2) Philip Bolotov, second pilot; (3) Dimitry Pufaev, mechanic; (4) Semen Shestakov, chief pilot, and (5) Boris Syeringov, navigator.

COMMUNISM MUST BE CHECKED EVEN IF PRIVATE CITIZENS SUFFER DECLARES POLICE COMMISSIONER

Judge Declares Toronto Members Are Behind Chief Constable Draper.

REALLY BOLSHEVISTS.

Carrying On Insidious Propaganda tTo Overthrow All Governments, He States.

BALA, Ont., Aug. 15. —(Canadian Press).—Communism in Toronto must be dealt with forcibly by police, even if innocent citizens should accidently suffer in the process, is the opinion of Judge Emerson Coatsworth, member of the Toronto Board of Police Commissioners, expressed in an interview at his summer home to-day.

Judge Coastworth said the Commission was solidly behind Chief Constable D. C. Draper in his policy of preventing Communist demonstrations.

Really Bolshevists

"The Communists so-called in Toronto are really Bolshevists," said Judge Coatsworth, in commenting on criticism arcused by alleged rough handling of Communists and onlookers alike in clearing Queen's Park when a Communist meeting was threatened Tuesday night.

"They are carrying on insidious propaganda to overthrow all government, dominion, provincial and municipal," he said. "In Toronto, the capitol of Ontario, they are endeavoring in every way to spread their evil doctrines and become dangerous in a time of unemployment."

Judge Coatsworth said he regretted that bystanders had become involved with the police when mounted, motorcycle, foot policemen and plain clothesmen herded the crowd, estimated at 5,000 people, out of Queen's Park. He said those who went to the park and got into trouble did so at their own risk.

Son Insured For $20,000 Death Charged To Father

ANDERSON, S.C., Aug. 15.—(C.P.)—Charged with slaying his 15 year old son, Maxie, whose life he had insured for more than $20,000, J. R. Thomas, of Anderson County, was being held in jail here to-day.

A warrant sworn out by Coroner J. Clarke charged Thomas with slaying the boy "by administering poison and by drowning."

Maxie and his father went to the Saluda river near their home August 3 to fish and Thomas said his son slipped into the water and drowned.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG WAREHOUSE

PARTLY INSURED.

VANCOUVER, B.C., August 15 (Canadian Press). — A $300,000 fire this morning gutted a warehouse building on Beatty Street and destroyed large quantities of oil in storage. Firemen fought the blaze three hours until it was brought under control.

Western Oil and Supply Company, Scythes & Company, Limited, Canadian Johns Mansville Company, all lost supplies in storage when the warehouse burned. Their loss was partially covered by insurance. The building itself was valued at $125,000, and was also partially covered by insurance.

RICH AMERICAN BADLY KNIFED

Wealthy Professor Is Assaulted in His London Apartment.

HAD DISPUTE.

LONDON, Aug. 14—Philip Eaton, twenty-seven, wealthy American Harvard school graduate and school teacher, was found unconscious, suffering from deep razor cuts on his face, in his sumptuous bachelor apartment yesterday. Last night he was reported near death in St. George's Hospital.

Word was received from America that Eaton was an instructor in chemistry and mathematics at the exclusive St. Mark's School for Boys in Southboro, Mass. Identification was made by Dr. A. G. Thayer, headmaster of the school, summering at Ipswich, Mass.

Michael Arlen Touch

Eaton's richly-furnished suite is in the heart of fashionable Mayfair. A Michael Arlen touch is lent to the story of the attack on him by the report that when he took possession of the apartment, a strikingly beautiful woman, who passed as his wife, was with him.

She left after three weeks. Since then, according to Eaton's housekeeper, another woman has been a frequent visitor to the apartment, and Eaton has entertained many men as well.

In addition to the gashes on his face, the American had a fractured skull. He was found on the floor of his apartment when the chambermaid arrived.

CHURCHILL TO BE IN TORONTO

Will Speak At Combined Luncheon of Board of Trade, Canadian and Empire Clubs.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Toronto, Hamilton, and Niagara Falls will be host to Right Hon. Winston Churchill for two days before he leaves for the West. The former Chancellor of the British Exchequer will arrive in Toronto at 8.20 eastern daylight time to-morrow morning, travelling by special car from Ottawa, where he has been the guest of Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General.

The former Chancellor will address a combined luncheon of the Toronto Board of Trade, Canadian Club and Empire Club on Friday. Arrangements have been made to accommodate about 1,500 persons to hear the famous statesmen speak on Empire marketing.

IMMIGRANTS HAVE CHANCE OF SUCCESS IN AUSTRALIA

LONDON, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—A substantial increase in the emigration from Great Britain to British North America was shown in the first six months of this year, compared with 1928, according to figures made public by the Board of Trade to-day. Emigrants to British North America number 43,557 in this period, an increase of 14,552 over last year.

Emigration to Australia and New Zealand in the first six months, however, was a great deal lower than last year. For Australia, there were 8,577 British emigrants, compared with 15,067 in the same period last year. For New Zealand there were only 1,785 compared with 2,258.

Altogether 76,370 British subjects left for permanent residence in non-European countries during the first six months of the year, compared with 66,925 last year. The report says emigration was substantially more active in April and May of this year than in the same months of 1928.

GREAT GENERAL DIES AT ESTATE WHILE SHOOTING

LEAVES NO HEIRS.

Given $1,500,000 By Nation As Tribute For Services in Commanding British First Army.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, August 15 (Canadian Press Cable). — Great Britain and the Empire to-day mourned the loss of General Lord Horne, commander of the First Army from 1916, and famous for his artillery methods in the Battles of the Somme. Lord Horne died suddenly yesterday while shooting on the moors of his estate at Stirkcke Caithness. He was 68 years of age.

The Canadian Corps, as part of the First Army, came under Lord Horne in the closing drive of 1918. General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian Corps, was the recipient of a historic message from the army commander after the great Canadian efforts at Cambrai. Lord Horne then expressed his high appreciation of the determined fighting by the Canadians in forcing the crossing of the canal and capturing Bourlon Wood and the high ground north and north-west of Cambrai, when troops of 12 enemy divisions were engaged in an attempt to stem the advance of the four Canadian divisions.

Renowned Before War.

Lord Horne had a distinguished military career even before the World War. He gained new laurels as an artillery general before the World War was well under way. He went to France with Sir Douglas Haig as Brigadier of Artillery of the First Corps, and took part in the retreat from Mons, the Battle of the Aisne and the first Battle of Ypres.

He commanded the 2nd division

GIANT AIRSHIP STARTS SECOND LEG OF FLIGHT

Speeding Towards Russia, Dirigible Is Seen Over East Prussia.

SIXTY ON BOARD.

Dirigible Is Making Sixty Miles An Hour On Flight To Japan.

KOENIGSBERG, East Prussia, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Speeding toward Russia, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin flew over Koenigsberg at 4.15 p.m. (10:15 a.m. E.S.T.) and disappeared in the east.

The huge air liner, well started on her 6,600 mile flight to Tokyo made a broad curve over the city where enthusiastic crowds watched it.

The Graf was maintaining her speed of 60 miles an hour when she reached Koenigsberg. It was not quite twelve hours from the time of her departure from Friedrichshafen when the ship passed over this city and in that time she had travelled approximately 720 miles.

Dropped German Flag.

DANTZIG, August 15 (Canadian Press). — The round-the-world dirigible Graf Zeppelin flew over the free city of Dantzig at 2.55 p.m. (9.55 a.m. E.S.T.), and after dropping the German flag, proceeded to Koenigsberg, East Prussia.

As the Graf Zeppelin flew over the former German city of Dantzig, she temporarily left German territory for the first time on her long journey to Tokio. After crossing the narrow strip of corridor in which Dantzig lies, the Graf was again to strike German soil in East Prussia.

After Koenigsberg the Graf was scheduled to fly to Duenaburg, Latvia, whence she will cross into Russia, en route to Moscow.

24 NEW YORK GIRL CAMPERS STRICKEN IN PARALYSIS SCARE

County Authorities Quarantine Section—Boys' Camp Endangered.

185 IN PERIL.

SCRANTON, August 15. — Fear of an epidemic of infantile paralysis caused Camp Tabor in Lakewood, Pa., where one hundred and eighty-five New York girls are summering, to be quarantined to-day. Twenty-four girls, between the ages of four and sixteen, have been stricken by a mysterious malady which physicians have not satisfactorily diagnosed.

Two little girls taken to a hospital were reported last night to be gravely ill. At the hospital it was stated:

"We cannot say positively yet that this is infantile paralysis, but there are indications that suggest infantile paralysis. We are not certain yet."

Not Certain of Disease.

Camp Tabor is managed by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Grossman, of Flushing, L.I. There are 150 school girls from various boroughs in New York City here, under the direction of 35 councillors. The epidemic broke out last Friday evening when one girl became ill. By Sunday, more than a score were suffering and the peak of the outbreak was reached yesterday afternoon.

Dr. H. C. White, of Lake Ariel, Medical Examiner for Wayne County, stated last evening:

"The camp has been quarantined, following an inspection made by me to-day. It is not yet certain whether the illness is infantile paralysis, but we are exercising every precaution possible. I have telegraphed to the Pennsylvania State Health authorities at Harrisburg, calling for an immediate and sweeping investigation."

Two of the young victims were hurried to St. Joseph's Hospital at Carbondale, after which the local health authorities decided it would be safer to quarantine the camp and face the menace at close quarters, where it had originated.

Dr. G. C. Marriam, of Lake Como, who was first called in the emergency, stated there were twelve serious cases and that he had summoned the county medical inspector as soon as the proportions of the danger were outlined.

FIVE INJURED IN CAR SMASH

Automobile Turns Over Into the Ditch On the Norwood Road.

FIVE MILES FROM CITY.

Five passengers were injured in an accident on the Norwood road about five miles out of Peterborough yesterday morning when a light car in which they were proceeding towards this city turned over twice and landed upright in the ditch. The passengers were W. Guy, the owner of the car; Ruby Guy, his daughter; Clifford McKinley, E. H. Malton and Mrs. Malton. With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Malton, who are from Havelock, the passengers were from Toronto.

The passengers report that the car was proceeding about 25 miles an hour along the road when the wheels on the right side were caught by a soft line of gravel and the car was thus thrown into the ditch. The chains for use on the wheels caused the most damage when they were thrown through the windshield by the shocks and the flying glass cut the passengers severely. None are in a dangerous condition, however. The car was extensively damaged about the roof and sides.

PLANS ARE LAUDED FOR EMPIRE GAMES

London Daily Hopes Venture So Successful Rest of Empire Will Do Same.

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Morning Post strongly supports the inauguration by Canada of the Empire games, to be held for the first time at Hamilton, Ont., in August of 1930. The newspaper expressed the hope that Great Britain would be well represented.

"As for the objection that such a meeting would lead to jingoism," the Post continued, "it seems to us hardly worth answering, and we should be surprised indeed if it came from anybody. The British athlete's objection that the Empire games may interfere with the International Olympic games can hardly be well founded, since these do not take place until 1932. If it is a question of choice we should prefer to see British youth represented at the Canadian rather than at any international meeting.

"We hope the Hamilton experiment will be so successful that the example will be followed by the rest of the Empire."

BRITISH ULTIMATUM STANDS MUST INCREASE REPARATIONS

Germans May Present Bill For Damages To Rhineland By Allied Armies.

MAY BE MILLIONS OF MARKS

THE HAGUE, Aug. 15. (C.P.) — The British delegation, by letter and otherwise, within the past 24 hours, has made known to other nations participating in the conference to make the Young plan effective, that its ultimatum still stands, and it will not accept the Young plan without an increased share of German reparations.

On the outskirts of the Reparations Conference last night there was talk of a formidable bill which the Germans are preparing to present to the occupying powers for damages in the Rhineland by the armies of occupation. Actual figures are not mentioned but it is said in German quarters that the total runs well into millions of marks.

It was made known also Right Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, intended action on his resolution for revision of the Young plan and would brook little further delay. Intimate personal conversations between the delegates continued to-day with hope of finding some way out of the deadlock.

TRY FOR ANOTHER RECORD

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—The Chicago endurance fliers, Russell Mossman, Earl Steele, and Wilson Herren, announced shortly after they had been forced down by engine trouble last night after 3 hours and 35 minutes of flying, that they would take off again to-day in an attempt to break the 424-hour record recently made by the St. Louis Robin.

SCOTTISH CHURCH CRITICIZES DUKE

Assembly Claims Sabbath Was Broken By Prince Ray Lakester, Canadian Pontiff, died to-day.

EDINBURGH, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press Cable).—[illegible] of the Scottish Church, representing the small body [illegible] to enter the United Presbyterian Church, expresses its regret at what it deems to be Sabbath breaking by the Duke and Duchess of York. At Forfar last Sunday they presented medals for ambulance work.

The commission also believes there is cause for admonishing Premier Ramsay MacDonald for meeting General Charles Dawes, United States Ambassador, at Forres, Scotland, on a Sunday about six weeks ago, when the disarmament conversations were inaugurated.

The Rev. gentleman, who brought up the subject of the Duke and Duchess of York said the matter was all the more regrettable considering the esteem in which the couple are held.

MIGRATION CUT MEN ARE SCARCE

Employment in British Isles Is Becoming More Secure.

MACHINERY IN CANADA

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press Cable).—The decline in the number of British migrants to Canada in recent years is attributed by the Journal of Parliaments of the Empire, issued to-day, to the increasing security of employment in the home country. The journal also points out many immigrants went from relatively sheltered occupations with little knowledge of the conditions awaiting them. Of the total of 2,205 immigrants sent back last year, more than half were British.

The greater use of agricultural machinery in the Dominion is another reason advanced for the immigration slump over a period of years. Agriculture, it is declared, is standing at the parting of the ways, either it must go back to peasantry by the route of mixed farming, or it must go forward to organization and centralization.

CANDY FACTORY TO OPEN AT 464 GEORGE STREET

Sing Lung Laundry Has Been Purchased By Blestoria Brothers.

Peterborough will soon have a new candy factory, which will occupy the premises that are now tenanted by the Sing Lung Laundry, 464 George Street. The building is part of the old Yelland estate, the same as the building that was recently razed to make way for the new gasoline station.

Blestoria Brothers have taken over the three-storey building and intend to renovate it, put in a new front and modernize it entirely, installing the latest machinery and use the most up-to-date methods in their production of only the finest candies.

They will occupy the building and start work on a large scale about the end of the month.

SITUATION GROWS DARK IN EAST AS RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE LANDED ON CHINESE SOIL BY GUNBOATS

Soviet and Chinese Patrols Clash Outside Limits of Manchuli.

PEACE PARLEY FAILURE.

While Russian Action in City of Harbin Alarms Jews.

TOKIO, Aug. 15.— (C.P.)— After weeks of negotiations and alarming, but unconfirmed rumors of war, the dispute between Russia and China over the Chinese seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway to-day became of a graver character.

Japanese news agency despatches from Manchuli ,Manchuria, reported that Russian and Chinese troops had engaged in a skirmish on the heights west of the town. Chinese infantry were said to have returned fire by Russian patrols.

From Harbin it was reported that three Russian gunboats had landed troops in three Chinese vilalges on the Amur River above the confluence with the Sungari River. Chinese officials ir. Harbin said the landings followed demonstrations and bombardments. The Russians were said to have withdrawn when Chinese reinforcements arrived last vening.

Peace Efforts Fail.

All Chinese attempts to negotiate a settlement of the railway dispute were said at Manchuli to have failed.

Serious disagreement between the Chinese diplomats were said to have been largely responsible for the failure of the negotiations in Harbin. Chu Shao-yang ,the Nankin Government's envoy ,and Tsai Yun-sheng, representative of Mukden, disputed over the manner in which a settlement was to be reached. The correspondent of the Japanese newspaper

Police Performing Duty Says Draper In Final Word

TORONTO, August 15. (C.P.) —Chief of Police D. C. Draper, made the following statement last night to reporters when questioned regarding the occurrences in Queen's Park last night when police suppressed a gathering of Communists:

"I want you to publish this statement just as I give it to you. It is the last word I will have to say on the subject. And I want to look you in the eye as I make it clear.

"The police of this city are undertaking to faithfully perform their duty and uphold and support the laws. That is all I have to say. We are all trying to do our duty, you, I, and all of us."

GERALD POTTS IS WINNER OF SWIM TROPHY

Carlton Adler, While First in Race, Not Eligible For Cup.

TREN TRIVER REGATTA.

Water Sports Feature Program At Annual Event—Present Prizes.

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 15 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Yesterday afternoon was regatta day at Trent River. The weather man did his best to scare all concerned, but finally relented and turned on the warm sun with just enough breeze to make the weather ideal. Dull skies and plenty of rain all morning, and continuing till after one o'clock in the afternoon, had much to do with the small number of spectators that lined the centre pier to watch the start of the afternoon sport. The big event of the day was the five-mile marathon swim, with its six entries. Other less pretentious events, perhaps, caused greater excitiment for the moment, but all eyes were for the swimmers in the big event. Carlton W. Adler, professional swimmer from Boston, Mass., led the way and finished the course in less than two hours. He was an easy first, but was not considered eligible for the cup because he was a professional. Gerald Potts, the winner last year, was the only other entry to finish, and was presented with the trophy. In only one case was an event withdrawn. This was the sea flea race. Since there were no sea fleas on hand, there could be no race.

Capable Committee.

This year the regatta was held under the auspices of the Trent River Game and Protective Association. The judges were: D. Walterhouse, Toronto; Jack Linton, Campbellford, and A. C. Denike, Havelock. John A. Ruttan was starter and Harold B. Wood official announcer. Under the management of these men, and the president and secretary, T. J. Brown and Stan Carnrite, the events were run off with a minimum of delay, and their arrangement was such as would create the most interesting program. In almost every event there was keen competition. In one, it was necessary to have the single entry go over the course to win the prize. All others were contested. The prizes were presented at White Hall Gardens Pavilion during the evening.

FIVE MILE SWIM

The most outstanding event of the afternoon was the five mile swim. It was started first and the other events run off during its progress. When the word was given, six marathoners dropped out of sight in the water for an instant, then began to windmill their way around the triangular one-mile course. The swimmers were Gerald Potts, Marmora; Art. Wright, Toronto; Harry Evans, Toronto; Agnes Wight, Trent River; Van Kahanen, Toronto, and Carlton W. Adler, Boston, Mass., but now resident in Campbellford. Adler and Potts were the only ones to complete the course. Agnes Wight, locally known as the Flying White Fish, gave up at the end of the third mile. She, with

KING MAY VISIT SANDRINGHAM

Official Reports Deny Rumor That He Will Not Go To Summer Home.

MAY GO TO SEASIDE FIRST.

LONDON, Aug. 15 (C.P.)—It was officially stated at Buckingham Palace to-day there was no truth in published reports King George would not go to Sandringham. It was said His Majesty expected to proceed there in due course, although no date has yet been fixed for his departure.

The official announcement was made in refutation of a report published in The Daily News to-day and to be inferred from other published stories that King George would not go to the summer palace at Sandringham but would be removed shortly to Bognor, Sussex, for a further recuperative stay.

The Daily News said this morning that King George's doctors had advised him to return to the seaside at Bognor for further recuperation instead of going to Sandringham, His Majesty's favorite country estate. The Court, encouraged by the improvement in the King's health since his second operation, had planned to go shortly to Sandringham.

CHIEF DRAPER WILL INVESTIGATE POLICE CRUELTY IN QUEEN'S PARK

Former Mayor T. L. Church Promises Gov't Action Unless Steps Are Taken in Affair.

SPEECH IS FREE, HE SAYS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—An investigation is being conducted by Chief Constable D. C. Draper into reports that members of the Toronto Police Force on foot and mounted, beat citizens with their batons and riding whips in their efforts to disperse a crowd at Queen's Park, where it had been previously announced the Toronto branch of the Communist League of Canada would hold a meeting in protest of the police commission's orders prohibiting the use of parks for Communist meetings.

"If any member of the force is found to have disobeyed police orders and resorted to violence, he will be sent before the board of Police Commissioners to be dealt with," said Chief Draper. Only one complaint by a citizen alleging ill-treatment has been received at police headquarters, he said, and enquiries were made at hospitals yesterday but no trace could be found of any person having been admitted from injuries received in Tuesday's night's affair.

Must Carry Out Order

Two members of the Police Commission are out of town at present so a meeting of the board cannot be held for at least two weeks. In the meantime, said Chief Draper, the Commission's orders prohibiting Communists to conduct meetings will be carried out.

Church Steps In

Discussing the attitude of the Police Commission in attempting to supress Communist meetings by force, T. L. Church, M.P., for Northwest Toronto, last night said that if an enquiry is not held into the affair he will draw the attention of the Canadian Government to the situation and seek an investigation under the Public Enquiries Act.

"This whole affair is a tempest in a tea-pot brought about by an error in judgment of the local Police Commission" said Mr. Church. "They have assumed powers which they do not hold and are unnecessarily going out looking for trouble.

"The present policy is not legal" he said. "The police have no power to close a park and assault citizens lawfully using it. Speech is free. The city council, not the police commission, owns and has jurisdiction over the city parks. Innocent people have been assaulted and the city made to look ridiculous."

RUM RUNNERS BREAK BLOCKADE WHEN PICKET BOATS REFUEL

THREATEN DOCK WORKMEN.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 15.—(C.P.) —Rum runners have been landing cargoes of liquor from Canada at downtown Detroit docks daily for several weeks, successfully eluding capture, it was learned yesterday from steamship officials and employes.

The foot of Third street, Wane street, Cass avenue and Clark avenue have been the favorite landing spots, where an armed gang of as many as a dozen men have transferred the liquor to waiting automobiles, threatening the numerous workmen on the docks who ventured near the scene of operations. Regular landings have been made at 7 a.m., 10.30 a.m. and noon.

Walter S. Petty, said that the rum runners were able to run the government dry blockade of the river because a picket boat on Tuesday disobeyed orders and left their station for gasoline.

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved their physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar coated tablets so full of weight producing and health building essentials.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets. McDermid and Jury, McDermids, Bond's, Lynch and Payne and every druggist sells them—60 tablets—60 cents—economy size, $1.00. Almost any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your money will be refunded.

One woman put on 15 pounds in six weeks. Children grow robust and strong—feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks.

D. A. CAMPBELL RESIGNS AS MILLING DIRECTOR

Was on Board of Maple Leaf Company Ten Years

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)— D. A. Campbell, Toronto, after serving ten years on the board of the Maple Leaf Milling Company, has retired, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Campbell said last night he had retired from the board in order to have more freedom from the duties of business. He was president of Campbell Flour Mills from 1913 to 1919. In the latter year it was acquired by Maple Leaf Milling, when he became a member of the new board. He was re-elected in 1923 and made general-manager, but resigned this position in 1927 and continued as director.

THREE CENT BEAM RADIO OCEAN RATE IS PROPOSED

Believe Rate Will Cause Reduction in Cables Also

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Inauguration of a letter-telegram rate of three cents a word by beam radio from Australia to England was recommended to-day by a committee appointed to consider the question of beam transmission. The committee considered cable beam transmission equally reliable. It was believed that if beam rates would be reduced, cable rates would necessarily follow in the same direction.

EVENTS KEENLY CONTESTED AT KEENE REGATTA

Despite Overhanging Skies Serpent Mounds Regatta Is Big Success.

LAND AND LAKE RACES.

Keene Girls Defeat Sixth Line Outfit To Win Much Coveted Trophy.

Otonabee's Civic Holiday was celebrated yesterday in a fitting manner, the great event being the much-looked-for Serpent Mounds Regatta. Yearly everyone for miles around, and people in Peterborough anticipate the coming of this one glorious day, when land and water events are highly contested and ball teams vie with each other for the laurels of the day.

The weather man woke up yesterday morning and climbed out of the wrong side of the bed, so things got away to a bad start. The rain fell out of the grey skies in torrents for a time and then later in the morning it suddenly ceased and most of the land races were run off, but even before these could be completed the Old Man Rain again graced the field with his presence, making it impossible to carry out the whole program of races.

Land Events

The results of the land races were:

Boys' Race, 8 and under—1, Jack Bolen; 2, Jack Andrews.

Girls' Shoe Race—1, Betty Brown; 2, Betty Jall.

Keene Girls Win Cup.

After it had rained about all it possibly could, the weather man went to the other extreme and uncovered old Sol so he beamed down with unmerciful strength, but even at that it was a relief from the dampness. This allowed the girls' softball game to get under way when a team from Keene met the Sixth Line girls in a tie-breaking fixture. Each year a cup is played for, and for the last six years each team has won it three times, and this year the Keene aggregation took a fall out of the Sixth Liners to the tune of 19-6.

All through the game the village crew led and the Liners were not able to get even within tying distance of their old rivals. Nine runs were

BREACH OF LAW DRAWS COMMENT

Barefaced Defiance, Government Counsel Described Windsor Builders Action.

MAY PROSECUTE

WINDSOR, Ont., August 15 (Canadian Press). — Evidence to the effect that the Amalgamated Builders' Council has been functioning as usual in Windsor during the past few months despite the progress of an investigation into its affairs provoked sharp comment from Commissioner Gordon Waldron, K.C.. and F. W. Griffiths, K.C., Government counsel, at yesterday's session of the Royal Commission under Mr. Waldron.

"This is the most barefaced defiance of the law I have ever seen," declared Mr. Griffiths. "I have seriously considered referring the matter to the Attorney-General for his intervention and possible prosecution."

DEATH FOLLOWS AUTO COLLISION

Young Detroiter Dies Following Crash With Lady Driver.

FOUR OTHERS INJURED.

LONDON, Ont., August 15. (C.P.)— John Alexander Graham, 29, married, resident of Detroit, was fatally hurt, and four others slightly injured in a head-on collision of two motor cars between Strathroy and Parkhill late yesterday.

Graham died shortly after the accident. Those hurt were W. Graham, a brother, and William Flannigan, both of Detroit, occupants in the Graham car, and Miss Cora Peeple, St. Thomas, and George Farrell, of Grimsby. Miss Peeple was the driver of the other car.

There were about 5,000,000 negro slaves in the United States just before the outbreak of the Civil War.

W. M. NEWMAN NOMINATED AS HALIBURTON CANDIDATE

Chosen by Liberals and Progressive Prohibitions at Joint Meet

LINDSAY, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)— W. M. Newman, M.L.A. for Victoria and Haliburton, was unanimously nominated as a candidate to contest riding in the next Ontario election at a convention held yesterday at Fenelon Falls by Liberals and Progressive Prohibitionists.

The Liberals and Progressives held two separate conventions, after which they came together and nominated Mr. Newman.

HERE'S REAL BAD LUCK

SOUTH MANCHESTER, Conn., Aug. 14.—Fred Krah can claim some sort of championship over the bad luck he had recently. While he was fishing a neighbor appeared and told him his home was on fire. He tied his fish to a string and dropped them on the shore. He found his house destroyed, and on returning for his fish found he had placed them directly above the home of a turtle and that it had devoured them.

WILL GO TO CHAIR

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—A verdict of guilty, carrying with it death in the electric chair as the penalty, was returned against Dr. James R. Snook, confessed slayer of his young mistress, Theora K. Hix, 28 minutes after the jury of 11 men and one woman received his case.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Fresh cattle receipts at the Union stock yards were light but there were 1,100 stalled cattle still unsold. Trade remained quiet with cattle moving slowly at the week's slight decline of 25c to 50c on butchers.

Odd lots of handiweight steers sold at $7 to $10 a hundred with top heifers at $10. No heavy steers were sold up to 11 o'clock.

Butcher cows were firm at $7.25 to $8 a hundred for good to choice quality. Bologna bulls are plentiful but are holding steady at $5.25 to $6 a hundred. Shippers were bidding lower for store cattle and early sales were a shade easier. Salesmen expect to make a clean-up on the day's supply of cattle.

Calves continued to sell briskly at firm prices with choice vealelrs making 15 to 15½ and medium calves from 13 to 14½. No grass calves were offered.

Early hog prices were firm with truck hogs selling from $14.50 to $14.65 for select, which is on a basis of $15.25 to $15.40 off cars. Supply for the week has been very light and the market selling remains strong.

The lamb run for the week has been aparently too heavy for the buyers. Bids were $3 lower for the week at $12.50 for ewes and wethers. No lambs were sold up to noon.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—A sharp recovery, following a break in prices at the opening, occurred on the wheat market yesterday, and net gains of 2 1-8c to 2 3-8c were recorded at the close of trading. Buying by United States houses brought the market up from the low levels, and advances of 4½c to 5½c were shown at one period.

Very little export business was in evidence.

Cash wheat prices were generally unchanged. A good demand was displayed for all grades, but offerings were scarce, with the result that trading was fairly light.

Wheat delivered to country elevators Tuesday totalled 39,480 bushels, compared with 51,327 bushels on the same day last year.

Coarse grain trading was dull, with prices holding firm.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—With the exception of spring wheat flour which advanced 10c per barrel yesterday, there were no changes on the local grain market.

The butter market continued very quiet with prices unchanged. Receipts were 13 boxes, compared with 332 boxes on the same day last week.

Slightly higher prices were in evidence on the local cheese market, No. 1 Ontario white and colored selling at 17 5-8c per pound, and No. 1 Quebec white and colored selling at 16¾c per pound. Receipts were 2,621 boxes, against 8,867 boxes on the same day last week.

New fresh eggs were higher. Ontario fresh sold at 41c for extras, 38c for firsts and 26c for seconds, f.o.b. Ontario points. Retail prices were unchanged. Receipts were 2,621 boxes as against 1,034 cases on the same day last week.

The local potato market continued steady at $1.25 per 80 pounds for new potatoes locally grown.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 15. — Lively jumps in wheat prices yesterday accompanied reports that frost is menacing what drought has left of the wheat crop of Canada. Decided falling off in the amount of rural marketings of wheat in the United States tended strongly further to swing the wheat market upward, and so likewise did a big increase of flour trade as well as notably higher prices for corn.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 2⅝c a bushel higher than Tuesday's finish. Corn closed 2¼c to 3¼c up. Oats, ⅜c to 1⅝c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

Crops in Further Danger.

Official reports of freezing temperatures in Canada on Tuesday night were supplemented by predictions of a recurrence of frosts there last night threatening to damage the quality of wheat yields if not also the quantity. Moreover, extremely pessimistic advices regarding the Canadian wheat crop in other respects were also current to the effect that regardless of what railways or banks may say the Canadian Northwest has suffered as the result of the drought a crop disaster of magnitude unapproached in 25 years.

Corn prices advanced almost vertically. Oats sympathized with the upward trend of corn and of wheat as well.

Influenced by the action of grain, provisions recovered from early losses, notwithstanding that hog values averaged lower.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Very little change was noticed in basic conditions on the local wholesale produce market yesterday, and trading was comparatively quiet but firm in both butter and eggs. The butter market has shown little disposition to display any great amount of activity during the past few days, and dealers stated that it was very doubtful if much change would be evidenced for some days at least: supplies are arriving in quite sufficient quantities to answer all demands and as a result there is no upward price tendency as yet, although every confidence is expressed in the future trend. No. 1 creamery was quoted at 39 cents per pound and the No. 2 grade at from 37 to 38 cents per pound.

Prices were slightly firmer on the local wholesale egg market yesterday, with dealers reporting a very good demand for all available supplies. Eggs are still scarce in both Toronto and Montreal, but it was stated that some carlots of eggs are making their appearance from the West now, but have been meeting with rather light interest owing to the prices in effect at the present time. It is exceedingly difficut to strike an absolutely true price level at the present time as there is not enough trading going on to supply an accurate estimate, but the general consensus of prices offered to the country shipper for ungraded eggs delivered and cases returned is as follows: Fresh extras, 37 to 39 cents per dozen; fresh seconds, 23 to 24 cents per dozen.

A little more interest was noticed on the local cheese market yesterday than has been usual in the stagnant condition of the past, and the price of No. 1 large colored, paraffined and Government-graded cheese was quoted at from 18 to 18¼ cents per pound.

scored in one inning by the girls from Keene before there was a single put out. Each member of the team faced M. Hall, the Sixth Line hurler, and met her offerings with doubles, triples and a home run by F. McCarthy all contributed to the 10 runs that were scored in the sixth frame.

The line-ups:

Sixth Line — H. Weir, lf; H. Munro, cf; Donaldson, c; M. Hall, p; K. Walsh, rf; L. Boyle, 2b; M. Renwick, 1b; I. Davis, 3b; D. Chapman, ss.

Keene — H. Nelson, 2b; M. McCarthy, lf; J. Nelson, ss; F. McCarthy, 1b; I. Nelson, 3b; D. Gaynor, c; B. McCarthy, p; C. Nelson, cf; L. McCarthy, rf.

By this time the weather had cleared up and the day had turned out to be a winner, and the crowds lined the natural stadium which the bank of Rice Lake at this spot makes. It is an ideal place for water sports, all being able to see the races from the shore line.

The aquatic events which were scheduled were staged, and all the spectators, Judges and committee agreed unanimously that the events were the best contested in years, nearly all the finishes being close, making it hard for the judges to declare a winner.

The first race scheduled was the men's single canoe, which William Smoke crossed the finish line barely a hair's breadth ahead of Jack Smoke who came in second. The ladies' single canoe was captured by the Wallace sisters, who came in first and second ahead of their Indian rivals.

Unique Race.

The ladies' crab race turned out to be a unique affair most of the contestants, before they crossed the finish line, heading at one time or other for the Trent River, but Willene Wallace finally weaved her way across the finish line ahead of the field, and Miss Howard some time later warped her canoe in for second place.

In the men's crab race J. Deyell, paddling at the head of the flock of starters, missed a stroke and somersaulted over the bow of his craft, upsetting it and taking to the lake to finish the race.

Two sea fleas were on hand to make a race over the five-mile course laid out far into the lake. Don Wood and Albert Rockwell started, but young Rockwell had the same misfortune that happened to him at Bewdley and no sooner had he reached the wide expanse of the lake where the water was quite rough, than his boat struck some hidden obstacle, and over he went, leaving Wood to finish with his Johnston Sea Horse motor kicking up a fine spray. Wood immediately after finishing the line rushed to the aid of his companion racer.

The final race was four in a canoe, and over the choppy course it seemed inevitable but one of the low-setting craft should be swamped. However, no casualties were registered, and all crossed the winning point safely.

One of the reasons for the success of the regatta is the fact that everyone in the community digs in and does his share of the work and there is nothing left for the other fellow to do. The regatta has a regular organization, of which J. J. Moore is president, and the other officers are: Secy.-treasurer, G. S. Taylor; auditor, D. Brown; Publicity Committee, T. J. Walsh and G. S. Taylor; Tagging Committee, M. Keenley, G. Bolin, M. O'Keefe, J. J. Drummond, R. Nelson, and D. D. Brown; Grounds Committee, G. Bolin, R. J. McCamus, J. H. Cruickshanks, M. Keenley; Race Committee, T. J. Walsh, W. A. Fletcher, and R. J. McCamus; Dance Committee, C. Nelson, E. Doris, G. Howson, and W. Nelson.

The starters were Zack Smoke, R. J. McCamus, Godfrey, and McCamus. Zack Smoke unconsciously staged an exhibition of canoemanship himself when starting the races, the way he handled the frail craft in the choppy sea while starting the racers on their way.

The final affair of the day was a big gala dance in Keene Town Hall, when Moncrief's eight-piece orchestra supplied the music for the evening's event.

The results of the aquatic events were:

Men's Single Canoe—1, Bill Smoke; 2, Jack Smoke.

Ladies' Single Canoe—1, Willene Wallace; 2, Eleanor Wallace.

Mixed Tandem—1, Earl Smoke and Miss Smoke; 2, Noah Smoke and Miss Howard.

GERALD POTTS

The start was made from the upstream end of the outer wharf. The course led up-stream on the south side for almost a half mile, then south across the base of the triangular and down-stream on the south side to the apex turning point a few yards up-stream from the starting point. The start was at 2.15¼ p.m. Before three laps were finished, three of the swimmers had had enough. The three left in the water were Adler, Potts and Agnes Wight, the only girl entry. But the other two miles looked long to her and she gave up when she was just starting on her second last circuit. This left only two men still in the water. Adler was well in the lead and going strong. Potts came ploughing along far in the rear. One hour, fifty-seven and three-quarter minutes after he had taken to the water, Adler swam back to the starting point, his five miles finished while Potts was doing four. Without even a cheer, he was helped onto the pier and disappeared into the crowd with his small circle of friends. Half an hour later, two hours and thirty-three minutes from the time he started, Potts was helped out at the pier after his five miles. For him there were cheers and greeting from auto horns.

Prizes Presented

The feature of the evening was the presentation of the regatta prizes at White Hall Gardens, where Roy Locksley and his Canadians were supplying the music for dancing. For the first time in many months, both pavilions were operating and the village section of the Trent River summer resort, looked more like the hub of a busy city than the quiet village where people come to rest. The prizes were presented by Reeve H. B. Rye of North Monaghan. Roy Locksley and his Canadians are the orchestra from Rye's Pavilion, Peterborough.

While there was a ripple of applause as each of the prize winners came forward to receive their honors, when Gerald Potts stepped up to receive his cup, there was a thunder of hand clapping. It was the last trophy to handed to the swimmer by C. L. Shannon of Marmora. Adler was called, but apparently had not remained for the presentation.

The dancing continued unabated till the dancers decided to call it a night and the crowd dwindled to only a few couples.

Prize-Winners.

The following is a complete list of the events and the winners, also the names of those who donated the prices:

SITUATION GROWS DARK

Asahi reported that Chu offered the arrest of Tsai because Nankin charged Tsai with exceeding his authority and playing into the hands of Russian envoys.

Jealousy Indicated.

Rengo Agency despatches merely said that Chu telegraphed Nankin denouncing the attitude of Mukden officials.

Differences between the policies of Nankin and Mukden became apparent as soon as Chu arrived in Manchuria, where he was received with much coolness. Mukden is said to desire settlement of the Chinese Eastern Railway dispute as a local question, obviating any share for Nankin.

Rengo despatches from Harbin said thirty-nine Russian citizens arrested in the Chinese raid on the Russian Consulate-General on May 27 have begun a hunger strike because they have been imprisoned so long without the semblance of a trial.

Pogroms Are Feared.

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—Disquieting reports of danger threatening the safety of the JeJwish population of the City of Harbin, Manchuria, have reached the Soviet pres.

These reports said many Russian White Guards were flocking to the city. They had organized an "Actions Committee" under the leadership of an officer named Tashkeff, who was responsible for many anti-Jewish pogroms in Ru[illegible] during the Deniken period. The Jewish population is apprehensive. Heads of families are sending their wives and daughters away from the city.

TAKAKKAW[illegible]LS, YOHO PARK.

The stream which culminates in the famous Takakkaw Falls in Yoho National Park, British Columbia, is fed by the melting waters of the Waputik icefield which lies upon the summit of the Great Divide. Flowing down the mountain for over half a mile it reaches the precipice that walls the east side of the Yoho Valley. Here it takes an initial leap of 150 feet over the edge, then, gathering itself together, falls in a glorious curtain 1,000 feet down the face of the cliff, and finally tumbles in a magnificent cascade of 500 feet into Yoho River.

Two Ohio Men Narrowly Escape Injury at Scott's Corners.

Two Ohio men had a narrow escape from death early this morning about 3 o'clock when the large sedan which they were driving missed the turn at Scott's Corners on the Highway and rolled over in the ditch.

From all appearances, the car was travelling at a fast pace, and, it is alleged, that the sedan turned over four or five times. The occupants, R. P. Nevitt, of Dayton, Ohio, owner of the car, and a friend were uninjured in the crash, although after it had rolled over, it buried its nose in the soft shoulder of the Highway, and marks on the top of the car show footprints where the passengers had to walk to get out of the car.

An emergency call was put into J. K. Hughes, Ltd., and their service car went down to the scene of the accident at that hour, and brought the wrecked car to this city.

It is badly damaged, the right running board, rear fender and rear wheel were completely torn off, while the left fenders, running board and wheels were badly crushed. The top was battered in places, and the lights were demolished when the big car finally buried its radiator into the mud after its mad career.

Car Takes Ditch.

A light sedan owned by R. Murphy of Stewart Street came to grief yesterday just this side of the bridge at Indian River, when a pin dropped out of the front spring, causing the car to roll over on its side. None of the occupants of the car were injured, and the sedan was brought to the city by J. K. Hughes' service truck.

CAMPBELLFORD
Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous

One new Chevrolet sedan is in for repairs as a result of its driver having run by a red light. The car was coming across the Bridge street bridge about eight o'clock last night, and the driver did not stop at the red light placed as a danger signal. Instead he ran into the rope barrier which resulted in a broken radiator cap and a shattered windshield.

ROTARY FAIRS

Yesterday evening, Cobourg Rotary Club held its street fair. There were two parties there from Campbellford. Mayor Davidson, Councillor Abernothy, Reeve Bygott and H. N. Lapp, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, constituted one party. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tripp and Mrs. Tripp's mother, Mrs. Williams, were the other party.

Campbellford merchants were among those who patronized the Trent River regatta, in so far as the prize list is concerned, anyway. On the list of prize donors we notice the names of P. C. Denyes, owner of the Blue Front Hardware; Linton Bros.: F. F. Long, baker and confectioner; Herb. Leonard, Haberdasher; Dr. O. C. Watson, dentist; T. S. Tait and Son, hardware, and W. J. Armstrong, dry goods. Of these, Linton Bros., and Dr. Watson are the only property owners at the summer resort.

CAMPBELLFORD ADVERTISED

Campbellford is bound to be advertised. Old Home Week did more than a little to bring the Old Town to the front. But that is over now. People say the town is dead since he celebration ended, but Carlton W. Adller, professional swimmer, expressed the opinion that he would take up the five-mile marathon swim at Trent River Regatta yesterday afternoon with the A.A.U. Adler is, for the present at least, a resident of Campbellford. He has made his training camp here since the marathon swim of Old Home week when he finished seventh.

The winter circuit of Canadian Chautauqua is being sold in town. The representatives require twenty-five names to authorize the booking. Last night eleven had been secured.

Yesterday was the closing date of the contest sponsored by the local weekly. The prizes have been announced. Miss Gladys Stephens has been awarded first honours, Frederick L. Blake is in second place. The third prize was won by a young lady of Morganston and Miss Roxie Wilson won fourth.

A MINSTREL LEAVES US.

The departure of Richard J. Devey for Perth about the end of this month will be sincerely regretted by his many friends in Peterborough. His twenty-three years' residence here ripened his numerous personal contacts into the warmer and enduring sentiment of friendship, and in that sense alone his removal will be a loss that will be felt beyond the narrower circle of his necessarily special interests and endeavours.

Excepting the Conservatory whose broader scope sets it apart, none of the musicians who have lived in this city during the last quarter of a century contributed more to the musical life of the community than did Mr. Devey. His long service as organist of St. John's Church won him a respect that extended far beyond the limits of that congregation by reason of the general public interest in such sacred choral works as Stainer's "Crucifixion," Haydn's "Creation," "Olivet to Calvary," and similar cantatas. His production of the "Messiah" in the Grand Opera House was one of his outstanding successes, but after all these compositions with their religious themes, Mr. Devey will be best remembered by many of his admirers for the pleasant hours he provided for them with his fine performances of Gilbert and Sullivan light operas, "The Geisha," in which he starred Lavina Hallihan, and which won a request performance from Earl Grey, then Governor-General, richly deserved the compliments of press critics here and in Toronto, but the "Mikado," "San Toy" and "The Greek Slave" were almost as well sung. One of the memorable episodes of the old Grand Opera House, crowded with the echoes of tuneful musical comedies, was the San Toy duet, a contribution for which we shall always be grateful to Mr. Devey. His Greek Slave chorus is another agreeable recollection. And in all his efforts Mr. Devey's selection of talent was confined to no narrow boundaries. This broad spirit was characteristic of all his associations here. He was a very capable accompanist, and looking back over his activities, it may be said of him that he gave to the people of Peterborough, his choirs, his choruses and his audiences, far more than he received.

R. J. Devey, and also Mrs. Devey, leave a large credit behind them which can be repaid only in the abiding esteem of their friends.

THE DOG CATCHER'S VICTIM.

It may seem strange to the man on the street that Magistrate Langley could not promptly exercise the discretion which is presumed to be within his authority in behalf of the war veteran whose dog may be destroyed because he cannot afford a license for it. The city by-law requiring the owner of a dog to obtain a tag for it is surely not so inelastic and ponderous that it could not be stretched or properly circumvented as a concession to this veteran who is still suffering from the effects of having been gassed at the front. The corporation of Peterborough has been so generous to its soldiers in large matters that it should be all the more considerate in such a trifle as a dollar dog tax, especially in such an appealing case as this one. Magistrate Langley need not have hesitated to assure Andrew Jackson, of 211 Stewart street, that the necessary license would be a gift from the city. The City Council would certainly have supported the magistrate, gently daring beyond the letter of the by-law.

Of course, the owners of dogs must take out licenses as the statute commands, but this was a deserving exception which the court could have recognized without encouraging delinquents. And it is altogether likely that there are quite a number of dogs running around without this year's tags. It is rather unfortunate that the official dog catcher was so persistently dutiful that he decided to make an example of Andrew Jackson, whose dog is the companion of his light daily exercise of walking, as ordered by his doctor.

UNNECESSARY SEVERITY.

The rough rout of Communists by Toronto police Tuesday night seems to have been an instance of the remedy being worse than the disease. Canadians have no more sympathy for Communism than they have for the Russian method of cossacking a crowd, which, according to the Toronto Mail and Empire reporters, was the method of dispersal some of Chief of Police Draper's men employed.

It is no doubt true that Toronto's radical agitators are publicity-seekers, as the chief remarked, but unnecessary violence used against them as on this occasion simply multiplies the publicity they get by incalculable columns, aside from the ordinarily unmerited sympathy that would be aroused in the minds of curious spectators who witnessed the one-sided skirmish and were themselves swept along by the wave of police.

The following is a description of official thuggery as quoted from the Mail: "Before MacDonald (Communist leader) could utter a word, a uniformed constable rushed at a tangent from the direction in which MacDonald was being pushed and struck him on the lips.

"MacDonald leaned forward. In doing so he broke the grips on his arms. A plainclothesman kicked him from behind, and he half turned, saying: 'I'll go, don't do that.'

"He straightened up and started to run northeastward. Two plainclothesmen and a uniformed policeman followed him. A plainclothesman wearing a straw hat and blue suit, and about 30 years of age, kicked him nine times before he fell. MacDonald crawled to his feet from his hands and knees, etc."

Such bluecoat brutality may have won more recruits for MacDonald, and possibly for his ideas, than his own ranting might have enlisted in a score of meetings. No wonder Mayor McBride demands the disciplining of the few constables whose natural violence found this opportunity of expression.

Deportation is a much quieter and safer way of disposing of undesirables than assaulting them in a mob scene in the shadow of Ontario's Legislative Buildings. And if Toronto police are unable to handle them in a reasonable manner, the provincial authorities should intervene.

AN OLYMPIAN COMING TO MAIN STREET.

Radio has made a notable conquest in the announcement of a series of concerts to be broadcast by the Philadelphia Orchestra under the leadership of Leopold Stokowski. This is almost the last of the great American symphonic organizations to yield to the invisible audience of millions within the range of the National Broadcasting Company's continental hook-up. The first concert will be given on October 6, the second on November 3 and the last on December 8. They are sponsored by the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company. The announcement explains that only recently has reception been sufficiently good to bring in such an organization as Stokowski's famous band.

That may be, but there have probably been other factors which have restrained the big orchestras from passing under the yoke of radio. It was felt that programs over the air would keep music-lovers away from the regular concerts which have long been outstanding features in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and other United States cities, and thereby threaten the very existence of the orchestras in spite of their ample endowments. There is also the artistic consideration, the traditional conviction, and doubtless well founded, that these sensitive, if not temperamental, bands require the inspiration of a personal audience to evoke their best work. And probably there has existed a prejudice against the radio, a sense of disparagement because of its jazz and other appeal to the multitude, placing it far down in the esteem of Olympians like Walter Damrosch of the New York Philharmonic, Stock of Chicago, Stokowski of Philadelphia, Koussevitsky of Boston, Gabrilovitch of Detroit and others. But this prejudice has been gradually broken down as the discrimination of the public has developed to the stage that welcomed the Damrosch series of radio concerts last winter.

It is all a good sign, as one after another these orchestras accept a radio as an asset to music. It broadens and deepens the people's knowledge of the great symphonies and other classics, and cultivates an appreciation of such unexcelled musical instruments as the Philadelphia Orchestra. Until television is commercialized, however, the radio audiences will miss the interesting experience of seeing Stokowski in action.

A CONSTITUTIONAL PROBLEM.

A new problem in constitutional procedure for lawyers to study over has been presented by the action of the supporters of Dr. Anderson recently elected to the Provincial Legislature. Conservatives, Independents and Progressives met after the election and made public announcement of the fact that they had decided to form a "co-operative government" and that Premier Gardiner, with a minority in the new Legislature, should promptly resign. But the Premier refused to resign, and insisted that he had a constitutional right to meet the Legislature before admitting that he had lost its confidence. The Opposition members, who had previously confined their announcement to the press, then served formal notice on the Premier of their plans, sending it to him by registered mail and supporting it by sworn statements. With the Premier still unmoved, Dr. Anderson adopted the novel expedient of calling directly upon the Lieutenant-Governor, armed with signed statements from his various supporters and demanding that Premier Gardiner be dismissed and that he be installed in his stead.

Since the Lieutenant-Governor must be guided by his Ministers' advice so long as they are in office, purists might object that the Lieutenant-Governor had no proper means of receiving Dr. Anderson, and no means of replying to him except through his present advisers. Lieutenant-Governor Newlands, however, did not stick on this point of procedure, but received Dr. Anderson, and after a certain time for consideration of his request, refused it, intimating that Dr Anderson and his followers would have to make their position clear in the usual manner when the Legislature meets.

It is somewhat difficult for those outside of political circles at Regina to understand either why Premier Gardiner insists on retaining office only to face what looks like inevitable defeat as soon as the Legislature meets, or on the other hand, just why the Opposition members-elect attach such importance to getting Mr. Gardiner and his colleagues out of office a few weeks earlier than September 3, when the Legislature is to meet. Premier King, at Ottawa, extracted a good deal of benefit out of a political crisis that involved the theory of what part His Majesty's representative should play, but opportunity for any such benefit appears to be lacking in this case.

But precedents have been created which will at least provide material for law students to debate.—Financial Post.

THINK IT OVER.

This is a dead town; nothing to do around here.

Ever hear that remark? Chances are that you have.

Often it is made by some young person who doesn't know what to do for the evening. Most of the young people are away and there is no prospect of finding agreeable company.

Thus, when thrown on their own resources, young people are apt to use some such phrase: This is a dead town; nothing to do around here.

It's worth a little study. Doesn't it really mean, that, thrown on their own initiative, forced to find something that will entertain or instruct or amuse, these young people are at a loss. What they really want is that some other person should entertain them, or suggest something to do.

They have simply become used to dropping in with a crowd, and depending on some other person to do the thinking and the planning.

Older people of a class suffer from the same complaint. They are not of the student type, they do not care for reading, they have not taken the trouble to develop friendships on a lasting basis, and probably they have no accomplishments which they can indulge when thrown on their own resources.

Really that complaint about this being a dead town and nothing to do here is an admission of weakness on the part of the person making it.—Stratford Beacon.

ANSWERS "IN A QUANDRY"

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir:

Your editorial in yesterday's Examiner entitled "In A Quandry", must have been written before the police court news of the day was compiled. You strongly criticize the Globe for its attitude on Government Sale of liquor in Canada, while in the same issue of your paper is ample evidence to convince anyone with an open mind that drinking and crime are greatly increasing under the present system. Under Police Court News we find the following: A young man and woman with a two months old baby were found operating a still and doing a large business—A young man found drunk in charge of a car—A young man having liquor without a permit—A family row in East City, starting over a bottle of wine — A drinking bout by three young farmers, and a young man dead drunk in a truck on the Norwood road. Quite a list for one day. Then in the next column under "Main Street Topics" is a disgusting account of a young man reeling along the street on Sunday morning, embracing the posts, etc., and being nearly run over by an automobile. Now if you could add to this all the infractions of the law not discovered by the police, you would surely have enough evidence, Mr. Editor to convince any one that Government sale of liquors is working well in the interests of the liquor traffic, but not in the interests of temperance and sobriety.

Yours truly,

J. O. TOTTEN.

The Parsonage, Bridgenorth

Ed.—The editorial did not "strongly criticize" the Globe. It was a brief statement of two sets of facts, one of which presented the Globe's attitude toward Government "sale of liquor" and the other presented a few of the similar effects of illicit sale of liquor under prohibition in the United States.

A Thought

A PURPOSE

One of the rarest arts of life is to be serious of purpose without losing that lightness of touch which diffefrentiates the interesting personality from the bore. The man who is profound and pretentious about everything and who looks upon the whimsical and humorous side of existence as something to be shunned is one of the curses of a civilization which demands that everyone shall be at least partially educated. Only their wives know the full tragedy of living with them.

What To-day Means To You.

"LEO."

If August 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7.30 a.m. to 8.30 a.m., from noon to 1.30 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11.30 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The astrological influences in force on this date will be in tune with the spiritual side of your makeup, and the blessings of the day cannot be reckoned in material terms. There will be victorious conquests of self, sacrifices, and difficulties to overcome.

Children born on this August 15 will like to have their own way and will be very determined in their efforts to secure it. They will make friends slowly, but hold them long. They will have an unbreakable loyalty, and will quickly fight for those whom they love.

You are temperamentally a "safety first" type of person. It is a comfortable policy to follow, but it is seldom if ever the most profitable. It denotes a lack of courage. You are seldom ready to take a chance, and the urge of adventure is not sufficiently strong within you to egg you on. You are afraid to invest in self, you shy at your opportunities, you are afraid of failures. You do not take into consideration that experience, success of failure, in itself, is capital. You are afraid to call on your reserves, your latent abilities, until it is too late. You have disappointed Nature by neglecting the cultivation of the gifts you have, or grasping opportunities.

You are an indefatigable worker, conscientious to an extreme, neat and painstaking. The quality of your work cannot be criticised, but you can be criticised for not branching out further, for being satisfied with mediocre returns. Although not original or inventtive, you are a good student, and you have good discrimination and judgment. You go into things thoroughly, and have the patience to master details. On the whole, you are a very well-informed person. You do not, however, capitalize or advertise your knowledge or ability, as much as you should. You hide your intellectuality.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD LOYALTY.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—"The dogs got lost and I had to stay with them all night," was the explanation given by seven-year-old Francis Paschal when found by a search party who had scoured the nearby woods all the previous night for him.

The youngster, a visitor from the United States, was staying with relatives on the Loch Lomond road and took the two dogs for a walk in the early evening. When he did not return at dusk a search party was organized and spent the night in the woods, but were unsuccessful in their efforts to locate the boy.

Shortly after sunrise the shouts of the party were answered and the youngster found with the two dogs about three miles from the road.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 17.

"Jealous of what!" she exclaimed.

"Oh—anybody. Haven't you ever been jealous?"

She reflected.

"Yes, I think so. I remember a girl named Mary Patricia O'Connor, down in the office—she's married now. And she had seven brothers and sisters, and a wonderful sort of mother," Beatrice said, dreamily, wistfully. "And it used to give me a sort of heartache"—she pursued—"the fun they all had, when Mummy was so worried and Marcia ill. I remember thinking that she was lucky. And that"—she finished, gently bumping her forehead against his, her hands locked about his collar—"that's jealousy, isn't it?"

"I don't know. Not my sort," Hugh said.

"Your sort! As if you ever had to be jealous of anyone, Hugh!" Beatrice exclaimed scornfully. "Why, who is ahead of you? Duval Fairfax, I suppose?" she asked ironically.

"No," Hugh answered, hesitantly. "Not exactly. But I suppose a man could be jealous—of a younger man?" he began.

"It would all depend upon what the younger man had that he wanted," Beatrice said, carelessly, unimpressed.

"Or what he had that the young man wanted—might want," Hugh amended it, watching her.

"It seems to me," she theorized, "that an older person has something and a younger person has somheting—nobody has everything. Young persons are usually discontented, aren't they?"

"Are you?" he asked, smiling.

"No, but I'm lucky, Hugh."

"Do you really think you are, Bee?"

"Think! I know I am. Now, Bert—" she began, and paused.

"What about Bert?" Hugh asked quickly, lightly. "What made you brin.. Bert in?"

"Well, I was thinking about him. Bert's not happy," Beatrice said.

"What"—Hugh cleared his throat—"what makes you think so, dear?" he asked.

"Well, he's restless. He's not interested, exactly, in what he's doing. He says he's no engineer, that he's an artist."

"He wants to go back to Paris?" Hugh asked, after a pause, in a carefully leveled voice.

"No, he doesn't," she answered eagerly, delighted to reassure him. "He says he wants to stay right here—except he said that if you should win the Kreutzmann prize he'd love to come to California, if we were out there for a year and maybe get into scene designing, or something, in the movies."

"I think nothing in the world would give me as much satisfaction as to have him settled," Bert's father said slowly, out of a silence.

"Settled?" she echoed, interested and alert. "How do you mean, Hugh?"

"Doing work he wanted to do," he said.

"You mean, making good with the firm—" Beatrice interpreted it, after a study of his face.

"That prefreably, of course. But doing anything that kept him absorbed, that showed he was in earnest," Hugh stipulated.

"Even if it wasn't here in North Underhill?" Beatrice demanded, in surprise.

"Oh, yes, wherever—or whatever—it chanced to be," Hugh said.

"You don't think he's an architect, then, Hugh?" she asked, a little chilled.

"Yes, of course he is. He's shown some brilliant promise. And yet—no, I don't think he's an architect; I don't think he's anything," Hugh confessed, in a quiet, somewhat despondent voice.

"And it's a disappointment to you?" she asked quickly, sensitively.

"Well, ambition is a good thing in a man, Bee."

"You have it, haven't you?" Beatrice said affectionately.

"A little."

"You've set your heart on the Kreutzman thing, haven't you, Hugh?" she pursued.

"No, I couldn't exactly say that, dear. Of course I'd like to get it. It's a lot of money, to begin with——"

"But you don't need the money, Hugh!"

"No, that true. But it would be a feather in my cap."

"As if," said Beatrice fondly, proudly, "you needed feathers!"

"Anyone with a beautiful and extravagant wife needs feathers!"

"Not you. You're perfect as you are!" Beatrice told him.

"We are late for luncheon," she announced, twenty minutes later, to the family group, "because I was telling Hugh how smart he is!"

"Well, that's a good excuse to offer his mother, anyway," old Mrs. Challoner said, pleased, from the head of the table.

Beatrice looked up, smiling. Her look met Bert's glance. His face was quite without significant expression; there was just a hint of elevation to his brows, just the faint suggestion of a smile about his mouth; an odd, intent, yet perfectly blank look in his eyes.

The hot color rushed into her face; she did not know why. She laughed a little shamefacedly, and as he serenely removed his gaze hated herself for the little laugh. Nobody else seemed to see anything amiss, but the uncomfortable moment returned to Beatrice's thoughts more than once during the long, hot afternoon.

"Hugh," somebody said suddenly during the luncheon, "Mrs. Kavanagh's back!"

"No?" Hugh smiled, looking up. "I didn't hear that."

"It was in Madame La Bavarde yesterday. Bee, why don't you read the society notes?" Pauline White reproached her.

Beatrice laughed joyfully.

"Because Hugh and I are not in society, are we, Hugh?"

"Certainly you are!" her mother-in-law said firmly. She seemed displeased. "What's that woman doing back here?" she asked.

"Mrs. Kavanagh?" Hugh interrogated in turn, as the question seemed directed to him. "I haven't the faintest idea. I met Millie Hotchkiss downtown the other day, taking a child to the dentist, and she said that Aileen would probably spend the whole summer in England, or Wales, or somewhere," he said.

"She's the one whose husband died?" Beatrice asked. Bert exploded into a senseless laugh, but nobody else laughed, and he subsided.

"She's in town, I suppose?" old Mrs. Challoner muttered. "I hope she'll stay there!"

"She's probably down at the Hotchkiss place, right up the lake here," Minnie White contributed thoughtfully. "Too hot for town! H'm!" She paused, pondering. "She'll turn up this afternoon, if I know Aileen Kavanaugh," she predicted.

Mrs. Challoner looked thoughtful, finally echoing her daughter's "H'm!" Nobody else spoke for a minute, and then everyone began at once, on totally unrelated topics.

It was sunset, after they had been swimming, when they were all lying about the cove, "like flies," Bert said unpoetically, that Mrs. Kavanaugh drove by in a little open roadster neatly cased in brown canvas, stopped, and waved, before she came down and joined them on the shore, and was introduced.

Beatrice had heard of her often, an old family friend and a great friend of Alice, a widow, who had been abroad for almost a year. She had never met her before.

Aileen Kavanaugh was thin and dark, with beautiful, black, soft eyes, eager, nervous hands, and eager, nervous body, and a quick-moving, nervous mouth. Her skin was clear brunette, with red on the thin cheek bones; her hair, satin black, was swept smoothly back under the small black hat she wore.

Her clothing said "Paris," even to Beatrice's inexperienced eyes. The dress was frail, scanty, without ornament. A loose soft coat of some lusterless thin stuff completed the costume; it was without fur or trimming, though stitched into a sort of ruff about Aileen's shoulders, and hung open.

An unsmiling woman, her brown face was alert and controlled, but not smiling. She sat down next to Hugh.

"It seems natural to have you back, Aileen," Hugh said.

"It seems good to get back."

"You've been abroad a long time, Mrs. Kavanaugh?"

"Seventeen months, Mrs. Challoner. Mr. Kavanaugh died in August, you know, and I wandered about for a while, not knowing exactly what to do with myself."

"I remember hearing someone in the family—perhaps it was Hugh—speak of it."

"Perhaps it was Hugh," Mrs. Kavanaugh echoed impassively, glancing at him with her soft black eyes, from under the narrow brim of her black hat.

"I sailed in August, and got home the day Dad and Bee were married," Bert said, "and it was in the paper that day." Beatrice noticed that he was watching them all with a rather odd expression.

"It was as close as that was it?" the newcomer said, in a quiet, unhurried voice.

"As close as what?" Bert asked, glancing at his father.

"Your father's marriage and Arthur Kavanaugh's death, Bert," the visitor answered reflectively. "He died on August 27th."

"The day before!" Beatrice said, struck.

"Was it?" Mrs. Kavanaugh said dreamily.

FINANCE BODY IS ADJOURNED

Hoped Two Days Would Give France and Britain Time to Find Solution.

GREECE GIVES VIEWS.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The financial committee of the conference in session here to consider the Young Plan today adjourned to Saturday after listening to Louis Loucheur, France, and Premier Venizelos, Greece, discourse on deliveries in kind, as part payment of German reparations.

An official communique said adjournment was taken "in order to give the delegations a chance to continue negotiations begun on deliveries and annuities."

It was hoped generally the two days would permit Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the French delegation to discover a common ground for negotiations looking to reconciliation of their national viewpoints.

Mr. Snowden has said the Young Plan is not acceptable to Great Britai except in revised form which would allow his Government a greater percentage of German reparations.

TEXAS MAYOR TELLS OF PETERBORO TRIP

Says People Under Wrong Impression of His Far Southern State.

The attention of The Examiner has been brought to an account in the Dilley Herald of Dilley, Texas, U. S. A. of the trip of H. A. Sackville, the mayor of Dilley, to Peterborough during Old Home Week. In the article Mr. Sackville describes his long journey from the far South up to Peterborough, writing that he passed through the flood districts of the Mississippi and saw evidence which still remains of the tremendous damage done.

Indications regarding the corn and cotton crops that he saw while passing up the continent were generally reassuring. He was impressed with the beauty of the trip.

In the article, Mr. Sackville writes that he particularly enjoyed the ten days spent in Peterborough. "They were pleasantly spent in visiting relatives, renewing the acquaintance of old school mates and teachers, boating on the rivers and lakes and automobiling to nearby summer resorts. Many of these resorts are almost entirely occupied by people from U. S. A. who spend their summer there every year along this beautiful chain of lakes.

Interested In State

"What impressed me most on the whole trip was the keen interest shown by every one with whom I came in contact in regard to anything relating to Texas. There, present ideas on Texas would have been about right forty years ago and it required considerable explaining to convince and satisfy them that we are now occupying one of the most fertile regions in America and whose possibilities still remain undeveloped.

Sell Texas Tomatoes

"The great number of carloads of spinach, onions and other winter vegetables originating in this section to be found in Ontario could hardly be comprehended. Upon examination of the fresh tomatoes being sold in groceries and fruit stands in Peterborough, my usual comment was, 'I see you are selling "Texas" tomatoes."

TRADING DULL NEW YORK CURB

Market Irregular Following Uneasiness Over Federal Reserve Loan Statement.

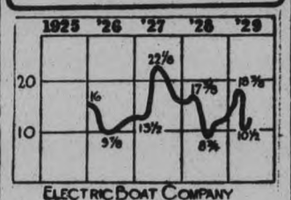
CALL MONEY UNCHANGED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 15. — Canadian Press).—Uneasiness over the weekly Federal Reserve Brokers' loan statement, to be issued after the close of the market, brought about further irregularity in to-day's stock market, although the main tendency was again upward Trading turned rather dull but there was evidence of organized buying in a rather wide assortment of public utilities, rails and merchandising shares.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent. after having dropped to 6 in yesterday's late trading, and there was no change in other monetary accommodations. Further withdrawals of gold in London for shipment to New York were announced during the day. But its effect on the credit situation will not be apparent until after is arrival nex week.

U. S. Steel common quieted down after its spectacular advance of the past week. The stock opened unchanged at 238, advanced to 239, fell back to below 236 and then rallied to the day's high figure in the early afternoon. Vanadium and Michigan Steels turned heavy but Otis Steel was marked up nearly 4 points.

STOCK A DAY



ELECTRIC BOAT COMPANY

The Electric Boat Company was organized in 1925 to take over from the Submarine Boat Corporation the units and subsidiaries engaged in the manufacture of submarine boats, Diesel engines, air compressors and other ships machinery. One of the big assets of the company is the right of a subsidiary to collect not less than one-half cent a pound on all duralumin manufactured and sold in the United States.

The company is engaged chiefly in the manufacture of submarines sold to the United States and foreign goverarments, the boats being constructed by subcontractors under the company's direction and patents here and abroad. The company through a subsidiary also builds pleasure boats. The company has plants at Bayonne, N. J., and Groton, Conn.

The company encountered adverse shipbuilding conditions in 1928. The trend of earnings has been downward owing to disarmament conferences and naval reduction programs but the pleasure boat unit has had good business. The company's gross declined 16 per cent in 1928 but the net rose to $941,813 owing to a special dividend from the New London Ship and Engine company, a subsidiary.

Funded debt in the form of real estate mortgages totals $671,016. Capital stock outstanding consists of 800,000 shares of common of no par value. On the stock of the predecessor company the last dividend was paid in 1917. No dividends have been paid since.

As of January 1, 1929, total current assets amounted to $6,683,363, total current liabilities were $2,348,612 and net working capital was $4,334,751. Book value applicable to the capital stock amounted to $9.89 a share.

Gaius Gracchus, the Roman tribune who lived 145 B. C. was the first to inaugurate farm relief by distributing grain to the poor. He supplied, at the expense of the Roman government, a bushel and a quarter per month at half price — the charge amounting to about 30 cents a bushel.

SETS RECORD AT 140 MARK

Rapid Rise Features Otherwise Quiet Session On Toronto Curb.

TRADING FIRM.

TORONTO, Ont., August 15 (Canadian Press). — The feature of an otherwise quiet market was provided on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning when Standard Steel shot up 24 points to 140. At 116 this stock reached a new high for the year yesterday. The earnings for the half-year are rumored to be running considerably ahead of last year, and there is only a small supply of stock available. Yesterday the stock rose 16 points.

Stock available consists of 10,000 preferred shares and 15,000 no par common shares. The common stock was allotted in the form of a bonus when the preferred issue was floated. The preferred is on $3.00 dividend basis and any further disbursements in 1929 are likely to be made on the preferred.

TRADING FIRM.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning assumed a firm tone, for which a number of special issues were chiefly responsible.

Standard Steel, on reports of increased earnings, shot up to 140 for a gain of 24 at the opening and then re-acted to 130, with sales showing an increased interest. Service Stations also continued to attract attention, leading in activity with sales of 630 on its common stock which rose 3 to 74. The Preferred added 5 at 145. Interest in Service Stations also continued to attract attention, leading in activity with sales of 6,030 on its common stock, which rose 3 to 74. The Preferred added 5 at 145. Interest in Service Stations is connected with that in the oil group, but these issues did not show much change under continued activity.

Building Products displayed strength and activity to rise 3 to 37. DeForest Crossley regained the 7 points lost yesterday, reaching 72; F. N. Burt rose 1⅝ to 64¾, and there were fractional advances in Lake Superior 24¼, Ford 43½, and Canada Gypsum 120½. Abitibi added 1 at 57.

Brazilian and International Nickel, which yielded the leadership to other issues, the former dropping a fraction to 70, and Nickel remaining at 51. Both Loblaw issues declined slightly at 22½ and 22.

STOCKHOLDERS MAY GET BIG BONUSES

Expected To Accompany Dividend Distributions of Lake Shore Mine Company.

TORONTO, Aug. 15. — Substantial bonuses are expected to accompany dividend distributions of Lake Shore on September 15 and December 15, either that or a particularly large distribution on December 15. During 1928 the company paid dividends of 20 cents per share for the first three quarters, while for the last quarter a bonus of 20 cents accompanied the dividend. This year, while earnings have far exceeded the 1928 record, yet the dividend rate of 20 cents quarterly has prevailed. A factor entering into the present situation, of course, is the enlargement this month of about 15 to 20 per cent. in mill capacity, and the further construction to be completed this year which will give the plant a 100 per cent. increase over that prevailing at the beginning of the year. This will involve heavy expenditure.

Owing to the nature of the work in hand at Falconbridge, this company has been more or less out of the news for some time. Construction on the smelter is making rapid progress, brick work on the dust chamber having been completed and the steel work placed in position for the erection of the furnace and converter building. The chimney has reached a height of 175 feet. Plans have been prepared and contracts let for the erection of 25 houses for permanent employees and the establishment of a townsite near the mine is planned. In the Falconbridge mine, development work is concentrated on two levels, the 250 and 1,000-foot horizons. At the deeper level, the ore body will be crosscut at 200-foot intervals and a diamond drilling campaign started this fall. The intention is to prepare the 250-foot level for intensive mining in order to have it ready when the smelter is blown in at the end of the year.

Rumors that recent diamond drilling below the 975-foot level of Noranda has encountered new ore are spiked by official information. The report referred to intimated that a new ore body had been encountered at a depth of around 1,500 feet. However, officials state that there has been no drilling recently to that depth. The rumor probably originated through recent mention of a development some time ago at the 1,600 foot horizon. It will be recalled that drilling to the later depth north of the known limits of "H" ore body encountered ore. It is not known definitely whether this ore is a continuation of the "H" deposit or an extension of a separate occurrence. There have been no recent changes in production. Profits are at the rate of around $100,000 per week, while next month will probably witness the proposed large increase in output.

The world's rarest stamp, for which nearly $38,000 was paid recently, is on exhibition at the National Philatelic Exhibition at Havre, France.

CANADA LEADS WORLD IN TRADE WITH UNITED STATES

Dominion Shows Way Both in Exports and Imports, Year Book Reveals.

WEALTH IN FORESTS.

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1929)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 — "Trade with Canada constitutes over 98 per cent of our trade with northern North America, and Canada, during 1928, ranked first in importance among all the countries in the world, both as a market for our exports and as a source of imports."

This statement is made and amplified in the Commerce Year Book for 1929, just issued.

This year book, which contains a wealth of information in regard to trade, domestic and foreign, of the United States, devotes a chapter to trade with Canada, elaborated with comparative tables and diagrams.

These tables and reports show that the five leading markets for American goods are as follows:

Canada	$489,000,000
Japan	384,300,000
United Kingdom	348,400,000
Germany	222,000,000
Brazil	220,700,000

While Canada bought more goods from the United States than any other country last year, she did not reach the average of the United Kingdom for the years 1921 to 1925, which was $929,500,000, or for the year 1926, when they amounted to $972,600,000.

The principal commodities included in Canada's buying were first: Industrial, agricultural and electrical machines which totalled:

Industrial machinery	$54,096,000
Agricultural machinery	46,132,000
Electrical machinery	23,885,000
Total	$124,113,000

Next comes automobiles and parts:

Automobile parts, except engine	$47,395,000
Automobile engines	12,066,000
Automobiles	33,445,000
Total	$92,906,000

Coal comes next, with purchases amounting to $82,406,000, of which $50,129,000 was for bituminous coal and $32,277,000 for anthracite.

Fourth came petroleum products. Crude petroleum was $22,235,000; gasoline $18,574,000, and fuel oil $2,786,000.

Forest products contributed by far the largest share of imports. Newsprint alone amounted to $126,152,000; chemical wood pulp to $36,550,000, and pulp wood $15,963,000. Lumber, laths and shingles total $50,977,000.

From the farms of Canada there went $30,970,000 worth of wheat, bran and other by-products of wheat; $15,715,000 worth of cattle, and $7,570,000 worth of cattle hides, while Canadian diary products amounted to $9,177,000.

From Canadian mintes there was sent a total of $34,312,000, made up as follows: Asbestos, $7,835,000; copper, $18,531,000; nickel, $11,096,000; calcium cyanide, $4,685,000.

Uncle Sam, as a shrewd business man, is every day becoming more and more impressed with the necessity of keeping in the good graces of Johnny Canuck, from whom he buys more and to whom he sells more than any other person in the world with whom he had dealings.

Farmer Halts Traffic To Replace Horseshoe

In some instances it seems that Peterborough cannot uphold its boast of being a modern up-to-date metropolis, and this seemed to be clearly demonstrated in front of the Post Office this morning by a farmer who might have forgotten that he was on a busy street. It seemed that he was driving along the street when a shoe on the horse which supplied the motive power for his vehicle came loose.

Evidently being in a similar situation before, he nonchantly alighted from his buggy, taking with him a small hammer and some horse shoe nails and proceeded to repair the damage without even taking the pains to draw up to the crub while motor traffic whizzed all around him.

In a few minutes all was set and he climbed aboard his ancient vehicle and was away.

MINE MARKET IS IRREGULAR AT NOON HOUR

Many Issues Decline During the Morning Session After Firm Opening.

NORANDA DOWN.

Newbec and Arno Among the Stocks To Hold Firm—Oil Section Weaker.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15.—(C.P.)—The Standard Mining Exchange presented an irregular front at noon. There was no leadership provided by popular issues either of the high or low-priced variety. After a firm opening many of these declined during the morning but changes were small.

Noranda dropped 55 cents to 62.80. Lake Shore 40 to 26.00, Hudson Bay 10 to 19.75 and Amulet 5 to 2.55. Newbec under good demand was unchanged at 43, Arno was firm at 44 and Granada Rouyn, not as active as yesterday lost a fraction to 30. B'wana after rising to 6.70 reacted to 6.40 fo ra net loss of 10.

Sherritt Gordon rose to 7.50 and the others to register gains were drawn from the precious metals, Dome adding 15 at 10.75, Teck Hughes 20 at 8.05 and Howey 5 at 1.17.

The Oils were weaker. Chemical Research added 25 at 16.25, but Associated Gas and Oil dropped 5 to 3.75, Southwest Petroleum 10 to 4.10 and Ajax 5 to 2.90.

ROUGH WEATHER STOPS SEARCH

Hopes of Finding Pilot of "Miss Detroit" in Lake Erie Wane.

NO NEWS RECEIVED.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Government boats assigned to search for John Kaspar, missing co-pilot of the Miss Detroit, which plunged into Lake Erie and sank Tuesday night, were kept at the dock to-day because of the rough weather. Kaspar is the only one of the four persons aboard the plane who was not rescued the night of the mishap.

Rescue airplanes and costguard cutters returned last night to Cleveland and other ports without news of the former German war ace and hope of finding him alive has diminished.

SOCIETY MEETS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson Hostesses To Members of St. James' Y.P.S.

On Tuesday a very enjoyable outing was held by the Young People's Society of St. James' Church, when a party of about twenty young people motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, near Millbrook.

A delicious picnic supper was served on the lawn. Various forms of sports were entered into heartily by all, after which the party withdrew to the spacious living rooms, where a "sing-song" was held.

At the conclusion of the evening, Mr. Stanley Church, president of the Young People, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Jean Patterson, who extended the invitation, and to her parents for their hospitality. Mr. Harold Mustaine also thanked the young people for their hospitality to himself and his friend, Mr. Vernon Craig, Ohio, who are visiting the city.

In the closing devotional exercises, the following members took part: Misses Alice Scott, Marcella Spenceley, and Messrs. Stanley Church and Harold Mustaine, and all joined in singing, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Andrew Jackson was the oldest man who was ever president of the United States. He lacked only 11 days of being 70 when he left the White House.

CHURCH PICNICS.

Successful Affairs Held By St. James' Mission Band and Circle.

Two jolly picnics were held during the week by the members of St. James' Mission Band and the Mission Circle.

Owing to the inclement weather, both picnics were held in the basement of the church.

About 20 Band members were in attendance at the former on Saturday and an afternoon of games and sports was greatly enjoyed.

Prizes for various races were won by the following: Elinor Gibson and Jean Rose, Jean Dryland, Florrie Barry, Frances McMahon and Margaret Barry, Stanley and Jean Petty and Margaret Grose.

The occasion was honored by the presence of Mrs. E. L. Woodley, the president of St. James W.M.S.

The Mission Circle was also unfortunate in their choice of a day. The rain did not however dampen the spirits of the large number who enjoyed a most successful weiner roast in the church basement.

After the supper a mission circle story with its missing adjectives and adverbs supplied by the crowd, caused much merriment.

The hostesses, Misses Mabel Dulmage, Jean Hammond and Nina Andrews were responsible for the success of the happy event.

CONDITION NOT CHANGED

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—There is no change to-day in the condition of Mrs. Pauline Kluczinski of Hamtramck, Mich, who was injured early yesterday in an automobile smash between Old Castle and Maidstone. Her condition is reported "very low" at Hotel Dieu. Her recovery is considered possible. Theodare Maxwell, 40, of Kingsville, injured in the same mishap, is out of danger. Mrs. Kluczinski's daughter, Marion, and her chum, Stella Ujazdowski, received fatal injuries.

Citizens Come To Rescue And Pay For Dog Tax

A good citizen came to the rescue and cleared up the plight of Andrew Jackson, a returned soldier, who had a police dog for his sole companion, which was taken by the local dog catcher as it had no license, and was to be destroyed if the man could not obtain the money for the tag. As the veteran could not afford to part with the required sum it seemed inevitable but that he would lose his dog. However it has been learned that this has all been cleared up and that the dog will still remain safe and well in the owner's possession.

The Examiner also received a sum of money to take care of the license for this dog but as this is not necessary now the donator can receive the same by calling at The Examiner office.

GIANT AIRSHIP

Left at 4.34 a.m.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—The airliner Graf Zeppelin left her home port at 4.34 a.m. to-day (10.37 p.m., E.S.T., Wednesday) for Tokyo, the second lap on her epoch-making flight around the world.

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press) —The Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, appeared over Berlin at 10.30 to-day (4.30 a.m., E.S.T.), escorted by a squadron of airplanes from Templehof Airdrome, on its way from Friedrichshafen to Tokyo.

It was travelling at a good speed, and soon disappeared in the northeast.

Long before the appearance of the Graf Zeppelin Berlin prepared to extend its welcome. Hundreds crowded roofs, windows and vantage points along the streets in the hope of seeing the giant craft and waving it luck on its world flight.

The Zeppelin dropped two bags of mail in the Alexander Platz, much to the excitiment of the people there, who rushed to the bags, but were prevented by police from opening them. It was visible to the cheering throngs less than 20 minutes before fading from view to the north-east.

Wheat Prices Advance After Irregular Start

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 15 (C.P.)— Word of four degrees of frost last night in Canada led to higher prices here for wheat to-day after an irregular start. Reports of general rains in Australia were largely responsible for the initial downturns of wheat values. Opening unchanged to ½ off, wheat later showed a material rise all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, with corn starting ⅜ down to ⅝ up and subsequently scoring a general advance.

BIG SHIPMENTS OF FISH MADE

Maine Contributes Large Share To 190,000 Car Shipment of Potatoes.

LARGE STORAGE DAMAGES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Tremendous shipments of seafood from Boston, Gloucester and Portland and the large potato crop of Maine contributed an important volume of the perishable food commodities which used about 190,000 railroad cars, specially equipped for this service, and to a total of 1,500.000 carloads of such perishables, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The great industry of shipping and storing such perishable food products has developed largely during the last 40 years. Refrigeration, including cold storage, and the refrigerator car, is primarily responsible for the variety of fresh food now available for the American table at all seasons of the year.

Dr. Lon A. Hawkins of the United States Department of Agriculture, who has just completed a survey of this service, emphasizes that the system is not yet perfect, as is shown from the fact that last year American and Canadian railways paid nearly $11,000,000 in claims on fresh fruit, vegetables, dairy and packing house products.

This subject is of live interest because such data are required by the President's Federal Farm Board, which is making a survey of the best methods of marketing farm products, and because the entire distribution system is now being intensively studied by the Advisory Committee to the Secretary of Commerce and Director of the Census in planning for the census of distribution, which is a new feature of the forthcoming census.

"When we consider that the railroads handle about 1,500,000 carloads of produce," Dr. Hawkins commented, "these claims for damages in transit do not seem excessive, but they indicate possibilities for improvement in the transportation service."

Transportation of produce under refrigeration has been aptly called "cold storage on wheels," Dr. Hawkins points out. "The conditions met with in rail transportation are, however, more difficult than they are in a stationary cold storage plant. When the car is in motion it encounters various conditions, and the fact that it is mobile, adds to the difficulties of construction."

WILL USE FIRST "COMBINE."

VERNON, B.C., August 14 (Canadian Press). — While "combines" for harvesting grain are now fairly common on the prairies, the first of these machines will be used in British Columbia this season. The machine has been purchased by the L. and A. Ranch which is one of the largest farms in the Okanagan, situated between Armstrong and Vernon. Considerable acreage was sown to wheat this year, and being on irrigated land, it has not suffered from the drought. In fact, it is a wonderful crop and will, it is expected, average 45 to 50 bushels to the acre.

FOUR CHILDREN ARE BAPTIZED AT ONCE

Solemn Rite Performed on Grandchildren in Richards Home.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Aug. 15.—A family gathering of peculiar interest took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Richards on Monday, when Rev. William H. Higgs, of Beachburg, conducted a baptismal service for four of their grandchildren, in the presence of the members of the immediate family circle.

The three children of Dr. and Mrs. C. Alvin Richards, of Curtissville, Pa.; Joan Marie and the twin boys, Burke Alvin, and Terrence Alfred, who are also grandchildren of Rev. Mr. Higgs, and the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Charlebois, of Peterborough, Leon Phyllis, Mrs. Charlebois being the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richards, were the ones for whom the solemn rite was performed.

Other guests present were Miss Dorothy Higgs, R. N. of Toronto; Miss Mae McKim, R. N., of Peterborough, and Mr. Basil Richards, whose wife and little daughter, Laureen, are at present visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell, Toronto.

Dr. and Mrs. Richards, and family, left the following morning motoring to their home in the States, Miss Dorothy Higgs accompanying them as far as Toronto. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Higgs called on a number of his former parishoners on Tuesday morning, leaving on the noon train to visit Mrs. Higgs' relatives at Port Perry, a former circuit of Mr. Higgs, before returning to their home in the Ottawa valley.

Quite Right—my Boy!

Mrs. G. L. Mahoney now gladly says "Clothes last longer"

"Rinso certainly works wonders! It makes such creamy, cleansing suds that all the dirt and stains soak out by themselves. I really have a soft 'snap' on washday now. And the clothes wear better—the life isn't scrubbed out of them.

"I also use Rinso for the dishes, floors, pots and pans, etc. I even keep a package in the bathroom for the tiles and basins, it does such a wonderful cleaning job."

You, too, can have a whiter wash

Millions use Rinso—in one month over 6,000 women wrote letters like the above. "Such rich, safe suds!" they say. And "Rinso is all you need—no other soap, no water softener" in washer or tub. Letter after letter says, "Rinso saves the hands."

This compact granulated soap is economical—a little goes so far. Endorsed by the makers of 34 leading washing machines. Get the BIG household package of Rinso from your grocer.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

DISTRICT WHEAT DISEASE NAMED

Foot Rot is Infection Worrying Local Grain Growers, Says Simonds.

NO CURE FOR IT

It was decided that one of the foot rots was the cause of the disease that has been effecting the wheat crops in the fields of Peterborough and Victoria Counties. This conclusion was reached only after a thorough investigation and much research work had been carried on by the leading plant pathologists in Ontario and Dr. P. M. Simonds of the Dominion Field Laboratory of Plant Pathology, located at Saskatchewan University, Saskatoon had been consulted.

Much credit is due to J. H. Ferguson, Peterborough grain buyer who has given his time and energy in clearing up this matter which has so disturbed local grain growers.

F. L. Drayton, plant pathologist, in the Botany Division of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa in a letter to Mr. Ferguson states the findings of Dr. Simonds to whom he had sent samples of the infected grain and the conclusions reached in this letter strongly disagree with the recent report as published in the Toronto paper that the fields were infected by "take all."

Dr. Simonds in his letter to Mr. Drayton states in part that he cannot find any convincing evidence of the presence of the "Take All" fungus, (Ophiobolus graninis), but like the authorities at the Ontario Agricultural college he considers the trouble to be one of the "foot rots" explaining at the same time that this term is a general one and includes all the troubles of the root system and the basal part of the cereal plants.

Professor Dr. Bailey of Toronto University has also been consulted in this matter and he agrees with Dr. Simonds in that he considers it one of the foot rots or root rots, but still the identity of the causal fungus is obscure. Professor Bailey is a very authoritive person on these subjects as he is a specialist in the diseases of cereals and is doing all in his power to get at the source of the trouble.

Howitt Agrees With Simonds

Professor J. E. Howitt, of the department of Botany at O. C. E. also confirms the findings of the above mentioned men. In a letter to J. B. Nelson of the department of agriculture, representative in Peterborough he states: "We haxe examined the wheat plants and they are affected by a fungus disease known as Foot Rot. So far as we are aware this is the first time the disease has been troublesome in Ontario and there is nothing that can be done to cure it.

Mr. Nelson stated that this disease was prevalent in several Ontario counties and that fungi growths which attacks the wheat have similar effects on the crops and that it is at times hard to dissimilate the initial cause, but the ultimate effect is much the same.

Don't Use Same Ground

It is recommended that farmers who have fields which are attack by this blight should not plant wheat crops on the same ground for three or four years, after which period the fungi is likely to be starved by the want of suitable food which will eventually render it harmless after a while.

Although prevalent for the first time in Ontario it has been reported since 1924 in the prairie provinces and at times it has ranged into the destruction of crops which have resulted in a heavy loss. How it got into the fields of Ontario is unknown.

WEDDING BELLS

SCULLY—COSTELLO

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Tuesday morning, at 9 o'clock, a pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church here, when Rev. Father Costello of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, united in holy bonds of matrimony Nora, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Costello, and Clare, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Scully of Peterborough.

The bride, who wore a French gown of beige lace with over drapings of chiffon crepe and a hand-made picture hat of tulle, lace and velvet, carrying a bouquet of bridal roses and lily-of-the-valley, entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by her cousin, Miss Regina Costello.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Costello, B.A., who was gowned in a blue crepe ensemble, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

During the Mass, Miss Fanny Costello sang "O Salutaris" and "Ave Verum." After the ceremony the bridal party with about fifty friends and relatives motored to the bride's home, "White House Farm," and partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner. After dinner the bride and bridegroom left by train for Toronto and by boat to the Thousand Islands. The bride's travelling dress was of black romain crepe with a close-fitting velour hat and a black fox fur, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridegroom's gift to the bridesmaid was a silver mesh bag and to the best man, kid gloves. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Scully will reside in Detroit, Mich.

OBITUARY

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 15.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Martin Quillan was held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Mary's Church where Requim Mass was chanted by Rev. Father Black and the remains were interred in St. Mary's Cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended by a host of friends and relatives, showing the high esteem in which he was held. The late Martin Quillan was born and raised in Downeyville and lived here until ten years ago when he moved with his parents to Lindsay where he has resided since. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Elizabeth Flynn; two children, Joseph and Joan; his mother; two brothers, George and John of Lindsay; a half brother, Nicholas of Rochester, N.Y.; three sisters, Mrs. John Hutton and Mrs. John Roach, West Ops, and Mrs. James Clancy, South Ops. The pall bearers were Messrs. George and John Quillan Joseph Flynn, Norman Flynn, Joseph Hutton and Thomas Flynn. The community here offers their sympathy to the bereaved family in their sudden loss.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—While the camel carries his seven days' supply of water with him, an elephant is more or less handicapped during dry seasons. However, Dr. Ludwig Schuster has found that they are able to get water during this dry period by drilling shallow wells with their trunks. They scrape dirt and sand to a depth of several feet and allow the water to seep in and collect.

The first vessel ever built on the waters of the west was the brig Dean. She was launched at the present site of Allegheny City, near Pittsburgh, in 1806.

NO MORE PILES

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, McDermid and Jury, Bond's Drug Store and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

SPECIAL GIRAFFE CAR.

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press).—When John P. Benson, animal importer and trainer of this city, made known his intention of shipping two giraffes to Detroit, officials of the Boston and Maine Railroad found themselves facing a problem of major magnitude. For Mr. Giraffe stands 14 feet in his cloven hoofs, and Mrs. Giraffe only an inch or two below his chin, which is several feet above his shoulder. The officials had visions of highway bridges, wires and signals along the right-of-way being carried away by a pair of long necks until engineers of an inventive turn of mind stepped in and produced an underslung flat-car. Mr. and Mrs. Giraffe should arrive in Detroit without kinks in their necks.

GLOVE CARE.

With the advent of longer gloves with new frocks, glove care assumes importance. Never roll used gloves into a ball. Smooth out fingers, and blow air into them and fold carefully. Do not pull gloves off or on by the cuffs. Never put them away damp from rain or perspiration. When washing them, use soap flakes and add a little glycerine.

RHINELANDER FYLES SUIT SEEKING DIVORCE

Scion of Society, Prominent New York Family Starts Divorce Action

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press) — A suit for divorce against Alice Jones Rhinelander was filed in judicial district court here late yesterday for Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of a socially prominent New York family, by his attorney, Harley Harmon.

Mrs. Rhinelander, daughter of a New Rochelle, N.Y., negro coachman has been living apart from her wealthy husband under separate maintenance furnished by Rhinelander.

EFFORTS ARE RENEWED TO FIND GIRL'S BODY

Large Mud Hole in Houder's Lake Will Be Dynamited

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Search for the body of Irene Lamont, Ottawa girl believed drowned in Houder's Lake three weeks ago, may reach final success to-day. A party, headed by Alderman Eric Query of Ottawa, plans to dynamite a deep mud-hole in the lake. All other portions of the lake bottom were recently combed by a diver.

Bodies of three persons who were with Miss Lamont when she was last seen were recovered from the lake, but no trace of the Ottawa girl has been found.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

INDEFINITE CHILDREN.

"Pete, did you see the rubbish man take our bag this morning?"

"Hm. He took it alright."

"Are you sure? I didn't hear him go by."

"Oh he went by all right."

"But did you see him?"

"No, but I know he went by. He always goes by in the morning."

"That isn't what I asked you at all. I know he goes by as well as you do. I asked you if you saw the rubbish man take our bag and you said you did and as a matter of fact you didn't."

"O, I know he did. He must've."

"Go right out now and look. Make sure. Then come and tell me."

Pete very reluctantly leaves his book—these children generally read a lot and have very hazy notions about what they read—and went to see.

"I guess he didn't."

"You guess he didn't? Didn't you look?"

"I looked over the rail and it was on the steps."

"Pete Miller, that bag isn't on the steps. It couldn't be on the steps. I left it in the back area. Now you put down that book and come with me. We'll see whether or not that bag is there. You're too lazy for words. Too lazy to use words. Whatever is to become of you? There. Do you see it? Right where I left it in the area way."

"Didn't I tell you it was there, Ma? I told you—"

"Keep still. Now set that bag right out there in front. Sit by that bag until the rubbish man takes it. Maybe next time you will know the man when you see him. And the bag too."

Maybe he will and maybe he won't. Indefinite children are hard to cure. It won't do to let them pass a single time. They are to answer definitely as possible every question asked them. They are to be checked up to make certain they are not sliding over the top of things all the time. Their reading is to be checked up a little too. It is good to form the reading habit if it is a READING habit, but if it is reading as a sedative, as an escape from actual conditions, reading that leaves a child half awake, then it must be supervised a little.

This does not apply to active, accurate children. Their reading will be purposeful. They read to find out what happened but the indefinite child doesn't care what happened. He's just as soon nothing happened. Training him will be a test of patience and endurance and understanding but it will be doing a handicapped child a very great kindness.

Writing a brief diary helps such children. Keeping account of certain household matters is a good exercise. Discovering and removing if possible, the cause of his mental retreat is the cure. By patiently studying him for a couple of years, you will find WHY he hates to be definite and keen about things. Then you can pull him through. (Copyright, 1929, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

Okre pods that have been stewed only long enough to stick a fork into them easily make an unusual and pretty garnish for broiled halibut or other fish.

FASHION SERVICE

ILLUSTRATED DRESSMAKING LESSON FURNISHED WITH EVERY PATTERN.

By Annebelle Worthington.

Style No. 2862 is a sophisticated frock with circular flare for the sochisticated little miss of 6, 8, 10 and 12 years, who follows very closely the latest mode of Paris.

It is very simple with long-waisted bodice with kimono sleeves trimmed with turn-back cuffs. The neckline is comfortable and smart rolled into revers. The two-piece circular skirt is attached to long-waisted bodice in scalloped outline. The tie slipped through bound openings at front of bodice is a cute idea. The monogram motif adds sportive-air, especially as sketched in white cotton pique with tie and monogram motif in sailor blue.

It is very pretty made of checked gingham in sky blue and white with white pique collar and cuffs which can also be used for tie.

Shantung in peach shade, pink linen, yellow chambray, and green and white polka-dotted cotton broadcloth are chic.

Pattern price 15 cents. Emb. Trans. No. 706 (blue or yellow) cost 15 cents extra. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department. The New Summer Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

A bird in the hand is worth a whole flock in fancy's flight.

• • • • • • •

This is an adage for the modern girl just as its counterpart was for the girl of Aesop's time.

• • • • • • •

The girl who needs it most is the girl who believes if only she were some place else she would make a big hit at this, that or the other thing—like one I met the other day who wanted to go to Hollywood.

• • • • • • •

This girl has a nice (though not splendid) position in a Peterborough office, but it's much too dull for her. She has looks and personality, which give her a certain precedence in Peterborough, but, goodness . . . .

• • • • • • •

In Hollywood there is a plethora of looks and it's simply overflowing with personality.

• • • • • • •

Old Omar-Khayyam, who may be criticized for his love of the red vintage, but cannot be indict ed for lack of common sense, wrote:

"How sweet is mortal sovereignty!—think some:
Others—"How blest the Paradise to come!
Ah, take the cash in hand and waive the rest;
Oh, the brave music of a DISTANT drum!"

• • • • • • •

It is SO true that we don't appreciate what we have because we are always seeing the attraction of other places through the fault-hiding haze of distance.

• • • • • • •

Take this Hollywood ideal of the girl I know, for instance. Just what is really at the end of her rainbow?

• • • • • • •

At Hollywood there are 18,000 registered as extras, qualified for one reason or another. One has a wooden leg; another an incredible set of whiskers; some look French or Italian; some have dress suits. . . .

• • • • • • •

Beautiful girls, handsome men, expressive countenances, culture strength, agility, and the knack of making love prettily, all plead for work in the films.

• • • • • • •

These 18,000 registered are the pick of the lot. Untold thousands are outside the pale of registration. . . .

• • • • • • •

And the daily placement out of the 18,000 is about 905 at an average daily wage of $8.59. Figure that out, you ambitious ones.

• • • • • • •

One in twenty of the 18,000 picked extras gets a chance, and no one knows how many despairing aspirants hover outside the registration line.

• • • • • • •

Any girl who thinks must arrive at the conclusion that it is the super height of folly to try to crash THAT gate!

• • • • • • •

It's a gallant adventure to try, of course! Many writers have failed in book writing, it's true, but every writer failed who never tried.

• • • • • • •

And sane and sensible women rarely win fortune and fame.

• • • • • • •

It's foolish to give up a position of mediocrity in Peterborough for a mirage of acclaim in Los Angeles—and yet, there's a chance in a hundred thousand that this girl might have in her the stuff of which stars are made!

• • • • • • •

At Monte Carlo the men are most admired who stake all in a single spot. But when they have lost they are soon forgotten.

• • • • • • •

The percentages are against you, girl, in this bid for movie fame. If you must spread your wings, save the last vestige of discretion as a cover-up.

• • • • • • •

Make clear that you are going for adventure and don't talk too much about your hopes.

• • • • • • •

Then, when you come back, with your freshness unspoiled, but your mind broadened, you will sink into the old groove, with a sigh of relief—and it will be not too difficult to take up the routine.

• • • • • • •

And, after all, sometimes our losses are recalled with more of a thrill than our wins.

TO MARRY ONTARIO BOY

LUCKY FELLOW

PARIS, Aug. 14—The Marquis del Merito, Spanish nobleman, is a lucky fellow in more ways than one. He recently married Senorita Elena Patino, daughter of the Bolivian minister here. Her father is said to be one of the richest men in the world and her dowry is said to be more than $40,000,000.

ELEGANT SIMPLICITY IS DISTINCTIVE NOTE IN THIS ENSEMBLE

By Molyneux.

I have created this ensemble in apple green linen to denote perfect elegance and comfort for a warm summer day. Its little round neck, short round jacket with the soft roll collar, and the tight sleeves slashed at the wrists, are all in utter harmony with the simplicity of line. Its only trimming, aside from the full pleated skirt, consists of rows of fine white stitching and a belt of soft matching green leather or suede.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

KEEPING YOUNG.

It is the desire of most of the human race to try and keep young. Even if folks can't keep young, they like to "look" young, anyway.

Therefore many men and women are undergoing operations to "lift" the skin of the face, to have wrinkles removed, and are taking drugs to make the eyes luminous, the skin soft and clear, and the figure more slender and youthful.

Now what keeps you alive?

Two things.

The first is food. Every tissue in your body needs food brought to it by the blood. This food enables each cell to do its particular work in your body, whether it is muscle, nerve, bone, fibrous, or other cell.

As it uses the food chemical action takes place creating heat for the body which is absolutely essential to life. Food then must be eaten to sustain life.

However, when the cell does its work there is a waste or poison that is created from that work.

This must be removed from the body, if the body is to do its work properly.

Life will not go on without food, but it will go on even if these poisonous wastes are not completely removed.

That is you can live for a long time, even with a certain amount of waste matter in the tissues of the body.

You will remember that Dr. Alexis Carrel has been keeping cells alive for a number of years by giving them nourishment and then washing out any accumulated poisons remaining in the cells from the use of the food by the cells.

In other words then, to keep the cells alive and in good condition, he finds it just as necessary to wash them out, as to nourish them with food.

And that is the idea our research men now have about this matter of getting old.

If instead of undergoing operations, and taking drugs, thought is given to the diet, a well mixed diet sufficient to your needs, no more nor less, and by the use of these foods and daily exercise—if only for ten or fifteen minutes—the wastes are washed away from the tissues then you will keep young longer than by any artificial methods.

IDEAS FOR THE DYE-WISE

PRIZE LETTER FOR WISE DYEING

Dyed 10 Garments —Spent 65 Cents

"I decided to try Sunset Dyes and Dytints. Having a faded blue crepe kimona, began on that with Bright Blue Sunset. It came out beautiful, bright, clear blue.

"With a camel's hair paint brush I renewed the blue flowers on my summer hat. I purchased one cake of Bright Blue Sunset, one cake of Heliotrope Sunset, one package Peach Dytint, one Blue Dytint for silk only. A discoloured white Crepe Romaine dress was dipped into Peach Dytint. A rich peach colour was obtained. Then a wash satin night gown and a pair of scanties went into the same bath and a beautiful colour resulted.

"I tinted a white crepe de chine trimmed with white lace using Blue Dytint for silk only. The result was lovely. I put in a dotted swiss dress, faded blue dots on white; this weak bath just brought back their original blue. I dyed my faded blue georgette, using Blue Sunset with Heliotrope. This dress looks better than when new. I boiled a faded Swiss dress in soap solution to extract the original colours and tied knots in it. I dyed it with Bright Blue Sunset. The blue with white is very effective. I dyed a figured Crepe de Chine Heliotrope with a Blue cast.

"For sixty-five cents I have dyed one kimona, one night gown, one pair of scanties, six dresses, one hat."—Katharine G. Summerson.

For fast dyeing use Sunset Soap Dye—15 cents a cake. For beautiful tinting use Dytint, wonderful new tint, in big box, 10c. Made in Canada.

FREEZING PLANS WIDENS MARKET FOR FRESH FISH

New Freezing Processes Enable Larger Supply To Be Kept On Hand.

LOWER PRICES FOLLOW.

Different Handling Methods At Sea and On Shore Result in Better Fish For Customers.

BOSTON, Aug. 15. — Although freezing of fresh fish is at present in full progress, enough fresh fish is coming to the retail market to keep prices down to a moderately low level. Some of the finest fish such as swordfish and mackerel are quite cheap; haddock and other deep sea fish are still cheaper.

There has been a decided change in the fish industry during the last five or ten years. Different methods of freezing are employed and a different purpose is in view. Handling at sea and ashore has also seen a change. The net result is that fish comes to the consumer the year round in a different condition. The Boston Fish Pier today, where the fish business is concentrated largely under state supervision, is unlike the old fish wharves in Boston with which an older generation was well acquainted, motor trucks and machinery having been adopted to expedite the the transfers formerly accomplished by hand.

Some outstanding developments of recent origin are referred to by E. H. Cooley, manager of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association, an organization representing the producers and the dealers in the Bay State. They are, first, the development of marketing of fillets by the package method, and the improvement of freezing methods. Other considerations include the adoption of the motor or steam propelled fishing boat in place of the schooner, and the development of the trawler system in place of hand lines. Still another factor in the change is the practice of catching and preserving bait, so that the fishermen no longer have to spend valuable time at the start of the voyage cruising about in search of this necessity.

Fillet Idea in 1921

The idea of filleting fish and marketing the fillets on a large scale was conceived in 1921. By this process the two meaty sides which are practically boneless are cut off, wrapped in parchment paper and shipped, thus enabling the housewife to buy fish ready for the frying pan just as is the steak which she buys from the butcher. The fillets, after the wrapping of each package, are placed in tin containers of 10, 20 or 30 pounds and the containers themselves shipped in wooden boxes surrounded by ice. In this way fresh fish are on the way to market within a few hours of the time they are caught. A very much wider distribution has been secured and Boston dealers are, in fact, shipping fillets to the Mississippi River and beyond.

In the field of artificial freezing, pronounced improvement has been developed. It was known, of course, that ice evaporates just as does water, and in a similar way, in frozen fish the frozen juices evaporate. Research, however, produced a way out of this particular problem. Methods were developed for the "glazing" of the fish, by placing them under a spray of water which is immediately frozen. Any evaporation, therefore, is from the external glazing, and the internal juices are not lost.

Still another development in the line of freezing has been the, production of machinery and the methods whereby the rate of freezing has been speeded up. Where foods are frozen at temperatures approximately zero, the process is quite slow, and also freezing produces large crystals. These large crystals with sharp points puncture the connective tissue sacs and when the food is thawed the juices escape, thus robbing the food of much of ture, food value and flavor.

New Freezing Idea Economic

In rapid freezing a temperature as low as fifty degrees below zero is used. The ice crystals formed are so very small that the connective tissue sacs are not punctured. Thus the thawed food retains all its texture, food value and flabor.

Microscopic photographs of sections of fresh fish wrapped frozen fish, clearly indicate the great value of the rapid freezing process. It is said to be practically impossible to tell rapidly frozen fish from fish which has never been frozen, and this under the microscope or on the dinner table. The effect of this method has been to greatly broaden the market for fish. Fish brought into the pier from the banks are immediately frozen either whole, in steak, or fillet form, after which they can be placed in the holding rooms of the freezers and kept for many months. They can then be shipped to any city having cold storage facilities, and there distributed at any time in any quantity desired by the retailer, and sold frozen stiff. The housewife is thus buying fish that are no older than the day they were frozen as far as condition is concerned.

Old Ideas Gone

The old style fish dealer and retailer, who has almost completely passed out of the industry, firmly believed that the public would eat nothing but his so called fresh fish. His definition of fresh fish would be fish which has never had anything done to it other than to be eviscerated and allowed to lay in or on ice until used. He, therefore, tried to keep his fish in this condition as long as possible. Thus fish might be ten days or two weeks old and still, from his viewpoint, be fresh fish. Failing to sell his fish in this manner, as a last resort he would put it in a freezer and thus feel that he had again made it a desirable product. Naturally when the housewife bought this frozen fish and thawed it, it was no fresher than it was the day it was frozen. Hence the reason for a very poor article.

Due to this short-sighted policy which obtained, not only in the fishing industry, but in many others, the public refused to consider frozen fish as worthy of a place on their table. The fishing industry has had a hard battle to remove this from the mind of the housewife. Today cold storage goods of any kind are subject to rigid inspection by authorities, and this particularly applies to the fishing industry.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Take a vacation that will benefit all the family alike—a place where there are no annoying little chores or the everlasting housekeeping routine to attend to—a place surrounded by the wild beauty of the northern woods, yet having the convenient facilities and comfortable accommodation of the city home.

Nipigon Bungalow Camp, situated on the east shore of Lake Helen in the Nipigon River district, is easily reached by Canadian Pacific Railway or Great Lakes Steamers.

French River Bungalow Camp, located on the beautiful French river a mere 200 miles from Toronto, is also served by the Canadian Pacific.

In these camps one enjoys the privacy of a cozy bungalow, comfortably furnished and electrically illuminated, with maid service to take care of details. Charges which are very reasonable are "American Plan" and meals are served in the big dining room of the Club House, or, in hot weather, out on the wide, screened, cool verandas.

Both camps have every facility for outdoor recreation such as tennis, swimming, boating, and hiking. Fishing, for which these camps are famous, is perhaps the most popular pastime. French River also boasts an excellent nine hole g f course.

For further information enquire from any Canadian Pacific Agent. He will be glad to help you.

PRINCIPALS IN ENGLISH POISONING CASE

The photographs here show the principals in the poisoning case that is at present mystifying England. Although coroner's jury has returned verdict of murder in two cases and murder or suicide in the other, Scotland Yard finds itself in a position of "no one to suspect." (1) Thomas Sidney, son of Mrs. Violet Sidney, one of the victims, who has been questioned closely regarding the poisonings. (2) Miss Vera Sidney, poisoning victim, of whom the coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder. (3) Creighton Duff, son-in-law of Mrs. Violet Sidney, first poison victim, who died April, 1928, and of whom also jury returned a verdict of murder. (4) Mrs. Violet Sidney, mother of Vera Sidney, regarding whom the evidence was insufficient to show whether murder or suicide, and (5) Mrs. Grace Duff, widow of Creighton Duff, most tragic figure in the case, who lost two little daughters a few years ago, prior to her husband's death.

ORIENTALS TAKING MUCH WHITE TRADE

Storekeepers of Vancouver Seek Remedy to Save Own Business.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Retail storekeepers will be invited by a special civic committee to confer on the subject of Oriental encroachment upon business life of the city. The steady growth in the business being done by Chinese and Japanese traders in Vancouver has caused alarm in certain quarters, and stricter regulations are being urged as a means of checking the expansion, which is said to have caused serious losses to white traders.

The committee has received a report presented by the city license inspector outlining the number of Orientals in business in the old city area, with the proportion operating outside either Chinatown or the Japanese section. The inspector remarked that 56 per cent. of the Oriental business in the province were situated in Vancouver. Orientals in the old city were engaged in fifty-three classes of business in 1928.

The report showed that in 1928 there were seventy-nine Chinese green-grocers, of which seventy-seven were outside Chinatown. They were only fourteen such businesses operated by persons of other nationalities. In that year there were thirty-seven Chinese grocers, nineteen outside Chinatown; and seventy-six Japanese grocers, fifty-nine outside the area generally occupied by this nationality.

In 1928 there were fifty-nine Japanese barber shops, forty outside of the Japanese section.

Under the classification of candy dealers, there were seventy-two Japanese licenses granted, thirty-seven outside of the section occupied by this race. In the cleaning and dyeing business there were forty-four licenses to Japanese, forty-three outside of the district. There were eighty-four Japanese lodging houses, forty-four outside of the area.

Of the thirty-seven Chinese laundries, thirty-four were outside of Chinatown. There were ninety-six Chinese tobacco licenses issued in 1928, of which thirty-five were in stores outside Chinatown. There were also 147 Japanese tobacconists, ninety-four outside the Japanese district.

Y.W.C.A. CAMP NEWS

A Trip Around the Lakes

Extracts from Y. W. C. A. Camp newspaper:

"Although the heavens looked as if they might shed tears any minute on Tuesday morning we started out quite jubilantly on a sight seeing tour of Stoney Lake and its appurtenances there to.

Almost before the arduous tasks of loading the bunch on board was completed, the "Marthas" of the party were already unpacking the baskets in the ship's 'saloon' and most tempting viands were soon passed around. (One thing we have noticed about camp, no one has delicate appetites, —Nuf said).

The first place visited was Burleigh Falls, beautifully situated between Lovesick Lake and Stoney Lake. Not withstanding the quantities of food so recently consumed the most of the party rushed up to the refreshment booth for ice cream, post cards, etc. After viewing the sights of this thriving metropolis three shrill blasts of the whistle warned us of the impending departure of our palatial liner.

The rest of the voyage was uneventful and in due course we approached Kawartha Park, the Riviera of Stoney Lake. When our boat was forced to anchor some distance from shore because of the congested traffic at Kawartha dock, we were very pleased to note that one of our party thinking the boat's engine had stalled was generous enough to volunteer her services in paddling the Empress in to the wharf. Although her offer was declined, we as campers appreciate the spirit of co-operation. On landing at the wharf we set out for the much-famed sandy beach, and immediately took for the water, entertaining the spectators by our stunts and laughter. A daintily cooked supper was served on the sands and we discovered that no appetites had been lost during the afternoon. After a short musical program on the dock the happy campers wended their way back only stopping to quench their thirst at a cool spring that gushed from the bank of the lake.

As the campers, while waiting for the boat, danced and chatted, it was not discovered that one talented member of the party had not yet made her appearance, and we were finally forced to go without her. After leaving the wharf it was noticed that a white flag was being furiously and frantically waved at the government dock, but our captain said "Sail on, sail on". There were no further mishaps and the party arrived home tired and happy, our lost camper arriving later with some kind friends.

Inglestane "Y" Camp
Stoney Lake, Aug. 12

Dear Girls:

Last week was a wonderful week at Y. W. C. A. Camp "Inglestane". We are having just the grandest holiday and everyone is so happy and proud of camp. We hope you will be able to come next week. We'll show you a good time.

We have lots of fun boating and bathing and climbing Eagle Mount and then in the evening bon fires and sing songs. Our camp motor boat is kept busy too, and we all like to take turns going on trips to Juniper and McCracken's for the mail and supplies.

Would you like to know about some of the special outings we had last week?

Well first there was church service at Juniper Island Sunday morning and then we invited the cottagers to come to a sing song Sunday evening at camp.

Monday was Regatta Day and the thirty-five of us all enjoyed the day and some of the girls entered the races which made it most exciting. Four prizes came back to camp.

Tuesday we packed up lunch and took the trip around the lakes on the big boat, stopping at Kawartha Park for the afternoon for a swim and camp fire supper.

Wednesday was visitors day and afternoon tea on the veranda, followed by camp fire and sing song at night and marshmallow roast.

Thursday we rented a big motor boat and all went to Perry's Creek for a day's exploring.

Friday was a quiet, restful day at camp, some of us getting exercise by climbing Eagle Mount and then a swim.

Saturday night was stunt night and we'll say we had a good time. Watermelon was served for night lunch. Saturday is a day of good byes to those who must leave us but then we eagerly watch for the boat to bring us the next group of campers.

We'll be looking for you to come to camp for a holiday soon now. Miss Kennedy, the camp director is the best scout, always ready to help us have a good time and Mrs. Arnott sees that no matter how many of us there are, there is always lots to eat and the cooky pail always full.

Here's the boat so we have to run and give the new arrivals a welcome. Come soon.

Best of wishes for a happy holiday from the 35 of us.

"A CAMPER".

RE-UNION PLANS FOR DALHOUSIE

Oldest University in Dominion Founded By Customs From 1812 Wars.

THREE DAY PAGEANT.

HALIFAX, August 15. — Associations which linked the colorful histories of Nova Scotia and Massachusetts from the early colonial days when Acadie was the pawn of rival powers in the struggle for the mastery of a continent, will be recalled at the Reunion of the Alumni of Dalhousie University on August 28, 29 and 30. Dalhousie, the oldest college of British origin in the Dominion of Canada grew out of the war of 1812-14. It owes its original endowment to the so-called "Castine Fund" which was collected in Customs duties in 1814 at the port of Castine, on the southern coast of Maine, but then a part of the Colony of Massachusetts. This port was captured by a British military and naval expedition despatched from Halifax to Castine in August, 1814, by Sir John Cope Sherbrooke, Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia and Commander in Chief of the British forces. When the war was ended and the Treaty of Ghent was concluded the British force returned to Halifax, bringing back with them the sum of 11,750 pounds sterling, the net proceeds of the customs collections at Castine. This Castine fund was applied by the succeeding Lieutenant-Governor, George Ramsay, the ninth Earl of Dalhousie, who fought with Wellington at Waterloo, to the founding of the college, bearing his name, which was to be open to all, without distinction of race, creed or color. It was founded on the plan and principal of Edinburgh University, in which as Lord Dalhousie stated in 1818, the advantages of a collegiate education will be found within the reach of all classes of society, and which will be open to all sects of religious persuasions."

Reunion Every Five Years.

Since the celebration of the Centenary in 1919, reunions have been held every five years at which some historic association in the life of the University has been commemorated. The approaching quintennial Re-union at which sons and daughters of Dalhousie from many points in Canada and the United States will foregather, is destined to be of international significance. To signalize the unique association of Massachusetts and Nova Scotia in the founding of Dalhousie, and at the same time to exemplify the University's part in the maintenance of friendly relations between Canada and the United States, the Senate has tendered the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws to Hon. William Phillips, United States Minister to Canada. Mr. Phillips has signified his acceptance of the honor, and will attend in person to receive the degree, August 29. The occasion will be the culminating event of the Re-union. The special Convocation at which Dr. A. Stanley Mackenzie, the President of Dalhousie, will cap the United States Minister, a son of Massachusetts, will be held in the open air in the afternoon of that day in a natural amphitheatre on the campus at Studley." It is expected that Mr. Phillips will deliver an address on international relations, and there will be a colorful pageantry commemorating the historic associations of these two outposts of British colonization in the New World.

Lay New Cornerstone

Another event of interest will be the laying of the corner stone of the new Public Archives Building which is being erected on the Dalhousie Campus at a cost of two hundred thousand dollars. The corner stone will be laid by Hon. Edgard N) Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia, who secured from an anonymous donor in Nova Scotia, the money for the construction of this building. The Dalhousie Board of Governors have given a free site for the building on the University Campus and it is to be entirely fire proof in its construction, with ample space for the housing and safe keeping of the historical materials of the Province.

The ceremonial will include a procession in which the Governors, Senate, Graduates and undergraduates will assemble at the site of the original college on the Grand Parade, where the City Hall now stands and march to the scene of the new Archives Building to the north and west of the Macdonald Memorial Library. An address on the history of Dalhousie will also be delivered by C. H. Cahan K.C., M.P., who is a graduate of the Dalhousie Law School.

The three days of the reunion will be crowded with class assemblies, dinners, balls and other events of peculiar interest to Alumni and alumnae, for Dalhousie was one of the first Universities to admit women to its classes and its degrees. Among the distinguished graduates who have signified their intention of attending the reunion is Hon. Aulay Morrison, lately appointed Chief Justice of British Columbia, who was Captain of the Rugby team in the late eighties.

It is the aim of the Governors and Senate jointly to commemorate in a striking way the unique circumstances of the origin of the oldest English University in the Dominion of Canada and to make the occasion an element in furthering good relations between the English speaking commonwealths.

Oshawa Breaks Loose In Eighth To Beat Petes

Motorists Win Out 11-3

Oshawa Squad Left in Sole Possession of Second Place.

WEAK PITCHING.

Petes Tied For Third Position With Deloro—Meet Smelters Saturday.

Pushing across six runs in the eighth innings, Oshawa turned the tables on the Petes yesterday afternoon in the Motor City, handing them a 11 to 3 trimming. The victory puts General Motors all alone in possession of second place, and Manager Swanston's crew are left occupying the next rung along with Deloro.

A hurricane of hits broke loose in the eighth innings, a home run topping the rampage. Up until that time the score was 5 to 3, and the Petes were threatening in every frame to knot it up. Oshawa sent across six runs in their big innings to snuggle the game down in the farthest corner of the bat bag.

Jake Hall started on the mound, but the youngster had nothing on the ball. In the second Oshawa got to him for three smacking hits, one of them a homer by McCallum, which sent two in ahead of him.

Hap Harrison, who has been out of the game for six weeks with an injured knee, then replaced Hall. The big fellow showed the results of his long lay-off, lacking his usual control and steadiness and he issued seven walks and hit two. He kept the hits sparsely scattered, however.

In the fourth the Motorists added one, making their total five, and then they broke the game wide open in the eighth.

The Petes were the first to score, grabbing two runs in the second inning on four hits and error. They had another big opportunity in the third but the scoring hit was not forthcoming. They pushed across their final run in the seventh.

Matthews worked on the mound for the winners and his flinging exhibition was nothing to rave about, but he seemed most effective in the pinches.

The Petes fielded much better than did their conquerors, only making two errors, both in the outfield on grounders. Oshawa had four misplays.

Shiner Johnston, old reliable on third base, had a busy afternoon, but he fielded his position in old-time form,

Ash and Rose each collected two of the Petes eight hits.

DELORO ON SATURDAY

The Petes still have a chance to get into the playoffs. They play Deloro in the Smelter town on Saturday, while Oshawa plays Belleville. A victory for the Petes and a loss for General Motors will put the Petes right up there in the second place.

How it Happened.

The absence of a hit robbed the Petes of a score in the first inning, when Legon first drew a walk and stole second. He advanced to third on Rose's roller to second. Swanston walked and pilfered second. Harrison struck out and Hollingsworth rolled out to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Shiner Johnston had two hot ones to handle in Oshawa's half, Gray and McCallum each placing peppy smacks to the hot corner, but Johnston handled both perfectly and whipped the throw to first. Elliott was hit by pitcher and Mathews laced a double into centre field. Young flied out to Legon. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Petes got a brace of counters in the second. Jim Hall was safe at first when Young fumbled his grounder. Ash singled into left, and Hall went to second on the hit. Jake Hall hit into a double play, short to second to first, Jim taking third. Johnston singled through Elliott, scoring Hall. Legon singled to left and Rose singled, scoring Johnston and sending Legon to third. On an attempted double steal Legon was caught at the plate, Quinn to Elliott to Quinn. Two runs, four hits, one error.

Rowden singled to left and took second on Jim Hall's error. Rowden stole third. Quinn flied to Johnston. Little singled past third, scoring Rowden. Johnston threw out Fair. Gray walked. McCallum blasted a long home run to left scoring Little and Gray. Harrison entered the box, Ash taking first and Beavis going to right. Rose tossed out Elliott. Four runs, three hits, one error.

In the third the Petes filled the bases but failed to score. Elliott took Johnston's hopper. Harrison drew a pass. Red Hollingsworth fanned. Jim Hall singled into right. Ash beat out a tap to third, but Beavis rolled to second. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Matthews skied to left field. Young walked. Rowden struck out. Young was out stealing, Swanston to Rose. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Petes did nothing in the fourth. Johnston flied to right. Legon took a third strike. Rose was safe when Elliott erred on his grounder. Swanston grounded to short. No runs, no hits, one error.

Oshawa added a run. Harrison threw out Quinn. Little walked. Fair doubled to centre, Little going to third. Gray singled to left scoring Little and advancing Fair to third. Gray stole second. McCallum fanned. Elliott walked, filling the bases. Mathews forced Elliott at second; Rose to Hollingsworth. One run, three hits, no errors.

Harrison's Neglect Costly.

The Petes lost a run in the fifth when, Harrison neglected to go through the formality of touching third on a sacrifice fly. Hap was safe on a two base muff by Fair in deep centre. Quinn took Hollingsworth's tap in front of the plate and threw wide to first. Jim Hall sacrificed both runners, Young to McCallum. Ash sent a long fly to left field, Harrison scoring standing up but was called out for having left third before the fly was caught. No runs, no hits, two errors.

Oshawa went out in order. Young tapped to Harrison; Johnston threw out Rowden. Quinn lined to Rose. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Beavis drew a walk to start the sixth, but Johnston tapped into a double play, Elliott to Little to McCallum. Legon flied to centre. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Harrison's wildness filled the bases, but Oshawa failed to score. Harrison fielded Little's tap. Fair walked. Gray was hit by a pitched ball. McCallum forced Little at third, Swanston to Johnston. Elliott took four balls, filling the bases. Harrison took Mathews' dribble, getting Gray at the plate. No hits, no runs, no errors.

The Petes tallied once in the seventh. Rose led off with a single to right, and was forced at second on Swanston's attempt to sacrifice. Harrison struck out. Red Hollingsworth's two base hit to deep left scored Rose with the Petes' last run. Jim Hall rolled to short. One run, two hits, no errors.

Oshawa again filled the bases without a counter resulting. Young led off with a single past third. Rowden sacrificed, Harrison to Ash. Quinn drew a pass. Little fanned. Fair walked, filling the bases. Johnston took Gray's hit, forcing Quinn at third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Petes' eighth was uneventful. Young took care of Ash's grounder. Jim Hall fanned. Johnston walked. Legon hit a long fly to left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cloudburst in Eighth

Oshawa put the game in the proverbial bat bag by scoring six runs on six slashing hits, a home run by Fair capping the climax. McCallum singled to left. Harrison took Elliott's roller, tossing him out at first. Matthews singled to deep second. Young lined to left for one base scoring McCallum. Rowden singled to left and when Jim Hall let the ball get away from him, both Matthews and Young scored, Rowden going to second. Quinn hit to the pitcher. Little singled past third, scoring Rowden. Fair hit a home run into deep right-centre, scoring Little ahead of him. Gray bounded to Rose. Sir runs, six hits, one error.

The Petes went down without a struggle in the ninth. Rose tapped weakly to second. Swanston fanned. Harrison flied to short. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Final score—Oshawa, 11; Peterborough, 3.

HOARDS DEFEATS SPRINGBROOK 17-8

BURNBRAE, August 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — Hoards softball squad cleared another barrier in the path to the cup on Monday evening, when they defeated Springbrook 17 to 8 in a five-inning affair at Stirling. With the score locked at 20-all, and Hoards up to bat in the seventh, the game was called on account of darkness, and the score reverted to the fifth. Bateman and W. Mason, with three hits in three times up, were Springbrook's best batters. G. Heath and Bateman scored two each. M. Heath, usually a heavy hitter, was held hitless, while Hazlett only got one safety. The heavy end of the Hoards order showed fine form at bat, with Jeffs, Rannie, and Hume getting four hits in four times up. Hume got two runs while the other two scored on every occasion. Gunning, lead-off man, got three hits and as many runs in five trips to the plate.

Jeffs also secured a fine circuit smash to centre, while Hoard got a homer on a trip to right field. Pierce pitched a steady game and held the opposition well until darkness made fielding an impossibility. Hoards now are third place winners in the league, and play Menie, second place holders, in a sudden death game at Menie on Thursday evening for the right to meet Bethel in the final series.

The line-ups:

Springbrook — M. Heath, p; Williams, c; Bateman, 1b; R. Mason, 2b; M. Mason, 3b; Hazlett, ss; W. Heath, lf; W. Mason, cf; G. Heath, rf.

Score by innings:

Hoards	36305—17
Springbrook	30221— 8

Umpires—Fraser and Heath.

RIVAL FOR HELEN WILLS

Has Canada discovered a new tennis champion in Miss Olive Wade? There have been few as sensational rises in fame as that of Miss Wade, who since she was old enough to hold a tennis racquet, has steadily advanced to the top, coached by her father, an Englishman now groundsman at the Toronto Tennis Club. This year at the age of 17, she won the ladies' singles championship of Canada. At the age of 13 she won the eastern junior title. A year later, in 1926, she cut a big figure in the finals for the Central Ontario title. The following year at St. Catharines she captured the junior Ontario ladies' title and with her sister won the doubles. At 16 she annexed the junior championship of Canada, defeating Miss Mary Greef of Kansas City. Now she is headed for international competition and may be found playing abroad next year.

HARWOOD DEFEATED BY ROSENEATH TEAM

(Examiner Correspondence)

ROSENEATH, Aug. 15.—An exhibition baseball game was played on the Agricultural grounds on Monday afternoon between Roseneath and Harwood with a score in favor of the home team, 8-1. Rev. M. R. Brown pitcher for Roseneath, is becoming an expert at the game and received excellent support from each player on the field. Harwood team did not seem as enthusiastic as in previous games played here.

PIRATES BLANK BOSTON BRAVES

Cut Cubs' Lead To Eight Full Games By Reason of 1-0 Victory.

PHILLIES BEAT REDS.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—The Pirates pulled down the Cubs' lead in the National League to eight full games yesterday by defeating the Braves 1 to 0 here, while the Chicagoans were idle. It was a battle of left-handers with Percy Jones allowing the Pirates only three hits and Jess Petty giving the Braves five.

Pittsburg scored in the fourth without the aid of a hit; P. Waner crossing the plate on a sacrifice fly when the bases were full.

PHILLIES BEAT REDS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (C.P.)—The Philadelphia Nationals yesterday defeated Cincinnati, 2 to 1, in the first game of a scheduled double. Rain ended the game at the end of the seventh inning, and the second game was postponed. Don Hurst's twenty-fifth circuit drive of the season with a man on base gave Philadelphia its victory. Kelly and Whitney shared the batting honors, each collecting three.

Gaston Shades Sam Gray And Sox Beat Browns 4-1

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—M. Gaston shaded Sam Gray, pitching ace of the Browns, here yesterday and Boston beat St. Louis, in the series' opener, 4 to 1. Gray was touched for nine hits in eight innings and Kimsey yielded one in the ninth. Todt hit safely in each of his three times at bat.

SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Buffalo's undefeated polo team scored another victory yesterday by defeating Winnipeg 20 to 10 at Woodbine Park in the second game of the tournament now in progress.

ONE DIES FROM TYPHOID FEVER

Two Hundred Cases of Dread Disease Reported Near City of Ottawa.

OTTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15—(Canadian Press).—An outbreak of typhoid fever has been reported from Gatineau Point, just across the Ottawa River from the east end of this city. More than 200 cases have been reported so far while one death has taken place as a consequence of the disease. The victim was buried yesterday.

The outbreak is thought to have arisen from pollution of the water supply through some defect in the piping system, and the water has been condemned as undrinkable. Inspection of the pipe lines and necessary repairs have been ordered.

Dr. A. Morrisette, of Gatineau Point, says that the disease in general is not malignant.

GROVE HURLS GREAT GAME

Pitches Seventeen Innings To Bring Home His 18th Victory For Macks.

YANKS LOSE 17-13.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Bob Grove, Connie Mack's great left-hander, pitched seventeen innings yesterday to bring home his eighteenth victory of the season and boost the Philadelphia Athletic's lead over the Yankees in the American League pennant race to 13½ games as the A's turned back Cleveland, 5 to 3.

Grove went the distance without faltering to win his first victory since July 25. He has been beaten only twice this season.

Jimmy Foxx's twenty-eighth home run of the season broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh. Hudlin weakened after holding the Mackmen hitless for five innings and three more hits after Foxx's clout gave the A's their winning margin.

ERRORS PLENTIFUL

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 15.—Piling up runs recklessly, the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers celebrated Charlie Gehringer day by staging a mad-cap game, full of base hits, errors and freak plays, with the Tigers finally victorious by 17 to 13. The loss placed the Yankees 13½ games behind the pace-setting Athletics.

SENATORS BEAT WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 15.—Ed. Walsh, Jr., was ineffective yesterday, and Washington beat the White Sox, 11 to 3 in the first game of the series. The younger Walsh started the game, and was yanked after pitching to five batters before he could retire anybody. Hal McKain took up where Walsh left off, and was little better. Cronin lashed out a homer in the fourth inning.

LOOP LEADERS HALT ORIOLES

Wings Count Five Runs in First and Second Frames For 6-3 Victory.

KEYS TAKE FIRST GAME.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (C.P.)—The league-leading Rochester Red Wings halted the Orioles yesterday by a score of 6 to 3. The visiting batsmen hopped on Chambers' delivery for three runs in the second inning and continued their assault in the third for a brace. Wertz, who relieved, breezed along steadily in good form and yielded only seven scattered hits. Watkins starred at the bat for the Birds with three hits, including a homer, out of four trips to the plate. Smith for Baltimore also hit for the circuit.

KEYS WIN FIRST GAME

READING, Pa., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Reading took the first game of the series from Buffalo here yesterday by 8 to 7. The Keys rallied for the winning run in the ninth on Taylor's single and Quellich's double.

The second game of a double-header was called in the fourth on account of darkness.

"Syncopation" rich in musical hits, now at the Capitol.

In the glowing, colorful extravaganza of Broadway lives and loves, "Syncopation," now playing, singing and talking to overflowing audiences from the screen of the Capitol theater, a veritable riot of musical and singing numbers have been included, many of them original.

"Syncopation, a Radio picture, in reality, marks a new departure in film technique. It endeavors to tell the story of a pair of Broadway hoofers, married, and separated by ambition until both are reawakened in their love for one another by the resolving circumstances of the plot. The producers resolved to make the film with an eye to both plot and musical accompaniment and the result was what is billed as a musical film extravaganza, designed to give the effect of a Broadway operetta.

On this account "Syncopation" ripples with musical and song accompaniment. There are nine jazzy numbers by Waring's famed Pennsylvanians, two song numbers by the Melody Boys, three haunting songs by Dorothy Lee, a soprano solo by Gania Zielenska, radio artist, two numbers by a string orchestra, a piano selection by David Buttolph.

And just like other audiences who come away from musical stage shows humming the refrains of such songs as "I'll Always Be In Love With You," "Jericho," "Do, Do Something," and many others.

NATIONALS ASSURED C.O.B.L. TOP RATING

Nationals Defeat Deloro 8-1 in Bay of Quinte Town.

BELLEVILLE, August 15. — By winning from Deloro in the Quinte City by a score of 8 to 1, the Nationals eliminated any mathematical possibility of being ousted from the top rung of the C.O.B.L. ladder. This is the fifth time in the history of the league that a Belleville team finished in front.

Three games remain to be played by each team before the schedule will be completed with Oshawa having the best chance to finish in the second hole. The Nationals will wait for a series between the second placers and Kingston and play the winners for the league bunting.

Dr. Jack Shea limited the Smelters to four hits, two of them coming in the last frame, which accounted for their lone run. Only 31 batters faced Shea in the nine frames but his team mates took him over the rough places with three well executed double plays. Ibey, who won the only game Deloro has captured from the locals in eight trials, was the starting hurler, but his game was wrecked when the Nationals cracked him for four runs in the first frame. He allowed nine hits and struck out nine and walked five, all figuring in the run getting.

CHILDREN'S DAY IS ENJOYED AT CHEMONG PARK

Events At Regatta Are Keenly Contested By Park's Youth.

LARGE ENTRY LIST.

Jim McFarlane Wins J. K. Hughes' Cup in Annual Canoe Race.

The sun obligingly chased away the rain clouds about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and provided perfect conditions for the Children's Regatta, staged under the auspices of the Chemong Cottagers' Association at Chemong Lake yesterday. The events were run off in front of J. K. Hughes' cottage, an ideal spot for the regatta on account of the shallow and sandy nature of the shore and the shady natural granstand for the onlookers.

A large crowd of cottagers and Peterborough people were in attendance and evinced their appreciation with hearty applause throughout the afternoon.

Events Keenly Contested

The contests were between boys and girls of Chemong Park and the usual high spirit of rivalry prevailed. An outstanding feature of the affairs was the closeness of the competition in all the events and also of note were the heavy entrance lists. A number of the events had so many entries that they were run off in heats.

The eager-eyed, enthusiastic youngsters exhibited great interest in the varied program, which included rowing, paddling and swimming races, with special single canoe race for Chemong Park residents only, with the J. K. Hughes' Cup at stake.

The success of the regatta was made possible through the work of an energetic committee headed by Dr. A. W. McPherson, who for many years has devoted much time and money in the interests of sport. Bob Breyfogle handled the regatta in such an able fashion that the events followed one another with almost no delay. Judges were William Thompson, Jack Sullivan, Roy Dixon, J. K. Hughes, W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Herb. Bradburn. G. H. Roper took care of the starting gun in expert fashion, and the clerk for the day was Wilmot Gordon.

A refreshment stand situated in a convenient place attracted the unfailing interest of the young competitors. It was provided through the thoughtfulness of Jim Matthews and the Association donated free drinks, chocolate bars and ice cream to the entrants. Mr. Hughes attended to the distribution of tickets among the children for this purpose and proved to be the most popular man on the grounds during the afternoon. Margaret McCulloch and Mary Westbye kindly gave their time to the cause by attending to the wants of the hungry and thirsty children at this booth.

The heavy honors of the day were carried off by Karl Duffus, Ralph Clark, Jack Gemmell and Eric Westbye, and on the girls' side of the list by Mary McFarlane and Isobel Duffus.

The youngsters showed surprising skill in manipulating the comparatively heavy canoes and skiffs which at times was a task of no little difficulty on account of the breeze. The rules for all the events called for entrants not older than sixteen years of age and in some case twelve years was set as the limit.

Much fun for the contestants and the watchers was provided in the crab races, both junior and senior. The youthful racers had trouble in lining up their craft and when the starting shot rang out the fun began. The boats zig-zagged over the course in crazy fashion with the occupants doing their best to paddle them towards the goals, their hopes raising at times to great heights when they were headed the right way only to be dashed when the pernickity canoes swirled out of control.

The events that were the best received of the day were the boys' junior and senior pillow fights. These were staged in front of the small dock on a large slippery log. The little lads were supplied with sacks containing rubber balls and weights. Karl Duffus marched triumphantly through the series of contests in the senior event to win the honors, and Jack ("Babe") Hyland the junior honors.

The annual canoe race for the J. K. Hughes' Cup drew forth a host of entrants and was keenly contested. The cup went this year to Jim McFarlane. The race is limited to Chemong Park residents.

Land Races

After the aquatic side of the program had been completed, a number of land races were held for the smaller kiddies of gase from eleven years down to three years. These were operated on the flat stretch of ground in front of Mr. Hughes' cottage. The efforts of the little tots, among whom were some who were not far beyond the toddling stage, were greatly appreciated by the bystanders.

Prizes were presented by Mr. Hughes with the aid of Bob Breyfogle. The awards had been chosen with expertness and drew forth gasps of appreciation from the wide-eyed recipients. The list consisted of flashlights, paddles, fountain pens, cushions pennants and other articles that the winners will treasure not only on account of their usefulness but of their significance.

The results of the aquatic races were:

Girls' Single Canoe, 16 and under—1, Mary McFarlane; 2, Betty Hopwood.

Boys' Single Canoe, 16 and under—Karl Duffus; 2, Drake Jopling.

Boys' Single Canoe, 12 and under—1, Ross Pulkinghorn; 2, Doug. McPherson.

RAIN POSTPONED RAYS' GAME.

Rain prevented the Raybestos-Oshawa Arab game at the Exhibition Park yesterday. Officials of the local team inspected the diamond at two o'clock and found all but the pitching box under a thin pool of water, and the sky promised more moisture. Oshawa was informed of the conditions and it was arranged that the fixture would be played this evening, starting at 6.30. If it rains to-day the game will have to be postponed again, likely till to-morrow evening or Saturday afternoon. It is a major attraction.

If the Rays dispose of Oshawa in this game it is tentatively proposed that they meet the Cognawagas on Monday or Tuesday.

PETES STILL HAVE A CHANCE.

The slimmest chance of coming out of the Central League heap in second place still beckons the Petes. Yesterday's crushing defeat in Oshawa was a disaster and may be the means of keeping them out. It proved to be anything but a twirling exhibition. Both the Petes' hurlers, Hall and Harrison, were away off color, and Mathews for Oshawa only showed strength in the pinches.

The Petes play in Deloro on Saturday and a win will keep them in the struggle, if Oshawa loses to Belleville.

HOLE IN ONE AT BEAVER MEADOW.

Playing on the Beaver Meadow course this week, Roy Smith, utility man with the Central Leaguers, made a hole in one, the first that has been made in the city this year. It was on the ninth hole, which is concealed by a hill, and is 153 yards in length, that Smith made his feature play. It was Shiner Johnston, a spectator, who picked the ball out of the cup, after it had been searched for every place else. Smith was playing R. McCorran, secretary of the club.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD LAD SWIMS CHEMONG LAKE.

Many swimmers have breasted Chemong Lake, but it is almost a safe bet that Donald Anderson, 11-year-old son of J. W. Anderson, C. P. R. agent here, is the youngest one to ever cross the mile stretch of water. The youngster, swimming well within himself, did the feat this week, setting out from the government wharf, and landing among the reeds on the Ennismore shore. A canoe was close at hand in case of need.

TURN BACK, OH, TIME!

Memories of twenty and thirty years ago were revived in Port Hope last Saturday afternoon when the Port Hope lacrosse team defeated a team from Toronto. Port Hope in years past was one of the strongholds of the great game and many a stiff battle was played with Peterborough. Now the game is coming back strong in the lakeshore town, and it is also being successfully revived here. Millbrook also has a team, while Campbellford has maintained lacrosse even through these lean years. Perhaps in a few short years the game will again be back to something of its former standing. The C.G.E. teams can be assured of plenty of opponents when they get rounded into shape right in the district.

FAINT HEART NE'ER WON.

The Deloro kids who have just started to play ball this year under the tuition of Jules Ether should not be discouraged by their 24 to 1 defeat at the hands of Grafton's bantam team. The lopsided score should show them that they still have a great deal to learn about the game and if made of the right stuff they will keep on until they have mastered the game. Grafton's are a smart team of young experienced players who will show their class in the O.B.A.A. playoffs, and it was no disgrace for Deloro to drop a game to them. Jules Ether is a real coach and with continued practise in a short time the Deloro youngsters will make any of them step, but defeats must be accepted as a matter of course, at first.

THE RECORD OF RUTH.

Babe Ruth's five hundredth home run stands alone for several reasons. It put his score at a height never even approached before by a major league baseball player. His nearest rival has scored less than half of 500 in his major league career. His big hit on Sunday not only went over the fence in Cleveland but bounded against a doorway and into the hands of a man from New Philadelphia, who wasn't thinking of a ball game, but was on his way to catch a bus. Ruth gave him two baseballs and $20 in return for the sacred sphere which had registered the five hundredth home run.

All these circumstances make the five hundredth home run notable. But the Yankees made four errors and lost a game in which they twice were leading. Yet from the spectator's point of view the home run was the event of the day and 500 is a high mark for other batsmen to shoot at. One of them may equal it, for Ruth has been batting for fourteen years and there are youngsters like Foxx and Ott whose records to date far surpass the Ruth beginnings. The new men have the advantage of the "lively ball," which Ruth has had only recently. It is not inconceivable that the mark of 500 will some day be passed.—New York Times.

CANTRELL FINED.

NEWARK, Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Steve O'Neill, portly manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs, took it upon himself to become a baseball doctor here yesterday, while the Canadians rested due to a downpour of rain.

O'Neill's first operation was to plaster a fine of $200 on Pitcher Guy Cantrell. He followed this up with a prescription calling for indefinite suspension of the pitcher.

Apparently Cantrell and a few of the other Leafs have not been living up to baseball rules off the field.

While no other fines or suspensions have been handed out there is a fear in the camp of the Leafs that more will be forthcoming unless a better spirit is shown by the players.

CHAMP POTATO PICKERS

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 14.—Potato pickers are swarming into this territory in all types of vehicles to prepare for the coming season. Back for the 18th year is the Adams family, composed of the father, mother, 11 children and sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, grandchildren and others of the family. All 11 of the Adams children were born in a wagon used to make trips to potato fields.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S FOOT GUARDS TOTAL SCORE OF 274 IN THE HIRAM WALKER SHOOT

Winners of Challenge Cup At Dominion Rifle Association Matches.

TORONTO SECOND.

Improved Weather Conditions Meet Marksmen in Competition To-day.

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont., Aug. 15.—(By the Canadian Press).—Governor General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, won the team competition in the Walker match at the Dominion Rifle Association to-day with a score of 274. Queen's own rifles, Toronto, were second with 273 and the Toronto Regiment third with 271. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, Hamilton, were fourth with 269.

C. G. F. G., by their victory in the match, win the challenge Cup presented by Hiram Walker and Sons, and $30 in cash added by the D. R. A.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S MATCH

Improved weather conditions met the marksmen at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet when they went to the ring point for the first stage of the Govern-General's match this morning. There was a fairly stiff wind blowing from the west, directly across the ranges, but the sky was clear and visibility very good.

Three ranges in the Governor's match will be fired to-day, 200, 500 and 600 yards, and there will be a strong fight to prevent elimination by the sharp shooters. The best 150 marksmen will be left to compete in the final stage on Saturday afternoon. There is an imposing list of prizes offered for competition in this match. His Excellency's award is $500, with three medals and $1,150 added by the D.C.R.A. The event is open to all members of the D.C.R.A. except as regards the first four prizes, which are restricted to His Majesty's forces. A D.C.R.A. silver medal will be awarded to the highest scorer in the first stage, while a bronze medal will be given to the Tyro making the highest aggregate score in the first and second stages combined, or in the first stage if no tyro enters the second stage.

Four Trophies

In addition, four trophies are to be won in connection with to-day's stage of the match. The Jubilee trophy, will be awarded to the team of eight men from any military district, four of whom must be tyros, who are entered as individuals; the Transvaal cup and medal will be given to the South African war veteran, (Canadian forces) making the highest score; the Gordon Highlanders trophy will be awarded to the winning team of eight competitors, and the Bostock Memorial trophy goes to the competitor, being a member of cavalry, artillery or mounted rifle unit of His Majesty's forces, making the highest score in the first stage.

The only other match scheduled for to-day is the "Coates" a battalion team competition in uniform by teams of four men. It is fired at 500 and 600 yards.

AUSTIN WINS FROM SHIELDS

Field Reduced to Eight in Eastern Tennis Championship Play.

HUNTER MEETS SELIGSON.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press). — Familiar figures in the tennis world remain in the running for the Eastern grass court tennis championship, the field of which was reduced to eight by yesterday's matches. William T. Tilden, already qualified, rested yesterday, as H. W. Austin, young British internationalist, wrested the decision from Frank Shields, national junior champion, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, in the feature match of the day.

Gregory Mangin, Georgetown University star, won from J. S. Oliff, Austin's team-mate, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, and Frank Hunter triumphed over Bruce Barnes, 6-1, 6-1. Jules Seligson, Lehigh University star, won from Eddie Jacobs of Baltimore, 7-5, 6-4, and John Doeg rather handily defeated Melvin Partridge, 6-0, 6-4. Harold MacGoffin scored over Gilbert Nunns, 8-10, 7-5, 6-4, in the hardest fought match of the day.

In the fourth round to-day Hunter will meet Seligson and Austin will play MacGoffin in the lower half. Tilden and Berkeley Bell, both of whom advanced on Tuesday, are in the upper half with Doeg and Mangin.

Wells in or Near Lime

Nine Turner Valley wells are now either drilling in the lime or standing in the lime some distance. These are Home 3, Associated, Calmont 1, Foothills 2, Royalite 19, Royalite 21, Illinois-Alberta 2, Spooner 2, and McLeod 4.

Spooner 2 and McLeod 4 are both deep in the lime and have both reach fair production, but are being carried down in the expectation of materially increasing it.

Production will increase with an average production of 200 barrels daily, these nine wells mentioned would increase Turner Valley production figures by fifty per cent.

Auction and Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd	3rd Rd.
South	1 ♥	4 ♥	Pass
West	Double	4 ♠
North	3 ♥	Pass
East	3 ♠	Pass

Jump assists of partner's bid over an intervening negative double are in the same category as original pre-emptive bids in that both may be made with slightly less than the normal requirement for such a bid as a defensive proposition.

Thus a jump assist over a negative double is of doubtful integrity in respect to bidder actually holding the full values normally required and therefore should never be read as a Slam invitation at Contract, but rather as an assist based more upon distributional than upon high card values to shut out a possibly dangerous response by partner of the doubler.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction West's double is warranted more by his distribution than by his high card values. North, with five cards of South's suit, pre-empts his assist, bidding more than his actual supporting values would normally justify in an attempt to shut out a response to West's double. However, East, with four Spades to the Queen-Jack, the suit expressly invited by West's double of an adverse Heart, and also a strong Club suit that may be called if necessary or expedient on a later round, refuses to be shut out and bids three Spades in preference to four Clubs.

South, while realizing that North's assist may be an over-bid, has slightly more than the values for a sound re-bid of his own holding. West, having received a free and satisfactory response to his negative double, carries the Spade bid to four odd which becomes the final declaration.

Contract: The bidding at Contract should be identical with that at Auction and for the same reasons. It is of interest to know that in the Contract match, where this deal actually occurred, the East player failed to realize the significance of the situation and bid four Clubs over North's three Hearts, which West carried to five, a contract which was defeated.

It will again be noted that with two mutually supporting strong suits, a partnership holding usually will produce the same number of tricks with either the suit the trump. Thus on this deal, there is four-odd in the East-West hands, a game at Spades, but no game at Clubs.

The Play

South leads initially the King of Hearts. Dummy goes down exposing the singleton Heart and South shifts to the 4 of Diamonds, which East wins with Dummy's Ace, North playing the Jack.

Declarer now leads the Spade 2 from Dummy, playing the Jack from own hand which loses to South's Ace.

South continues with Diamonds. North wins with the Diamond Queen and returns the Diamond King which East Trumps, playing the 9 of Spades to guard against any possibility of an over-ruff. Now, two rounds of Spades to exhaust the adverse trumps and Declarer can claim the balance of the tricks: five Club tricks, and one Spade in Dummy to trump his losing Heart.

It will be seen that the same result, four odd, would have been obtained at Clubs, Declarer losing one Heart, one Diamond and one Spade at either declaration.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"If it hadn't been for Eagle Brand Condensed Milk she would have died . . .

she was born last July and weighed 8 lbs. She was always fretful and whining and restless and seemed to be getting thinner every day. I took her to the doctor and he told me the baby was dying. She was three months old and weighed 6¾ lbs. He told me to wean her and put her on Eagle Brand Milk. We gave her just what you would give a new born baby and kept increasing it. She is now 7 months old, has two teeth, weighs 18 lbs. and is the picture of health and is as good as gold. Eagle Brand has been a blessing."

ELEVATORS ARE FULL WITH NEW CROP UNREAPED

Believe Poor Crop Prospects Will Relieve Surplus in Time.

PRICES ADVANCED.

Conditions in Europe and Australia May Relieve Curious Situation.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The report of E. A. Ursell, statistician to the board of grain commissioners, on the July movement of Western Canadian grain, calls attention to the curious occurrence of elevator space nearly congested at the time when new crops are almost ready for harvest in the west. Poorer crop prospects, however, seem to promise a demand for the surplus shortly.

The report says in part:

Due largely to continued hot, dry weather throughout the spring wheat territory of North American and consequent deterioration of grain crops, prices advanced very substantially during the month. Coming so near the approaching harvest season in principal importing countries and with an abundance of supplies in sight for immediate needs, importers were not inclined to purchase so freely and the report movement fell off considerably. The unusual condition now exists of Canadian seaboard and terminal elevator space being almost wholly occupied with old crop grain, a similar condition rapidly developing at U. S. terminal points, and the new U. S. winter wheat crop already moving and both U. S. and Canadian spring wheat being harvested.

Does Not Affect Price

Ordinarily, such a condition would have a strong tendency to depress markets until the old crop grain could be disposed of but Canadian crop prospects have been so seriously affected and reports indicate European crops have also suffered from the drought, whilst in Australian and Argentina rain is badly needed. So the principal influence in the markets, at least until the results of harvest in Europe and North American are more definitely known, will continue to be the apparent close adjustment of prospective supplies to actual requirements.

If European requirments amount to no more than average it is evident the carry over on August first, plus the prospective surplus of North America will be heavily drawn upon before the new crops of the southern hemisphere are available. Conditions of growing crops in Australia and Argentina will be closely watched.

Records Established

The crop year, closed on July 31, was notable for an entirely new set of records established, from production in the prairie provinces, throughout the whole system of marketing and handling to the final carry over. A few of the figures representing total receipts of grain during the year are—at country elevators: 559,530,000 bushels, at interior private and manufacturing elevators 78,898,800 bushels, at Fort William-Port Arthur 409,680,774 bushels, at Vancouver (including New Westminister) 99,450,800 bushels, all of which constitute new records.

Freight Rates Lower

Owing to the unusually small movement, freight rates, both on the Great Lakes and the ocean, are strongly in favor of shippers. What grain is being carried to overseas destinations is insufficient to fill the space available in liner tonnage and very low rates have been quoted by owners anxious to obtain "stiffening" cargoes. On the Great Lakes rates have continued more steady at eight cents per bushel to Montreal, 1¾ cents to bay ports and two cents to Buffalo though occasionally boats have been chartered at 7 1-2 cents to Montreal via Erie. Owners evidently have preferred to lay up all large vessels not engaged in carrying cargoes up bound, those having cargoes being sufficient to carry all the grain being shipped on their downbound trips.

I decided to cease the stern strife
That I face every day at each corner and turn
And lead a less strenuous life.
I resolved that before my allotment of years
Had measured the Scriptural span—
Before talkies and jazz music fracture my ears—
I would take a long look at Japan.

I pictured the place as a region of peace
Where even the peasants have poise,
Where a person might find a delightful release
From tumult and clangor and noise.
I fancied the Japs followed calm, placid ways
Arrayed in cool, loose flowing clothes
And that princes and peasants spent most of their days
In easy and joyous repose.

I was eager my cares and distractions to lose,
To spend long and soul soothing weeks
Beneath the soft shade of the leafy bamboos
And gazing at snow mantled peaks,
While geisha girls danced in the shadows afar
In bright tinted gossamer dressed,
With never the sound of a gunman or car
My serene peace of mind to molest.

But alas for my dreams—they have all gone the way
That my hope for serenity has
The Japs, like the folks in our own U.S.A.
Are madly addicted to jazz.
And if I, after travelling half round the sphere,
Must hark in the gathering gloam
To trombones and saxis in rabid career,
I might just as well stay at home.

SUSPICIOUS.

We wonder if Mustapha Kemal regards that public subscription to build him a tomb as a sign of friendship and affection.

SELFISH.

SHIPPERS PROBE REFRIGERATION DIFFICULTIES

Transportation Lines Temperatures Not in Accord With That Needed By Apple Men.

Hold National Apple Week.

International Viewpoint Must Be Broadened By Individuals in Various Countries.

TORONTO, Ont., August 15. (C. P.) — A lengthy discussion concerning the difficulties experienced in maintaining uniform refrigeration temperatures when shipping apples to Great Britain and other foreign countries, decision to inaugurate a trade report it was said that the officers and executive committee of the association had appointed a special national apple week, and the reading of the presidential address, were the high spots of to-day's sessions of the 34th annual International Apple Shippers' Convention here to-day.

During the reading of the foreign committee to investigate the facts regarding refrigeration temperatures.

E. W. J. Hearty, the general chairman, said that in August, 1927, the shippers supposed they had negotiated an agreement with the Atlantic Conference Lines to maintain a range of 32 to 37 degrees Fahrenheit. In November, 1927, however, the lines requested that the range be between 35 and 40 degrees. On June 21, 1928, the North Atlantic Freight Conference served notice on the shippers that because of the large claims fyled on the ground that bill of lading temperatures were not maintained the lines would no longer accept fruit under specified temperatures.

Will Make No Guarantees.

At the meeting held here Tuesday, the Atlantic Conference maintained this position, said Mr. Hearty. The steamship companies assured the shippers though that they would endeavor to maintain the temperature specified by the shippers, but would accept no responsibility therefor.

W. L. Minick, president, in his address, recommended that a national apple week be again inaugurated, saying that it had been discontinued previously owing to the lack of funds. A motion by a delegate that each member contribute $25 for the resumption of the plan, was carried unanimously.

Changed Name.

The delegates also decided unanimously to change the name of the Association to the International Apple Association.

During the discussion regarding the altering of the Association's name, Mr. Minick said: "The time has come when the individuals of the various countries and their leaders must learn to broaden the international viewpoint and strengthen the ties that bind."

He pointed out that no country could expect to have everything in its favor, and at the same time be welcomed with open arms to the company of nations, and enjoy freedom of commercial interchange elsewhere.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

OUR LADY OF THE SNOWS.

Whether the recent cold spell in the summer month of August, or whether some American tourist has been misinformed as to the climatic condition of Canada, it is unknown, but nevertheless this fact remains certain that an American roadster was seen going up George street this morning with a pair of skiis in the rumble seat of the small car.

DARING ROBBERY.

The Keene robbers have nothing on the Peterborough hold up men who execute their get-away, and take their spoil in the broad daylight. A confectionery store on George street reports that some person with taking ways, lifted the gum box, which is no small trinket, from its place outside of the door. Not only that, but even the screws that held it were removed before the box was taken, and the only evidence left of this automatic vending machine is three small screw holes in the store front.

SLIPPERY ROADS.

Motorists attending the Serpent Mounds regatta yesterday experienced some very difficult roads before arriving on the scene of the sports. The final part of the road from Keene to the lake is merely a clay trail and the heavy down pour made it as slippery as a waxed floor. The lower part became so bad that finally automobiles were detoured through the fields to the lake shore.

PAY PARADE.

WAS LEFT OUT.

Through not being received in time the donation of $10.00 by the McDonald Lumber Company towards the prizes for the General Builders' picnic held at Cedar Isle on Saturday, was inadvertantly omitted from the list of those who contributed.

LAST WORD IN CAR LINE.

A unique little contraption was seen tearing down Reid Street at an amazing clip yesterday afternoon. It was a miniature automobile with its owner and creator proudly seated at the wheel. Unlike the usual crude attempts of little boys to copy real autos in designing their toys, this had a completeness of design that evinced a spark of genius in its builder. It even had four spark plugs up in front, and would have had more if the hood had been longer. It seemed for a time that the car was propelled by its own power, but this point was cleared up when the youngster suddenly jumped out and gave it a push to keep it going and then jumped back in to enjoy the fruits of his efforts.

BANK CLEARINGS.

The bank clearings for the week amounted to $861,008.

DRIVES CAR INTO DITCH

Driving to the city yesterday afternoon on the Port Hope highway, George A. Macdonald, 300 London street, was forced to drive his car into the ditch to avoid an accident. Mr. Macdonald, approaching the last turn into the city, found the roadway almost blocked by two cars, which were park while their occupants held discourse. Mr. Macdonald was driving at a fair rate of speed and the highway was slippery from the rain. To avert a collision he drove his car into the ditch. The car was only slightly damaged.

FLOWERS ON DISPLAY.

A display of gladioli and sweet peas in connection with the annual competition of the Peterborough Horticultural Society is to be seen in the window of the south Teco store on George street. These have been entered for judging from all parts of the County of Peterborough. Among the specimens of gladioli are some special seedlings that have been developed by George Clark and Al. Spencely of this city.

ZEALOUS STUDENTS.

A curious sight was to be witnessed at the Collegiate Institute yesterday afternoon. On the steps of the main entrance on McDonnel street three boys sat with open books in their laps to all appearances studying. Whether they were acting in mute protest to the closing of schools during the summer months or merely anticipating the fall opening was not ascertained.

NEW UNIFORMS.

The new uniforms of the Peterborough Bus Lines are on display at the Tip Top Tailors and they have a very neat and attractive appearance. The material and style is similar to last year with the addition of a Sam Browne belt. Gold lettering, forming the words Peterborough Bus Lines, over the pocket lend an additional attractiveness to the uniforms.

SIGNAL LIGHT STOPS

The traffic signal lights went off duty shortly before noon today, the first time since they have been installed, but they were back on the job at 2.15. The cause of the breakdown was a set of worn points, which was soon repaired.

Peterborough motorists had become so used to travelling by the lights that they were at a loss as to what they should do when they were left without a guiding beacon, and several times traffic was tied up for a short time while impatient drivers waited for the word to go.

IMPROVING ROAD

The sharp curve where the Chemong road connects with Reid street is being considerably improved; the pavement being much widened at the curve proper. Several bad accidents have occurred at this point, and only a day or so ago two large American cars were more or less wrecked.

OBITUARY

KENNETH GARRETT COX.

The death of Kenneth Garrett Cox, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cox, 328 Smith Street, occurred yesterday afternoon at the family residence after a short illness. The child was 2 years of age, and was born in this city. He is survived by his sorrowing parents and a small family.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Friday at 2 p.m. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

MISS TANNER.

LAKEFIELD, August 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Miss Tanner took place on Sunday afternoon from her apartment on Queen Street, and was attended by many friends and relatives who gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to a lady who was known and highly esteemed throughout the entire community. The service was in charge of Rev. James Ross, minister of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was a devout member.

Mr. Ross spoke of the scene in the home of Mary and Martha when our Lord Himself played the part of mourner over a dear departed friend, Lazarus, and whom He restored again to life, saying, "I am the resurrection and the life, and he that believeth in me though he were dead, yet shall he live." Our Lord died on the cross that we, through His death and resurrection, might have eternal life, and this wonderful promise takes away the sting of death, for we part only for a while to meet again with Him. There is the great company of those gone before who are one in Christ, and we are a part of the great company divided for the present but ultimately to be re-united in our Father's home where a place has been prepared. We are all part of the great company in Christ, forming one army of the living God, to His command we bow, part of the host have crossed the stream and part are crossing now. The oneness in Christ is a great comfort to those who mourn over departed friends and the picture given us by St. John of Jesus Himself weeping over the death of His friend shows us the loving sympathy of the Saviour of mankind.

Mr. Ross spoke, in conclusion, a few words about the deceased lady, who was an active and faithful member of the Presbyterian Church and whose zeal for the cause never failed. She earnestly and devoutly prayed and worked for the extension of the Christian work in the community, and will be very much missed in the congregation and in the village.

The pallbearers were Messrs. W. H. Casement, Robert Duff, Andrew Fairbairn, J. A. Porter, J. W. Simpson and Charles Thomson. The funeral cortege left the house for the Lakefield Cemetery where the committal service was read and interment made. Miss Matilda Ann Tanner was born in Peterborough sixty nine years ago, the daughter of the late George Tanner and his wife, Agnes Stewart Tanner. The family moved to Lakefield many years ago and have been associated closely with the life and development of the village for half a century. Miss Tanner was possessed of a remarkably loyal nature and was staunch and faithful to her family, her friends, her church and her community. She had an attractive personality, which won for her many friends who mourn her loss and who feel that Lakefield and the community is poorer for her passing. She took a great interest in young people and enjoyed their company and society and made many staunch friends among young men and women who were greatly her juniors in years.

She was a member of the Lakefield Presbyterian church since her early youth and gave to it her loyal service till the end when the faithful heart ceased beating and the spirit went back to God who gave it.

Miss Tanner is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Wakeley of Toronto, Mrs. Gillard of Cobourg and Mrs. James Edward of Montreal, and three brothers, F. W. Tanner of Toronto, E. A. and C. S. Tanner, Reeve of the village.

MARY ANN GILLIES

Mary Ann Gillies of 476 Patterson street passed away yesterday in this city after an illness of over ten weeks.

The deceased was 81 years of age and one of the oldest residents of this district. She was born in Cavan the daughter of the late Robert Gillies and thirty-two years ago she came to Peterborough to live. Surviving her is one brother, Thomas Gillies of Cavan.

The funeral service will take place Friday at 2 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased to Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. William MacDonald of Knox Church.

MRS. IDA DAVIS.

The death of Mrs. Ida Davis, wife of James Davis, occurred last night in this city. She was aged 57, and was born in Smith Township, the daughter of the late Stephen Nicholls.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. James Hunter, 172 Dufferin Street to the Lakefield Cemetery.

DIED

SICKLER.—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sickler, died at Nicholls Hospital, Wednesday, August 14.

WEDDING BELLS

PINN—JEFFRIES.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place recently at Cobourg, when Edna Dcris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffries, became the bride of Wilfred Charles Pinn, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pinn, both of Peterborough.

The Rev. Pierre B. DeLong, L.T.H., F.R.G.S., of Cobourg, officiated.

SMITH—HARDWICK.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, August 14, at Ivanhoe, Ontario, when Rev. Dr J. A. Seymour united in matrimony Edith Alice, daughter of George T Hardwick, and the late Mrs. Hardwick, of Peterborough, Ontario, to Donald Edgar Smith, of Buffalo N Y., son of the late Mr. Robert Smith and of Mrs. Robert Smith, of Peterborough.

HARRIS—MASTERS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 3.30 yesterday afternoon in St. John's Church, when Miss Nellie Masters, only daughter of Mr. William Masters, 280 William street, was united in marriage to Sidney Harris, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Harris, Water street. Rev. Dr. Blagrave officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white flat crepe, with white hat and shoes and hose to match. She carried cream and pink gladioli with maidenhair fern and silver streamers.

The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Arthur Harris.

The Wedding March was played by Miss Lillian Bacon, who also gave an organ solo during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony a supper was served to about thirty guests at the home of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris left on the 7.47 train this morning for Toronto and Niagara and on their return will reside in the city.

Among the many gifts which the bride and bridegroom received was a Kenwood blanket from the Teco Club of which the bride was a member.

GREAT GENERAL DIES AT ESTATE

during the attack at Givenchy in March, 1915. This division was also in action at Loos, September, 1915, when when it made desperate attempts on both sides of La Bassee Canal.

At Gallipoli With Kitchener

In November of 1915 General Horne accompanied Lord Kitchener to Gallipoli and was afterwards sent on to Egypt to report on the defences of the Suez Canal. He was appointed to command the fifteenth corps in Egypt in January, 1916, and in April of that year his corps was transferred to the Somme area.

In the first part of the historic battles of the Somme General Horne's troops were in action to the British right. His men took Mametz and assisted in capturing Contalmaison and Bazentin Le Petit, triumphantly entering fliers on Sept. 15.

Famed For Creeping Barrage

General Horne at this stage of the war gained fame by his perfection of the method of artillery aid to attacks known as the "creeping barrage." In the autumn of 1916 he took command of the first army and during the winter held the section of the British line betwen General Plumer and General Allenby. In the battle of Arras he commanded the British left. His troops carried Vimy Ridge(the Canadian Corps mainly carrying out this great achievement), in April and May, 1917, and they fought their way to the southern and western suburbs of Lens.

A sum of $1,500,000 was voted to Lord Horne by the British government as a tribute from the nation, after the armistice.

There is no heir to the title.

In Police Court

Howard Benson, alias Bennett, charged with obtaining money under false pretences here on June 26, refused to elect in police court this morning. The Crown asked for a remand of one week.

Three persons—husband, wife and son—pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and were fined.

WHEN A CHANGE IS BETTER THAN A REST

It is a trite saying, that a change is as good as a rest. What could furnish a more complete change to the average city dweller than a two days' cruise over Lake Huron's blue waters and the mighty expanse of Lake Superior. A cruise that touches delightful ports within easy access to popular summer resorts, and abounds in historical as well as modern interests; from the old fur trading blockhouse, built in 1797, at Sault Ste. Marie, to the huge grain elevators at Port Arthur and Fort William.

The seemingly limitless expanse of sunlit waters—the glorious sunset—the summer moon shedding a sheen of silver garnished by the myriad stars that appear in the clear atmosphere—surely the change to such beauty much be better than a rest.

You will enjoy the spacious decks, airy cabins luxurious lounges and unobstructive, efficient service of the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes steamers.

Any Canadian Pacific agent will be glad to furnish you with complete information and booklet concerning the Great Lakes Cruise.

K. PETRIE AWARDED SHORT O.A.C. COURSE

Led New Covernment Yearly Farm Bookkeeping Contest for District.

One of the most interesting and instructive contests that have ever been conducted by the Agricultural department has just been concluded and the winners announced. The competition was the keeping of a complete set of farm books over the period of one year, and the contestants had to be under thirty five years of age.

This was originated last year as a means to get the younger farmers to put their farms on a more business-like basis and to help them find out where they were making a profit and where they were suffering a loss. The course required practically no knowledge of bookkeeping and the single entry system was the accounting principle employed. Correct allowances for depreciation on buildings, machinery and some stock were also made when recording the inventory of the farm property at the end of the year.

The fiscal year starts and ends on April the first, last year being the first time that this contest was inaugurated but which will be a yearly competition from now on.

Petrie Wins

Kenneth Petrie, Otonabee, was the winner of the first accounting contest and he will be entitled to a two weeks course in the Ontario Agricultural College this winter, free of charge.

The judging was done by the Economic department at Guelph and the judges had a difficult time in declaring a winner between Mr. Petrie and Harold Dunford, R. R. 2, of Lakefield. These two were so close that Mr. Dunford was also recommended for the course at Guelph.

Others who took part in the contest and who received honorable mention were, W. G. Waterman of Fraserville; D. Forsythe of Indian River and Carl Purdy of Cordova Mines.

This contest is considered one of the most valuable that the Department has to offer as it employs modern business methods in farming and tends to put this vital industry on a more substantial basis, according to J. B. Nelson, Peterborough's agriculture representative.

The Weather

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, Toronto, Ont., Aug. 15.— (Canadian Press).—An area of low pressure centred over northern Quebec extending to the South Atlantic states, has caused unsettled weather from the Great Lakes eastward, while in the west the weather has been for the most part fair. Pressure is low over the western provinces and high over the central states.

CAR OVERTURNS ON OMEMEE STREET

Peterborough People Narrowly Escape Serious Injury Last Night.

OMEMEE, August 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — An accident occurred at the bridge on Omemee's main thoroughfare last night about 8.30, in which a party of Peterborough people had a narrow escape from drowning or serious injury when the car in which they were riding turned over.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Jr., Mrs. Brown and her child Miss. Rose, Jr., was driving the car east towards Peterborough along the curb, and did not notice the steel superstructure of the bridge. The sedan climbed this and rolled over twice. Luckily for those in the car it fell on to the road way of the bridge instead of toppling over into the water on the other side of the structure.

No one in the car was seriously injured. Mrs. Rose, Sr., had her leg cut from flying glass, while the others in the car were shaken up and somewhat bruised.

RUSSIAN TROOPS MARCH INTO MANCHURIA

GUILTY OF NEGLIGENCE J. BURNS RECEIVES THREE MONTHS IN JAIL FOR DERAILMENT OF C.P.R. TRAIN

Madoc Magistrate Finds Death of Brakeman Was Driver's Fault.

RAN OVER LEVEL CROSSING

Pile Up of Ten Freight Cars On Open Switch Cost C.P.R. Over $200,000.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — John Burns, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y., was convicted at Tweed yesterday of a criminal negligence charge, and sentenced to three months in jail. He was committed to jail after being found guilty of being responsible for the death of Ross Brown, brakeman, of Havelock, by Magistrate Casement of Havelock.

Burns, it was alleged by the Crown, ran his car across a level crossing at Tweed, causing derailment of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train when a switch was turned and resulting in a pile-up of ten freight cars. Damage of $200,000 was caused to the Canadian Pacific Railway property, company officials said.

Despite a strong plea for suspended sentence by his counsel, L. D. Corcoran of Tweed, Burns must pay the penalty for his carelessness. "The train was so burdened with load that an immediate stoppage was impossible," said the magistrate, in sentencing the accused. "It seems that the engineer used every precaution to avoid a collision and the responsibility of the wreck lies entirely with the driver of the car."

HIGH WINDS AID WESTERN FIRES

Three U. S. State Forests Blaze and Valuable B. C. Kootenay Reserve Succumbs.

ONE DEATH REPORTED.

SEATTLE, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Fanned by high winds, forest fires in Eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana were adding to the already heavy toll they have taken from the wooded areas of the three states.

In British Columbia the flames in Kootenay Forest claimed their first life. Ludwig Karndt, seriously crushed about the head by a falling tree while fighting a fire at Farrow, died in a Nelson, B.C., hospital.

Rain was believed to be the only possible means of quenching some of the fires after the efforts of hundreds of men to beat them back had failed. Every man in Northern Chelan County was drafted to fight a 12,000-acre fire late yesterday.

Islands Near Plane Wreck May Shelter Co-Pilot

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—Only the slightest hope is held for the safety of John Kasper, co-pilot of the Miss Detroit, amphibian plane which sank in Lake Erie off Peele Island Tuesday night.

Since the plane sank the waters of the lake have been too turbulent to permit a thorough search for the missing pilot, and the only chance he may have been saved, according to lake mariners, lies in the hope that he reached one of several smaller islands in the vicinity of the disaster.

GRAF ZEPPELIN CROSSES URALS

Giant Airship Enters Continent of Asia On World Flight.

WEATHER FAVORABLE.

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—A Moscow despatch to the Berlin newspaper Vorwaerts this afternoon said the Graf Zeppelin had crossed the Ural Mountains from Europe into Asia, passing over the town of Nadezhdinsky, about 350 miles northeast of Perm.

The town of Nadezhdinsky reported the Zeppelin's passage by telephone to Perm.

The big air liner was sighted about forty miles to the north, where she met favorable weather conditions and avoided head winds further south of Perm.

The Moscow radio station which picked up the message from Perm said the Graf Zeppelin was already in contact with the Irkutsk radio station, and was receiving Siberian weather reports through the weather bureau.

The Ural Mountains are crossed by the railway from Perm to Nadezhdinsky at an altitude of 1,750. In this region the Ural slopes are so gradual that crossing over the Ural divide is hardly noticed by travellers.

Only a pole alongside the railway tracks marks the change. A sign on one side of the pole read "Europe," and on the other "Asia."

The town is located on the Sosva River nearly on the 59th parallel of Latitude North.

Three Mexican youths are hiking from Merida, Yucatan, to Buenos Ayres. They estimate it will take a year and a half.

China Will Stand By Pact

Chinese Minister in Washington Is Told To Notify Signatories of Peace Treaty.

CLASHES REPORTED.

300 Russian Marines Are Driven Out of Two Small Chinese Towns.

LONDON, August 16 (Canadian Press). — Reuter despatches from Nanking state that the Nationalist Government has instructed the Chinese Minister at Washington to notify the Kellogg pact signatories that Russia has begun an offensive along the Manchurian border.

The Nationalist Government at the same time instructed the Minister to state that China, while resisting invasion, would abide by the spirit of the renunciation of war pact and still hoped to arrive at a settlement of the Chinese Eastern Railway controversy by peaceful means.

The Chinese action was said to have been taken after Nanking had received reports confirming previous despatches that Russia had invaded Chinese territory.

Follows Instructions.

The Reuter despatches quoted Foreign Minister Wang as denying there was any disagreement between the Nanking Government and Mukden and stating that Chang Hsueh-Liang, Governor of Manchuria, was following the instructions of the Nationalist Government.

"China remains firm," he said. "The Russian associate managers of the Chinese Eastern Railway cannot be reinstated before the opening of negotiations. China's only course is for the entire nation to unite in resistance to Red imperialism, else it will perish in the grip of Communism."

The Foreign Minister also was quoted as saying the Government would shortly send the Powers another note regarding the problem of extra-territoriality.

Clashes Are Reported.

LONDON, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press) — Renewed alarming aspects of the Chinese Soviet crisis were reported in Reuter's despatches from Mukden, Manchuria, to-day. Other sources related continued clashes, although apparently of minor character, along the border between Russians and Chinese and Russians and White Russian troops.

A Reuter's Mukden despatch said Chang Hsueh Liang, head of the three Manchurian Provincial Governments, had ordered 60,000 Fengtien troops to the Siberian border, half to be commanded by Marshal Wang Hih Chen at Manchuli and half to be stationed in the east at Suifenho (Pogranichnaya) under General Ho Yu Kwan.

It was said that 300 Russian marines who had occupied two small towns on the Lower Sungari River had been driven off, six Russians

Elaborate preparations are being made for a monster parade of emblematic floats, civic, fraternal and social organizations, athletic sports, motor boat and other races. The celebration will conclude with a grand ball and banquet.

SINGAPORE BASE IS VERY VITAL SPOT IN EMPIRE

Churchill Claims Naval Resting Place Must Be Built To Maintain Communications.

FEARS EGYPTIAN TREATY.

Advocates Empire Development Through Business Men's Conference.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (By Frank Flaherty, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Completion of the Singapore naval base is essential to the security of the communications of the British Empire, said Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former British Chancellor of the Exchequer, in an address before a large luncheon gathering here to-day. Mr. Churchill said he had the gravest misgivings about the proposed treaty between Great Britain and Egypt, advocated the development of Empire trade through a conference of the leading business men of the Dominions with industrial leaders of Great Britain, and discussed the question of naval disarmament.

Singapore, he said, was nothing more or less than a resting place for the British fleet. The friendly relations between Great Britain and Japan belied the assertion it was a menace to the Oriental Empire's security.

Must Build Up Singapore.

"We must have communications between the various parts of the Empire," said Mr. Churchill, "and this resting place must be built. Australia and New Zealand have already contributed more money to its construction than has the Mother Country. To stop it just because of a change of government would have a disastrous effect."

He recalled the efforts of New Zealand and Australia for the Empire during the Great War. These Dominions were entitled to expect that if danger should threaten them the Empire should go to their aid with all the strength which could be mustered. To do this the navy had to have a base in the East, where ships could obtain fuel and supplies on their way to Australia.

Recalls Self Gov't Experiments

He recalled he had put through the House of Commons two of the "most daring experiments of self-government ever attempted," the Transvaal Constitution in 1906 and the Irish Free State Constitution in 1921.

Doubtful of Egypt

At present he was inclined to ask himself whether Egypt was any more capable of giving the stability of government which international interests in that country and peace of the world required than she was when Great Britain stepped in fifty years ago. Only five years ago conditions in Cairo were grave. Murder and conspiracy was rampant. Certain public services had been turned over by Great Britain to Egypt and in almost every instance, whether they were irrigation or any other form of service they had deteriorated under Egyptian management.

The past winter was the most severe in Poland for the past 103 years. Sixty per cent. of the fruit trees and nursery stock in that country perished in the cold weather.

OFFER SNOWDEN 60 PER CENT. OF BRITISH CLAIM

Last Minute Efforts Are Made To Save The Hague Conference.

VACATE RHINELAND.

France and Italy Both Declare That They Have Gone to the Limit.

THE HAGUE, Netherland, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Last minute efforts to reach an agreement on the financial question and plans looking toward evacuation of the Rhineland were in progress to-day at The Hague.

Premier Briand of France called on Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany and again talked about evacuation of the Rhineland while Emile Francqui, Belgian delegate, called on Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, with a formal proposition from the other creditor powers.

It is understood that Great Britain was offered 60 per cent. of its claims or about 30,000,000 marks a year (about $7,500,000) to be included in the unconditional annuities.

Vacate Second Zone

Premier Briand told Foreign Minister Stresemann that the second zone of the occupation of the Rhineland, the Coblenz Bridgehead, will be evacuated by the middle of November.

As to the third zone at Mainz, experts are still at work studying the details.

The situation in the financial committee also was discussed by the two Ministers.

When M. Francqui made his proposal to Chancellor Snowden, he also made a detailed reply of the creditor nations to the Chancellor's argument in the course of which Francqui declared that the British interests had been far better cared for in the reparations settlements than the Chancellor had admitted.

Offers Inadequate

The four countries on whose behalf Francqui spoke were France, Italy, Belgium and Japan. Before to-day's meeting the British Chancellor had declared that offers previously made were totally inadequate and that unless the other creditors found a way of satisfying the British demands fully it was futile for the financial committee to meet tomorrow.

The French delegation has given Snowden to understand that it has gone to the limit of possibilities seeking to make up a sum to satisfy the British, while the Italians have remained firm in resisting the British position. These circumstances had deepened the gloom overhanging the headquarters of the various delegations this morning, although it was hoped the last minute efforts might be of avail.

The German delegation was particularly perturbed by what the status of the Rhineland evacuation will be should there be a failure to settle the financial question.

DEPOSITORS RETURN WITH MONEY

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 16.—Depositors in the Bay Ridge Savings Bank of Brooklyn, who got excited yesterday over rumors that there was a run on the bank and thereupon started an actual run began to-day to put their money back.

Although bank officials opened the place at 7.30 a.m. to-day, with extra tellers all prepared to continued paying out, only 20 depositors were on hand to withdraw their money.

By 9 a.m. 174 old depositors had returned, bringing back $9,000 of the nearly $2,000,000 withdrawn yesterday. They continued coming back throughout banking hours.

PLANE ON WAY TO CHEYNNE

MILLS FIELD, San Francisco, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press). — The trans-continental non-stop refueling plane 'Spokane Sun God" after making two contacts with a refueling ship here, headed eastward shortly before 7.30 a.m. to-day, presumably for Cheyenne. Field attendants said however, that the endurance flyers had not received all the gasoline they had wanted and might return for a third refueling.

IN MIDST OF QUEEN'S PARK MELEE

This striking photo was taken in Queen's Park, Toronto, the evening of Aug. 13, by a photographer in the midst of a melee when an organized body of police attacked and dispersed a gathering of Communists and casual spectators. The policeman—his name is reserved—is seen in the act of kocking down one of those who came to the park. Chief Constable Draper said in regard to what happened to John MacDonald, head of the Communists, who was thrown to the ground and kicked and beaten: "Inspector Marshall warned him that he could not go on the platform, but he attempted to speak just the same. If a man persists in wrong-doing, he must be stopped."

BANDITS SNATCH $2,510 PAY ROLL FROM MANAGER

Three Unmasked Men Stage Hold-up in Front of Sangano Electric Office.

CAR LICENSE NO. 36-630.

Manager Pursues Vainly Firing Shots Into Back of Fleeing Car.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Snatching a satchel containing a $2,510.00 pay-roll from the hands of D. C. Patton, office manager of the Sangano Electric Company in front of the office here to-day, three unmasked bandits made good their escape in a motor car bearing Ontario license plate. Patton fired several shots after the fleeing car.

Had Just Parked Car

Patton had just returned from the bank with the pay-roll and after parking his car at the side of the building, was about to enter the office entrance when one man appeared, struck Patton with his fist and snatched the money satchel. The bandit ran to a waiting car, which whisked away north on George street, where the office is located

Patton immediately ran for his own car and pursued the speeding bandit car. He fired a number of shots which he said embedded themselves in the rear of the bandit car.

Loses Car in Traffic

The car was soon lost in the heavy traffic and Patton was forced to abandon the chase, returning to police headquarters to report the hold-up.

Signals were immediately flashed to all outlying parts of the city and guards placed at all possible avenues of escape. Despite a thorough search of Toronto and vicinity, not a trace has yet been found of the car which bore Ontario license markers, 36,630.

NOTED AUTHOR SPEAKS BEFORE KIWANIS CLUB

P. T. Cooney Says Canadians Are Purely a Type of Their Own.

TELLS OF HIS NOVEL.

Memory of Past Is One of Main Spurs Linking Present Generation Together.

Percival G. Cooney, noted author, one of those listed in "Who's Who," and Peterborough's own son, addressed the Kiwanis Club at their regular Friday luncheon at the Empress Hotel. He spoke on Vanished Canada, and his most popular novel "Kinsmen."

In a most delightful manner that was rich in humor and history, he described how the present generation was being moulded into one type that lacked the acid humor of the Scotch, the blandness of the Irishman and the firieness of the Frenchman—resulting in a type that is purely Canadian.

"There is a vanished Canada" he said "a Canada that I can barely remember when I was a boy and a picture that was unfolded to me by the old timers. The first Canada saw the pioneers whose hand clutched the rifle and paddle; he was followed by one who clutched the plough and rifle, and now one whose fingers are crooked to steering wheels of automobiles.

"Gone is the witty Scotchman, and the droll Irishman; the great work of to-day of the school and the economic system is the work of moulding these races into a single fused type of Canadians.

Old Days Full of Romance,

"In the old pioneer days the times were filled with hardships, but yet these were rich in romance and homely sturdiness that needs to be remembered as people in those days struggled against adversity, but yet lived happily.

"The common bond that to-day is linking the present generation together is the memory of the past, which has been vital in the development of the Canadian.

"In my novel, 'The Kinsmen,' I have tried to depict the three different strains that have been fused in the present race, the Irish, the Scotch and the French Canadian. The novel was first printed in 1917, and now such a demand has been created that a Canadian publishing firm has undertaken to publish 10,000 more copies of it.

"In 1836 a highland chieftain named McNabb left Scotland to settle in the Ottawa Valley, where he was granted a tract 18 miles square on the conditions if he settled 20% of it he would be given

WATCHMAN'S BODY FOUND.

OAKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—The body was recovered to-day of Ernest Wright, night watchman on a construction company scow which is doing repair work in the harbor here. It is thought that Wright fell into the water accidentally when making his rounds. He was missed when fellow-employees arrived at work.

CONFESSES TO SLAYING GIRL

DULUTH, Minn., Aug 16 (C.P.).—A man who said his name was Oscar Olson, 29, a Duluth dock worker, arrested by police to-day after he had tried to commit suicide, has confessed to slaying Dorothy Aune, 12-year-old Minneapolis girl.

Police said Olson confessed he sought to kill himself to escape punishment for the killing of the Aune girl.

OLD AGE PENSIONS TOTAL TWO MILLIONS IN WEST

Federal Gov't Pays Half, Provinces And Municipalities Rest

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press)—Since the adoption of the Old Age Pensions Act in the three western provinces of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, a total of $2,638,028.83 has been paid to 12,002 pensioners, according to the summary just issued by the Department of Labor.

Of the total amount the federal government has paid half, while the provinces and municipalities have shared the remaining half.

Thirty-two thousand tons of babassu nuts were grown in San Luis, Maranhoe, Brazil, last year.

MINERS TO ASK TRADES CONGRESS FOR ONE UNION IN EACH INDUSTRY

Resolutions Tend Toward Pepping Up of New Ministry On Democratic Advancement.

MUSICIANS PRESENT PLIGHT

BELFAST, Aug. 16.—(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Nothing of a widely revolutionary character appears on the agenda for the meeting of the Trades Union Congress of Great Britain, opening here on Sept. 2, but nevertheless the program has special interest as being compiled just when a Labor Government has taken office. The resolutions apparently are intended to ginger up the new ministry in its general policy of social democratic advancement.

The Miners' Federation asks the Congress to move towards establishing one union for each industry, which seems at the moment a rather forlorn aspiration considering the notorious jealousy which admittedly exists among so many unions possessing identical interests.

A 40-hour week is advocated by the Municipal Workers' Union, but the shop clerks' union is more modest in demanding limitation of work in commercial and industrial undertakings, seeking a 48-hour week. The lace workers urge payment for holidays for either piece-workers or time-workers.

Musicians Kick

The musicians, in a statement which will command wide attention stress their plight following the advent of the talking moving pictures and the further advance of Mechanical music. It is doubtful though whether sympathy will be extended to the musicians belief that the government should make it compulsory that a substantial part of every program should be provided by a human orchestra.

Watch Found Near Apsley, Lost One Year

COBOURG, Aug. 16.—While E. E. Hilliard and a party of Cobourg men were fishing, north of Apsley, in Peterborough County, last summer, Mr. Hilliard lost his watch. A few days ago the same party again visited the spot. They found the watch under leaves and bark beneath a tree. When picked up, the timepiece began to tick, and it was found to be only four minutes out of the correct time.

WITNESS TESTIFIES PANTAGES HELD GIRL

Dancer Ran Screaming For Aid As Office Door Was Opened.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 16. — (C.P.)—Testimony that Eunice Pringle, 17 year old dancer, was struggling to escape from the private office in the Pantages building, de-Gordon, prosecution witness, arrived at the scene of the alleged attack upon her last Friday, went on record to-day in the theatrical magnate's preliminary hearing on statutory charges.

Gordon, who testified the girl's repeated screams drew him from his office in the Pantages building, declared that as he reached Pantages' office door Miss Pringle's hand was protruding. As he pushted the door open, Gordon said the girl half fell out, then ran down the hall screaming for aid. Under cross-examination at the night session of court, Gordon stated that as she pushed open the door Pantages was hanging on to Miss Pringe's ankle as she tried to escape.

HIGGINS WILL TOUR DOMINION

Salvation Army To Conduct Congresses in Principal Cities.

INTERESTING PROGRAM.

LONDON, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press Cable). — General Edward Higgins, chief of the Salvation Army, accompanied by his wife, will leave London on August 24 for Newfoundland and Canada to conduct the Army's annual congresses at St. John's Newfoundland, Toronto and Winnipeg. This will be his rst extended tour since he assumed the leadership of the Salvation Army in succession to General Bramwell Booth. He will be away from London for two months.

Among the arrangements for General Higgins' visit is an invitation from His Excellency, Lord Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, for luncheon at Ottawa. Premier Mackenzie King will preside at a lecture to be given by General Higgins at Ottawa, and the Lieutenant-Governors of the various provinces have invited him to be their guests and have arranged public receptions.

Every Salvation Army officer in the Dominion will meet General Higgins in council, while at private meetings. At Wayside railway stations he will address the bulk of the army workers in Canada. His program also includes large public meetings in 13 principal centres.

Owners Of Rum Craft Forestall Destroying Of Cargo Of Whiskey, Brandy And Gin

GLOUCESTER CITY, N.J., Aug 16 (Canadian Press).—The cargo of the Halifax, N.S., motor ship Malbo, seized at Atlantic City a month ago, was transported to the United States Government warehouses, at Trenton, to-day, where it will be stored awaiting decision on appeal fyled by owners to prevent its destruction.

Consisting of 1,103 cases of whiskey, brandy, champagne and gin, the cargo was to have been emptied in the Delaware to-day.

The owners forestalled this action by appealing the destruction order. In the petition fyled at Trenton, it was pointed out the vessel came within the 12-mile limit in distress, seeking food and water.

CAMP BORDEN OFFICER KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES INTO COTTAGE

Companion Injured, But Occupants of House Luckily Escape.

WAS ON TEST FLIGHT.

CAMP BORDEN, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Flying Officer G. R. Stafford was fatally injured and Aircraftsman G. A. Hanson, who was flying with him on a test flight was injured to-day when their airplane crashed into a cottage near the flying field. Stafford, an Irishman who was formerly a member of the Royal Air Force and came to Canada about 18 months ago, died an hour after the crash. Hanson, whose home is in Meaford Ont., is not seriously hurt.

The cottage is occupied by Major P. Earnshaw, Officer Commanding the Signal Corps at the camp, and at the time of the crash several persons were inside but all were unhurt. The airplane is a total wreck.

Aged Lady Lost in Bush Being Sought By Posse

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press). — Provincial police from here to-day are searching the bush in a small area ten miles west of Spencerville, Ont., for an 83-year-old woman who has been lost for three days. Two officers of the Provincial force and a large posse of residents of the district are conducting an intensive search.

The name of the aged woman was not available here to-day.

BERLIN, August 16. (C.P.) —General Umberto Nobile, the Italian explorer, arrived in Berlin to-day and it was conjectured that he was planning another Arctic expedition. He left for Gotha to confer with several scientists. Yesterday he conferred with Berlin aeronautical experts.

To the question whether he would undertake a third polar flight, he replied: "I am forty four years old, and have studied aeronautics for sixteen years. I have constructed fourteen dirigibles and for four years have endeavored to find new land for Italy. I am still young enough."

FERGUSON LOST OVER MILLION TO PROVINCE IN OLD AGE PENSION GORDON TELLS LIBERAL RALLY

Government is Responsible for Reduced Value of Farm Land.

BAD EDUCATIONAL POLICY

Failure to Support Beck Cost Province Two Million More for Hydro Plants.

BEAVERTON, Ont., Aug. 16. — Charging that through lassitude in the matter of old age pensions, Premier Ferguson had lost to the Province over a million dollars in Federal Government contributions, Hon. G. N. Gordon addressed the annual convention of the North Ontario Liberals here yesterday afternoon.

The Ferguson Government was responsible for the reduced value of farms in Ontario, the loading of the farmers with debt and the discouraging of the farming industry in general, he said, adding that if Mr. Ferguson had not let the Shevelin-Clark Co. and other lumber companies beat this Province out of millions of dollars of taxes the farmer would not have been burdened. "Premier Ferguson loafed on the job for three years when the Province might have received over a million dollars a year from the Dominion Government for old age pensions," said Mr. Gordon.

"This stupidity alone is sufficient to warrant the downfall of Ferguson, as it shows a political bias.

"His lack of experience and foresight disqualifies him for even the position of a school inspector in a remote district in the wilds, instead of his being placed in the position of Minister of Education of the greatest Province in the Dominio. ' Mr. Gordon proceeded.

Wrong Educational Policy.

"His educational policy now forces small school sections to pay in the neighborhood of $1,000 to a young girl to teach a handful of pupils, instead of the Government properly supporting the rural schools.

"The Liquor Control Act was passed to prevent bootlegging and reduce drinking, but Sir Henry Drayton recently said that drinking has increased.

"The Liquor Control Act must be accepted as the law of the Province, but the administration of the act must be put into the hands of men who believe in the temperate use of liquor. Any person causing a breach of the law should not only be punished but should be prevented from obtaining liquor again."

Failed to Support Beck.

Mr. Gordon furthermore claimed that Mr. Ferguson and the late Hon. W. J. Hanna caused Eastern Ontario municipalities to pay $2,000,000 more for Hydro power plants than they would been compelled to pay had Mr. Ferguson stood loyally behind Sir Adam Beck.

After attacking the gasoline tax, Mr. Gordon declared that $20,000 is too much to pay a chairman of a Liquor Control Board, and argued that officials all down the line are paid salaries far beyond the value of the services they perform.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG WAREHOUSE

PARTLY INSURED

VANCOUVER, B.C., August 15 (Canadian Press). — A $300,000 fire this morning gutted a warehouse building on Beatty Street and destroyed large quantities of oil in storage. Firemen fought the blaze three hours until it was brought under control.

Western Oil and Supply Company, Scythes & Company, Limited, Canadian Johns Mansville Company, all lost supplies in storage when the warehouse burned. Their loss was partially covered by insurance. The building itself was valued at $125,000 and was also partially covered by insurance.

ARCHBISHOP LAYS CORNER-STONE.

TORONTO, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press).—Archbishop Neil McNeil, Toronto, yesterday laid the corner-stone of the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. The church is being erected at St. Clair Avenue and Clifton Road, and will cost approximately $150,000.

KENORA FIRES SLOWING DOWN

Whole District Dry As Tinder Yet Needs Rain Badly To Prevent Further Loss.

INDIAN CROPS RUINED.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Although the forest fire situation in New Ontario retains a serious aspect, conditions on the whole have shown a decided improvement due to light rains which have played a large part in checking the blazes, said Hon. William Finlayson, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests to-day.

The country about Kenora is exceptionally dry, Charles R. Mills, Assistant to the Deputy Minister of Forestry, said in his report to Mr. Finlayson. He said that never in his experience as a forester had he seen the country so dry as in the Kenora district. Whole forests had been shrivelled dry by the summer sun. Leaves had yellowed and are falling, giving an autumn touch to the scene, and the bush was virtually dry as powder, awaiting only a spark to send the vast timber wealth up in smoke.

The blueberry and blackberry crops, upon which the Indian tribes of the Kenora district have long been dependent, are completely ruined, and the Indians are facing a bad winter season, said Mr. Mills.

Mr. Finlayson said he did not think the total amount caused by fire to timber would be as great as was first expected.

BOGUS CERTIFICATES SOLD PRIEST HAULED INTO COURT

Foreigners Thought Permits Would Allow Entry to Families.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — Rev. Father L. Zaro, Buffalo, appeared before Magistrate Fraser in Police Court here yesterday and was remanded until next Tuesday.

It is charged that he sold bogus certificates to foreigners, who believed that he could issue permits to bring relatives to Canada. He received $25.00 a-piece for them, it is alleged.

Belleville Girls' Team Winners Of First Game

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Fifteen hundred softball fans lined the Armories lawn last night when Frontenac girls' softball team of this city defeated the Kiwanis team of Kingston in the first game of the eastern Ontario play-offs 16 to 15. The winning run was scored in the ninth frame when Molly Gray, hurler for the Frontenacs, singled with two runners on base and none out.

LABOR COUNCIL SENDS PETITION ASKING INQUIRY

Provincial Authorities Asked To Probe Board of Police Commissioners.

FREE SPEECH THREATENED.

Council States It Is In No Way Associated With Communist Party.

TORONTO Aug. 16.— (Canadian Press).—The district Labor Council at a meeting here last night passed a resolution "emphatically" protesting to the Mayor and city council "against the action of the police" in preventing a Communist meeting at Queen's Park, Tuesday night.

The resolution requested the provincial authorities to authorize an inquiry into the methods of administration by the Board of Police Commissioners. In the event of the Provincial authorities failing to act the resolution advocated a request to Dominion authorities to make an inquiry under the Public Inquiries Act.

Resolution Requests

The resolultion, passed after a debate centring about the methods employed by the police to clear Queen's Park, set forth in a long preamble the reasons behind the request for an inquiry. It was stated the police had acted under instructions from the Board of Police Commissioners and had used methods "which can only be regarded as inconsistent with the actions of the well-disciplined body of men"; that there existed "what appears to be irrefutable evidence that brutality was practised", that these methods were justified by members of the Board of Police Commissioners and the officers and members of the police force and that "a serious danger to the liberty of speech is threatened"

Ask For New Board

It was stated the district Labor Council disassociated itself from the Communist Party "its teachings, policy and objectives." In the event of the investigation which was requested disclosing incompetency on the part of the Board of Police Commissioners, the resolution requested immediate steps to appoint a new board.

Sir Adam Beck's Anniversary Is Celebrated In Hamilton

Ontario Municipal Electric Association and Friends Gather at Cemetery

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).— An impressive service conducted by Rev. Captain T. H. Stewart in Hamilton cemetery yesterday and attended by many of his former friends and associates marked the anniversary of the death of the late Sir Adam Beck.

The memorial service was conducted by the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

NO INVESTIGATION BY BOARD.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The Board of Police Commissioners will not conduct an investigation into the affair of Tuesday night when police clashed with Communists and innocent citizens are alleged to have been ill-treated, according to a statement issued by Mayor Samuel McBride yesterday.

FLY FOR PHILCOS

Headquarters Are Receiving Big Demand for Philco Receivers

With the idea of impressing the factory with the urgency of at least trebling present shipments of Philco Receivers to Canada, George Bain, manager of Philco Products, Ltd., of Canada, and D. McMillan of the Tandy Advertising Agency, flew to Divisional Headquarters recently. They report meeting seven U. S. Distributors there on a similar errand.

Unfilled orders for Philco Receivers continue to pile up at the factory, but a tremendously increased production schedule recently put into effect, will, it is hoped, correct this situation in the near future.

PILOT DISPLAYS GREAT HEROISM AS PLANE SINKS IN LAKE ERIE

Swims For Steamer in Distance To Get Help For Three Comrades.

COULD FIND ONLY WOMAN.

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 16. — A graphic tale of the remarkable heroism displayed by Cyril Caldewell, pilot of the Cleveland-Detroit amphibian, which sank in Lake Erie, off Pelee Island on Tuesday night, was unfolded last night by Mrs. Robert Little, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, one of the passengers, and Captain Roy Burke, of the Steamer Midland King, on which ship Caldewell and Mrs. Little were landed in the city.

Caldewell, strapping, and a powerful swimmer, gave a matter of fact account of the wreck of the big amphibian, of the four mile swim he made with his heavy aviator's equipment, and of the subsequent thrilling rescue by the crew of the Midland King.

The tribute of Mrs. Little, wife of a Cedar Rapids minister, given as tears welled in her eyes, was:

"To me he is the greatest hero in the world and we owe our lives to him."

Then came Captain Burke:

"He is the most courageous man I have ever come across. He told me if we had not sighted him as he was swimming towards us he would have swam to Canada. That swim was ten miles, and he was wearing his heavy flying clothes."

Pilot Tells Tale.

"We were out an hour and a half when we ran into a dense fog. I tried to keep the ship under control until I could land in the lake. I came down. The fog seemed to have lifted. Suddenly the fog again engulfed us. The crash came within a few seconds.

"When the ship struck the water I freed myself. The others had been jolted from their seats. They were stunned but not unconscious. I slid off into the water so my weight wouldn't hold the ship down and cause it to sink. I swam around and told the others to put on life preservers. Mrs. Little donned two; the others had one.

All Out as Plane Upsets.

"All had been freed from the cabin

Farmer Is Injured In Fall From Cultivator

PORT HOPE, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Clifford Thompson, 31, prominent farmer living on the highway five miles east of here, is believed dying in hospital here. His skull is thought to have been fractured when he was hurled to the pavement from a cultivator yesterday. He was turning off the highway when a motor car struck the side of the implement. The car was driven by Mrs. Beatrice Grant, Kingston.

CANADA AND U. S. RELATIONS ARE PEACE FACTORS

Attitude of Two Nationalities Shows Greatest Move Towards Real Peace Says Premier.

PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATION

Fifty Years From Now U. S. Will Be Proud To Have Canada As Neieghbor.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—"I think that the lessons to be learned from the relationship between Canada and the United States have developed more influence toward the dissemination of the principles of international peace, since the conclusion of the Great War, than any other single world incident," said Premier . H. Ferguson of Ontario, addressing the 34th annual International Apple Shippers' Association banquet here last night.

"We live alongside of one another, two great nationalities, in cordiality and friendship," said Mr. Ferguson. "We are making a practical demonstration to all the world, that differences alike in economics and politics may be settled without resort to physical force."

Try to Change Attitude

The Premier said while visiting at Geneva last year he had had a conversation with Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who had frankly said that the best and highest purpose of the league was to "endeavor to change the attitude of the peoples of the world, so that every kind of international problem would be amenable to arbitration and friendly settlement."

Proud of Progress

Continuing, Mr. Ferguson said Canadians were proud of the tremendous progress made in United States which has been done by determination and vision. "We in Canada, while we have gone even a less period than you have along the road of nationhood, believe we will have reached your stature. I wish I could live fifty years hence. I am satisfied that you would be proud to have more so than now," said the Premier.

OBLIGING MINISTER.

SEAFORD, Del., Aug. 16.—When James Wright and Dorothy Dix, G. W. Dykes and Phirley C. Brown arrived at St. John's M. E. Church here for a double wedding, Rev. E. L. Windsor had to think fast to oblige. One license was taken out in Delaware and the other in Maryland. Rev. Windsor drove the couples to the state line, parked his car across it, and with a couple on the Maryland side and one on the Delaware side he stood with one foot on each side and performed the ceremony.

German Steamship Helps Exiled Venezuelans Home

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—The German steamship Falke denounced as a pirate ship by the Venezuelan government, was in port here yesterday, with officers and crew divided among themselves as to the propriety of their aid to revolutionists who attacked Cumana, Venezuela, on Sunday.

Officers of the Falke said their captain, Tipplitt by name, sailed from Hamburg, Germany, in ballast to an unknown port in Poland, where their ship took aboard 125 exiled Venezuelans led by Gen. Delgado Chalbaud, exiled Venebuelan, and his son.

HALF MILLION COTTON STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK ON MONDAY

1,500 MILLS START.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 16 (C. P. Cable).—Half a million workers will return to their tasks on Monday and the wheels in Lancashire's 1,500 cotton mills will start turning after a stoppage of three full weeks. An 11-hour conference yesterday between representatives of the striking operatives and the employers resulted in an agreement to submit to arbitration the employers' demand for an all-round reduction in wages of 12.82 per cent.

In the meantime work will be resumed on Monday and the old rate of wages will be paid pending the decision of the arbitration court. The court is to consist of five members, two nominated by the employers, two by the operatives and an independent chairman to be mutually agreed upon. Both sides have undertaken to abide by the decision of the court and the chairman is to be vested with all the powers of an umpire in the event of a disagreement between the nominated members.

The result of the conference was announced last evening by Sir Horace Wilson, permanent secretary of the Ministry of Labor, who has played the role of mediator in the dispute. Sir Horace will not be able to sail to Canada to join Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Employment, on his mission to stimulate British emigration to the Dominion. He will sail to-day as he had planned. It was at the express wish of Premier MacDonald and Hon. Margaret Bonfield, Minister of Labor, that Mr. Thomas delayed his departure for Canada until the cotton dispute was cleared up.

NEILL'S

The Stor Of Better Values.

Neill's depend entirely on the quality of the footwear they sell to hold the good-will of the buyer and bring repeat orders.

Neill's expert buyers are the guarantee of quality—THEY KNOW VALUE—and not a pair of boots, shoes or slippers ever reaches the warehouse shelves without the most rigid inspection, to make absolutely sure that the shoe is right up to specifications.

In this way, Neill's protect the buying public, and again, as buyers of immense quantities of leather goods, they are able to command the best price, and pass on to their customers the savings their discounts have made possible. The moral of the story is:

"For Better Values, Buy at Neill's."

Communists Peasant Bank Raided By French Police

PARIS, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press. — The offensive against Communist organizations in France, which has been going on since late in July, reached a climax yesterday when three hundred policemen marched down the Rue Lafayette and raided the Communist Workers' Peasants' Bank.

They sealed up everything on the premises, removing account books and other documents which may prove important in revealing Communist activities.

Snow Storm Covers Fields While Hail Flattens Crops

STRATFORD, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — Snow, hail, and rain have fallen in Stratford and district. Late on Wednesday a severe hailstorm did considerable damage to standing grains in Downie Township in the vicinity of Fairview. Garden truck was much damaged and all grain standing in the path of the storm was flattened out. The damage has not been estimated. In a section between Shakespeare and New Hamburg fields were covered with a light fall of snow.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, August 16. — Salesmen failed to make a clean-up on Wednesday at the Union Stock Yards, about 500 cattle being unsold. The bulk of these will probably carry over the week-end. Buyers on the market yesterday morning were looking for bargains, and sales up till noon were not more than a dozen head.

The calf market closed steady at $15.00 a head top. Hogs were weak, with buyers quoting 50c lower for Thursday's loading. Sales yesterday were on a basis of $13.75 f.o.b. for select or $15.25 w.o.c., with truck hogs at $14.50 for select.

With only one load of lambs offered, no bids were received up till noon. The close on Wednesday was $12.50 for best ewes and wethers.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16.—Wheat prices moved upward yesterday on a quiet market. Final quotations were 2¼c to 2 5-8c higher for the day.

Trading was light, but the market displayed firmness throughout. The advance near the close was attributed to reports that threshing returns in some points of the West showed compuratively light yields.

Canadian millers and shippers were in the market for all grades of cash wheat yesterday, and trading displayed more activity than the past few days. Prices were unchanged on the higher grades, and ¼c to 1c higher on No. 4 wheat down to No. 6 wheat.

Wheat delivered to country elevators Wednesday totalled 155,802 bushels, as compared with 66,227 bushels on the same day last year.

Trading was fairly active in the coarse grains. Oats and barley values fluctuated within a narrow range, but flax dropped about 2½c. Rye was unchanged.

The weather in Western Canada was quite warm Wednesday, especially in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Fears of frost have been allayed for the time being.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Trading on the local wholesale butter market was a little more brisk yesterday and prices strengthened slightly for the No. 1 creamery, which was quoted at from 39c to 39¼c per lb. A firmer tendency was felt all throughout the day's trading and dealers expect that the future will bring distinct price advances locally at least. The No. 2 grade butter held unchanged yesterday at from 37c to 38c per lb., and there was little underlying change noticed in general conditions.

Eggs were quite scarce in yesterday's trading and prices responded with a spurt upward on good demand for all the supplies in evidence. The scarcity at this time of the year is not unusual in the opinions of prominent local brokers and the situation is not at all alarming in its condition. Dealers' quotations to country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered and cases returned are as follows: Fresh extras, 43c per dozen; fresh firsts, 40c per dozen; fresh seconds, 29c per dozen, with expectations of further price strengthening in the near future, unless arrivals increase considerably.

The local wholesale cheese market was more active yesterday and quotations for the No. 1 large colored paraffined and Government-graded cheese was quoted at 18¼c per lb.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, August 16. — With the exception of spring wheat flour, which was advanced 10c per barrel on the local grain market here yesterday, there were no price changes.

The butter market continued steady with no price changes. Receipts were 623 boxes, compared with 1,166 boxes on the same day of last week.

The egg market was also steady, with no changes in price, and receipts were 715 cases against 949 on the same day last week.

There were no changes in the local cheese market, with receipts 4,280 boxes as against 4,236 boxes on the same day a week ago.

The potato market was improved yesterday, with new potatoes locally grown selling at $1.25 to $1.40 per 80 pounds.

STEEPLE CHASE FEATURE EVENT AT HORSE SHOW

Number of Spectators Attend Cobourg Show Despite Disagreeable Weather.

LARGE ENTRY LIST.

Special Guest Accommodations Made To Grounds—Competition is Keen.

COBOURG, August 16 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Wet, disagreeable weather did much to mar the grandeur of the opening of the Cobourg Horse Show on Wednesday afternoon, and the events listed for the day were run off on a field that was soft and slippery from the rain. There were in all eleven events, with the open steeplechase started at five o'clock, as the most thrilling. Owlet owned by Allen Case, won the event by a small margin. The Horse Show this year is under the patronage of His Honor W. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, who was unable to be present for the formal opening. He was represented by G. W. Beardmore, of Toronto.

The entry list this year is large. In some cases as many as thirty-seven horses being entered for one event, and there are more than fifty events to make up the four-day program. J. Sylvanus Macey, Warranton, Va., and W. Wilson, New York, the two judges, experienced no little difficulty in arriving at their decisions in several classes. S.S.M. C. H. Hanks, of the Mississauga Horse, was the ringmaster. Music was furnished by the Cobourg Kilties Band under the leadership of Bandmaster J. Goldring. This year some changes have been made in the guest accommodations. Along the west side of the ring, a row of boxes has been erected to replace the old west grand stand. This affords an exceptionally good opportunity to watch the jumping at close range. An added attraction is the special parking area immediately in the rear, where those who are occupying the boxes may park their cars. Both Wednesday and Thursday these accommodations have been filled to capacity. The grand stand at the north end of the ring has also boasted its full complement of horse lovers. The general, although as yet unofficial, opinion is that this year the Horse Show has reached a new high mark both for the number of horses and the keen competition.

Wednesday's Program

Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock saw the official opening with class 47, open jumpers, as the first competition, and ten others to follow. The list of prize winners giving the name of the horse, and its exhibitor. In each case, the first prize was a trophy, with ribbons for second, third and fourth places.

Class 47, open jumpers — Red Prince, Sifton Stables, Toronto; 2, Great Heart, H. I. Hees, Toronto; 3, Brian Boru, Sifton Stables, Toronto; 4, Black Prince, W. B. Cleland, Troy, Ont.

Plenty of Thrills

The competitions yesterday were carried out on ground that was still somewhat soft, but much firmer than on the opening day. There were plenty of thrills but no spills. On several occasions, only the skill of the riders saved the day. Late in the afternoon, a young lady rider who had won much applause for her excellent horsemanship, lost her stirrup. She had completed the first round of the ring, taking the five jumps with plenty to spare. Everything seemed to be progressing as usual when the rider suddenly pulled her mount just as she approached the grandstand. All eyes watched eagerly for the reason. Her stirrup had come undone at the saddle. Fortunately, the iron stayed on her boot, and she paused for only a moment while she snapped the leather back in place. She finished the round to the accompaniment of applause from both the boxes and the stand. Earlier in the afternoon, a gentleman rider was surprised when his mount refused a jump. The horse did not stop, however, but swerved out around the hurdle. Things assumed the appearance of a Western bucking contest for a few minutes before the animal could be persuaded to finish the course. The Cobourg Steeplechase drew much applause. There was some difficulty in starting the three entries, and on the first attempt, one horse got over the first jump before it could be brought back.

The enclosure was walled with evergreen below the white wodden rail. Here and there along the barrier, were draped British and American flags. Early in the afternoon, the colors of two nations were hoisted to the top of the tall flagpole. The American flag was the first to be wafted in the breeze. While it was being raised, the United States National Anthem was played by the Kiltie Band, while the patrons stood in silent tribute. The Canadian National Anthem followed, and two flags rose to the top of the mast, the Union Jack and the Canadian Ensign immediately beneath.

Social Activities.

As has been the custom for several years the Cobourg Horse Show is the signal for much social activity in Cobourg. Many of the large summer homes have arranged various social functions. The Hon. Vincent Massey, who is at present holidaying at his summer home in Canton, and who has been interested in the horse show for many years is expected to be a visitor in town, and a guest at the Show grounds. Yesterday evening R. T. Baylor Hickman entertained the horse show officials at supper. George Harris entertained for the visitors last night. Mrs. Duggan will entertain at luncheon at Cottesmore Hall on Saturday.

EXPELLING AN IMMIGRANT.

The uncompromising spirit of the laws of the Medes might have been the model for the United States immigration regulations as demonstrated in the deportation of a Scottish family several days ago.

John Donaldson Ross, born in Ayrshire, Scotland, thirty years ago, came to Canada in 1920, worked in the West for three years and then crossed the line into Montana without benefit of registration. His American neighbours overlooked his illegal entry until he was promoted several months ago to the managership of a dairy ranch. Envy then whispered into the ear of the United States immigration agent at Butte. Ross was summoned before other immigration officials, admitted that he had entered the country without registering, but pleaded that he was ignorant of the immigration laws.

His employer appealed to Ottawa to have him deported to Canada, but failed because Ross had not reported every two years to the Canadian Immigration Department as required to establish residence. Ross had no alternative but to sell his home and surrender himself to the U. S. immigration authorities, with his wife and two children, one born in Canada and the other in Montana. And so he arrived at Ellis Island a few days ago on a special train filled with deportees from penitentiaries, asylums and jails. He is returning to his father's home in Dumfries.

Thus was one of the meanest of human motives satisfied and the scrupulousness of the immutable laws of a great nation preserved. And the scales of justice in the hand of the blindfold maiden down the harbor were rigidly level as the outgoing ship went by with Ross, the Scot, his wife and bairns. What a winnowing was there, as compared with the open door days when the hordes from Central Europe poured through the gates of New York.

OUR POWER GRIEVANCE.

Belleville received from the Hydro-Electric Commission a better bargain than Peterborough in the terms of purchase of its local power distribution system. According to a Belleville newspaper, this statement was made by Ross L. Dobbin, manager of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, in the course of his speech at the public meeting which was addressed by the Hon. J. R. Cooke, Hydro-Electric commissioner, in Belleville on the eve of the recent vote. Possibly Mr. Dobbin slightly exaggerated the comparison in a desire to bring Belleville into the fold. And no one would find any fault with him for that. But just as it stands his statement is rather interesting to Peterborough.

Belleville is the latest but not the last of the district municipalities to assume full status as a Hydro "cost" city. And coming in near the heel of the hunt, or rather at the eleventh hour, some twelve years after Peterborough, the newest member receives not only the penny which was this city's reward for the long day's work, but something more than the penny, according to Mr. Dobbin's frank assertion. And the only answer Peterborough can hope to elicit from the provincial and Hydro authorities if a complaint were made to them would be the question: "Did we not agree with you for a penny?"

When Premier Ferguson was asked a few days ago if there was any possibility of the Government absorbing the loss entailed by the failure of some of the utilities which were included in the original Central Ontario power purchases, effected by Mr. Ferguson himself, his reply was that the improvements to the system more than balanced the "dead wood."

But who is paying for the improvements? Peterborough and the other cities and towns in this system. If the Government were paying for the improvements, such as new power plants, transmission lines, and so on, Mr. Ferguson's answer would silence every claim. But the cost is being met out of the charges to all the consumers of Central Ontario power. The Premier may have had something else in mind, but that something will need considerable elucidation. What we cannot become easily reconciled to in this community in the very centre of the power resource is this fact, that for years our rates for domestic lighting and for our factories have included items representing deficits from the Peterborough Street Railway, the Campbellford pulp mill, and other unprofitable units in the Central Ontario deal, and also part of the cost of expensive rural extensions. And this complaint is absolutely justified on several grounds, but chiefly because of the glowing promises of "public ownership" and "power at cost" which were held out as high inducements to the people of this city about fifteen years ago.

And now we learn from Mr. R. L. Dobbin that Belleville has made even a better bargain with the Hydro than Peterborough did. Belleville had nothing to lose in its action. Its loss was in remaining outside the "cost" group of municipalities. But Peterborough abandoned its potential ownership of local power developed in our own generating plants, and we gave the Hydro Commission virtually a blanket franchise of our streets.

Each year something transpires to remind us of our mistake, and, as it were, to "rub it in." This year the hurt feels worse than usual because it is inflicted by one of our own citizens, and he exposes our shame or our folly to one of our rival communities.

At Lindsay Mr. Ferguson announced that a new project is being considered for extending power services to rural consumers, and declared that this assistance from the Government might amount to three or four millions of dollars. And so it goes, a bargain for Belleville and benefits for farmers; but for Peterborough, nothing but a power rate that has steadily increased since we adopted the Hydro plan of "power at cost."

We might as well admit, too, that if the Hydro-Electric Commission or the Government proposed any concession for Peterborough equivalent to the local advantages we were induced to forego, the main opposition would be heard from our neighbors with whom we are hooked-up in the Central Ontario pool.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Windsor refused to tamper with its clocks this summer, and the Border Cities Star does no conceal its disapproval of Stratford's resolution to ask the Dominion Government to make daylight saving compulsory throughout Canada. London and Windsor Councils have turned down the Stratford idea, and the Star expects that "many more rebuffs are likely to be received before the matter is given up as a bad job."

"Cities which have adopted daylight saving are simply making a futile attempt to fool themselves," says the Star. It is quite desirable, of course, to arrange things so that people have the benefit of the long evening hours of daylight during the summer months. But why juggle the clock? If business houses wish to give their employes the benefit of the fine summer evenings, all they have to do is open and close an hour earlier. The same result would be achieved, with no confusion.

"The only solution seems to be, if the people really want daylight saving time, to adopt it throughout the world, and if Stratford has any idea it can bring this about, it is optimistic indeed."

Here in Peterborough there is an opinion that the daylight saving by-law remains effective annually until the people rescind it. This notion has been expressed several times recently, but it is not correct. The by-law now operating was for this year only. When we turn back the clock one hour in September we shall continue on standard time until the people again vote to change it.

BETTER TOWNSHIP ROADS.

Premier Ferguson's announcement of the Government's decision to appropriate larger grants for the improvement of township roads will be received with satisfaction by the northern townships of this county, which have been more or less neglected, while the provincial highways and the county roads have been under construction. These townships refrained from joining the county roads group for the simple reason that they could not afford this transportation luxury, and also because they were regarded as being beyond the good roads zone.

The one reason may still exist, but not the other; for the paved highways and the improved county roads have brought a greatly increased traffic to the sidelines. Tourists and our own motorists in increasing numbers seek the uncrowded "dirt" roads to escape the endless processions that shuttle along the asphalt surfaces. Many of our summer visitors are bound for the farther lakes, and as the paved highway ends here in Peterborough, with a short stretch of county road to Lakefield, it is apparent that the improvement of the township roads in Harvey, Burleigh and other northern municipalities will be a further stimulant to the local tourist traffic.

And it is not forgotten that the county roads are indirectly causing actual harm to the township roads. This has been the costly experience of recent springs. Trucks and automobiles of all sizes continue their traffic on the county roads when the frost is going out of the ground with serious damage to these roads themselves, but when the traffic takes to the township sidelines the consequent expense of repairing and reconstructing the lighter roads falls the more heavily upon the rural ratepayers. These are some aspects of Premier Ferguson's proposed program which are altogether aside from the immediate advantage of providing better side roads for the farmers who live at distances from the highways.

The colonization roads throughout the northern part of this county can be made an important extension of the provincial road systems. Their improvement has been too long neglected. Years ago the Hon. J. R. Stratton displayed a special interest in improving the roads leading to the northern townships. He was not only interested but he was in a position to influence the Government of that time to make generous grants for the benefit of the farmers living in those remoter sections. In Peterborough County, therefore, Premier Ferguson will find not only a present need for the expending of larger sums on the colonization roads, but also a series of precedents which gained a special authority in Mr. Stratton's time. It is not suggested that since then the back townships have been utterly neglected. The large program of arterial road-building concentrated government expenditure on the main highways. The colonization roads are now to have their turn again; the Premier's project has been long due.

SMELLY LITERATURE.

Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale, for whose acute literary judgments many thousands of Americans have a profound respect, probably never said a truer thing or one that more needed to be said than appears in his discussion in the August Scribner's of the nauseous product of many modern novelists. "The majority of 'realistic' novels just now are both dull and dirty," declares Prof. Phelps. "It is hard to say in which of two respects they most greatly afflict the intelligent reader —boredom or filth. It is astonishing that sex, which after all is a subject of general interest, can be made so dull. Many readers wander over these books, like dogs in a vast field, searching from smell to smell and ignoring the odorless tracts between."

Now that in scores, even hundreds, of pretentious volumes sold everywhere at stiff prices "the unprintable is printed with as many details as possible" the qualifications of a successful novelist are seemingly an unclean mind and no sense of responsibility or shame. To him no art is necessary. Disregard of the finer types of honor and blindness to the decencies which guard the inner sanctuaries of normal minds serve as substitutes for art. It is by no means surprising that, as Prof. Phelps points out, the unhappy reading public in consequence is fleeing pell mell to tales of murder mysteries.

Surely it is time for present-day novelists of life and manners—manners!—to endow their heroines with chastity and their heroes with something akin to chivalry.—Chicago News.

SABATINI IS MOST POPULAR WRITER

'The Romantic Prince' is Latest to be Placed on Book-Sellers' Shelves.

Rafael Sabatini is one of the most popular writers of historic novels and has a lengthy list of these to his credit. Yet, each season sees one more added to the collection, and his widening circle of admirers see to it that he maintains his place among the best sellers. The latest to come from the prolific Sabatini pen is "The Romantic Prince" a tale of the late fifteenth century.

The story of Prince Anthony in all its wealth of plot and counter plot was lost long ago and only through the magic of Sabatini has it come to light. It is a breathless story of intrigue and cruelty and of wit playing against no less subtle wit. Into it comes Charles the Bold and the sly Louis XI., the gallant Knights of the Golden Fleece and the cruel, stark realities of war in the 15th century. Into it also comes the sordid avarice, vulgar mendacity and mean faithlessness of those who pay court to the favorite of the hour but through it all runs the golden thread of an enchanting love story. Sabatini has written this story with all the richness of detail, with all the pageantry of its picturesque setting; with startling contrasts of characterization and with a wealth of color that he has rarely equalled.

Anthony d'Egmont, Duke of Guelders, an idealist, dreamer and poet was cousin of the powerful Duke Charles of Burgundy. He was betrothed to the beautiful, but wanton Catherine of Bourbon, sister-in-law of Charles. Anthony discovers Catherine's unfaithfulness and refuses to marry her, but to avoid unpleasantness with his royal cousin, he disappears from court, intent on finding the ideal way of living somewhere in the world. He journeys to Flanders where he befriends Philip Danvelt, and through him meets Johanna Claessens, the daughter of a wealthy Flemish burgher.

Anthony of Egmont had never paid much attention to women, but when he saw the fair-haired, blue-eyed Johanna, standing in the doorway of her father's big red-brick house, his heart went out to her in a single-hearted devotion, though he did not know at the time that it was to be in love for all time.

Intrigue on the part of Louis XI again takes Anthony to the side of Charles the Bold, and some of the cruel king's designs are frustrated by the shrewdness sown among the burghers, leading them to plot against Duke Charles. The duke's representative in Zealand was Sire Claude de Rhysault, a ruthless libertine, bent on serving the duke and also himself by punishing all who opposed him in an way whatsoever.

A Thought

TODAY

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the yesterdays. —Emerson.

"LEO."

If August 16th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11.50 a.m., and from 9 p.m. to 11.15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9.30 a.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Heartaches and disappointments, as far as the affections are concerned, are augured for this date. It is a very poor time, according to the stars, for Cupid to shoot his arrow. Young people, guard your heart, and keep your head!

The child born on this August 16th will possess a happily balanced temperament, will be full of fun, and will have a good sense of humor. Its life is marked out for a good deal of material success, much of which will be due to its own engineering.

You have a vital and an alive personality. You never travel along on rundown batteries—you try to keep yourself fit, both physically and mentally. The goddess of Fortune, as well as your friends, are irresistibly drawn to you by your magnetism. She may be fickle, but she notices and serves the "up and coming" first.

You think straight and speak with conviction. You laugh at difficulties, scoff failure, and meet opportunities with a firm clasp. You loop hopefully toward the future and work—you do not sit and wait. You wave at Fate and luck, as you battle on, on your own. You welcome their assistance, but you do not demand it, or blame your ill fortunes upon them. Extremely independent, you detest being under the restraint of others. You must be a leader in whatever you attempt, or you lose interest in the undertaking. You have perfect confidence in your own efficiency, but too little faith in that of others. Your life might not be more successful, but it would certainly be easier, if you were willing to accept a "lift" or helping hand when proferred. You are lacking in the factor of co-operation. You are over-critical in your judgment of others. You are a little self-conceited and vain.

CHOLERA IN BOMBAY

LONDON, Aug. 16. —(C.P.)— Exchange telegraph agency despatches from Bombay, India, yesterday reported that 1,300 persons had died in a severe epidemic of cholera which had broken out in the Sino division of Bombay province after floods along the river Indus.

The epidemic has not been checked and 2,500 other persons have been stricken with cholera.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 18.

Presently Aileen and Hugh, and some of the others in the idling group, began to talk of persons Beatrice did not know or knew so slightly that she felt no interest in them. She was accustomed to that; it never distressed her. The Whites went home at about six o'clock, but still Mrs. Kavanaugh's smart little roadster stood baking in the streaming western light on the dry cliff grass, beside Hugh's car, and still she and Hugh chatted in low tones.

Young Larry Merritt, Harriet Carey, Bert and Beatrice meanwhile dug neat grooves in the wet sand just above the waves and conducted a race of the sandy, hairy beach fleas that were hopping all about.

"Aw, Bert—aw, Bert," Beatrice protested "yours is a perfect monster—that's no fair! You've got to get a smaller one—"

"Mine may be small," said Larry, anxiously, "but wait until they get started, and watch that baby hop!"

"Now, listen, we've got to start even!" young Harriet said, in her odd bass voice. "That's the least you can do, Bert, if you're going to race that elephant! Bring him back now—"

"Haul him back!" Larry said, inflexibly.

"Come on, now, start over, Bert—"

"Oh, look at mine—look at mine—oh, he's simply tearing!" Beatrice exulted. "Go on, boy, that's the boy!"

"Hop, you idiot!" Harriet said, in deep rich tones, her head bent over the course.

"Mine is a paralytic—leave it to me to pick a cripple, out of all this mob!" Bert exclaimed disgustedly. Larry, whose favorite was progressing by leaps and bounds, gave a chuckle of satisfaction, and hunched himself along on the sand to keep pace with him. Beatrice, fairly breathing upon her own entry, as she urged him along, followed youthfully on all fours.

"Mine's jumped out of the ditch! What do we do if they jump out?" Harriet demanded excitedly.

"He has to start over, doesn't he, Bee? From the start!"

"Oh, move—or die, or do something! He's digging his way home—he's homesick!" Bert aannounced.

"How old is she?" Mrs. Kavanaugh asked, watching.

"Beatrice? Twenty-one."

"She's better than pretty—" the older woman said slowly after a space.

"She's—gold," Hugh Challoner stated in deep satisfaction.

Aileen dug her heel into the sand, withdrew it, and looked at the little indentation on the smooth, tide-washed shore.

"Where'd you meet her, Hugh?"

"Her sister was my secretary for years. A fine girl."

The woman pursed her lips slightly, and glanced at him obliquely.

"And is she still?"

"No, her health broke down completely. She and the mother are in southern California. She's very much improved,—the thing was taken in time. Bee here is perfectly delighted with their letters."

"Timely," Aileen commented dryly, after thought.

He brought his unruffled gaze back from the racers, who were now a hundred feet away, still jerking themselves along beside the track.

"How timely?"

"Well," she asked innocently, "isn't it like a novel? The plain older sister gets ill, and the pretty younger sister marries her employer! Could anything be simpler?"

"You seem to sugges—you seem to imply—" he began, with all a man's helplessness under this sort of fire, "that there was something cooked up about it?"

"Cooked up?" she echoed, wide-eyed and smiling.

"Not funny at all!" she answered swiftly, with a faint emphasis on the second word. "Not to me, at all events.

"Edith Younger told me," she went on presently, as the man neither glanced toward her nor spoke. "I loathe the woman, anyway. We were lunching at the Savoy, in London, and she came over to our table. My mother and Mollie were with me—I'll never forget it, a sticky autumn day, with a hot wind blowing. Edith was full of it. It was about two weeks after Arthur's death, and we were supposed to be sailing for home the following week." She paused.

"I went back to Paris," she went on, in a flat, toneless voice. "Mollie came with me, and afterward we went to Egypt—and to Norway, in the spring. You didn't write me?" she said, in a silence.

"I didn't write anyone," he answered easily enough, but without looking at her. "It was a surprise to everyone—my mother, everyone. It was even," he said, laughing a little, "a surprise to me."

"If you had to marry," she said patiently, "why such a little girl?"

"I didn't have to marry!" he smilingly repeated her phrase, faintly annoyed, and refusing her sentimentality as if it had been a definite object she offered him.

"I didn't believe it, at first," Aileen said irrelevantly.

"I don't know why not."

"Well, because—because you had always been my stand-by," she offered, a little hesitatingly. "I depended on you more than you know. If it had been Cecily McLean or Charlotte—yes. But you—you—fine as you are, different from everyone else—to choose a—a"

"A what?" he said, almost harshly, as she paused.

"Well—" she began, and hesitated. "Don't—don't blame me, Hugh," she interrupted herself to say, in a lower tone. "It—was a shock. I may say that much, mayn't I? Everyone who came over last year, everyone I met, was as surprised as I. It"—her dark eyes watered, and she brushed them with the back of her slim, nervous brown hand, and laughed through wet lashes—"it didn't seem for your happiness, or for hers, my dear," she said, a little unsteadily, a little thickly.

Hugh looked at her with resentment and impatience that were tempered by old affection. She had been Alice's bridesmaid, Aileen Kavanaugh—Aileen Crawford then, and only seventeen at the time of that long ago, blossomy June wedding.

After Alice's death, in the sudden accentuation of intimacy that their common grief had made natural, she had been confidential with him, and he sufficiently wrapped in his own sense of loss and change to accept without analysis the brotherly part for which she cast him.

A day had come when she told him exactly how she disliked Arthur Kavanaugh, how Arthur bored her. And this had vaguely offended Hugh; he had seen in it her frank offer of herself, and it had made him feel uncomfortable.

After that embarrassing hour he had seen less of Aileen, had deliberately avoided her neighborhood. Kavanaugh's health was failing, anyway; the man had worked too hard and was anaemic—he was to be sent away to rest and play, and rebuild if that might be.

Hugh had felt a distinct relief when the Kavanaughs had left town, two years ago although Aileen had given him no further reason to feel that she was unduly fond of him. And during the weeks of his engagement and marriage he had never once sent her a thought; somehow she had no real place in his scheme of life, agreeable as it was to have her reappear, on this heavenly summer Sunday and meet his lovely wife and gossip pleasantly of old times again.

As for her little touch of sentimental emotion over his marriage—well, that was just Aileen' She was always the actress, always extracting from every situation the elements that displayed her best—the aspect that was most becoming to her. Several other old-friends—especially Alice's friends—had taken this attitude with him concerning his marriage; it nettled him a little, without seeming to be particularly significant in any way.

GARDEN PARTY AT ZION CHURCH

Annual Outing Held At Simpson's Grove Is Successful—Good Program.

SOFTBALL GAME.

(Examiner Correspondence)

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Aug. 16. —Favored with ideal weather, the annual garden party of Zion United church, held in Simpson's grove on Tuesday evening, proved highly successful and a most enjoyable time was spent by the many people present. The proceeds at the gate were about the largest ever received at a similar event here, over $216.00. The booths all did a splendid business especially the bazaar and grocery stand. Northumberland Regimental band under the leadership of Mr. Brown rendered excellent music.

Before darkness set in a six inning softball game was played between the Clerks 1927-28 champions of Campbellford and Menie, champions of the inter-county league during the same two years. Menie were minus three regulars for the first innings and with Eagleson showing a wild streak the Clerks ran up an eight run lead to win 13 to 4. The Ingram brothers, recruited from St. Andrew's started the Clerks in their win, Harry's homer in the first being a mighty smash. Kerr, the local curve ball hurler worked for Menie in the last two frames and struck out four including the Ingrams and Bush with the bases full. Gay with three hits and three runs in four trips was the best Clerk batter. H. Ingram, Irwin and McArthur each got three hits, F. Ingram failed to reach first, an uncommon thing for a usually heavy batter. Walker and Lew Little for Menie failed to connect safely while Linn and Tom Little had perfect averages.

TRENT RIVER MARATHON WAS ADVERTISED AS AN OPEN SWIM

Carlton Alder Denied He Was Warned Against Entering Event.

MAY WRITE TO A.A.U.

Regatta Officials Refused To Acknowledge Pro Swimmer As Cup Winner.

(Special to the Examiner)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 16.—Wednesday evening when the five-mile race of the Trent River Regatta was a thing of the past, the Examiner called on Carlton W. Adler, the professional swimmer who had taken part in the swim during the afternoon. Alder had just finished his evening meal and was inclined to be considerate. In response to questions, he said he had entered the five-mile swim solely on the strength of the advertisements. The large bills advertised it as "Open to Ladies and Gents." "There was no mention of either amateur or professional," he said. He understood that he was eligible to enter an open race. Fully an hour before the starting time, he claimed, he gave his name to the clerk. He was asked then if he had been in the swim at Campbellford and said that he had. He also gave his residence as Campbellford. "They took his entry", he said and "allowed him to start." Then they refused to acknowledge him the winner when he had been first by a mile.

"But I thought they told you, you were disqualified before you finished the first lap. Didn't they tell you that you could not race or the other swimmers would automatically become professionals?" he was asked.

"They told me nothing of the sort." he replied. "Some man came out in a canoe. He was wearing a white-top yachting cap. He said that if I didn't quit the race, they would have to take another swimmer out. I believe they meant the man who had won last year. I didn't give up."

May Write to A. A. U.

This is Carlton W. Adler's version of the story. He won the swim by at least a mile, but they would not acknowledge his victory. Whatever argument he used after he finished the grind, he did not mention, but he returned to Trent River Wednesday evening to see what was going to be done about the trophy. Before he left for the summer resort, he expressed the opinion that he had a mind to write to the A. A. U. and tell them of the case, so that they might deal with it. "He did not want money," he said, "and had not envied the winner or coveted the cup till he saw how things turned out. Then he decided he would like to have the cup, as a souvenir. What action he has taken, if any, is not known yet.

Carlton W. Adler is an American, who gives his address as 585 E. Broadway; S. Boston, Mass. He is twenty-five years of age and married. His swimming records are not to be considered lightly. In 1926 he won the Alemeda Bay swim in California. This was a fifteen-mile event and brought a purse of $3500. He repeated the performance the following year, 1927. His first venture as a marathon swimmer was at the Catalina Channel swim where George Young won fame. After doing nineteen miles in the cold waters and among the heart-breaking currents, Adler gave up the race so far as he was concerned. Last year he did five miles of the Wrigley marathon in Toronto and called it a day. Attracted by the generous prize money and the prospect of new scenery, Adler arrived in Campbellford July 29, and set up his training camp. When the three-mile marathon was staged, he finished seventh, not in the money. Since then he has made his residence with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kellogg and has continued his training in preparation for this year's Wriggley swim.

COUNCIL MEETS.

Millbrook Body Passes By-laws Fixing Village and School Rate.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Aug. 16.—The regular meeting of the Millbrook council was held on Tuesday evening, with members all present, and Reeve W. F. Wood, presiding.

Councillor P. Stinson introduced by-laws to levy rates and taxes for the current year; these received the necessary readings, and were signed, sealed, and numbered by-laws No. 565, and 566, striking a general village and school rate of 50 mills on the dollar.

The following accounts were presented and on motion of Councillors Bentley and Ball, were ordered paid: H. C. Lord, work on culverts, $13.65; F. A. Kidd, groceries to J. Ferrin, $4.55; H. Nattress, salary $25; work $9.80, $34.60; H Whyte, work on streets, $5.40; Millbrook Telephone Company, acc't, $3.70; W. G. Russell and Sons, cement, $7.50; E. McCurry, cutting weeds, $9; G. E. Ward, cutting weed, $19.50; W. J. Tremaine, acct. spikes and bridge irons $41.85; S. Donnelly, drawing gravel, $100.67; E. Larmer, mowing grass $5.50.

Ball-Bentley: That Council adjourn to meet again at the call of the reeve.

Christmas and New Year are observed the world over.

EARLY GAINS HEAVY BUYING

Advance Influenced By Radically Adverse Threshing Returns in Canada.

WINNIPEG MARKET SOARS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(C.P.)—Buying on a big scale here, together with radically adverse threshing returns in Canada sent wheat prices soaring early to-day. Estimates were also out that 1929 world wheat production might total 515,000,000 less than last year. Opening 5-8c. to 2 1-8c. higher, wheat later showed further decided gains. Corn, oats and provisions went upward also with corn starting 3-8c. to 1 1-8c. rise, and continuing strong.

BRISK TRADING AT WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 16.— (C.P.— Wheat prices commenced another sharp upward swing to-day when the market shot forward 6 3-8 to 6 3-4 cents. The October future was up 6¾. At 1.63 5-8 December 6½ at 1.60½ and May 6 3-8 at 1.65 3-8.

Chicago houses were prominent in the trading. These southern interests purchased large quantities of Canadian wheat and aided the upward movement.

Disappointing threshing returns in part of the west also injected a bullish feeling in the pit.

MINING BRIEFS.

What is moving the market for Abana shares? The street is at a loss to understand the reason for the sudden strength displayed in this issue at the opening of the week. Latest news in connection with the company is President Kent's official denial that they were negotiating with the Base Metals Extraction Company for the erection of an electrolytic zinc refinery. However, a member of a Montreal brokerage house recently visited the property and prepared a bullish article on the mine. It is now thought that the buying is coming from this source.

A special shareholders' meeting of the Arntfield Gold Mines was held recently in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, for the purpose of hearing a report on the property prepared by the company's engineer, D. G. H. Wright. The report showed that the vein system has been traced on surface for some 4,500 feet. Diamond drilling has indicated the continuation of the vein to depth, although assays in the drill cores were slightly lower. Drilling was carried out to a depth of 500 feet, indicating ore down to this horizon. The conclusion of Mr. Wright's report was very optimistic. A shaft is now being put down on the property and the intention of the management is to commence lateral work on the property as soon as possible.

A very interesting booklet dealing with the Yukon and the North-west Territories has just been issued by the Department of the Interior, Ottawa. The booklet is entitled Yukon, Land of the Klondike," and contains a wealth of information regarding the natural resorces and potentialities of the country.

The morning gossip from Rouyn, as reported over brokers' wires, is to the effect that Amulet has obtained ore in both holes 223 and 224. Rouyn still hears that an important strike has been made on Noranda, but no details are available. Rapid progress is being made here with smelter additions to bring tonnage up to 2,000 tons per day. The seven roasters are in readiness while the second reverbatory furnace is being built and the floor poured. The third and last converter is said to have been installed and is now being lined.

Kirkland Lake despatches state that the newly-discovered ore body at the 500-foot level on the south break of the Wright Hargreaves is regarded as important. Commercial values are said to extend across a width of 18 to 24 feet and the indicated average value is thought to be close to the average recently going to the mill.

Reports from Vancouver state that Ventures, Limited, is negotiating for an interest in the Aurum Gold, in the Hope district, 120 miles east of Vancouver. Aurum shares were strong recently on the western exchanges. Another Toronto company which is reported to be dealing for an interest in a promising British Columbia property is the Atlas Exploration Company. Atlas at present is developing claims on the Great Slave Lakes.

DUNCAN WALKER MADE DIRECTOR

Has Served 21 Years As Principal of Normal School.

SUCCEEDS DR. MORGAN.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of Duncan Walker, B.A., who for the past 21 years has been principal of the Peterborough Normal School, to the position of Director of Professional Training Schools in the Province of Ontario. He will take on his new duties on September 1.

Mr. Walker will remain in Peterborough in the course of his duties, although his headquarters will be in Toronto. He will fill the vacancy resulting from the death of the former director, Dr. S. Morgan, of Hamilton, which occurred in July.

Mr. Walker was educated in the Public Schools of Kent and the Chatham Collegiate, and secured his degree in the University of Toronto Since then he has taught in the Public Schools of Kent and the Deseronto and Brockville High Schools. For ten years he was the inspector of Public Schools in Peterborough before being appointed to the principalship of the Normal School.

During the course of his administration at the Peterborough Normal School few radical changes have been effected although steady advancements have been made in teaching methods and the courses. The course has been one year in length throughout Mr. Walker's principalship, but it has now been lengthened to two years. This change is to come into effect next year.

FORD'S JULY RECORD.

DETROIT, August 16 (Canadian Press). — World production of Ford passenger cars and trucks for July broke all records for that month. All records for retail deliveries to customers also were broken. Demand for cars during August is placed at considerably more than 200,000.

Production of Ford cars and trucks in the United States during July was 180,804, and for the rest of the world 15,701, a total of 196,505.

Retail deliveries to customers in the United States totalled 170,676 for the month. This was more than a third of the total car and truck business of the United States.

While the production curve of the Ford plant at River Rouge has been maintained at fairly steady volume the year round, July ordinarily has been the low point in the curve. In the striking increase in volume over July in previous years and in the 150,000 unfilled orders on the books of the Ford dealer organizations, Ford officials foresee one of the biggest autumns in the company's history.

Company now employs 104,000 workers at the Rouge plant, where most of the manufacturing has been concentrated since the removal of equipment from the Highland Park plant.

Ratio of Profits to Sales of Dominion Stores Ltd. Jumped from 1.78% to 2.48%

The favorable progress made by Dominion Stores Ltd., during the first half of 1929 can be more fully appreciated, when percentages and ratios are taken into consideration.

Gross sales showed an increase of 4.56%.

Net profits showed an increase of 45.72%.

The ratio of profits to sales in the first six months of 1928 was 1.75%.

The ratio of profits to sales in the first half of 1929 was 2.48%.

This indicates a substantial decrease in costs, which added to the increased volume of business, accounts for the remarkable increase in earnings for the period. The latter half of the calendar year has always proven the most profitable for the company and the results of the first half go to show Dominion Stores will enjoy a record year in 1929. In the first half of 1929 the earnings were equal to $1.10 per share against the equivalent of 76 cents in 1928. In the latter half of 1928 the company earned $4.33 a share on the old capital constrasted with $2.27 in the first half and at the same ratio Dominion Stores should earn in excess of $2.50 a share in 1929 on the new capital.

Tight Money Continues Puzzle to the Street

The continued tight money conditions are proving somewhat a puzzle to a number of the houses on the street. Even during the past week, when a very large business developed in the Power and other groups, several houses found it necessary to turn down orders because of the difficulty of financing them. As is well known, some houses on the Street have very much larger capital than others, and therefore are not as dependent on the ordinary call money. The great bulk, however, are in constant need of additional funds to finance the regular business offering. The banks are reported to have very little additional funds available at the present time. In August the banks begin to prepare for the autumn crop movement. A year or so ago it was possible to get funds from different industrial corporations, but over the last six months most of this money has been withdrawn from the Street. The reason for this change is that most of the companies have found that their business has steadily expanded, and they have need for all their own surplus funds. One large company that is reported to have had between $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 on the Street a little over a year ago has found it necessary to call every dollar of it because of the very large contracts it is now carrying out. In a great many cases brokers are trying to arrange with their clients to take their stocks that are purchased, but to a great extent this can only be done when other securities are sold. Several local houses admit that they could increase their daily business two or three times if they could be sure of sufficient funds to finance the new orders.

20% of the land as a reward, and I believe that Peterborough County was settled much in the same manner.

"Most of his men were Highlanders and in him was invested all the offices of the settlement. They all got along well until he brought out some Irish settlers and then the fun began, then the children grew up and questioned the autocratic power of McNabb, who suffered greatly at the hands of the new generation, It is about this that the "Kinsmen" was written.

Reads Chapter of Book

Mr. Cooney, then read a short chapter from the book depicting the wealth of humor and pathos that was concealed between the covers of the book. One of the characters Jack McCann, Mr. Cooney explained was suggested by a native of Peterborough well known to the present generation, by the same name—Jack McCann.

Musical Program

The musical part of the program was furnished by Roy Locksley and his Canadians, assisted by Miss Robertson, Mr. Brown the pianist, opened their entertainment with a piano solo, a medley of popular and standard selections, then the orchestra played Tchaikowsky's "Love Song" as arranged for a dance orchestra by Roy Locksley. Miss Robertson then sang two numbers which were heartily welcomed by the club, the first was "That's You Baby" from the Fox Movietone Follies and the second a popular hit of the day—"If I Were Lou, I would Fall In Love With Me." This section of the program was concluded by the playing of that red hot number "Dinah."

The booster for the day was J. B. Nelson, who boosted in favor of Canada's greatest industry, farming. The prize winners were—Kiwanians Art Moffatt and Jack McKone, and Frank Clarke a visitor.

The visitors of the day were—M. F. Brooks of this city. A. Troke of Renfrew, F. Clark of Peterborough, M. J. Grady also of this city, W. Anderson of London, R. Dudley of Kingston, P. J. Cooney, Mt. Moule, California; Roy Locksley, Max Brown, Jack Pulfer and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Robertson of Toronto.

The speaker of the day was introduced by Kiwanian Vern Morphet and the thanks of the club were conveyed by president Jack Turner.

CHINA INTENDS STAND BY PACT

and two Chinese dying in the conflict.

Some sources reported a lack of agreement between the Nationalist Government and the Mukden Provincial Government. The Daily Mail, in a Dairen despatch, said the correspondent Thursday visited Mukden and found a complete ignorance there of the condition of affairs.

Chang, the writer said, apparently feared the Nanking Government was intriguing to overthrow him since the Chinese, finding their position untenable, sought means to escape from their dilemma.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

Solloway, Mills & Company Through

GRANADA

Field man wires Granada has cut high grade in a crosscut on the 375 foot level. This ore is the upward extension of ore obtained on lower levels.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL

Official statement for six months ending June 30, 1929, shows current assets increased $16,318,124, or 48 per cent. Figures of administration and general expense for the three months ending June 30, show a ten per cent. reduction in costs, which is but a forerunner of what unified operation will mean.

SHERRITT—GORDON

Plans for the mine call for the establishment of main haulage levels at 500 and 1,000 feet, which will be connected to the new, 5-compartment incline shaft now being sunk.

MANDY

With completion of drifting north and south in the schisted zone on the 1,025 foot level, officials will probably inaugurate a diamond drilling campiagn prior to further shaft deepening.

GOLD PRODUCTION

Ontario government figures for the first seven months of current year show that Porcupine suffered a decrease of 4.74 per cent. and Kirkland Lake enjoyed an increase of 17.3 per cent. in the value of gold produced during the period, as compared with last year.

GRANADA

Northern Engineering Service reports that Granada picks up No. 2 vein east of fault on 500 foot level. Present face shows high value across drift width.

NORANDA

Installation of a crusher on the 100 foot level at No. 4 shaft is being arranged for. Smelter feed will receive primary crushing here, then be conveyed up the new 16 degree shaft by conveyor belt to the rock house, where secondary crushing and sampling will be consummated before the ore is dumped into the smelter bins.

BARRY—HOLLINGER

The crosscut on the 500 foot level being driven to the northwest corner of the property to intercept the rich section exposed on surface should reach its objective within the next ten days.

B'WANA M'KUBWA

Official statements to the effect that the year ending March 31, 1929, showed a loss in operation are not indicative of what is expected of the property. Operations are, at this time, in the experimental stage and must be very substantially increased before any profit is anticipated.

TECK-HUGHES

"Everything is fine," answered General Manager Forbes, when asked about general conditions at Teck-Hughes by The Northern Miner. This brief statement squashes all adverse rumors.

NEWBEC

Better news expected at Newbec's annual meeting to-day.

ARNO

It is unofficially reported in Montreal that Arno has cut high grade on the 300 foot level of the Coxheath property. This is reported to have been traced for approximately 300 feet and to average from 6 to 12 per cent. copper. Directors at a recent meeting expressed themselves as highly satisfied with progress towards mine making.

PIONEER MINING CORPORATION.

While encouraging results have been obtained from mining development and test mill operation on Pioneer's Jubilee property, it is too early to predict what the ultimate results will be, according to the annual report of company for year ending March 30, just released.

KEELEY

Keeley Silver's profits for year ending February 28 are announced in annual report as $109,170.79 against $272,564.78 for preceding year. Net surplus was increased $9,252.29 to $715,191.01.

SLOCAN RAMBLER

Slocan Rambler has discovered a new ore body at a depth of 1,600 feet. This has been proved for a length of 35 feet, with average values in lead, zinc and silver of around $14 per ton.

AMULET

Northern Miner states Amulet drill hole No. 223 failed to strike main portion of new "F" ore body, but encountered two low value sulphide sections 25 to 30 feet thick, probably determining the southern border of the body. Hole No. 224 should be completed now and announcement of results is looked for.

TECK-HUGHES

Northern Engineer service wires that Teck is into continuous high grade on lowest or 25th level.

LAKE SHORE

A new tube mill has recently been installed here, which should bring up the current tonnage to 1,500 daily. Six new tubes are still to be installed as part of the boost to 2,000, it is said.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 16. — Active general buying, especially on downturns in prices, made the wheat market show gains most of the time yesterday, during the late dealings in particular. Reports were current that wheat cutting now under way in early fields throughout Western Canada is doing much to confirm the prevalence of extremely poor crop conditions. Word of corn crop damage in Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri gave notable strength to the corn market and added impetus to wheat buying.

Arrival yesterday of the first car of new Canadian wheat at Winnipeg was simultaneous with announcement that primary receipts of wheat in the United States yesterday were only 3,122,000 bushels, against 4,614,000 bushels a week ago.

GENERAL LIST REMAINS FIRM

Specialized Issues Active During Morning Session On Toronto Exchange.

STANDARD STEEL DOWN.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Firming in the general list and particularly in the specialized issues featured the morning's trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Standard Steel experienced a decided reaction, but most of the other specialties which strengthened yesterday made net gains. Standard Steel dropped 4 to 134. Service Stations again led in activity and after rising to 77 reacted to 75½ for a net gain of 3½. DeForest Crossley also reacted after a strong opening, rising 1½ to 79 and then dropping back to 75. A new leader was added in Tamblyn's, which rose 7 to 53 on sales of 155 shares.

Others to gain were Building Products to 39, F. N. Burt 2½ to 70, Page Hersey 2 to 139, Famous Players 2¼ to 62¾, and Canada Dredging 1 to 66½. Of the older favorite, International Nickel was the most active, firming slightly at 51½, and there were fractional advances also in Brazilian 70½, Walkers 18⅛ and Canada Gypsum at 120. The new issue of this latter stock opened actively at 31. Ford of Canada was up a point to 44½, and Bell Telephone 1 to 175. Massey Harris advanced slightly to 57¼, but Alberta Pacific Grain was off a fraction to 40⅝. Abilitbi was another exception to the general trend, losing a point to 57.

British American Oil continued to make a firm stand, rising 1 to 57. Supertest was also a point better at 34, while Imperial improved fractionally to 30.

NO STATEMENT BY CHURCHILL ON POLICE ROW

Smiles At Prospect of Visit in City and Trip to Falls and Hamilton.

Sleeps Hour After Arrival.

Says in England Reds Allowed To Speak and Hold Parades With Police Watching.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Smiling at the prospect of a visit to Toronto and a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Hamilton, Rt. Hon. Winston Church, former British Chancellor of the Exchequer, arrived here this morning. He was met at the station by Col. Alex. Fraser, Aide-de-Camp to Lieutenant-Governor W. D. Ross, and with his party went to Government House. Mr. Churchill was accompanied his his son, Randolph, his brother, Major John Churchill, and his nephew, John George Churchill.

The Churchills were still sleeping when the train arrived and it was not till an hour and a half later that they left their private car. During their stay here they will occupy the vice-regal suite at the Royal York Hotel. In the same hotel the British Statesman is addressing a large luncheon to-day under the combined auspices of the Toronto Board of Trade, the Empire Club and the Canadian Club.

Mr. Churchill was interested in hearing about the recent encounter between Communists and police in Toronto. "Oh yes. You had quite a row, I hear," he said. "But I should not like to say anything about it."

Asked about the British method of dealing with Reds, however, he did venture a few remarks. "We let them make their speeches," he said, "and if they want to hold a demonstration or a parade they may do so under police protection." He said the police usually stood by to guard against any breach of the peace.

On arrival at Government House, Mr. Churchill changed his arrangements about his trip to Niagara Falls, in order to be abe to attend a luncheon arranged by the Lieutenant-Governor for to-morrow. Instead of motoring to the Falls, the party will take the train to-night, and spend the night there. They will view the Falls to-morrow morning and return to Toronto for lunch, and will leave by train for Winnipeg to-morrow night.

PRECIOUS METALS SHOW FIRMNESS

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Irregularity was the characteristic of trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning. High priced metals firmed and cheap popular favorites were under fire.

A great part of the volume was accounted for by Newbec which dropped 4½ to 38½ under a hammering which produced a total of 209,150 in shares sold. Amulet declined 7 to 2.50, Arno was off 2% to 40, Malartic Gold down 1 to 16, and Granada Rouyn fractionally better at 30. Noranda rose 50 cents to 63.50, Falconbridge 25 to 13.00, and Lake Shore 50 to 26.50.

Ajax Oil continued its advance to a new high of 3.30 on a gain of 21 points in response to good demands, but the other oils softened all along the line. Home dropped 70 to 22.50, Chemical Research 40 to 15.15, Associated Gas and Oil 15 to 3.45, Calgary and Edmonton 25 to 7.50, Southwest Petroleum 10 to 4.00, and Dalhousie 5 to 3.75. Eastcrest was active and rose to 2.90, but reacted to 2.70 for a net loss of 5.

BIG ENTRY LIST BEING EXPECTED BY DIRECTORATE

Exhibition Board Has Work Well in Hand For Big Week.

JUDGES ANNOUNCED.

Competition in Fall Wheat Growing Is Being Planned By Board.

Final arrangements for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition are rapidly taking form as the week of the big project beginning on September 9 looms closer. The large body of directors has been working incessantly on all the branches of the work, concentrating its efforts on the features of the great fair that have proved most successful in other years and weeding out those that have failed.

At a meeting of the directors in the City Buildings last night the reports indicated considerable progress in the preparations for the week and that all was satisfactory. The directors are pleased with the way all things are rounding into shape. Strip tickets have been on sale for some time, and the sale is already very promising. With the aid of a little favorable weather the directors look for record support from the whole district this year. The entry lists will be heavy, contestants being attracted by the large premiums offered this year in all the competitions.

It was announced at the meeting that those wahting concessions at the Fair can apply to J. Gillespie at the Exhibition Grounds or to Tom Brown, 375 Downie Street.

After considerable discussion the Board decided to substitute a competition in fall wheat growing next year for the corresponding competition that was held in oats this year. The seed used in this competition must be registered seed, and the rules are to be the same generally as for other field crop competitions.

A number of new judges were added to the list already secured for the Exhibition. These were: Poultry judges, A. W. Tyson of Guelph and J. H. Warrington of Cornwall; heavy horses judge, W. R. Cruickshanks of Wingham; sheep and swine judges, R. H. Harding of Thorndale; beef cattle judge, John Lowe, and horticulture judge, George Baldwin of Toronto.

HARBOR PRESIDENT RESIGNS POSITION

Toronto Man Slated for Office in Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—William G. Bruce, of Milwaukee, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Harbors Association since it was organized eight years ago, has announced his retirement. Formal action of Mr. Bruce's retirement as head of the association will be acted on at a meeting to-day.

C. Alfred Maguire, of Toronto, Ont., first vice-president, was slated to succeed him, officers of the organization said.

Greenbay, Wis., has been selected as the 1930 convention city of the association.

SOCIETY HOLDS PRAYER MEET

Reports Read At Meeting of St. James' Church W.M.S.

MUSICAL PROGRAM.

The W.M.S. of St. James' United Chuch held their August meeting on Wednesday evening, uniting with the midweek prayer service. Mrs. E. L. Woodley, the president, was in the chair and conducted the business session, opening the meeting with the hymn, "Thou Whose almighty word." The Scripture lesson. 27th Psalm, was read by Mrs. Cripps, after which Mrs. Fairbrother offered prayer. Heralds on the Watch Tower responded with interesting and timely reports as follows: Mrs. Davis for India, Mrs. Fife, Korea, Mrs. Church, China, Mrs. Plunkett, Temperance, Mrs. Sargent, Christian Stewardship. A solo in harmony with the service, "Arise and Shine," was contributed by Mrs. Phillips. Short prayers were offered for the advancement of the work by Mrs. Woodley, Mrs. Mann, and Miss Mary Collins. The speaker of the evening was Miss Margaret Kidd, who brought as her message a picture of life in Africa, its people, their customs, and their response to Christian teaching. Miss Kidd in her appeal made Africa seem very near to her hearers and held their undivided attention from the first to the last word of her splendid address. A pleasing feature of the evening was a christening service, when Rev. Mr. Dudgeon baptized Roy, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Russell, Chamberlain Street. Another interesting note was the presence of the girls of the X.L. Mission Circle, who attended in a body with their leader. The service was brought to a conclusion by prayer offered by Rev. Mr. Dudgeon.

BUFFALO AVIATORS AFTER RECORD MARK

Will Fly Stinson-Detroiter Plane To Beat 400 Hours' Flight.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—Jack Little, Chief Flight Instructor of Colonial Western Airways, and Merle Moltrup, air mail pilot in the Buffalo-Cleveland service, will take off from the municipal airport here in a Stinson-Detroiter plane at a time to be announced soon, but within two weeks, in an attempt to break the record of more than 400 hours set in St. Louis by Dale "Red" Jackson and Forest O'Brine.

INQUIRY WILL BE MADE INTO PAYMENT OF TAXES

Western Union Will Seek Govt. Payment on Soldier Settlement Lands

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 15.—(By the Canadian Press).—Representing the Western Union of rural municipalities a delegation will be sent to Ottawa some time in October to wait upon the Federal Government for the purpose of securing some definite settlement with regard to payment of taxes by the Dominion Government on lands owned by the Soldiers' Settlement Board.

The decision for such action was decided upon at a meeting of representatives of the union held here yesterday.

GRAIN BOARD IS APPOINTED BY MINISTER

Changes Necessitated By the Resignation of Three of Veteran Members.

CAPABLE MEN.

New Commissioners Selected Absolutely On Merit and Without Regard To Politics.

OTTAWA, August 16. (C. P.) — The new board of Grain Commissioners was appointed yesterday.

In his announcement of the new Board the Minister of Trade and Commerce states it was "selected absolutely on merit, and without regard to politics."

The government statement on the new board follows in part:

"Important changes in the personnel of the Canadian Board of Grain Commissioners are announced by the Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce. These changes have been necessitated by the resignation of three of the veteran members of the board in the persons of Leslie H. Boyd, K.C., James Robinson and Matthew Snow..

The new members of the board are E. B. Ramsay, chairman, general manager of the Canadian wheat pool, with headquarters at Winnipeg, and a former banker, who is said to be highly regarded in the west for his financial and selling ability; Professor Duncan A. MacGibbon, Professor of Political Economy of the University of Alberta, and outstanding economist in Western Canada, who drafted the economic factors of the Turgeon report, and has a comprehensive understanding of western conditions; and Hon. Charles Magill Hamilton, former Minister of Agriculture for the Province of Saskatchewan, and a practical agriculturist.

All three are outstanding business men, familiar with the grain trade and representative of the three prairie provinces, one from Manitoba, one from Saskatchewan and one from Alberta.

"On August 22 a meeting will be held at Fort William when the appointment of assistant commissioners will be considered by the board."

COAL DEPOSITS NEAR COCHRANE

Discovery in Abitibi River Reveals Important Deposits.

EXPLORATION CONTINUED

Investigation by the Ontario Government of reported coal deposits on the Abitibi River in the Blacksmith rapids area north of Cochrane has revealed that the discovery is an important one and that further development is justified," the Journal is informed.

Tests have indicated that here are extensive deposits of soft lignite of almost as high grade as that which is being mined profitably in the Drumheller fields of Alberta. This is the first coal discovery of any consequence in the province and continued exploration promises to yield interesting results.

Toward the end of June, the Ontario Government sent geologists and a drilling crew into the area to investigate reports from prospectors and since then some five or six holes have been put down, the deepest being little more than 150 feet.

Most encouraging of the findings was one seam which drilling revealed to be about 14 feet thick. Until further examination has been made it will be impossible to determine the extent of the productive area but the Journal has been quite definitely informed that the quantity and quality so far disclosed justifies continued exploration.

Should it finally prove the field is worth mining development it will be the more important in view of its accessibility.

PILOT DISPLAYS GREAT HEROISM

when the plane turned over, the bottom part up. In a few minutes the storm lifted, and I was able to get my bearings. I flew the route many times and knew where I was. I saw a ship in the distance; then I saw another.

"I told my companions to float around while I swam to the boat. I told them if the plane sank to keep just as close to the spot, and as close together, as they could. Then I started out.

"The waves were high. I couldn't make fast progress with my life preserver and heavy clothes.

"It seemed ages before the steamer got close enough so that I could make out the deck hands. Then I saw the name. It was the freighter Midland King. I was praying that the plane was still afloat and that my companions had not perished.

"As the ship came closer I shouted and waved my arms whenever a wave tossed me high enough so that I could be seen. I was seen by the first mate when I was about 1000 yards away.

Ship to Rescue

"Then it was only a matter of minutes before I was hauled on board. I told the captain about the others in the water. With full speed aheard he started out after them. We saw Mrs. Little about three-quarters of a mile farther on. The plane had sunk. All three had been washed away from the spot where it went down. All were separated.

"Walter Joslin, the first mate, without a word, dove overboard and went after Mrs. Little. He succeeded in getting her nearly to the ship when his strength gave out. Then the second mate and the wheelsman dove in and brought both to a position where they could be pulled aboard."

ANOTHER CASE OF INDIGESTION SOON YIELDS TO HUSKY

Well Known Man Tells of Quick Relief After He Had Been Suffering for Four Years.

A. E. HUFFMAN

"I have tried so many medicines for my indigestion that I feel like telling others about Husky, because it is the first one to relieve me," says A. E. Huffman, of 7 Elgin St., Brantford, Ont.

"My stomach has been very acid and tender for four years," he said, "and I have suffered a great deal from most everything I have eaten. I also suffered from a catarrhal condition of the stomach and my bowels were irregular. I had no appetite at all.

"I have been using Husky for two or three weeks and I am happy to say that it has completely relieved my indigestion. My meals taste good and never cause me suffering like they used to do. My bowels are regular, too, and I am certainly enjoying great relief from this medicine. I want to recommend it as a medicine that does all that is claimed for it."

Begin using Husky to-day and note how soon you get relief, how your food tastes better, sleep is more sound and restful and you feel stronger and better in every way. It is wonderful what this medicine will do for you in just a few days. Husky can always be obtained at Bond's Drug Store here and at other good drug stores everywhere.

MOISTURE NEEDED.

Farm Crops in Hall's Bridge District Suffering From Drought.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HALL'S BRIDGE, Aug. 16.—During the past two weeks while there have been rain storms in the surrounding country, Hall's Bridge and vicinity seem to have escaped, and as a result the ground is very dry, and crops, unless relieved by some moisture in the near future, will be burnt up. The berry crop so far has been fairly satisfactory, but the blackberries which are in season now, are very scarce, there being many bushes loaded with berries dried up by the scorching sun. The people of the vicinity are hoping for a cessation of the drought in the near future.

Christopher Sower, in 1740, established a type foundry at Germantown, Pa. He cast types for an edition of the Bible in German, and later cast English types.

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderfull I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did." —Mrs. Milton McMullen, Vanessa, Ontario.

FAMOUS CLOWN COMES BACK TO SAWDUST RING

Entertained in Splendor of the Czar's Courts in Russia Till Revolution.

ESCAPES THROUGH SIBERIA.

Returns To Paths of Childhood Days When Circus Rings Roamed Country.

PARIS, Aug. 15. — (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Giacomino is back—back in the sawdust ring. More famous clown than Giacomino may have been, but none greater. For did Giagomino not bring laughter to the lips of that frail child who lived a few tragic years on the threshold of death—the Tzarevitch, heir to al the Russias?

At nine years of age Giacomo Cereni (they soon called him Giacomino, or "little Jimmy") joined a travelling circus at Naples. First with one troop, then another, he followed the strange life of these strange nomads who carry the gospel of laughter along the dusty highways and byways of Southern Italy.

Travelling afield, Giacomino came to St. Petersburg, where his fame spread beyond the walls of the Imperial castle itself. For Giacomino was one of those droll fellows whose very appearance would start the laughter rippling round and round the great circus.

Summoned To Court.

One day they sent for him to come to Tsarkoe-Selo. He saw the splendor of the Imperial Court but most of all he saw the weakly child, with the wan and fugitive smile, half-hidden in the depths of a great armchair. A tear or two rolled down the painted cheeks of Giacomino.

He acted as he had never acted before.

The Tsarewitch laughed.

And the Empress smiled.

From that time on, Giacomino went to Tsarkoe-Selo twice, three times a week, for the Empress would do much to see laughter on the lips of her son.

In that court of splendor and superstition Giacomino met some strange enough people at times—Rasputin of the maligant influence, a Parisian adventurer, a Polish shoe-worker, a Spanish painter who claimed to have remedies from the spirit world with which to cure the incurable.

Then came the revolution.

Hunted By Police

The clown who had made the Empress smile and the Tsarewitch laugh was a "suspect". He was hunted by the police.

But Giacomino had not learned the art of make-up for nothing. In the most bizarre of disguises he still brought laughter to the child of tragedy.

"The sovereignty of a clown, Giacombina" said the Tzar one day, "is as uncertain as that of an emperor. You too are now one of the dispossessed."

Giacomino escaped through Siberia.

FEEDER CATTLE TARIFF WRONG

Des Moines Editor Says Corn Belt Farmer Not Benefited By Proposal.

Policy Provokes Hostility.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 16.—(C.P.)—H. A. Wallace, editor of Wallace's Farmer of Des Moines, Iowa, speaking before the Latin-American conference of the institute of politics today on the proposed Smoot-Hawley tariff, characterized it as "the worst of the many iniquitious tariff bills injuring the American farmer."

"The proposed increase in tariff on Canadian feeder cattle would benefit the range cattlemen," he said, "but I question whether the corn-belt farmers who buy range cattle benefit by the high federal cattle prices exacted by the range cattlemen behind the tariff wall."

"The United States and Canada should both bring about a gradual lowering of their tariffs, especially on manufactured goods. Canada and the United States tariff policy is continually provoking Canadian hostility, which results in a lessening of the common economic welfare of the two countries."

THOMAS WILL MEET GOV'T DELEGATES

Discussion of Immigration From British Isles to Canada Expected.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press). — A conference with right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Unemployment in the British Government, has been arranged for early next week, perhaps Monday. Several members of the Dominion Government will take part. It is expected that immigration to Canada from the British Isles will be one of the chief subjects under consideration and for this the conference will likely take place in the offices of Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration.

CROP COMPETITION.

A more than ordinary interest was displayed in the East Peterborough Agricultural society's oat competition which has just closed. Despite the backward season in early seeding time, the hot weather, the lack of moisture and the prolific growth of noxious weeds through out the province, the judge, Morton Weese of Rednersville was more than pleased with the showing. Hail in some districts also took its toll from what otherwise would have proved to be bumper crops. The freedom from noxious weeds was an outstanding characteristic in almost all fields judged and was most marked and deserves special mention. Every competitor was alive to the situation regarding the weed menace and are staging a campaign which will result in making East Peterborough one of the cleanest parts of the province. Mr. Weese is to be commended for his generosity in giving all instructions necessary and will no doubt bear fruit in years to come. The following is the list of successful competitors:

Adam Humphries and Sons, Reg Banner, Westwood.

R. E. Birdsalls and Son, Banner, Birdsalls.

Ralph Cuthburdson, American Banner, Norwood.

Daniel D. Buck, O. A. C. 72, Seymour.

James Sargent, Banner, Westwood.

W. C. Brackenridge, O.A.C., 72, Westwood.

Thompson Bros. O.A.C., 144, Westwood.

Those scoring 85 per cent and over, Edgar Clark, O.A.C., 72, Elgin.

Wm. Barrie, Reg. Banner, Belmont.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 15.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The following are winners in the field crop competition held under the auspices of the Lakefield Agricultural Society. The crop was white oats. The names are given in the order of merit:

J. E. Galvin, N. S. Higgins, H. J. Abbott, S. Hockaday, B. Dench, J. Blakeley, H. Coons.

UPSET KILLS YOUNG BOY.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Seven-year-old John Awad, son of Paul Awad, 103 Lincoln road, Walkerville, was instantly killed at yesterday noon when the automobile in which the family had been riding upset in the highway three miles west of Essex. The boys' parents and two other children escaped injury. Mr. and Mrs. Awad became hysterical when they found the child dead.

SOCIETY MEETS AT MILLBROOK

Mrs. Harry Dawson Hostess at August Meeting of W. M. S.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Aug. 16.—The August meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church was attended by over fifty members and visitors, Mrs. Harry Dawson, Seventh Line, Cavan, being the hostess for the gathering.

The shaded lawn, and wide verandah, at the front of the large and hospitable home afforded splendid accommodation for the meeting which was presided over by the first vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Smith, in the absence of the president, Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, who is holidaying with her husband and family near Healey Falls, for the present month.

The subject of Christian Stewardship was specially taken up by all Auxiliaries for the August gathering, and was emphasized in the Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Smith, with examples from both Old and New Testaments cited as proof of Gods requirements in this important matter.

A donation of six dollars from a non-resident life member, who generously supports the Auxiliary with remittances two or three times during the year, was received, and the thanks of the organization rendered.

Special mention was made of the bereavement recently suffered by the treasurer, Miss M. E. Hetherington, in the loss of her only sister, and the corresponding secretary was asked to send a letter expressing the sincere sympathy of the entire membership.

Mrs. Smith read a letter from Mrs. Jones, expressing her interest in the gathering, which she would not be privileged to attend, and assuring the officers and members of her prayers at the time of the meeting on Wednesday.

Heralds reported for the 'Watch Tower' as follows: Honan, Mrs. G. Locke; West China, Mrs. J. Willis; India, Mrs Muspratt; Temperance, Mrs. J. Albert Brown. The invitation of Mrs. L. S. Clarry to hold the September meeting at her home was gratefully accepted; Group H, Mrs. H. E. Smith convenor, will be in charge.

Group C was responsible for Wednesday's meeting, and the convenor, Mrs. W. West, took the chair for the study period. Mrs. E. C. Richards read the devotional leaflet, with its text, "Take Heed and Beware of Covetousness", and afterward the chapter on "Doings and Dreams", from the study book on Africa was taken up, those assisting being Mrs. Moore, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds, Miss Burnham, and Mrs. L. W. Smith. Much interesting information was imparted from this, the concluding chapter, of the year's reading on the progress of mission work in Angola, West Africa. Next year an all-Canadian program of study is planned, to begin with the September meeting.

Group C assisted the hostess in serving refreshments at the close of the meeting, the tea tables being laid on the lawn, though the older members were entertained within doors because of the somewhat cool and damp atmosphere prevailing as the sunset hour was approaching.

The usual votes of thanks were heartily extended to the hostess and the group in charge before dispersal, by car, to the various homes.

INSTITUTE WOULD BEAUTIFY GROUNDS

Delegation From Havelock Society Waits On Town Council.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Aug. 16.—A delegation from the Havelock Women's Institute waited on the town council at their regular meeting Monday, Aug. 5, to ask the council to consider certain matters, which the Institute as a whole would like to see done, and would be willing to help do. The first was the cleaning up and grading of the grounds around the town hall, which has a more or less neglected appearance. The delegation asked permission to beautify the grounds by planting shrubs and perennials thereon. The members of the council expressed their appreciation of the project and decided to place a curb along the eastern side of the property and prepare the ground for the plantings and will erect a lattice on the west side, to guard the flowers there.

The matter of appointing a policeman was laid over until a later date as it is understood the council has been negotiating for the placing of a provincial policeman at this point but cannot secure one at present. The women are anxious to see the curfew law enforced but it was pointed out that to ring the curfew without a policeman to round up defaulters would be worse than useless, and this will be dealt with later. The delegation on behalf of the Institute presented the council with a cheque for fifty dollars, a part payment on the stop-signs which have been ordered, and assured the council that that balance would soon be forthcoming. We understand the full amount is around eighty dollars. The motto of the Institute is "For Home and Country" and the members believe that the placing of the stop signs is an important move towards the protection of our motoring citizens. Mrs. Hubel thankekd the council for their kindness and courtesy in a few well chosen words and the ladies then withdrew.

FASHION SERVICE

ILLUSTRATED DRESSMAKING LESSON FURNISHED WITH EVERY PATTERN.

By Annebelle Worthington.

A modified Princess type with sleek flattering slender lines, is illustrated in Style No. 2868.

The bodice is beautifully draped to give fitted smooth hipline. It is quite long-waisted at right side which creates a charming diagonal movement to triple tiered skirt. The neckline denotes smart individuality in irregular V-outline at front, with a three-piece yoke that ties in bow at left-side front. It is sleeveless but can also be made with long sleeves, dart-fitted below the elbows. The tiers are cut circular and fall in graceful ripples.

It can be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust, and is decidedly wearable in orchic cotton voile, that launders so beautifully.

It's very summery in yellow and white polka-dotted rajah silk with yoke tie of white crepe de chine. Red and white printed lawn and pin check green an white cotton voile are attractive selections to make that are exceptionally cool and smart.

Shell-pink chiffon contributes chic formality for afternoons and evenings at Country Club tea, bridge or summer evening dance.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department. The New Fashion Department. The New Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

GREEN CIRCLES.

A little black satin cloche has half-inch wide circles of about two-inch diameter in eight shades of green velvet arranged from ear to ear across the top, with the tones graduated, the darkest on the left ear and the others lapping over each other slightly until the lighest covers the right ear.

BAKED SWEETS.

Medium sized new beets, washed carefully and baked an hour in an even temperature, are delicious. No food value is lost and they present a new dish to most families.

MUST SAVE MORE THAN SURFACE.

The slogan "save the surface and you save all" has certainly been a great help to the paint industry because paint prevents decay.

In the same manner our dental hygienists are reminding us that if the teeth be brushed regularly the surface enamel will be preserved thus preventing decay.

Now this is of course true to a great extent, but as pointed out before, the children of the foreign immigrants who come to our shores have never seen a tooth brush and yet they have wonderful teeth.

Now why do they have such good teeth?

Because the mothers ate the right kind of food before the children were born, and also because these children eat the right kind of food themselves.

In the examination of the teeth of Englishmen from various parts of the country a research worker recently stated that she found the great majority of them when examined in microscopic section, showed very defective development of the texture of both enamel and dentine.

Experiments showed that while some foods have a beneficial influence in supplying lime for the teeth, other foods actually interfere with the lime building process.

The most powerful help for building lime into the teeth is from vitamin D.

It is found in egg yoke, milk, suet, butter, and green vegetables. These contain lime and phosphoreous.

The value of cereals as a breakfast food is dependent to a great extent on the milk, cream, or butter that is used with them, rather than in the cereals themselves.

That is from the lime building standpoint.

Sometimes milk, cream, butter or animal fats are not available, and it is then that cod liver oil, so rich in vitamin D, becomes so valuable to the growing child.

So don't do away with the tooth brush. It is needed for the surface of the teeth, but see that the child gets some of the above foods daily. It is no use saving the surface of a tooth that has become decayed from lack of nourishment.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

PURPOSEFUL ACTIVITY.

Helen and Thomas are eleven and thirteen years old respectively. They are driving the family frantic because they keep going from one thing to the other all day long, never still a moment, never wholly occupied. If the door bell rings both rush madly to answer it. The same thing with the telephone bell. They are present at every interview their mother holds with a book-agent, insurance man, stray peddler. No guest is permitted to spend an hour alone with the persons he came to visit. Helen and Thomas keep busy every moment but they do nothing.

That is because they have carried their childish activity along into the years when it should have been changed into purposeful activity. There is a time when a child has little continuity of thought or effort. All he is required to do is to keep touching, pulling, investigating. But that time passes. The sense experiences have been gathered, the nerves and muscles rather well co-ordinated, ideas pretty well systematized. The child should be about his own business. Purposeful activity should have taken the place of this childish phase.

Sometimes it is not possible for a child to make the adjustment. He is a mental defective and must stay forever set in his childish mold. But a normal child should not linger in this purposeless activity. He is to have interests that carry him along, inciting him to greater and more varied activities. He must take on responsibilities and achieve certain ends or he will fail to mature to full power.

What can a child in the modern home do? Plenty. Life is just as full of things to be done as ever it was, perhaps more so. There are collections to be made, hobbies to be followed, tastes to be cultivated and the opportunities are as numerous as there are children to enjoy them.

A group of eleven year old children can write and perform a play. That occupies them completely. They can form a club and write letters to children in foreign lands and touch wide fields of interest. They can help select birthday gifts and Christmas gifts; they can serve on the S.P.C.A. They can organize for civic work and learn about the parks and the streets and fire protection. They can take an intelligent interest and help keep the neighborhood shrubs and walks and stones beautiful. This is the age of wider curiosity. These children want to know how things are done so that they can do them. If they are not purposeful in their activities somebody close to them is at fault.

It is not possible for children to lead themselves. They are quite innocent of any knowledge of their growth phases. We who know what is going on ought to set the stage to the advantage of the children. That means the teachers of the fifth and sixth grades must become club leaders and the mothers of such children must provide ways and means for sustaining outside interests. Once they are supplied the interest in home details will not hamper the family so much.

CROCKED COLORS.

If wearing a hand-blocked frock or any dress whose color is brigh be sure to wear shields as many of the delicate new fabrics are done in paints and crock from perspiration. Some of them even wash successfully but run under the arms when shields are omitted.

BEIGE AND BROWN POPULAR COLOR COMBINATION.

By Molyneux.

I again favor the color combination of beige and brown, this time in a soft and serviceable material—checked wool crepe. The skirt is a delightful example of many famous pleats, and there are four tiny buttons of brown in the front and a tiny pocket on the right hip. The soft bow that finishes the long collar adds a truly distinctive note. The full length straightly cut coat is trimmed only with large square pockets.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I wonder how many people in Peterborough are being accused daily of things which they never heard or saw before? It may be a minor item or it may be a grave on.

* * * * * * *

First of all I think people should be positive before accusing or even suspecting any one. It is a grave matter, you know, to accuse when you are not in the least bit certain.

* * * * * * *

Then, too, some people accuse others just to let themselves out, as it were. The next time someone accuses you just investigate a little.

* * * * * * *

Sometimes those most closely connected with the case are suspicious looking and just as often they turn out to be more innocent than the rest.

* * * * * * *

This is one reason why I say one should always get the details before hand. If you don't you may be sorry. It is much easier to be sure than have to apologize later for something you should not have said.

* * * * * * *

Then when you have to apologize you feel somewhat foolish. It makes you appear as if you were big headed—as if you knew something when really you did not know anything.

* * * * * * *

It is humiliating—especially in a group of spectators—to be accused when you are innocent, and at times those who are positively innocent look suspicious anyway. If you don't think this is right, see for yourself when you get the chance.

* * * * * * *

Before coming to Peterborough I was visiting at the home of a young lady who worked in a certain newspaper office. One day she came home from a sort of social gathering, and instead of being in high spirits, she was downcast.

* * * * * * *

I always was an inquisitive sort of a person, so I contrived to find out what the trouble was. It was not very long until I had the whole story. Simple enough, yet humiliating to the young lady.

* * * * * * *

Somehow whenever my friend was the centre of conversation someone would always say: "Oh, don't say anymore about it or you will see it printed in the paper."

* * * * * * *

Of course, it was a pointed remark at her. Do you think this was very courteous? Certainly not, and it was absurd in the extreme. Wouldn't it be nonsense to think of her giving a simple conversation to a newspaper? Surely you can see it is.

* * * * * * *

My friend confided in me in a great many such instances. She said she often debated with herself whether to give up her position at this office or continue on and let people think she did not care.

* * * * * * *

I pointed out to her that it would be a great mistake to give up her splendid position for the sake of a few people who really did not know any better.

* * * * * * *

She told me of another instance where something appeared in the paper and of which she knew nothing. Everyone accused her of it and some even "called her down," in front of a whole lot of people. One was heard to say, "Well, she is the only one who could have done it."

* * * * * * *

I actually laughed when I heard this, even though I did feel sorry for my friend. Surely such people cannot be acquainted with the way a newspaper gets its material, or they would not be so silly.

* * * * * * *

And then when she said they accused her of it in front of a lot of people, I thought to myself that these people were not cultured. If you are positive and want to accuse anyone, do not do it in front of a great many people.

* * * * * * *

Wait until you can do it privately. If you do this, you are courteous anyway. To accuse anyone openly shows that you are not well-bred.

* * * * * * *

Privately you can discuss the matter better; you can give the facts which have led you to accuse this certain person even though they may be of little consequence.

* * * * * * *

Make it as little embarrassing as possible for the one you are accusing and it will be appreciated. You may be accusing falsely, but even so, the one you are accusing will be grateful to you for doing it this way.

* * * * * * *

So the very next time you want to accuse anyone, just make a little investigation and get all the facts first, so that you will not be embarrassed by having to make an apology.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

"Dear Anne Wilcox:

This is my first letter to your wonderful page, but I always read all the letters. I have just finished reading "Quo Vadis" letter and I certainly agree with her about married men taking their stenographers or friend's wife out for dinner. If my husband ever came in and told me anything like that, I think there would be war right away. My husband is willing to share my troubles as I am to share his. As a rule we never go out only with each other. And I'm certain he likes my company as well now as before we were married.

It was surely good to see a letter from Marion. I often wonder why she quit, but I think you Anne fill up the page just as good. It is a real treat at night after going to bed to read "Just Between Us Women." I find after working all day to go to bed and get real comfort in reading the paper.

I often wonder where all the neighbors are. I ran into a friend the other day who said she had just finished writing to you, but didn't give me her pen name and I never had any idea she wrote before.

Well dear Anne, I must close. Here's wishing you every success,

Yours sincerely,
Just Another."

Thank you very much "Just Another" for your welcome; but you didn't give me your name so that I may register your pen name—did you do it intentionally or just forget? I hope you will send it in next time you write. It is surprising isn't it to find that your next door neighbor is a contributor to the page—I know I find it quite interesting after reading the letters to discover the signature that it is some one of whom I have heard since my coming to Peterborough. Do come again, soon?

* * *

"Dear Anne Wilcox:

Am rather late welcoming you to our page but it's none the less sincere for all that. Very glad to see that Marion is still keeping an eye on us and that she writes occasionally. I expect the neighbors will turn out in force when the canning and preserving season is over. Have been busy making bean pickle while the beans are nice and tender.

Just a hint to that busy woman who has not time to roll out cookies. I drop the dough by spoonfuls on the pan and then flatten them out with some flat object such as the bottom of a water glass (well floured).

I am enclosing coupon for quite a number of helps if you still have them. Thank you in advance, I remain,

Sincerely,
Jean Christine"

Thank you too, "Jean Christine" for your welcome. It is nice that Marion is still interested in us and I'm sure she will read with interest all the letters which come from the neighbors. Why not send your bean pickle recipe for the neighbors? Your helps have been mailed and I hope they may be of use to you.

REGISTER Of Social and Business Meetings

The Register is published to enable organizations planning major meetings to know in advance, and reserve, evenings on which there are no rival attractions. It will pay Peterborough organizations to consult the Register prior to settling dates. Responsible officers should mail notices well in advance.

Before deciding a date for any event, consult the Register to ascertain that there is no conflict with other events—and then send in YOUR date quickly so that other organizations will not use it.

NORTHERN BISHOP'S WORK NOT FINISHED

Miners and Many Indian Tribes Need Christian Help Badly.

VANCOUVER, B.C., August 16 (Canadian Press). — Bishop I. O. Stringer, of the Yukon, has already spent thirty-seven eventful years in the northern wilderness of Canada, but he regards his work as not nearly completed.

"My present problem," Bishop Stringer said recently, "is threefold. In the first place there are yet Indian tribes to be evangelized—Sticks, Chilcots, and Thlinkets. Then the half-breeds and the poor whites and the isolated miners need more ministrations. In Dawson I have a hostel where the half-breed children can be housed under Christian care while attending the Government school. I have secured part of the old hospital, built in the days of Dawson's prosperity and disused now that the gold rush population has shrunk. It needs extending, for the work must go on. Missionaries are required in the Ross River and Mayo mining districts, too."

It was in 1892 that Bishop Stringer made his first journey down the Mackenzie River and began his labors, first at Fort MacPherson and then for six years at Herschel Island, perhaps the most northerly point of the British Empire.

In those days the Eskimo had an evil reputation, but as a missionary Mr. Stringer went among them, living their life in their snow huts, and their evangelization has gone on with such blessing that along 500 miles of that Arctic coast every native is a convert of the Anglican missions.

Then came a change. After two years of missionary work in Whitehorse, in the great Yukon Valley, Mr. Stringer was appointed to succeed Bishop Bompas in the See then called Selkirk, and now, more intelligibly, Yukon. In 1905 the great Klondike rush had spent its force, gold mining was passing from the scramble of individuals into the hands of companies, and the great white population had begun to shrink. With some flickering revivals it has gone on declining as mines were worked out and no new mining areas were discovered, until now there are only a few thousand whilte men left in the whole of the diocese, four times as large as England. There remain the half-breeds, the Indians, the poor whites, and in the northern part of the diocese the Eskimo.

The journeys which the visitation of the various stations involves are enormous. To get to the southernmost of them from Dawson the Bishop must travel 500 miles up the Yukon River. To get to Fort MacPherson the shortest way is to get up the smaller streams, then through the defiles of the Rockies, where there is no trail for a hundred miles, but a string of bogs between hills. "I have walked it several times," says the Bishop. "My wife walked it two years ago."

PALESTINE AFFORDS VARIOUS CONTRASTS

Canon Cody Finds Arabs and Jews Mixing Modern Ways With Age-Old Customs.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—A very curious mingling of the modern and the very old in Palestine was the most striking experience of a wide European and Eastern tour just concluded by Rev. Canon H. J. Cody, pastor of St. Paul's Cathedral here, and former Minister of Education for Ontario. Dark-skinned Arabs in flowing robes tear through the streets in modern motor cars, and attend moving picture theatres to follow adventures of flappers or wild west heroes of another hemisphere. Yet, in the quiet corners of the market places and the shadows of the age-old walls, the Palestine of 3,000 years ago still exists.

Palestine is undergoing a marvellous change, Canon Cody said. "The modern communities of Jews are introducing the customs and inventions of the west. Their introduction, however, has created a vivid contrast which grips the visitor to the Holy Land who finds himself peculiarly an outsider looking in.

"I passed fields in which modern threshing machines were working," he went on. "These were in the modern Jewish centres. Then a few short miles along the road I would hear the tramp of oxen walking round and round the threshing floor, trampling the sheaves as they did 30 centuries ago.

The Arab farmers, numerically the largest group in Palestine, still use the wooden plow. I watched them slowly plodding across their fields, one hand on the wooden plow that is sharpened at one end and the other hand on the ox goad. A little further along modern reapers, plows and harrows would be seen.

"I was particularly impressed by the new modern university in Jerusalem, which is dealing scientifically with the problems of industry and agriculture. It evidences one of the most interesting phases of the new Palestine; the desire of the Jews to bring their country into the work with other nations. Jews migrating from other countries have brought all the languages of the world, so in order to have a common speech they are reviving the old classical Hebrew."

COMBINATION SHOES.

It is smart and decorative this season to have shoes made of two materials. Summer sandals of printed crepe de chine now use straw to match one's hat to finish the shoes.

Eye Strain

May cause congestion and discomfort in the eyes. Almost always this can be overcome by getting properly fitting glasses.

THIS IS THE WAY THE BOYS AT COLLEGE POLE VAULT - I BET I CAN JUMP OVER THAT SAW HORSE - I BETCHA

OH-OH! WHAT ARE YOU TRYING - POLE VAULTING, EH? - HERE LET AN OLD CHAMPION POLEVAULTER SHOW YOU HOW HE USED TO VAULT WHEN HE WENT TO DARTMORE COLLEGE.

THE IDEA OF THIS POLE IS TO LIFT YOURSELF OVER THE OBSTACLE - IN THE OLD DAYS, I THINK IF I COULD HAVE LIFTED A TELEGRAPH POLE I'D HAVE JUMPED OVER A HOUSE

AND I'LL TELL YOU SOMETHING ELSE - IT WAS MY ABILITY AT POLE VAULTING THAT WON THE NATIONAL INTER-COLLEGIATE MEET FOR MY OLD ALMA MATER.

---- AFTER I HAD OUT-JUMPED ALL THE REST OF THE CONTESTANTS, I TOLD THE FELLOW TO PUT THE BAR AS HIGH AS HE COULD —

-AND YOU CAN IMAGINE THE GREAT ENTHUSIASM WHEN I CLEARED IT LIKE A BIRD-

MY GREAT POLE VAULTING ABILITY PROVED TO BE OF MUCH GREATER VALUE THAN JUST WINNING ATHLETIC MEETS - THIS HAPPENED WHEN I WAS VISITING GRIZZLY IKE - WE WERE IN THE LITTLE VILLAGE OF PLATT-TEENUM - GRIZZLY AND I WERE WALKING ALONG WHEN WE NOTICED A 2-STORY FRAME BUILDING IN FLAMES.

A CRYING YOUNGSTER TOLD US THAT HIS FOLKS WERE AWAY AND THAT HE HAD KNOCKED OVER THE LAMP AND BEFORE HE COULD RESCUE HIS LITTLE BROTHER, WHO WAS UPSTAIRS, THE FLAMES DROVE HIM FROM THE BUILDING.....

LOOKING UP, I SAW THE LITTLE FELLOW - HE HAD CRAWLED TO THE ROOF TO ESCAPE THE FLAMES THAT WERE NOW FAST ENVELOPING HIM - WE BEGGED HIM TO JUMP INTO OUR OUTSTRETCHED ARMS BUT HE SEEMED TOO BEWILDERED AND FRIGHTENED —

BUT RUDY NEBB WAS NOT TO BE BAFFLED BY THIS SITUATION - SO, TAKING A LONG POLE I TORE FROM THE FENCE, I MADE FOR THE HOUSE WHICH WAS THEN A MASS OF FLAMES, AND WITH ALL THE STRENGTH I POSSESSED, VAULTED BESIDE THE CRYING CHILD.... I SUPPOSE YOU WONDER HOW I GOT DOWN WITHOUT JUMPING AND BREAKING MY LIMBS — ?

WITH THE CHILD IN MY ARMS I TOOK THE POLE, WHICH WAS STILL LEANING AGAINST THE BURNING HOUSE AND SWUNG OUT LANDING SAFELY ON A LARGE BUSH WHICH BROKE OUR FALL...

LOOK OUT, DADDY, IF A HOUSE WAS BURNING NOW YOU COULDN'T SAVE THE LITTLE BOY UNLESS HE WAS IN THE BASEMENT!

Oshawa and Raybestos Tied For League Honors

VETERAN CENTRAL LEAGUE MAN HOLDS RAYBESTOS TEAM TO 4 HITS IN SECOND GAME OF PLAY-OFFS

Oshawa Arabs Trim Raybestos On Their Home Diamond.

GAME WAS CLOSE.

Both Pitchers Give Splendid Exhibition of Hurling.

"Duke" Dainty veteran of the Central Ontario Leagues proved too much for the Raybestos outfit at the Exhibition Park last night and the Oshawa Arabs won a very close game, three runs to one. Last night's win puts the two teams on even footing in the playoffs of the Lakeshore League as each outfit has lost its home game. The final game will probably be played in Port Hope on Saturday. Both Kitchen and Dainty pitched splendid ball with the showing of the young local hurler being on a par with that of the veteran. The Rays failed to connect with Dainty's offering who only allowed them four well scattered hits and in four of the seven innings had them shutout.

One of the largest crowds of fans of the season watched last night's game and on more than one occasion the decisions of umpire-in-chief Rowden failed to meet with their approval.

Kitchen struckout seven men and only allowed four passes while Dainty struckout six and allowed five passes. The Oshawa outfit connected when hits meant runs and coupled with bad errors on the part of Rays they ran in three runs, two in the fourth and one in the sixth. The Rays on the other hand failed to hit in the pinches and one or two occasions poor base running accounted for the side being retired. In the fourth a close decision by Umpire Rowden at the plate meant the downfall of Raybestos to score when the bases were full.

Dainty pitching his second game of the season was the only player to get two safeties.

How It Went

In the first McDougall for Oshawa laid one down to third base, Little drove a hot one to Batten. Elliott was safe when Nicholls failed to get the drive but was caught off first by Collins in a splendid throw. 0 runs, 0 hits, 1 error.

Batten lifted one to third, Nicholls went down on a drive to third, Corrin was safe on McDougall's error, Collins got a saver when Goodall made a poor throw to first and Mein lifted one to left field to retire the side. 0 runs, 0 hits, 2 errors.

Hubbel, first up for Oshawa, struck out; Dainty singled; Cook was safe on first but aDinty was caught making second; Goodall bunted but was out, Collins to Hickey. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Moore lifted one to right; Rogers was out, McDougall to Hubbell; Hickey walked and was safe on second when Goodall missed the throw, Kitchen singled to score Hickey and Batten struckout. 1 run, 1 hit, 1 error.

Nicholls lined one to second, Corrin hit to Little, Collins after hitting twelve fouls singled over second; Mein struckout. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Elliott and Hubbell, first two up in the fourth, singled; Dainty struckout and Cook singled into left to score both Elliott and Hubbell; Goodall struckout and Gower lifted one to Rogers. 2 runs, 3 hits, 0 errors.

Moore and Rogers both singled and and Hickey walked to fill the bases; Kitchen hit to Little who threw Moore out on a close decision at the plate and Batten struckout. 0 runs, 2 hits, 0 errors.

Broad hit out to Kitchen, McDouugal struckout, Little was safe when aBtten threw high over first; Elliott and Hubbell walked to fill the bases, but Dainty lifted one to Batten. 0 runs, 0 hits, 1 error.

Cook, first man up in sixth walked; Goodall sacrificed; Gower was out, Kitchen to Hickey; Broad was safe when Batten heaved another high one over Hickey's head, McDougall singled scoring Cook; and Rogers made a wonderful catch of Little's fly. 1 run 1 hit, 1 error.

Moore filed to middle field, Rogers struckout; Hickey was safe when Cook dropped the ball, but Kitchen hit to second. 0 runs, 0 hits, 1 error.

Maudsley batting for Batten struckout; Nicholls walked but was caught stealing second; Corrin lifted one to Dainty. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

GRAFTON'S WIN LEAGUE HONORS

Clothiers Take 6-3 Decision From Leafs in Second Game of Play-offs.

HARD FOUGHT BATTLE.

Grafton's hard hitting Bantam team won the city championship and the rgiht to enter the provincial play-offs last night at James Stevenson Park by defeating the East City Maple Leafs, 6 to 3, in the second game of the play-offs.

The game was a hard fought battle throughout and convinced the fans in a decisive manner that the Grafton team are the cream of the local Bantam league.

The Maple Leafs got away to a poor start when Starr dropped the third strike, allowing McCullough, the lead-off Grafton batter to reach first. He stole second and third and came home on a wild pitch over third base. Grafton's collected two hits in this frame and at the end of innings were two runs up.

Stanger, the Grafton pitcher, fanned the first two men to face him, was nicked for two hits by the next two, Burton and Calladine, but pulled himself out of the hole by striking out Connors, to retire the side.

He held the East City crew scoreless until the seventh innings, when they pushed two runs across and added another in the eighth. Stanger pitched masterly and effective ball throughout, fanning 17 of the 38 batters to face him and issued three free passes. He retired the side in the fifth by striking out the last man with the bases loaded.

Whitnell, who started for the Leafs on the mound, had plenty of steam but was hard hit. He fanned two and allowed seven hits in four innings. He was replaced by Calladine, who finished strong and pitched nice ball. He struck out seven, and allowed four hits in four innings.

Gardiner made a feature play in the seventh innings for the Maple Leafs when he made a one-hand catch of Craig's hot drive to hold a runner on third.

The Grafton team outplayed the losers in almost every stage of the game, having a decided advantage in size over their opponents. Cadd, catching for the winners, made base-stealing a risky practise. Mowry and Braund played nice ball in the outfield and the latter uncorked the longest hit of the game, when he hammered a three-bagger into left field. Routley also collected a three-bagger as well as a single for the winners.

LEAFS TAKE DOUBLE FROM NEWARK IN TIMELY HITTING AND FAST FIELDING TUSSLE

Twin Victory Follows O'Neill's Drastic Action in Suspending Cantrell and Warning Rest of Players Regarding Laxity of Rules.

LEAGUE LEADER'S MARGIN CUT TO SIX AND ONE-HALF GAMES

Orioles Stage Two Run Rally in Seventh Inning To Win Nightcap of Twin Bill 10-9 After Dropping the Opener 8-4.

NEWARK, August 16. (C.P.) — Steve O'Neill slapped a $200 fine and indefinite suspension on Guy Cantrell on Wednesday, and at the same time passed out some timely advice to the rest of his Leafs.

And his Leafs went out yesterday and slapped two decisive defeats on the Newark Bears as neat as you please. The scores were 8 to 5 and 6 to 2.

Whether Steve O'Neill's drastic action brought it about the Leafs played sparkling ball in both contests. The pitching was tight, the fielding just as Scotch, and the hitting hard and timely.

The double victory, while the Rochester Red Wings were breaking even with the Orioles, enabled the Leafs to cut the league leaders margin to six and one half games. The Leafs have won seven games and lost three on the present road trip.

ORIOLES WIN NIGHTCAP.

BALTIMORE, August 16. (C.P.) — The Orioles finally managed to defeat the Rochester Red Wings when they staged a two run rally in the 7th inning of the nightcap to win 10 to 9, after dropping the opener 8 to 4 here yesterday.

Eddie Mooer's long fly against the left field fence, scoring Brower and Layne, was the deciding blow of the game. In a previous trip to the plate Mooer had sent two mates home ahead of him with a home run drive to right field.

KEYS' STREAK BROKEN

JERSEY CITY, N. J., August 16. — (C. P.) — Reading's five game winning streak was shattered here yesterday when Buffalo took both ends of a double header, 13 to 6, and 4 to 3.

George Fisher, hard hitting outfielder, hit a home run in each game to increase his total to 33.

To-morrow's Soccer Bill C. P. C. Versus Brinton

Replay Cup Tie At King Edward Park—Kick-off At Three.

Saturday's soccer bill is the replayed Peck Cup tie between the Canadian Packing and the Brinton A. A. on Saturday afternoon. Kick-off at three o'clock. Referee, A. Aitkenhead.

The fans will be assured of a real game because these teams have had many drawn encounters which has produced thrills galore.

C.P.C. team for Saturday will be: Griffin, goal; Westwood and Agnew, backs; Carmichael, Buchan and Bromley, halves; N. Downer, A. Beggs, O. Halloran, T. Craig and T. Williams, forwards. Reserves, R. Preston and S. Laidler.

Belleville Rink Wins At Annual Tournament

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 16.—Early this morning the lawn bowling tournament annually held in this city was brought to a successful conclusion. Rain in the early part of yesterday marred the lawns, but at the close they were as fast as ever, but rather tricky on the draws. Two trophies, the Riggs and Ritchie Cups, were competed for, and two Belleville rinks, one skipped by C. J. Symons and the other by Dr. A. B. Haffner, were the victors. Thirty-two rinks competed. In the Riggs Trophy C. J. Symons and W. Walshe, both of Belleville, competed in the finals. Symons winning 15—9. The Ritchie final was between Dr. Haffner of Belleville and F. P. Hindle of Tweed, with the Belleville rink winning 16—13 after being down ten shots at the end of the eighth. Mr. R. J. Wray at the conclusion of the tournament presented the prizes to the winners and runners-up.

CANADIAN EXPLORER

Dr. Daniel Davenport, only Canadian explorer to have penetrated jungles of Africa, who went to Belgian Congo on Belgian expedition to drive out natives from sections infested by Tsetse fly, bite of which caused hundreds of deaths.

SHEEDY LOANED.

No transaction entered into during the season by the Toronto club occasioned more surprise than the loan of the former Baltimorean, Clayton Sheedy, to the Buffalo club for the duration of the campaign. Sheedy, who can play first base and the outfield with equal facility, was slow in showing form in the spring, probably for the reason that he didn't report to the training camp until late, and as there was no place for him in the line-up it was decided to send him to the Bisons, with which club he would get regular work.

Tigers Win Easy Victory From Yanks

DETROIT, Michigan, August 16. — (C.P.) — Taming the Yankees to the tune of a two-hit shut-out here yesterday, Earl Whitehill pitched the Tigers to the easiest victory they have scored in months. The score was only 3 to 0, but behind Whitehill's box work this small figure looked colossal.

The Detroit southpaw held the champions hitless until the seventh, when Bob Meusel beat out a single to Westling, recruit infielder. Roy Sherid, Whitehill's pitching opponent, got the only clean single off the Detroit star in the eighth.

TORONTO BEAT MONTREAL.

TORONTO, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — In a close, well-played polo match here to-day Toronto registered its second triumph of the present series by defeating Montreal 13 goals to 11. The winners had previously beaten the St. Charles Country Club team of Winnipeg.

CUBS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL WITH ROBINS

Chicago Advances in Loop Race When Pirates Lose To Boston.

ANOTHER FAN RAID.

Giants Defeat Cardinals 9-7 in Opener of Three-Game Series.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Cubs began their final invasion of greater New York for 1929 by gaining an even break with the Robins at Ebbets Field yesterday, winning the first game by 9 to 5 and losing the second by 5 to 4. The Pirates lost to Boston, and the Cubs thus gained half a game on the day.

Guy Bush in the opener chalked up his seventeenth victory of the season. Dazzy Vance was effective in the pinches of the nightcap.

The first game ended in a barrage of pop bottles aimed at Umpire McLaughlin in the last half of the ninth, after Rube Dressler had been called out for being hit by a batted ball. Frederick followed with a home run, bringing McLaughlin back to third base and within range of the bottle throwers in the stands. Police checked the bombardment.

GIANTS RALLY TO WIN

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—A five-run rally in the seventh, topped by Melvin Ott's thirty-first home run, enabled the Giants to defeat the Cardinals by 9 to 7 here yesterday in the opener of a three-game series. It was a seesaw game, in which eight pitchers were employed, five of them by the Giants.

BRAVES EVEN SERIES

BOSTON, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Braves evened the series with Pittsburg yesterday when Ed. Brandt held the Pirates to two hits.

Pittsburg scored in the sixth on Comorosky's sacrifice fly to Richbourg after Brandt had passed three men, filling the bases.

HOMER WINS FOR PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—O'Doul's twenty-third home run of the season, with two men on bases, gave Philadelphia a victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday. The final count was 5 to 4, giving the home team its second win of the series.

Senators Take Second Game Of Chicago Series

CHICAGO, Ill., August 16. (C.P.) Washington won the second of the series 9 to 4, from the White Sox yesterday. The Senators pounded Faber and Adkins for a total of 16 hits, while Marberry and Braxton combined to check the Comiskey team.

Marberry was pitching well when he was compelled to retire on account of illness. Braxton finished.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

POETRY FOR THE PEOPLE.

Supposing you haven't a dollar;
Supposing you haven't a job
Keep up a stout heart and enact a man's part,
Don't sit in a corner and sob.
Forget all your troubles and sorrows
Be sure that you soon will win out
And say with a grin, "Though I may be all in
There is nothing to worry about!"

Supposing you nudged a policeman
As you scorched down the street in your car
Do not sigh with regret; do not futilely fret,
Or think how unlucky you are.
If it cost you six months for your error—
As it will, beyond any sane doubt,
Though the future looks dark, just serenely remark:
"This is nothing to worry about!"

If the girl you adore takes a fancy
For a chap with more money and brains
Observe to yourself: "It's the lads with the pelf
That get all the good looking Janes."
Far better than take up hard drinking
Or sit on a park bench and pout
Is to say "Well that gal was a pretty poor pal,
But it's nothing to worry about!"

If a poet assures you that troubles
Are usually all for the best,
Do not pick up a stick or a stone or a brick
And bash the poor bard on the chest.
At heart the good cheer-monging rhymster
May really be quite a good scout,
And whether or not it don't matter a lot
And it's nothing to worry about!

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE.

That parable about the mote in your brother's eye and the beam in your own indicates that there were efficiency experts even in Bible times.

WORTH SEvIOUS THOUGHT.

The next world problem will be what to do with the time we save every year through faster ships and planes.

GIGANTIC UNDERTAKING.

Cool air is now being forced into the Halls of Congress. A lot of it will be needed to reduce the temperature of the air which is put into circulation there.

ARGENTINE GIANT STOPS TOM HEENEY

Campolo Batters Plucky New Zealand Heavyweight Into Submission.

EBBET'S FIELD, Brooklyn, Aug. 16.—Another smashing giant from the Argentine, fully as threatening to heavyweight supremacy as the Luis Angel Firpo of six years ago, battered his way into the heavyweight picture last night over the punch-shattered form of gallant Tom Heeney.

Surprisingly clever for all his 223 pounds of bone and muscle, Victorio Campolo, the new galloping Gaucho of the Pampas Country, spread the hard rock from New Zealand on the ring of the big National League ball park as only Gene Tunney, in his valedictory as heavy-weight champion, was able to do before him. Campolo was awarded the bout on a technical knockout in the ninth round of a ten-round match as Heeney, torn by body punches and reeling under ponderous right-hand smashes to the jaw, staggered helplessly into the arms of Tom Crowley, the referee. The round lasted 2 min. 46 sec.

It was a vicious slugging battle from the opening gong, the kind of a Donnybrook free-for-all heavyweight fans have sought in vain at major ringsides since Jack Dempsey lost his title. In the nine rounds Heeney was on the floor twice, once for no count in the eighth, and finally, in the ninth, just before the end came. To the 18,000 fans gathered in the National League ball park, these were the only moments when the bout was not jammed with thrilling action.

The South American nailed Heeney with one crushing right after another to the chin in the eighth, and in the ninth caught Tom in a neutral corner as Tunney did last summer. The smashes piled up on Heeney's head, his knees crumbled, and he went down for a count of five. When he came up he was in such bad shape that the referee had to lead him on trembling and rubbery legs to his own corner.

Angus Snyder, young heavyweight, who started his fistic career in Winnipeg, punched out a decision over Jack Roper of San Diego, Calif., in a ten-round preliminary. Snider weighted 189, Roper 197.

Snyder won the decision through his superior speed, aggressiveness and cleaner punching. There were no knockdowns, but Roper suffered a cut under his right eye and split lips as early as the fourth round.

Bronx Swimmer Sets New Endurance Record

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—A swimming endurance record of 61 hours was claimed for Mrs. Corinne Rossburg, 18 years old, after she was taken unconscious from a Bronx swimming pool early to-day.

Mrs. Rossburg, of Reading, Pa., started her endurance swim at 1.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. She was so exhausted when taken from the water that a physician ordered her removal to St. Francis Hospital. It was said she would be compelled to remain there several days before returning to her home in the Bronx.

The former record of 60 hours was made by Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston last September at a Coney Island pool.

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

(By "TED" OUTRAM)

The remaining games in the Softball League's schedule will not be played, since a winner must be declared by August 24 to enenter the Ontario playoffs. Harrison's and Bridgenorth Wildcats are tied for the first place and these two teams have opened up such a gap between them and the clubs following that they have earned the unquestioned right to play off for the city championship. The first game is scheduled for Monday night on the Central School grounds and the second on Wednesday evening. If a third is necessary it will be fought out on Friday. The winner of the series will take the silverware, and will meet the Oshawa champions in the second round of the Ontario championship.

Harrison's nine was defeated 13 to 6 last evening by Teco, augmented by three non-members of that club. The winners slammed Dundas's offerings to the far corners of the field.

* * * * * *

The only ball game to be played in the city this Saturday is the Junior O.B.A.A. fixture, in the semi-final round for the provincial championship, between Moose, Belleville's champions, and the Kiwanis team, local winners. Jack Deannard's team lost the first game in the Quinte town and a win is absolutely necessary for them to-morrow. The strongest line-up, with Crary on the mound, will be sent into the struggle. Belleville is a much improved team from their exhibition appearance here some weeks ago, and Ab. Young, their twirler is a youngster of great ability.

This game should pack the stands at Exhibition Park since there are players of senior calibre on both teams. It will get underway at 4 o'clock.

* * * * * *

The Raybestos defeat at the hands of Oshawa Arabs last evening was their first loss in twelve straight games. They are expected to revert to form and dispose of Hank Kohen's aggregation, "Duke" Dainty and all, at Port Hope, in the final game of the series tomorrow afternoon. Sailor Maudsey may be sent to the mound to start the fray, his arm having improved considerably under patient care during the past two weeks. Manager Art Primeau and his team are not wasting any tears over last night's result and are confident of final victory.

* * * * * *

The McMurrich team, Toronto champions, will likely be the opponents of the Loyal Order of Moose team, undefeated local champions, for the Juvenile championship of the province. McMurrich's swamped Guelph, last year's Ontario champs., 23 to 0, in Guelph last Saturday, and the return game is billed for Stanley Park to-morrow.

Since the completion of the local schedule two weeks ago, Des Hunt has kept his young players at regular practises and they appear to be in great form to meet the best in Ontario. A practise is called for the Exhibition Park at 6 o'clock this evening.

* * * * * *

It begins to look more and more as though the baseball enthusiasts can book their seats for the world series, and also for the "little" world series between the International and American Association winners.

The Athletics are sure winners in the American League, their lead being increased to 13 1-2 games, while the Cubs are now 8 1-2 games in front of Pittsburg in the National Rochester is leading in the International by 6 1-2 games, while in the American Association, Kansas City is 7 1-2 games in front.

There will have to be big slump in order for an interesting finish to be staged in any of the four circuits.

RESULTS OF GLADIOLI SHOW

The results of the judging of the gladioli on display in the Teco store window were announced to-day by W. H. Young, president of the Horticultural Society, as follows:

Best spike, white— 1 Miss A. M. Clark.

Best spike, pink—1 Mrs. A. Spencely.

Best spike, blue—1 Mrs. A. Spencely.

Best spike, yellow — 1 Mrs. A. Spencely.

Best spike, red — 1 Mr. George East.

Best spike, blotched — 1 Mrs. A. Spencely.

Best spike, smoke— 1 Miss A. M. Clark.

Best six varieties, one spike of each—1 Mrs. A. Spencely; 2, Mr. W. Mantell ;3rd ,F. Biddle.

Best three spikes, alike or different—1 Mrs. A. Spencely; 2, Mr. John Edgar; 3, Mr. S. T. Harris.

Best individual spike—1 Miss A. M. Clark (Mrs. Hornberger, white.)

Seedlings with throat marking — 1 A. Spencely.

Seedling ,best of any kind— 1 A. Spencely.

Sweet peas, six varieties— 1 Mrs. Spencely.

The judges were Harry Carter and Fred Hall of Romaine street.

Mr. Carter said the quality of the gladioli was better than last year. Some exhibitors cut their spikes too short. The blooms were good, but the exhibits would be depreciated because of their lack of foliage and also because of the short stems. Those who showed seedlings are advised to have them proved on the Government trial grounds to establish their variety. The Horticultural Society expresses its thanks to the Peterborough Milk Products Company for the loan of milk bottles in which the flowers were displayed.

PROBE WITNESS BRINGS CHARGES

Claims Head of Builders' Council Advocated Sabotage On Delinquent Plumbers.

CLAIMS TO BE PROVED·

WINDSOR, August 16. (C.P.) — A charge that sabotage was advocated by an official of the Amalgamated Builders' Council as a step in their campaign against delinquent plumbing contractors, was made on the witness stand by David Marshall, a former member of the Border Cities Master Plumbers' Association before the Royal Commission investigating the council's activities. The witness named Alex. White, President of Local 112 of the A.B.C., and claimed at a meeting of the Plumbers' Committee white had advised that the sewer pipes on a certain job should be filled with cement.

Last night White challenged Marshall to retract his evidence or furnish proof and threatened legal action. It was claimed the proposed action was suggested against a contractor who had failed to comply with the requirements of the Plumbers' Guild.

Rip Collins, former Leaf, St. Louis pitcher, has an arsenal of 135 guns of all sizes. He hunts in the off-season.

RUN IS MADE ON N. Y. BANK

Report of President's Death Causes Depositors To Flock To Bank.

TAKE OUT $2,000,000.

NEW YORK, August 16. —(C.P.)— A carbuncle on the back of the president's neck indirectly helped to start a run yesterday on the Bay Ridge Savings Bank in Brooklyn.

Two thousand depositors rushed into the bank and before they had been quieted, and before some of them sheepishly returned and reopened their accounts, they had drawn out two million dollars.

Several days ago Dr. Maurice T. Lewis, the president, went to a hospital in Connecticut to have a carbuncle removed from the back of his neck. False rumors of his death and of a run on the bank had resulted, started the actual run.

Extra tellers, a total of 17, and attendants at the door to hand out withdrawal slips, as well as police, handled the large crowds.

Norman Perry, brother of James A. Perry, killed in an aeroplane fall, will operate the Indianapolis club for the present, though he may sell if a buyer comes along.

HIGH WINDS MAR SHOOT

Conditions Again Bad At Dominion of Canada Rifle Association Meet.

BURKE AGAIN WINNER.

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Conditions were again bad for the fifth day's shooting at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet here to-day. While the sky was clear, there was a very high wind sweeping the ranges from west to east, and the marksmen were allowing a lot of windage.

Extra series and practice shots are the first on the agenda, to be followed by the City of Ottawa match, 300 and 900 yards later in the morning.

Full results of the King's Medal match, won by Lieutenant Desmond Burke of Ottawa, for the third time yesterday, show that the former King's Prize winner scored 166 in the deliberate, fire with movement, rapid and snap shooting practices, five higher than the score made by Major J. Jeffrey, of London, in winning the same event last year.

Next in order were Sergeant W. J. Livingstone, Ottawa, with 153; Sergt. J. Billack, Medicine Hat, 137; Lt. T. E. Snow, London, 135; Captain W. H. Blake, Regina; Lieutenant H. W. Bishop, Ottawa, 127.

Again Take Honors

Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, added to an already imposing list of prizes when they annexed the General Sir Arthur Currie Trophy, awarded to the team making the highest score in the four practices of the King's Medal competition.

Lieutenant J. Bowen, Edmonton, won the Bostock Memorial Trophy, open to officers and men who are members of a cavalry, artillery or mounted rifle unit of His Majesty's Forces, for the highest aggregate score in the first stage of the Governor-General's match yesterday. Lieutentant Bowen scored 99.

Victoria Rifles, Montreal, won the Gordon Highlanders' musketry trophy, awarded to the team composed of eight men competing the first stage of the Governor-General's match, making the highest aggregate score at 200, 500, and 600 yards. 48th Highlanders, Toronto, came second, with 775; six points behind the Montrealers. Royal Hamilton Light Infantry took third place with 769, while the Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, were next with 766.

HOME TOWNERS

CAMPBELLFORD
Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous

Work on the sewer extension on Saskatoon Avenue has been started. This is in accordance with the promise of the Council to commence operations there right after Old Home Week. The sewer is to be 750 feet long and a water main will also be laid in the excavation.

FIELD CROP PRIZES.

The list of prize-winners for the best standing field crop of oats has been announced. The competition was sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, and the judging was done on crops covering a five-acre area. The prize-winners are: 1, A. H. McKelvie; 2, W. A. Wynn; 3, M H. West; 4, William Rannie; 5, Alex. Hume; 6, Garnet Curle; 7, Roy Walker.

NOT RECEIVED FAVORABLY.

Chautauqua does not seem to be meeting with a very open-handed reception in Campbellford. As far as can be learned, it is a case of once bitten twice shy . Several years ago, Campbellford men signed a Chautauqua contract and then had to dip down in their pockets when the series ended. They do not wish to let themselves in for another hand-out. After working all day yesterday, Miss Stewart was forced to admit defeat, not having obtained even one signature. However, she is still trying to secure enough signatures to bring Chautauqua to Campbellford this winter, and believes she will be successful. Late last night word was sent in from another man who would sign the contract. This brings the number of signatures to half that required. Miss Stewart is at the St. Lawrence Hotel, and will be pleased to explain the contract to any who are interested.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"Syncopation" is brilliantly presented at the Capitol.

"Syncopation," is a melodious, tuneful, sprightly, sparkling film music extravaganza which bowed its way into the Capitol theater yesterday and into the hearts of enraptured theatergoers.

Here, if anywhere, the tired business man can go and forget dull care in sprightly tunes, sparkling repartee, golden voices and glittering romance.

But that's not all. "Syncopation" has a very real and very moving romance. It is the tale of a pair of wedded hoofers, the team of Sloane and Darrel, played by Barbara Bennett and Bobby Watson, who have been playing the small time. Fame and fortune unexpectedly smile upon them and with wealth and white lights come those differences that break hearts and burst wedlocks. Villainy stalks the wife and sorrow visits the pathetic heart-broken husband when wifie takes her departure but it all comes out in the wash with Sloane and Darrel eventually in each other's arms.

Much of the action takes place in a cabaret where song and dance hold forth and Fred Waring's famous Pennsylvanians jazz forth nine smashing melodious numbers. The haunting melodies sung by Morton Downey as a song plugger are going to be hard to forget and the tripping fantastic of Barbara Bennett, beautiful daughter of the famed Richard Bennett, and once dancing partner to the celebrated Maurice will linger long in the memory.

Go and see it. "Syncopation's" just what they call it, a great big smashing musical extravaganza on the screen with hosts and flocks of sensational song numbers and musical hits. You'll delight in the work of the sparkling cast which includes, among others, Ian Hunter, Morton Downey, Osgood Perkins, Mackenzie Ward, Verree Teasdale and Dorothy Lee. And we'll venture a bet that you'll come away humming some of those song hit numbers such as "I'll Always Be in Love with You," "Jericho," and "Do Something." Yes, you will surely "Do Something" for yourself when you see "Syncopation."

SKATER TAKES TO SOFTBALL

Geraldine (Jerry) Mackie, speed skater of more than ordinary skill, and winner of many titles, who is playing softball with the Toronto Lakesides, National league champions. Miss Mackie is rated as the smartest outfielder in the league. The young lady was compelled to retire from the skating arena last winter because of illness, but it is expected that she will make a come-back in the coming campaign on the ice.

In Police Court

Robert Morton, 18, Scotch immigrant, charged with theft, pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning and was remanded one week for sentence. It said said that the lad had been brought out under the immigration scheme, and shortly after locating here, he had robbed the home where he was boarding in the south-end.

His thefts included shirts, collars, ties, other articles of wear and a flashlight. He went to Lindsay immediately and secured a job in a cafe. Later he rifled the cafe's till and was caught. He was found guilty but was allowed his freedom on suspended sentence after having made restitution.

"How is it that we are getting so many of these immigrant boys in court here? Are they sending the worst boys into this county?" asked Magistrate Langley.

"This is about the twelfth we have had this summer, but other places are getting more," replied Chief Newhall.

"The immigration authorities must be getting careless in their selections," continued the Magistrate.

"They are bringing out many, and in proportion there are only a few who go wrong," said E. A. Peck, M.P.

The lad explained that he wanted to get to New Brunswick, because his mother was coming out to that province in four weeks.

He will be held without sentence until an immigration inspector arrives in a week's time.

A man on remand on a charge of vagrancy pleaded not guilty and the case was dismissed. He caused a laugh by the swift manner in which he made his exit from the courtroom.

Fred Fallis and Edna Fallis were committed for trial on a charge of perjury arising from their testimony in the liquor case which was held on June 17.

Johnny Rawlings, playing second base for Minneapolis, is a veteran of nineteen campaigns and since 1924 has been either in the majors or class AA baseball.

NORTH ENDERS DIP TO DEFEAT

Second Time Harrisons Have a Decision This Season.

TECO WINNERS 13-4.

Harrison's North Enders bowed in defeat for the second time this year, when a team playing under the Teco colors took them into the fold to the tune of 13-4. Although it was only an exhibition game, it was one of the best games ever played on the Central school diamond.

At the time the game was called there were not enough Teco men on deck to round out a team so they picked up some spectators and made up a nine which gave the North Enders the most decisive defeat that they have suffered this year.

In the eighth innings nine men faced Dundas ,who seemed to have lost all his control on the old bill and the Storemen clouted him all over the lot and chalked up six runs in the one frame.

Weese played third for Teco and turned in one of his nicest games this year, having eight assists and two hits to his credit. Westbrook clouted the only circuit hit of the game ,driving one of Dundas' offerings into deep centre when he was the first man to the plate in the

Whether the North Enders were not trying to take the game because it did not count in the league, or whether they lost it because of the errors on their part, the spectators could only judge for themselves, but whatever it was the Harrison gang did not put up their usual brand of ball, and they will have to tighten up a whole lot more if they have any idea of taking the play-off games next week from the Bridegnorth Wildcats. Line-up:

Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd.
South	1 ♦	Pass
West	2 ♥	Pass
North	Pass	Pass
East	4 ♥

The forcing overcall at Contract is comparable in every way to the original two bid. Each is a bid of one trick more than necessary and the requirements for each are indentical, to wit, the probability of at least seven tricks in hand inclusive of 3½ to 4 Quick Tricks, the high card strength being distributed in three or more suits. By reason of their very strength, each implies a further bid in hand and therefore demands an assist or take-out by partner unless holding an absolutely trickless hand.

The procedure of the West player in this deal will illustrate the sound use of the forcing overcall, as such bid tells partner that West has a hand which with but average or less than average support from East, can produce a game.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South bids one Diamond originally, which West overcalls with one Heart. There is no reason for a pre-emptive bid on West's part in this situation as he is prepared to rebid and rebid again regardless of any adverse suit indications.

North lacks sufficient supporting values to assist South's Diamond bid. East passing, South has not the required strength for an unassisted rebid or a negative double of West's Heart overcall.

Contract: South bids one Diamond as at Auction. West makes a forcing overcall by bidding one trick more than necessary, two Hearts. It will be seen that he holds all the requirements for such forcing overcall: 3½ Quick Tricks, the probability of at least seven tricks in all, and high card values in three suits.

North passes and East jumps the bid to a game contract in Hearts as his supporting values, which below those required for an assist of a one bid, are sufficient for a bid of four following partner's forcing overcall, particularly as he holds four cards of the Heart suit. It will be noted that had West been the Dealer, his preferable procedure would be an original two bid rather than a pre-emptive bid of three as he holds two side Kings.

Salient Points of Play

North, holding four of partner's suit to the Queen-Jack-Ten leads initially the highest of the sequence, the Queen, which holds. South plays the encouraging 8 to the first trick and North continues with the Jack of Diamonds which Declarer trumps with the Heart 4.

Declarer now proceeds to exhaust trumps leading the Ace and King. On the lead of the King of Hearts, North discards the Spade 2, which does not necessarily denote weakness. Declarer now crosses over to the Dummy hand in order to lead a Spade up to his King. The fifth trick therefore is as follows:

Fifth Trick: West, Heart 5; North, Diamond 10; East, Heart 7; South, Diamond 2.

Declarer next leads the Spade 10 from Dummy, South refuses to cover, and West goes up with the King. As a matter of fact West has a choice of playing the Jack or King of Spades but the King is preferable on the reading of the cards. North has already played the Queen-Jack-Ten of Diamonds and has also shown up with a singleton Heart. Therefore, had North also held the Ace of Spades he would undoubtedly have assisted his partner's Diamond bid. Accordingly, Declarer figures the King of Spades as a sure trick whereas the Jack of Spades is problematical. Also, Declarer sees he will have to give up one Spade trick, but no more as there are but two Spades in Dummy. So figured, West goes up with the King immediately which wins the sixth trick.

There are no more salient points to the play except that West must make all the remaining tricks except two, losing in all one Diamond, one Spade and one Club. While he can establish a long Club in Dummy, it does him no good as he has no worthwhile discard thereon from own hand.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

RETURN TO ENGLAND BY AIR.

LONDON, August 1[illegible] (Canadian Press). — The Prince of Wales arrived at Hendon Airdrome, in North London, this afternoon by plane from Le Touquet, the French coastal resort, where he spent the week-end. The Prince made the trip both ways by air.

CANADA'S COKE PRODUCTION.

Coke is being produced in Canada chiefly by the treatment of bituminous coal; a small production is also obtained from the distillation of petroleum. Coke derived from the treatment of coal or petroleum is now produced in almost every province of the Dominion.

IROQUOIS TRAIL IS COMPLETED

450 Road Signs Have Been Erected Over 225 Mile Section.

INCREASE IN BUSINESS.

The Iroquois Trail is now complete announces F. G. Stinson, who has returned from a trip through the Georgian Bay district, in the interests of the Trent Waterway Association. The election of more than 450 road signs covering the 225-mile section of roadway from Trenton on Lake Ontario, to Midland and Penetanguishene makes the circuit an established route.

The Iroquois Trail is a motor road through Central Ontario, tapping the Trent municipalities and touching on the various recreational centres of the section. The course of the Trail was chosen with an eye for beauty combined with facilities for pleasure of all kinds and the whole was designed to offer as tempting a vacation route to American and Canadian tourists as possible. It has been given wide publicity by the Trent Waterway Association this summer, for which purpose many thousands of copies of their booklet have been distributed in the United States as well as an even greater distribution in Canada. This booklet is done very well and presents in an alluring way the possibilities of vacationing in the district. It has attracted a great deal of favorable comment from publicity organizations, representatives of the governments and private individuals. They have originated in many sections of the continent.

Mr. Stinson reports an increased volume of tourist traffic this summer all through Central Ontario. Never has the volume of traffic been equalled. The steamship companies plying among the Thirty Thousand Islands have carried 25 per cent more passengers, motor car and freight for the same period last year. Also the merchants and gas dealers and others who feel the effect of the tourist trade in the Trent municipalities report substantially increased business to tourists this summer.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Strict Diets Often Unnecessary

It is a well known fact that some foods has a strong tendency to produce excessive stomach acidity and consequent indigestion. By omitting from daily meals those foods that experience proves do not agree and limiting the diet to certain tasteless unappetizing foods, stomach troubles may in many instances, be slowly overcome. Nine times in ten, however, indigestion, gas, etc., are due to excessive acidity and the premature souring of food in the stomach. Keep the stomach clean and sweet by freeing it of this extra acid and then sufferers can eat the foods they like best and as much as they want in reason and have no stomach trouble at all. Thousands of people do this daily by merely taking after every meal a little Bisurated Magnesia, which can be had at any good drug store in either powder or tablet form. Bisurated Magnesia instantly neutralizes stomach acids, stops food fermentation and meals digest as naturally and painlessly as in the stomach of a healthy child. Stomach comfort means a lot and most folks like good things to eat. Enjoy them both by making Bisurated Magnesia your daily after-eating protection.

BAN BARE LEGS.

BELFAST, Aug. 16.—Business men here are waging a war on the new fashion that induces their female help to come to the office with no stockings. During the hot weather the new style has been introduced into business. Some offices have even banned flimsy dresses and issued orders to wear overalls. "How can the men keep their minds on business?" it is asked.

EXPERT CLAIMS WRONG WAY FOR PEACE IS TAKEN

Parity of Factories Producing Armaments Is Factor To Be Considered.

NAVAL PARITY NOTHING.

In Time of War U. S. Could Build Cruisers Faster Than Britain.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Massachusetts, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press). — The world is approaching the problem of disarmament from the wrong direction in attempting to reach the solution through naval parity, Count Giovanni Elia, of Rome, Italian naval expert, and inventor of a depth bomb, told members of the Institute of Politics yesterday.

Parity of factories producing armaments is the essential factor to be considered, he declared. "It is necessary to do everything possible to avoid a new war and naval disarmament tends toward this end," he said, "but to talk of naval parity is absurd, for naval parity means nothing whatso ever.

"The ideal of establishing an absolute naval parity is unattainable, I am convinced, for even if the fleets of Great Britain and the United States should be made absolutely equal, there would still remain the vastly superior industrial power, and the unassailable geographical position of the United States.

"If a war should come the United States could build cruisers so much more rapidly than Great Britain that any existing parity would be quickly overbalanced. The United States, within an exceedingly short time, could bring a fleet of cruisers into being which could sweep the British cargo boats from the seas, and starve her population; whereas she herself is so large and has such inexhaustible natural resources within her own borders that she could last indefinitely without ever sending out a ship from her ports.

"Parity of the factories, I am sure, is what really counts to-day, and on this basis the United States has so great a superiority that she is, in effect, supreme."

AGED RESIDENT STRUCK BY CAR

James C. O'Leary of King's Wharf Knocked Down On Way To Church.

SUFFERS MINOR INJURIES.

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 16. — (Examiner Correspondence).—On Sunday morning while going across the road into St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, to attend mass, James C. O'Leary, an aged resident of King's Wharf, was struck by a car and knocked down. He was carried into Father Galvin's House and Dr. Blanchard from Lindsay called. The old gentleman suffered a bad shaking up, but no bones were broken, and he is resting nicely now. The car was driven by Francis O'Neill, of Chicago, Ill.

INQUIRE INTO PILOT'S DEATH

Inquest Into Death of Jack Armstrong Is Adjourned.

TAIL SPIN DESCRIBED.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Geoffrey Robinson, mechanic employed at a Dufferin Street flying field and Harry Tegart, owner of a plane at the Canadian Air Express Company's field described before a coroner's jury yesterday how Jack Armstrong, 17, Willowdale aviation student, crashed to his death in a biplane near Dufferin airport, on July 10.

After the evidence of the witnesses Coroner J. M. Casserly adjourned the inquest to September 17 to enable William Banghart, pilot, Stratford, now recovering in a local hospital from shock and injuries suffered in the crash, and George S. Abbott, Canadian inspector of civil aviation, to testify.

How the plane in which Armstrong and pilot Banghart were flying at an altitude of 1,500 feet went into a tail spin and crashed a mile and a half from where he stood was described by Robinson, who said he did not see any fault in the handling of the machine.

Tegart said planes on the field of the Canadian Air Express Company were inspected daily, but the plane in which Armstrong was killed, owned by the London Air Transport Company, was flown by Banghart from London to the local field after the daily inspection had been made and consequently had not been examined on the field here.

The witness said he flew the plane himself 10 minutes before Banghart and Armstrong went up in it and the machine appeared all right.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

HUGE PINE DESTROYED.

A giant pine tree, towering 100 feet, received its death blow from lightning in last Saturday's storm. Starting at a point fifty feet from the ground, the lightning split the tree in three sections to within a few feet of its base. The cleavages are straight as though drawn by a ruler. The tree stands about 50 yards from the pavilion at Chemong Park, but its present condition will prove dangerous in case of wind storms, and it will likely be cut down soon.

BIGGEST DANCE OF SEASON.

One of the biggest dances of the year will be held at Rick Roberts' popular dance pavilion, Melody Inn, Lakefield, this evening. Special musical numbers will be played and it will be called "Waltz Night." Waltzes will take a portion of the program and there will be fine prizes for the best old-time waltz and modern Waltz. The management have carefully prepared for the happy event at great expense. The crystal ball and Rick's syncopation makes waltzing an added pleasure at Melody Inn.

HIT BY TRUCK.

Stewart Thexton, an employee at The Examiner, was knocked off his wheel by a truck last night about five-thirty as he was returning home from work. The accident occurred at the corner of Stewart and Wolfe Streets. Mr. Thexton was badly shaken up and cut about the arms, face and legs.

SERVICE EXTENDED.

The air mail service is gradually weaving a network all over the western hemisphere. The more recent of these lines take in Cuba, Bahamas, West Indies, Central America and parts of South America. These routes and those in the United States and Canada save from six to forty-eight hours and more on letters sent "Via Air," according to the postmaster.

The charge for the service is 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each ounce over. Registration and special delivery fees are extra. All letters sent in this way are despatched from the local post office by the fastest route.

DANGEROUS PASTIME.

There seems to be a dangerous practice springing up among the youngsters of this town. In many places they have been noticed jumping on the back of trucks and then drop off in front of oncoming automobiles without looking. A slip while trying to climb on the truck or a driver of a car who is caught unawares when one of these thoughtless children jump off, might result in serious injury to the child.

THESE YOUNGSTERS.

Although the swings at the Central School playgrounds are fixed so they cannot be used after hours, by the removal of the seat, kiddies in the neighborhood still take advantage of them by hooking the chains together and placing a coat where the seat is supposed to go, after which they swing to their hearts' content.

WAS IT SHOT HERE?

One of the oldest inhabitants of Peterborough attracts a great deal of admiration and causes a flow of comments from the numerous tourists that stop to admire his black hide. It is the big black bear that holds sway and has adorned Lech's fur store for so many years, and it is this grizzly that causes so many visitors to hesitate and ask, "Was it shot in Peterborough?"

BREAKS HER ARM.

Mrs. N. Renzetti of Louis street, had the misfortune to fall on the verandah of her house on Wednesday, and as a result of the accident, she suffered a painfully broken arm.

REAL LAKE WASH

A car went into the lake at the extreme eastern end of Chemong Park last night at 9.45. The car was driven down the hill of the lane leading from the main road near Siddey's Store. At the base of the hill it was steered close to the boat houses, and then in an effort to manoeuvre out of the sand it was backed into the lake. It was dragged out by a wrecking crew from Bridgenorth.

TWO FIRE CALLS

At 11.21 yesterday morning the fire department received a call to 24 Stewart street to a chimney fire. Chemicals were used and small damage resulted.

An auto belonging to E. G. Patterson caught fire at 12.10 at the corner of Rink and Rubidge streets and also required the firemen's services, but the car was little damaged.

THANK ALL WHO HELPED.

Rev. Paul Costello, Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, wishes to thank His Worshop Mayor Denne and his Council, for their very excellent address to His Grace Most Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D. D., Co-Adjutor Archbishop of Kingston, on the occasion of his return to Peterborough from The Holy See; also the Canadian Pacific Railroad for the private car placed at the convenience of His Grace; Chief Newhall and his force for the splendid order maintained; the Peterborough Examiner for its magnificent reports of the various events; the Rangers' Band for its appropriate music; the Peterborough Utilities for their beautiful decorative lights; the Exhibition Board for the loud speaking apparatus; the Heintzman Company, who kindly loaned select records; and all others who co-operated in any way to make the welcome home to His Grace, the splendid success that it was.

ANOTHER NEON SIGN

Another bright sign has been erected in Peterborough's business section. Yesterday, a Neon gas sign was put into operation in front of the Kingan Hardware store on Simcoe and shone its bright red light for the first time. It was made and put up by the Macey Sign Company of Toronto. It is the second of its kind in this city.

OBITUARY

REV. G. H. COPELAND.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Having had the distinction of preaching the Gospel for more than half a century, Rev. G. H. Copeland, formerly a Methodist minister, died yesterday at his residence, 87 Dearbourne Avenue. Rev. Mr. Copeland was well-known in Ontario, having during the 58 years that he served in the ministry, held charges in Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Port Hope, Cobourg, Belleville, Picton, Newcastle, Port Perry, Deseronto, Campbellford, Norwood and Cleveland, Ohio.

Following superannuation in 1914, Rev. Mr. Copeland came to Toronto to reside and ministered to the congregations of Donlands Methodist Church for four years and to Dawes Road Church for two years. On June 29, 1926, Mr. and Mrs. Copeland celebrated their golden wedding. His widow, who was formerly Miss Hannah Barclay, survives. One daughter, Mrs. F. H. Richardson, of 61 Fairview Boulevard and five grandchildren; one brother, William Copeland of Cannington, Ont., and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Rae of Barrie and Mrs. Mary Bryans of Woodville, Ont., also survive.

The funeral service will be held on Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the residence.

MRS. WILLIAM CHURCH.

A horst of friends of Mrs. William Church at Mt. Julian, were shocked by the news of her death in Cleveland on Sunday, August 4, after being ill for some time.

The deceased, who was formerly Marion Borrowman, was born in Peterborough, where she acted as a Public School teacher before her marriage. She gained a wide circle of friends during her time here. She was predeceased by her husband by several years.

Mrs. Church was well known at Mt. Julian, where she went each year. She was always devoted to the church and an active worker in the missionary cause.

The remains were brought to Peterborough on Wednesday, August 7, and burial took place in Little Lake Cemetery, attended by a great many sorrowing friends.

ONLY GRAIN BOAT SAILS.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The Calgarian, bound for Montreal with 41,000 bushels of wheat, was the only grain boat clearing yesterday from the port of Fort William-Port Arthur. Four vessels are here unloading or waiting orders. None are en route light. Two coal boats are unloading at the Fort William and inland docks.

BRITISH CHANCELLOR REFUSES OFFER MADE BY OTHER NATIONS TO SETTLE REPARATION CLAIM

Creditor Delegates Meet To Discuss Future Action.

BREAK-UP EXPECTED.

Snowden Claims Offer Was Only Twenty Per Cent. of Claim Instead of 60.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, to-day refused the compromise offer of France, Italy, Belgium and Japan to allow Great Britain an increased share of German reparations. The British Chancellor claimed it was insufficient to satisfy his government.

The chief delegates of the four creditor governments allied against Great Britain decided as soon as they received Mr. Snowden's reply to their proposals to meet at noon and decide what further action to take.

The offer refused was that made yesterday by the four governments seeking to satisfy British demands for return to the Spa percentages for division of German reparations and other minor concessions. The four governments acted in an attempt to avert British withdrawal from the conference here on application of the Young reparations plan.

Mr. Snowden, in his refusal to consider the compromise further, said that instead of the 60 per cent. of British claims it purported to offer, he upon examination had discovered it made available only 20 per cent. which, he said, was utterly inacceptable to his government.

Feeling around the Hotel Des Indies headquarters of the creditor powers was that Mr. Snowden's reply meant the inevitable breaking up of the conference. All delegations immediately communicated with their governments. Even Mr. Snowden has kept in constant touch with Premier MacDonald during the past two days.

One of the eleventh hour expedients talked of to save the conference was the mediation of Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, Great Britain and the other creditor powers.

It was understood, however, the Reich delegate preferred to hold aloof from the question of reparations annuities and to keep his hands free from political negotiations exclusively.

SINGER FREED AT NOON TO-DAY ON FOURTH TRY

Allyowed Out Till Appeal Is Argued Before Supreme Court of Ontario.

$25,000 BAIL GIVEN.

Justice Allows Release On Point That He Was Committed Under Wrong Section.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Louis M. Singer, K.C., committed to jail for contempt of court by Royal Commission Gordon Waldron, K.C., has been ordered released on bail of $25,000 by Mr. Justice Logie following application of Singer's counsel this morning.

Singer was released from Toronto Jail at one o'clock this afternoon.

Singer will now be free until arguments heard by the Supreme Court of Canada on the appeal brought by his counsel, W. F. O'Connor, K.C., against the judgment of Justice Jeffrey refusing to grant a writ of habeas corpus.

Louis M. Singer was committed to jail July 22, when he refused to give information or records pertaining to the Amalgamated Builders' Council of which he is an official, when requested to do so by Gordon Waldron, Royal Commissioner, appointed to investigate the affairs of the council by the Dominion Government.

He was released for a time on bail by Justice McEvoy, but was returned when Justice McEvoy refused to continue the write of habeas corpus.

In releasing Singer, Justice Logie ruled that Royal Commissioner Wal-

Chinese Garrison Resists Soviet Attack Despite Use of Artillery Fire.

TROOPS MOBILIZING.

PEIPING, China, August 17 (Canadian Press). — Official Chinese reports to-day said 700 Soviet calavrymen were repulsed yesterday afternoon in a vigorous attack on Jalainor Station, on the Chinese Eastern Railway, 22 miles east of Manchuli.

The Soviet troops were supported by heavy artillery fire, the Chinese garrison resisting with rifle fire and machine guns. Twelve Russian dead were left on the field. Four Chinese were killed, and two officers, six soldiers and ten civilians wounded. The Russians remained on Chinese soil about three hours.

Another official message from Mukden said that after a heavy bombardment of artillery, Soviet cavalry yesterday attacked the Chinese defence line at Meiyaotz, near Manchuli and 12 miles from the border. The fighting was said to be continuing. The latter report, notwithstanding its official character, was treated with reserve pending independent confirmation.

TROOPS MOBILIZING.

SHANGHAI, August 17 (Canadian Press). — Marshal Chang Hsue-Liang of Manchuria has ordered the mobilization of 0,000 troops to guard the Chinese Eastern Railway. The regular troops o the Mukden garrison are now stationed on the Peiping-Mukden Railway below Chinchowfu.

Some of them have been ordered to Hailar and another portion to Kirin, Chang Tso-Kslang, Governor

CANADIAN UNITS WILL PERFORM MILITARY DRILL

Tactical Exercises in Petawawa Camp Include Most of Permanent Force.

OVER THOUSAND OFFICERS.

Royal Air Force Will Co-operate With Ground Units During Last Exercises.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Over a thousand officers and other ranks comprising a large proportion of the permanent force of Canada will take part in tactical exercises to be held in Petawawa Camp next week.

Permanent force units consisting of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery Brigade and No. 3, Medium battery R.C.A., commanded by Lt.-Colonel J. C. Stewart, D.S.O., from Kingston; the Royal Canadian Dragoons from Toronto and St. Johns commanded by Lt.-Colonel D. B. Bowie, D.S.O.; the Royal Canadian Regiment from London, Toronto, St. Johns, and Halifax, Commanded by Lt.-Colonel R. J. S. Langford; Le-Royal Regiment from Quebec, commanded by Lt.-Colonel J. P. U. Archambault D.S.O., M.C. A.D.C. and the Royal Canadian Army service Corps training depot with detachments from the different eastern military districts commanded by Lt. Colonel W. H. Robinson, O.B.E., have been at Petawawa since July 24 when command of the camp was assumed by Colonel W. H. Elkins, D.S.O., R.C.A.

During the final week of training, which commences on Monday, the number of troops in camp will be increased with squadrons of the Royal Air Force co-operating with the ground troops in combined exercises and other units of specialists taking part.

New Transports Used.

A distinctive feature of this year's maneuvers will be the use of modern six-wheeled mechanical transport vehicles for drawing the guns with which the medium batteries are armed. These vehicles have already been utilized in the camp during the annual training of the non-permanent active Militia batteries. Heavy motor trucks, specially designed and manufactured under a British War Office patent in England, have it is stated by experts, placed the medium batteries armed with 60-pounder guns in the "mobile" class of artillery units so easily are the heavy pieces of ordnance transported over the rough ground.

Total Strength 2 600.

GREAT STATESMAN VISITS CANADA

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill arrived in Toronto yesterday. Wednesday he was in Ottawa, where he and his party were welcomed by Premier Mackenzie King. The photograph here, taken by a photographer, shows Winston Churchill, left, with Premier King. When asked by the press whether he had come to Canada in a mission to foster inter-Imperial trade, Winston Churchill stated he was on no mission at all, but came to Canada for a holiday. His last visit to Canada was in 1900.

PLAYGROUNDS HOLD FIELD DAY

Champions of Season Are Declared At Meet On Central Grounds.

200 ATTEND.

After a most successful season the School Playgrounds officially closed for the season with a large Field Day at Central School grounds. The program included playing the finals in the softball league and horseshoe and checker tournaments. King Edward playground won the championship of the boys' league and the Central were winners in the girls' league. G. Downer, of Central, and H. Gordon of King Edward were declared champions of the horseshoe and checker tournaments respectively.

More than 200 boys and girls were on the playground to watch and participate in the finals. Ice cream and soft drinks were later supplied to the children and the whole afternoon proved to be a happy event. Mrs. W. R. Morris, chairman of the Supervision Committee of the Board of Education, presented the winners with pennants. The children gave three cheers and a tiger for Mrs. Morris and the supervisors.

The summer has been ideal for playground work and sport and other activities have been crowded into the program in great measure. Attendance has averaged around 200 to 300 per day at the two playgrounds, Central and King Edward. Only one wet day marred the season.

The children from King Edward school were brought to Central by motor bus and then were transported back to their homes in the same manner at 6 o'clock. All were happy and excited, but many expressed sorrow that the season was over.

Much credit for the success of the playgrounds is due the supervisors: Misses M. Cox and M. Buller, A. Rogow and H. Vickers under the direction of chief supervisor J. Abraham.

NEWS IN BRIEF

(By Canadian Press)

MOTORISTS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 17.—Charles Conley, 32, and George Timmons, Sandwich, received critical injuries to-day when their automobile collided head-on with an Amherstburg inter-urban car in Sanwich. They are in Grace Hospital.

FOUR CHILDREN BURNED.

CONCORD, N.H., Aug. 17.— Four children, three of them under five years of age, were burned to death here late last night. A fifth, sister of three of the others and daughter of Marshal French, truck driver, was in a critical condition at the Margaret Pillsbury Hospital. French, himself, was at the same institution in critical condition from burns received when he attempted to save the children.

RUM RUNNER HANGED.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Aug. 17.—James Horace Alderman, 60 year old rum runner, was hanged to-day in a seaplane hangar at the coast guard base here for the slaying of two coast guardsmen in a gun battle on the high seas two years ago.

Alderman walked calmly to the scaffold with a prayer on his lips, showing no sign of faltering.

KNOCKED DOWN BY WAVE.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 17.—Venturing into the rough waters of Lake Winnipeg, 11 year old Allison Ovis, of Winnipeg, was knocked down by a high wave at Victoria Beach, local summer resort, and drowned, late Friday.

NO TRACE OF BANDITS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—Search by the police has failed to reveal any traces of the bandits who captured a pay roll on the streets of Toronto yesterday. Attempts to follow the trail by means of the green car used in the robbery have so far been fruitless.

Three robbers escaped in a green touring car with $2,500 yesterday morning after assaulting and robbing D. C. Patton, office manager of the Sangamo Electric Company who was returning from the bank with the firm's weekly pay roll.

EGGS MOVE UP AT FARM MART

CHICKEN 35 CENTS.

Eggs were somewhat higher on the market this morning than last Saturday morning, going at 35 to 38 cents. Butter remained the same at 42 cents a pound.

Prices for fowl also ran about the same. Chickens were 35 cents a pound, hens 30 cents, and ducks 30 cents. White fish on the open market sold at 18 cents a pound; lake trout 20 cents, haddie, two pounds for 25 cents, and cod 15 cents a pound sliced.

The last huckleberries of the season were on sale at 25 cents a quart; however, they were very scarce.

Tomatoes brought 90 cents a basket (11 quarts) and 45 cents for the six quart basket. Theer was some corn to be had at 30 cents a dozen. Other vegetables were about the same price as last week.

Potatoes were sold at 35 cents per peck, and apples at 50 cents.

BENNETT URGES HOME SPENDING

Claims $500,000,000 of Money Spent Abroad Last Year Might Have Been Spent at Home.

HELP OUR OWN WORKMEN.

(By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

MERRITT, B.C., Aug. 17.—Into the centre of the Nicola Valley, Hon. R. B. Bennett here late last night carried his policy for the development of Canada for Canadians.

Five hundred million dollars, of all the money we sent out of this country last year to buy goods abroad might have been spent in Canada, the Opposition leader declared. "Suppose we determine that this $500,000,000 would be spent in our own country in making the goods we can produce in Canada by Canadian workmen and build up our own industries." Mr. Bennett emphasized the interrelation of industry, "When we buy our goods in the United States," the Opposition Chieftain declared, "we get the goods but they get the money. But when we buy the goods in Canada, we have both the money and the goods in our own country."

THIRD ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES.

WINDSOR, Ont., August 17 (Canadian Press). —Mrs. Pauline Kwiesinski, 53, of Hamtramck who was injured in an automobile accident on Wednesday, near Old Castle, died yesterday in Hotel Dieu. Her daughter and another girl received fatal injuries in the same mishap.

Rebellious Tribesmen Boil General In Oil

CALCUTTA, India, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Rebellious Hazari tribesmen in Arghanistan were said here to-day to have captured an Afghan general and to have boiled him and his staff in oil.

The tribesmen inflicted two severe defeats on Habibullah Khan at Sarchasma, 30 miles north of Kabul, where they captured a large amount of ammunition.

One Camp Claims Disarmament Talk is Only British Propaganda.

COUNTRY BACK HOOVER.

Right of President To Suspend Construction is Disputed By Opponents.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 17.—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—A struggle between "big navy" elements and the proponents of disarmament in the United States impends. On the one side will be those who like Col. Paul V. McNutt, Commander of the American Legion, demand the United States take steps "to regain its lost naval parity with Great Britain," and like Rear Admiral W. L. Rodgers, who sees in such meetings as the Washington conference of 1922 called by President Harding, the result of British propaganda. This party finds some voice in Congress through Fred A. Britten, Chairman of the House Naval Committee, and through Frederick Hale, chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, who declares, "to reach equality when the 15 new American 10,000 tons cruisers authorized shall have been completed, Great Britain will have to scrap many of her ships built or building."

Grace Scott is Instantly Killed When Car Takes Ditch.

ATTENDED CARNIVAL.

Vernon Beavis, Driver of Car, Fails To Make Turn At Graham's Corners.

LINDSAY, Aug. 17. (Examiner Correspondence).— Grace Scott, 18 years old, was instantly killed last night when a car in which she was riding overturned at Graham's Corners on the Lindsay-Whitby highway, 3 miles west of here at 11.30 last night. The car was driven by Vernon Beavis, 20 years old of 184 Rubidge street, Peterborough and he was accompanied by Harold Hollingsworth, of King street, also of Peterborough.

Beavis and Hollingsworth had driven from that city last night to attend the summer carnival here where they met three girls, Miss Mildred Ashmore, Miss Mary Gassien and Miss Grace Scott and took them for a drive.

The car was proceeding towards Oakwood village when it failed to make the curve at Graham's Corners and turned over in the ditch, instantly killing Miss Scott while the others escaped serious injury, only being severely shaken up. Miss Scott died instantly from a fractured skull and internal injuries as she was pinned under the car.

Dr. F. P. Blanchard, returning to Lindsay on his way home from a trip to Alleghany, Penn., was close to the scene of the accident when it occurred and attended the victims.

Dr. Collison, Lindsay coroner, with provincial constable Wetherall visited the scene of the accident and held an investigation. Beavis, the driver of the car, was arrested and is being held in Lindsay jail awaiting a preliminary hearing which will take place when he will appear today and an inquest has been ordered.

The curve at the place where the car left the road is free from gravel and the turn is wide, the highway being in the very best of condition.

CHURCHILL RETURNS TO TORONTO AFTER VIEWING NIAGARA FALLS

Entertained At Lnucheon By Governor-General of Ontario.

Prepares Winnipeg Speech.

Party Will Leave For Tour of Western Cities.

TORONTO, Ont., August 17 (Canadian Press). — Right Hon. Winston Churchill returned to Toronto to-day after spending most of the morning at Niagara Falls, and was entertained at luncheon by Hon W. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Mr. Churchill had no definite plans for the rest of the day. He will probably spend some time in preparation for a number of speeches which he is scheduled to deliver in western cities. The speech which he is to give at Winnipeg was prepared yesterday afternoon in the gardens of Government House.

This evening Mr. Churchill and party will leave for Winnipeg in the private car Mount Royal, which will be attached to the regular nine o'clock train. They will arrive in Winnipeg on Monday morning.

Waltz Night Is Successful Affair

"Waltz night" at Melody Inn last evening was a huge success, the colored, flickering rays of the crystal ball casting a bright glow over the happy scene. The judges for the dances were: Mr. and Mrs. Max Kerneghan, Mrs. Rod Davis, Miss Gwen Hewett and Mr. Cliff Carruthers. The prize winners were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sedgwick, best original waltz; Miss Hazel Jackson and Mr. Francis Hewett, best modern interpretation.

A program of a similar nature is planned for every Friday night until September 20, when all the winners will compete for a loving cup.

EASTERN STAR HOLD FAREWELL SEND-OFF

Present Miss Nellie Sedgwick With Lodge Ring As Token of Esteem.

The ladies of the Eastern Star L.O.B.A. spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Sproat, George street, last evening in honor of Miss Nellie Sedgwick, a valued and helpful member of the lodge, who is leaving shortly to make her home in Norwood.

The evening was spent in music and some splendid contests. The judges were Mrs. T. Sproat and Mrs R. J. Manley. The prizes being won by Mrs. George Rowe and Miss Laura Parker. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. E. Huffman and Miss T. Sproat.

Presented With Ring

Before the close of the evening Miss Sedgwick was asked to come forward, while Mrs. F. Brown read the address and Miss Olive Curtis presented her with an emblem ring of L.O.B.A. Order.

THOMAS BECOMES GUEST OF GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Visit Connaught Races with Sir William and Lady Clark

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal in the British Government, arrived in tOtawa this morning. With Mrs. Thomas, who is accompanying him on his Canadian trip, Mr. Thomas drove to Government House, where they are to stay while in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were luncheon guests of Sir William and Lady Clark at the home of the British High Commissioner. During the afternoon they visited Connaught Park Races in company with Sir William and Lady Clark.

The past winter was the most severe in Poland for the past 103 years. Sixty per cent. of the fruit trees and nursery stock in that country perished in the cold weather.

WINDS FAVORING HUGE ZEPPELIN EXPECTED IN TOKYO ON MONDAY

Weather Reports Say Graf May Encounter Typhoon Near Japan.

Saving Two of Five Motors.

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 17. — (Canadian Press)— The Hamburg American Line received a wireless message from the Graf Zeppelin this afternoon stating that Dr. Hugo Eckener expected to arrive in Tokyo Monday night mid-European time, or presumably some time Monday afternoon Eastern Standard Time.

Dr. Eckener informed the station he was using only three of his five motors because of the favorable wind blowing over Siberia.

He said the motors were showing no stain and that all was well on board.

TOKYO, Aug. 17. —(Canadian Press).—Japanese Gvernment wireless stations tonight began picking up the air liner Graf Zeppelin as she steadily drew nearer Japan on her round the world flight.

Typhoon in Path

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Uncertain weather conditions and possibility of the Graf Zeppelin's encountering a typhoon as it neared Japan were reported here to-day in advices from Tokyo.

The Zeppelin works' radio station has listened constantly to messages from The Graf, the most plain being to Irkutsk and Turuchansk.

Russian Planes Out

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Radio despatches from Tobolsk to-day said the Graf Zeppelin, at 9.00 a.m. (2 a.m. eastern standard time), was flying at 85 east longitude, 60 north latitude, at about 3,000 feet altitude. Russian aviators who met the ship from Tobolsk said its speed was reduced. The position was about 200 miles due north of Tomsk.

Cow Dies As Result Of Earth Tremors

WARKWORTH, Aug. 17—The earthquake, felt so distinctly in this village, was responsible for the death of a valuable Jersey cow, the property of Lorenz Hepling of Cramahe township. The cow was a thoroughbred animal of a temperamental disposition. While milking it early Monday morning, Mr. Hepling felt the a tremor of the earth and the next instant the bovine uttered a low moan and dropped dead at his feet.

ABANDON ALL HOPE FOR LOST WOMAN

Posse of Over One Hundred Search Bush in Vain For Member of Berry Party.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.) —The search for Alvina Dirwood, 83-year-old woman, from Easton's Corners, lost somewhere in the district surrounding her home, was virtually abandoned to-day, when it was though that she had wandered into the bushland where a posse of nearly 100 men has searched for two days.

Belief that the aged woman had entered the swamp was based on the finding of a small pile of twigs near the edge of the bush, where it was thought she had endeavored to make a fire while waiting for other members of the berry-picking party from whom she became separated.

HAVELOCK GIRL ATTACKED BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANT

Miss Eva Aboud Suffering From Nervous Collapse Following Encounter.

POLICE ON LOOKOUT.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—Eva Aboud, 12-year-old daughter of Abraham Aboud, drygoods merchants, was struck and badly frightened by an unknown man who tried to force an entrance to the Aboud apartment on Thursday evening.

The young girl was alone in the house, and she answered a sharp and repeated knock at the door. When she opened the door a man struck her in the face and she reeled backward. She, retaining her presence of mind, quickly slammed the door, and it automatically locked.

The girl crouched on the floor beside the door in pain and fear, and the man continued to pound and knock, making threats upon her life unless she opened it. After several minutes he left.

When the girl's parents returned they found her in a state of near collapse. She described her assailant as a young man of medium height wearing a dark suit and a soft straw hat. Police are searching for him.

HEATED CONTROVERSY FOLLOWS WARKWORTH PAVING PROJECT

Main Street Taxpayers Tangle Over Width of Amesite To Be Laid.

PETITION CIRCULATED.

WARKWORTH, Aug. 17—(Examiner Correspondence).—The usual calm that pervades this peaceful village has been rudely broken by a heated controversy over the street paving. The United Counties awarded the contract for paving the main street. The contract called for a strip of Amesite twenty feet wide, the expense to be borne by the counties.

"Sufficient" said the taxpayer with one hundred feet frontage.

"Not wide enough," said the man who owned a narrow strip of property and whose extra taxes for a full width pavement would be nominal."

There were public meetings, ceremonies, discussions and threats to resort to the courts. A petition signed by two-thirds of the property owners contained a technical error inasmuch as it did not conform to the by-law and was invalidated. Undaunted the proposement of a wider pavement circulated another petition. The protestants started counter petitions asking for twenty-eight feet. Property owners deeded a portion of their property to their wivs or sons, thus giving them extra votes. A compromise gives the business section forty feet and the residential section twenty-eight. The east entrance to the village was not included in the original contract, and the cost of paving this street, with the exception of a forty per cent. government grant, must be borne by the village property owners who seem to be unable to agree on this. In the meantime there is considerable dust flying—both verbal and material.

Truck Takes Fire

A truck owned by the Henning Co., of Oshawa and used for drawing gravel for the Toronto Amiesite Co., caught fire from an overheated engine, while driving through the street. The fire department saved the tires.

IDEAL HARVEST WEATHER HOLDS

Frost Injury To Grain Crops Is Denied, As Only Green Stuff Suffered.

CUTTING IS GENERAL.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—Ideal conditions have prevailed during the past week for the harvesting of Western Canada's crop, and in many areas of the prairie grain belt cutting was general yesterday, with threshing in a few districts reported.

Despite reports flashed to the grain pits of the continent during the past two mornings, the frosts reported have caused no injury to field crops. Sections of Manitoba recorded frost Wednesday night and also on Tuesday, but the only serious damage reported was to tender green vegetables.

So far, there has been an ample supply of men for the harvest fields.

KNOWLES BRINGS WHEAT ESTIMATE

Claims Wheat Harvest May Not Yield in Excess of 210,000 Bushels.

TORONTO, Ont., August 17 (Canadian Press). — Concluding a 2,600-mile trip through Western Canada, Vernan Knowles, chief of new staff of The Mail and Empire, believes that any estimates of the 1929 wheat harvest which exceed 225,000,000 bushels are excessive, and states that the final figures may show only 210,000,000 bushels.

He summarizes as follows:

Alberta, 60,000,000 bushels to 65,000,000 bushels.

Saskatchewan, down to 130,000,000 bushels.

Manitoba, down to 30,000,000 bushels.

Total: 220,000,000 bushels to 225,000,000 bushels.

EAGLE LAKE CLOSED TO ALL FISHING FOR THREE YEAR PERIOD

TORONTO, Ont. ,Aug. 17.—(C. P.)—Eagle Lake, in the Townsh pof Anstruther, County of Peterborough ,has been closed to all fishin gfor three years. An order-in-council ratifying this action on the part of the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries has been passed by the Government.

The waters of the lake will be restocked with brown trout, Donald McDonald, Deputy Minister, said.

FORMER REEVE PASSES AWAY

Francis James Moore Dies at Lakefield After Lingering Illness.

PROMINENT FIGURE.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence). — Francis James Moore, former Reeve of Lakefield, died at his home on Friday after an illness of several months. Mr. Moore was seventy-six years old. In his day of public service he had been a member of the Council and was Reeve for several terms, during one of which the first concrete sidewalks were laid here. He was a member of Clementi Lodge A. F. and A. M., and for many years was a fish and game inspector. He is survived by his wife and seven children, three sons, Arthur of Kenora, Harry of Vancouver, and Norman of Lakefield, and four daughters, Ella of Lakefield, Mrs. Grant McMillan of Winnipeg, Mrs. Bentley Wallis of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Laverne Walton of Toronto. The funeral announcement will be made later.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the family residence, Bridge street, leaving at 2.30 for the Lakefield cemetery.

EARL TO HELP HOUSING PLAN

Athlone With Princess Alice Will Invest $5,000 For Better Houses in Slums.

PROMOTE BETTER HEALTH.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable Via Reuters.)—At the conclusion of the housing week exhibition here to-day the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General, and Princess Alice, his wife, intimated their desire to invest $2,500 each in the Housing League Utility Company. This organization was registered with the object of providing decent houses for the poorest section of the population, into whose needs Princess Alice personally enquired during exhibition week. The exhibition was held to stress the grave danger to the health of the community from slums.

WESTERN FIRE DEATH TOTALS CLIMB TO SIX

Washington National Forests Succumb ,Adding Three Lives To Timber Losses.

DOUKHOBOR FEARED LOST

Over 50,000 Acres Burned Over Already in Three Forests Alone.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—Spurred on by unconfirmed reports that forest fires in Washington had claimed three more lives, an army of nearly 2,000 men yesterday fought desperately to bring the blazes under control.

More than 50,000 acres had been blackened in the Chelan National Forest and Okanogan and Ferry Counties in Washington.

Two Missing Two Days.

Missing since Thursday and feared to have fallen victim to the flames P. C. Graham from the Federal District Forestry Office in Portland, and Ermannie St. Louise, Chelan youth, were being sought by fire crews.

The missing men had been fighting the fires in Chelan National Forest, which now have covered 18,000 acres. Word was brought to Wenatchee, centre of the fire-harassed region, that an unnamed Doukhobor from Grand Forks, B.C., had been burned to death while battling fires on the Canadian side of the Colville National Forest.

Six Die in 10 Days.

If the reports are substantiated, it will bring the toll of men who have died fighting forest fires in the region to six within the last 10 days. Ludwig Karndt, a recent arrival in British Columbia from Germany, died last night in a hospital at Nelson, B.C., from injuries received while fighting the Kootenay forest fires.

SHIPPERS WANT ALL FRUIT IN CERTAIN GRADE

Are Trying To Eliminate All Unclassified Classes if Possible.

INFERIOR FRUIT TIME PAST.

Fruit Must Not Only Be Good But Must Look Good.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—One of the most difficult problems confronting apple shippers lies in the fact that quantities of "unclassified" fruit finds its way to the market, said O. B. Sims, Buffalo, chairman of the grades committee at the 34th annual International Apple Shippers' Association convention here yesterday.

"If there were some way," he said, in presenting his report, "in which the unclassified brand could be eliminated, substituting in its place certain lower grades, we would like to see that done. Your committee does not suggest the desirability of shipping 'culls' or 'cider apples,' but we would like to see such fruit, which is now shipped as unclassified brought under the jurisdiction of specified lower grades. The time is past when an inferior product can be sold to the people—it must not alone be good within itself, but it must look good. At present, in regard to this unclassified fruit, it is a case of 'let the buyer beware'."

Some statistics revealed in the committee's report showed that Canada and United States last year exported more than 4,000,000 barrels and 11,000,000 boxes of apples into 33 separate countries.

It was decided at to-day's session that the 1930 convention will be held in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

OSHAWA WOMAN FOUND IN LAKE

Mysterious Boating Accident Partially Cleared Up With Finding of Body.

MAN STILL MISSING.

OSHAWA, Ont., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—With the finding of the body of Mrs. Robert Beckwith, Oshawa in Lake Ontario five miles east of here yesterday, much of the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Mrs. Beckwith, her baby boy aged five months, her mother Mrs. Edwin Gomme and Robert Stapely on July 16 has been cleared.

The bodies of Mrs. Gomme and baby Robert were found the day after the party had gone out in the lake for a row. No trace could be found, however, of the bodies of Mrs. Breckwith and Stapely and this led to the circulation of many rumors which have now been dispelled.

With the finding of the body search parties immediately set out from here in an effort to locate Stapely's body. It is believed the storms of Thursday washed it up and that it will do likewise with the last victim's body.

WILL DRAG FOR BODY.

WINDSOR, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—A tug equipped with grappling irons left Toledo, Ohio, yesterday afternoon on a renewed hunt for the body of John Kasper, missing co-pilot of the Miss Detroit.

$1,000 DEFICIT CAMPBELLFORD OLD HOME WEEK

Accounts Balanced At Meeting of Executive of Association Last Night.

REPORTS READ.

Understood Committee Will Request Town Council to Meet the Difference.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 17 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—All that remains of the Old Home Week now is a sheaf of accounts payable, and the fond memories of the greatest celebration Campbelliford has ever known. The list of accounts is of formidable length, but so also is the list of receipts. When all the money is collected and the last account is paid, the executive will find that the expenses were slightly heavier than the revenue. This difference will amount to approximately one thousand dollars, depending entirely on one outstanding account. Before the week began, the Municipal Council agreed to finance the week to the extent of $7,500. At their next meeting they will be asked to assume the loss of less than one-seventh of that amount.

Executive Meeting.

The meeting of the Executive of the Association was called by ex-Mayor Kingston, chairman of the committee, for eight o'clock last night in the council chamber. Those present were: G. A. Kingston, S. H. Neale, J. F. McGregor, J. N. Stone, J. J. O'Sullivan, Major Bygott, N. A. MacColl, H. N. Carr, A. T. Linton, W. S. Wiggins, J. Roy Smith, Dr. O. C. Watson, J. C. Birmingham, A. J. Meyers. The proceedings were opened in the usual way of reading the minutes of the last meeting. As the shortest and most efficient route to business, the report of the treasurer, S. H. Neale, was heard. His financial statement was correct up to Thursday evening, August 15th. There were several accounts received since that time, which he had listed, but his balance did not include them. He said he would prepare another statement as soon as all the accounts were in. This statement would be ready for the Council at their next regular meeting. The financial reports of the various committees were not very enlightening, since some represented the net profit or loss, and others the gross amounts. Some committees had paid all their accounts before making their cash return to the treasury, while others had simply returned cash and accounts and left the treasurer to attend to the payments. After including all receipts and expenditures right up to the time of the meeting last night, the mathematical result was a loss for the week. The figures last night were: Total receipts, $4,616.07; total expenditures, $5,891.60. Thus there is a deficit of $1,275.53. There is, however, an outstanding account for $295.25, not yet paid. When this money is received, the total deficit will amount to $980.28.

The statement of the treasurer was accepted and the committee unanimously expressed their appreciation of his efforts. The formal motion to present the financial statement to the Municipal Council with the request that they meet the deficit, was made by A. J. Meyers and N. Alex. MacColl. Althugho nothing definite was recorded, it was understood that another meeting of the Executive will be held as soon as the final financial report is prepared.

General Confusion Is Reported In Egypt As Proposals Of New Treaty Are Understood

LONDON, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press).—An alarmist cable regarding the situation in Egypt, following proposals for an Anglo-Egyptian treaty, has been received by the Daily Express, whose correspondent, C. V. J. Ketchum, reported from Alexandria.

"There is general uneasiness in the country, and foreigners are the principal sufferers. This fact is borne out in the case of the General Motors Company, the whole of whose staff of collectors have resigned this week in a body rather than go into the interior again at the risk of their lives."

The despatch continues: "No more devastating blow to British influence and British prestige generally in the Near East has ever been threatened by the British Government than that embodied in proposals of the treaty.

British interests, it declares, backed by Italians, French and Greeks, are mobilising to fight the treaty to a finish. Protest will be made by the foreign community on the ground that the natives have not reached the stage where they can run the country.

ENGLISH TEACHER CRITICIZES SYSTEM

Says Exchange Idea Not Any Particular Advantage That She Can See.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—When Miss Dorothy Westwood of London, England, spent the past season teaching in Toronto under the exchange system, she expected suggestions would be asked for and in turn was ready to receive lessons from the Canadian school system. But while she was at the Charles Fraser school in Toronto she was not once asked by the inspector what she thought of things, or asked for any suggestion. "I can't see that my stay there did any good whatever," she said, in an interview on the deck of the liner on which she returned to England.

At another Toronto school, however, Miss Westwood and the inspector regularly chatted about the work and the difference from the educational system in England. The result from that, Miss Westwood said, "Is that I take back to England improved views on general education and perhaps have left something helpful for the Toronto schools. But unless there is some co-operation between the exchange teacher and the inspector there is no sense in the exchange," she declared.

The mixed education in Canada was praised by Miss Westwood. The English plan of dividing the boys and girls at an early age was criticized. "It is more enjoyable teaching both at the same time. The teacher finds it easier and more natural for her, and no doubt the children benefit by the companionship. I think the English are making a mistake in keeping the sexes separate in its schools."

Despite the Canadian examination result statistics, Miss Westwood declared she found Canadian boys brighter than the girls, the "boys periodically sparkling where the girls only shone with a steady dull glow, and succeeded by slow, plodding methods."

Commenting on the criticism by Miss Westwood, Mrs. Edith L. Groves, Chairman of the Toronto Board of Education, states she had never before heard such criticism made regarding the exchange system. An opportunity was afforded Miss Westwood while at the Charles Fraser School to express opinions and to give suggestions at teachers' meetings held regularly at the school, said Mrs. Groves. The inspector is a busy man with a regular routine and Mrs. Groves could not understand why Miss Westwood should expect the inspector to visit the exchange teacher and ask for suggestions.

Splendid co-operation exists between the exchange teachers and the inspectors, contended Mrs. Groves in answer to Miss Westwood's criticism that "unless there is co-operation between the exchange teacher and her inspector there is no sense in the exchange.

THREE MISSING AS BOATS SINK

Thousand Island Pleasure Craft and Tiny Speedster Go Down Inside 10 Minutes.

65 PEOPLE ON STEAMER.

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y., August 17 (Canadian Press). — W. Charles Lipe, Syracuse millionaire, and his wife, and Captain Ford Dodge, pilot of his speed boat were believed to have drowned in the St. Lawrence one mile from here last night in a crash when sent the craft and an excursion boat carrying 65 passengers to the bottom.

While all the persons on the Thousand Islander, the sightseeing boat, were believed to have been picked up, an immediate check-up was begun. The Lipe speed boat, the Giggle, sank immediately after the collision, and the larger boat went down in ten minutes.

Captain Rogers of the excursion boat, said he did not see Lipe's boat approaching, and was unable to understand how the Syracusian craft struck his boat, as it was lighted in all parts and its powerful searchlight was on.

DRIVE OUT PORPOISE BY AIRPLANE

A hundred thousand porpoises are driving the cod and salmon from the lower St. Lawrence and as a result habitants whose sole means of livelihood is fishing are destitute. To meet the situation the Quebec department of game and fisheries, through Major (Dr.) Louis Cuisiniere, is attempting by aerial attack to drive the porpoise to other waters. The photographs ABOVE show: (1) The directors of the fight from the air. Standing at the LEFT is Major Cuisiniere, president of the Laurentide Air Express and generalissimo of the attacking squad, and beside him, Lieut. E. O. "Fizz" Champagne, chief pilot, and seated is the bombing officer, Lieut. J. A. Gagnon. No. (2) shows His Grace Mirie Leventoux Julien, bishop at Labrador, who blessed the plane. (3) Shows the bomb tube from which 60-pound delayed action bombs were dropped by Gagnon, and (4) shows the explosion in the water. The bombs were exploded by fuses about 30 seconds after striking the water. During that time the porpoise—fastest fish in the world—usually got so far out of range as to be safe. To meet this situation percussion bombs which explode the instant they strike the water have been ordered.

Sunday School Lesson

The Return from Captivity

Golden Text: The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad.—Ps. 126: 3.

Lesson Text: Ezra 1:1-11. Study also Psalm 126: 1-6; Jeremiah 29: 10-14. Time 536 B. C. Babylon.

The word of Jehovah is sure, it will be fulfilled to the very letter—1-4.

Seventy years before, the Holy Spirit had moved Jeremiah (2 Pet. 1:21) to say that in seventy years Jehovah would visit his people in Babylon and cause them to return to Jerusalem (Jer. 29:10; 25:12-14; 33;7-13). Now that word is about to be fulfilled literally and exactly. Every prophecy of the Bible is sure of literal fulfilment. There are many prophecies of the Bible that have not been fulfilled as yet, but they will be in their time, just as so many have been fulfilled already. Fulfilled prophecies is one of God's own seals upon the inspiration of the Bible. The infidels in the church and out of it have done their best to read the prophecies out of the Bible and their fulfilment out of history; but they have failed utterly. Some of the arguments that they have ventured upon in their desperation are pitiably ludicrous. They serve to illustrate what fools wise men become when they undertake to fight against God (Ro. 1:22). What a remarkable way God took to fulfil His own word. He first brings to the front a man not yet born when the prophecy was made, and then puts it into his heart to fulfil His word, "The Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus." God has a strange but mighty way of moving upon the hearts of men. He can prompt a king to help his people (Prov. 21:1; Ex. 7:27; 6:22). He can put it into the heart of a rich man to send help to a poor man just at the hour of his need. He does it today as well as in the days of Ezra. Modern Christian history abounds in illustrations of this well established fact. The man who is in league with God can bring all the kings of earth to his assistance. Though it was "the word of the Lord" that was fulfilled at this time, it had been spoken "by the mouth of Jeremiah," but it was not Jeremiah's word. What Jeremiah says it not his own word, but God's, and so what Isaiah says, and Paul and John say. This is a very different theory of inspiration from that which is popular with "advanced thinkers" today but it is the true theory, as history abundantly demonstrates. "The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth": Cyrus was a wise man to recognize the source of his power. Whether or not Daniel had called his attention to the prophecies that so long before had mentioned him by name (Is. 44: 26-28; 45: 1-6) we cannot tell with certainty. But somehow Cyrus had been brought to a recognition of the great truth that all power emanates from God (Comp. Jer. 27:6, 7; Dan. 2:37; 1-4; 25;32). It would be well if men of wealth and influence and power today recognized this truth (Dan. 5:19-21). Cyrus not only recognizes the source of his great power, but also his obligations to obey and serve Him who had placed him in his exalted position. Many there are who, theoretically at least, acknowledge God as the giver of all they have, but they do not recognize their obligation to obey Him in practical life. Jehovah's charge of Cyrus is found in the prophecy of Isaiah (Is. 44:26-28; 45:12,13). There are those today who would have us believe that this prophecy of Isaiah is of later date, but Cyrus, who lived 2,400 years nearer the time, did not think so. But these very wise men of today have found out what has been hidden from all the good and great and wise all these years. "It is better not to know so many things than to know so many things that are not so." "His God be with him," Cyrus could wish for nothing better for those who were to go up. That wish included everything. If God was with them, no one could be against them (Ro. 8:31). And they could be sure that God would be with them; for He has promised to be with those who obey and serve Him (Josh. 1:9; 1 Chron. 28:20; Mat. 28:20; Heb. 13:5). Every one in every place was to co-operate in sending God's people of that place to Jerusalem to do the work. Ample provision was to be made for every need.

The leaders of Judah and Benjamin responded promptly and heartily to the decree of Cyrus. Those who went were those "whose spirit God had stirred," God had first stirred up the spirit of Cyrus to make the proclamation (2Chron. 36:22) and now God's Spirit stirred up the people to carry it out (cf. Neh: 2:12; Prov. 16: 1; Phil. 2:13). The purpose of the return was religious rather than political to "build the house of Jehovah which is in Jerusalem." Every one on every hand eagerly co-operated and strengthened their hands. Seldom is such universal co-operation seen in the work of God. There was cheerful giving on every hand (cf. 2 Cor. 9:7). The sacred vessels that had belonged to the house of Jehovah but which Nebuchadnezzar had carried away in the sack of the city and had desecrated them by putting them in the house of his gods, and which Belshazzar had further desecrated to adorn his heathen debauch (Dan. 5: 2-4), were brought forth by Cyrus and restored to their proper use. What Cyrus did, he did with a hearty good will. These were entrusted to Sheshbazzar. Shesbazzar is the Persian name of Zerubbabel. There were 5,400 vessels in all, but in the numbers specified in vs. 9, 10, there were but 2,499; persumably only the chief vessels are specified, spoons, etc., being omitted. The list is given in Esdras 2: 13, 14, which sums up to 5,469.

THE VALUE OF A LIBRARY

By F. M. D.

It often amazes me to find how many people there are who never darken the doors of a library. Very intelligent people many of them are, too. Men and women well-known in business and social circles, but whose lives are so circumscribed by the tightly-drawn bands of work-a-day duties or gaiety that they are unable to see beyond their confines and to realize the fact that a very much larger world is throbbing and pulsating outside their own little principality.

There is no other public utility that is at all comparable to a library. It is in a class by itself, possessing as it does the keys that unlock the gates of knowledge of all industries. But a library, in order to be thoroughly well-equipped, must not be limited entirely to the accumulation of books. This is not the be-all and end-all of a librarian's task. There are very many other avenues of usefulness that he can explore and lay open to his patrons. One of the most important of these is the proper tabulation and collection of brochures and pamphlets on various subjects. Government publications, both federal and provincial, are especially valuable and should be religiously preserved. Clippings from papers are also of the greatest use, whether they deal with politics or are of a miscellaneous character.

Complete Fyles of Papers.

A third very important factor is the preservation of the local papers, as well as those of larger centres, like Toronto and Montreal. In our own Library we have, what many other libraries of larger size have not, complete fyles of the New York Times for the past five or six years and indices, in bound volumes, giving every item in those fyles for that length of time. Thus we have virtually a complete index to the chief items of world importance occurring within that period.

Still another valuable aid that we possess is our Readers Guide to articles appearing monthly in the best magazines and periodicals. For the past eighteen years these have been preserved and form a complete help to the seeker, whether he be interested in materials for a debate or is engaged in any sort of literary work.

Examples could be given of many other forms of usefulness that a library furnishes, but exigencies of space demand that these should be merely mentioned and not enlarged upon. The Library furnishes facilities for seekers after employment. Addresses of firms throughout Canada, the U. S. or Great Britain can be obtained in short order. No matter what the industry. This is only one of the features of our reference department in which we possess as useful and comprehensive a set of books as can be found in many larger libraries. Our encyclopaedias are up-to-date, and in the Oxford Dictionary we possess beyond doubt or cavil the finest example of its kind to be found in the world.

If nothing has been said of our children's department, it is because it merits an article to itself. It is doing a great work in drawing the interest of the young people of Peterborough, and there are very few parents whose children make use of its privileges who will not say that it has proved a boon and a blessing.

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO MAKE PICTURE

Game Conservation Objective of Government in Producing Film.

"The Fish Hog" is the temporary title of a game conservation picture which the Ontario Motion Picture Branch, under the direction of Major G. E. Patton, placed in production the first of this week. The story is by Merrill Denison, Canadian playwright and author. The scenes will be laid in the Lake of the Woods and Temagami country, with a few shots from the provincial bass hatcheries at Mount Pleasant thrown in for good measure. A special cast has been engaged for the production. The picture is being made especially for the purpose of aiding game conservationists in their ridding the country of that type of angler known as the "fish hog." It is planned, it is understood, to circulate the film not only in Ontario but also among those sections of the United States which yearly send many tourist fishermen to Ontario lakes and streams for sport.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1929

EVENINGS LENGTHEN.

In the woods the ferns have faded, and here and there a splash of red in the maples forewarns us of fall. On the river ruddy suns are sinking earlier, and wild ducks, black ducks that raised their brood nearby, fly here and there to other marshes. A king fisher watches silently from a bare limb, poised above the water that moves so gently by the roads; and a lanky crane, finished its evening forage, takes wing with a soft, feathery sound of heavy flight. Shadows deepen along the west shore line, and the elms seem to fold their arms for sleep. A cow lows in the distance, and thoughts turn to home. A heavy-loaded wagon creaks across the field. Up the river a camp-fire glows brighter as the light dims. Another August day begins to drowse with its content repletion. The daisies seem to droop, and the golden rod loses its burnish. Night will soon tuck into its dark folds the trees and the river and the fields.

ANOTHER SENATE VACANCY.

The vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Sir Edward Kemp brings up the question again of Peterborough's claim to representation in the Upper Chamber where there are now five seats to be filled. It is likely that the new Senators will be chosen from the Liberal party, and various sections of the Province will naturally look for a share of these honors.

Three or four prominent Liberals in Toronto have already been mentioned for Sir Edward Kemp's seat, but Premier King has appointed three Liberals to the Senate from Tory Toronto within the last few years. They are the Hon. John Lewis, the Hon. W. H. McGuire and the Hon. J. H. Spence.

This recognition of the Liberalism of the Queen City is ample proof that it has not been overlooked, and suggests that other parts of the Province are due for consideration. Both parties have chosen to pass over Peterborough men whose life-long allegiance and political experience deserved the rewards that were bestowed elsewhere.

In spite of those omissions by both Conservative and Liberal Governments ,there is still hope that Premier King will restore the balance of senatorial representation by an appointment from Peterborough's Liberals.

GIVE COUNCIL SYSTEM A CHANCE.

Both in time and mood the mid-summer holiday season is far removed from the period of municipal stock-taking and the business of choosing a new civic administration at the end of the year. But a recent address here on the commission form of government suggests that concern for the management of our civic affairs is usually at close call in our minds. Some citizens, of course ,are incorrigible shirkers in this respect. They neglect even to vote at the municipal elections. They might have difficulty in naming the present aldermanic board, and as for the details of raising money for carrying on local improvements and simply paying for our community utilities, some citizens are aware only of the tax rate, and that knowledge is forced upon their attention. Possibly these indifferent ones are fewer than we sometimes fear.

At any rate our meditation as citizens of our immediate community turn sometimes to the ideal forms of managing local affairs. And we persuade ourselves that some kind of commission, a board of three men or even one manager, would be an improvement on our traditional method. Possibly it would, but it is more than possible that we could easily increase the results from our present aldermanic system if more of the citizens took a keener and more active interest in civic affairs the whole year through.

Leaving the city's business to the willing few imposes the inevitable penalty which deliberate neglect invites, except when these few are capable of carrying on alone. But the consequences are the more serious when incompetent men are entrusted with the city's administration. And the responsibility for the resulting stagnation, if not actual retrogression, falls squarely upon the citizens who are content with nomination of incompetents for office.

Nomination day in the city's calendar has too often approached a comedy, and the worst offenders against the community's welfare are those citizens who would propose for the mayoralty or for aldermanic posts men whom they must know to be lacking in qualifications for the position. That is one time when silence would be golden, and when the temptation to assume the brief importance of nominating a candidate should be shunned. It may be argued that usually it is difficult to obtain sufficient candidates for an election; but that might be all the more reason for refraining from nominating anybody for positions that require outstanding men if we are to achieve the progress the people of Peterborough desire and which they believe could be accomplished.

That is one weakness of our elective system; any property owner attending the nomination meeting can propose whomever he fancies. Do such citizens realize then that they are proceeding with the business of selecting a board of management in a community enterprise of which they are shareholders? And do they think of the mayor as the chairman of that directorate? What industrial company would transact its affairs of organization and continuance upon that absurd basis?

The mayor is in a position to give an energetic leadership to the Council; but how many of our mayors during the last twenty-five years have shown the qualities of business experience and initiative which that office really demands?

There have been a few who measured up to the opportunities of the mayoralty. They are still gratefully remembered: but when their terms of one or two years were ended and they were more valuable than ever to the ratepayers, they were virtually forced by a silly precedent to make way for men who contributed nothing by which they are remembered. Their terms were for the most part beautiful blanks, unproductive of any material advancement of this municipal corporation we call Peterborough.

Supposing we adopted the city manager plan; would we elbow him out of the position every year or two no matter how successful he had been? Just to make way for somebody whose main qualification is that he is a "nice man" or a "good fellow"!

Such recollections must convince us that we have not given our elective Council system a fair chance.

THE EDISON CONTEST.

Great interest has been taken in the novel contest arranged by Mr. Thomas A. Edison, to reward the boy giving the best answers to a series of questions submitted. The winner, Wilber B. Huston, is only sixteen years old and the scholarship he has gained entitles him to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, after which he will be specially looked after by Mr. Edison. We do not know what replies he made to the various questions, but he is reported to have told newspaper men that his answer to one of them, "When do you consider a lie to be permissible?" was: "In case of serious trouble, pain and grief, and when you do not benefit in any way." That is a shrewd reply. It would be interesting also to know what this young man would do "if he had a million dollars"—another of the posers on the questionnaire. We have seen some of the published answers to that particular question, and they do not seem to be very clever or imaginative.

Is it right even to tell a lie? It is an old problem, variously answered. Perhaps the safest way is to stick to the hard-and-fast rule never, under any circumstances, to say that which is untrue. Telling the absolute truth, however, is often unpleasant and sometimes causes real distress to others. Would it not be kinder to pretend a little—is not much of the daily conventional politeness a mere pretense? We cannot always say bluntly just exactly what we think, because it would be rude to do so and would cause unnecessary embarrassment. In more serious cases, when is a lie justifiable, if ever? The answer given by the prize-winner is a kindly, unselfish answer: "In case of serious trouble, pain and grief, and when you do not benefit in any way." How many of us would stand that test? Is it not generally the case that a lie is told to excuse or to benefit ourselves? What a splendid thing it would be if we could all be sincerely guided by the principle, never to speak falsely when our own interests would be helped by so doing, but to tell the truth regardless of consequences. The "white lie," or even the deliberate untruth, on the other hand, uttered to spare the feelings or soften the grief or suffering of others, is not so hard to forgive. Undoubtedly, Huston's answer is a good one.—The Hamilton Spectator in an editorial for young people.

THE GERMAN REPUBLIC.

On the tenth anniversary of the Weimar Constitution the chorus of anti-republican comment proper to the occasion sounded even more forced than usual. Sheer repetition is bound to dull the edge of "defeat" and "shame" and other favorite Nationalist epithets descriptive of Germany's present government. This year there is in session an international conference widely regarded as second only in importance to the Versailles Conference. The expected result is nothing less than the final liquidation of the war, in the sense that Germany is to be free of foreign occupation and foreign supervision. The most ardent Nationalist may stop to reflect that the conventional blistering adjectives are hardly pat. Charges of national shame and betrayal are apt to sound grotesque at this particularly impressive moment in the process of Germany's steady return toward equality and prestige among the nations.

Republican institutions came to Germany by default. For years after the collapse of the monarchy the Weimar regime enjoyed hearty support only among the working masses and a comparatively small section of the middle class. Of the latter the greater part was bitterly hostile. As in every other country severely affected by the war, the middle classes suffered badly while the working class emerged or soon made itself noticeably better off than it was before. By an understandable trait of human behavior the German middle classes associated their unhappy condition not with the Hohenzollern regime, which led them into a disastrous adventure, but with the republic, which succeeded to the odium and the ruinous material consequences of the adventure. It was the Kaiser's generals that were defeated, but it was the republic that became a symbol of defeat. The student class, recruited in overwhelming numbers from that section of the middle class which suffered most heavily, reflected the anti-republican sentiment in aggravated form.

Opposition to the republic has by no means died out among the German middle classes, but it has unquestionably shrunk in extent and grown milder. This has followed upon economic recovery, upon the rehabilitation of Germany's position on the Continent, on the resourcefulness and patriotic devotion exhibited by the successive republican Cabinets, and not a little upon the sorry exhibition of Hohenzollern mentality and behavior on such occasions as have offered themselves. During its early years the German Republic was tolerated by perhaps a majority of the German people. To-day it unquestionably enjoys the support of a decisive majority.—New York Times.

A Thought

SILENCE

Every power that fashions and upholds works silently; all things whose life is sure. Their life is calm, silent; the light that moulds and colors all things, and without debate. The stars, which are for ever to endure, assume their thrones, and their unquestioned state.—French.

What To-day Means To You.

WHAT AUG. 17TH MEANS TO YOU "LEO."

If August 17th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 5 a.m. to 8.30 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. The danger period is from 4.30 p.m. to 6.15 p.m.

Nearly all relations in life will be benefited by the influences in force on this date. There will be an atmosphere of goodwill and helplessness, which makes for progress and success. Stability is predicted in business circles.

Children born on this August 17th will have very cautious and secretive natures, and will always be in an intrigue of some kind. They will be very undemonstrative, but will be capable of sincere and deep feelings. They will be loyal, sincere and honest.

You are of a type that will long for retirement at an early age. You do your share, while you are in things, but you will be glad to be out of the "thick and thin" of life, as soon as possible. You dream, work, save, and worry for the time to come when you are "dead wood" and not a live wire. It is your idea of heaven on earth. The realization of your dream, in all probability, will show that you have been chasing a will-o'-the-wisp.

You must fight losing your mental vigour and youthful interests in life. It is by retaining them that you stay young. You must learn to take care of yourself, for neglect to-day will be paid with interest to-morrow. Live in your body's income, and not on its capital. Life is a growth and the last half should be the better half—not a time of degeneration. Do not be too anxious to let go your grip on things! Never be satisfied with what you have done!

You have a stolid and determined mind. When love enters your life, however, you become easily influenced by the person who has aroused the affectionate side of your nature. It is within their power to do you great good or great harm. Choose your mate carefully.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 19.

Suddenly she smiled brightly, her face cleared, and her voice, when she spoke, was brisk and final.

"But you are happy, Hugh?"

"Happier than I've ever been before," he answered simply.

Aileen flinched a trifle, as if he had threatened to strike her; smiled again over the hurt.

"Ah, Hugh, I loved her—I loved Alice!" she whispered quickly. And then, in the cheerful tone she had used before, she added "Well, you're happy. And she's happy, isn't she? That's the main thing—the only thing, after all. And Bert—Bert likes her?"

"Adores her," the man said contentedly.

Mrs. Kavanaugh pursed the fine red line of her lips thoughtfully, narrowed her eyes, looked at him speculatively as if she were going to speak, and checked herself.

"I see—" she presently commented, vaguely. "When I last saw Bert he was frantic at the mere thought of living anywhere else than in Paris," she observed.

"Seems contented enough here now," his father said briefly, a faint uneasiness in his tone.

She marked it, and a strange light came back into her dark, bright eyes.

"Perhaps there's some girl at the bottom of it?" she suggested.

"No," he said, scowling a little; "I don't think so."

"He's mighty good-looking," the woman said simply.

"Yes, he's attractive," his father conceded.

"Attractive! Bert? Why, he's a heartbreaker, Hugh," she protested. "The girls in Paris went crazy about him!"

"I suppose so," Hugh said briefly.

He was looking toward the younger persons who were returning to them. Mrs. Kavanaugh watched instead, his own handsome, serious face.

"Hugh," Beatrice said breathlessly, dropping down on the sand opposite him, sitting childishly on her heels, and with no eyes but for him, "I have been winning everything!"

"She's evidently been out here, early mornings, racing sand fleas," the boy called Larry said darkly.

Beatrice laughed again joyfully and then turned politely to the older woman. "Have you and Hugh begun to catch up?" she asked.

"Just made a beginning," Aileen said, with a slight smile.

"And has Hugh asked you if you'll share a very informal Sunday supper with us?" Beatrice, still like a well-trained child, pursued.

"He hasn't. But if you will, we'll ignore Hugh, Mrs. Challoner," Aileen answered, still almost unsmiling, studying Beatrice with steady, thoughtful eyes.

"Oh, but you mustn't call me Mrs. Challoner," Beatrice protested. And her heart gave a spring of joy. She had looked at Hugh, rather than Aileen, as she spoke, and could see that Hugh was pleased that she and his old friend should begin their acquaintanceship thus cordially.

"That won't be hard," Aileen said, as they all rose.

She felt almost faint with hatred and anger. She had not known until this hour what Houston Challoner meant to her; she had not known how bitterly she resented the intrusion of this red-headed little nobody into the holy of holies of her rare affections.

With all the force of an extraordinarily tenacious and reserved nature she hated Houston's wife. Beatrice's mere neighborhood affronted her, Beatrice, young, slim, quick and unselfconscious, with her frankly flushed, hot face, just like a child's face, and her simple hospitality. She to ask Aileen Kavanaugh to the Challoner house! Her incessant adoring "Hugh" was another thorn, and her insolent suggestion of familiar names. That overture, that comfortable "Oh, but you musn't call me Mrs. Challoner!" should have come from Aileen, of course.

Exquisitely cultured, forty-nine-year old Houston Challoner married to this commoner. Aileen, walking pleasantly between husband and wife, toward the cars, felt her soul teeming with resentment, questions, plots.

When they reached the cottage Beatrice escorted her upstairs, doing the honors of the dusky, airy spare-room happily, looking to towels, powder and brushes, snapping up lights.

"We always forage free on Sunday nights," she exclaimed, "so come down whenever you're ready. Hugh and I'll probably be in the big room—deep in Kreutzmann."

"I remember the Sunday nights in this house," Aileen said deliberately, to hurt her. But Beatrice's bright face did not cloud.

"Of course you do," she conceded cordially. "You'd remember our old Nelly, too?" she added from the doorway.

"And Lewis," Aileen said coldly. "The driver they always had.

"Oh, he's dead, you know. He died of pneumonia, last Christmas," Beatrice explained. And Aileen hated her afresh, hated her for being in touch with even so insignificant a vein of Challoner history as one of the family, while she herself was entirely ignorant of it.

"And what is this Kreutzmann thing?" she asked.

"Why," Beatrice explained eagerly, "this old man named Kreutzmann died—"

"And Hugh is doing a million-dollar memorial?" Aileen asked, as if she knew all about it.

"Well, not exactly," Beatrice corrected, exasperating her afresh. "It's to be a college, out near Santa Barbara somewhere, in California. And Hugh's doing the most beautiful plans—" she finished, her face brightening with every word.

"And what is there in that for him?" Aileen asked unenthusiastically.

"There's a fifty-thousand-dollar prize, but of course it isn't that." Beatrice explained. "It's really," she added, "that he has a sort of inspiration about it, and he's in it heart and soul. And whatever Hugh goes after," she concluded, with a little shy pride, "he seems to get?"

Arthur Kavanaugh had lived a few weeks too long; they had been expensive weeks to the dark-eyed, thin woman who washed her face and brushed her black hair in the warm summery pleasantness of the Challoner's guest room this Sunday night, and heard Beatrice Challoner's happy voice in conversation with her stepson in the hall.

"Bert! Use the upstairs bathroom, will you?"

"Anything to oblige!" And then in a juvenile whine, "Ma, do I have to wash?"

"Yes, dear. You have to do what Mamma tells you to do!" Beatrice's voice said maternally.

"My neck?" pleaded Bert.

"I think I would wash my little neck, darling. There's company tonight!"

Aileen heard them laugh, and then something from Bert was indistinct, and Beatrice answered.

"All mothers call their little boys "darling.'"

There was more mumbling, and then their gay young laughter, and again Beatrice's unmistakable tones:

"I'll take it under consideration, and let you know!"

Hugh came to his door, evidently with some query, for Beatrice said eagerly: "No, let me find them, Hugh; I can put my hand right on them!" And there was the sound of a closing door on either side of the hall and a subdued murmur from Hugh's room.

(To be continued.)

Voice of the People

TWO COURSES ARE OPEN

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: I noticed a letter in The Examiner about the Nicholls Hospital.

The late Mrs. Nicholls created the Nicholls Hospital a private hospital trust for Protestants only.

It was a thing she had a perfect right to do, and one that was no doubt in line with the prevailing outlook of a great many in her day. Her charitable desires were most admirable and her good works do follow her. Had she lived in this day and generation I have no doubt she would have included in her gracious gift all suffering humanity, and permitted the services of all ministers irrespective of religious belief to administer thereto.

The fact remains that to this day the Nicholls Hospital is a private trust and one that is managed privately under the terms of her will, and in which the City and County of Peterborough as corporations and representing the whole community have nothing to say.

These private trustees now seek aid from the City of Peterborough to help on the work of the hospital. The aid to be given is not to be within the control of the City of Peterborough but is to be handed over to the trustees to be administered by them under the terms of the original trust. No doubt the trustees are actuated by the most altruistic of motives, but they are asking the City, or rather the Protestant part of the city to be taxed to a sufficient amount to carry out their projects, and to subject themselves in all matters connected with the sum asked for, to the sole will and ruling of the Trustees.

This to-day is an anachronism and the day has gone past when civic corporation expend moneys, over the final expenditure and general future control of which they have nothing to say—in other words make gifts, and that merely for the benefit of a certain section of the community.

The City of Peterborough has already submitted the question twice to the Protestant citizens, and been twice refused. I would like to ask the city what right they have to raise money by a vote of a section of the community only? And again, if that section of the community did vote the money by what means will the City turn it into cash? I think it will be found that no broker will buy any debentures issued on the vote of only a section of the people, and I doubt very much if a direct tax (income or property) on the property or the income of individuals voting it will stand or can be enforced.

Two courses only are open to the Trustees: One to raise the money by Protestant people of the City, as by the same token was done amongst the Roman Catholics in the case of St. Joseph's Hospital; the other is to apply to the Legislature and turn the Hospital over to the City of Peterborough as a thorough going community institution for the benefit of all citizens irrespective of creed or religion. Yours truly,

A COMMON CITIZEN.

JASPER'S FIRST SETTLERS

James Swift, the first settler of the Jasper valley, now a part of Jasper National Park, is still living within the park limits and his log home is one of the points of interest to visitors to the park.

The photograph shows Mr. and Mrs. Swift, the original pioneers. Towards the close of last century the Swifts built a log home near the base of Mount Pyramid, and year by year the settler brought in his stock from Edmonton over the long 235-mile trail. Beside the mountain he built a mill for grinding flour, planted his potato patch and grain fields and carved his furniture from the forest itself.

Until the coming of the railways "Swift's place" was a landmark for all travellers. Here they were always sure of hospitality, a helping hand in every difficulty and a share in need of his often limited stores. Both Swift and his wife still live in the park.

Mrs. Swift is a highly intelligent woman from Lac Ste. Anne, a skillful worker in Indian embroidery and buckskin, and both she and her husband can tell exciting tales of early days along the famous trail which preceded the railway through the Yellow Head Pass of the Northern Rocky Mountains. — Canadian National Railways Photograph.

INVESTIGATION WILL BE HELD.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—A report published in London yesterday that the Waldron Royal Commision would not hold sessions in that city was emphatically denied yesterday morning by F. W. Griffiths, K.C., Government counsel conducting the inquiry.

"The investigation will go forward in any place where the A.B.C. is known to be organized or to have carried on any activity," he said.

In 1730 a cake was baked for the King of Poland which required 1,800 quarts of wheat flour, 1½ barrels of yeast, 326 quarts of milk, 3,600 eggs and 3 pounds of nutmeg. It was 36 feet long and 16 feet wide.

OILS STRONGER LIST IS FIRM

British American, Imperial and Supertest Up Nearly Two Points.

FAMOUS PLAYERS TO 70

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—Strength in the oils was accompanied by firming in most of the other issues on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning.

Reflecting the strength displayed on Wall street by oils the leading issues here moved forward, British American gaining 1¼ to 59¼, Imperial 1 3-8 to 33½ and Supertest 1 to 36. International Petroleum advanced to 28½ and then moved back to yesterday's close of 27¾. Service Stations was firm and active at 76.

Specialties Strong.

Specialties again provided the display of strength in the other groups. Famous Players reached a new high at 70 after a seven point gain and another new high was reached by Tamblyn which rose 5 to 60, a third new high was recorded by Canada Gypsum which gained 2 to 124 while Canada Dredging went up 2 to 37 and Moore Corporation under good demand added two points also at 34. Eastern Theatres rose 2 to 32 and Steel of Canada 1¼ to 63¼.

Standard Steel Down.

Standard Steel continued in reaction, losing another 4 to 130 on small demand. Little change was found in International Nickel, steady at 51¾, Walker's also firm at 18¼ and Brazilian, slightly off to 72½. Power Corporation was stronger among the utilities, adding 2½ at 135½.

Week-end Profit-taking Retards Resumption of Upward Price Movement.

OIL GROUP ACTIVE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 17 (Canadian Press). — Heavy week-end profit-taking retarded the resumption of the upward price movement in to-day's brief session of the stock market. Buying operations centred largely in a select group of oil, public utility, railroad, aviation, and motor shares, with some sharp gains also recorded by a few high-priced specialties. Despite the absence of many large traders on extended week-end trips, trading was fairly heavy in volume.

The establishment of new high levels by several of the regular industrial averages so soon after the drastic break of a week ago yesterday tended to revive speculative confidence. In view of the 6 per cent. rediscount rate by the New York call money during the next few Federal Reserve Bank the rate for weeks is expected to be stabilized just above that level.

AJAX HEADS OILS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—Canadian Press Strengthening in the higher-priced metals, further weakening of cheap favorites and firmness in the oils group characterized the half-day session of the Standard Mining Exchange.

Falconbridge was active at 13.00, 25 cents higher than yesterday's close, Lake Shore was up 40 to 26.50, McIntyre 25 to 16.50, Dome 30 to 10.75, Hudson Bay 20 to 19.50. There was further yielding in Newbec, 1½ to 38½ and in Amulet, 16 to 2.39 while Arno was only fractionally better at 44½.

Ventures Gains 54.

Ventures was strong and active, rising 50 to 8.50 and there were gains of 50 to 965 in Sudbury Basin and 5.59-7.40 in Sherritt Gordon. Recessives in the medium priced group were Pend Oreille which lost 25 to 6.00, Base Metals, 15 to 5.60, Teck Hughes 5 to 7.85 and Hollinger 10 to 6.90.

Ajax Up 13.

Ajax rising to its new high of 3.40, led a genera limproving trend in the oils. Chemical Research gained 50 to 16.25, Calgary and Edmonton 50 to 7.75; Home 75 to 23.75, and Associated Gas and Oil 20 to 3.65.

This group reflected the prosperity in oils on the Toronto and New York exchanges.

PLENTY OF EXCITEMENT ON CANADIAN MARKETS

Skyrocketing Prices Provide Bullish Demonstrations During Past Few Days.

IS IT A FLASH IN PAN?

Credit Is Tight But Traders Appear Well Furnished With Funds.

(By A. D. O'Halloran, Special to The Examiner).—Those who are looking for a resumption of the upward movement of Canadian security prices found plenty of encouragement in the actions of the Dominion markets this week. Bullish demonstrations were provided by both Montreal and Toronto with spectacular advances by individual stocks and a spreading of public interest to a wider range of securities was witnessed.

The week may not be indicative of a bull market this fall, but it does go to prove the public is a long way from losing interest. Skyrocketing of Standard Steel, DeForest-Crosley, power stocks, oils, and others was the most impressive display of strength in months and was reminiscent of the hectic days of last fall when the movement toward higher levels was at its height. There was more excitement crammed into the final days of the week than in the entire month of July, and August so far. The summer dullness evaporated in short order, and the entire complexion of the markets changed quickly.

It takes the public to make a market and unless the period under review was a flash in the pan plenty of action is in store for the immediate future. The extent to which it will be carried, however, is another question. To-day credit is tight and there are not sufficient funds available for speculative purposes to permit of greatly increased activites on the stock markets. Of course the banks may relent from their present attitude and meet part of the demand for money. Traders themselves are well furnished with funds and in a position to pay for a large portion of their purchases with cash, thus reducing the amount of call money that would ordinarily be required and improving collateral by providing the banks with a greater margin of points between the loaning the market value.

Industrial and commercial operations continue at a good pace and the banks naturally have to provide for this first. The small crop in the west will not require as much money to move in 1929 as in 1928 and there will not be the drain on banking resources as in the preceding year.

Credit is Tight

So far the banks are keeping a tight rein on funds and it will be recalled it was just about this time a year ago the markets began to first feel the pinch of tight money that culminated in an increase in the rate of interest in April last for Canadian call money for the first time in about seven years. Increasing industrial operations and preparations for the moving of the 1928 crop were advanced as the reason. This year the industrial situation is the same with the exception corporations in the past year were able to raise additional capital through rights to their shareholders, placing the liquid position of many in such a sound position that they no longer have to depend on the banks for seasonal funds. In fact some are so well fixed they have turned to lending money to the stock markets and reversed the situation. Others who formed the habit of investing in bonds find the income return very low and call loans presenting a better opportunity for investing surplus funds and keeping them liquid for recall on short notice. Traders can then look to corporations to provide some funds for operations.

Many ideas as to the stock markets have been changed in the past four or five years not only on the part of speculators but by officials of Canadian corporations as well. First it was a revision of values upward and then came a realization by executives that a large list of stockholders was an asset for any corporation and once this was realize more favorable treatment had to be accorded them.

A number of the oldest corporations in the Dominion found it necessary to split securities outstanding into smaller units to provide for this increase in shareholders and bring the price down to within reach of the investor of moderate means. This offered an opportunity for investment in the oldest-established corporations of the Dominion at a price that was not prohibitive. As an example there are on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day shares of all the leading oil companies, chain store organizations, milling stocks, bread companies, industrial concerns, including Steel of Canada, and others that have been split within the past few years.

That this movement is far from over is evident from the splits that have taken place in 1929 so far. Imperial Oil, Ford of Canada, Maple Leaf Milling, Canada Bread, International Petroleum, Dominion Stores, Loblaw Groceterias, Canada Gypsum and Alabastine, and Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts are among those to take this action this year and if Street gossip is to be believed there are others which intend following suit very shortly.

Another idea that has had to be revised has been the responsibility of executives to their shareholders. Stockholders as partners, are entitled to full information about the affairs of their company. When the securities were closely held among a very few the practice of publishing a financial statement once a year may have been adequate, but to-day with the securities spread across the Dominion and an active market provided on the Canadian exchanges it no longer serves the purpose.

The policy of issuing periodical reports and writing shareholders along with dividend cheques has been adopted generally, but there are a few yet to fall in line. In this way shareholders are kept informed quarterly by the progress made and therefore have more confidence in their investment and the executives in charge of the corporations' affairs.

It may be the banks will also see the Canadian markets in a different light. Not as they were, but as they are to-day—and provide funds for carrying on daily transactions so necessary to the financial life of the Dominion. The trouble in the past has been the narrowness of the stock markets and impossibility of liquidating loans without causing serious disturbance. With trading not only national but international in scope, loans against Canadian collateral are more liquid than ever before and with a proper call money market in Canada an improvement in the credit situation would be possible.

SMALL DEMAND FOR UNSKILLED LABOR IN CITY

Situation Is General In All Parts of Province, Authorities State.

LIST SWELLING.

Few Calls Are Coming From Farmers For Help.

Peterborough is feeling the wave of unemployment that is commoh through the province. This week the Labor Bureau reports a surplus of unskilled laborers, but the situation is not nearly as acute in this city as in the cities of Toronto, Oshawa, or Walkerville.

There is generally a wave of unemployed non-skilled men about three months later than the present date, but it is unusual that it should occur now. The continued depression of the automobile industry and the lack of harvesters' excursions are blamed for this unusual surplus.

Another factor which is probably behind the unskilled unemployment is the fact that now those who have no intention of continuing in school, after having a holiday, are looking for work, and add their names to an already swelling list.

During this season the call for domestics has somewhat eased up. Many people are away on their vacations, and are not in need of servants. However, as soon as the holiday season is completed, it is expected that there will be the usual high demand with few applicants which will occur later on.

The farmers have slackened up in their demand for help, in fact the situation is the reverse of affairs to what it was some time ago, when there were all kinds of farm positions open, with few willing to go in the country. Now there are more waiting for farm jobs than there are position of this nature open. A few men were placed last week, and at present there are more who are willing to go if the opportunity arises.

Bricklayers Scarce.

On the side of skilled labor, the supply seems to equal the demand in most cases, but there is a scarcity of bricklayers. There are not a great many of this trade in the city, and those who ply it for a living are not of the younger generation, who seem to be rather reluctant to undertake an apprenticeship in the art. For this reason it does not take a great building boom to cause a dearth of these men.

Of the skilled men who are wanted, the list of positions that are open are out-of-town, and has remained unchanged for the last two weeks. It includes such positions as auto mechanics, furniture trimmers, furniture finishers, cabinetmakers, textile color designers, stone masons, cleaners and pressers, and domestics.

STEAMER FALKE HELD IN PORT

COULDN'T CARRY 125 MEN.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Aug. 16. — (C.P.) — The German steamer Falke, which last Sunday landed Venezuelan revolutionists at Cumana, State of Sucre, Venezuela, held an undefined status to-day with charges of piracy on the one hand and protestations of coercion by officers and crew on the other.

The government forbade any intercourse between the local merchants and the steamer and as a result of the failure to receive supplies the ship was being held up. The Venezuelan gavernment has asked that it be considered as a pirate. It was not known what would happen if its officers asked for clearance papers to leave the harbor.

Fought for Liberty.

A Colon, Panama, despatch, said that Guillermo Egea Mier, described as "commander of the rebel gunboat Falke," sent a message to Dr. John R. Wendehake, president of the Venezuelan Centre in Panama, asked him to proclaim to the world that the men who attacked Cumana were fighting only for liberty.

The Falke apparently is of German origin.

Bought by Paris Firm.

HAMBURG, August 16. (C.P.)—The recent owners of the privateersman, Falke, which figured in the Venezuelan insurrection, the Felix Prenzlau, told the Associated Press correspondent to-day that the vessel was bought by a Paris firm whose name was not divulged, acting for unknown foreigners.

Not Paid for in Cash.

The vessel was not paid for in cash but by mortgages and other securities. The Falke's captain was ordered by the Prenzlau Company to proceed to the Port of Spain, Trinidad, and there turn over the vessel with the securities to the owner on payment of the purchase price in cash. Then the crew of twenty was to be shipped back to Germany.

The former owners of the Falke insist the report that 125 revolutionaries were aboard the Falke is an exaggeration as the ship has not accommodation for that number. At the port near Danzig only the new owner and a dozen men went aboard the Falke, it is stated.

CAPABLANCA TAKES CHESS LEADERSHIP

Cupband Star Draws With Gruenfeld—Tartakower Beats Bogoljubow.

CARLSBAD, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 17.—The fourteenth round of the International Chess Masters' tournament yesterday put Jose Capablanca of Cuba in the lead. He drew with Gruenfeld of Austria, Nimzowitsch of Denmark is in third place and was held to a draw by Marshall, the United States champion.

The summary follows:

Gruenfeld, Austria, drew with Capablanca, Cuba; Marshall, United States drew with Nimzowitsch, Denmark; Saemisch, Germany, drew with Dr. Treybal, Czechoslovakia; Czechoslovakia; Gilg, Czechoslovakia drew with Dr. Euwe, Holland; Colle, Belgium, adjourned with Becker, Austria; Dr. Vidmar, Jugoslavia, adjourned with Miss Menchik, Russia; Spielmann, Austria, adjourned with Yates, England; Maroczy, Hungary, defeated Canal, Peru; Tartakower, France, defeated Bogoljubow, Russia; Thomas, England, drew with Rubinstein, Poland; Johner, Switzerland, lost to Mattison, Lavia; adjourned game (thirteenth round) Yates, England, drew with Dr. Vidmar, Jugoslavia.

SISCOE GOLD.

Mill test on sulphide section of vein on 4th level indicates this material will average $10 per ton in gold over 15 foot width. Extremely important.

THAT'S SPEED.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A flying machine capable of making 600 miles an hour has been recently entered for patent papers here. It is based on the latest theories of gravitation, and will raise vertically, speed through the air at a high speed and make France in 4 minutes and New York in less than 24 hours.

BAN AGAINST CONTRACT LABOR MAY DO WHAT 20-YEAR-OLD ACT WAS MEANT TO DO BUT FAILED

New Legislation Will Have Far-Reaching Effect On International Labor Situation.

SECURE PERMITS.

Not the Desire of Government To Prohibit Desirable Immigrants.

By WILFRED EGGLESTON.

(Special to Examiner. Copyright 1929.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Contract labor is put on the banned list of importations into Canada by the order-in-Council passed last week, of which the first announcement came from Hon. Peter Heenan during his Maritime tour.

In effect the new legislation will make it impossible for any employer in Canada to bring in under contract workers from any other country, unless he obtains a permit from the Minister of Immigration.

It is expected that this new law will do what the Alien Labor Act, passed twenty years ago, was meant to do but failed.

The Alien Labor Act will continue in force, but the new amendment to the Immigration Act, as announced by Hon. Peter Heenan, will make it largely superfluous it is believed here.

As a matter of record, it should be explained that the Alien Labor Act was placed on the statutes over twenty years ago in what was evidently retaliation for a similar measure enacted by the United States.

The Alien Labor Act of the United States is one that has been rigidly enforced, as numerous tales of prospective immigrants with job contracts in their pockets would testify. The Canadian act, which was to be enforced, according to its provisions, only against those countries with a similar restrictive law, has been more sporadically enforced.

In any case, the Alien Labor Act of Canada worked only after the damage was done. In a sense it was like shutting the stable door after the horse had escaped. Under its provisions any one could bring action in the courts against an employer importing contract labor from one of the indicated countries. Under the new provisions the contract labor will be prohibited from entering the country.

Because of the unusually heavy interchange of labor at such borders as Niagara Falls and Detroit and the consequent difficulty of enforcing to the letter the provisions of the Alien Labor Act, there has always been a disposition on the part of the Canadian Government to interpret it in a manner likely to be acceptable to the United States.

This conciliatory attitude may be continued under the new order-in-Council, but a check on contract labor at its arrival will be now possible and embarrassing situations may be prevented before they have had time to develop.

The clause that provides that contract labor may be brought in under a permit from the Minister of Immigration takes care of extraordinary cases, such as those enumerated under the Alien Act, which said:

"Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent any citizen or subject of any foreign country, temporarily residing in Canada either in private or official capacity, from engaging, under contract or otherwise, persons not residents or citizens of Canada, to act as private secretaries, servants or domestics for such foreigner temporarily residing in Canada.

"(b) To prevent any person, partnership, company or corporation from engaging under contract or agreement, skilled workmen in foreign countries to perform labor in Canada in or upon any new industry not at present established in Canada, provided that skilled labor for that purpose cannot be otherwise maintained.

"(c) Applying to professional actors, artists, lecturers or singers, or to persons employed strictly as personal or domestic servants, or,

"(d) Prohibiting any person from assisting any member of his family, or any relative, to migrate from any foreign country to Canada for the purpose of settlement in Canada."

"The Department of Immigration will, of course, take steps to see that the effect of the new order-in-Council will in no way be to prohibit desirable immigrants from entering Canada.

TWO ENTRANTS IN NEW DERBY

Two Vermont Cows On Hike To St. Louis, 1,200 Mile Journey.

MILK PRODUCERS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—Just to prove they have as much stamina as their forefathers of pioneer days, two blue bloods of the dairy animal world are making a 1,200 mile jaunt on foot.

Scorning the comfort of properly appointed cattle Pullmans in which they ordinarily travel, Tombol and Alice, two registered Ayrshires with impressive degrees, are emulating the cattle which accompanied early settlers on overland trails.

From the hills of Vermont, the two cows are treking across country, with St. Louis as their destination. Here they will seek blue ribbons at the National Dairy show in October.

In their retinue are attendants to care for their wants, and a barn mounted in a motor chassis houses the food and supplies.

Despite the additional strain on their vitality, the cows do not shirk their duty as milk producers.

One pound of balanced ration is given each cow for every four pounds of milk produced. No beet pulp, corn silage or hay is carried. The animals graze at night.

The trip is sponsored by the National Ayrshire Breeders 'Association of Brandon, Vt., which selected two average animals for the endurance hike. Original plans called for travel on dirt roads, but experience has shown that hard roads are more satisfactory. Leather boots have been provided for such emergencies as rough roads and sore feet.

One day's journey averages between 10 and 14 miles. The cows will walk every day with the exception of a two weeks' period at the Ohio State fair.

Wheat Prices Soar In Early Trading

CHICAGO, Ills., August 17 (Canadian Press). — Sharply higher Liverpool quotations together with signs of large export business from North America, led to steep early upturns to-day in the market here. Unsatisfactory threshing advices from Canada persisted and future delivery buying here was general.

Opening at ⅞ to 3½ gain, which wheat later continued upgrade. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, with corn starting unchanged to 1 cent advance and subsequently showing a rise all around.

During the reign of Augustus, in Rome, there were 300 public bakeries, which did much of the work for private homes.

The famous Bayeux Tapestry, which depicts a conflict between William of Normandy and Harold of England, has a scene showing cooking and baking about 1,100 A.D.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

CANTDA CEMENT HAS TAKEN OVER NATIONAL CEMENT CO.

According to well informed circles, arrangements have been made by which Canada Cement Company has taken over the National Cement Company at Montreal East. This announcement will be of special interest because of the long and bitter fight which occurred between the old Canada Cement and the National Cement. Following the acquisition of the Canada Cement by the group headed by Holt Gundy there was a deal which resulted in the sale of the National Cement Company to Alf. Rogers and his associates of Toronto, wh oare identified with other cement undertakings. At the time it was generally thought that later on some deal would be worked out by which the Rogers interests would dispose of the National to the new Canada Cement group, and according to information now secured all the details have been carried out. The National Cement mill is situated just a short distance from one of the large plants of the Canada Cement Company at Montreal East, and to a very considerable extent can be operated by the same management. The rock formation in the section of the island in which both plants are located is said to be unusually favorable for the manufacture of cement, and on this account it is thought that both mills will be gradually extended. The market served from them is a very big one. The greater part is supplied by the Metropolis of Montreal, but shipments can also be made from tidewater to all parts of the Province of Quebec.

SMELTERS EARNED AT RATE OF $16 PER SHARE, AFTER BIG WRITE-OFFS.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada in the first half of 1929 earned at the rate of $15.95 per share per annum ,or 64 p.c. on the 506,863 shares outstanding. Hence dividends paid for the period at the rate of 50 p.c. per annum were earned by a wide margin.

It is noteworthy that the company expended out of earnings in the six months $1,191,466 more for additions to property than in the same period last year. Had expenditures for this account been the same, profits would have been at the rate of $11,503,018 per annum, or equal to $22.48 per share, or 90 p.c.

The heavier expenditures out of earnings for capital expenditures went for a 50 p.c. increase in the smelter and zinc plant ,and other important charges, which should return to shareholders immediately in substantially larger earnings.

Calls America Victor in Copper Price War.

NEW YORK. — American copper producers have defeated an attempt by European interests to depress the price of metal by a buyers "strike," according to Myron P. Granger, of Sulzbacher, Granger and Co. Mr. Granger said:

"Some months ago the leading European interests adopted a policy of drastically reduced buying. The price fell to around 18 cents but below this American producers refused to sell, hoarding their stocks and reducing production. Because the bulk of the world's supply of copper is controlled by American interests, the European effort was not successful It is now evident that they have been forced to acceptance of a reasonable price. There is every indication this domination by American interests will continue, with a consequent improvement in the industry as a whole. as a whole.

"Another favorable development is the increasing tendency of the leading producers to manufacture more copper products, either directly or through subsidiaries. There is little likelihood of further great mergers in this field, as the copper industry was one of the first to be benefitted by the consolidation movement that is just now beginning to have its full weight felt in the utility field. There are, however ,further economies of production and distribution to be effected, and continuance of the manufacturing trend to bridge the gap between mine and consumer, as is being done by Anaconda, Kennecott and others, should bring increasing benefits to investors and to the whole industry."

MINING BRIEFS.

LAKE SHORE.

With the acquisition of some 14 claims on the Blanche River, 13 miles from the mine, Lake Shore has made ample provision for sand supply necessary for back filling of the mine. This material will be conveyed by Nipissing Central direct to the mine, a trestle across the lake now being under construction.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD.

New ore on the 3600 foot level has been opened up for over 100 feet in length. The width reaches 20 feet in places and assays for a considerable section of the lens run around $11. Crosscuts on the three levels above the 3600 are reaching out toward this orebody.

TECK-HUGHES.

Drifting on the vein on the 20th level has progressed in good ore for 500 feet. Widths of 12 feet and better have been met with. Similar work on the 21st level is well under way.

McINTYRE.

New 100 ton experimental plant being installed will operate on run of mine ore and will increase tonnage from 5 to 7 per cent. Satisfactory tests will, if mine conditions continue favorable, warrant the erection of an entirely new mill.

NORANDA.

Of particular interest to Canadians is the formation in London of a new smelting company to be known as Imperial Smelting Corporation with capital of 7,500,000 pounds. Among companies included in plans is the British Metals Corporation with which Noranda is affiliated in the copper refinery. To protect British Empire interests, all foreign shareholders are excluded from voting power.

FALCONBRIDGE.

Development of 975 foot level is well under way with double size drift being driven east and west in the footwall of the ore body from which crosscuts will be driven at 200 foot intervals.

HARGAL.

Hargal spudded in on acreage adjoining Home Oils.

BAYMAR.

Maymar, located on a new structure six miles from mouth of Ghost River from its intersection with the Bow River, has its derrick completed, oiler and engine installed, and camp completed. Spudding in date has not been set, but contract expected to be let at once.

NEWBEC.

Mine Manager Smith in supplementary report at Newbec annual meeting yesterday stated that ore was drifted on for a length of 14 feet from a point 356 feet from the shaft. Average grade here was 4 per cent. copper over a width of four feet. Further exploration will be carried out and extensive diamond drilling done before a larger mining plant is installed.

SIGNAL HILL.

Casing been set. Moose Mountain structure. Expect drilling to be resumed on Saturday.

HERRON PETE.

Herron Pete No. 1 on new W. S. Herron structure west of Calgary down about 100 feet. This is first well on new structure.

RICHFIELD.

Casing has been run to about 2,000 feet at this well in Waite Valley. Drilling will be resumed shortly.

HARGAL.

Located immediately east and adjoining Home wells, first well will be 200 or 300 yards from Home No. 1. Being drilled by Imperial under contract.

BROCK PETROLEUMS.

Formerly Spartan. Reported at about 500 feet but cemented back about half way. Probably resume drilling during week-end. This well on acreage of Stellar Oils.

OKALTA.

Spudded in a few days ago. Okalta No. 5 drilling at about 200 feet. Okalta No. 4 down 550 feet, where second string of casing being run.

SOUTH-WEST PETE.

Drilling at 5,147 feet. Made 16 feet in 24 hours.

HOME NO. 3.

Home No. 3 practically 100 feet in lime at 5,122 feet and drilling steadily.

CALMONT.

Crew did not lose much time recovering lost bit and now drilling new hole about 60 feet in lime. Former big gas flow when tools were lost originally in old hole reached at about 168 feet. Progress being made steadily at Calmont wells on Dallas lease with No. 2 at 3,330 feet, No. 4 at 2,900 feet, and No. 6 at 2,515 feet.

HOWEY.

Main vein cut on 625 foot level shows considerable free gold and is expected to yield high assay results.

NEW BUILDING ONE OF FINEST

Latest Knowledge Used in Erecting Canadian Research Laboratories.

BEAUTIFUL SITUATION

OTTAWA, Ont., August 17 (Canadian Press). — Plans recently completed for the National Research Laboratories to be erected on Sussex Street, indicate a triumph of the architectural art and the prospect of a structure that will feature in the beautification plans of the capital city.

Tenders for construction are soon to be called and the work started as soon as the contract is awarded.

Faced with a light colored stone, the building will stand 60 feet high, 418 feet long, and 176 feet deep, in a natural setting that will match its architectural attractions. From the rear the view will be out over the Ottawa River, and in the north-west distance, the Gatineau Valley and the Gatineau hills.

Immediately to the north-east will be the Rideau River where it joints the Ottawa, and to the south-west will be Earnscliffe, the historic residence of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. Spacious lawns covering 10 acres will surround it, stretching down 125 feet to Sussex Street in front.

Into the plans for the building and equipment has gone knowledge gained from all the advanced scientific countries of the world. Officers of the National Research Council have personally inspected the research institutions of Great Britain, Germany, Japan, France, and the United States. Advantage has been taken of the experience of many leading Canadian scientists, including those recently appointed to direct laboratory divisions.

Sixteen pillars will decorate the Sussex Street front, eight on either side of the main entrance pavilion. Inscribed at their base will be names renowned in the scientific world. Atop the central section will be the words in large letters, "National Research Laboratories," and directly under them the words of some motto yet to be definitely selected.

Built in the form of a squared figure "8" the building will have two inner courts similar to those in the famous Hart House, University of Toronto. Eventually they will be used for research museums and exhibition halls.

In that section of the building between the courts will be housed, running from front to rear, the scientific research library and an assembly hall that is expected to become the gathering place of scientific men from all parts of Canada. Likewise the library will be developed into a centre of scientific information available to all Canadian scientists whether directly associated with the National Research Laboratories or not.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Wheat prices ran up like wildfire yesterday, chiefly as a result of wretched threshing returns from the wheat crop of the Canadian Prairie Provinces. Excited buying of wheat future deliveries swept the market here bare of offerings until quotations had gone 10 cents a bushel above what the grain could have been purchased at 48 hours before. Threshing advices were disappointing also from American spring wheat territory, including States on the Pacific Coast, and a big falling-off in receipts of domestic winter wheat was likewise apparent.

After a maximum advance of 5 3-8c a bushel yesterday, as compared with Thursday's finish, Chicago wheat closed unsettled with 4 1-8c to 5c net gain. Corn closed 1c to 2 7-8c up; oats, 1 1-8c to 1 7-8c advanced, and provisions showing a rise varying from 2c to 45c.

Canadian Returns a Factor.

Wheat trading started with a general rush to the buying side of the market, the immediate stimulus coming from Winnipeg, despatches saying that harvest returns from Central Saskatchewan Province, Canada, were in the nature of a calamity, both as to the quantity and quality of wheat. Almost simultaneously estimates were out yesterday from the United States Department of Agriculture indicating that the 1929 world wheat production will be 515,000,000 bushels less than last year.

By many wheat traders special significance was attached to announcement that yesterday's primary arrivals of wheat in the United States were reduced to below either the amount received a week or a year ago, being 2,956,000 bushels as against respectively 3,981,000 bushels and 3,110,000 bushels for the corresponding time last week and last year. This showing was generally taken to indicate that the big rural movement of winter wheat to terminal markets this season is over.

Corn, oats and provisions advanced with wheat, and on account of increasing need of rain over the wide areas of the corn belt.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 17.—Bull operators took control of the wheat market yesterday and shoved values up 7 1-8c to 6 7-8c above Thursday's close. Strong Liverpool cables and heavy buying by United States houses were the factors in the upturn. Firmness in Liverpool cables was caused by disappointing threshing yields in sections of the prairies.

Cash wheat trading was active, with feed wheat the feature. This grain advanced 7c over Thursday's quotations, and was in great demand by shippers. Other grades were generally unchanged.

Wheat delivered to country elevators Thursday totalled 84,291 bushels, compared with 66,740 bushels on the same day last year.

Coarse grain trading was slow, with prices following the trend in wheat. Oats showed a one-cent gain; barley, two cents; flax, three to four cents, and rye, more than two cents.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Trading on the local wholesale produce market this week remained steady and quiet during the major portion of the session, but prices firmed considerably toward the latter part, the egg prices especially reflected the stronger tendency, moving steadily upward under shortages which have been felt both in Montreal and Toronto for the past week. The butter market saw little to excite inerest throughout the week, with supplies and demand holding fairly equal, and no great activity displayed in trading until Thursday, when more enthusiasm was evidenced, and prices strengthened slightly to a range of from 39c to 39¼c per pound for the No. 1 grade, and held steady at from 37c to 38c per pound for the No. 2 grade.

The local wholesale cheese market continued the draggy action of the past for the best part of the week, but export buying to fill past orders had the effect of jacking the price a little higher toward the end, and final quotations for the No. 1 large, colored, paraffined and Government-graded cheese were from 18c to 18½c per pound.

Prices Move Forward

The market has advanced consistently in keeping with the condition of supplies. At prairie points, which have not previously reported any price advances which have characterized other markets, appear to have fallen in line this week and higher markets are reported from the majority of the more important prairie centers. At most prairie points receipts are no more than sufficient to meet requirements and at Calgary it is necessary to bring in a car of B.C. Eggs and to rely in a small measure on storage stocks. There are, however, still a few prairie markets, such as Edmonton and Winnipeg, with a slight surplus over requirements and these are shipping carlots to the East."

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT RETURNED ON RAILWAY CASE

Believe Heart Attack Was Cause of Body Being in Train Path.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 17.— (Canadian Press).—A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday evening in connection with the death of Ingvold Johnson, 32, whose mangled body was found on the A.C.R. tracks on Monday morning, after he had been run down during the night by a special train bringing an injured man to the Sault from Michipicoten. Evidence was given that Johnson was subject to heart attacks, and it is believed that he was stricken by one while walking home on the track on Sunday night, as was his custom.

CROP OUTLOOK FINE IN NORTH

Large Hay Crop Gathered With Clover Seed Being Held For Seed.

WHEAT AND OATS SPLENDID.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—A bountiful harvest in the Timagami district and the clay belt of Northern Ontario was predicted yesterday by Hon. William Finlayson, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, who has returned to the Provincial Parliament Buildings after a visit to the northern districts.

"The hay has been a fine crop," he said, "and is now pretty well in. There is a large acreage in clover, which is being held for seed. The wheat, oats and barley are splendid. It looks as if the clay belt is going to come into its own. Give them a good month's harvest weather up there and they will all report a wonderful season."

PICTURE PRESENTED TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

Rev. Joseph Wilkes Tells Interesting Story of Gift at Presentation.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 17.—(Examiner Correspondence)—A large and well-framed picture of "The Good Shepherd" was recently given to the primary department of the United Church Sunday School by Rev. Joseph Wilks, and has been hung on the wall which faces the rows of chairs that accommodate the children each Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Wilks has had this picture in his possession during many years of his long connection with the active ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church, both in Canada and the United States; when he went to Africa in 1884 as a member of the Bishop Taylor's self-supporting mission, he took it among his household goods, and there is an interesting story connected with its sojourn in the mission house during the four years spent on the west coast of the Dark Continent.

A Holland merchant at one of the mission stations where Mr. Wilks labored while in Portugese W. Africa gave him a present of a native boy, who was really nothing but skin and bone; the Hollander, who made a hobby of dabbling somewhat in medicine, explained to Mr. and Mrs. Wilks that when he had bought the lad he was covered with sores from head to foot, and these he had finally succeeded healing, and here his interest in the boy ceased; hence the gift.

Some family feud, or clash, among the inhabitants of the native villages may lead to the stealing of a child, and perhaps more than one of these wretched little victims would be brought along when the natives came to the coast to sell to the Portugese merchants their loads of rubber, ivory, or beeswax; slavery was against the law but infractions were rather winked at by the authorities, because the native vendors would refuse to barter their goods to the merchants unless the latter would also buy the enslaved boys or girls included in the train. It was in this way that the Hollander had acquired the boy afterward given to Rev. Mr. Wilks.

When the lad understood that no ill-treatment was to be accorded him, he gained in strength; he also developed a most mischievous disposition, playing all kinds of tricks, and unfortunately also becoming both untruthful and dishonest. This, however, was hardly to be wondered at as cheating and lying are common characteristics of the natives.

The mission house was a long building, and in the hall was hung the picture of "The Good Shepherd", who is carrying a lost lamb on his shoulders back to the fold, along a thorn-infested path. After the boy had been told the story of its meaning many times Mr. and Mrs. Wilks would find him standing before the picture, perhaps running in from the kitchen with a dish in his hands which he was drying, studying its details, and learning the scarcely knew what, until they saw that his nature was gradually being transformed, and an actual conversion took place. Instead of untruthfulness and dishonesty, the lad's reputation for the contrary was so established the natives, to strongly assert the reliability of a statement, would say: "Ask Kabonga" the inference being that the truth would most certainly be told.

After a time Mr. and Mrs. Wilks were given a little native girl, who had also been bought as a slave, and often the two children, possibly with a dish between them which they were drying with the one towel, would be seen standing before the picture, Kabonga telling its story and exclaiming, (in Portuguese): "See the thorns; see the thorns".

The boy had to be left behind when Mr. and Mrs. Wilks returned to America, but with considerable difficulty they managed to bring the girl with them to the United States. However her health did not readily stand the climate on this side of the world, and she died at the age of fifteen.

The self-supporting mission planned by Bishop Taylor did not prove a success, and the missionaries were obliged to turn to some other form of work to support life, while continuing to deliver the gospel message.

Mr. Wilks took up storekeeping, and frequently the natives would come in asking for 'mata beesha' whiskey—mata (kill) beesha (insect)—to kill the insect inside of me.

Repeatedly Mr. Wilks assured such customers that he kept no liquor in his store, but it was some time before they were persuaded to believe him. On the wall was hung a large colored picture, taken from a Sunday School roll, of the Rechabites refusing the bowls and pots of wine offered them, because of their promise to Jehova to drink no wine or strong drink forever. To this picture Mr. Wilks would point and tell its story, until at length the natives were in the habit of saying, "That his Santa" (saint).

An amusing incident occurred on one occasion. Natives and whites alike suffer intensely from 'jiggers', a tiny insect that burrows under the skin of the feet, and deposits its larvae, causing extreme discomfort. With a sharp thorn, or perhaps a needle, the blacks will open the skin, lift out the little sac, containing possibly two hundred eggs, then soak their feet in kerosene to destroy any remaining 'germs' and to allay irritation.

One day a native was in the store with the usual request for whiskey; Mr. Wilks had just drawn a gill of kerosene for another customer and set it on the counter saying, in English, Here it is"; before he could hinder him, the thirsty one, mistaking his meaning, gulped down the whole in one big swallow. A few lumps of loaf sugar was all the antidote that suggested itself for the unpleasant dose, but it appeared an unintended temperance lesson had been practically, and self administered.

Bridgenorth Farmer Buys Pure-Bred Sire

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—(Special to The Examiner.)—A notable addition to the Ayrshire heads of Peterborough County is recorded by the addition of a well bred sire, Melhurst Snowball to the herd of J. Gordon Mann and Son, Pinecrest Farm, Bridgenorth, the animal being bought from Harold Reeves, Hawkesbury, Ontario. Mr. Mann who is vice-president of the Ayrshire Association of Central Ontario, has been prominently identified with the breed for a number of years. The demand for Ayrshires is increasing and a higher standard is being steadily achieved in the herds of the Dominion according to Frank Napier, secretary of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association.

AIR MAIL RATE IS LOWEST BID

Pasco To Spokane Quotation Is Less Than One-eighth Nearest Bidder.

BID 9 CENTS, NEAREST 74.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 17 (C.P.).—The case of a responsible bidder who wins a contract at less than one-eight the next lowest figure is presented by the opening of bids yesterday in the office of Assistant Postmaster-General Glover on the new air mail route from Pasco, Washington, to Spokane, Portland and Seattle. This bid was also the lowest ever offered on any air mail route.

Varney Air Lines, Inc., of San Francisco, operators of the present route from Salt Lake City to Pasco, offered to carry the mail for 9 cents a pound. Three other bids received were at the rates of 74 cents, 97 cents, and $1.19 respectively.

WILL MAINTAIN APPEAL RIGHTS

Australia Has No Intention of Forgoing Rights Granted By British Gov't.

IRISH AN EXAMPLE.

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 17 (C.P. Cable, via Reuter's).—Australia does not intend to take any action to abolish its right of appeal to the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council in London, declared Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, Prime Minister to-day. The Premier was discussion reports from London that the British Government was willing to permit any Dominion to abolish the right of appeal if it so desired, as exemplified by the recent request of the Irish Fee State.

Premier Bruce said the matter had been discussed at the last Imperial conference, when there was a diversity of opinion owing to the different viewpoints of the various Dominions and even of the different sections of each Dominion. An example was Quebec, the Prime Minister pointed out, that Province regarding as an insult any proposal to withdraw its right of appeal to the Privy Council.

In Australia the rights of the states as well as of the Commonwealth itself must be considered. When the Federation was established an endeavor was made on behalf of the Commonwealth to exclude the right by a Commonwealth bill, but the present position represented a compromise. The Imperial Conference showed that each Dominion must determine the question for itself, the Premier explained.

BAND CONCERT

The temperature was not exactly that of summer, but there was a good crowd on Tice Street last night to hear the band concert played by the Northumberland Regimental band in front of the Armouries Some of the bandsmen were unable to be present, and the concert was somewhat curtailed by this circumstance. There will be another open air concert on Monday evening in front of the armouries. The program last night consisted of seven numbers: March, Officer of the day. Serenade, A Night in June. Overture, Excela. Overture, Crown Prince, and two popular fox trots. Since the evening was slightly cool, most of the audience remained in motor cars parked along the curbs. The applause was chiefly in the form of horn blowing.

WINS DIPLOMA

"Bill" Blue, Booth street, has succeeded in winning the diploma of the New York Conservatory of Music. Bill is well known as a master of the steel guitar and ukelele. He won his diploma by his work with the former instrument.

AUTOGRAPHED BALL

There are two happy boys in Campbellford. They are Arthur and Gerard Black, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black, Ranney street. The reason they are so pleased with everything in the world is that they have an official American League baseball, autographed not only by the world-famous Babe Ruth, but by Lou Gehrig as well. Their uncle, who resides in New York state, gave it to them as a souvenir. The ball is not absolutely new. It has been used a little, as evidenced by the marks on the horsehide. For the two young enthusiasts, this makes it all the more valuable. Already, several older fans have expressed more than just a slight desire to possess such a keepsake.

ALTERING BUILDING

Another building which formerly housed one of Campbellford's busiest industries, is being altered and in a short time will present quite a different front to the street. The Doxsee Planing mill, Front street, now in the posession of A. J. Meyers, is being made into a garage and service station. The main entrance is being altered. The upper floors of the three-storey building are being renovated for storage use. The new pumps which will supply the gas will be inside the sidewalk with the filling hose at the curb.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Representatives of Canadian Chautauquas Ltd., are still working in the district. The official report from Norwood last night is that fifteen men have signed the contract and that village will have Chautauqua this winter. The representative there is attempting to secure further signatures to lessen the amount of the guarantee per person. In Campbellford the situation is somewhat similar. Seventeen signatures had been placed on the contract forms up to last night. The representative is endeavoring to obtain twenty-five.

OCEAN ROUTES IN DISCUSSION

128 MILES OF CANAL

UNIVERSITY, Va., Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—The question of whether the proposed deepwater way to connect the great lakes with the Atlantic ocean should be by the St. Lawrence river or by the New York State route and Hudson River was debated this morning before the Institute of Public Affairs. Former Governor W. L. M. Harding of Iowa, advocating the St. Lawrence route contended that a canal across New York State for the purpose of deep sea shipping will not work. It could be dug, he said, but it is not feasible or practicable for the purpose desired.

Edward C. Carrington, chairman of the Great Lakes-Hudson waterways association argued that the St. Lawrence project is economically unsound, that the engineering difficulty attached to the St. Lawrence project is well nigh insurmountable and that political and international complications render the construction of the St. Lawrence route impracticable.

"The St. Lawrence route," said Governor Harding, "is not a large undertaking when you consider two nations are involved, for there will be but 25 miles of canal, two dams, seven or eight locks overcoming the difference in levels of 225 feet, and only eight bridges" The route known as the All-American route with the Oswego-Hudson route plus a connection link on the United States side between Lakes Erie and Ontario, would require, he said, 128 miles of canal navigation, 18 to 20 locks and 54 bridges, and a lift up and down of 512.6 feet.

the Reliability Car of the year

Essex the Challenger has outstandingly established itself as the Reliability car of the year.

How sweeping and convincing are its proofs! In the hands of more than 200,000 owners, the actual service records prove the lowest service costs, and smallest service requirements of any car we know.

Wide Choice of Color at no extra cost

4 Hydraulic shock absorbers—Starter and electric gauge for fuel and oil on dash—Radiator shutters—Adjustable seats, front and rear—All bright parts chromium-plated — saddle lamps — windshield wiper—glare-proof rear view mirror—controls on steering wheel—electrolock—New type double-action 4-wheel brakes.

$840 AND UP

Two Essex cars made the only perfect scores, in the famous international reliability classic, the Tour de France, winning against many far costlier cars of American and foreign make. And every American locality knows Essex the Challenger for some outstanding reliability record—in Arizona, 1343 miles in 24 hours; in Michigan, 1259 miles in 24 hours and in Kansas 1109 miles in 24 hours.

These are but the dramatic representation of the kind of reliability every Essex the Challenger owner knows. Under every condition of climate and road, in hard country usage as well as continuous city service, it has made itself known to its owners and through them to the world as "the Reliability Car of the year."

DOUKHABOR LIFE AGAIN PEACEFUL AROUND VEREGIN

Threats of Kamsack Populace Over Burning Schools Take Effect.

RED COATS ON JOB

King Peter Says Demonstrations Were Not Done by Good Subjects.

(Special o The Examiner—Copyright)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 17.—Should the smoke of any more burning schoolhouses blur the blue of the Saskatchewan horizon in the vicinity of Kamsack, the solid and respectable citizens of that thriving western town are apt to rise up en masse and break a few heads.

Thus ends another installment in the troubled and tumultuous history of those militant disciples of peace, the Doukhobors of the Canadian west, long famous for their community spirit, nude parades and opposition to education.

What it is all about is something on which the neighbours are still not unanimous. There has been trouble. There now is peace. The exact reasons for either are matters of argument and the situation is not clarified by the fact that the ruling mogul of the Doukhobors, Peter Veregin, does not bother to speak English.

A few miles from the town of Kamsack, population 2,200 souls including approximately 1,100 who have a working or complete knowledge of the language of the country, is the village of Veregin which is the communal headquarters of the clan.

There the mighty Peter rules as potentate extraordinary, chairman of the board of directors, general manager and big boss. The Doukhobors scattered throughout the west in clumps are his subjects. They are a peace-loving people, so fond of peace, in fact, that they will fight about it on given notice and are, therefore periodically, in conflict with recognized authority of one type or another. They have also opposed the provincial educational methods and battled the official attempts to have their children attend Saskatchewan schools.

Since the latest Kamsack district outbreak, solemn announcements from the colony have been issued forecasting still more and greater peace in the community. The other citizens of Kamsack, supplemented by volunteers from the surrounding district, have organized themselves to take direct action in the event of any more Doukhobor disturbances and by the application of a little well-placed violence, put a prompt end to such commotion and bring about their favorite brand of peace without delay. Added to this, there are five red-coated mounties calmly surveying the scene in the general interests of peace of all sorts.

With these three agencies all in the field, the atmosphere of peace, at the moment, is practically oppressive.

The technical and official title of the Doukhobor settlement is the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood and Peter Veregin is its President. Its various subdivisions and auxiliary organizations still remain vague and mysterious to the Canadian mind. There have also been rumors, for some time, that King Peter was losing his grip on a percentage of the faithful and that numbers were inclined to step out on their own account.

Schools Go Up In Smoke

In any case, a motor truck bearing seventeen young Sons of Freedom, apostles of a religious or semi-religious branch of the Doukhobors carrying on a loudvoiced and enthusiastic ballyhoo for peace, drove into Saskatchewan and its passengers went into action. They stumped for peace in the Blaine Lake area and promptly thereafter, four schools went up in smoke. Moving on, they preached in the Pelly and Arran vicinities, which dissemination of their gospels was followed by the firing of eight more schools.

Inquiries revealed the fact that this campaign had first begun in Doukhobor settlements of British Columbia where schools also went up in flame and the festivities had even gone as far as the organization of one of those fine old parades in the altogether nude which were once such a feature of Doukhobor goings-on. At this point, the authorities came down hard. Processions of the nude, as demonstrated by the devotees of universal brotherhood, do not come under the classification of art and are not excusable as healthy exercise. The Sons of Freedom faded from the B. C. picture.

When meetings of the meandering young preachers commenced in the Kamsack district, it is easy to understand that the inhabitants did not view them without suspicion. A falling off in school attendance was noticed almost immediately. Fathers of absent children were haled before the authorities. The fathers passed the buck to the mothers, to use an expressive if inelegant expression which sums up the situation exactly. The mothers were, thereupon, summoned to provide explanations.

They came to town bringing a mob of fellow sympathizers, mostly female, who proceeded to block the roadways and clog traffic. This, the Doukhobors also call a parade. On the subject of parades, they have a communal complex. In this case, however, they all wore clothes and in quantity.

Now, a parade of Doukhobor women on the main street is anything but amusing, particularly if you are in a hurry to do the week-end shopping. Doukhobor women have never been interested in the slim silhouet and never heard of the 18-day diet. Broad expanses of hip-line and large scale waists are apparently rated as symbols of maidenly and matronly beauty in the sect. When a regiment of these ladies decides to stand around and call it a parade, that is pretty much that. Their minds when made up have a solidity which is right on a par with their structural outlines.

Greeted With Fire Hose

Citizens of Kamsack finding their urban landscape cluttered up with lady Doukhobors and the streets blockaded with peace-loving feminity sandwiched in with stolid masculine escorts, were not pleased. After it had happened two or three times, they became angry. Finally, in the middle of July, when a large delegation of the community moved on the town accompanied by the seventeen orators whose efforts seemed to be directly linked with burning schoolhouses, they went into action. Business had already been stopped several times by the standees and they were nervous about the future welfare of their educational institutions.

They greeted the brothers and sisters with the fire hose. The Doukhobors are among the most cleanly of all peoples but high pressure shower baths are not in their line. They poured out into the prairie like a herd of forlorn sheep. Scattered fist fights also enlivened the get-away.

The Doukhobors have not been back. They have placed a boycott on Kamsack and do not visit it. Townspeople say they will find it necessary to return for food, supplies and various necessities of life and agriculture. In the meantime, too, the Kamsack garrison waits, even eagerly it must be admitted, for signs of trouble. Among the out-of-town volunteers are no few men of Pelly and Arran who must now raise many thousands to build new schools. They might possibly welcome an opportunity to give vent to their deeper feelings on the subject.

While these interesting antics were going on, the great Peter was reported to be away. He has now returned. His explanation of the uproar is made up of a flood of gutturals, punctuated with hearty guffaws.

Enemies Start Fires

Translated into English, his story is that the conflagrations have not been the work of good Doukhobors but of enemies. Whether these enemies were within or without the sect, he does not specify. He talks of "a group of provocators" and insists that he and his people will do all in their power to see that the culprits are brought to justice. Becoming still more definite, he mentions "The Black Hundred", a mysterious group, evidently of Doukhobors, as responsible for the outrages.

Whether "The Black Hundred" is the tough element of the community or composed of religious fanatics or of bitter opponents of the Veregin rule or even of outsiders seeking to foist blame on the sect, he will not comment. He insists, however, that the community's own buildings have also been attacked by fire-bugs. To support his contention, there is the scorched condition of the royal residence, blackened to the eaves. A two-storey frame structure surrounded by verandahs and balconies, it was set afire only a few nights ago, Veregin lieutenants declare, and an empty gasolene tin was later found at the spot where the blaze started.

Another view of the muddled situation is that the astute Peter has fomented the trouble on the quiet in order to provoke attacks and public opposition to Doukhobors generally, thus uniting a sect which has shown signs of disintegration.

Monarch Unworried

Be that as it may, the non-Doukhobor residents of that area have made anofficial request of Federal immigration authorities for Peter's deportation, citing the recent difficulties and adding in frank terms, that Mr. Veregin, the uncrowned king, is neither a nice person nor a charming personality. They say that he is the basic cause of the trouble and request that he be officially removed to another land.

This threat of forced travel in no way disturbs the enthroned ruler. He does not even deign to discuss it. He did, nevertheless take a trip to Winnipeg a few days ago for the purpose, it is said, of seeking legal advice on the matter.

Apparently, he returned satisfied. He is now enjoying life to the full, sleeping in when he feels like it and reading in bed, which are among his kingly pleasures. Mr. Veregin is a husky, bronzed and well-muscled sovereign who takes a great interest in life. He has a dimpled chin and a thick moustache. The dimpled chin definitely makes it impossible for him to strike a Mussolini pose. In any case, he would not care for that pastime. In fact, striking poses is among the things he does not enjoy.

He recently received a visiting newspaperman in the quiet of the regal bedroom where he lay enjoying a cigarette, his head pillowed on a thick suit of winter underwear. He was courteous and almost merry but even against the background of the union suit, retained an air of dignity and authority.

Canadian authorities have long considered him as a species of thorn in the flesh but are not quite sure what can be done about it. King Peter continues to eat hearty meals, take exercise in the guise of hard work and express the opinion that the officials will do what is right in the matter—which, he believes, is nothing.

PETER VEREGIN AND HIS MOTHER

Here is shown Peter Veregin, Jr., head of the Doukhobor colony in the Canadian west, with his mother. Veregin succeeded his father, following the latter's death some years ago.

PLANE USEFUL TO BARRISTER

Calls at Welland, St. Catharines, Milton and Back to Toronto Inside Two Hours.

Four Registrations To Make.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Frederick T. Watson, Toronto barrister, yesterday secured four registrations from four registry offices in far-apart towns of Ontario inside of three hours. He had to secure registrations of bond mortgage in four different counties in the province. The law holds that the applicant ought to obtain all registrations on the same day. The registry office and county court offices close during the summer at midday, so that Mr. Watson decided an airplane was the only thing which would solve the problem of securing the registrations.

He secured a plane at 10 o'clock in the morning which allowed him two hours to visit Welland, St. Catharines, Milton and the local registry office. The trip was completed and Mr. Watson was back here at 11.55.

NEW REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL AIRCRAFT

Commerce Chamber Requires All Makers To Test Strength of Planes.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—A comprehensive governmental move to insure more airworthy planes has been taken in new Department of Commerce "airworthiness requirements," which set up rigorous standards for the safety of vital parts.

An analysis made by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce shows 38 specific changes in the "airworthiness requirements," the aircraft engineering code followed by American manufacturers to obtain approved type certificates for their planes before they are sold to the public.

Advance copies of the code have been prepared by the chamber and sent to its members, who include approximately 95 per cent. of the airplane manufacturers in the country.

To bring about further strengthening of airplane structures, the Department of Commerce will require manufacturers to demonstrate by loading tests the strength of all control surfaces and control systems, and the shock absorbing qualities of landing gears on their planes. Such tests were not required previously.

Specimens of all wood members used in airplane construction must now be loaded to destruction and sample of the parts that fail must be analyzed to determine their physical properties.

Cabin planes must have one exit for each six persons carried instead of just two exits as previously required. Detailed specifications for all openings and exits are given.

The former sketchy requirements for engine installation have been expanded to include detailed instructions to insure the highest type of construction.

Propeller clearance above the ground has been changed from a minimum of six inches to nine inches for land planes and 18 inches for seaplanes. The propellers must be so designed and adjusted that they will limit the engine speed to 103 per cent. of the official rated speed at full throttle in level flight.

Performance and flight test specifications have been amplified to describe the procedure followed by department inspectors.

The relative efficiency of biplane wings must be determined from rational formulae instead of from the inadequate curves formerly specified. Methods of calculating air loads and dead weight for wings which are tapered in thickness have been changed to comply with the latest facts known to aeronautical engineers.

The introduction of glider building in the United States has prompted the addition of a new paragraph devoted to this type of construction.

Only A Feather's Weight Between Them—yet that is enough to tip the scales in one product's favor

MANY manufacturers never realize by what a very narrow margin they win or lose in the market.

To quote a contributor to the well-known business publication, "Printer's Ink"—

"Between two competing products it takes often the idea-equivalent of only a pin or a feather in weight to overbalance the decision one way or the other."

To prove the truth of that statement, just go behind the counter in a retail store for a few days. See with your own eyes how frequently women waver in their decisions between one product and another, perhaps between three or four competing products.

When a woman wavers, hesitates, cannot make up her mind between two or more competing products, it is generally because she thinks they are all pretty much alike, all about equally good for her purpose.

If she knew one specific thing about any one of the products that made it stand out in her mind from the rest, the chances are she wouldn't hesitate at all, or if she did hesitate, this one outstanding thing would be sufficient to tip the scales in that product's favor.

To give her this one outstanding thing, to make one product, your product, stand out in her mind when she goes to buy, is the purpose of the MAIN Idea principle of advertising.

MAIN Idea advertising is focused on ONE feature or idea (mentioning others, of course, but in a secondary way). Its mission is to drive that MAIN Idea home in advertisement after advertisement, to repeat it and repeat until the idea is implanted in the consumer's mind as firmly as your brand name.

Then when a woman goes to buy and sees two, or three or a half a dozen competitive products alongside of yours, she recalls that MAIN Idea you have been repeatedly telling her about, and your product looks at least a shade better in her eyes—perhaps just a feather's weight better, but enough to tip the scales in your favor.

Isn't that just what you want your advertising to do for you?—to give your product an edge on competitive lines? Then, why not have a heart-to-heart talk about the MAIN Idea principle of advertising with men who are authorities on it, who advocate it, believe in it, practise it themselves?

Just drop a line or telephone The James Fisher Company and state when it will be convenient to get together for an hour's talk. The subject is too big for a brief interview, and The James Fisher Company have a real story to tell, real information, real facts, real examples of successful MAIN Idea campaigns to place before you.

KINSMAN IS ONE OF COONEY'S BOOKS

Vivid and Thrilling Tale of An Attempt to Continue Scottish Clan System in Canada.

It is a vivid and thrilling tale that Mr. Cooney writes around the historic figure of the Highland Scottish chieftain, "The MacNab" who settled nearly a hundred years ago in the valley of the Ottawa, by the banks of its tributary the Madawaska, and there attempted to continue the clan system of the Highlands. His despotic rule led to friction, violence and bloodshed.

How the settlers fought to break the iron grip of "The MacNab" and after many dark days of apparent failure won their rights to their own homes is told by Mr. Cooney with a wealth of stirring incident and picturesque description which makes the historical narrative only the warp which carries the rich-hued, variegated woof of his romantic story. The central figure "The MacNab" is a gigantic personality, and the action moves so swiftly that there is never a dull moment.

Mr. Cooney was born at Peterborough, Ont., in 1871. Moved at an early age to Arnprior, township of MacNab, County of Renfrew, on the upper Ottawa River. Family by no means overburdened with wealth—worked in a mill-yard in the summer months, and managed to get through High School and secure a teacher's certificate—taught school when 19 years old, pupils being for the most part grandchildren of the men who fought the Old Chief McNab. Half of the names on the school register McNabs or McIntyres. Later clerked in a lumber shanty winter away up the Ottawa, learned to know the French Canadian and to speak French fairly. Attended Ottawa University in the Capital for one year. Taught in a Government Industrial School for Indians on the Grand Manitoulin Island, Lake Huron, for one year.

Left Canada in 1895, for St. Louis, and later went to Butte, Montana, taught school and did newspaper work. Came to California in 1908. In 1914 wrote "Dons of the Old Pueblo" a historical novel of the American Conquest of California. It was very well received on the coast.

The first manufacture of tinware in America is said to have been started by Edward Patterson, a native of Ireland, at Berlin, Conn.

Smallpox, in 1634, caused the death of thousands of Indians in America.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

WARSAW

One subject of great interest to the Institute as a whole is historical research. The women of the province, and especially institute members, are taking a great interest in old records, old furniture, old utensils, pictures, and stories; indeed everything pertaining to the work of the pioneers of our country, especially those who are ancestors of those at present in the communities.

So much is this the case that part of the Institute tent in the Toronto Exhibition grounds is reserved for an exhibit.

Necessarily large articles are not shown, as the space is limited. Miss Appelbe, Institute superintendent of historical research, who lectured in Warsaw recently is in charge of this exhibit, and is collecting material. She has written for some from Peterborough county, particularly does she want old deeds, old certificates, old letters bearing on the times, not simply news, but descriptions of work and methods. Old newspapers and any small rare old articles.

The Institute Branch of the Agricultural department will insure articles at the owner's valuation and pay postage or express both ways.

Last year there was an interesting exhibit, but none from Peterborough county.

Warsaw district, settled in 1825, and 1831, with individual settlers from even earlier dates, has an unique history, and surely it may be represented. Either Mr. Putman or Miss Appelbe whose addresses are known to all Institute members will supply any information. The time is growing short, so any who have contributions must act quickly.

MILLBROOK

"Keeping pace with the changing conditions in the modern farm home is one of the homemaker's big tasks," states one of the provincial officers; "the four walls of her home have widened out into the community, and there are new responsibilities in church, school and in keeping in close and helpful touch with every community interest."

As a means of standing up to her responsibilities, the suggestion has been advanced that an alumnae association be formed in connection with each Institute branch, and that an annual reunion be planned. At such a gathering the exchange of ideas would be a feature of much profit and interest, the former members, who have wandered far afield, bringing in new thought and widened vision, and in turn learning themselves of practical hints that had been successfully carried out in the home area.

The Red Cross hospital on Saint Joseph's Island, for which the Institutes have worked hard, and which has meant much to the people of the island, was recently destroyed by fire. Mrs. W. J. Trainor, the district president, is sending out word of the disaster, at the wish of the executive, adds the suggestion that Institutes in Older Ontario may wish to help with the big task of rebuilding. Any contributions, in cash or supplies, may be sent to Mrs. W. J. Trainor, Hilton Beach, who will forward same to the hospital treasurer, and from the latter acknowledgment of the donation will be directly sent.

A speaker from a college on the American side of the line has left a message which our own officers consider would be well worth repeating at the regular meeting of the individual branches: "The average citizen in America to-day lives better than did the kings of two hundred years ago. But our prosperity and comfort may be nothing but a curse to us, if with its coming we lose simplicity, honesty, love, true neighborliness, and the thrift to live within our incomes. We are living in a new world, and our homemaking must be adjusted to meet new conditions. Our housekeeping is more and more being taken care of by power, but our homemaking has still to be done. The finest thing in the world is to be a good mother, and good mothers do not just happen. We need education.

AT CAVAN

CAVAN, Aug. 17.—The following is a paper given recently at a meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute by Mrs. J. H. Snider.

"Habits and How to Treat Them." This is a very broad subject. I wonder if I asked you to define it, just what you would say? The first thing I did was a habit—got my dictionary and it told me that "habit" is the doing of a thing so often that it comes to be done almost without thinking of it.

Did you ever stop and think just how our lives are ruled by habit? We rise in the morning, eat three times a day and go to bed at night. Of course to-day we are more modernistic and say we do these things by routine, but it is really "habit."

There are so many kinds of "habits" too. Some are good and should be cultivated.

In our speech we can be careful and use good English and good grammar as well as to speak kindly and quietly.

How often we hear the King's English murdered in so many small everyday speeches as Hh! Huh! So there! You bet! I guess so! etc. It is seldom now, we hear youth, when speaking to their elders, say, "Yes, sir," or "Yes, Mr. Jones."

In Toronto some time ago, they had a "Courtesy Week," when everybody was asked to be kind and thoughtful and speak politely. I think this would be a good thing to practice fifty-two weeks in the year, instead of one, and so with practice it might become a habit.

I saw a piece the other day called "Mind Habits." It said, "Do one thing at a time. Only thus can we practise concentration. Pressure of many different things, which we feel must be done, often threatens to distract us from the task in hand and leave our day filled with partly completed efforts. It takes real courage to do one thing at a time, sometimes, and thus practise concentration. But as our record of successful accomplishments increases, we are given stimulation for greater achievements and the ability to undertake greater responsibilities.

If I would start to enumerate habits, either good or bad, I could take up the greater part of the time allowed for this meeting and that wouldn't be wise, as next month someone else might do the same, and it would soon be a habit, and Horace Mann says, "Habit is a cable, we weave a thread of it every day, and at last we cannot break it." So we need to watch ourselves daily and see ourselves as others see us, that we may eliminate any bad habits; for our lives are as an open book, read by all with whom we come in contact and especially by children.

At the beginning children are natural; but by watching their elders and imitating what they see and hear, they form habits, which sometimes stay with the mall their lives.

WEDDING BELLS

BLANCHFIELD—McCARTHY.

A quiet but very interesting wedding took place this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Genevieve Majella, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. McCarthy became the bride of Mr. Francis J. Blanchfield, Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Blanchfield, of Guelph. Rev. Father Costello performed the ceremony.

During the Nuptial Mass Miss Geraldine Collins sang Millard's Ave Maria.

The bride was charming in shell-pink chiffon with floating draperies, with shoes and hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of roses and blue larkspur. Her only attendant was Miss Kathleen O'Connell, daughter of Judge and Mrs. O'Connell, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, who wore a period frock of rose moire, with a picture hat and shoes of the same shade and carried ophelia roses. The groom was attended by Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride's mother looked attractive in a frock of midnight blue transparent velvet with a beige hat and wore a corsage or orchids.

The groom's mother wore a becoming frock of black lace with a matching hat and wore a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanchfield left later for their honeymoon.

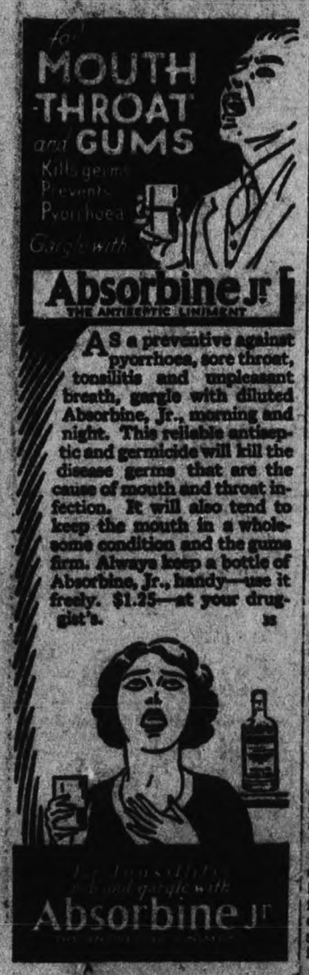
The bride travelled in a smart ensemble of blue and grey.

MEAT JELLIES.

The mother of a sick child tried to give beef and chicken juice to her. When she refused to take them, repeatedly, the mother chilled the juices and served them as jelly on top of toast to the immense satisfaction of both the patient and the nurse.

COAL ARRIVES AT CHURCHILL.

THE PAS, Man., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Two shiploads of Nova Scotia coal have reached Churchill, according to word received here. It was one of the largest shipments ever taken over the northern route into a Hudson Bay port, and was carried in Canadian Government's boats. Difficulty was experienced on only one day of the journey when a heavy sea necessitated taking shelter in an inlet.



AS a preventative against pyorrhoea, sore throat, tonsilitis and unpleasant breath, gargle with diluted Absorbine, Jr., morning and night. LOST CHANNEL IS UNCOVERED

Lightning Creek, Famous in Cariboo Gold Days, May Yield Again.

BELIEVED VERY RICH

QUESNEL, B. C., Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—Years ago the old-timers of the Cariboo gold rush were laughed at when they told of the existence of a rich gold-bearing channel near Stanley, close to the famous Williams Creek area, where half a century ago close to $50,000,000 in gold was obtained.

The old-timers were told that the creek bed had yielded the last of its valuable deposits and that further prospecting was not worth while. Now, however, the famous channel, known as the lost lead of Lightning Creek, has been discovered—and by a woman, Mrs. Gertrude Murphy, the only prospector of her sex in the Cariboo country.

J. P. Williams, who is working on the Lost Chance claim, below Stanley, accompanied C. D. Murphy, husband of the woman prospector, to Eagle or Housman Creek, three miles above where Mrs. Murphy has been hydraulicking for three seasons. There in a huge pit gouged out by Mrs. Murphy's monitor, Williams was amazed to find the exposed rim of the ancient channel. The exposed bedrock at this point was unfavorable, being smooth and slippery, but there is no question, he says, that the gutter, once it is reached, will prove very rich.

No gold has ever been found on Lightning Creek above the mouth of Housman Creek, where the pay was lost. Numerous shafts have been sunk during the past fifty years to determine the channel above that point but without success. Below the mouth of Housman Creek for some little distance there had been little or no pay, proving, Williams says, the the gold recovered at the mouth of Housman Creek was brought down from the old channel.

It has long been the claim of old-time miners that some day a high lead of Lightning, which is the second richest gold bearing stream in the Cariboo, would be discovered. W. Housman, known locally as the "Duke of York", talked of it, to all who would listen for upwards of fifty years, seeking capital to bottom his shaft and thereby prove his contention.

Williams believes Mrs. Murphy's find is a lucky one. "Once proven definitely it will mean a lot for placer mining in the Cariboo", he declared.

Lightning Creek, near Stanley, has yielded approximately $900 a lineal foot for about two miles of its length.

FASHION SERVICE

ILLUSTRATED DRESSMAKING LESSON FURNISHED WITH EVERY PATTERN.

By Annebelle Worthington.

It is easily possible to wear French undies, and still keep within your budget by making them.

For instance take Style No. 2769, the essential one-piece costume slip. One can't have too many, especially for summer occasions to wear with the new sheer cotton frocks.

It will take about one hour of your time to make this slender model. All you have to do is to cut it out and close side and shoulder seams. Each side below waistline is pressed into inverted plaits to provide necessary fulness to hem, and still retain its slim straight lines. It has comfortable V-neckline at front with deep round outline at back. It can also be made with straight upper edge with shoulder straps, as provided for same in pattern.

It is designed in sizes 16 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust.

It is sketched in ivory washable silk crepe with embroidery worked in ecru shade, the new smart vogue of Paris.

Flesh crepe de chine, flowered voile, chiffon, crepe satin, batiste, radium silk and novelty rayon fabrics suitable.

PICNIC PRUDENCE

The picnic season with all its glaring dietetic errors and tendency to overeat is upon us! If every picnic basket were subjected to the censorship of a dietitian, I wonder how many would be approved? When two or three families congregate in the woods or by the shore, what a haphazard conglomeration of food we do produce! And how we do enjoy it. But, though the out-door exercise which is usually another important factor of the picnic, does much to counteract our gourmandizing, there are a few picnic principles which we would do well to observe.

One is: for the cooked-on-the-ground picnic carry more pots and fewer frying-pans with you. Young potatoes, if properly fastened to a tripod (which isn't difficult of construction) boil in a very short time. No need to cook them at home and then fry them in the bacon fat. Eggs also can be soft cooked (in water) just as easily as they can be fried. If you picnic often, it is worth while to make and keep two or three well-balanced tripods.

Another is that, if the first course is fairly heavy, fruit makes a much more suitable dessert than pie—and is more easily carried.

Then, tea should not boil at a picnic any more than anywhere else. Lemonade is, on the whole, a more beneficial and easily prepared beverage—or, with thermos bottles, milk for the children is easy.

A picnic seems a very proper and natural setting for a salad, and their kinds are legion. But see that the salad dressing isn't too vinegary. Sometime try lemon juice as a substitute in your recipe and see if the result isn't delectable.

But, by all means, go to the picnic. Don't let your indigestion and fear of the good things in your own and your neighbors baskets dissuade you. Our summers are short enough; make the most of them and "spend as much time as you can with body and with spirit in God's out-of-doors." Sunshine is good for both body and spirit—almost as healing to broken hearts as its ultra-violet rays are to broken bodies. Who was the old minister who advised a young one to preach often to broken hearts—there were so many of them? On the same principle, I would say—Go on picnics often and take your neighbors. To quote Van Dyke again:

These are the things I prize
And hold of dearest worth:
Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of forests, comfort of the grass,
Music of birds, murmur of little rills,
Shadows of cloud that swiftly pass,
And, after showers,
The smell of flowers
And of the good brown earth.—
And, best of all along the way, friendship and mirth.

OUR CHILDREN

FIRST AID TO SHOCK.

A boy who was evidently healthy, the usual hearty eight year old, ran his head against a nail and received a rather deep cut; nothing serious, an ordinary cut that bled freely.

The boy was terrified at the sight of the blood that streamed down his face and splashed his blouse and hands. He screamed in terror at the sight of it. He became hysterical and screamed frantically at each fresh warm drop. He collapsed utterly before even his slight wound could be dressed.

His parents and friends were disgusted because of his terrible fear of the sight of his own blood. They thought him cowardly and told him so. But that did not help. The sight of that red blot on his hand was too much for him. No talking would help.

When a child is fear stricken, when he suffers shock of any kind, keep still. Wait on him swiftly and as silently as you know how. When you speak, let it be in strong and comforting tones. Reassure him. Keep telling him he is all right, he is with his friends, that nothing has happened that will harm him. Cover his wound from his sight. Do not let him see any sign of it, if you can help it. Cover any instruments that may have to be used in tending him.

Take off his shoes so that his feet may have air. Loosen his collar and any belt that may be tight about him. Cover him with a warm blanket for shock chills him. Give him a drink of water, not too cold, and if he is quiet enough, give him a sip of warm tea. Always keep him under cover. When the doctor comes he will do the rest.

When your shocked child is well again avoid any mention of the happening. Begin training him to render first aid to the family. Teach him how to handle a little first aid kit such as you buy in the ordinary drug store. If he can swab a scratch for his brother, put a little pad of gauze on it and bandage the wound he is far on the road toward courage. Such a child is to be taught to look away from himself, to look outward, toward other things and other people. He is not to be directed to look at himself to study his hurts and his feelings. He needs to think away from himself always.

But please do not call him a coward. A shocked child is not a coward. A coward is one who shrinks from his duty although he knows that it is his duty. A child eight years old cannot understand the implications of duty left undone. But he can understand helping the other fellow. That will react upon him and eliminate the fear and so prevent the shock that the sight of blood brings him.

All little boys and girls should be taught to care for a simple wound as a matter of course. First aid is a part of everyday training. Then cuts and bruises and the like will be ordinary happenings too, and to be met with casualness and a first aid kit.

STRANGE CARGO TO BE CARRIED TO SOUTH POLE

Party of Noted British Scientists Are on Way to Study Southern Life.

HAS OWN MOTH PLANE

"Discovery" is Ship Used by Captain Scott in His Expedition.

LONDON, Aug. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Under Captain J. M. Davis, of Australia, the Discovery has just left on the first leg of its voyage to the Antarctic to continue the research work begun in 1911, Sir Douglas Mawson, famous explorer, and the remainder of its party of 12 scientists will be picked up at Cape Town.

A stranger assortment of gear than ever was loaded on Spanish galleon, Elizabethan venture-ship, or pirates' schooner is stowed in the little Discovery, writes a Daily News correspondent. The vessel will chart an unknown coastline, study marine life from the humble sea-worm to the "leviathan of the deep," and prospect the coastal valleys.

For example, there are about 20 gross of empty bottles—bottles of all shapes, sizes and costliness, from five-ounce milk bottle for sea-water sample to intricate brass Ekman bottle for deep sea study. Some of these bottles are of fine workmanship, made with many chambers of heavy brass, some are coated with silver. Some may be sent nearly four miles down into icy, briny depths, there to take in a specimen of sea-water. A brass "messenger" then sent down the wire will seal them; their contents will be carefully recorded, rebottled, labelled and stored for further examination on return.

An oceanographer will determine the chemical and physical properties of the water, while a marine biologist or "planktologist" will examine the minute forms of life which swarm therein, for this "plankto," as it is called, is the food of small fish, which in their turn feed larger ones—including whales.

More numerous than the bottles are cigarettes; 100,000 are being taken. Half a ton of suet, however, was too much for the cook; the amount was cut down. There will be trawling nets of many different makes and meshes, from the finest silk to the coarse rope of Otter and Monogasque trawls.

Piano wire is another important item; there will be more than 20 miles of it, for sounding depths. A newer sounding method will also be used—the Echo sounder. This emits a tap from the hull of the ship, sound waves radiating in all directions. Those that finally "hit the floor" of the ocean are echoed back, and from the length of the time between tapping and receiving the echo the instrument calculates and records the depth on a dial plate.

Other items of equipment include a Moth aeroplane fitted with wireless, which is to be the "long arm" of the expedition; an elaborate short-wave transmitting set; sets of chessmen, and a phonograph.

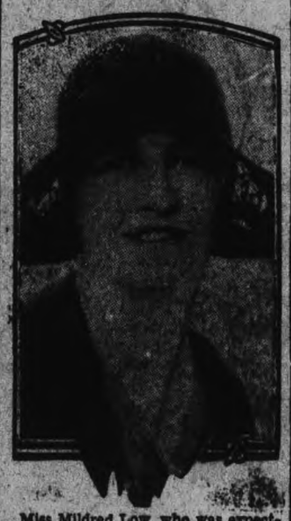
There is an Owen's Dut More Counter, to determine the amount of dust in the Antarctic—an important factor to meteorologists. Bottom Ooze Sampler's will collect ooze from the sea floor.

A few sledges are being taken, but no dogs. The work being mostly coastal and oceanographic, only "day excursions" will be made ashore.

A few random items from the food supply are 48 pounds of Christmas pudding (with buttons and saxpences?), four dozen bottles of horse-radish sauce, 28 pounds of tamarinds and—seven pounds of Epsom salts!

The Discovery herself? She was Captain Scott's ship for his famous expedition of 1910, and is probably the best ship afloat for work in icy oceans. Her every line expresses strength. Her timbers are of stoutest oak. She has stood years of Arctic and Antarctic work, and is good for years more. Twenty-six men and all this gear she will carry for a year or more, yet her tonnage is under 200 tons, and her length is only 106 feet. To see her size and know her work makes one realize that Drake's spirit is not dead.

To Enter Political Field.



Miss Mildred Low, who was expected to be Independent Conservative candidate in the resent Lanark by-election, has announced her intention of entering the field in the next general elections.

They are sold by all druggists or will be mailed on receipt of price. 25c. per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GRAIN IS SHORT.

Not Going to be Surplus of Feed in Niagara District This Year, Report States

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—A survey of the country lying just west of the Niagara Peninsular shows there is not going to be a surplus of feed on Ontario farms this year. Fall wheat has turned out to be a fair crop though less than expected before threshing. Hay has been very good, but Spring grains are poor and corn very backward.

H. A. Dorrance, Agricultural Representative in Brant County, said corn there had never got over the poor start it received in the Spring. Roots are fair, he said, but Spring grains are short and light.

Practically the same report comes from Norfolk and other nearby counties.

Baltimore, Md., was incorporated in 1768.

On Thursday a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boorman, 384 Queen Street, when about forty relations and friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gadd, 467 King Street, met to congratulate them on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day. The reception rooms were prettily decorated with flowers and white bells, and the many vocal solos and readings which were contributed were greatly enjoyed by all. During the evening an address was read, and Mr. and Mrs. Gadd were asked to accept a case of silver as a token of esteem from their friends. Although completely taken by surprise, both Mr. and Mrs. Gadd expressed their appreciation in a few well-chosen words. Light refreshments were then served, and a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds," "Auld Lang Syne," and God Save the King.

PRIATE FOR MORNING OR AFTERNOON WEAR.
By Molyneux.

The delightful feature of this irresistible ensemble which I have created is that it can be worn for afternoon as well as morning. The material of the original model is of soft navy blue wool; and the finely pleated bands about the cuffs and collar and around the hem of the short flare jacket, are of the same fabric. The lining is a beautiful printed crepe de chine, and the sleeveless dress has a belt of this material which fastens in a large blue buckle. The hat should be blue of course, small and tight fitting and expertly cut.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

BARREL UPHOLSTERY is the last word in style of furniture covering. It's interesting, isn't it to read all about what we should have our furniture covered with this season, and what is going to be used in the fall? Really, if we kept up with all the fashion I'm sure we wouldn't get very far in this world!

• • • • • • •

The term 'barrel upholstery,' applies to the method of work and not to the type of design or the kind of textile. Some of the fabrics are made to suit the style of work, so that the design appears to the best advantage when on the furniture. Sometimes we notice several sections so put on complete a pattern rather than each section being complete in itself.

• • • • • • •

It is easy to understand the reason for the name as there is a marked resemblance to barrel staves in the appearance of the bulging, finished work which follows the present vogue for quilting.

• • • • • • •

Each lengthwise section of stitching is padded and richly rounded out. Of course, the padding may be down, feathers, hair, floss or any of the modern furniture filling materials.

• • • • • • •

It is necessary that the padding be good for it determines the luxury of the upholstery and because it supplies the comfort of the covering of the springs.

• • • • • • •

You remember the fine old time button and pleated upholstery, and the stiff old chairs we used to sit on when we went to grandmother's? The new method of covering—so called, the barrel upholstery—indicates a tendency to revert to this old time custom of the button and pleated upholstery which which was an apex of upholstery craftsmanship.

• • • • • • •

I have even noticed that many workmen frankly admit that they have not acquired this difficult technique. Of course, with this style of covering being out for a number of years, it is not strange that many workmen know nothing whatever about it.

• • • • • • •

It will be quite difficult and will, I suppose, be more expensive than the cushion upholstery has been, because of the amount of extra work it will take in the making.

• • • • • • •

The cushion and the smooth textile methods of furniture covering took care of turns and angles in frame shapes. It will be remembered that angular shapes have been pronounced vogues. Beautiful curved and shaped furniture has been conspicuous by its absence.

• • • • • • •

For this reason buttons and pleats were not essential for modern pieces, although they were for many handsome antiques.

• • • • • • •

It is for these latter types that the button and pleated coverings were required so that there had to be some craftsmen who continued to do this special work, for which a special price has also been paid.

• • • • • • •

Barrel upholstery is sufficiently precise in appearance to conform to modernistic furniture with its angular lines, while at the same time it suggests comfort.

• • • • • • •

As has been shown it is a novelty, a forerunner of more intricate methods of putting on furniture coverings.

• • • • • • •

If you are thinking of having your furniture re-covered, ask to see something done in the new barrel upholstery, for it is quite appreciated after using the plain cushion upholstery for a number of years.

• • • • • • •

You'll maybe notice it at the Exhibition this fall when they are displaying the latest in furniture among their exhibits.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

"Dear Anne Wilcox:

You are giving us a lot to think about just as Marion did. To me in her Whatnots she seemed a kindred spirit and in your "Just Between Us Women" you too, are helping greatly. I was so very glad to see Marion's letter last evening. You did put things plainly when you used the electric currents as an illustration.

Your notes about a man taking a woman other than his wife out to dinner or luncheon amused me. Mrs. Grundy is far from dead, and perhaps it is better. At times she is a nuisance to people who would do the right thing, but at times she keeps thoughtless people in the straight and narrow way. Public opinion means "in the sight of all men," and we are enjoined "Let not then your good be evil spoken of," and the advice is good.

You are right enough, there is no harm in the going to dinner, lunch or even a drive or a play or any other place proper for any one to go, in company with another woman. But if there is much of it; enough to make it look as if the wife is neglected, "Quo Vadis" is right, at least it is not safe. And a man's name is, or should be, worth as much as a woman's.

Some people will throw dirt, and if we do not wish to be soiled we must keep out of their way. To tell the truth as a married woman, I have on occasion when visiting at his mother's home gone to a concert or a play with an unmarried man about my own age. Now that he is married I would not.

Once when in town alone, I met a man also in town alone, just as going to luncheon. We went in together but I took care to pay my own bill. On one occasion a young unmarried woman and I went quite a long drive to a play with a married man. His wife is a dear friend of mine. The man is a friend of my husband's. Occasions have been where it has been the other way around. However, these times have been exceptions. Under the circumstances they were the thing to do. While a wife, or a husband may be so actually good and true that neither would countenance nor believe any evil of the other it would be annoying at the least, to see a continued attention given to, or accepted from another, and justly so. Often, not only because of Madam Grundy, but because of one's own home, either side must remember the other, and give no chance for a moment's unhappiness. It is generally the wife who is home, really more alone than the husband and why should he crave other company?

In these days when married women have jobs, often husband and wife meet for their meals, at other times they do not and the wife may go to luncheon with another man, but oh! she must be careful. At the last analysis there is no actual harm, but there must be protection from the green-eyed monster from besmirched names and from temptation, and perhaps worry itself. What is right may be the tin edge of the wedge therefore it behooves us all, man and woman to walk circumspectly before all men.

Perhaps your question may be the means of making some just stop and think, and realize that there is never an end without a beginning and often the beginning is, in itself, perfectly right.

Sincerely yours,
Quid Est."

Your surely bring out all sides of the question when you deal with this question, "Quid Est" and that is what we want. I'm glad that you agree with me that it can be done according to circumstances. I enjoyed your letter and hope I may read many of them.

• • •

Dear Miss Wilcox:

It has been so long since I last wrote to the page, that I feel heartily ashamed. It is a good thing that all the neighbors are not so slow at writing as I. However, I wish to say "Welcome," and may you have the continued success of Marion.

I wonder if any of the neighbors have a good recipe for Green Bean Pickle. I would prefer the sweet mustard pickle, and I would also like a recipe for "Grape Wine". Hoping I am not putting you to too much trouble I will conclude for the time. I will try to write soon again and send some helps.

Sincerely,
.....Twinkletoes."..

Of course, you're not asking for too much "Twinkletoes". I'm glad that I'm able to do that much for the neighbors anyway. Thanks for your welcome and I hope you may come again and often. I'm inserting an SOS for your receipes.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

CURING ASTHMA BY MENTAL TREATMENT.

I have written more than once about asthma because instead of being incurable as was formerly thought, most cases can now be cured or relieved if time and patience are shown by the patient and physician.

You will remember that there were the two types of asthma, one due to protein substances and the type that follows bronchitis.

In the protein type there is the succession of wheezy gasps when the air goes out of the lungs. The main difficulty is getting air out of the lungs, which is relieved when the patient coughs up a thick jelly like material. Between attacks the patient suffers no inconvenience.

In the type following bronchitis, the patient had difficulty getting air into the lungs, and even between attacks there are evidences of bronchitis. The material coughed up in this type is gray or yellowish. The treatment suggested is to try and find out what protein material in the food or in the air—may be causing the attacks, and try to clear up any throat or nose condition that may be causing the bronchial type. Adrenalin is the ideal drug to use to relieve the attack. However there are cases that seem to defy all manner of treatment, and research men are able to show a number of cases of asthma that have been completely cured, and others show a number of cases of asthma that greatly relieved by the use of psychology or "mental" treatment.

One is teaching the patient to breath properly through the nose, using chiefly the abdominal muscles instead of the chest muscles, and prolonging the expiration or breathing out of the "air" with the help of counting or humming.

Often the patient associates his attacks with certain unpleasant circumstances or surroundings.

Dr. D. E. Moos has successfully treated 16 severe and a number of slighter cases by daily psycho-analytical treatment for a period of six to eight weeks. Except in two all the pulmonary symptoms disappeared in all the cases treated.

When the mental balance has been restored, even the protein substances which have always previously caused the attacks of asthma, had no effect: with one patient for instance, the flour dust in a mill, in another the dust of a factory, and in a third, the smell of hay.

Clearing up "troubles or worries" in the patient's mind then may be the big factor in curing these stubborn cases which have resisted all other efforts.

Samuels Drops His First Game for Toronto Leafs

NEWARK BEARS GARNER SIX HITS OFF LEAGUE-LEADING HURLER TO WIN DECISION

Bruins Bunch Their Singles in Two Frames To Win Out 5-3.

ORIOLES LOSE OUT.

Reading Keys Drop Double-Header—Quellich Hits For 28th Homer.

NEWARK, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Joseph Samuels, league-leading flinger, who was obtained by the Leafs from Scranton of the New York-Pennsylvania league, and who waded through for eight victories, met his first downfall while toiling in a Toronto uniform here yesterday, the Newark Bears returning triumphant by a score of 5 to 3.

Samuels allowed but seven hits in the six innings he was on the mound. In two of the six frames the Bruins bunched their singles. He was relieved by Hoot Gibson, who worked the final two frames without being scored upon.

WINS HURLERS' DUEL

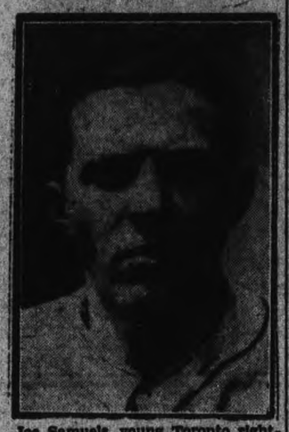
BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Bill Clarkson and Tex Carleton engaged in a spirited mound duel here yesterday, allowing seven and six hits respectively, but the Rochester Red Wings hit opportunely to win 4 to 1. It was the fourth defeat for the Orioles out of the five clashes with the visitors.

KEYS DROP TWIN BILL

READING, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Reading lost both ends of a double-header to Buffalo here yesterday. The Bisons took the first game in 11 innings 4 to 3, and won the final by 5 to 3.

George Quellich hit his 28th home run of the season in the nightcap, with men on base.

SUFFERS FIRST LOSS.



Joe Samuels, young Toronto right-hander, who lost his first game for the Leafs yesterday when the Newark Bears garnered seven hits off him in six innings on the mound to take a 5-3 decision.

THRILLS EXPECTED IN CLASSIC LEGER

Fifth and Last of Great English Turf Classics Attracts Open Field Without Any Favorites.

DONCASTER, Eng., Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—The best available three-year-olds will go to the post for the St. Leger here on September 11, but the vicissitudes of the dry summer and the absence of some very fine colts will lead to a very open race. The long drought of July and August, resulting in hard training grounds, seriously interfered with preparation of contenders for this great fixture.

The St. Leger is the oldest of the 5 classics for three-year-olds—it was first run in 1776—and is also longest of the five, being at a mile, six furlongs and 132 yards. The race, biggest event on the turf between Ascot and the late Newmarket handicaps, will be worth at least $60,000.

From all appearances, the field will be made up of speedy horses of doubtful stamina, and horses that, while able to last the distance, seem to lack finishing dash. Lord Woolavington's Walter Gay, second in the Epsom Derby, appeared to the logical favorite for the St Leger on his Epsom running, but the handicaps in training resulted in his forced withdrawal. Lord Woolavington has struck this kind of luck so often as to become hardened to it.

Taking these considerations into account, a very interesting race is anticipated. The best of the entrants appear to be Trigo, winner of the Derby; Buland Bala, second in the Grand Prix de Paris; Artist's Proof; Le Voleur, and Mr. Jinks.

Derby winners naturally stand out as commanding entrants in the St. Leger. Trigo really appears the horse to beat. He went the mile and a half of the Derby in comfortable style and the extra quarter mile here should not bother him unduly.

The St. Leger is second only to the Derby—stout Yorkshiremen rank them equal. It is very closely interwoven with the town of Doncaster; indeed, the meetings on the Town Moor are an integral part of the town's life. One might almost imagine the chief aim of the Doncaster Corporation, in the old days at least, was the promotion of racing and the entertainment of the visitors who came to see it. Even through the Napoleonic Wars the St. Leger flourished. And naturally, in its long and chequered history, turf epics have arisen. In 1822 Theodore won easily, starting dead lame, and rewarded its venturesome supporters by odds of 1,000 to 5. One bet of 5,000 to a walking-stick was made.

The odds-on favorite in 1934, Plenipotentiary, winner of the Derby, finished next to last and was found to have been poisoned. Then there was the extraordinary victory of Lord Clifden in 1863, after being 50 lengths behind following a bad start. Nowadays the best horse generally wins but in the old days, when the going was heavier, the jockey had a great deal to do with it. The race was never run under 3 minutes 14 seconds until 1858, but since 1899 has always been faster than this time. Coronach, owned by Lord Woolavington, set the record of 3 minutes 1 3-5 seconds in 1926.

Asheville won the first half of the Sally League season and the leading pitcher and leading hitter, Stanley Keys, tried out with Toronto a year ago, hit .443 for the first half. Smythe, pitcher, won 14 and lost but 2.

ROBIN HURLER STOPS CHICAGO

Dodgers Rally in Seventh Inning To Break Runless Hurling Duel.

REDS CHECK PHILLIES.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Aug 17—Fine pitching by Ray Moss caused the Cubs to pause, if only momentarily, in their pennant journey yesterday afternoon. The young Brooklyn hurler shut out the Bruins for eight rounds, and survived a ninth-inning rally to triumph over Charley Root by 3 to 2.

The battle was scoreless until the home seventh, when Brooklyn batters fell upon Root for three runs after having been held to two hits up to that point. In the next round Johnny Frederick hit a homer with one on base.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Stoney Lake, Aug. 14.

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, here it 'tis near the middle of the second week, and all I got so far is sunburn. But the brakes is all agin me. I was all set for what looked likely to be a record fishing week, and bang! What comes along but an earthquake! Can you beat that? I can battle against almost everything in the way of fishing handicaps, but what can a bird do when an earthquake drifts in and scares all the fish? I figger most of the muskies and bass dove so deep when the world was doing a shimmy the other a.m. that they won't be within reach for at least a week, and that ain't going to do me no good. Personally I didn't hear the 'quake, seeing by Big Ben developed engine trouble that morning, or if the sound did filter into my dreams, I just naturally thought it was a sea flea passing, but anyway they musta have been one, for nothing else could stop yours truly from getting fish when he's really set to go after them.

Well, Mac, I got at least the satisfaction of knowing that if the old record ain't broke this year it took a earthquake to stop me, and you gotta admit you don't run across one of them things every day.

Outside of the fishing, Mac, things ain't so bad up here. The weather has warmed up and most of the girls has followed the advice of the old rime and hung nearly all their clothes on a hickory limb. If they's anything in this sun cure business, these flappers oughta live until they're a hundred. They been tanned in canoes, on the swimming raft, on the back porch and a lotta other places, and, believe me, they oughta be pretty well cured by this time. If the things gets any worse next summer, I'd advise anybody holding stock in a ladies' wear concern to sell out quick.

Speaking of baseball, Mac, which nobody wasn't, I just want to pay my respects to Mister Swanston, the leader of the more or less luckless Petes. A home run by a Peterborough player any time is a novelty, and a circuit blow with all the bases crowded is about as rare as a pair of stockings round one of these summer resorts. Mister Swanston has been pickling that old pill all season, what I mean, and his batting average in the face of all the worry he has had to carry is something for the young fellows to shoot at. I don't know whether the Petes is going to get in the playoffs or not, but anyway the gang deserves a lotta credit for hanging on and making a fight of it with a shot pitching dept. The heaving brigade has been enough to make Mister Swanston's hair turn grey, Mister Heckman has been the only consistent winner, and he can't go to the races as often as he used to. Mister Hardill couldn't get going at all, and finally drifted outa the happy family, and Mister Harrison, who woulda been a big help to the faltering heaving dept., threw a shoe half way through the season. Young Mister Macdonald toiled manfully every time called upon, but was out-lucked in several engagements. Altogether the Petes has had a tough battle all season, and the boys has stuck to the ship in great style.

Well, Mac, they's a few days left, so if the fish is back after that 'quake scare mebbe I'll surprise the talent yet.

Here's hoping anyway.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

RING SIDE

By Ring Lardner

By RING LARDNER.

An evening paper in New York runs, among other fascinating features, a department of "Graphology," a word not in my 8.26 dictionary, but which seems to mean the science of judging character by handwriting. The Graphologist is Miss Janet Winton. You write her a letter in your own scrawl and she informs you, in the paper, what you are like, if anything. The other day she analyzed a missive from One-eye Connolly and hit the nail right on the hammer.

"A hearty curiosity is disclosed," she informed One-eye, "together with a desire to be in many places at one time. Wielding a pen is to you a laborious and irksome business. You would rather pay your friends a visit and tell em al labout it?"

It is almost as if Janet had seen old One-eye, because the first thing you think when you do see him is, "Well, here's a hearty curiosity." And as for his wanting to be in many places simultaneously, he has often expressed to one person a keen desire for the fare to Philadelphia and less than an instant afterwards confided in another, perhaps better dressed than the first, that the goal of his ambition is Baltimore or at least Wilmington. Moreover, the deduction that he loves to tell you all about it is uncanny, though most of his visits are paid with the host walking at a brisk clip, and the visitor trying to catch up.

A gent who signs himself S. A. M. asks why it is he cannot keep a job and whether he is really as good-for-nothing as some people say; also, what is he best fitted for? Miss Winton says the whole trouble is the exuberant manner in which he dots his i's, and if he would mend his ways he might succeed as a bookkeeper.

My attention was called to Janet's column by a party named Wilton Lackaye, who suggested that I study the subject and conduct the same sort of department myself. Mr. Lackaye is not aware, of course, that I already have studied it to a slight extent, enough to know, for example, that checks signed in certain handwritings will be less expensive if you don't cash them, but just keep them among your souvenirs. However, it really must be an interesting business when you are as conversant with it as Janet, and I intend to make it my life work. I will commence by experimenting with Mr. Lackaye's own letter and I hope he will communicate with me again if any of my findings approach the truth.

You, Mr. Lackaye, are a man upwards of forty years of age. Your capital L would indicate that you wear a small, black, well-groomed mustache. Either you or your immediate ancestors were evidently born in Ireland. You do not write like the kind of man whom friends would address by such a dignified given name as Wilton; I imagine they speak to you as Bill. The similarity between your small u and small n denotes considerable talent as an ad lib speaker and slinger of repartee. Unlike One-eye Connolly, you prefer to stay in one place all the time and usually succeed even after the waiters have gone home. You are probably living at a hostelry known as the Hotel Daughin, which I judge to be located on Broadway at Sixty-seventh street. The telephone number of the Dauphin is perhaps Trafalgar 2900 and the cable address "Antoinette." You have a thousand times as many stories as your hotel. Maybe you were on the stage and played Svengali in such a way that it terrified little kiddies visiting Chicago from Niles, Michigan. I would guess that your affection for an Englishman amounts to a morbid drowsiness. Am I right or am I wrong?

Also at hand I have a letter signed by four girl students of Trinity College, Washington, D. C. Only one of the girls actually wrote the letter, but the chirography would signify to an expert that all four had recently read a short story entitled "Old Folks' Xmas" and their wish was that the author would dive under a Mack truck.

MOTOR CITY'S VICTORY OVER EXCELSIORS SURPRISES FANS

Brampton, On Dope, Counted Upon To Win Play-off Game.

THIRD AT WESTON.

In Event of Tie On Series, Final Contest Likely To Go To Old Lacrosse Stronghold.

(By "Len" Smith)

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Have Brampton struck their annual slump? This is the question which the majority of the fans are asking themselves, in view of the defeat of Excelsiors last Friday at Oshawa, where on two occasions this season they had little difficulty in taking the measure of the Motor entry. They were not only trimmed, but shut out last week-end, which surely goes to show that the rapid-fire attack of Brampton, usually good for four or five goals, was far below normal form. The return engagement takes place this afternoon at Brampton's stronghold and the home talen are expecting their braves to come through with the necessary win, failing which, however, Excelsiors will be once again eliminated from the lacrosse championship race after leading the rest of the parade up to the finishing tape, failing in the pinches as in 1928.

Favorites to Win

Brampton have all along been picked by the experts as the standard bearers in the Mann Cup engagements, who figured that they had superior talent from which to substitute their regulars, in addition to having the fielding stars from Weston, who in former years turned defeat into victory on more than one occasion for that club.

Oshawa, however, have gained an advantage, not formerly theirs, by using some of their intermediate material(still in the second string contention) for their major engagements and, taking everything into consideration, we fail to see where either Brampton or Oshawa have any great advantage in the matter of playing strength. Though the fact that Oshawa have already won the first fixture will raise their morale for the return engagement this afternoon.

Of course, without the evergreen George Sproule to lead the attack for Brampton, they are a mighty different crew, and at this writing it does not look possible for the genial captain to take his place when the warriors face each other in this second engagement.

Hamilton and Fergus are still battling it out for the right to represent their group in the next set. There are only two goals between them in the three games played to date, two of their games ending in a tie, while Tigers won the odd battle in Fergus. The Thistles' best effort of last week was a 4-all tie against their ancient rivals from the Ambitious City, but they promise to force a third contest by knotting the count right in Hamilton this afternoon. Neither Tigers nor Fergus fear Maitlands or Oshawa, who are now awaiting the decision in the western group.

As per usual, Buffalo are slow to respond to the invitation to enter the intermediate series, which they surprised the natives by corralling last season. There should be plenty of material in the home of the "Herd," where several of the former St. Catharines stars are now resident, but lack of action in anything but a city league has apparently caused the interest to lag across the border, with the result that it is hard for them to make up their mind to get into the big O.A.L.A. swim.

Bob Parnham, former football star at Georgia Tech, and now a star with the Atlanta baseball club, is being scouted by the majors. A price of $25,000 has been set by Atlanta.

When Lowell failed to support the New England League the franchise was transferred to Nashua, N.H.

CALLS FOR CANAL TREATY

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Speedy consummation of a treaty between the United States and Canada that will make the St. Lawrence seaway project a reality was urged in a resolution at the closing session of the Great Lakes Harbors' Association here yesterday.

C. Alfred Maguire of Toronto was elected president of the association, to succeed William G. Bruce of Milwaukee at the final business session. Mr. Bruce, head of the association since its organization eight years ago, was chosen honorary president.

MACKS CAPTURE SECOND STRAIGHT

Shores Stops Ninth Inning Rally and Athletics Win Out 6-5.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—(C.P.) — The Athletics made it two stranght wins aver the Indians yesterday when young Bill Shores shut off a ninth inning rally after Geo. Earnshaw had been batted from the box.

With the wining run on base, Shores disposed of Averill and Fonseca ,tw oof Cleveland's best hitters, and the Mackmen pocketed a 6 to 5 victory.

Rochester, leading the International League, went through ten consecutive games without making an error, a modern record in the double AA circuit of the east.

The Chicago Cubs, from bat boy to manager, put the ban on talking pennant either on or off the field of play.

RIVAL BOXING COMMISSIONS LIKELY TO GET TOGETHER

Harmony Will Be Keynote of N. B. A. Pow-wow in Chicago—Ontario and New York State Commissions May Come To Understanding With National Federation.

TORONTO, Ont., August 17 (Special to The Examiner, Copyright). — When the National Boxing Federation meets in Chicago on September 16, the keynote will be "united we stand, divided we fall."

Now that Paul Prehn of Chicago has been deposed from the Illinois State Athletic Commission, and is out of the leadership of the N.B.A., steps are being taken to have the Ontario Athletic Commission re-affiliate with the N.B.A. At the time of the annual convention of the N.B.A. here a year ago, the Ontario Athletic Commission was so annoyed at the cheap politics employed to switch the control of boxing from down east to Chicago that they withdrew from affiliation and have since been going it alone ,or rather with a working agreement with the New York State Athletic Commission and other friendly bodies. Tom Donoghue, of Meriden, Con., past president of the N.B.A., one of the strong men of the N.B.A. before the Chicago and western crowd obtained control, wired the Ontario body asking the commissioners to reconsider their decision and again join hands. The matter will be discussed when the chairman, Thomas Murphy, returns from Temagami.

An especial effort will be made for the N.B.A. also to draw up an agreement with the New York Boxing Commission. The N.B.A. has sought this before, but always has been told that New York would go it alone. However, with all of the trouble with Max Schmeling's management the last few months, it is pointed out by friends of the N.B.A. that New York will be glad to consider an agreement.

Pittsburg Crew Snaps Out of Batting Slump To Win 9-3 Decision.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—(C.P.) —The Pirates came out of their batting slump yesterday, hammering two Boston pitchers for 15 hits and won thei rsecond victory of three-game series here by a nine to 3 score.

Manager Bush shifted the Pittsburg line-up, sending Paul Waner to first base and Fred Brickell to right field.

Brickel land Traynor drove in seven runs between them.

GLENNA COLLETT TO PLAY IN CANADIAN TOURNAMENT

Joyce Wethered Passes Up Invitation To Compete in Double Championships.

MANY STARS TO ENTER.

Nine Year Old North Bay Boy Sets World Golf Record.

(Special to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—The official program has just been issued by the United States Golf Association, of the Women's Amateur Golf Championship of the United States Monday, September 30 to Saturday October 4. As it will be held at the Oakland Hills Country club, a suburb of Detroit, the week after the Canadian Ladies' Open championship at Hamilton, which is only some 185 miles away and reached in a few hours by motor or rail, the indications are that quite a number of the leading women players will go on from Hamilton to Detroit. All eligible competitors, the handicap is the very stiff one of up to six, shall enter directly for the Championship and not through the secretaries of their respective clubs. In Canada, the ladies the past few years have run their own championships, the same as they do in Great Britain, and most successfully too. In the States the U.S.G.A. is still in full control although the Association might well be advised to follow the example of the Old Country and Canada in this respect.

The qualifying round Monday Sept. 30 is 18 hole medal play the best 32 scores to qualify to play off for the Championship. The final on Saturday, Oct. 5 will be 36 holes, match play. The present holder of the title is Miss Glenna Collett, ranking woman golfer of America, who has won it three times. She is expected to play at Hamilton, in the Canadian Championship there, before going on to Detroit to defend her title. She has twice won the Canadian event. It is understood that efforts which have been made to get Miss Joyce Wethered, the English star and acknowledged as the greatest woman golfer of the world to participate in both the Canadian and U. S. Championships, have been successful. This is a very great pity as for participation in the events would have drawn record galleries both in Hamilton and Detroit. She is the "Bobby Jones" of feminie golf.

In the past, Miss Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, and other Canadians have made a very creditable showing in the U. S. competition. Miss Ada did not compete last year but Miss Helen Paget, Ottawa (now Mrs. R. J. Holmes, Toronto) eliminated in the first round, Mrs. Miriam Burns, Horn Tyson the 1927 U. S. champion whilst Miss Dorothy Virtue, of Montreal, Quebec Lady champion 1928, went to the semi-finals before being defeated. And that is pretty good going in such fast company.

The members of the Canadian Seniors' golfing team are now all home after their very enjoyable tour of England and Scotland where they in company with the U. S. team of Seniors were regally entertained alike on the golf courses and at several complimentary dinners. Messrs. George S. Lyon and Frank Matthews of the Lambton Golf and Country club, distinguished themselves by bringing home trophies—the best gross and net prizes respectively, in the matches at far-famed Sunningdale, against U. S. team, certainly a very creditable performance upon the part of the Toronto pair.

This habit of making "Holes-in-one" in Canada, is becoming quite epidemic. Already so far this season, 86 such performances, have been reported, every province with the exception of Prince Edward Island, and every city of any prominence, figuring in the lists. Several women golfers have entered the ranks of the "golfing immortals, whilst every age is represented, from 70-year olders to 9 year-olders. The latter almost incredible age of a one-shotter, figures in this month's list. He is Maurice Reginal, nothing Scottish about that name, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Reginal, Cassells Street, caddie at the North Bay Golf and Country club at North Bay, Ontario. Maurice performed the unusual shot on the ninth hole 126 yards while playing over the local course.

This feat is not only a Canadian, but a world-record. There is no hole-in-one-made by a 9-year-old player or within several years of that age, ever reported before in any of the authentic records of golf published in this country, the States or Great Britain. North Bay is naturally very proud of Maurice who is a particularly intelligent and good-looking boy. His photograph has been much in demand, request coming for it from many of the metropolitan papers of America.

Karl Keffer, professional of the Royal Ottawa Golf club, who has been the very capable Hon. Secretary of the Canadian Professional Golf Association, since its inception, has resigned, much to the regret of the members throughout Canada. His place will be taken by A. E. Crutterden, professional of the Summit Golf Club, Toronto, a former Scottish amateur. Keffer, has seen the C. P. G. A. grow from a dozen or so members to an Association of well onto 300 members. The finances are in excellent shape and altogether it is a very virile organization indeed. Much of its success must be attributed to Keffer who was twice Open champion of Canada. He is the last Canadian to win the Open event. This was in 1914 the year of the war. Since then an entrant from the United States has always annexed titular honors.

NORMA SHEARER IN "THE LAST OF MRS. CHEYNEY"—A 100 Per Cent Talking Picture Comes to the Capitol Monday. This Norma Shearer Picture is Considered One of the Best "Talkies" Yet Given to the Screen.

"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," an all taking picture in which Norman Shearer is starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is a distinctively British product, having made its debut years ago.

Frederick Lonsdale wrote the original stage play from which the film, coming Monday to the Capitol Theatre, was adapted by Hans Kraly and Claudine West and directed by Sidney Franklin.

In the original London presentation, Gladys Cooper appeared in the title role. She was followed in this part by Ina Claire, who first portrayed the glittering society adventuress on the American stage, creating the characterization i nthe New York production.

Since that time the play has been seen in virtually every British province, as well as every American state, having been grouped into road companies and stock groups.

Incidentally, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" is Franklin's first directorial effort on dialogue production. It is Miss Shearer's second all-talking film, her first having been the sensational "Triel of Mary Dugan."

Basil Rathbone and George Barraud, distinguished British-American stage stars, head the elaborate support cast which includes Herbert Bunston, Cyril Chadwick, George K. Arthur, Hedda Hopper, Moon Carroll, Maude Tupmer and Madeline Seymour.

SO THEY TAKE THE $25,000

With the Wrigley marathon swim only a few days away, there is much ado about the beaches around Toronto. Any morning you can see some ambitious aspirant going through his or her daily dozen. Methods of training are in many cases most amusing. For instance, Byron Summers, the "Californian Fish", claims to have got into condition and acclimatised himself for an icy ordeal by sitting on blocks of ice. The waters of Lake Ontario have been warmer of late so that the speed merchant may have been freezing himself for nothing. Another entrant is a Syrian, Thomas Nisby. He had a police chief witness his entry form and then put it in the hands of a law firm to ensure his starting on the big day. From San Pedro and Wilmington, Calif., comes James McSweeney, who has a yen for cream cheese as training diet. From Albany, N. Y., there is a 240-pound newsboy who believes in eating all he can and does his swimming in the public baths. And finally there are dozens who do most of their training by sitting in the sun and, if it is a cloudy day, they sit there just the same.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

GIRAFFES.

Giraffes, in childhood I was told,
Evolved, through eons manifold,

By stretching up their necks to browse
Upon the juicy jungle boughs.

And as the trees increased in height
The brutes, to sate their appetite,

With succulent and healthful food,
Each year enhanced their altitude,

Until they came to be the way
We see them in the zoo to-day.

But this, I learn is a mistake
A mere malicious nature fake.

Giraffes could always browse with ease
Upon the smaller jungle trees

And therefore never felt the need
To stretch their neck that they might feed.

But how the creatures ever grew
To look the curious way they do

I've asked the scientists in vain
They somehow never can explain.

So how the creatures grew so tall
Is mere conjecture, after all.

REVERSE OVERLAPPING GRIP MEANS DISTANCE.

The overlapping grip reversed, meaning the little finger of the right hand be submerged by the first finger of the left hand, is practical for the weak hitter. The man or woman who is not getting enough right hand into the shot should try this for instant relief.

Only those who use the finger grip, that is, who hold the club in the fingers, should try the overlapping grip at all. One can get much more satisfaction out of the overlapping grip inasmuch as the hands are close together and practically acting as one. The powerful hitter can overlap with the right, while the weaker hitter should overlap with the left.

WEST OPTIMISTIC DESPITE BAD CROP

Low Yield Cruel Blow, But Gross Returns Par With Former Years.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—An optimistic outlook regarding crop conditions in western Canada was brought to Toronto yesterday by D. C. Coleman, Winnipeg, vice-president of the western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Coleman who stopped off here on his way to Winnipeg from Montreal, said that despite a certain measure of disappointment over the western crop yield, the spirit of the prairie provinces continues to be high and confident.

"While the low yield is a cruel blow to many individual farmers gross returns on the crop at the present scale of prices will be as great as many crops of larger volume" he said. "Recent rains seem to have improved the feed situation and it is hoped there will be no forced sacrifice of livestock."

Extensive experiments are being conducted throughout the three provinces in the use of phosphate fertilizer, he said. "If these experiments are successful a material increase in productivity may be expected. In addition the fertilizer will make for the earlier ripening of the crop" said Mr. Coleman.

Dutch Zwilling didn't win enough games with Johnny Morrison so Kansas City sold him to Brooklyn where he promptly started to win.

Several big league baseball parks may follow the lead of St. Louis and erect screens to keep easy pop flies from going into the records as home runs.

Rochester leading the International League, has found Jersey City and Montreal as easy as the Athletics' supremacy over Washington.

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

Lefty Goyer, former pitching ace of the Belleville Nationals, is still hurling good ball for Guelph in the Inter-county League, having won four out of six games. Fans will still recall some of the great games in which Goyer and Lornie Rose hooked up during the early years of the Central League. Other pitchers who have left Belleville for other fields are Williams and Gibson.

• • • • • • •

Ray Schalf, former White Sox catcher, and now coach of the New Yorks, boasts the unique record of having been the backstop in five no-hit games. The pitchers were Reb. Russell, Jim Scott, Joe Benz, Eddie Cicotte, now a baseball outcast through being connected with the 1919 world's series scandal, and Charlie Robertson. It was a perfect game that Robertson twirled, not a player reaching first base, Scott did not win his game, a base on balls and errors beating him.

• • • • • • •

Ibey, pitching for Deloro against Oshawa on June 19 in the Smelter Town, came the closest to pitching a no-hit game of any of the Central League slab artists this season. It was the second game of a double header, a seven-inning fixture, and Ibey had not allowed a single safety going into the seventh. The score was tied one all, when Rowden walked, and was sacrificed along to third. Then Penne was sent in to pinch hit for Little and he clouted a clean single into left. That hit was the only one off Ibey during the day, but it was enough to break his chance of a record and win the ball game.

At the request of the players the Softball League has arranged to finish its schedule of games, but these games will not interfere with the playoff games between the two leaders. Harrison's and Bridgenorth Wild Cats.

Tuesday evening C.G.E. will meet K. of C. and on Thursday Teed play K. of C.

Fans do not need to be advised to be on hand for the championship games. The first game will be played at Central School grounds on Monday evening. The two players who were injured in the last clash between these teams are progressing favorably.

It is likely that the C.G.E. lacrosse teams will arrange some games with Port Hope and Millbrook. Next season it might be possible to form an intermediate league comprising Campbellford, Port Hope, Millbrook and the C.G.E.

Manager Shaughnessy of the Chicago National Hockey Club, has announced that the Black Hawks will be strengthened greatly before the opening of the next campaign, but despite frantic efforts to secure help he has had little success in the player market. Gordon "Duke" Keats, stick-handler extraordinary, has been purchased from the Tulsa club of the American Association, and thus returns to the club that sent him into minor league ranks. Tulsa paid $5000 for Keat's services last season and the Chicago owners thought that they had put over a good deal, but Keats struck a winning stride through the coaching of Dick Carroll of Toronto, and led the league in goal getting, the rules in force aiding him considerably. Never possessed of much speed, he took advantage of the offside pass areas, and drove that puck netward with rare accuracy. Manager Shaughnessy, who gained his hockey experience when in charge of the Chicago A.C. amateurs, faces a stupendous task if he hopes to give the Windy City a championship contender. Good players cannot be bought these days, and the amateur field is getting smaller. Professional club owners will likely discover that it will be bad business for them if they raid the amateur leagues and deprive them of their best performers. Hockey stars are not developed overnight, and clubs cannot carry the burden for ever when faced with financial distress. Amateur hockey will have to be fostered if the professional leagues desire to maintain the present high standard of play throughout the years. Every amateur club that is forced to toss in the sponge, means another blow struck at the great winter sport. Professional league magnates would be well advised to sign an agreement that no junior players are to be tampered with.—Toronto Globe.

England Takes Bat In Last Test Match

LONDON, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press Cable).—England was compelled to begin batting in the fifth and last cricket Test match with South Africa which opened to-day at Kennington Oval on a wicket drying out after heavy night rains. The South African captain, H. G. Deane, won the toss and sent in his opponents on the bad pitch. The weather was fine at the start of the game.

The sides were:

South Africa—Catterall, Siedle, Mitchell, Taylor, Morkel, Deane, Owen Smith, Cameron, MacMillan, Vincent, Quinn, and Dalton, twelfth man.

England—Carr (captain), Wyatt, Hobbs, Sutcliffe, Hammond, Woolley, Leyland, Ames, Geary, Freman, Clark, O'Connor, twelfth man.

GAME SCARCE IN NORTHLAND

Game and Fishery Overseer From Island Lake Makes Long Trip Once a Year

FISH PLENTIFUL

TORONTO, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — Ernest Farrington, game and fishery overseer at Island Lake, west of Trout Lake, the most northerly post of the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries, who is in this city at present making his annual report to the Department, says game is scarce in the northern area this year. Fish is plentiful, but owing to the distance of the country from means of transportation no commercial fishing is carried on at Island Lake.

Mr. Farrington, who is a brother of James Farrington, assistant to the Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, comes out of the far northern wilds to civilization once a year to report to the Government, and his sojourn in Toronto usually is short. The nearest outpost to Island Lake is Fort Hope, about 200 miles southeast of Island Lake. Prior to going to Island Lake he was stationed at Sioux Lookout and Red Lake.

During the year Mr. Farrington travels over a vast area by canoe and dog-team checking up on the few inhabitants. His chief concern is watching for illegal purchases of furs by travellers, and though these as a rule abide fairly close to the law, they often occasion him long trips through the far north.

WATCH THE POISONS.

When you swallow Carbolic Acid or Tincture of Iodine, by mistake, you at once become alarmed and say, "Send for the doctor, I have been poisoned." For one person poisoned from these preparations, there are thousands of persons poisoned daily from faulty elimination of poisons produced by the body itself. When the kidneys or the liver are not working well, they fail to carry away these dangerous poison, and the result is that you wake up in the morning with a headache, a stiff back or stiff joints, caused by poisons that remain in the system. If you wish to correct this condition, procure a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will enable the kidneys to eliminate these poisons from your body and will make you feel fit and active for any kind of work.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are for sale at Lynch's Drug Store, and if they fail to do what we claim for them, your money will be refunded. W.S-7672

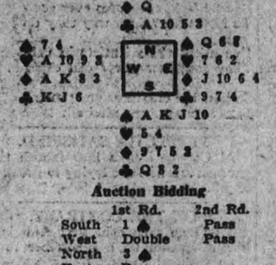
In 1917, according to the government of British India, 24,000 persons were killed by wild animals. Snake bite was responsible for the death of 19,069.

SOUND AUCTION BRIDGE

By WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD

The World's Greatest Authority

GAME ASSIST OVER NEGATIVE DOUBLE AT CONTRACT



Auction Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd.
South	1 ♠	Pass
West	Double	Pass
North	3 ♠
East	Pass

Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd.
South	1 ♣	Pass
West	Double	Pass
North	4 ♠
East	Pass

A rather interesting example of one of the fundamental differences between Auction and Contract bidding is found in the procedure of the North player in this deal. At Auction, following partner's bid and an intervening double, North makes a jump assist, to three odd as he not only holds the values to justify such assist out is prepared to double positively any response by East other than Diamonds; or should East bid four Diamonds, North is prepared to go four Spades. At Contract, on the other hand, North cannot put himself in a position to double an adverse bid, but must call the full strength of his hand at once for game.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South makes an original one Spade bid, his powerful four-card suit justifying such bid as Dealer although he holds little else in the way of side strength. West doubles and North makes a jump assist to three Spades which shuts out a response by East as well as further bidding by West.

Contract: The only difference between the Auction and Contract bidding of this deal is that at Contract, North jumps his assist to four odd. His four cards of the Spade suit, his high cards in Hearts and Clubs and his singleton Diamond give him the exact strength necessary to raise his partner's bid to a game contract.

It will be seen that had South passed originally and West bid one Diamond, it is most unlikely that the North-South players would have arrived at a game contract, demonstrating again the value of making an original bid, and not passing, with a minimum holding such as the South hand given above.

Salient Points of Play

West leads initially the King of Diamonds and as Dummy goes down with a singleton, he shifts to trumps unwilling to lead away from his King-Jack of Clubs or to lead into Dummy's Hearts.

South wins the Spade lead with the Jack, lays down the Spade King and next leads the Heart five which West wins with the Ace. West now has no alternative but to return a Heart. Dummy's Jack of Hearts wins this lead and another round of Spades picks up East's Queen.

South next attempts the establishment of two Club tricks (or three should the adverse six cards be evenly divided) and leads the 2 of Clubs from own hand. West plays the Jack which drives the Ace and gives him the following trick with the King, as South returns a small Club from Dummy and plays the Queen from own hand.

There is nothing further to the play as, regardless of West's next lead, Declarer can make the remaining tricks to wit, two good Hearts, two good Clubs in Dummy and a trump in Dummy should West lead Diamonds. The remaining trump in Declarer's own hand proves to be an extra trick which he cannot take but which would have been a needed card had the adverse Clubs been split 4-2.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

U. S. POLITICIANS EXPECT BATTLE

istration—Those who believe with President Hoover in the principle of parity by negotiation and armament oHover in the principle of parity by negotiation and armament reduction instead of "competitive building with its continuous expansion and all its train of world dangers." William Borah, chairman of the Senate committee on Foreign Affairs and long a champion of peace, who views the naval situation as a peril to the world will be a staunch supporter of the president in this attitude although he has expressed dissatisfaction with the negotiations at their present stage.

The President is ably seconded by his own administrative officers, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Ambassador Charles Dawes. The position of the newly appointed secretary of the navy, Charles Francis Adams, has not been made clear. His department has been acting as an information bureau and has put out through the state department estimates of the relative strength of the world's navies and of the cost of the United States program.

"Big navy" elements gave notice of their intentions with respect to disarmament immediately after the announcement of postponement of the construction of three of the 15 cruisers authorized by Congress in the last days of the Coolidge administration. There was an immediate question as to the right of President Hoover to suspend the building program. Mr. Hoover claimed prerogative under a clause in the Erisbing Act to postpone construction until 1931, but both Britten and Hale disputed his right, and Senator Claude A. Swanson, ranking Democrat on the Senate Committee, denounced the President's action as controversion of the will of Congress. It is recalled President Coolidge was refused by Congress a clause in the authorization for construction which would have put it in the executive's power to halt building.

Introduce Resolution.

Senator William King, Utah, has come forward to the President's defence and announced his intention of introducing in the Senate a resolution in support of the executive. However, inasmuch as Mr. Hoover has insisted upon the legality of his proceeding it has been suggested such a resolution might only serve to embarrass the administration.

Senator Wheeler of Montana, the leading Democrat in the Upper House, has expressed disagreement with the critics of the president. He says: "I am not a Pacifist, and never have been, and I think the United States should have an adequate army and navy. But surely there is no reason why we, because we have the power and the wealth to keep the largest navy in the world, should do so.

"While Mr. Hoover may meet with some opposition in Congress from those who live in states interested in shipbuilding yet he will find a great deal of support from members of the House and Senate who represent States which are not looking at the problem from their own selfish standpoint."

It is quite plain President Hoover will not come to an agreement with the British government on naval reduction without encountering serious opposition from ambitious elements in an outside Congress but it is felt here the country is largely behind the executive.

The man in the street is not insensible to the fact that naval competition means taxes.

SINGER FREED AT NOON TO-DAY

In Jail 16 Days.

On this, the sixteenth day Singer has spent in jail, his counsel made the fourth successive attempt to secure bail, the others having been made before Chief Justice Mulock, Justice Jeffrey and Justice Orde. Mr. O'Connor again attacked Mr. Waldron's powers.

"He is appointed in the same manner as a $10 a week stenographer," he declared; "he is called a Royal Commissioner by some poppycock in the press."

Justice Logie differed from counsel here, stating that Mr. Waldron had the powers of a high court judge.

Waldron Opposes Release.

Mr. Waldron appeared personally to oppose bail and stated that he had acted rightly in committing to jail the witness who had refused to give evidence under section 23 of the code.

It was on this point that Justice Logie disagreed with the Royal Commissioner, stating that the section under which he was empowered to imprison for contempt was section 34 and not 23.

GEORGE CAIRNS WINS IN BOWLS

Twelve Rinks Participate in Weekly Bowling Tournament of Three Games.

R. FOX'S RINK SECOND.

The men of the lawn bowling club held their usual Friday night tournament last evening. Twelve rinks entered playing three seven-end games, with prizes of ten pound bags of sugar. The first prize went to the rink skipped by George Cairns and composed of Harrison (vice), Sorenson (second), and Routley (lead) with three wins and a plus of 20 points.

R. Fox's rink won second prize with 2 wins and a plus of 13 points; while Gimblett's rink was in third place with 2 wins and a plus of 12.

Cairns, Harrison, Sorenson, Norman Routley; 3 wins, plus of 20.

R. Fox, Dr. Allan, Greenslade, Ken. Fox; 2 wins, plus of 13.

Gimblett, R. Coleman, F. Brown, Clarke; 2 wins, plus of 12.

Oke, H. Clegg, R. Coleman, Loftus; 2 wins, plus of 11.

Fitzpatrick, Chesler, Downey, Disney; 2 wins, plus of 9.

N. Routley, Wiggins, E. Coleman, G. Coleman; 2 wins, plus of 6.

Ringer, G. Coleman, Wall, Tully; 1 win, plus of 6.

H. Freeman, H. Wood, N. Henry; 1 win, plus of 3.

Donaldson, J. Wyllie, W. Wood, R. J. Martin; 1 win, plus 1.

Wise, G. Lowe, Braund, McFadden, H. Martin, Dyer, Anderson, J. Bacon.

The schedule rink games of the men's bowling club have been completed and the results as shown by the score book as as follows:

In Group A.—W. Oke, 3 wins; Reg. Fox, 3 wins; Fitzpatrick, 6 wins; Coleman, 6 wins; Bennett, 6 wins; Johnson, 6 wins; N. Routley, 6 wins; J. Bacon, 4 wins; Fallen, 4 wins; J. Donaldson, 3 wins; F. Wise, 3 wins; Curwin lost his games by default.

Winners in Group B.—J. Sedgwick, 7 wins; Maynecord, 7 wins; Cairns, 7 wins; G. Gimblett, 6 wins; H. Martin, 6 wins; H. Freeman, 5 wins; C. Seymour, 5 wins; J. Skinner, 4 wins; M. Bredin, 3 wins; Dr. Allen, 3 wins; M. Chenhall, 2 wins.

The highest six in each group will be drawn next week for the play-off to decide the winners for first and second prize in the rink games.

CHURCHILL SEES FALLS FROM BOTH RIVER BANKS

Spends Night in Niagara Falls Waiting to See Great Cataract

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Winston Churchill and party spent the night on board his private car in Niagara Falls and from eight to ten was conducted on a sight-seeing trip by J. H. Jackson, General Manager of the Park Commission. Mr. Churchill expressed delight with his visit here which had been planned to continue the whole day, but the Government House luncheon in Toronto broke that plan. He was driven all over the park and viewed the Falls from both sides of the river. He remarked on the great growth and development here compared with conditions as they existed on his last visit, 29 years ago. At 10.10 he left by Canadian National for Toronto.

Portrait of Late W. J. Drope Is Presented To Lodge

GRIMSBY, Aug. 17.—Union Lodge, A.F. & A.M., was honored last night by an informal visit by the Grand Master, R. B. Dargavel. The occasion was the fiftieth annual visit of Wilkinson Lodge. The visitors were welcomed to Union Lodge by Harry H. Ponton and George B. MacConachie. The officers of Wilkinson Lodge presented to Union Lodge an oil painting of the late W. J. Drope, Past Grand Master, and a member of Union Lodge. Gordon W. Drope of Hamilton and Harold Drope of Toronto, sons of the departed Grand Master, were present. The banquet and musical entertainment were enjoyed.

LAWN BOWLING

The ladies' lawn bowling schedule rink games are nearly completed. After one more rink game and a few postponed ones the draw for the doubles will be made and will probably begin about next Friday.

Yesterday some very close games were played. Mrs. Miller's rink and Mrs. Graham's playing an extra end to decide the victory. The following is the score for yesterday's game:

Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Deyman, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Gregson—12; versus Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Mowry, 11.

Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Williams, Mrs. Hepburn, 12; versus Mrs. Yeates, Mrs. Bredin, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Fanning, 11.

Miss Allen, Mrs. Borland, Mrs. Mark, Mrs. Magee, 13; versus Mrs. Metcalfe, Mrs. Staunton, Mis Gimblett, Mrs. Skinner, 11.

Miss Sedgwick and Mrs. Wiggins, 19; versus Mrs. Greenslade and Mrs. Cheverill, 16.

Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Welch, Mrs. Moore, 11; versus Mrs. Coleman; Mrs. Archibald, 6.

INMATES OF REFUGE APPLY FOR PENSION

Will Entail Gov't Expenditure of $9,600 Yearly For Those Over 70 Years.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 17.— Mayor Beckett and city representatives on the House of Refuge Board visited the institution and made arrangements for the completion of old-age pension application forms for all city inmates over 70 years of age. Mayor Beckett said this morning that if the full pensions can be obtained for all inmates of the institution who say they are over 70 it will mean annual payments by the Government totalling $9,600. Some difficulty, however, has been experienced in obtaining the needed birth certificates in some instances, as birth records in Toronto do not go back farther than 1869, and considerable inconvenience is caused for those who have to write to the Old Country for records.

Rush in Woodstock

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 17.—Coming with a rush after a period in which small interest seemed to be taken, nearly 100 applications for old-age pensions are now in the hands of County Clerk A. E. Roth. Of this total about 30 are from the House of Refuge.

Northern Ontario Tour Planned For Representatives of Twenty-five Newspapers.

RARE CANOE TRIP.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug 17 (C.P.)—Twenty-five daily newspapers will be represented in the press party of 50 leaving Toronto Sunday night to tour New Ontario at the invitation of Sault Ste. Marie. All accommodation in two sleeping cars has been taken.

Civic dinners will be tendered the party at Timmins, Iroquois Falls and Sault Ste. Marie. Fifteen of the editors will make the canoe trip with Hudson Bay Company Indians from Missinabi to the Michipicoten River, crossing on the Algoma Central Railway. The party will spend a day at Michipicoten harbor on Lake Superior. Short stops will be made in Agawa Canyon, nine miles long, on the Algoma Central Railway and a fishing trip to Ranger Lake will wind up the trip.

MEMBERSHIP FEES ARE STILL UNPAID

Humane Society Will Call On Unpaid Members For Fees.

The regular executive meeting of the Peterborough Humane Society was held on Thursday evening in the Chamber of Commerce, President T. E. Sargent presiding. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $357.89, a grant of $150 having been received from the city. The County Council is also giving a grant of $50 to the society to help carry on the work in the county.

The membership fees for the present year were discussed, and it was decided that members of the executive call on the unpaid members during the next few weeks in order that all memberships may be paid up to date.

The secretary was advised to write a letter of appreciation to Mrs. A. E. Sanders for her kindness in helping to supply food for the dogs which are brought in from time to time.

Dr. Johnston, inspector, gave a very full report of his activities since the date of the last meeting, which included regular street and market inspections. He reported having destroyed several very diseased cats and comments were made by the members present about this very important part of the inspector's work in helping to rid the city of disease which might be contracted from any diseased animal. Several dogs were sold into good homes during the past month, these funds helping to feed and advertise same. One cat which the inspector was called upon to destroy, was reported to be 17 years old, which is an exceptional age for cat or dog. Several complaints were investigated regarding cruelty to horses and birds, and warnings given in each case.

REPARATION OFFER REFUSED BY BRITISH

Chancellor Snowden's rejection of the offers of the other creditor Powers, it was felt in British sources this afternoon, left little chance for further negotiations here unless France, Italy, Belgium and Japan find it possible to increase their offers substantially.

Chancellor Snowden was stated to have calculated that, instead of the 60 per cent. of his demand, the creditors claimed to be offering him their proposals probably would net about 20 per cent. of what he feels he must have.

The Chancellor not only held that the figures mentioned by the other powers were incorrect, but in his reply to them he questioned the correctness of other statements made in their memorandum, among which was the allegation that Great Britain already was getting a considerable share of unconditional annuities through the Recovery Act, it was contended by the British that this Act must be considered simply as a substitute for deliveries in kind.

In his conversation with Premier Jaspar of Belgium concerning the offer, the Chancellor said that if it were the last word the other creditors had to say in the matter everybody might as well go home.

No Sacrifice For Others.

The Chancellor held that the offer itself involved no sacrifice at all for the other principal Powers, but was simply an offer to increase Great Britain's share of reparations at the expense of the smaller Powers.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Aug. 17 (Canadian Press)—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, called on Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, just before noon to-day.

He refused to say whether his visit was for the purpose of mediation but there was less pessimism among the Germans than elsewhere and this was taken to mean that the chief of the Reich delegation was endeavoring to prevent a complete break.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS NEEDED.

A new form of traffic blockade which is of a nature somewhat different from usual auto car jam, but none the less formidable and annoying, is becoming very common on the Main street. It generally originates when Mrs. Smith, who is pushing a perambulator, meets her dear friend Mrs. Jones at one of the crowded points on the street. In the midst of their excited ravings on the subject of the baby, which is repcsing uninterestedly in the carriage, they are joined by their mutual acquaintance, Mrs. Gauchenheimer. In a moment or two several more join the group and the trick is done—the sidewalk on Peterborough's main artery is completely blocked. Unfortunate pedestrians who desire to pass that point must take to the gutter and circumvent the mass meeting.

GENTLEMEN ALL,

On Charlotte street, close to the intersection of Reid of Reid street, last night, two light cars figured in a slight accident. One slowed down suddenly without giving adequate warning and the second one, following it, which was travelling at a high speed, was unable to stop in time to avoid crashing into the rear of the first car. The drivers eyed each other for a moment without saying a word, and then of one accord started up their cars which were not damaged enough to be disabled and drove away. Both gentlemen heaved a sigh of relief on escaping from the blame which their guilty consciences told each of them they deserved.

An incident occurred at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets yesterday which did not help to raise the woman driver in man's estimation. One of the species approached Charlotte street on Aylmer and brought her car to a stop quite according to law. Taking advantage of the moment of idleness she delved into the depths of her hand-bag and brought forth a compact with the aid of which she commenced to powder her nose and otherwise repair her make-up. It being about 5 o'clock the auto traffic at that point was heavy and the line of cars behind her soon extended to the Fire Hall. However, after completing her operations, the member of the fair sex who had been unmoved by the plaintive bleatings of horns behind her, nonchantly set her car in motion and continued leisurely on her way.

OFFERED NEW POSITION.

C. E. Jamieson, head of the commercial department of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational Training School, has been offered the principalship of the Napanee Collegiate. COSTLY LIQUOR

A local man was fined $106.00 in police court this morning for having liquor in an illegal place and a friend of his paid $16.50 for consuming.

A fifteen year-old Havelock boy was charged with breaking and entering a private dwelling for indictable offence. He did not elect and the Crown asked for an adjournment of one week.

TOKYO, Aug 17—(Canadian Press)—Despatches to Asahi Shimbun from Pogranichnaya to-day said Chinese and Russian outposts had clashed south of Pogranichnaya on the morning of Aug. 14, when Red cavalry allegedly invaded Chinese territory.

Since the clash the Chinese garrison of Pogranichnaya has been reinforced strongly.

Rengo despatches from Harbin said Chinese and Russian troops clashed at 5 p.m. yesterday near nese Eastern Railway 31 miles northwest of Pogranichnaya. After a brief exchange of firing the Russians retired.

Rengo Muken despatches said that Chang Hsueh Liang, head of the Manchurian provincial governments after a military council at Mukden ordered mobilization of additional infantry brigades, one cavalry brigade, and air units for border service.

YOUTH INJURED IN SHOP FIGHT

Only a miracle saved Percy Adamson from being stabbed to death by a fellow-worker yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock in a shop brawl that occurred at the Peterborough Lock Works on Simcoe Street. An argument had arisen between Adamson and Tony Marocco during the day and finally developed into a hand-to-hand conflict. It is alleged that Marocco assailed Adamson with a large file and inflicted several severe injuries about his arms, legs and neck, barely missing his jugular vein.

GRAF ZEPPELIN LANDS SAFELY IN JAPAN

7000 Mile Flight In 102 Hours

German Dirigible Adds Brilliant Chapter To Air History.

CIRCLING GLOBE.

Dangers of Siberian Passage Were Successfully Avoided.

TOKYO, August 19. (C.P.) — The Graf Zeppelin, giant liner of the air, landed at Kasumigaura airport, forty miles northeast of Tokyo, at 6.27 p.m. to-day (1.27 a.m., Pacific Standard time), completing the most perilous trip of its globe-circling journey, the flight of nearly 7,000 miles from Friedrichshafen, Germany, in approximately 102 hours.

The Japanese ministers of navy and communications headed the committee of welcome waiting to greet Commander Hugo Eckener and his crew and passengers. Preparations had been made to handle a crowd of 50,000 which was expected to gather at the landing place. When the giant airship came down 600 special guests joined in drinking a special champagne toast to the successful completion of the flight, while bands of the Japanese navy played the German national anthem.

From the moment the landing lines of the dirigible are in the hands of the ground crew until the leviathan of the air takes off again on her flight to the New York, armed guards will constantly circle the airship to prevent stowaways from getting aboard.

Kasumigaura is the Japanese naval air station, about 40 miles northeast of Tokyo. A large hangar there, completed in 1926, was acquired from Germany on the Japanese reparations account. Three bilanes, the native fighter than air force of the Japanese navy, were removed from the hangar to accommodate the Graf Zeppelin.

Continues on Thursday

Five hundred Japanese bluejackets brought down the silver queen of the air, at Kasumigaura at 6.27 a.m., forty minutes later they stowed her safely away until the start of her flight of 5,240 miles across the Pacific Ocean to Los Angeles, next stage of her flight around the world. The Graf will probably start for the Pacific coast of America on Thursday.

This flight over the waste stretches of the Pacific never yet traversed by an airship, marks the third stage of the globe-encircling Graf's journey. Together with the run across the American continent from Los Angeles to Lakehurst, the Zeppelin must still fly nearly 8,000 miles to her goal on the New Jersey airfield from which she set out on August 7.

LABOR MINISTER VISITING CANADA

Above are shown the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal in the Labor government, and the "Lady Privy Seal," as her husband defined his wife to an interviewer when informing that she had once kept house for him and their two eldest children on $6 a week. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were married in 1898, when the then railroad engineer was 23 years of age. They have three sons and two daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas arrived at Quebec Aug. 16 and were in Ottawa on Aug. 17.

YEGGS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO LOOT LOBLAW STORE

Set Fire To Store Attempting To Open Safe With Acetylene Torch.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—Yeggmen made an impressive but unsuccessful attempt to loot the safe of a Loblaw groceteria at 260 Dundas Street some time during the night. They lugged a heavy acetylene torch outfit to the store balcony and there, screened from sight of passers-by, they wrecked the safe without reaching the compartment, where $2,000 was deposited. When the store caught fire from the torch, the yeggs put out the blaze with bottled pop. Finger prints and a few tools were left behind as clues.

NO DUMPING OF IMMIGRANTS FROM BRITAIN THOMAS SAYS

Extension of Empire Trade One Purpose of His Visit.

AN OTTAWA GUEST.

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—Conferences that may have a far-reaching effect on Canada's trade with the United Kingdom, in addition to causing readjustment of the Dominion's immigration policy to ensure a steady flow of migrants from the Motherland to Canada, will be held this week, it became known Saturday upon the arrival in the capital of Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment in the British Cabinet. The Labor Leader and his wife and daughter are guests, during their stay in Ottawa, of their Excellencies the Viscount and Viscountess Willingdon, at Government House, and will be entertained also by Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister, and the Government of Canada.

It was made clear in an interview with Mr. Thomas that the trade question occupies a foremost place in the purpose of his mission to Canada and is not dwarfed by the important problem of immigration. Mr. Thomas announced to the press representatives who interviewed him at Government House that he proposed to discuss with members of the Canadian Government every aspect of trade relations as they affect Great Britain and Canada, but he would endeavor to keep in mind that he was meeting a Dominion Government. "I do not propose to tell the Canadian people how to carry on their business. They know more about that than I do" he said.

Increased Coal Imports

Nothing was said about tariffs or preferences, nor were any details forthcoming as to the probable action to be taken to give a fillip to British and Candian trade. It is understood however that one of the matters to be discussed by Mr Thomas with Canadian Ministers will relate to the marketing in Canada of British coal in increasing quantities. Canada imports between fifty and sixty million dollar's worth of coal annualy, chiefly from the United States. British miners in large numbers are out of work, and one of the tasks of Mr. Thomas is to find employment for them. If the Canadian market could absorb more British anthracite and bituminous coal it would help the unemployment situation in Engand, Wales and Scotand. Already large quantities of British anthracite are being consumed in Montreal, and it is believed soft coal from the United Kingdom could be used in Ontario and Quebec more extensively without injuring the Canadian coal industry.

Not Dumping Immigrants

One thing especially Mr. Thomas desired to emphasize, Britain has not the slightest thought of attempting to solve her unemployment problem by dumping immigrants in Canada. He repudiated that notion most emphatically.

"The idea that we look upon migration as a solution of the unemployment problem is humbug," he Definits Report From the Manchurian Border To-day.

CHINESE LEADERS MEET.

PEIPING, Aug. 19.—(A.P.)—Definite reports of minor clashes between Russians and Chinese were received to-day from the Manchurian border, but there was no confirmation of official reports on Saturday that 10,000 Red army troops had invaded Manchuria.

Legation circles accept the latter report, which thus far has come only from Mukden, with great reserve pending definite confirmation.

CHINESE REINFORCEMENTS.

TOKYO, Aug. 19.—(A.P.)— Rengo news despatches from Mamchuli, Manchuria to-day said the first of the large Chinese reinforcement armies which are being rushed to the western Manchurian border had arrived there, equipped with machine guns.

A mukden despatch to the same agency said that Governor Chang Hsueh Liang had appointed General Wang Shu Chang commander of the Manchurian forces at present en route to the Siberian border and had summoned a military council to meet at Mukden.

Thugs Beat Aged Man Taking $20 Of Savings

TORONTO, Ont., August 18. — (C.P.) — William Gill, aged 72, was attacked by two thugs Saturday as he stood on the porch of his home. He was brutally beaten and robbed of $20. Gill is confined to his bed to-day with scalp wounds. The two men struck him with blunt instruments and robbed him. When he attempted to pursue them, one turned and struck him in the face.

CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY FOUND AMONG PLUMBERS OF WINDSOR BY LABOR DEPARTMENT OFFICER

Gordon Waldron, K.C., Urges Cancellation of A.B.C. Registration.

ILLEGAL PRACTICES.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—An interim report finding an alleged combine in Windsor and naming officers of the Amalgamated Builders' Council, both here and in Toronto, officers of the Windsor Plumbers' Union and local supply men as parties to a criminal conspiracy will be made immediately to the Minister of Labor by Gordon Waldron, K.C., Royal Commissioner investigating alleged boycotting practices by Ontario building trades.

A Tense Passage.

Waldron made this announcement midway in the session in Sandwich Court House this morning, following a tense passage, during which four Windsor wholesalers faced the Commissioner and promised that the practice of selling goods only to A.B.C. members will be abandoned.

The wholesalers appearing were: John Stuart, manager of J. T. Wing and Co.; S. M. Stewart, manager of G. G. McCough; O. P. Hamilton and N. B. Hood, Windsor manager of Crane's, Ltd. George B. Giles, who also appeared and was shown to have been independent of the Guild's action, drew commendation of the Commissioner.

John H. Hart, business agent of the Windsor local of the Plumbers' Union and C. E. Paddon, home chairman of the Plumbers' Guild, asserted their stand would be unchanged and that as far as they were concerned their practices would be continued.

Minister Asks For Report.

Waldron said in part:

"I have received a letter from the Minister of Labor asking me to make interim reports on this investigation, whenever, in my opinion, it is in the public interest to do so.

"I propose immediately to report to him that I find in Windsor that the A.B.C., co-operating with the Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild and the Dominion Chamber of Credits and certain persons to be named are a combine within the meaning of the Combines Act.

"I will report that this combine has criminally and wrongfully carried on the practice limiting competition, raising prices and interfering with business and that it has been ruthless and merciless in this practice.

Part of the Combine

"I will report that among the persons discovered here taking part in this conspiracy are Messrs. Paddon, Hart, Belyea, Ward, White, Cooke, Burford, all managing officers on the A.B.C. In this city, are part of the combine and that Roy Belyea of Toronto, President of the A.B.C., has co-operated.

"And I will report that Louis M. Singer of Toronto has been party and privy to the conspiracy, although I am going to hold the report on Singer because of further disclosures to be made.

"I will report also that all the wholesalers with the exception of Giles have been privy to the combine.

"Criminally Liable"

"It is my opinion, apart from the Combines Investigation Act, that all of these persons are criminally liable under the Criminal Code. I will report also to the Minister that I believe that registration of the A.B.C. under the Trades Union Act was procured with fraudulent intent, with the intent to commit crime and that the A.B.C. has been operated ever since with that intention. And I will ask immediate cancellation of this registration, so that this protection may be withdrawn."

Two Youthful Swiss Flying over Atlantic

Coolly Buying Sandwiches in Restaurant Daring Lads Hop Off at 1.30 A.M.

Depending On Single Motor.

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 19.—(C. P.)—Two youthful Swiss aviators, Oscar Kaesar and Kurt Laescher, took of from Juncal, near here, at 7.30 a.m. (1.30 a.m. E.S.T.), in an attempt to make a westward crossing of the Atlantic to New York.

They considered it doubtful they could reach the American metropolis without refueling and planned to strike first for Halifax, probably stopping there for more petrol. It was their intention to fly by the Azores, not attempting to land but returning to Portugal if their fuel consumption was too heavy.

Using Single Motored Plane.

The plane was a Farman monoplane of French construction, bearing on its fuselage near its 230-horse power motor the name "Jungschweizerland," or "Young Switzerland." It was similar to that used by the Frenchmen Bailly and Reginensi, recently from Paris to Saigon, French Indoo China.

Preparing For Week in Spain.

The two aviators, with a third, Alfred Tschopp, flew here last Saturday from Le Bourget, France, stopping twice en route. Previously they had flown to Le Bourget from Zurich, Switzerland. The flight from Le Bourget with its two stops occupied two days, during which the flyers were not reported, leading to belief that they had come to disaster.

Work in Secret

They landed at Alberca aerodrome near here, with so little ostentation that it was two days later before Portuguese generally were acquainted either with their presence or their intention to begin here a trans-Atlantic flight attempt. They conducted their preparations for their flight in secret, refusing to talk about them, with the explanation that it would be better to do and then talk, than to tal kand not do.

Yesterday they let it be known to a few friends they had made here that they intended to begin their flight attempt this morning. At 3 a.m. they left their hotel and drove to Juncal, where they had moved their plane, and where their friend and mechanic, Tschopp, was waiting for them.

Buy Food in Restaurant

En route they stopped at a restaurant and bought food for their journey—a vacuum bottle filled with coffee, a quantity of milk, 15 sandwiches, some eggs and chocolate. They also have with them an apparatus to distil sea water.

Go via Azores to Halifax

The course laid out for themselves by the two Swiss flyers from Lisbon to Halifax, via Azores, was something in excess of 3,000 miles, of which about 950 miles represent the flight to Horta.

The flyers possibly are the youngest ever to attempt such a bold venture, Kaesar being 22 and Luescmer 21. Their plane had a load of 650 gallons of petrol. It carried besides a small pneumatic boat and rubber suits.

Neither of the two aviators had had much experience, both having made their debut in aviation in 1927.

Burns Hand On Exploding Light.

En route to the field Kaeser burnt his hand on a light which a Portuguese had given him and which burst prematurely, the aviator clasping his hand over it to extinguish it. He refused to have it treated but said he would treat it himself with oil as he flew.

The aviators received what they considered a favorable weather report from the meteorologists. It predicted clear weather and good winds to the Azores but fog beyond, especially around Newfoundland.

A long queue of motors followed the aviators to their taking-off place, through fields in which the wild bulls roared in protest at the untimely interruption of their ruminations.

Both Wear Rubber Suits.

Just before the start Schopp picked up a small piece of cork and presented it to the flyers, remarking jokingly that it might keep them afloat.

The airmen both donned safety rubber suits in which they were photographed before stepping into the plane.

SIGHTED BY STEAMER

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 19 (C.P.)—A wireless message from a German steamer here this afternoon reported sighting the Swiss trans-Atlantic airplane "Young Switzerland" about 175 miles due west of Lisbon headed towards the West. The steamer, bound for Brazil from Oporto, did not give the time, but states the position as Latitude 38.48 north and Longitude 11.3 west.

In 1311 there were only 63 banks in the United States. Their capital was $43,600,000.

BALL PLAYERS IN ACCIDENT

Taxi Carrying Raybestos Team Home Crashes Into Toronto Car.

BARRY HAS INJURED KNEE.

A sedan, a coupe and a truck all figured in an accident that occurred on the Port Hope-Peterborough Highway about a mile and a half south of Baillieboro on Saturday night, with the greatest damage being done to the lighter cars.

The truck, owned by Norman Breckenridge of R. R. 2, Millbrook, it was stated by its owner, was standing in a lane with the lights out about to approach the highway, but waiting for the sedan, owned by Stinson's Taxi, which contained a car load of Raybestos ball players to pass, when F. O. Campbell, of Toronto, coming south saw the truck without the lights, but which he said was standing on the highway, and swerved to the east side of the road to avoid it, but nicked the front left fender of the truck and as he shot across the road he saw the other car approaching and tried to take the ditch to avoid a collision, but both cars met head on and ended up in the ditch on the left side of the road.

E. Berry, utility man on the Raybestos ball team, which was returning victorious from Port Hope, suffered an injured knee, while all the others escaped any injury.

Traffic Officer Hinchcliffe was in Peterborough at the time of the accident, when he received word of it, and made the trip in a record run of about nine minutes.

The cars that collided were badly damaged about the front, the front left wheel and fender of the coupe being torn off, while both front enders and the front part of the sedan were crushed. The truck showed no signs of the accident except for a slight dint in the fender.

COMPLETION OF STREET PAVING

Proposed Work at C.P.R. Yards May Not Be Done.

MAYOR IS HOPEFUL.

The proposed improvement at the Canadian Pacific Railway yard to be made by paving the roadway and the continuation of Wolfe street leading east from Aylmer street to the depot may not be proceeded with according to reports received by The Examiner.

However Mayor Denne intimated that the project will be carried out as soon as the Canadian Pacific Railway and the city are agreed on the terms of the improvement. There is a possibility that the project will not be carried through this year but it is hoped by the city officials that this plan of much needed improvement will be carried out at the earliest moment.

It is understood that the C.P.R. have yet to agree with the city on the width of the roadway, the width according to an old agreement of Wolfe street and the bridge over the creek at this point.

But W. Lethaby, foreman of grading for the Warren Paving Company stated to The Examiner this morning that the plan as far as they were concerned had practically been dropped this year and Mr. Henderson, in the office of this company stated they expected to be finished up in Peterborough by the end of this week and to be able to move their equipment by that time.

Mesh Used Over Sewer

Paving operations were held up for about three weeks for the construction of a new sewer that was laid on Park street in front of the C.G.E. according to W. Lethaby, foreman of the grading for the Warren Pavnig Company. It was necessary for the workmen to start on the corners after they have been broken in order to widen the curves on the street to keep the gang employed while the sewer was being laid along Park street.

Precautions were taken by the paving company to prevent the roadway from settling after the sewer had been built. The road at this point was thoroughly soaked and reinforced by heavy wire mesh about 10 feet wide over the constructed sewer and then it was rolled and pounded in. This is the first time that this method of construction has been used in the city and it prevents any sinking of the road bed after the pavement has been laid.

FOREST FIRES CONTINUE SERIOUS THROUGH KENORA

Redditt Is Threatened As Blaze Creeps Closer To Small Town.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—Forest fire conditions continue serious in the Kenora, Ontario, district, according to reports received here to-day. North of Kenora several houses are threatened by the fires, which are being fanned by a strong south-easterly wind.

The most serious situation exists near Redditt, Ont., where a large force of fire fighters are battling the conflagrations, which are spreading rapidly through the brush and small timber. Near Kenora, fire fighters struggling all Sunday and last night have so far failed to bring the flames under control.

Fire caused by lightning is just the same as any other fire and can be extinguished in the same manner.

PETERBORO MAN DRIVER OF CAR IN FATAL CRASH

Inquest Into Death of Grace Scott To Be Held On Tuesday.

BIRTHDAY SATURDAY.

Girl Was Just 18 — Mother a Widow in Lindsay.

LINDSAY, August 19 (Special to The Examiner). — Vernon Beavis, of Peterborough, who was the driver of the automobile which figured in the tragedy on the Lindsay-Whitby Highway on Friday night, in which Miss Grace Scott, of this town, was killed, came before Police Magistrate Jordan on Saturday, and was given a preliminary hearing on the charge of negligence. The accused was represented by Mayor R. I. Moore. He was remanded until Friday, August 23, at 10 a.m., and was allowed his liberty on bail amounting to $10,000. Practically the entire amount was provided by local citizens.

Coroner Dr. Logan empanelled a jury on Saturday to inquire into the cause of the death of Miss Scott. The inquest was adjourned until Tuesday, August 20.

Birthday on Saturday.

Perhaps the saddest part of the whole affair is that Grace Scott would have been just 18 years old last Saturday. Her father, who was a conductor on the C.N.R. when it was the old Grand Trunk Railway, died ten years ago, and since then it has been a heavy load for the mother, whose maiden name was Mabel Hall, to support the family of five. Grace went to work as soon as she passed her entrance examinations in the Public School, and since then she has been contributing regularly to the support of the family.

She worked at the Olympia Tea Room for about two years, and her employer, Chris Tzolos, found her satisfactory in every way. About 8 months ago she accepted a position in the National Bakeries and has been there ever since. She was courteous to the customers, quick and hard working. The manager was deeply shocked when he heard the news, as Grace had worked until 6.30 on Friday night getting the shop ready for Saturday's business, and he had no thought that in a little over six hours from the time she left the shop she would be dead.

She is survived by five members of the family, her mother, Mrs. Mabel Scott, three brothers, Gordon 19, Eric 15, and Gregory 11, all of town, and one sister Hazel, 16, who is living at home. Grace was a faithful member of St. Mary's Church. Hazel, who was going to the Collegiate Institute, had been for some time employed by the Olympia Tea Room at nights and on Saturdays. Eric and Gregory were both attending the Separate School. Eric also worked on Saturdays at the Olympia. The oldest brother Gordon was up until a short time ago working for Lamantia's fruit store, but he has been unemployed for the last few weeks.

The funeral took place from the family residence, 11 Melbourne Street, this morning.

The car was removed to Fee's Garage in Lindsay at the order of Constable Wetherall. It is badly damaged. The left rear wheel is practically torn off, both sides are bent in, the top is twisted and every window in both sides of the car is broken.

TRUCK DRIVER HITS LABORER

Robert N. Graham Receives Serious Injuries When Struck Down By Vehicle.

DRIVER ARRESTED.

Alfred Marshall, 615 Union street, was arrested and charged with reckless driving in the police court this morning, as a result of an accident in Scott's coal yard at 8.10 a.m. to-day in which Robert M. Graham, 115 Robinson street, received serious injuries. Marshall elected summary trial, but did not plead. Bail was fixed at one surety of $100.

Graham was attended by Dr. Baker and it was found that his injuries included a shoulder out of place and a strained spinal nerve, which paralyses his right arm.

Marshall, who drives one of B. E. Strand's trucks, drove through the lane at Scott's coal yard, and knocked down Graham, who is employed there. Graham was carrying a screen and walked into the path of the truck, which struck him forcefully on

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE ENDS WORK OF ALTERING THE HAWLEY TARIFF BILL

Changes Both To Advantage and Disadvantage of Canadian Exporters.

CREAM RATE HIGHER.

Greatest Change In Woods Schedule, Shingles, Logs and Lumber On Free List.

(By Kenneth Clark, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WASHINTON, D.C., Aug. 19.—The Senate Finance Committee has altered the Hawley Tariff Bill, both to the advantage and disadvantage of Canadian exporters. After a month's labor, Chairman Reed Smoot and his fellow committeemen have concluded their revision of the provisions of the bill with the exception of the administrative sections and will present to the Senate a bill which in its effect on Canadian export trade will not be dissimilar to that brought down in the House by the Ways and Means Committee. The greatest change is in the woods schedule—shingles, logs and lumber, with the exception of maple flooring, being restored to the free list. A Canadian trade of about $8,000,00 a year is affected by this provision.

On the other hand, the committee raised the rates on cream, on maple sugar and live poultry, and maintained House rates on cattle, hides, beef, milk, cheese, flaxseed, clover, potatoes and other commodities, slightly lowering some of the rates on fish.

On the whole the original estimate of the value of Canadian trade affected by the proposed changes in the United States tariff stands at from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Outstanding Changes

Cattle—1929 trade value, $13,906,540. The weight standard changed from 1,000 to 800 pounds and the rate changed as under weight from 1½ cents a pound to 2 cents, over weight, 2 cents to 2½ cents.

Beef—$6,604,000—Increased 3 to 6 cents a pound.

Hides—$9,244,000—Transferred from free list to 10 per cent. ad valorem.

Leather—$7,091,000 — Transferred from free list to 10 to 20 per cent. ad valorem.

Cream—$5,225,000—30 cents to 56 3-5 cents.

Increase on a score of Canadian products from 20 per cent. to 100 per cent. Commodities such as cream and hides find their only market in the United States.

Pure ocean water has a clear blue color because salt water does not absorb the blue rays of sunlight as it does the red rays. The blueness of sea water depends largely upon its saltiness.

Summer Cottage Has Disappeared

LINDSAY, Aug. 19.—If anyone in this district should happen to come across a stray summer cottage, they are asked to communicate with Mr. E. C. H. Tisdale, of Beaverton. Mr. Tisdale had been away on a two months' trip to the Pacific and had not occupied the cottage, which was situated on Point Mara, Lake Simcoe, during the summer. On his return he found that a number of posts was the only evidence of the cottage's former existence. The police of the district are working on the mystery.

SABOTAGE REPORTED.

Russians Attempt To Blow Up Railway Bridge.

TOKIO, August 19.—A Rengo News Agency despatch from Manchuli, Manchuria, on Sunday said that the vanguard of expected Chinese reinforcements had arrived with machine guns and field guns. One of the chief lieutenants of Governor Chang Hsueh-Liang has arrived to inspect the defences of this western outpost. Work on this sector of the border is being directed from Mukden by direct radio contact.

Another despatch from Harbin to the same agency said that three were killed when the engineers' quarters near the railway station there, were bombed. Chinese alleged that it was the work of Russians carrying on sabotage. The Chinese also reported that a man was killed by guards when he attempted to dynamite the Sungari Bridge, near Harbin, early yesterday morning.

Russian sources at Harbin said that German Consul Stobbe, who is looking after Soviet interests, found when he visited a detention camp near Harbin that the only rations were raw tomatoes and that many of the women prisoners were ill.

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE CELLS

Wrap Jail Governor in Blanket, Rob Him of Revolver and Keys.

POSSE SCOURS COUNTRY.

MILTON, Ont., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—A prisoner awaiting trial and one about to start for the penitentiary to serve two years, escaped from the Halton County Jail last night after assaulting the jail governor who had been called to their cell.

Governor McGibbon was informed the two men were ill and entered the cell to question them. A blanket was thrown over his head and he was knocked to the floor. His keys were taken and the prisoners locked him in the cell, robbed his office of a revolver and escaped.

The jail governor raised the alarm and pursuit was begun within a few minutes, but late last night a posse still scoured the countryside without trace of the men.

Joseph McCann, Toronto, about to be removed to Portsmouth Penitentiary to serve a two-year sentence for a serious offence against a Georgetown, Ont., girl, and William King, Bowmanville, Ont., awaiting trial on a serious offence, were the prisoners who escaped. Both are 23 years of age.

Exports from the port of New York in 1927 totaled 10,461,159 long tons of cargo.

CENTENARIAN RECALLS LIFE OF EARLY DAYS IN MARMORA

Joshua Anderson Recalls Industrial Life of Village Over Eighty Years Ago.

INTERESTING EVENTS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, August 19. — To have vivid recollections of the industrial life of Marmora over eighty years ago, is not the lot of any of its present residents, yet there is one man not far removed from the picturesque little village who can make this his claim. He is one of whom much has been written in The Examiner since he passed the century mark four years ago. He is known as Joshua Anderson of Anderson's Island, a few miles southwest of Stirling. It is the delightful experience to many to clasp the hand of a centenarian, and where faculties have been preserved, to delve into a past divided by more than three score years and ten with one so distinguished, when such had not been the experience of The Examiner representative before, the interview proved the more intensely interesting in the case of Joshua Anderson.

To look at this wonderfully preserved man without being apprised of his age, one would imagine that he was only eighty at the most. His complexion is remarkable, and when no wrinkles can be detected upon his brow, you are ready to accept his statement that he was never scared in all his life of one hundred and three summers.

One of the earlies things he can remember in his life's experience was the utterance of King George IV's name by himself and playfellows when he was quite a small boy.

Interesting Reminiscences.

In the fall of 1847, he went from his home in Sidney Township to work at Marmora, staying at "The Works," as it was then named, for eight months. His reminiscences of Marmora are of real interest to descendants of the earliest settlers.

Hunter Hays, who established the Works, he describes as a man of large build. He had a son named Thomas. After the Works had lain idle for 24 years a Mr. Van Ormond took them over. Joshua Anderson came to Marmora about the same time, being engaged to chop cordwood for the large charcoal pits. Lyman Hall was foreman and Henry Jones the fireman, while another workman is remembered in the person of one Sam Defue. For their labor choppers

Self-extinguishing Cigarette Invented; Scientists Also Make Fireproof Match

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — A self-extinguishing cigarette and a fireproof match now are on the horizon of science.

At the request of Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts scientists at the Bureau of Standards, in a six-month test of nine popular brands, have evolved a "safety cigarette." Its fire-protection factor lies in an inch-long cork tip, lined with water-glass within a half-inch of its head.

Tossed aside as a fag-end, the self-extinguishing cigarette was found in tests to go out quickly enough to reduce the fire hazard some 90 per cent, as compared with the untreated cigarette. Possibility of accidental fires were reduced approximately one-third by the fireproofed matches.

Recognising human habits as an important factor, scientists discarded cigarette stubs in highways, by-ways, and building corridors. By scientific measurements, they learned that a one and one-quarter inch cigarette stub is the one most frequently discarded, and that two-thirds of the smokers will toss aside a stub between one and one and one-half inches long. The long cigarette is seldom discarded except at entrance of buildings, where it hits pavement and does no damage.

Laboratory experiments showed that cigarettes, taking into consideration total national consumption, had a 40 to 1 fire hazard as compared to cigars.

The scientists, therefore, concentrated on the last inch of the cigarette.

Two thousand matches, including all varieties in common use, were ignited in the tests. It was learned that five seconds is the time most frequently taken for lighting cigarettes, ten seconds for cigars and pipes. The scientists then computed the percentage of water-glassing with the greatest safety factor while retaining the fiery usefulness of the match.

Parisian Foibles

Tiny pleats characterise this chemise and knicker combination which is to be found in the Lucille collection.

TINY PLEATS ARE TRIM FRENCH LINGERIE.

By Lucille.

You will observe in this chemise and knicker combination, I have absolutely discarded the now passe drawn ribbons and elastic. French lingerie no longer gives place to the fussy ribbons about the tops of slips or chemises, nor to the unhealthful tight elastic sewn into the waist of pantaloons or knickers. Pleats, that most essential of French trimmings have been profusely laid into the little knickers of triple voile; and they have been sewn in front and back of the chemise. Four tiny blue shamrocks are embroidered on each side of the knickers, and six on the bodice of the chemise.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I WAS STRUCK the other day by a phrase used by "Lucinda" in a letter to the neighbors.

• • • • • •

"Work is not a curse, but a blessing," she said, "yet many spend a good deal of time pitying themselves because they have to toil."

• • • • • •

The very fact that "Lucinda" is right in her assertion is an indictment we should not lightly pass over. Many women spend most of their time in self-pity because of their hard lot.

• • • • • •

And yet, hundreds and thousands are in worse shape financially and physically than they. No one knows just how hard life many treat ons of the human race, because no one has ever reached the depths to which hard life can drive.

• • • • • •

Each of us thinks life is pretty difficult. It may be, according to our standards. But how about our sisters?

• • • • • •

It seems to me that we need a standard, "Lucinda"—something to which we can appeal when we get into the frame of mind where everything seems against us.

• • • • • •

After all, cost doesn't count—it's what is made out of the cost that is important.

• • • • • •

And, neighbors, that applies to every phase of life.

• • • • • •

Time does not count; hard work does not count; infinite pains and care and love and loyalty are not to e interred as useless extravagances if profit is made in them.

• • • • • •

Is time extravagantly spent when it reaps returns in the form of happiness given others?

• • • • • •

Is work really hard and tiring when its fruits make others happy?

• • • • • •

Isn't it worth while to take pains that our loved ones may be satisfied?

• • • • • •

What woman of us would deny care and love to those for whom we care and whom we love? Even if it were ever so asurd from a material viewpoint we women would continue to love and care.

• • • • • •

And loyalty! It's a tradition of our sex that we should be loyal—even to failures. Women have sacrificed themselves through the ages, rather than be disloyal to their mates—and will continue.

• • • • • •

But—since our yearning hearts are satisfied with the adoration and approbation of our mates, what matter the sacrifice?

• • • • • •

It is our nature to console instead of scold when hubby makes a mistake. It would be easier to be cheap and raise cain. But we are women and natural consolers.

• • • • • •

It's rough on women, of course. The cheaper course is easier. But after all, cost doesn't count. It's what is made out of the cost that is important.

• • • • • •

And we have cradled the human race; we have raised a generation of super-men; and the future alone knows what we shall give to the years to come.

• • • • • •

Such is our glory. In order to realize it to its fulness we must forget self-pity, and, as "Lucinda" says, advance cheerfully toward our destiny.

• • • • • •

At the end of the rocky road, who knows—a rose may be found?

BACKLESS FROCKS.

Tennis and golf both prefer the low backline for their necks' cut. One white silk pique frock has its back cut very low and rounding and its front rounding but not so low. They are laced together on the shoulder and the strings tied in bows.

CURTAIN PINS.

Pinch clothespins, or those called "patent clothespins" are excellent savers for window curtains when kept attached to drapes and used to pin back glass curtains each night.

COLORED SHOES.

Colored shoes for summer are so universal now as to be novelties no longer. Many staple oxfords, sandals and pumps are made in navy blue, green, purple and soft reds now. Evening slippers of white are dyed to match every color in the world.

INTESTINES.

Some years ago during an outbreak of dysentery in China, test barium meals were given and X-ray pictures taken as the barium meal was passing through the intestine.

It was found that the patients that had taken the barium meal recovered, and naturally this was thought to be due to the X-rays.

However, when the X-rays alone were used there were not the recoveries that were expected, and then it was realized that it was the barium meal that cleared the intestine of the offending organizms and the products of these organisms.

In India the same thing happened and when the research men had no barium left, they went into the hills and found a pure form of clay which they used in curing dysentary, with the same satisfactory results as had been obtained by the use of barium.

Physicians who have sent their patients to have an X-ray series made of the intestine and have received a report that there was no organic condition—no ulcer, nor cancer—have some times wondered why these patients have not returned for further treatment or advice.

Sometimes in fact they have been of the opinion that their patients have gone elsewhere for advice and treatment.

What has really happened?

The barium is passing through the intestine has has actually cleaned away organisms, waste material, and the coating that sometimes collects on the lining of last part of large intestine.

With the removal of these conditions they feel so much brigher and clearer headed, that for a considerable time they do not feel the need of consulting a doctor.

However, only barium sulphate as obtained personally by your physician for you, should be used, as other salts of barium are extremely poisonous.

But the idea of a "mechanical" cleansing of the intestine in this thorough manner is worth the consideration of all patients with intestinal symptoms.

SOCIAL EVENING.

Successful Affair Conducted Under Auspies of Vimy Ridge No .244.

The members of Vimy Ridge No. 244 held a very successful mock lawn social in Victoria Hall Friday evening. The hall was gaily decorated with bunting and strings of pennants, and booths were arranged around the hall where home-made cooking, ice cream, soft drinks, hot dogs, candy were sold and also a very popullair booth designed as the country store where everything from flowers to soup was sold.

The booths were attractively decorated with bunting, colored crepe paper and flowers.

In an alcove, heavily curtained a richly adorned fortune-teller predicted the future, wealth, health and happiness of many youthful visitors as well as older people.

During the evening a ham donated by Mr. Jones of A. and P. store was drawn for the lucky ticket drawn by Mr. Jones being No. 101 and held by Mr. Charles Kennedy.

Carpet-ball was played in the lodge room when fifty members of All Saints' Club played the juvenile lodge. The juveniles won out. Mrs. F. Millard was in charge of this part of the program.

A splendid concert was presented by the harmonica band under the direction of F. Ball and composed of F. Ball, W. Neck, Frank Clark (banjo), J. Wilson, W. Wilson, F. Hessman. E. Rose with Mrs. Rose at the piano.

A very interesting camping sketch was put on with tent among the pines, camp-fire and all the other paraphernalia of out-door life, with boys clustering around the fire in the moonlight, singing and playing many old familiar favourites.

At ten o'clock dancing began with Moncriefs' "Haymakers" providing excellent music. Mrs. Childerhouse was general convenor of arrangements with a committee composed of Mrs. L. Campbell, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. G. Foster, Mrs. R. Wright, Mrs. A. Elliott, Mrs. Thorn and Mrs. Roy Pilling.

The country store was in charge of Mrs. G. Foster. Home-made cooking, Mrs. R. Wright, Mrs. A. Elliott; candy, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Pearson; hot-dogs, Misses Jessie Gregory; Jean Thorn, Tilly Hann; ice cream, Misses E. A. Allhouse. M. W. Whatley; fortune-telling booth, Mrs. Reginald Farthing. Al Spencley acted as auctioneer, disposing of all the goods in the country store before the close of the evening.

Theodore Roosevelt, at 43, was the youngest man to ever be President of the United States.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

THE REASONING CHILD.

Some folk think that little children are not reasoning creatures and those folk are making a mistake, as they learn, sooner or later.

"Here comes Mary Jane. Now Harry you sit right here so she can't ask any questions about Aunt Carrie. Sit right here until she goes."

"Yes'm."

Soon afterward another friend was calling and the two ladies had much to say that was not for the ears of the little pitcher.

"Run along and play with Buster, dear. Take your new ball."

"Buster went out, mother. And anyway, my new ball has to be blown up. And I don't want to go out."

"Oh, yes you do. The air is good for you. You don't want to be in the house with two ladies. Go along and play."

"I think I'd better stay, mother, so she can't ask you anything about Aunt Carrie. Like I did yester—"

"Harry. You hear me? Go right out and don't come back until I call you."

Harry was remembering past experiences and reasoning from them but his mother thought him a most unreasoning child. He ought to have known better than to speak like that right before Mrs. Clars.

Children have not achieved the social powers of adults. They cannot know that it is quite all right to speak at one time and all wrong at another though the two occasions appear to be the same. They cannot know that it is safe to stay in the room one time and very unsafe the next. But, they reason. And when things happen to forcethem to know that people and things and occasions are very contradictory and uncertain they charge most of the uncertainty, which they fear greatly, to the one closest in relationship to them—usually mother. They lose confidence in her, a tragedy for both.

If often happens that a mother grieves because her adolescent son or daughter does not confide in her, tells her nothing about what is going on. Usually the reason lies away back in the early days when the child reasoned from a plain experience and discovered he had the wrong answer.

It is best always to deal frankly with children. If the situation does not permit of frankness, keep them out of it altogether. Do not use them as screens and shields or social buffers. When they ask a question as truthfully, as fully, as clearly as you can so that the child learns to depend upon your word.

When a child comes to you in perplexity, or with a childish problem, listen and give your best thought to him. Try to know that he has not your adult power to sift and compare and judge. But remember he reasons from the beginning and act accordingly.

A PLEASING APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Mr. Duncan Walker to the position of Director of Professional Training in Ontario is a promotion that will be deeply gratifying to his many friends in Peterborough and throughout the Province. His administration of the Normal School here since its opening twenty-one years ago has been marked by uniform success, modestly borne. During those years many hundreds of students have passed through the classes of Mr. Walker and his staff, and have gone forth as graduates, full fledged in modern pedagogy, well grounded in school management, and thoroughly prepared to undertake their most important profession. The far effects of Mr. Walker's influence are beyond calculation, and can be only imagined both from the ideals of himself and those associated with him and also from the fact that the legion of teachers has spread out to the ends of the land.

Mr. Walker's fruitful work here is a guarantee of his future success in the larger responsibility as Director of the Normal Schools throughout Ontario. The heartiest of congratulations are extended to him, and linked with that sentiment will be a general feeling of appreciation of his selection for this singularly important post by Premier Ferguson, as Minister of Education. It is also pleasant to know that Mr. Walker's new duties will not require his removal from Peterborough, where his scholarly attainments and his fine personality have become widely recognized in spite of his retiring disposition and his absorption in the efficient administraton of his School.

PIANOS ARE USED TO-DAY

Fewer pianos are sold to-day, but this does not imply that the people who need them are not buying them It probably means that the people who do not need them are buying victrolas or radios. The homes that should have pianos are those in which there is a desire for the expression of music, not simply the impression of it.

More pianos were bought ten or twenty years ago but it is doubtful whether more pianos were played then than now. In many homes they were only pretentious pieces of furniture. A piano not only set off the parlor or living room and filled up the space now occupied by a chesterfield, but it also helped somewhat to establish the financial status of the family. To-day the motor car or cars have usurped that ostentatious function.

Anyway, a vocal radio is more musical than a silent piano, and moreover there is harmony in the house where there might be discord if unwilling children had to be driven to the digital discipline of the scales and arpeggios. This newer freedom for girls and boys whose parents could not conceive of them being less gifted than their companions next door may be a happy release for them, but on the other hand it may prove a deprivation for other children who should be given music lessons on the piano, violin or othr instrument, possibly a "sax". Because the automobile has fixed a standard which only the courageous and individualistic parents dare ignore; and the tendency may be that as between a car, used or new, and a piano, the monthly payments are tied up to the car. And the boy or girl whose spirit naturally demanded the outlet and soaring wings of creative or interpretative music is artistically thwarted or at best diverted to a flying cloud and the modernistic tonal license and excesses of gears, brakes, purrs and knocks, possibly indicating an eternal loss to music of another Stravinsky.

AN ECHO OF THE 1926 CAMPAIGN

Fusion of Liberals with the Progressive-Prohibitionists at Fenelon Falls last week in the provincial riding of North Victoria and Haliburton sounds like a re-echo of last Ontario campaign. Wm. Newman present member, will again be the Liberal candidate, and the Progressive-Prohibitionist convention on the same day at first agreed to support him provided "he would break with the Liberal leader on the question of prohibition." Mr. Newman avowed his allegance to the prohibition cause, but he hesitated about giving a definite answer to the Progressive-Prohibitionist demand. His final promise to them was that he would make prohibition his policy apart from and above his Liberalism. And on that pledge he received the endorsation of the "Dry-Farmers" of whom there were sixty at their meeting.

This realignment of former allies may be an indication that, if there is a provincial election this Fall, it will be fought over the same battle ground on which the Conservatives triumphed three years ago, with probably a new sector or two in which Premier Ferguson may concentrate his forces, as hinted in his recent addresses. If the Prohibitionists renew their attack on Government control of the sale of liquor, and they have usuallly been die-hards for the cause, and the Government forces are driven to its defense, this direction of the campaign will simply be a repetition of 1926.

The Prohibitionists would have been almost disarmed if the results of the Liquor Control Act as a temperance measure were indisputable throughout the province. For leaders of the Government declared in the last election that if the L. C. A. was not an improvement on the O.T.A. then the Government would take steps to make it as effective as the people demanded. One advantage, at any rate, has been apparent during the last three years. This province has been relieved of the humiliating spectacle of spies and spotters sneaking about the country with their underhand methods of obtaining convictions. Independent advocates of the principle of Government control of the sale of liquor, however, cannot help but feel disappointed that its opponents, the out-and-out Prohibitionists, have been provided with ammunition to use against it. Reference has been made of late to the statistics and other facts which are being quoted as proof of the failure of the L.C.A. as temperance measure. For example, said for the information of "moderationist" temperance people who have voted for both the laws, Rev. Dr. A. J. Irwin, general secretary of the Ontario Prohibitionist Union, speaking at the Progressive-Prohibitionist convention at Fenelon Falls, referring to the recently published report of the federal Department of Trade and Commerce on the liquor traffic in Canada, said that this report "proved very definitely that the claims for the government sale of liquor were fallacious, and instead of reducing crime and drunkenness actually added to it."

Possibly, if Premier Ferguson defers the mooted elections until next year there will be evidences in the meantime that the Governmen can exercise convincing control of the liquor traffic "in the cause of temperance" which was confidently and emphatically predicted by leaders of the Government three years ago.

STATE AND INDIVIDUAL.

Sir Josiah Stamp is one of the leading economists of the world, and very considerable weight is attached to any observations made by him on modern conditions and tendencies, and on the basic principles of life. In an address on Speech Day recently at the Royal Commercial Travellers' Schools, Pinner, Middlesex, he told the boys that in the way in which people were relying on others, and were expecting others to do things for them, had become one of the biggest problems of social life.

Coming from such an authority a declaration like that calls for serious consideration. If it is a fact that all the talk about Socialism, Communism, and the thousand and one other "isms" which have been developed in modern times, is tending to destroy the age-old spirit of self-reliance, then the modern world is indeed in a bad way.

The great charge against so-called Socialism is that, while it professes a high ethical standard ,too high perhaps for ordinary humanity, its practical effect is to destroy individuality; and any system, or philosophy, called by whatever name. which does that is doomed. The unit of life is not the state, the church, nor even the home, but the individual. The whole philosophy of the Christian religion testifies to that. Destroy individuality and neither the home, church, state, nor any other institution is safe. The development of the individual demands self-reliance. If our modern conditions are tending to destroy this basic philosophy, as Sir Josiah Stamp suggests, then it may be time to call a halt and to review our position.

The late Harold Fisher used to say that the whole question of public policy resolved itself into the consideration of what things could be done more economically and efficiently by the community as a whole than by a number of separate individual units. Hence it is, for instance ,that the people of the Province of Ontario, having proven that public ownership of Hydro-Electric was for the economic advantage of the people as a whole, have adopted it as a general policy, regardless of possible objections on the plea that it savored of state Socialism.

The same might be said of education, and of a number of public services. But if the adoption of such a policy has led people to look to the state or the community to do for them what they ought to do for themselves ,then the tendency is disastrous. Harold Cox, another famous British economist, a quarter of a century ago, raised a pertinent query If everybody is going to lean upon the state, whom is the state going to lean upon?—The Ottawa Journal.

INCREDIBLE TOLL.

It was authoritatively stated a few days ago that racketeers were exacting a toll of $137,000,000 a year from commercial enterprises in Chicago. As the business on which the racket battens must pass that loss along to the public, it works out that the drain, per capita, on the people of Chicago is approximately $37.00 a year. Few lines of business are reported to be immune from the operations of these organized parasites. Proprietors of candy stores, dry cleaning establishments, taxi stations groceries, butcher shops, shoe-shine parlors, and barber shops are compelled to contribute a percentage of their "take" to the so-called protective associations or be bombed out of business. It is not a pretty picture—this one of vice fattening itself on legitimate industry. To us in Canada it seems incredible that such a condition is permitted to exist in the big cities of the neighboring republic. The police have demonstrated, not their inability to cope with organized vice, but something infinitely worse—a willingness to co-operate with it. In a nutshell, the racketeer works something after this fashion: A man establishes a business, applies to it his talents and energies and finally gets it to a point where it shows a profit. Let's say he is operating a dry-cleaning establishment. One day he has a visitor whose card reveals he is a special agent of the "Dry Cleaners' Protective Association." Upon payment of a certain sum each week or month, this association will protect the shopkeeper from attacks either upon his business or himself. To put it baldly—from attacks by gunmen and bombers in the employ of the Dry Cleaners' Protective Association. If the merchant signs up he is progressively bled of his profits; if he doesn't pay tribute to the organization, his place of business is blown up. It has been said that it is impossible in the United States to put a million dollars in jail. What, then, can be done about the depredations of an organization that exacts $137,000,000 a year from the people of one city? And there isn't a big city in the United States that is immune from the operations of the racketeers. Vice is always greedy, It is unlikely that the racket promoters in Chicago are going to be satisfied with a revenue of only $137,000,000 a year, and it will follow that they will extend their "associate memberships" or demand higher fees from those already in, or both. What the end will be no one can say, but the prediction can be made that this form of vice will never gain a foothold on this side of the border, where we see crime in its proper perspective—as a menace to be exterminated, not compromised with.—Hamilton Spectator.

A Thought

ZEAL

Let me never fancy I have zeal till my heart overflows with love to every man living.—Henry Martyn.

What To-day Means To You.

AUGUST 19TH "LEO."

If August 19th is your birthday, the successful hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 9.50 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger period is from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Financial interests are favored by the astrological influences on this day, and there will be considerable buying and selling ,where large interests are concerned. Conditions are not so favorable for affairs of a personal nature, and unforseen complications may arise within the home.

Children born on this August 19th will be inclined to go to extremes in all things. They will act on the impulse of the moment, often to their regret. Pride and love of power will be their dominating qualities.

You are a day dreamer, from which source you obtain considerable enjoyment, but very few profits. You are spoiling your calculating machine—your mind flits from one passing fancy to another, until your brain is cluttered up with innumerable unfinished thoughts and half completed plans. There is no harm in wishing for the moon, if you are not mooning over your failure to get it. It is hard for you to get down to clear and concise thinking without going off at a tangent to the principal thought.

Your imagination leads you into exaggerated views. You are apt to count your chickens before they are hatched, and to spend the proceeds from the visionary profits. Realities of life are brought home to you with a shock. You hate ungarnished truths, the cake without the frosting, and the story without the romance.

You are seldom willing to take people as you find them, but must mentally make them over to fit a more spectacular role. You are disappointed when they prove to be misfits, and you see them as plain John or Mary.

You are truly artistic, very original and have eccentric tastes. There is no question, that you could capitalize these traits to good advantage, if you knew how. You are not stupid, but very unpractical.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

CHAPTER 20.

Hugh's room! It had been Alice's, and then Hugh's alone for a while, and now it was Beatrice's room, Aileen remembered visiting here two or three times, after Alice's death, in her own husband's lifetime. She remembered one special visit, a week-end when Arthur had not been with her and when Hugh had had young Bert and Minnie and two interesting Hungarian musicians brothers, for his guests.

A memorable time, a time of dignified talk among the three of them who had been old friends, of affectionate references to poor dear Alice, and dutiful occasional mention of Arthur, of beautiful music, wonderful walks, and a moon that had quite frankly affected Aileen, pacing slowly up and down the terrace under the pine trees, on her host's arm.

"Like you too much, Hugh," she had whispered in the hallway, a little later, when they were saying good night in a perfectly silent house. And, smiling with his mouth, but with a sort of wistful sadness still in his eyes, he had quite simply kissed her good night. "You know how I loved Alice!" she had breathed senselessly.

"I know you did!" he had answered, a little incoherently.

This, she remembered now in hot scorn, and the solemn happiness she had felt that night—the triumph in winning even so much of a demonstration from the man she had always so deeply admired and respected—this had taken place in the actual hall where his son and Alice's successor were now exchanging their adolescent pleasantries!

It had seemed a distinction to her to have Houston Challoner's mere friendship. But evidently this girl had jumped cheerfully over all that, jumped right into the position of his wife, with no preliminaries and no misgivings.

During the meal she noted, with all the misery of the jealous, that Hugh's young wife poured his tea, and Bert's tea, without any question; she was very much at home at the head of the Challoner table.

After dinner they bent over the plans for the memorial college; Aileen knew what questions to ask, addressing herself directly to Hugh.

"They have to be mailed by mid-August," he said, catching up the delicate scrolls that curled in his fingers. "There's just one I'm working on now—some details of windows, and of course the big gate, which will carry an inscription."

"It's incredibly interesting!" Aileen conceded.

"Oh, isn't it?" Beatrice asked delightedly. "When you've watched it begin from nothing," she said, "and gradually altered this and changed that—well, it's wonderful!"

"You'll insure them, Dad?" Bert asked.

"They'll take care of all of that at the office, I imagine.

At the bottom of the thin sheet of oiled paper, carefully lettered were the names, "Beatrice and Houston Challoner, Architects, Challoner Building, North Underhill.

Aileen was studying the scroll. She felt a sensation almost of physical sickness.

"I didn't know your wife was an architect, too Hugh?" she asked, tasting salt in her mouth.

"Oh, Bee's been the moving spirit of the whole thing!" Hugh boasted, laughing. "It was her idea, to begin with, and she's worked on it almost as much as I have, ever since."

"Not really that!" Beatrice disclaimed eagerly.

"I see that I must follow the fashion and fall in love with Beatrice," Aileen said, with as cold a look for her hostess as one woman ever smiled at another.

Beatrice, turning with her own quick smile, was chilled, and all but drew back physically, as well as in spirit, from Aileen's neighborhood.

Bert drove Aileen home at eleven o'clock. She would have preferred Hugh's escort, but having this opportunity for a word alone with Bert, she did not disdain it.

"You know your darling mother and I were school chums, Bert."

"I know you were, Aileen."

"You used to call me 'Aunt Yeen' years ago," she reminded him fondly.

"I remember. But you were younger than Mother," Bert said politely.

"Three years. She was twenty when she was married—and I had on my first long dress at her wedding. Dresses were long then," Mrs. Kavanaugh said. And then, wistfully, "I wish I could be your mother to-night, Bert—for just five minutes."

If you mean because you want to kiss me good night," Bert suggested, with his usual winning impudence, "I mean to do it, anyway."

"No, it's not that, you bad boy!" Aileen said. And with a touch of emotion, of softness, in her voice, she went on, rather low, "If I were your mother to-night, Bert. I think I'd say to you —" She paused. "Don't go too far!" she said. "With Beatrice, I mean."

There was a moment's silence, as the motor car ran smoothly along the dark, piny roadway, and then Bert said, with a little edge to his voice:

"Am I going too far?"

Aileen knew that she had blundered—hurt him. She had meant to cut deep. But she mustn't anger him. She was smart enough to retreat with honors.

"It's not you; it's her that I'm speaking for. Don't hurt her," she elucidated quickly.

"How could I hurt her?" Bert asked gruffly, unsympathetically.

"I know you wouldn't!" Aileen said loyally, in a satisfied voice, as if the subject were dismissed.

But Bert was not quite done.

"She has no use for me!" he said forlornly and suddenly. The woman perceived instantly that he really was suffering—she had only suspected it before.

"Ah, Bert, don't count on that!" she said. "I'm a woman—I can see what you can't see. She's riding for a fall—Beatrice."

"I think you're wrong," he said coldly. "In fact," Bert added, stopping the car, descending, and coming about to open the door on her side—"In fact, I know you're wrong!"

"I'm not wrong, and you're going to remember what I've just said, whether you want to or not!" Aileen prophesied triumphantly, amazed that she had brought blood so soon. But Bert made no answer, for these words were spoken only in Aileen's mind, as she nodded good night to him, without the promised kiss after all.

A few days later Aileen saw Hugh and had an unexpected opportunity for a few words alone with him. Her anger, her resentful sense of having been cheated, had not cooled, and in the height of the lake season she had had plenty of opportunity to discuss with old friends of his and of Alice's the weak spot in poor Hugh' Challoner's armor, the obvious fact that that pretty wife of his—a mere unformed girl, after all—and young Bert, were evidently simply head-over-heels—

To-day Hugh was playing golf, in smoky, hot, ominous afternoon sunshine. There were thunderclouds in the south; the air was sticky and heavy. And for once young Mrs. Challoner, affectionately christened by Hugh his "pilot fish," was not hopping along beside him on the bright greens.

"What's that stunning Bert of ours going to do, Hugh?" Aileen said.

"I don't know, Aileen," he admitted doubtfully. "He was with us for a while—everyone likes him. But he's very restless—I don't know what's the matter with him!"

It was her opening.

"Don't you really, Hugh?" she asked, surprisedly, with an artless side glance.

He looked up, scowled in puzzlement.

"I? No, I don't!" he said briefly.

Aileen was silent. They walked along.

"Why, what's your idea, Aileen?" Hugh presently demanded, made uneasy by her manner.

"Well, it isn't mine, Hugh," she explained simply. "It's just—I'm like a stranger here, now; I hear people talk, and perhaps I get a viewpoint that you wouldn't"

"On Bert?" Hugh asked, sharply suspicious.

"Nothing serious, nothing that he won't get over like measles!" Aileen assured him, laughing.

"I confess I'm in the dark," Hugh said coldly.

"Bert's aheartbreaker," the woman stated thoughtfully.

"Bert—" his father repeated, on a thoughtful note.

And she's pretty, and not—particularly—wise," Aileen pursued, still in a half-playful tone.

"She?" He stopped short and faced her.

"Well, my dear," Aileen said, with an eloquent shrug, "it's the most natural thing in the world, of course, and I daresay that neither one of them is aware of it. But, after all, he's extraordinaryily handsome, Hugh, and the girl is a girl—twenty-two, it is? He's simply head over heels in love with Beatrice!"

"Bert?" Hugh said quietly, almost absently, with no surprise in his tone. "I—I suppose so."

"Not that there's any harm in it—" Aileen began, with an indulgent half-laugh.

"No," Hugh walked on. "Why should there be?" he said.

"Exactly!" Aileen agreed.

ASIA VIA NORTH IS SUCCESSFUL

Plane Makes 2,300-Mile Trip Over Ice and Snow to Bring Furs.

MORE FLIGHTS PLANNED

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 19—(By William R. Kunns, Associated Press Writer).— The snow and ice route, nemesis of many trans-Atlantic fliers, has revealed important commercial possibilities on the other side of the world.

The first round trip flight has been completed between North America and Asia.

The flight linked Fairbanks, Alaska, and Cape North ,Siberia. A load of food was taken to Cape North on the westward flight. Returning, the plane brought back a cargo of Siberian furs worth $150,000.

The success of the venture was reported in detail to the National Aeronautic Association from its Fairbanks chapter. It is understood here that similar and more extended trade flights into Asia are being planned.

By pushing the terminals of the route further into Siberia and southward from Fairbanks to Seattle, sponsors for the flight predict that the vast fur producing regions of Asiatic Russia can be brought within a few days of the American market.

Weather is an obstacle. Pioneering flights for the present over the barren white trail must be undertaken without benefit of regular weather reports.

Less Than 20 Hours.

The men who made the first trip were Noel Wien, president of the Wien Alaska Airways, and a mechanic. The round trip totalled 2,300 miles and the flying time was less than 20 hours.

They took off with a half ton of food supplies and flew to Nome. They refueled and proceeded to Cape North, where a Norwegian fur vessel waited fast in the ice.

On the return flight, in temperature of 50 degrees below zero, the plane passed over Bering Strait, the Seward peninsula, and landed at Nome. Between Nome and Fairbanks one stop was made at Nulato.

J. G. Roberts, secretary of the Fairbanks Aeronautic Association branch, in his report to the New York headquarters, says:

"To our mind the flight proves conclusively that the logical route between the United States and Asia lies north from Seattle to Fairbanks, thence to Nome, and from there across Bering Strait northerly or southerly to Siberia and southern Asiatic countries."

In conjunction with the flight of the Swedish plane Sverige via Greenland and Iceland, the fanciful suggestion has been advanced in aviation circles that air transport may bring fulfillment of the dream of a northwestern route to India, several centuries after Hendrik Hudson.

It takes about 15 sheddings for a crab to mature, covering a period of two years.

SUDBURY BASIN IN HEAVY DEMAND

Active Trading in Lindsley Group Features Trading On Standard Exchange.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 19.—(C.P.)—Heavy demand for Sudbury Basin, Sherritt-Gordon and the Lindsley group generally, which hearsay credited to unconfirmed reports of favorable findings at the Sudbury property of Ventures, Limited, featured trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. The main list, however, was rather quiet and uninteresting. Sudbury touched its high spot at the opening when it appeared 85 cents stronger at 10.65. Sherritt-Gordon was less active and held 5 cents higher at 7.45. Falconbridge was up 25 to 13.25 and Ventures 20 to 8.70.

Noranda was freely offered and remained at the morning's low of 64.75 ,off 1.20, while McIntyre reacted 50 to 15.50.

LIST SOFTER AT NOON HOUR

Prices Though Well Down From Morning's High Marks Show Slight Improvement.

OIL GROUP STRONGER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—After a steady advance under heavy trading at the opening, prices eased downward when trading slackened toward the noon hour on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Prices, though well down from the morning's high marks, still showed slight improvement. The oils were strong throughout, British American establishing a new high for all time at 60 3-8, while Home climbed up 1.75 to 24.50, and International Petroleum at 28 and Canadian at 50 showed minor advances.

Other gains were mostly of an individual nature. Beatty Brothers touched a low of 44 and at noon recorded a net advance of 6½ points at 50, while Famous Players was up 3 at 73, F. N. Burt 2½ at 71½, and City Dairy 1½ at 76½. Five shares of C.P.R. came out five points higher at 235.

PILOT HAS CLOSE CALL

Clever Piloting Saves Plane From Disaster At Noon On Saturday.

ENGINE TROUBLE.

Clever piloting saved a plane from disaster at noon Saturday over Peterborough, when a DeHavilland Moth from the Royal Air Force at Ottawa developed engine trouble while seeking a landing place. The pilot had made one circle of the district in search of a city airport on which he had been instructed to land, and on failing to discover it had decided to land either on the Golf Club property or on the landing field of the former flying school to the south. The machine was midway between the two, when the motor stopped suddenly and, although the pilot nose-dived in an attempt to turn over the propeller and start it again, he was unable to do so. He was forced to make an emergency landing as he was too far from either of the fields he had chosen. The forced landing was executed safely on a farm on the first concession on the Norwood road.

On inspecting the motor after landing, it was discovered that a connecting rod had broken and in threshing around had damaged the motor considerably. The plane was shipped back to Ottawa on board a C.P.R. train today.

The machine contained one passenger, who came to this city on business. The trip was made in two hours and ten minutes from Ottawa to Peterborough.

SUN GOD CONTINUES TRIP BACK TOWARDS PACIFIC

Endurance Fliers Report Everything Fine on Start of Return Trip.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, August 19. (C.P.) — Overcoming storms which made hazardous flying from Roosevelt field, New York to Cleveland airport, the endurance plane Spokane Sun God, refueled here this morning and flew on towards St. Paul, the next point where provisions and fuel are to be taken aboard, on its return flight to the Pacific Coast.

The pilots, B. Mamer and Art Walker, reported all well on board. They took on a hot breakfast in the morning contacts, but said they needed no oil.

Wheat Prices Gain After Early Setback

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press). Wheat scored a quick upturn in price here to-day after an early setback, but failed to hold gains well. Reports that a general strike would be declared in Argentina were largely responsible for buying here which at times offset the influence of unexpected lower quotations at Liverpool. Opening ⅝ to 1¼c off, Chicago wheat sagged somewhat further, and then rose temporarily to well above Saturday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were easy, with corn starting at ⅝c declined to ¾c gain and subsequently showing an irregular downward trend.

In 1704 free schools were established in Maryland. The funds for their support were raised by duties, double rates being imposed upon non-residents.

British May Evacuate Rhineland September 1

THE HAGUE, Aug. 19—(Canadian Press).—Authoritative announcement was made tonight that British soldiers will begin leaving the Rhineland on Sept. 1.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press).— Representatives of five creditor powers, France, Italy, Belgium, Japan and Great Britain met today to go over in detail the compromise offer of the first four to Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer seeking to increase his Government's share of the German reparations.

STOCK A DAY

The California Packing Corporation is the leading packer and distributor of California fruit and vegetables. It has also extended its operations into other states and is heavily interested in fish packing and in pineapple packing in Hawaii. It owns 79 per cent of the Alaska Packers Association, one of the leaders in the salmon trade and also puts up tuna and sardines. Early in 1929 it was announced the company was rounding out its lines to include groceries.

The concern with its subsidiaries owns and operates 83 canning and packing plants of which about 75 per cent are in California and the remainder in Oregon, Washington, Wisconsin, Utah, Idaho and Hawaii. It also has 4 ranches with an aggregate of over 5,900 acres, and a large fishing boat fleet.

Net income has fluctuated widely according to crop and business conditions. In the fiscal year ending Feb. 28, 1929, net was $6,233,022 which compares with $3,349,685 in the 1928 fiscal year and $5,057,353 in 1927.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding consists of 977,416 shares of no par common. The present dividend rate is $4 a share per year payable quarterly. As of Feb. 28, 1929, the company had a profit and loss surplus of $20,336,370. On that date total current assets amounted to $25,815,424. Current liabilities were $9,956,457 and net working capital was $15,858,967. Book value of the capital stock was $51.50 a share.

The company is expanding and its sales policy is aggressive.

The present corporation, Crosse and Blackwell, Inc., was formed in Maryland in 1928 to acquire the New York company of the same name and to own the capital stock of Crosse and Blackwell, Ltd., of Canada. The London firm of Crosse and Blackwell transferred to the American and Canadian companies rights to all its existing formulæ processes, trade-marks and trade names and appointed the companies sole distributors for the United States and Canada. The chief products of the company are jams, marmalades, pickles, soups, salad dressings, mayonnaise and canned meats.

The chief plant of the American company is at Baltimore and of the Canadian company at Toronto. The predecessor company in 1927, the latest report available showed a net loss of $33,941. But in 1928 the sales of the company showed a gain of 46 per cent for the American company and 44 per cent for the Canadian concern.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding consists of 52,000 shares of $3.50 cumulative preferred of no par value and 186,000 shares of no par common. The majority of the common is owned by Crosse and Blackwell, Ltd., of London, which firms guarantees payment of preferred dividends. If 3 quarterly dividends are in default the preferred has voting power to elect a majority of directors. No common dividends have been paid but preferred dividends are being paid at the regular rate.

As of March 31, 1928, total current assets were $1,565,555, total current liabilities, $294,818 and net working capital, $1,270,737. Book value applicable to the common amounted to $48.53 a share.

WESTERN TOWN GUTTED BY FIRE

Early Morning Lloydminster Pool Hall Blaze Takes in Whole Business Section.

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—Fire which destroyed 26 structures at Lloydminster this morning and caused damage that will total several hundred thousand dollars, was extingunshed about 11 o'clock, according to a telephone message received here. No estimate of the loss was given.

The blaze started in Waddell's pool room at 12.50 a.m., and within a short time Barker's central meat market, Turnbull's jewellery store Moxley's drug store, Bohd's barber shop and the Palace Cafe were all in ruins, and the Bank of Commerce was burning fiercely.

The fire spread to the Royal George Hotel, the Royal Cafe, across the street, also to K. H. Stephenson's land office, Tom Jones' insurance office and H Huxley's office.

The fire then spread to the Royal Bank, the Post Office, Agricultural Hall and the Britannia Hotel. A number of other buildings are in the path of the flames. No lives have been lost. Guests at the two hotels were able to escape safely. The blaze in the Post Office gained such headway that all mail was destroyed.

Additional buildings destroyed are: Tom Barker's confectionery and cake shop, W. L. Cameron's shoe store, Turner and Guest's pool hall, Empress Cafe, and Moff's tailor shop.

SON SHOOTS FATHER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 (C.P.)—Frank S. Howard, wealthy automobile dealer, was shot and killed Saturday by his 12-year-old son, Richard, following a family quarrel.

FATHER KILLS WHOLE FAMILY

Climaxes Night of Quarreling By Gassing Wife and Four Children.

ALL GAS JETS OPEN.

ROYAL OAK, Mich., August 19 (Canadian Press). — Peter Nielson, of Royal Oak, killed his wife and four children with gas fumes and took his own life with poison after setting fire to his house here early to-day. Firemen who broke into the flaming house found Mrs. Magdeline Nielson, 35, and her four children dead. Nielson's body was found in the bathroom. Every gas jet in the house had been opened.

Over the bodies of his wife and children the father had thrown naphtha.

Neighbors said the killing climaxed a night of quarrelling.

FOREIGN LABOR BEING ALLOWED

Experienced Harvesters For Curing Tobacco Not Available in Canada.

THREE PORTS OPENED.

ST. THOMAS, August 19. (C.P.)—Through the efforts of M. X. Hepburn, M.P., for Elgin West, and W. H. Taylor, M. P., for Norfolk-Elgin, the Immigration Department has been prevailed upon to allow alien labor to be imported under contract to work on the tobacco crop.

The Department has issued instructions, Mr. Hepburn said, to the ports at Windsor, Bridgeburg and Niagara, to admit laborers and instructors coming under contract.

One company is reported to be bringing in help to the number of 70, as experienced men for harvesting and curing tobacco, are not available in Canada.

THREE DROWNED NEAR WINNIPEG

Large Week-end List Includes Nine Injured in Car Accident, Two Seriously.

SAILING BOAT CAPSIZES.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug 19 (C.P.)—Three drownings were reported from Western district during the week-end, while in Winnipeg and suburbs several persons were injured in automobile accidents.

At Delta Beach, west of the city, Joseph Moreau, 34, lost his life while bathing. He is believed to have been the victim of a heart attack.

In the North aBttleford district two drownings occurred. While bathing in the Saskatchewan River, Joseph Debert lost his life. His wife and two young children witnessed the tragedy. When a sailing boat capsized, Bert York 11-year-old was drowned. A 14-year-old companion was saved.

Knocked down by a hit-and-run driver, Joseph Zaxula, 65, is in a hospital here in a critical condition. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. He was fixing the light on his automobile when struck. Seven-year-old John Brownstone suffered serious injuries when struck by a car as he attempted to cross a city street, while on a suburban highway. Seven persons were slightly injured when their car swerved into a ditch after skidding in loose gravel.

40 BUSHELS OF WHEAT AROUND KINISTINO, SASK.

Local Prospects Good, J. H. Quinlan's Estimate.

Writing from Kinistino, Sask., on his arrival there after a visit to Peterborough, J. Harry Quinlan reports that some of the farmers in that section of Saskatchewan will harvest about forty bushels of wheat to the acre.

"As we came out into Minnesota," he wrote, "we found conditions in the farming country very bad from the effects of frost and drought. Manitoba appeared to have recovered somewhat and we were told at McGregor on the Portage plains that they would have as much as 18 to 20 bushels to the acre of good grade wheat. As we got north and west from there the crops improved, and our own district is as good as any we have seen. In the south much of the crop has been so badly burned that they are being plowed down."

Mr. Quinlan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Quinlan of this city, and is manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Kinistino.

CANOE RACING DATES SETTLED

Championship Meet Held One Week After American Canoe Meet.

NEW CANOES LARGER.

GANANOQUE, Ont., Aug. 19.—(C.P.)—At a meeting of the executive oficers of the American and Canadian Canoe Associatoins held here on Saturday it was decided to hold International championship canoe races each year one week following the American Canoe Association, which will bring them about the middle of August, the first one to be held at Hamilton in 1930 and alternately each year in American and Canadian waters thereafter.

There will be fourteen events to include one 9 man and one 15 man war canoe race. Those eligible to enter in the International races will be the first, second and third winners in each of the events of their respective associations, annual race meets.

Change Canoe Sizes.

Recommendations are to be made to the Canadian and American Canoe Associations at their next annual meeting that the type of racing canoe be changed so as to give the heavy man an equal chance with the lighter man which the present small boat does not. The new boat if decided upon will be larger than the one now in use.

The only Canadians who won in Saturday's races at the American Canoe Association meet Sugar Island on Saturday were: 1st, Junior tandem singles, Ray Hawk, Noah Gauthier; 2, junior fours singles, H. Littlejohn, Stewart Wright, F. Stevens, and W. White; 3, senior four singles, Roy Nurse's crew, Balmy Beach Canoe Club, Toronto.

PRESENT GOV'T TO REMAIN YEAR AND HALF SAYS HENRY

Only Prime Minister Himself Knows When Change Will Come.

TORONTO, Ont. August 19. — In an address at the Conservative picnic at Toronto on Saturday afternoon Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, declared that the present Government had a further fifteen to eighteen months to serve. "Secrets of that character are locked in the knowledge of the Prime Minister himself, but whenever an election is called rest assured there will be a reason. Whatever happens, rest assured that th next period will be one of expenditure and not retrenchment, for we must continue to develop with the call of the times.

IRON AND STEEL DUTIES TO UNDERGO REVISION

Tariff Board Amassing Information For Changes To Appear Probably in Next Budget.

FINAL HEARING IN FALL.

Chairman W. H. Moore Has Spent Summer Visiting Canadian Steel Plants.

(By Thomas Wayling)

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—(Special to The Examiner. Copyright).—Preparations for a complete revision of the entire Iron and Steel schedules of the Canadian Customs Tariff are well under way, and the proposals, it is understood will be ready for the next budget.

This will be the second scientific revision of sections of the Canadian tariff, the Textile schedules having been entirely overhauled two years ago, the changes brought down in the budget, and passed by Parliament with very little amendment.

W. H. Moore, chairman of the Tariff Board has just returned to Ottawa after having travelled, since July 2, over 8,000 miles on personal visits to iron and steel plants throughout eastern Canada.

Officers of the Board, assisted by departmental experts have made similar visits to other plants, while a number of well known Canadian economists have been delving into the subject.

There have been three separate hearings on Iron and Steel before the Tariff Board itself and another one will take place in September or October. As these hearings have embraced allied industries and commodities whose raw material is iron and steel they have been very comprehensive.

The fall hearing will be a full dress affair, with iron and steel men from all over the Dominion, as well as manufacturers of machinery, stoves and the thousand and one other industries which use iron and steel.

The revision will be specifically neither upward nor downward, but the schedule will be divided into sections and all the ramifications of its effect on industry studied, and each industry given an opportunity to state before the Board at the fall hearing its opinions as to how the revision as affecting itself shall be carried out.

Applications for a hearing before the Board are being received every week by the Ministry of Finance and by the Board itself. These are all passed upon by the Minister of Finance who refers them to the Board. All the hearings will be public and any person may give evidence present a brief, or make enquiry. At the hearing last January the first witness before the Board was a clergyman from Sydney, N.S. who represented the Ministerial association of Sydney, which had been asked by the plant committee of the 3,000 workmen of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company to plead for an eight hour day for them. Any person who has anything to say on Iron and Steel or any industry related to it may give his views whether as a manufacturer, capitalist, laboring man, transportation worker or anything else.

Texas, with more than 16,430 miles of railroad, leads all the states of the Union in this respect. Illinois is second and Pennsylvania third.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE MIDDLE SCHOOL EXAMINATION RESULTS

The results of the Collegiate Institute middle school departmental examinations were announced by H. H. R. Kenner, the principal to-day. He received them on Friday, and the certificates were mailed to the candidates on Saturday. The Upper school results have not yet been forwarded to Mr. Kenner.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, August 19. — Friends of higher prices for wheat took the bit in their teeth on Saturday and forced the market higher regardless of determined opposition. Increasingly bad threshing advices from Canada gave a basis for enlarged buying here of wheat future deliveries, and so too, did sharp upturns in Liverpool quotations, as well as talk of American farmers in the North-west holding back their wheat, hoping for a steep advance ahead.

After rising to 12¼c per bushel above prices current here on Wednesday, wheat closed firm, 1¼c to 2½c higher than Friday's finish. Corn closed ¼c to ⅝c up, oats, at ⅝c decline to ⅛c advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c to 12c.

Price of $3.00 Bushel Is Discussed.

The temper of a considerable portion of the wheat trade was well illustrated yesterday by the fact that for the first time $3.00 a bushel instead of $2.00 was being mentioned as the ultimate goal of prices. Saturday's threshing reports from Canada indicated that even the small yields heretofore looked for will not be realized, and consequent stampedes here to buy wheat accompanied advices that summer fallow wheat, the most promising kind in Canada, has not filled out as well as expected. The advices said that to an important degree where the straw has gone to the limit the berries are still green.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG Aug. 20.—Continuing to advance, wheat prices scored gains of 3⅝c to 3⅝c on to-day's market. Purchases through commission houses that suggested that the country was getting back on the long side of wheat started the upward movement. Trade volume was excellent for a short Saturday session and there was evidence of growing public interest in the market. Practically no interest was shown in cash wheat and only odd carlots changed hands.

Trading in coarse grains was dull and there was very little fluctuation.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 19.—Wholesale jobbing houses announce an incease in egg prices to retail stores, effective Monday. Fresh extras and fresh firsts were marked up 2 cents per dozen and fresh seconds 3 cents per dozen. Storage extras are left the same. The new prices were announced as follows: Fresh extras, 40c per dozen; fresh firsts, 44c per dozen; fresh seconds, 35c per dozen; storage extras, 42c per dozen; storage firsts, 38c per dozen; storage seconds, 32c per dozen.

The butter market ended the week with a somewhat weak undertone. While prices throughout most of the week were 37⅞ to 38c per lb.; at the close the top price was 38¾c. A quiet market, with very little trading, caused the weakness at the close. Receipts for the week were 9,773 boxes.

Cheese recipts for the week were 34,376 boxes. Prices advanced during the week to as high as 18c for No. 1 Ontario white and colored and 17c to 17¼c for No. 1 Quebec white and colored.

The potato market firmed up at the close of the week, advancing to $1.40 to $1.50 for new potatoes, locally grown, per 80 lbs. An improved out-of-town demand moved up the prices.

FIFTEEN DROWN AS SHIPS MEET

Spanish Steamer Sinks With Most of Crew in North Sea Inside Six Minutes.

TUG REACHES PORT.

LONDON, August 19 (Canadian Press).—Fifteen persons were drowned when the Spanish steamer Ogono and the British tug King's Cross collided in the North Sea 30 miles off Hummer early yesterday morning.

The Ogono was struck amidship, and sank in six minutes, giving the crew of 25 no time to launch the lifeboats. The King's Cross succeeded in picking up eight members of the crew who clung to a lifeboat, and two others struggling in the water, including the wireless operator. The drowned included the captain and all the officers, with the exception of the second mate of the Ogono, inward bound from Bilbao to Middlesborough with a cargo of iron ore.

CENTENARIAN RECALLS LIFE

were paid twelve dollars a month. About forty or fifty men were employed altogether. John Brady and Margaret his wife managed the hotel where Mr. Anderson boarded. Twelve or fourteen boarders were kept by the Bradys, and the bill of fare was far famed for its goodness. During his sojourn in Marmora, an election came on in which Murney won the contest, defeating Billy Flint. "At previous elections," said Mr. Anderson, "there had been only seven voters at Marmora, as no one had a vote except landowners, but over thirty voted when I was there."

Sagiff's tavern existed at that time, and with no provision for any evening recreation, many indulged in drinking. "They thought I was a temperance man," remarked Mr. Anderson, "but I never signed a pledge in my life. I was a self made temperance man."

Though an abstainer, he took to tobacco when young. Suffering from toothache frequently before losing his teeth, he listened to advice to take tobacco to deaden the nerves, with the result that he acquired a fondness for the weed. Among old Marmora folk when he recalls are the following:

William Campion, whose son Thomas drew cordwood to the charcoal pits.

Matthew McGrath, who was a bedfellow at the time he boarded with the Bradys'.

Ezekiel Boyd, whom he spent many a night with as he worked on the road cut through from Blairton to Healey Falls, and named "The Iron Road."

Patrick Callaghan, who farmed in the second concession of Marmora township, two lots removed from his own brother, Ludwig Roderick Anderson.

John Crawford, a clerk.

John Devlin and Richard Laycock, shoemakers.

William, John and Richard Leonard, Benjamin Johnson, J. P., who moved to Marmora from Rawdon township.

The only church in Marmora in those days was the old Roman Catholic church, and services were only held once a year, a priest coming up from Belleville in the spring.

Crowe River was spanned by an old wooden bridge which was rickety and dangerous.

Has Paid Two Visits.

Mr. Anderson has only paid two visits to Marmora since 1848, the last being in 1865 when his brother was laid to rest in Marmora cemetery. The other occasion was when a Mr. Drummond, a nephew through marriage, was buried. "I liked it in Marmora though," he declared. At that time, he also stated, the main part of Rawdon Township was a wilderness, though the front part was settled. His first visit to Belleville took place when he was ten years old. It then seemed to be of fair size and its buildings were practically all of the frame build. He also told of a man who went to Carrying Place (then a place of importance) and carried to his home in Murray township, 18 miles distant, an hundredweight of flour, his wife also carrying forty pounds of pork that distance.

He is proud of the fact that he is one of the very few survivors of the third generation of United Empire Loyalist stock. With the exception of a slight deafness, he enjoys the fullest use of his faculties. He can see a crow flying if it comes within a quarter of a mile of the house, and can read for a short while without the aid of glasses. He has never used a gun or a fishpole, leaving to his sons to make up for his shortcomings along those lines. He does not care much for the aeroplane but likes the auto very well. His father's life was short compared with his own but his mother lived to an advanced age. He believes that longevity is to be inherited more from the maternal than from the paternal side of the family. His wife, who is ten years his junior, is also wonderfully preserved, though recently she has been afflicted in one eye.

Without question, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are the most wonderful old partners in life over the area of many counties.

OPEN SEDITION NOT TOLERATED CLAIMS CHIEF

Only Necessary Force Used, Draper States in Report to Police Commission.

COMMUNISTS ARE DISLOYAL.

Free Speech Not Question, But Whether Sedition Shall Be Openly Taught.

TORONTO, August 19. (C.P.) —"I can assure the board that no more force has been, or will be, used than is essential, to prevent unlawful assemblies in a public place," the report of Chief Constable Draper to the Board of Police Commissioners, declares. The report covers police activities in dispersing a Communist gathering in Queen's Park last Tuesday night.

The report was made public by Chief Constable Draper and Judge Coatsworth, a member of the Board of Police Commissioners, after a conference on Saturday.

"The police will never interfere with any proper movement to bring about changes by constitutional methods," the report states, "but the men engaged in this propoganda are utterly disloyal to Canada and every other civilized country."

The report asserts the question at issue is not free speech but whether we shall allow sedition to be openly taught and advocated in public in Toronto."

The Chief Constable's report is headed: "Re Bolshevic-Communist Influence in the City of Toronto—Report of the Chief Constable on Recent Disturbances in Toronto."

As a result of the conference between Judge Coatsworth and Chief Constable Draper a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners will be held next Wednesday to investigate reports that undue force has been used by the police in clearing Queen's Park.

Youth Drowns In Humber Swimming With Chums

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 19. — (Canadian Press).—Tony Risco, 19, was drowned Sunday evening when he collapsed exhausted in attempting to swim with a chum across the Humber River at Swansea. Life-savers recovered the body in twelve feet of water a few minutes from the time they arrived on the scene.

OPINIONS VARY ON WATER LEVEL

Lumber Interests Want Gates On French River Closed At Once.

OTHERS WANT SPILLWAY.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—No course of action was agreed upon at the conference held here Saturday by those interested in the low-water conditions of Lake Nipissing. Lumber interests favored an immediate closing of the gates in the French River, while representatives of this city and the Township of West Ferris opposed this proposition unless the Canadian Government should decide to start at once erection of the proposed spillway on the French River.

Both propositions were embodied in resolutions which will be forwarded to the Canadian Government, on whom is placed the onus of satisfying either one or both divergent opinions.

E. A. Lepierre, M.P. for Nipissing, Senator George Gordon, Theodore Legault, M.L.A. for Sturgeon Falls, and A. Freeman, for the Township of West Ferris, were the principal speakers.

Chief Engineer K. N. Cameron and District Engineer Robert Blais, of the Public Works Department, Ottawa, were present.

CHANGE ANCIENT STYLE.

CONSTANTINOPE, Aug. 14.—The old styles of Turkish women are rapidly disappearing and modern styles of the New World are taking their place. In place of the old baggy trousers which they used to wear, the present pantaloons are minus the bag. A Norfolk jacket, with cream silk shirt, soft collar, and tie, completes the ensemble.

FOUR KILLED IN WEEK-END LIST

Three Are Victims of Motor Accidents, While Fourth Died Under Street Car.

TORONTO, Ont., August 19 (Canadian Press). — Motor accidents in Ontario over the week-end claimed three lives, while little hope is held out for the recovery of a woman injured near Stratford. The dead are: Miss Florence Fleming, Oshawa, Lawrence Hoffman, Pembroke, and Miss Grace Scott, Lindsay. Mrs Leslie Dunseith of Downie Township is in a critical condition in Stratford. Wilbur Elliott was killed by street car in Kingston, and Clifford Thompson died on Sunday in Cobourg from injuries sustained in a motor accident on August 15.

"Still busy? How annoying!"

SHE has tried three times to get Brown's store and the line has been "busy" every time.

Nothing is more annoying, and the result is that Brown has not only lost an order: he has lost a customer. The worst of it is he doesn't know why.

Are you sure you are not Brown? It will pay you to have us study your telephone facilities and submit a report.

MASQUERADE IS HUGE SUCCESS

Variety of Costumes Shown At Stoney Lake Children's Gathering.

PRIZES PRESENTED.

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 19 (Examiner Correspondence).—Owing to the threatening weather of the early afternoon on Wednesday, the children's masquerade was not as largely attended as usual, but nevertheless, if the numbers were not great the fun was quite up to the standard, so that those who were absent missed a good time. The frolicsome spirit was not exclusively for the children, as the faces of the adults showed that they too were having their share. The rain, which had threatened all morning, came down in a heavy shower between one and two o'clock and then cleared, and the afternoon was ideal, warm and bright, but while there were a large number present, the number in costume was not very large, although the judges had a very difficult task in picking out the winners. There were some very original representations; probably the little girl who was "A Dressing Table" might be said to carry off the palm for originality. Another girl was a bouquet of Stoney Lake wild flowers, and was especially good. These were two of the most original. The boys were good too, and one saw a great variety of pirates (toy pistols and villainous looking swords were vigorously flourished), and gypsies, a diminutive Tom Thumb, there were ballet dancers, Bo Peep, minuet girls, and one dashing pirate of the swash-buckler type; there were flower costumes, roses and daffodils being most popular.

Mrs. Greenslade presided at the piano, and played for the games, which the children enjoyed so much. Miss Betty Fairbairn, as usual, was leader of the revels, and was assisted by a group of young girls, who gave themselves to the task of giving the kiddies a real good time, and they succeeded admirably. They played "The Farmer in the Dell," a childhood classics, and the newer but none the less enjoyable "Musical Rug."

The judges were Mrs. Rupert Glidden, Mrs. Elsa May and Rev. A. J. Richards, and their decisions were announced directly after the Grand March, in which gypsies, flowers, pirates, and birds mingled gaily to the stirring strains of "Madamoiselle from Armentieres."

The following were announced as prize-winners:

Most original girl — Katherine Clarkson, "The Dressing Table."

Best character study — Eleanor Piper, "A Bouquet of Stoney Lake Flowers."

Best all-round girl—Jane Currier, "A Canary."

Second best character study — Dorothy Richards, "Bo Peep."

Second best all-round girl — Diana Lockhart, "Eve."

Most original boy—Jimmy Collins, "Tom Thumb."

Best character study—Bobby Porter, "A Cossack."

Best all-round boy—Kay Fraser, "A Cave Man."

Second character study — Jack Gouinlock and Billy Fountain as "Tom Sawyer" and "Huck Finn."

Best comic costume—David Porter, as a "Gypsy."

Second best comic costume—David Russell, "Spinning Top."

After the prizes were awarded every child in costume who was not a prize-winner received a present, and lastly, all the youngsters were given ice cream cones, so that all shared in the pleasure.

A novelty was introduced when Betty Myers, in a dainty ballet costume, gave a clever exhibition of toe dancing.

Mrs. J. Gordon Smith and Mr. G. K. Fraser were joint convenors and received congratulations on the successful party, for if the 1929 masquerade was not the largest in the history of the lake, it was assuredly one of the most enjoyable.

Among those in costume were:

Mary McLaughlin—Yellow Rose.
Meggy McLaughlin—Pink Rose.
Janet Collins—Ballet Dancer.
Grace Cox—Robin.
Eleanor Piper—Bunch of Stoney Lake Flowers.
Josephine Kilbourn—A Pack of Cards.
Betty Myers—Ballet Dancer.
Dorothy Richards—Little Bo Peep.
Jane Currier—A Canary.
Christine McLaren — A Fortune Teller.
Louise Beck—A Turkish Girl.
June Fraser—Daffodil.
Norine Fraser—Pirate.
Katherine Clarkson — Dressing Table.
Margaret Lundy—Minuet Girl.
Ruth Brown—Chinese.
Grace Lundy—Ballet Dancer.
Diana Lockhart—Eve.
Anaby Lockhart—Bunny.
Hugh Porter—Gypsy.
Jimmy Collins—Tom Thumb.
Billy Fountain—Huck Finn.
Jack Gouinlock—Tom Sawyer.
Jack Porter—Gypsy.
Bobby Porter—Cossack.
David Porter—Gypsy.
Paul Yelland—Bunny.
John Henderson—Happy Hooligan.
Kay Fraser—A Cave Man.
Jim Harvey—Farmer.
Norman Priestley—A Fisherman.
David Russel—A Spinning Top.
Jack Rowe—A Pirate.

WOMAN SO SICK COULD NOT WORK

Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grainland, Sask.—"I am glad that I heard of that good Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and I will not be without it again. I was so sick that I could not work at all and could not sew on the machine. SUCH MODERN HUSTLE!

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19. — We've heard a lot about automobiles replacing horses and bicycles, but sober Baltimore citizens who are used to seeing autos crash into each other every day were recently horrified to hear of four bicycle accidents in 24 hours. Three of them figured in tangles with automobiles and the others struck a pedestrian.

Officials were only able to announce the total of entries approximately as all entries received by mail up to midnight Saturday will be included. The late-mail has not been checked. Of the total entries 60 are women who will compete in the 10 mile race for the women's title next Friday. The prize winners in this race will be competitors with the men in the 15 mile Wrigley marathon, Wednesday, Aug. 28.

Telegraph, telephone and air mail were used by swimmers to get their entries into the exhibition office Saturday.

Howard D. Chafee, acquatic star of the University of California, who competed in the 1927 marathon, reached the city by motor Saturday and filed his entry. Edith Jenson, Kolding, Denmark, joined the ranks of the women swimmers Saturday. She has been training at Palm Beach, Fla., and is Denmark's outstanding long distance star.

MUST ARM VESSELS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman last night disclaimed any move to disarm coastguard boats used on the Great Lakes to prevent rum runners. He declared it would be foolhardy to have unarmed vessels patrolling the waters.

Machine guns, rifles and revolvers will be used on the boats as they have in the past, although there are no machine guns on small vessels.

The Bridge of Sighs

AT the gate of a cemetery there is a certain bridge—"A Bridge of Sighs". Many a widow passes over it to return to a home from which Death has taken husband and father.

Death is not a tragedy. Tragedy strikes the living—those who are bereft of their natural provider.

No life insurance policy can take the place of a husband and father, but the proceeds of it will relieve a family from distress until they are able to adjust themselves to new conditions.

We invite enquiries from men who desire advice concerning the right type of life insurance protection. Write for our pamphlet entitled "No Matter What Happens". It is most interesting.

SMELTERS AGAIN TRIUMPH OVER PETES

SENIORS FIND THEMSELVES IN COMPLICATED POSITION BY REASON OF 6-2 DEFEAT

Must Win Double From Belleville While Deloro and Oshawa Split.

TO GET IN FINALS.

Decision of Umpire Colling Turning Point of Game For Petes.

The Petes practically ousted themselves out of any chance to break into the Central League play-offs by losing to Deloro in the Smelter town on Saturday 6 to 2.

Manager Swanston's crew now find it necessary to win both games of the twin bill with Belleville here next Saturday, and at the same time have Deloro and Oshawa split their double-header in Oshawa in order to pull up to a tie for second place with Oshawa and Deloro. They are now holding the bottom berth, with Oshawa and Deloro tied for second honors, each one game ahead of the Petes.

A decision by Umpire Ken Colling, of Belleville, in the writer's point of view, was the turning point in the game and robbed the Petes of an opportunity to at least have the game end in a tie.

In the eighth inning, with darkness fast settling down over the struggle, with the score tied two-all, Deloro at bat, one man down and runners on second and third, George Scott hit a weak dribble into Heckman's hands. The Petes' hurler turned quickly and threw to Shiner Johnston, at third, to catch off Elliott. The runner ran between Johnston and Swanston several times. He was heading back to third fast when Johnston fumbled Swanston's throw but recovered the ball and, while lying prone on the ground, touched the Deloro runner. Colling called him safe and then ructions broke loose, the Petes criticising him loudly in righteous wrath at his decision.

Swanston Banned

Manager Swanston was banished from the game for using some forceful language. Hatton took his place behind the bat and the game went on with the Petes riding high in the air on their wave of indignation. Carl Wood, next up, crashed out a single into right scoring two runs and practically ending the ball game as far as the Petes were concerned. Hughes singled scoring another run.

Then Heck was relieved of his pitching burden, Macdonald being sent to the box. Wood scored on Brown's rap, putting Deloro four runs up. The disaster ended when Ibey struck out and Legon gathered in Buck's fly into right-center.

Up until this stage it had been a close exciting ball game. The Petes were finding great difficulty in connecting with Ibey's curves, who was sending hook after hook across until the tips of his fingers were raw. They had sneaked two runs across, however. Sweetman scoring in the third on G. Scott's bad throw to first on Legon's grounder, and Legon crossing the plate on a squeeze play, Abbie Rose setting down a pretty bunt and the Redtop breezing in on high.

Stolen bases figured in both the Petes' runs, Sweetman having pilfered second, and Legon making a crimson streak as he stole second and third in rapid succession, after getting to first when hit by the pitcher.

Deloro was shut out without a run until the sixth when they scored two, to draw up on even terms with the Petes. Elliott had been walked and, with two down, G. Scott got hold of a nice one, slamming it into center for three bases and scoring Elliott. Wood scored Scott on a single.

Beneath a clouded sky the diamond was swiftly growing dark and blurred. The seventh passed uneventfully, both sides going out in order, and all indications pointed to a drawn battle with, perhaps, the calling of the game at the end of the eighth. Then events had to happen as described and Colling's decision rifled the Petes of all that they had earned.

Heckman twirled easily until the eighth, keeping the hits well scattered, but in that fatal innings he weakened to allow a cluster of safeties, which coupled with Colling's decision led to defeat.

The Play

In the opening frame the Petes went out in order. Legon rolled to the pitcher. Rose's grounder was taken by Hughes. Swanston grounded to the pitcher. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Buck's high fly was taken by Legon. Holyman threw out Regan. Elliott's line drive to right center was good for two bases. Quinn walked. Legon took George Scott's fly in left center. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

The Petes went out in order again. Heckman grounded to short, Ash and Hall flied to center. Nothing across.

Bill Scott popped to Heckman. Hughes grounded to third. Heckman took Brown's hopper and threw him out. Nothing across.

Johnston got the Petes' first hit in the third, when his line drive to left was good for a base. Sweetman forced Johnston when Ibey took his intended sacrifice and threw to second. Holyman flied to left. Sweetman stole second and scored when George Scott threw wildly to first after fielding Legon's grounder. Rose was hit by pitched ball. Swanston grounded out to short. 1 run, 1 hit, 1 error.

Ibey singled to left. Buck struck out. Holyman erred on Regan's grounder, both runners being safe. Elliott fanned. Ibey was picked off second Heckman to Holyman, to end the innings. No runs, 1 hit, 1 error.

Heckman drew a walk to start the fourth. Ash's foul fly was caught to Regan. Hall shot a single to right. Johnston forced Hall at second, Elliott to G. Scott. Sweetman struck out. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

One for the Book

One for the book occured in Deloro's half. Holyman threw out Quinn. George Scott rolled to second. Bill Scott singled past third. He then made a clean steal of second, Swanston's throw going into center field, but he was caught between first and second. Legon to Holyman to Ash, after rashly taking Holyman's advice that there had been a foul tip on the pitch. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

The Petes increased their lead to two in the fifth. Holyman flied to center. Legon was hit by a pitched ball, and stole second and third in quick succession. Legon then scored on a squeeze play, Rose laying down a pretty bunt. Rose was out at first on this play. Ibey threw out Swanston. 1 run, no hits, no errors.

Deloro Ties Score

Heckman popped to Ibey to open the sixth. Ash lined to center. Buck making a pretty catch after a hard run. Hall walked and stole second, but Johnston grounded to short. Nothing across.

Regan flied to Rose. Elliott drew a pass. Quinn flied to Johnston. George Scott tripled to right center, scoring Elliott. Wood sihgled to center to score G. Scott with the tying run. Hughes flied to center to end the spasm. 2 runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Wood made a shot-string catch of Sweetman's line drive into short left. Holyman fanned. Legon fanned. Nothing across.

The Petes went down in order in the eighth. Rose grounded to first. Swanston rolled to second. Heckman bounded out to short. Nothing across.

Then it happened. Most of the excitement of the ball game was crowded into Deloro's half of this inning, which started harmlessly enough with Regan's easy out on his grounder to short. Then Elliott smacked a line single to center, which was followed by Quinn's two base blow to the same spot. George Scott then bounced to Heckman, who threw to Johnston picking Elliott off third. In the run down Elliott eluded his pursuers, returning safely to third. The Petes raved loud and long at Colling's decision on the play and during the pow-wow Swanston was ordered from the game. Hatton now catching for Peterborough. Wood singled to right, scoring Elliott and Quinn with the deciding runs. Hughes singled to center, scoring George Scott, Macdonald now took over the pitching burden for the Petes, Heckman going to right field. Brown tapped to third and Wood was safe at the plate, Ibey struck out and Buck flied to center to end the agony, and to all intents and purposes the ball game. 4 runs, 4 hits, no errors.

The Petes rallied weakly in the ninth but failed to score. Ash led off by flying to left. Hall walked. L. Holingsworth batted for Johnston and forced Hall, Ibey to Elliott. Smith batting for Macdonald and forced Hollingsworth at second, G. Scott to Elliott. No runs, no hits, no errors.

TORONTO SPLITS DOUBLE HEADER

Need Five Pitchers To Down Orioles in First Game By Meagre Margin of 7-6.

LOSE SECOND 3-2.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19.— (C.P. — Toronto opened its three-game series here yesterday by dividing a double-header with the Baltimore Orioles in two hard-fought contests before 6,000 fans.

The Leafs rallied in the ninth inning of the opener to score one run and a 7-6 victory. In winning the contest, the Canucks had to use Pitchers Sam Gibson, Nick Harrison, Frank Barnes, Joe Samuels and Paul Zahniser.

John Hollingsworth bested "Submarine Ball' Clarry Fisher in the short nightcap to get the victory by a 3 to 2 decision. Hollingsworth allowed only four hits and sent eight down via the strike-out route. Ralph Shinners' double with two on base drove home the only two Toronto runs.

HOARDS WINNERS OF SECOND PLACE

Victors To Meet Bethel in Finals For Softball League Championship.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 19 (Examiner Correspondence).—A sparkling catch of Tom Little's long fly to deep centre by Albert Jones with two on in the seventh spelled defeat for Menie in the sudden death game to decide the winners of second place for the league finals, with Bethel. The game was played at Menie on Thursday evening and was easily the most exciting of the year. After a heavy start and leading for three innings, Menie fell by the wayside when Hoard's opened up with a barrage of heavy hits in the fourth and fifth. Eagleson, taking the mound with a sore arm, was hit hard in spots and with his support wobbly at times was badly handicapped. He struck out Pierce in the third with two on and Heagle in the sixth with first and second again occupied. Hoard was very steady in the box except in the first and sixth when errors helped Menie's cause. He struck out Linn to end a disastrous first inning. In the fourth Menie were retired on four pitched balls on flies to the pitcher, first base and the third. A sensational catch by Hume in left. The same player made the third out in the second on another splendid running catch.

Hoard's are now scheduled to meet Bethel in the finals. The first game is at Hoard's on Monday, the second at Bethel on Thursday.

BRAKELINERS TALLY WINNING RUN IN NINTH

Now Hook Up With Cogs in First Round of O.B.A.A. Intermediate Championship.

FINAL COUNT 5-4.

Game Lacks Usual Thrills of Title Encounter—Loose Fielding.

Nosing out Oshawa Arabs with a ninth innings run, Raybestos copped the Lakeshore loop at Port Hope on Saturday and will now hook up with Cognawagas, East Peterborough winners, in the first round of the O.B.A.A. Intermediate championship. The score was 5 to 4. In the long jaunt to the Ontario championship, the impending series between the two local clubs will stand as one of the most important. All attendance records for Intermediate ball in this district will probably be shattered when the two teams meet in the first game at Exhibition Park to-morrow evening at 5.30 o'clock. It will be the regulation nine frames. Umpires Kay, LeBarr and McCarney will work in the series.

Stripped of its importance, Saturday's game would go down as an ordinary contest with both clubs using a lot of ivory-topped manoeuvres. With a championship at stake, it was wild and woolly and no place for fans with weak hearts. Peterborough fans, and there were plenty there, didn't get much enjoyment out of the contest until the eighth when an infield error gave the Rays a break and away they went. Three runs down, the brakeliners overhauled the Arabs and pulled up even at 4 to 4, the third out being a strike-out with the bases loaded. Oshawa got a runner on their ninth but were quickly snuffed out. In the Rays' last half, with one gone, Batten reached first on the shortstop's fumble and peer peg. He stole second as Harold Nicholls struck out. With only a single needed to grab the game, Moore hit the first pitched ball far out between right and middle and Batten scored easily. The clout was good for at least three bases and Moore probably could have made the circuit.

"Duke" Dainty, pitching for Oshawa, was good enough to whiff eleven batsmen, the veteran getting in a lot of effective work by curving the third strike. The shortstop's error in the eighth came when the old fox was weakening, and although there were several conferences, he refused to leave the scene of battle.

Kitchen the Hero.

"Scotty" Maudsley, with a crippled pitching whip, started for the Rays, but minus speed, he was an easy mark for the Arabs and they hit practically everything thrown at them. Harry Corrin dropped a soft fly and "Shocky" Mein booted an easy grounder to put Maudsley in a big hole in the second when Oshawa scored three runs. With two gone, Maudsley retired to right field and Kitchen quickly retired the side on a fly to Oscar Nicholls. Kitchen was the boy who saved the Rays. The Arabs failed to hit safely until the seventh when no damage was done, and their fourth run in the eighth was unearned. The big youngster never once faltered, as his infield played indifferent baseball and he deserves a lot of credit for a well-pitched game.

The Rays won the toss, and with the veteran Jack Rosevear behind the plate and Eddie Campbell at the bases, Little opened the game with a clean single through short. He was sacrificed to third by McDougall and Bond, Hubbell drove a hot one into Batten's glove.

Dainty threw out Batten and Nicholls was thrown out from second. Moore singled through short and died stealing as Collins batted.

Maudsley fanned Elliott. Dainty's fly was dropped by Corrin standing still. Creamer slashed a single through short and Crossett was passed, filling the bags. Broad's grounder was fumbled by Mein, Dainty going in with the first run. Little streaked one down third just inside the bag that Harold Nicholls could not reach and two more runs counted. O. Nicholls's throw to the plate was returned by Collins to third where Broad was caught. That was enough for "Scotty." McDougall greeted Kitchen with a fly to O. Nicholls and went out.

Dainty struck out Collins after a battle of fouls, and repeated on Kitchen. Hickey popped to Elliott.

Oshawa retired in order in the third on a fly to Maudsley a strike-out and a liner to Hickey. Rays also were held in check.

The brakeliners got one back in the fourth. H. Nicholls had his grounder to third beaten and he took second when the throw to first was wide. Moore grounded out, Collins ripped a hot one through the first baseman to score Nicholls and went to third on Kitchen's neat double to right. Hickey struck out, Mein's long clout to the judge's stand looked good for two runs, but Creamer, who was playing deep, made a nice catch to nip the rally.

The fifth, sixth and seventh saw both teams get down to business and the fielding was fast. Dainty stabbed a hot one from H. Nicholls and Hubbell took a fly from Kitchen as he was falling, for a pair of nice fielding plays.

Oshawa's fourth run in the eighth brought dismay to the Peterborough rooters and the infield looked bad. With Little disposed of on a fly to O. Nicholls, McDougall hit into left for two bases. A fumble by Batten put Bond on first and when Hubbell shot a liner at Mein, the second baseman lost his bearings and although the ball was handled just back of second all hands were safe. Mein fell with the ball and could not wiggle back to the base to get the runner. Then Elliott shot another one down second and while Mein and H. Nicholls were pulling off a double killing, McDougall got home in time to score the run.

The entire Rays' batting order appeared at the plate in their half. Maudsley was passed and Batten singled down second. On Harold Nicholls' easy grounder, Crossett threw high to third to get Maudsley and he went on in. Moore grounded out, the runners advancing and both scored when Collins singled across the middle bag to tie the score. Kitchen forced Collins at second. Rogers, hitting for Hickey, came through with a single to left and Mein also singled to load the sacks. Oscar Nicholls went up after three high ones and the fun was over for the time being.

In the ninth, Dainty caught the Rays asleep with a well-placed bunt. Creamer flew out to Rogers, who had replaced Nicholls in left. Crossett was struck out and Harold Nicholls made no mistake on his throw to Barrie, off Broad's grounder. Barrie was playing first.

Rays won out in the ninth when Moore drove in Batten from second base.

WHAT A LIFE! WHAT A LIFE!

(BY AN ONLOOKER.)

Scene—Deloro Ball Park.
Time—Saturday, August 17, 1929.
Minor characters—Peterborough "Petes" and Deloro "Smelters."
Major characters—Ken Collings, umps. at the plate;
"U Collit" Woodley, umps. on bases;
"Shiner" Johnston, A. Heckman, Max Swanston, of the "Petes."
Bob Elliott, of Deloro.

Deloro is at bat; Quinn is anchored on second, and Elliott is edging off third; Scott is at bat, and there is one out. Now go on with the story.

Shiner—"Make the big stiff hit it down here, Al; I'll take care of him!"

Swanny—"Come on Al, old boy, don't need to lose any sleep over this bird."

Scott—"Pitch it in there and duck!"

Scott hits to Heckman, who picks Elliott off third. After a prolonged run down, Elliott winds up at third in a cloud of dust with Johnston holding the ball on him.

"U. C." Woodley, standing over play—"You call it Ken!"

Shiner—"Well, that's two gone, Heck."

Colling, from behind plate—"Safe at third!"

Entire cast—"What? Oh, you robber, etc!"

Shiner rushes toward Colling— Swanston throws off mask and runs in angry disgust—Heckman rushes in and surrounds His Nibs. Three pair of hands wave to the High Heavens.

"Shiner"—"I hope all your children grow up to look like you!"

Heck—"If you had a dog, I'd drop a nickle in your cup, if you had a cup. Why don't you come equipped?"

"Swanney"—"Why, you blankety—blankety—BLANK——"

Colling—"Swanston, yer, outta the game."

Exit Swanston.

Wood then singles, scoring two runs, and ball game is over.

Exit smiling.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

THE CRICKET.

When Mr. Cricket grows so old
His voice is thin and shrill,
When Autumn winds blow bleak and cold
Across the field and hill,
And through the chill October gloom
The frosts draw nigh and nigher
He creeps into the living room
And sits beside the fire.

And knowing he is safe away
From every autumn storm
When, never mind how chill the day,
He's always snug and warm,
He comes from out beneath the flue
To perish upon the tongs,
And there he softly trills a few
Contented little songs

And then of happy outdoor days,
Half slumbering, we dream
When through the blue October haze
We walked by hill and stream
When not a zephyr stirred the air
And in the listening trees,
The frost-touched grass, and every where
The crickets sang their glees.

I only heard how crickets came
To hide from cold and snow
Beside the hearth log's shining flame
A day or two ago.
It's just a story which was told
As many are, to me,
By Tommy, who is six years old,
And sits upon my knee.

Jack Crary Stars on Mound

Hope's Base Running and Hartley's Hitting Two of Features of Game.

CLEVER EXHIBITION.

Battle Was Nip and Tuck Affair From Start—Tidy Fielding.

Jack Deannard's crew of clever ball players redeemed themselves in the eyes of local fandom on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds when they white-washed the Belleville Moose, 4 to 0, in the second game of the O.B.A. junior play-offs.

The game was a remarkable exhibition of clever baseball and despite the slightly lopsided score was a nip and tuck battle from start to finish. A win was imperative for the Kiwanians if they were to stay in the running, as they lost the first game in Belleville last week.

Jack Hope's base running, Murray Hartley's hitting and Jack Crary's pitching were the three features which spelled victory for the locals, although every member of the team played errorless ball and capitalized on every scoring opportunity.

Crary mowed down the Belleville batters in his usual brilliant style, fanning nine and holding the visitors to three safe singles. In each innings only three of the Belleville team faced him except in the third and seventh, when four men batted. He figured in 14 assists.

The machine-like precision and pep exhibited by the Kiwanis' fielders was a noticeable feature, while Web Starr's peg to second made base stealing risky and caught the only runner who attempted it with ease. Only three of the Belleville team reached first base and one of these was caught stealing second, while the other two were left stranded.

Darrah is Good

E. Darrah, who pitched the whole game for the Moose, turned in a splendid game, collecting 8 strikeouts. Four free trips to first were largely responsible for the Belleville loss. Barriage at third and Petes behind the bat were the outstanding players for Bellevi"

THE GAME

Barriage, the lead-off man for the visitors, swung at the first three balls pitched and fanned. Petes rolled to Crary and Matt's grounder was fielded cleanly by Hartley. Peterborough got a life when Hope walked and stole second and third. Hartley whiffed. Weir singled, scoring Hope, but was out stealing second Starr popped to Blaker.

Second Innings

Blaker fanned. Young flied to Weir and Darrah fanned. Kiwanis—Gordon singled, Crary struck out, Holland flied out to Darrah in left field, and Saunders fanned.

Third Innings

Jenkinson's bunt was picked up neatly by Crary, who threw him out at first. McKinnon rolled to Saunders and was out. Darrah hit into left field for one bass. Barriage grounded to Weir, who threw out Darrah at second. Kiwanis—Cripps struck out. Hope popped to the shortstop. Hartley flied to McKinnin, who muffed it, but caught Hartley, who attempted to reach second.

Fourth Innings

Petes rolled to Crary and was tagged by him. Mott fanned. Blaker hit short and was thrown out by Starr.

For the Kiwanis, Weir fanned. Starr was hit and went to second on a passed ball. Gordon struck out and Crary was thrown out by Barriage.

Fifth Innings

Young sent a slow roller to Crary and was out. Darrah did the same. Jenkinson singled into left field but was out in an attempt to steal second. Kiwanis—Holland grounded to Blaker at first. Saunders sent up a high foul which Barriage gathered in, making a splendid catch. Cripps was out on a grounder to Young.

Sixth Innings

McKinnon and Barriage struck out and Darrah was thrown out by Hartley. Kiwanis—Hope walked, and stole second. Hartley hit into centre scoring Hope, but was caught off first when the relay home was nabbed by the pitcher, instead of the catcher. Weir was thrown out by Barriage. Starr singled. Gordon flied to Jenkinson.

Seventh Innings

Petes flied to Hope in centre. Mott grounded to Weir and Blaker fanned. Kiwanis.—Crary walked and Holland struck out. Saunder hit into centre. Cripps was passed, loading the bases. Hope hit into left field and the shortstop collided, neither securing the ball, while the latter was slightly injured. Crary scored on this play. Hartley sacrificed, scoring Saunders. Weir grounded to Blaker to retire the side.

Eighth Innings

Young was out on a grounder, Hartley to Gordon. Darrah hit into centre. Jenkinson fanned. Pete Morgan, batting for McKinnon, struck out. Kiwanis—Starr was out on a roller, Young to Blaker. Gordon fanned. Crary popped to Barriage.

Ninth Innings

Darrah was thrown out by Hartley. Barriage sent an infield fly to Gordon. Petes sent a liner to Gordon, and the game was over.

Peck Cup Semi-Final Still Unsettled

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

(By "TED" OOTRAM)

COGS-RAYS TO-MORROW NIGHT.

A ninth inning win over Oshawa Arabs gave the Rays the championship of the Lakeshore League, and now the long-expected Rays-Cogs series is assured. The whole city is agog; both clubs have staunch supporters and fandom is divided into two great camps; predictions of defeat or victory are being strongly made and loudly denied. It is enough to say that if both teams play up to form it will one of the best and tightest ball series ever played here. The first game is billed for the Exhibition Park on Tuesday evening, and the second for Friday. If a third game is necessary it will likely be arranged for the following Tuesday. The fact that the Rays will have to depend almost solely on Rus Kitchen for their pitching, while the Cogs have both Vannest and Masterson,is causing grave concern among the Brakeliners' supporters.

An admission charge of twenty-five cents will be made. These games are in the O.B.A.A. play-offs and the usual admission in other places is fifty cents. All season the fans here have been accustomed to contributing only silver collections, but the small fixed charge should not keep anyone away from these games, especially since the winning club will require all finances available to continue on into the provincial finals.

SOFTBALL BATTLE

Fans have their eyes on another series that should prove exciting, the Harrison's-Bridgenorth Wildcats scramble for softball honors, the first game of which will be fought at the Central School grounds this evening. The Cats will be somewhat weakened as a result of the accident to two of their men, Lefty Connors and Jack Baird. Connors will likely be able to play in the field, but not behind the bat, while Baird will be out of the game altogether, although he is recovering satisfactorily, his injuries not being as serious as at first feared.

KIWANIS BEHIND CRARY DID IT.

With Jack Crary on the slab, the Kiwanis team displayed championship form and pulled up on even terms with the Belleville Moose in the first round of the O.B.A.A. Junior playdowns. The third and deciding game will be played this Wednesday on neutral grounds, likely in Deloro. No one hesitates to give young Crary the lion's share of credit for the shut-out over Belleville. Only three men got to first base,and of these one was cut off going to second.

Manager Jack Deannard has called a full practice of the team for six o'clock at the James Stevenson Park.

TROPHY FOR BRASS SOFTBALL.

Frank T. "Chubby" O'Connor has given a very handsome silver cup for annual competition among the softball teams of the brass department of the C. G. E. The first game was played on Saturday between the Bachelors and the Benedicts, the single man winning 22 to 11.

TREMENDOUS TASK FOR PETES.

Manager Swanston has a full week to prepare his team to take a double fall out of the Belleville Nationals here next Saturday. Only such a happening will put the Petes back into a position to break into the Central League's play-offs, and at the same time Deloro and Oshawa have to split their double header in Oshawa. Deloro and Oshawa have broken even on the three twin bills that have already been played, and a repetition is not too much ao hope for, but the Petes are faced with the stupendous job of beating Belleville twice in the same day. If both conditions occur, then the Petes will be back in a triple tie for second place with Oshawa and Deloro. At present they are in last place, Oshawa and Deloro being tied for second place one game up.

PACKERS AND BRINTON A. A. DRAW AGAIN

Eric Jones Got Opening Goal—Both Goalkeepers Brilliant in Goals.

TWO GOALS EACH.

Newt. Downers and Carmichael C.P.C. Scorers—Darling, Brinton, Got Equalizer.

After battling for ninety minutes the Brinton A. A. and the Canadian Packing soccer teams failed to get a decision in the third attempt to decide the issue in the Pack Cup semi-final on Saturday afternoon when the count stood at two-all.

Many opportunities went a begging in front of goal. The Brintons deserved to win because Jones was the most unlucky marksman around the goals and the breaks went against him all the time. Frank Dyer, Sr., gave a good account of himself in his first appearance this season.

First Half.

From the kick off the Brinton forwards made progress towards Canadian Packing goal, where McPhate tested the goal keeper with a low grounder. Eric Jones returned again to confine the play to the goal area, until Agnew cleared up-field. Buchan trapped it from the air and when tackled he gained the decision in his favor to get a flag kick that brought two flag kicks,thereafter which found a resting place behind the goals.

Brinton Pressed.

Excellent half-back play by Dyer proved beneficial to his forwards around the goal. They kept up a steady pressure that finally ended in Darling placing a perfect centre to Eric Jones' head, who converted with his cranium. The Packers left wing now came into prominence with smart play and from a timely tap back to Buchan, the latter sent a fast drive into Curtis' hands, who had difficulty in clearing.

Curtis' One-handed Save.

A break away on the C.P.C. right allowed the forwards an opportunity to score. Craig running into goal with the ball at his foot was compelled to shoot in an unfavorable position, at any rate, it made the custodian concede a corner kick that was put past. A few minutes later, Newt. Downer made a great attempt to equalize when he sent a lightning drive against the goal-keeper who happened to be in a position to nullify.

Jones Unfortunate.

Throughout the whole of this preceding tussle, Jones harrassed the defence to a standstill, but the breaks did not go in his favor because he repeatedly beat the full backs on the dribbling method, then run the ball into goal to find that the ball was not over the goal line to give him the tally. It was a hard break on the energetic youth who never gave up trying and just before the half time interval he repeated the same performance again, very much to his own astonishment.

Brinton A. A., 1; Canadian Packing 0.

Half Time.

After the usual rest the Packers introduced the long swinging passes to the Brinton's discomfort. From a throw-in, Newt. Downer tested the custodian with a long drive that his centre-forwards just missed by inches in tapping through. Applause from the fans brought more excitement into the tussle when Curtis held the C. P. C. forwards in the blank column.

Packer's Couldn't Score.

No player worked harder than Carmichael to get his team out of the rut; in fact he was twice through to finish with headers that looked like a score but Curtis tapped the sphere over the bar. Nothing came from the corner kick. It was pleasant to witness the forward manipulating the ball with his head so as to get an opening, while Curtis was watching patiently to offset his movement with fistic touches over the bar.

Packers Equalized.

Eventually Westwood drew the defence away from their position to evade them by slipping the ball across to Williams. Quick as a flash the latter centred it across the goal-mouth where Newt. Dormer ran in to make no mistake with a timely shot. Both goals went under a severe bombardment in the final minutes, in fact the C.P.C. goal keeper getting the most to do. Eric Jones missing the cross-bar with an accurate header. Then Laider saved a "certainty," when Dyer, Jr., was slow in placing the ball in the net as the goal keeper was out of his charge.

Packers Got the Lead.

The Brinton team concentrated their whole team on the offensive to find that they had neglected a vital position when Buchan sent his centre forward away to the other end with nobody to beat but the goalkeeper. Carmichael travelled with the ball at his foot while two of his opponents were chasing him but he smartly deceived the custodian with an oblique shot.

Minto to Go—Brinton Realized.

On a visit to the C. P. C. goal, Darling followed up his shot to get the better of the argument when Foster held on to the ball too long. The forwards kept close touch with him until they banged the sphere into the net with only a minute to go.

Brinton A. A. 2, C.P.C. 2.

C. P. C. — Foster, goal; Agnew and Cross, full-backs; Carmichael, Buchan and Laidler, halves; W. Downer, Craig, O'Halloran, Westwood and Williams, forwards.

Brinton A. A.—Curtis, goal; Lucas and Honor, full backs; Newman, F. Dyer, Sr., and Bayliss, halves; Mayette, F. Dyer Jr., McPhate and Darling, forwards.

Referee—A. Aikenhead.

AGNES MORRIS SETS RECORD

Hamilton Runner Dashes 220 Yards in 25 4-5 Seconds At Toronto.

OLYMPIC WINS MEET.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 19.—A new world's record for women was established in the 220 yard run here Saturday when Agnes Morris ran the distance in 25 4-5 seconds. The former record was 26 seconds. Miss Morris, representing Hamilton in the dual meet staged here between the local Olympic Club and Toronto, could have done even better, it is believed ,as she was not extended to defeat Dallas Creamer, Toronto, who finished three yards behind.

The Olympic Club won the meet by scoring 67 points to 59 for Toronto.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"THE LAST OF MRS. CHENEY"—NORMA SHEARER'S BRILLIANT ALL - TALKING PICTURE — OPENED AT CAPITOL TO-DAY.

Norma Shearer, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's popular and beautiful young star, has one of the best roles of her career in "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," a noteworthy screen adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's famous stage play which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

The production is a smart and witty comedy, affording Miss Shearer one of those aristocratic sophisticated characterizations, which fit her so perfectly. Spice is added to the role by the fact that Miss Shearer is not only the heroine, a lady of romance who wins the heart and hand of a most fastidious nobleman, but also a lady crook. She victimizes the elite of British society, among which she moves through the co-operation of her burglaring butler, superbly played by George Barraud. It is only when she steals a priceless pearl necklace from her hostess at a house party that her nefarious activities are discovered.

Played with a rapid, airy tempo, the production is one of sheer entertainment. Miss Shearer makes "Mrs. Cheney" a delightful, amusing, and lovable character.

Basil Rathbone, recruited from the stage, where he has reigned as popular matinee idol for many seasons, plays Lord Dilling, the man who discovers the jewel theft and causes the last of Mrs. Cherney by transforming her into "Lady Dilling." Rathbone plays his part with ease and grace, and should henceforth be as popular on the screen as he has been on the stage.

Sidney Franklin, who directed, has done so with many suave and deft touches, which place him in the front rank of directors of sophisticated comedy.

Particular attention was paid to the casting of their rather difficult play, for each one of the players is an artist of established ability. Among them are the beautiful Hedda Hopper, Moon Carroll, Madeline Seymour, Cyril Chadwick, Finch Smiles, and Maude Turner.

MANY TRY FOR GOLF LAURELS

Jaspar Park Proves Popular As 115 Tee Off in Opening of Amateur Championships.

Rains Slow Up Fast Greens.

(By A. E. Fulford, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta., Aug. 19.—Play in the 36 hole qualifying round of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship commenced this morning over the sporty Jasper Park Lodge golf course when 115 golfers teed off. Withdrawals reduced the original entry list of 111 to around the century mark, but post entries brought it up again to above the number expected.

Rain, which started early in the evening and continued through most of the night, ceased before the first pair got away at eight o'clock. The moisture slowed up slightly the very fast greens which had bothered the contenders in their practice rounds. Tee shots lost much of their roll and good seconds were necessary. The greens, undulating in an erratic manner and a severe test for each hole, still were fast however. After having accustomed themselves in practice to the slight stroke sufficient for even moderately long putts, the contenders were forced to allow for the slowing up the rain effected.

As the first pair drove away into the face of Pyramid mountain, critics who flocked to Jasper for the tournament speculated on the score the 32 players who qualify for the second round the Canadian amateur must make. Estimates ranged from 163 made by a prominent contender to 170 guessed by those possessing less regard for the ability of the players to conquer the tricky course.

The Eastern Shore League, started this year as an independent circuit, lasted from Memorial Day to the Fourth of July.

Chicago Wins Out In Hurlers' Duel

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Pat" Malone, speed ball master from Chicago, revived memories of twenty years ago at the Polo Grounds yesterday when he engaged Larry Benton of the Giants in a duel which saw the two pitchers alumost completely master each other's supporting cast. It might have been Brown against "Matty" from the way Malone and Benton wove their spell with a 1929 jackrabbit ball.

Malone was the vitcor by 1 to 0, and the Cubs edged half a game further from the pursuing Pirates, who were idled at Philadelphia. The break came on the seventh when "Kiki" Cuyler opened with a double and completed the journey on sacrifice flies by Stephenson and Heathcote.

General Motors Again Win Lacrosse Honors

BRAMPTON, Aug. 19.— (C.P.)—Oshawa General Motors, who wrested the O.A.L.A. senior championship from Brampton Excelsiors a year ago, after trailing them throughout the season, have repeated the achivement. On Saturday at Rosalead they won the championship in the second of two straight games, by defeating the locals, 5 to 3. They won it chiefly because they are a more finished lacrosse twelve, have a steadier defense, and a more dangerous and trick attack.

One of the half dozen veteran pitchers coralled by Tris Speaker to win a pennant at Newark has been released in the person of Jimmy Ring.

There is an old Bridge saying that "anything can happen to a No Trump." This was particularly true in the "old days" when it was the accepted practice to bid No Trumps even when holding singletons and worthless doubletons, or in other words with a holding such as South's in the above deal.

The fact that South, in the present instance, bid a suit instead of No Trump did not save him, however, from having a Grand Slam made against him by a clever play on the part of the Declarer (East). It goes without saying that had South ever anticipated such a possibility, he could have prevented a Grand Slam by leading out his Ace of Spades. Not forewarned, however, he led the Queen of Clubs and adversaries took thirteen tricks.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South's original bid of one Spade is preferable to one No Trump because of his worthless doubleton in Diamonds.

West doubles negatively, also in preference to a bid of No Trumps as his hand is well fitted to support any response by partner and as further adverse bidding, if any, can only give him valuable information should he finally elect to play the hand at No Trumps.

North passing, East takes out the double with two Diamonds, which effectively silences South but not West, who now bids two No Trumps, preferring the short game of three-odd to the long game of five-odd at Diamonds.

East, however, is not satisfied with No Trumps, his massed values and his extreme suit type of hand almost necessitating a re-bid of Diamonds. West does not disturb this bid as his partner's rebid indicates a strong desire to play the hand at Diamonds rather than at No Trumps.

Contract: The bidding is cut short at Contract by East's bid of five Diamonds, following at once both the character and strength of his holding. West does attempt a Slam following partner's pre-emptive response which he correctly assumes is based on massed and not distributed values.

The Play

South leads initially the Queen of Clubs which East wins with the Ace in own hand to hold the King-Ten in Dummy as a tenace over the Jack, which he infers South to hold because of his lead of the Queen.

East now stops to count the hand. Assuming the Jack of Clubs as placed in South's hand, East can count as positive: three Club tricks, seven Diamonds and one Heart, and can count as almost sure one Spade trick with the King, assuming South who bid Spades to hold the Ace. Thus East figures on 12 tricks in all.

With practically no chance, therefore, of failure to make his contract, except the remote possibility that South opened from the Queen-small of Clubs, East takes advantage of the Queen of Clubs opening to try for a Grand Slam.

A necessary preparation for this attempt is to first exhaust the Clubs from his own and Dummy's hand. East, accordingly, plays the Club 4, finesses the 10 which holds, and lays down Dummy's King. He next plays Dummy's Ace of Diamonds followed by the Diamond 4, which he wins in own hand with the King. East now lays down his remaining Diamonds leaving him with the Jack and 2 of Spades and 10 of Hearts.

At the play of the last Diamond, South is down to the Ace and Queen of Spades and the King and Jack of Hearts, one of which he must discard. Dummy is down to the King of Spades and the Ace-Queen-9 of Hearts. Consequently, whatever South discards, Declarer must make the remaining tricks. A Grand Slam is thus made by reason of the Squeeze on South, a possibility which presented itself immediately following the initial lead and the exposure of the Dummy.

FIREMAN DROWNED ON FISHING TRIP

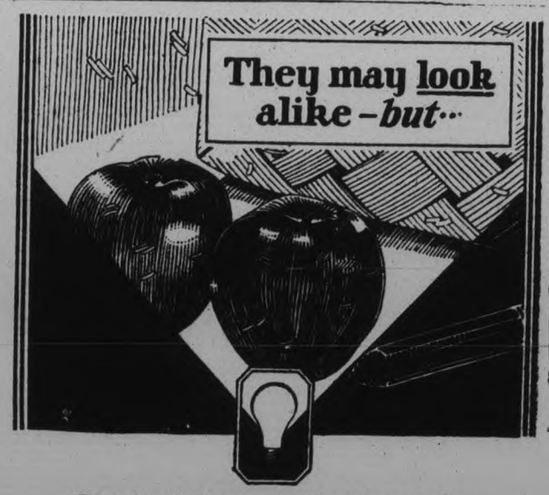
Boat Overturns On Lake Ontario—Companion Has Narrow Escape.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 19 (C.P.)—Hugh Hope, 38, a city fireman and prominent five-pin bowler, was drowned in Lake Ontario, off Cherry Beach here on Friday when a leaky punt from which he and Joseph Sullivan, local barriser, were fishing overturned.

Sullivan clung to the punt but Hope started to swim to shore, about 150 yards away. He was hampered by heavy clothing and after swimming a short way was warned by Sullivan that he could not make it. Hope then turned about and started to swim back to the punt, but sank when 10 yards away. It is believed he was seized with cramps.

DRIVER IS HELD UP.

KITCHENER, Ont., August 19 (Canadian Press). — Three hold-up men relieved Clark Cookman, driver for the Hill & Lauvray Transport Company, of $12.00 in cash and five cases of beer at Chatham when a man jumped in the cab and covered him with a gun while two companions took the cases.



Taste them both and notice the difference! It's difficult, too, to tell lamps apart except by the name. That's why it pays to insist on Edison Mazda Lamps — famous for their quality.

said. "We have no desire to dump our people anywhere." He believed, however, that there were in Great Britain people of adventurous spirit who should be afforded an opportunity to tackle pioneer work such as was available in Canada. The suggestion that British folk had lost the spirit of adventure which characterized their forefathers was utterly wrong. "Our people are not decadent. They have passed through too many trials and tribulations to go under without a fight. And they are not going under" he said proudly.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

To All Persons Having Registered Claims, or Claims of Which No Notice Has Been Registered Existing Prior to June 1st, 1890, Against Lands in Any Registry Division in Ontario.

Whereas "The Investigation of Titles Act, 1929," enacts interalia—

3 (1)—From and after the coming into force of this sub-section, no person in dealing with land shall be required to show that he is lawfully entitled to such land as owner thereof through a good and sufficient chain of title, save and except during the period of forty years immediately preceding the date of such dealing as aforesaid, and no claim which has been in existence longer than the said forty year period shall affect such land, unless such claim shall have been acknowledged or specifically referred to or contained in an instrument registered against such land within the said forty year period or unless a notice is registered against such land as provided in sub-sections 3, 4, and 5 hereof.

3 (2)—Sub-section 1 shall come into force on the 1st day of June, 1930.

3 (3)—Upon the coming into force of this Act and within one year thereafter any person having a claim against any land which claim has been in existence for forty years or more prior to the coming into force of this Act, but in respect to which claim no notice of its existence has been given, acknowledged, or specifically referred to or contained in an instrument registered against such land within forty years prior to the coming into force of this Act, or any person on his behalf may register in the proper registry office a notice in which shall be set forth the claimant's full name and address and a description of the land and a detailed statement of such claim, verified by the affidavit of the person registering such notice.

3 (6)—The registration of a notice as provided in sub-sections 3, 4, and 5 shall not in any way validate a claim which has otherwise expired.

THEREFORE TAKE NOTICE. That any person having a claim against any land as above set forth must register notice thereof in the proper registry office Before June 1st, 1930. If this is not done, except under certain conditions, then any land which is subject to such claim so registered prior to June 1st, 1890, or any claim existing prior to June 1st, 1890, of which no notice has been registered, shall be absolutely freed and released therefrom.

DATED at Toronto, this 16th Day of August, A.D. 1929.

TALKIES ARE MAKING BIT HIT WITH PETERBORO SHOW GOERS

Audiences Are Given Wider View On Action of Other Peoples.

SOMETHING EXASPERATING.

(By Jeanette)

"The children sing in far Japan,
The children sing in Spain,
The organ and the organ man
Are singing in the rain."

And furthermore, if you go to the "Talkies" often enough, you can hear them singing anywhere in the world. The other night, for instance, a group of Dutch children in far-away Holland got together and sang their jumbly songs for an audience, while a group of their seniors, gathered around a dozen foaming steins sporting a bead that would make a Milwaukee brewer turn green with envy, burst into hilarious and indistinguishable Dutch words that sounded as if they were "comin' thru the rye."

We have had the "Talkies" with us for some weeks now and what do we think about them? Opinions are divided. You "takes your choice". They have proponents and opponents. There are those who regard them as a further example of the invasion of the Demon Noise, and again, there are people who hail them with feelings of unmixed joy. They are interesting, at any rate.

Who would ever have thought that the silent and unobstrusive, one might almost say, reserved, screen, would ever have come to its present state? For years and years, we never thought about it at all. It merely served as a background for the "Jumping flickers". It was decidedly deaf and dumb and it spoke only through the eye. Now the ear has come into its own and the hitherto unaspiring sheet has suddenly become vocal in the extreme. Even the old lion that has become familiar to patrons of the Metro-Goldwin-Mayer comedies opened its mouth suddenly, the other evening, and, instead of the traditional soundless gesture, emitted a faint but unmistakable roar.

The one thing that the audience now demands of this gabby drama is that it be loud enough. When it becomes polite and off-hand and drops its voice, like it did in "Interference", it is annoying in the extreme. But when it mixes itself up, and gets off on the wrong foot, that is another story again. In "The Duke Steps Out," the roar of the ringside, scheduled to take place that evening, obtruded itself suddenly and unmistakably at a quiet breakfast table and the blare of the fighting fans rose above the peaceful remarks of Barney and Jake, absorbed in the consideration of the rival merits of a breakfast of sausages and wheat cakes, or bacon and eggs.

A Maiden's Prayer

Again, Bessie Love knelt at her bedside in "The Broadway Melody." She was imploring the Lord, with appropriate tears, to keep her sister safe from the clutches of a rich stage door John. Floating across the screen came the conversation of the next episode, when the same gentleman promised the elusive lady of his fancy that he would give her a Park Avenue apartment and a Rolls Royce car. It was an unwanted answer to a maiden's prayer.

And then there was a jazz orchestra, unexpectedly blaring a dance tune across the tragedy of the murder scene and the shots of the assasin, in "On Trial."

The talking screen has its moments of extreme disillusionment. Who, for instance, listening to the flattering announcer of Helen Morgan in "The Show Boat", as a lady whose "charming personality" had made her a marvellous success, could imagine for a minute that she would turn out to be a tough-appearing dame with one apparently crossed eye and a Bowery manner?

But isn't it lovely when they remember their inflections with such extraordinary fidelity? In "Interference", for instance, which was an extremely clever picture, there was the villain, William Powell. Did he, in moments of extreme stress, slip up on his vowels? Not he. Even when the lady of his heart clutched a prussic acid bottle and he retrieved it with difficulty from her tightening fingers, he still remembered, when saying: "Oh, my dear, suicide is such a stupid way out", to pronounce that word 'suicide' as it should be pronounced. You know—in the upstage manner. Not vulgarly, like one pronounces 'soup', but rather as one pronounces 'sugar.' And again, there was Pauline Frederick, calling herself 'Poline', in "On Trial."

And speaking about pronunciation, isn't it rather interesting, after hearing the Hollywood announcers do it, to discover that it is really Lon Chaney, with a long, rather than a short 'a', that Lois Wilson's first name rhymes with 'cloys', and that Carl Laemmle's surname is pronounced like 'Lamley', rather than 'Lammel', as we had always thought?

Not Zed, But Zee

There was a little puzzlement to Canadian ears in the American pronunciation of the final letter of the alphabet. In the country ruled by the Stars and Stripes, they call this 'zee', rather than 'zed', and a late popular song, rendered during a "Talkie" program, had the Yankee twist to the line which ended with "from A to Z."

There is something exasperating about the talking screen that goes dumb at important intervals, like it did in "The Home Towners", for instance. The majority of the audience thought the censor had been at work but it transpired later that the conversation had only been about a lady's age. However, the screen may have been tactful at the moment, as it certainly was sympathetic in another picture, "On Trial", when a very piteous sub-title explained in words that the lady's feelings, while giving testimony in the court case, had overcome her, and she was unable to proceed. "Her voice became choked with sobs," explained the polite subtitle, when the woman's voice faltered and the screen came to her rescue.

And there was the episode in "Weary River", where dumbness descended like a pall upon the picture that had, up to the saloon scene, been quite talkative, while "Show Boat" demonstrated a peculiarity in this way also. The action was quite soundless about a third of the way through. Then the characters which had hitherto been silent started to talk with great suddenness and unexpectedness. "Show Boat" exhibited a strange type of technique also in the 'fadeouts' which brought one period of time directly on the heels of another. And it illustrated the oddity of these talking pictures from a time angle. They give you speech, which is of the present tense, always, they give you action which may be taking place, according to the story, either fifty years ago or this morning, and then they annihilate time with this new device of the 'fade-out.' They annihilate space also within the fraction of a second.

There is sometimes a heavy significance to trifles that is hard to fathom. Like "The Home Towners," for instance. The opening scene appeared to hold the key to the following story. At least, the audience thought it did. But it transpired later that it had nothing to do with the sequence and the result was confusion. The emphasis had simply been placed wrongly, right from the beginning. The audience sympathized with the interfering old man who turned out later, according to his own words, to be quite an old fool, and they went home feeling just a little irritated.

Then there is a 'stickiness' to the announcements that is extraordinary. For instance, one actor comes out, like H. B. Warner, and points with pride and many flattering words, to the achievements of the other, minor, actors in the coming picture. And it develops later on that H. B. Warner himself is the king pin of the whole affair, but the exigencies of polite society, extending now to the talkative screen, cause him to flatter others unduly and mention himself only in passing. The gabby drama is hypocritical in its trailers, at all events.

A curious bit of inexpert technique in these picture is the use of the "flashback." A character in a trial scene, for instance, on the witness stand, begins to describe an experience. Suddenly the voice is cut off, just in a moment's flash, without warning, and the episode appears.

Again there is the use of a double for two voice, like the gambling-hall scene in "Show Boat", where Magnolia and Julie are apparently doubled for by the same voice and the resultant words and crying of the two women have exactly the same inflection and depth of tone.

These "talkies" are broad enough in their implications, at times, and none apparently thought it necessary to censor "Little Egypt" in her dance in "Show Boat." She had a costume that resembled greatly the classical description of the attire of the celebrated "Gunga Din."

The Broad 'A'

There was a bit of positive and convincing artistry in the cultured English accent assumed by Ruth Chatterton in the stellar role in "The Doctor's Secret", which was staged in England, but, on the other hand, why give a maid servant, like 'Gert' in "The Wolf of Wall Street", a voice that was exactly like that of the mistress of a large household? Maids are sometimes highly educated but they seldom possess voices like stage stars.

But isn't it nice to hear the real voices of the people one has watched for years, in silent pictures? There was Emily Fitzroy, in "Show Boat." She is a rigid old female with a prim figure and a stiff mouth. She was the main gossip in the famous trio of scandal-mongers in "Way Down East", and the echo of a certain type of tic-tac music played by the orchestra announced her coming, always. In "Show Boat," she was the indomitable and immovable mother and her voice was just like her. So was George Bancroft's, in "The Wolf of Wall Street" and so was Milton Sills', the other night, when he came out in the trailer for "The Divine Lady." But why did they have to have an orchestra playing with them, all the time, drowning out the words?

Well, we have had the movies for years. Now we have the talkies and there is a rumour that we are going to have the smellies. That is, when a picture is shown depicting a meal at home for instance, we can smell the cabbage and the beef stew and the fried onions.

It has its possibilities, also its hazards. Possibly a reformed drinker might be sitting in the audience and suddenly, sniffing the odor of Bourbon or cognac, make a sudden rush for the exit and the nearest liquor dispensary. That would bring the talkies under the ban of the temperance folk and put a crimp into their smelly activities. The advocates of the smellies should pause and consider the consequences.

Springville

SPRINGVILLE, Aug. 19 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual birthday party of the Springville W.M.S. was held in the basement of the church on Tuesday, August 13. A number of the ladies of the Fairmount Auxiliary and other friends were guests on the occasion. Over forty ladies were present. The program for the afternoon consisted of a short devotional service, followed by quilting and a social hour, at the close of which a delightful lunch was served.

Rev. Mr. Moire, pastor of the church; Rev. McCall of Brantford, and others were present for lunch.

Mrs. (Rev.) Moire addressed the ladies, choosing for her text, Matthew v., 6: "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." In an interesting and beautiful manner she told of the duty of women to feed the hungry of body and of soul. Are we, as disciples of the Lord Jesus, who have so much heavenly food doing all that we can to share this food with the hungering, thirsting souls of humanity? It is our duty as "Mothers in Israel" to attend the meetings of the W.M.S.

HOW ONE WOMAN LOST 28 LBS. OF FAT

This headline is exactly true and means just what it says. Read her own letter: "I take a daily dose of Kruschen and I have lost two inches around the waist and hips and 28 lbs. since last summer. I feel very well on it, and people tell me I look very fit. I am 5ft. 4ins. in height, 40 years old, and come of a stout family."

Miss E. L.

If you are fat, first remove the cause. When your liver, kidneys, and bowels can't throw off that poisonous waste material which is always accumulating in your body—before you realize it you are growing hideously fat.

Take Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning. In three weeks' time, get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also how you have gained in energy and health. Your skin is clearer, your eyes sparkle with glorious health. You feel younger in body, keener in mind. Kruschen will give many fat people a joyous surprise. S.C.4

ROBERT HARSTONE LEAVES FOR WEST

May Spend Several Months in the Grain Province.

Robert Harstone left this afternoon for the west to look over the crops, especially in Central and Southern Saskatchewan and Alberta. From the information that has come to him during the last few weeks by telegraph and letter Mr. Harstone said that his earlier news and conclusions seem entirely verified.

"The crop has been deteriorating," he said, "and there is quite a considerable amount of low grade grain. The estimates based upon my first information are being borne out in later reports. In fact the corp seems to be less and the quality is not so good as we had hoped. I have had as yet no reason to change my earlier opinions."

Mr. Harstone promised to write the Examiner a few letters from the west giving first hand information of the crop and harvesting conditions.

FIVE PERISH IN FLAMES

WEDDING BELLS

RUTTLE—SAUNDERS.

A quiet wedding took place on Friday, August 1, when Verna Mary, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Saunders, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to George Harold Ruttle, second son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruttle, of Lakefield.

The young couple were unattended, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Thomas Brown, of Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruttle will reside in Peterborough.

HEWITT—McCULLOUGH.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. George's Anglican Church on Saturday afternoon last, when Violet Marguerite McCullough of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. McCullough, of Kingston, became the bride of Thomas Hewitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hewitt, of 246 Lansdowne Street. Rev. J. L. Hughes performed the ceremony, and Mrs. R. King presided at the organ.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was prettily attired in a gown of white georgette over lace with lace flounce and deep shaped lace collar. She wore a becoming white hat, white gloves, shoes and hose, and carried a spray of pink roses and fern. She was preceded down the aisle by a pretty little flower girl, Ida May Bennett, niece of the groom, who wore a sleeveless white frock, and carried a basket of varied flowers.

Miss Polly Parkes acted as bridesmaid. Her gown was of peach colored georgette, with matching hose and patent leather shoes. She wore a white hat, white gloves, and fox fur, and her bouquet was of pale mauve asters and fern. Mr. Donald McIntosh supported the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

A large number of useful presents were received by the young couple, including a tea set and silver tray from the bride's fellow-employees at the Brinton Carpet Factory.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's parents and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCullough and the Misses Hazel and Gertrude McCullough, of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, with their two daughters, Irene and Ida May, of Georgetown, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt will reside at 246 Lansdowne Street.

COONEY SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON

Noted author Reads Extracts From His "The Kinsmen" To Rotarians.

PLAN FIELD DAY.

Percival G. Cooney, noted author, delighted the Rotary Club at its noonday luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day. Mr. Cooney read extracts from his book "The Kinsmen," which graphically pictures the humor and peculiarities of the early settlers in Canada. The speaker had a liberal fund of rollicking humor which maintained continual laughter among his audience.

In the absence of President Ross Dobbin, Robert Abbott acted as chairman. Max Sauer played the piano accompaniment to the songs Plans were made for a field day on the course of the Peterborough Golf Club.

CHEMONG BRIDGE.

The floating bridge at Chemong made its appearance in print over the week-end. A very good picture of this curious structure, which gives many a strange motorist a thrill, especially in a rough day, appeared in a Toronto paper.

WANTED—A LAW.

The saxaphone comes in for a lot of abuse, and editorial writers can hardly be blamed for their comments if they listened to plaintive wailings that were emitted from such a horn, as were let loose last evening at Sandy Point, Clear Lake.

Weird noises that turned out to be "Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home," and other such mournful melodies, accompanied by the crazy laughing of disturbed loons, spoiled an otherwise perfect evening.

BEFORE THE MAST.

The number of regattas this year has inspired the younger generation of kiddies. Although there have been no sailing races or aquatic sports in the city, and there is a lack of yacht clubs, this handicap does not prevent would-be sailors from trying their luck with sail boats. Yesterday afternoon ,on the Goose pond, before a freshening breeze, a flat bottomed boat with two boys in it who had rigged up a square sail at the bow slowly weaved its way back and forth across the expanse of the bend in the river at this point.

PLANE ROUSES CURIOSITY.

An airplane travelling through Peterborough's streets attracted quite a crowd of curious spectators yesterday morning. It was being towed behind a truck and crowds of youths followed it along its course. The plane was a government moth which had flown up here from Montreal on Saturday and which had suffered engine trouble and was being taken back to be repaired.

AUTUMN WEATHER.

Camp fires were the word of the evening up the lakes last night. All along the shores and on the islands ,glowing dots pierced the dimness of a moonlight night. The coolness of the evening ,and the fall tinge to the weather, lent the right spirit to the fire worshippers and numerous parties gathered around the blazing wood and glowing embers.

GLADIOLUS DISPLAY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Five Varieties Exhibited in Heintzman Store Window —Prizes Presented.

The gladiolus display and competition which was held under the auspices of the C.G.E. Horticultural Society on Saturday afternoon in the Heintzman Music Hall, Hunter street, was an outstanding success. This society distributed about six hundred gladiolus bulbs among its members in the spring with instructions that they be planted between May 20 and 24. The collection of blubs consisted of five varieties, the names of which were known only to the officers of the organization. There were four prizes for each of the five varieties and special prizes for the best single spike displayed by a member regardless of where the bulbs were procured.

The number of spikes exhibited by the members together with special displays by A. E. Prest and the two judges, H. Carter and F. Hall, completely filled the space at the front of the Heintzman Hall.

The display made a striking bank of color, and brought forth many pleasing comments from the large crowd of spectators who viewed the flowers on Saturday night.

It is hoped to make this competition an annual event and should give gladiola growing much impetus throughout the city.

The following is a list of the prize-winners:

Class 1; variety, Mary Pickford—1st, S. Buckness; 2nd, corge East; 3rd, Bert Huffman; 4th, Ted Bartley.

Class 2; Variety, Joe Coleman—1st William Mantell; 2nd, B. Bolam; 3rd, G. R. Moore; 4th, A. Welsh.

Class 3; variety, Giant Nymph—1st, H. Wilford; 2nd, S. Bucknell; 3rd, Miss C. Blair; 4th, K. Beavis.

Class 5; variety, E. J. Shaylor.—1st William Mantell; 2nd, L. Callander; 3rd, George Land; 4th, G. R. Moore.

Class 6; variety, Open—1st, A. Welsh; 2nd, K. Beavis; 3rd, William Mantell; 4th, J. Pilling.

Entrants in National Women's Air Derby Continue On To Cleveland After Argument

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Aug 19. (C.P.) — Eighteen of the nineteen women flyers entered in the first women's national air derby from Santa Monica Calif., to Cleveland, who balked at continuing the flight from here to-day, because of their objection to landing at Calexico, Calif., won their point when race officials announced they would be permitted to pass that point without stopping.

It was announced that the flyers instead of making a control stop at Calexico, would be permitted by the Cleveland race officials to fly sufficiently low over that airport to allow checkers to read their plane numbers. The contestants then may land at Yuma, Ariz., the change they had demanded, or continue to Phoenix, the second night stop.

The women indicated that the strike was made against the Calexico stop because several planes would be unable to take off from the field there due to the lack of space

CANADIAN TEAM IS DESIGNATED FOR 1930 BISLEY

Lieut. James Boa of Montreal Will Be Leader.

D.R.A. MEET ENDS.

Governor-General's Prize Won By Westerner—Burke Third.

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Lieutenant James Boa, famous Montreal marksman, will lead the Canadian contingent to the great Empire shoot at Bisley next year, according to the official report issued to-night by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. Lieutenant Boa scored a total of 669 points in the MacDougall, Walker, Bankers', Macdonald Brier, City of Ottawa, and first and second stages of the Governor-General's Match at the D.R.A. prize meet, which ended yesterday. Boa leads Lieutenant Desmond Burke, Ottawa, by two points.

Eighteen men comprise the team which yearly invades England as representative of Canadian marksmanship. Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, Vancouver, winner of the King's Prize at the big meeting in England this year, will, it is understood, be added to the list by special concession of the directorate of the D.R.A. Colonel Blair was unable to compete in several matches through fulfilling important social engagements in Ottawa.

Bisley Team.

Members of the Canadian team and alternates, with scores, are as follows: Lieut. J. Boa, Montreal, 666; Lieut. Desmond Burke, Ottawa, 664; Sgt. G. M. Emslie, Toronto, 659; Master Gunner H. Collings, Vancouver, 653; C.S.M. W. A. Hawkins, Toronto, 656; Lieut. W. Houlden, Sherbrooke, Que., 653; Pte. J. V. Austman, Kenniston, Sask., 652; Lieut. J. N. Dow, St. John, N.B., 652; Lieut. A. C. Carter, Toronto, 651; Sgt. S. M. Beckingham, Toronto, 651; Sgt. J. H. Regan, Victoria, B.C. 650; Sgt. J. W. Sharpe, Vancouver, 650; Sgt. A. Parnell, Montreal, 647; Aircraftsman P. Wilkinson, Ottawa, 647; Sgt. J. A. Timbrell, Toronto, 647; Capt. G. A. Holland, Victoria, 646; Cpt. F. Hobbs, Toronto, 646; Lieut. J. Bowen, Edmonton, 646.

Alternates: Sgt. H. Rusk, Ottawa, 646; Sgt. C. W. Foam, Montreal, 645; Capt. J. E. Foreman, Hamilton, 645; C.S.M. F. Jamieson, Toronto, 645; Sgt. Major W. H. Ruffell, Vancouver, 645; Lieut. C. A. Molecey, Winnipeg, 644; Sgt. M. Penman, Montreal, 644; J. L. Ward, Sunnybrae, N.B., 644; Lieut. H. Storrar, Toronto, 644; C.S.M. A. C. Lucas, Toronto, 644.

Austman's Victory.

Private J. V. Austman of Kennision, Sask., flashed across the shooting limelight by winning the Governor-General's match, blue-ribbon event of Canadian marksmanship on the final day of the Dominion Rifle Association meet here yesterday, with a score of 247.

Seldom has a more dramatic finish been enacted at the end of a Governor-General's match than there was yesterday. Along a firing line which stretched for many hundreds of yards 173 of the best marksmen in the country were shooting at a string of white targets 900 yards away. On Butt 5 were grouped ten men who were considered reasonably "sure things." One of these men, it was thought, would be the winner. Lieutenant Desmond Burke, Ottawa, former King's Prize winner, was among the ten.

The defeat of Burke was perhaps the most dramatic feature of the entire match. His score was one that would be considered high in any company, but he finally emerged with a score of 244 for fifth place; three behind, Private Austman, and one point behind C. R. Crowe, Guelph. Captain Galbraith, Hamilton; Lieutenant J. Boa, Montreal; Lieutenant Burke and Aircraftsman Wilkinson of Ottawa, tied for third place, and following a shoot-off were placed as above.

the right shoulder, knocking him down.

According to the police, Graham stated that the truck was going at a high rate of speed, and Tony Anthony, Jr., a witness of the accident, stated that Marshall was travelling at about thirty miles an hour

Marshall claims that he did not know that he had hit Graham, and when informed by Clifford Spry that he had hit a man, replied, "I thought it was a board or something that I struck."

The lane where the accident occurred, runs through Scott's coal yard from Hunter to Robinson street, and is not a thoroughfare.

LIQUOR BODY IS PUBLIC OPINION TEST BY GOV'T

Partial List Arouses Attention As Labor Party is Keenly Divided On Subject.

MAY NOT HAVE TO DECIDE.

Snowden Not Expected To Put Heavy Burdens On Liquor Trade.

LONDON, Aug. 18. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Publication of the names of half the personnel of the Royal Commission on liquor licensing matters has aroused considerable attention. It is suggested this partial announcement is made with the view of testing public opinion on the composition of the commission as a whole. It is a well known fact that there are few subjects on which the Labor Party is more keenly divided than on the liquor question. It is quite possible the Commission's labors will occupy three years, as proclaimed, but it is equally possible that the Labor government may end that period and consequently might not have to act on the Commission's recommendations.

Sir William Butler, head of a well-known brewery, in addressing shareholders to-day expressed the opinion that Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden as Chancellor of the Exchequer would be unlikely to throw unduly heavy burdens on the liquor trade. 'I know he has expressed strong views regarding the trade in alcoholic beverages, but when I had the pleasure of working with him on the Liquor Control Board during the war I always found him far removed from the narrow-minded and opiniated person many of my friends pictured," said Sir William. "He always struck me as being ready to give weight to other people's opinions, and never impressed me as desiring to confiscate anyone's property or to impose unjust burdens."

MILK AND CREAM TARIFF BOOSTED

Rate On Canadian Cream Raised 180 Per Cent., While Milk Jumps 160.

DAIRY PLANTS IMPROVED.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 19 (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—While the Department of Agriculture over the week-end issued a report praising Canadian officials for their assistance in enforcing the Import Milk Act and adding enforcement had been so carried out as to benefit both the United States' consumer and the Canadian producer, the United States Senate was preparing to consider a tariff bill which would raise the rates on Canadian milk and cream.

The rate on Canadian cream under the Fordney-McCumber tariff was 20 cents a gallon. This was raised by Presidential decree to 30 cents, the House of Representatives voted to make it 48 cents and the Senate Finance Committee raised the proposed rate to 56 3-5 cents. This represents a total increase of 180 per cent on a Canadian import which amounts in value in 1929 to $5,225,0 and for which the United States is the only export market. The Fordney-McCumber rate on milk was 2½ cents a gallon. The proposed rate is 6½ cents, an increase of 160 per cent.

Meantime the report of the Department of Agriculture notes a great improvement in the Canadian dairy plants.

OIL GROUP DROPS IN HEAVY SELLING

Movement Offset By Resumption of Bullish Operations in Public Utilities.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—The stock market, having advanced rapidly into new high ground last week, to-day ran into some selling, particularly in the oil shares, but this was offset by a resumption of bullish operations in a select assortment of public utility, steel, electric equipment and railroad stocks. The selling was inspired largely by the belief that the technical position of the market had been weakened and that a re-action was in order

Call money opened unchanged at 7 per cent., and was in scarce supply for a time, but new funds made their appearance around midday and there were indications that the rate might be maintained. There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates.

CHURCH'S TRIBUTE TO RICH. J. DEVEY

Rev. Mr. McDonald Expresses Regret At His Departure.

Dignified and impressive were the words of farewell spoken by the Rev. William McDonald at Knox United Church services yesterday, of R. J. Devey, organist and choirmaster, who presided at the organ of Knox Church for the last services of his term of office.

Mr. McDonald said in part: "During my four weeks' holiday, changes have taken place, the last change being the retirement of Mr. Devey, our organist and choirmaster for the last three years and a half.

"On behalf of the Session and Congregation, I sincerely regret the loss of Mr. Devey, who had a happy faculty of gathering young people in the choir, and securing their faithful attendance at choir practice and service.

The large attendance at last Thursday's practice, and at this service was evidence of vitality in the work of the choir and harmony in their midst. Mr. Devey has an innate sense of reverence in the sacred service of praise, and I have found him to be a Christian gentleman in his relations to myself and the officials of his church.

"We wish Mr. and Mrs. Devey every success in their service of minstrelsy in St. James' Anglican Church in Perth.

"As a citizen Mr. Devey's work for music in this city for many years was splendidly acknowledged in the press last week."

At the conclusion of the evening service, the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung.

McBeth's "Forget Me Not," and Batiste's "Offertoire in F" were special features of yesterday's organ selections. The choir deferred their leave-taking to Wednesday, August 28, when their annual picnic will be held to Cobourg.

REPORTS OF RUSSIAN INVASION UNFOUNDED

Atlantic Fog Enshrouds Two Young Swiss Airmen Nearing American Coast

Reckless Flight By Youths of Slight Scientific Knowledge.

SILENCE ALL DAY.

No Word At Halifax This Afternoon—Are Only Twenty.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., August 20 (Canadian Press). — Nothing of the Swiss flyers had been seen or heard here early this afternoon. After an unusually clear night, the weather turned foggy with rain this afternoon.

HORTA, Azores, Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Having passed the Azores flying from Lisbon, Portugal, two young Swiss aviators to-day were near the North American coast, if all went well.

The aviators, Oscar Kaesar and Kurt Luescher, passed over the village of Praia Victoria, Island of Terceira, about 75 miles from Horta, at 6 p.m., Greenwich time yesterday (1 p.m., E.S.T.), and continued in a northward direction, apparently heading for the north-eastern Atlantic seaboard. There was no indication of any trouble.

The plane, known as the "Jungschweizerland," or "Young Switzerland," took off from Juncal, near Lisbon, at 7.30 a.m., Portuguese time (1.30 a.m., E.S.T.), intending to pass over here en route to Halifax and New York.

Making Only 90 Miles an Hour.

The aviators covered the less than 1,000 miles between here and Lisbon in 11½ hours, indicating a speed of approximately 90 miles an hour, considerably less than 105 miles per hour of which their pure white Farman monoplane with its 230 horse-power motor is capable.

After passing Terceira Island, the flyers faced a trip of about 2,400 miles to New York, and about 1,350 miles to Cape Race, the eastern tip of Newfoundland, the first land on their course. They hoped to reach Halifax, Nova Scotia, 550 miles further, before stopping to re-fuel.

If the flyers negotiated the Westward crossing and maintained their speed of 90 miles an hour, they should have reached the vicinity of Cape Race, Newfoundland, by 4 a.m., E.S.T., and Halifax, N.S., six hours later. It would be six hours more for their plane from Halifax to New York.

Fog Reported Near Halifax.

Although the aviators had good weather from Lisbon to the Azores, fogs and westerly winds faced them from here to the American coast. Halifax reported unfavorable flying conditions along that coast, with a dense fog and a moderately heavy rain.

Trip Made Only Once Before.

The Westward crossing being attempted by the two aviators has been made successfully but once, by the German-Irish trio, the late Baron Von Huenefeld, Captain Herman Koehl, and Major James Fitzmaurice, in the airplane Bremen, from Baldonnel Field, Ireland, to Greeneley Island, off the Labrador coast.

Had Little Experience.

The two flyers are the most youthful yet to attempt such an ambitious project, Kaesar being but 22 and Luescher 21. They have had less than three years' flying experience. Luescher is the navigator, and disclaims any deep knowledge of the science, claiming only to have handled a sextant and made enough calculations to make him believe he can keep their course right.

SKIPPER FINED IN LIQUOR CASE

Has Cargoe of Ale Seized On Beach By Police Lying in Wait.

TRUCK DRIVER FREED.

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—James Walsh, Buffalo, who said he was skipper of the schooner Tarpon, was fined $300 and costs by Magistrate W. T. Malkin in Police Court here yesterday on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

The charge arose out of the seizure of a motor truck laden with 116 cases of export ale by Ontario Provincial Police August 9 at Erie Beach. No charge was laid against William Hughes, Bridgeburg, driver of the truck.

Export liquor figured in another case before Magistrate Malkin when Edward Graney, Williamsville, N. Y., was fined $100 and costs for illegal possession of liquor. He had previously been fined $400 on a charge of violating Customs regulations.

SINGER IS PAID WELL FOR PART

Received $13,000 During Organization of Builders' Council and Similar Sum For Expenses.

ZONE CHAIRMAN ON STAND.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Louis M. Singer and his Toronto associates received $13,000 during the organization of the Amalgamated Builders Council while another $13,000 went for their expenses, it was revealed at to-day's sitting in Sandwich court house of the Waldron Royal Commission investigating alleged boycotting activities of the Building Trades combine

This revelation came from C. E. Paddon, zone chairman of the district Plumbers Guild during an examination which prompted at one juncture the following exclamation from Gordon Waldron, K.C., the Royal Commissioner:

"And was it for this that a leader of the Labor movement said he was going to bring on a general strike, the greatest strike in history—to justify this rascality?"

TWO MORE DIE IN GANG CLASH

Both Men Found in Front of Apartment House Were Riddled With Bullets.

HAD POLICE RECORDS.

NEWARK, N.J., Aug. 20.—(C.P.)—Two more slayings have been added to the list of deaths in Essex county which police believe were the result of gang warfare.

The two latest victims were found with their bodies riddled with bullets in front of an apartment house at 10 Stone street, last night. They were Augustino Dellapia, 44, of 42 Eugeme Place, Belleville, and Vincenzo Follo, 32, Orange and Eighth streets, Newark. Both men, police said, have long polce records.

Italian Confesses Crime That Moved Two Nations

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 20.—(C.P.)—An Italian from Windsor is held by Detroit police as the slayer six weeks ago in that city of Benny Evangelist, his wife and four children.

The Evangelist family was chopped to death and the Windsor suspect has confessed four times to the deed and as many many times repudiated his statements, detectives announced today.

The suspect's reputed confession supplies, the latter said, the long sought motive for a crime which astounded two nations—revenge because Benny Evangelist, founder of a fantastic healing cult had barred the Windsor Italian from further treatments after his bank balance had become exhausted.

HOUSES ARE UNFIT FOR HABITATION

Six Cases of Contagious Disease Reported at Board of Health Meeting.

WARN LANDLORDS.

Many Important Improvements For Isolation Hospital Recommended By Chief Gimblett.

Several houses in the city have been placarded as unfit for habitation yet the landlords have taken no action to change conditions, and at least one of these houses is still occupied, it was reported by C .S. Stapleton, sanitary inspector, at a meeting this morning of the Board of Health. These houses are 246 and 258 Antrim street, at the top of the hill, near Bethune, and also several close beside the bridge on Smith street.

A motion was carried by the Board which will compel the landlords to take immediate action in remedying conditions, and cause the houses to remain vacant until they are made sanitary.

J. T. O'Connel and J. J. Hartley will be strongly advised also that they must install sanitary conveniences in houses on Antrim and Smith streets.

Six Cases Reported.

Six cases of contagious diseases were reported in the city by Inspector Stapleton. They are: two of mumps, one of scarlet fever, one chicken pox and two diphtheria.

There are three patients in the Isolation Hospital, two with diphtheria and one with scarlet fever. Four patients have been discharged during the month from the hospital.

Improvements to Hospital.

Many important improvements for the Isolation Hospital were made in a report of Fire Chief Gimblett's. He recommended better wiring, hose replacements, and a new hydrant. The report will be further considered.

VICTIM OF ERIE CRASH IS FOUND

Fisherman Finds John Kasper's Body Floating Three Miles From Pelee Island.

FULLY CLOTHED.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 20.—Canadian Press.—The body of John Kasper, co-pilot of the Thompson Aeronautical Company's Cleveland-Detroit flying boat, Miss Detroit which crashed in a storm off Pelee Island last Tuesday night was found by a fisherman this morning and brought in to Scudder Dock Pelee Island.

The flying company's Cleveland office was notified and a plane was ordered to Pelee Island to take the remains to Cleveland to-day.

Kasper was wearing a life belt. The body was fully clothed except for the shoes. It was not determined whether death come from drowning or exposure, nor how long he had been dead.

FRENCH LINER FIRE DAMAGED

Damage To Luxurious Interior May Prevent 'Paris 'Sailing Before End of Fall Season.

STARTED IN THIRD CABIN.

HAVRE, France, Aug. 20.—(C.P.)—Sailing of the French liner Paris, set for this afternoon ,was cancelled today after fire last night ate into its sumptuous interior and damaged it to the extent of 3,000,000 francs (about $117,000).

The fire started in the ship's third cabin, presumably from a short circuit, and soon broke through to the second class smoking room, spreading rapidly to the first class salon. The grand staircase, central hall and information bureau. It was not believed the ship could undertake another sailing before the close of the fall season.

The first practical attempt at electrical cookery was made in England in 1890.

Bruin Objects to Capture Turns Tables on Tourists

PEMBROKE, Ont., August 20 (Canadian Press). Canadian bears can take a joke, but they don't like it carried too far. This was impressed on four Painsville, Ohio, tourists, D. G. Seymour, Ralph Wilkins, Paul Cook, and E. Hach, when on a fishing trip near Des Joachins they surprised a bear at his early morning ablutions.

Casted Bait at Bear.

From the boat in which the quartette was seated, Dr. Seymour waggishly cast his bait-plug at Bruin, who playfully made off with the hook in his neck. He lumbered along the bank, with all the gay abandon of one enjoying a prank, towing the boat to the huge delight of the fishermen.

Whack on Head Changes Subject.

The humans ,however, decided to liven things up, and resolved to capture the bear. Their tactics may probably have lacked finesse, or Bruin may have misinterpreted the whack on the head which one of them levelled at him. Pained and aggrieved, he retaliated, he plunged into the river, striving to climb aboard the boat and give "quid pro quo." the fishermen who had not foreseen this consequently they themselves jumped into the water and dashed ashore.

Humans Outfoot Bruin

The shoe now on the other foot, Bruin dashed in pursuit and kept it up for a hundred yards. But men can run amazingly quick when a bear is after them, and the animal realized that his own speed was a little bit too slow for the Ohio tourists. He quit, and returned to his native bush.

THIRD WEEK OF CONFERENCE ON WAR REPARATIONS BEGUN WITH NO SIGN OF SETTLEMENT

Experts of Various Nations Wearied By Tension of Meetings.

DIFFER ON ESTIMATES.

Withdrawal of Allies From Second Rhine Zone Assured.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—The reparations experts, who worked until after midnight in an effort to reconcile the conflicting estimates of the yield in money of the four-Power offer to Great Britain were hard at work on their labors again to-day.

What has developed thus far indicates that the four Powers, it is said, will support the contention of France, Italy, Belgium and Japan that they offered sixty per cent. at least of the amount demanded by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer.

British Estimate.

The British Treasury men, on the other hand, will uphold the Chancellor's claim that the offer amounted to no more than from 20 to 30 per cent. of what he demanded.

All of the experts are frankly worn out by their mission. Premier Briand of France has made all arrangements to go home Saturday before leaving for the League of Nations Assembly, while Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, the British Foreign Secretary, and Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, must leave soon in order to prepare for the League meeting.

Cut Rhineland Force.

It is now accepted as practically certain that whatever happens to the reparations conference, the number of troops occupying the Rhineland will be reduced before Christmas from about 62,800 to 56,800 through the withdrawal of the British contingent. The strength of the different occupying forces is now given as: French 54,000; British and Belgians, 2,800.

Evacuate Second Zone.

PARIS, Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—The Havas Agency to-day quoted a special despatch to the newspaper "Echo de Paris" from The Hague, which affirmed that Premier Briand had accepted evacuation of the second occupied zone on the Rhine by the end of December. In conversations with Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann of Germany, the French Premier discussed also evacuation of the third occupied zone.

According to the "Echo de Paris," Premier Briand requested a rather long delay on evacuation of the third zone.

Begin Third Week.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—The conference of the Governments on reparations entered its third week to-day, apparently further than ever from an agreement.

There were indications that the national delegations here have lost every hope of agreement coming out of the present meeting.

Great Britain with what might have been interpreted as a conciliatory measure, has drawn the lines between the national groups more clearly than ever. In announcing authoritatively, although not officially, yesterday, that British troops would begin leaving the Rhineland by September 1, some observers contend the effect has been to make France appear as the party delaying an agreement.

Two Obstacles.

M. Briand cannot agree to evacuation of the Rhineland and the objections of Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, to what he claims is Great Britain's small share in the German reparations payments has held up agreement on that score.

It was understood Great Britain's evacuation of British troops from the Rhineland—the Government has but 6,000 there—was conditioned on neither the acceptance of the Young plan by other governments concerned, nor withdrawal of any other allied troops there. Great Britain simply is tired of supporting any army of occupation there, and is taking the shortest route to ending the expense and drain.

First Trip Over S. A. Route To Be Made By Lindbergh

NEW YORK, August 20. (CP.) Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, will pilot the first plane on a 1240-mile extension of the Pan-American Airways Line to South America, J. T. Trippe, president of the line, has announced.

Colonel Lindbergh, who made the first flight over the Pan-American Air Line to Panama, last year, will fly from Miami to Paramesa, Dutch Guiana, on September 20th, to inaugurate the new route.

YOUNG CARRIER PIGEONS FOUND

Belleville Farmer's Identification Not Officially Credited.

TWO IN NEST.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—While cutting hay on his farm last Saturday, B. W. Eggleton, Sydney Township farmer, discovered a nest in which were two young birds not yet able to fly. He examined them closely, and having seen the carrier pigeon in its wild state when he was a youth, Eggleton is certain that he has found a nest of wild carrier pigeons, a bird supposed to have been extinct for the last 25 years.

There is said to be a fairly large reward awaiting anyone who can direct Canadian Government officials to the nest of a wild carrier pigeon. At one time in both Canada and United States this wild game bird flew in large flocks, but sportsmen and disease wiped them out. Governments of both countries have searched vainly for a survivor.

None Has Survived

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20.—Donald McDonald, Ontario Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, in connection with a despatch from Belleville reporting the discovery of what is believed to be a nest of wild carrier pigeons, said last night that the department receives stories concerning discovery of a nest of these birds on an average of one a month through the year. "Nothing ever comes of them," he said. "There is not a carrier pigeon on the face of the earth."

Theatres Closed To Children As Paralysis Case Found

Sunday Schools and Child's Home Shut As Result of Disease.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Aug. 20. —(Canadian Press).—Children under 16 years of age have been barred from local theatres and all Sunday schools have been ordered closed as a result of the discovery Sunday of a case of infantile paralysis.

Orders to this effect were issued yesterday at an emergency meeting of the Board of Health, called after the infant son of Raymond Turner, South Wallaceburg, was reported to be suffering from the ailment. The Turner home was put under quarantine by Dr. H. A. Taylor, medical officer of health.

Russians Raid Chinese Lines In Search of Food Disrupt Railway Service

200 Chinese Killed and Wounded By Bolshevist Groups.

CRUELTY REPORTED.

London Hears Of Military Activity On Both Sides.

PEIPING, China, August 20 (Canadian Press). — Sensational reports of the alleged invasion of Chinese territory by 10,000 Russians last Saturday are unfounded, according to reports to-day from reliable United States sources in Harbin.

Small Russian raiding parties crossed the Manchurian frontier and clashed with Chinese troops, resulting, it is estimated, in 200 Chinese killed and wounded.

Reports from foreign observers in Mukden say the main object of the Russian raids was to seize foodstuffs.

Other messages from foreign sources in Harbin charge Chinese military authorities with cruelty in the treatment of Soviet citizens in jails and interment camps.

Minor cases of sabotage along the Chinese Eastern Railway, presumably by Russians, continue daily.

Increasing Activity

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Both Chinese and Russian sources to-day reported warlike activities and preparations along the Manchurian border with increasing number of border clashes and invasions by the opposing armies.

Mukden, Manchuria, despatches said Chinese defenders and 3,000 Soviet cavalry invaders from Mikols yesterday engaged in a fierce struggle for the village of Tungningsein, South of Pogranivhnaya, in which the settlement changed hands several times, but finally was retained by the Chinese.

Mukden despatches report airplanes and searchlights on the way to the "front," and Tass, the official Russian news agency, citing the same reports from Harbin, added Chinese authorities had permitted the formation of new White Guard detachments on the frontier.

No Material Change

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Authoritative British quarters reported today there is no material development in the Russo-Chinese frontier situation. Everything was quiet at Manchuli yesterday and Japanese residents who had gone to Harbin for safety returned to Manchuli.

BODY OF WOMAN MISSING IN AIR RACE IS FOUND

Miss Marvel Crosson Killed in Flight To Cleveland.

FELL IN ARIZONA.

Race From Santa Monica — Six Reached Phoenix.

PHOENIX, Ariz., August 20 (Canadian Press). — The body of Miss Marvel Crosson, San Diego flyer, reported missing last night when other entrants of the women's air derby from Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland landed here, was found early to-day six miles north of Wellton, Ariz.

The body and the wreckage told a silent story of what had happened, when Miss Crosson, aged 25, of San Diego, Calif., holder of the women's altitude record, 23,996 feet, disappeared while flying with other contestants from San Bernardino toward Phoenix yesterday. Some distance separated the body and the plane, indicating that the craft had developed trouble and that she had jumped clear.

Miss Crosson's parachute had been released but was unopened, possibly indicating that she was too near the ground for it to work properly after being released.

Searchers found the body and the wreckage 6 miles north of Welton, in the Rugged territory bordering the Gilao River.

Six of the young pilots racing in the Santa Monica-Cleveland women's air derby, led the fliers to this night-control point to-day on the second lap, leaving behind them hectic signs of broken planes and internal strife.

Mrs. Louise Thaden of Pittsburgh sped ahead of the small bank of competitors, landing here at 1.04.36 p.m., mountain time, but the fast ship of Mrs Florence Barnes of San Marino, Cal., coming in immediately afterward nosed her out of first place on an unofficial elapsed time basis.

Mrs. Thaden's time for the flight here from the coast was computed at 5 hours 56 minutes 6 seconds, while Mrs. Barnes was credited with 5 hours 54 minutes 6 seconds. The other pilots followed at few minutes intervals.

At 1.45 p.m., mountain time, Mrs. Miller, of New Zealand, was the only ship in the light class to reach Phoenix, the other five fliers being entered in the heavy class. This distinction gave the New Zealand pilot the lead in her division, from Yuma, Ariz., had not checked in here.

Four Planes Come to Grief

Between here and San Benardino Cal., the starting point for to-day's lap, four planes were down. Miss Amelia Earhart, trans-Atlantic flier, after leading the derbyists into Yuma, overshot the landing field and smashed a propeller. Claire Fahy of Los Angeles was forced down at Calexico, Cal., by a leaking gasoline tank; Thea Rasche, German flier, damaged her landing gear at Holtville, Cal., after a clogged carbueretor had stopped her motor, and Dobbie Trout of Los Angeles, in a forced landing near Yuma, wrecked her propeller and landing gear. All were endeavoring to have their ships repaired and continue the race.

Miss Rasche, although declining to comment on what she claimed was "dirty gasoline," showed newspaper men a telegram from a friend who warned her to "beware of sabotage."

The contest, held in connection with the national aid races at Cleveland, Ohio, which begin there next week, covers a 2,800-mile route with $25,000 prizes in store for the winners.

PREPARE FOR HANGING

Preparations for the hanging of Mary Viau and Philibert Lefebre in Hull this Friday for the murder of the woman's husband are going on, although a petition for clemency is before the Cabinet.

LABORER FOUND HANGED.

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Suspended by a length of electric wiring, the body of Wasil Gordievicy, 62, laborer, from Galicia, Austria, was found hanging from a low beam in a shed behind Mike Kitt's boarding house here yesterday. An inquest has been ordered.

The Battle of New Orleans was fought over a month after the signing of peace by England and America.

Wild Whoopee Parties Investigated By Police

TORONTO, Ont., August 20. —(Canadian Press).—After spending nearly a week at Crystal Beach investigating reports of alleged wild parties conducted by the young people of that community., Staff Inspector Moss of the Ontario Provincial Police returned here yesterday and began preparation of his report regarding conditions there for presentation to Premier G. H. Ferguson.

His report, it is understood, does not confirm published statements from Crystal Beach, and upon which Mr. Ferguson ordered the investigation.

CHIEF NEWHALL ISSUES WARNING

Police Will Take Action Against Motorists Disregarding Trafifc Rules.

ERECTING SIGNS.

"With the erection of the 'No Parking' signs on the west side of George Street, motorists who disobey this order will be brought before the Magistrate and fined," Chief of Police S. Newhall stated this morning.

After considerable delay the new traffic signs are being placed along the main thoroughfares by the city engineer's department, and these signs will bring in a new order of things, according to the Chief. "Disregard for these signs will bring a swift fine, and there will be no more warnings issued," said he.

On the west side of George Street parking will not be allowed, and cars must be steered in parallel to the curb. On the east side of the same street, the signs read "Angle parking only, 20 minutes." On the south side of the streets running east and west, such as Simcoe and Hunter, angle parking will be permitted for one hour, but on the north side the same rigid rule of "No parking" will be enforced.

The dustless sweeper knocked down all the signs that were up last summer, and until new ones were erected the police did not press the rules in regard to parking. But now with the new signs in place, motorists had better "Beware!"

SHORT HOLIDAY FOR PRISONER

Milton Jail Breaker Captured in Toronto Park Waiting For Car to U. S.

COMPANION MISSING.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Joseph C. McCann, 23, Toronto, escaped from Milton jail Sunday night but enjoyed only 20 hours freedom. He was captured in a park here yesterday while waiting for an automobile which was to carry him to United States border. McCann denied knowledge of the whereabouts of William King, Bowmanville, who escaped at the same time.

McCann was incarcerated in Milton jail, until arrangements had been made to transfer him to Portsmouth Penitentiary when he made his break for liberty with Williams by throwing a blanket over the jail Governor's head, seizing the latter's gun and keys and running into the woods near Milton.

He was convicted of a serious charge against a Georgetown girl and sentenced to two years in penitentiary. King was awaiting trial at the fall assizes.

200 Chinese Killed and Wounded By Bolshevist Groups.

CRUELTY REPORTED.

London Hears Of Military Activity On Both Sides.

PEIPING, China, August 20 (Canadian Press). — Sensational reports of the alleged invasion of Chinese territory by 10,000 Russians last Saturday are unfounded, according to reports to-day from reliable United States sources in Harbin.

Small Russian raiding parties crossed the Manchurian frontier and clashed with Chinese troops, resulting, it is estimated, in 200 Chinese killed and wounded.

Reports from foreign observers in Mukden say the main object of the Russian raids was to seize foodstuffs.

Other messages from foreign sources in Harbin charge Chinese military authorities with cruelty in the treatment of Soviet citizens in jails and interment camps.

Minor cases of sabotage along the Chinese Eastern Railway, presumably by Russians, continue daily.

Increasing Activity

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Both Chinese and Russian sources to-day reported warlike activities and preparations along the Manchurian border with increasing number of border clashes and invasions by the opposing armies.

Mukden, Manchuria, despatches said Chinese defenders and 3,000 Soviet cavalry invaders from Mikols yesterday engaged in a fierce struggle for the village of Tungningsein, South of Pogranivhnaya, in which the settlement changed hands several times, but finally was retained by the Chinese.

Mukden despatches report airplanes and searchlights on the way to the "front," and Tass, the official Russian news agency, citing the same reports from Harbin, added Chinese authorities had permitted the formation of new White Guard detachments on the frontier.

No Material Change

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Authoritative British quarters reported today there is no material development in the Russo-Chinese frontier situation. Everything was quiet at Manchuli yesterday and Japanese residents who had gone to Harbin for safety returned to Manchuli.

JAIL BREAK COSTS TWO YEARS MORE

Total Is Now Four Years Instead of Two For Milton Prisoner.

MILTON, Ont., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Joseph McGann, Toronto, who in company with Edward King, escaped from the County Jail here on Sunday evening by throwing a blanket over the guard's head and snatching his gun and keys, was sentenced to two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Magistrate Moore in Police Court to-day. McGann will now serve a total of four years, two years for a serious offence against a young girl. King has not yet been apprehended.

SNOOK SENTENCED TO DIE.

Judge Rejected Appeal For New Trial.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Dr. James H. Snook was sentenced to be electrocuted on Nov. 29 for the killing of his co-ed sweetheart, Theora Hix, by Judge Henry L. Scarlett to-day after a motion for a new trial had been overruled.

C.N.R. PRESIDENT IS SOUGHT REGARDING KINGSTON SPUR

Hungerford Promises to Study Claims And Act Accordingly.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—A delegation of business and professional men from Kingston interviewed S. J. Hungerford, vice-president in charge of construction of the Canadian National Railways, today with regard to additional spur line trackage in connection with the new grain elevator now under construction in Kingston. Mr. Hungerford promised the delegation to carefully examine their claims and act accordingly.

SOVIET TROOPS PUSH CHINESE FARTHER BACK

Short Battles Prove Disastrous To Chinese As 29 Are Killed At Jalainor.

BELIEVE RUSSIA BLUFFING.

Nanking Hoping Foreign Powers Will Act After Hearing of Invasion.

SHANGHAI August 20. — Nanking to-day received further reports of Russian invasions at Manchuli and as far into Manchuria as Jalainor, where during a battle on Saturday the Chinest lost 29 dead and 31 wounded.

Despatches reaching here also state that the Russians are advancing on Suifenho and are entering Kirin province.

The opinion prevails in Nanking, nevertheless, that Russia is bluffing, hoping eventually to so scare the Chinese that they will agree to Moscow's demand for re-establishment of the status that existed on the Chinese Eastern Railway before the expulsion of Soviet officials. Russia insists that this status be restored before negotiations are begun. China wants the negotiations to begin before the Russian officials are returned to their posts.

There is an element in the Nanking Government which assumes that as soon as Russia officially invades Manchuria in force, foreign Powers, particularly Japan and the United States, will intervene to prevent the seizure by the Soviet of Chinese territory. The Kellogg pact and the covenant of the League of Nations would be invoked in that event. Nanking officials think.

Russian tactics are apparently aimed to prevent foreign intervention particularly from Japan. Consequently the Russians are going slow, particularly in Manchuria.

Although Nanking is hopeful that its uncompromising attitude will be sufficient to call Russia's bluff and lead the Soviet to back down, Manchurian authorities, close to the scene of the recent disorders are becoming panicky and are mobilising the entire Manchurian Army of 250,000 men to protect their frontiers.

Russia's crack Pacific Army is now concentrated near Vladivostock, but so far has not been used.

The forces raiding Chinese territory so far have been small units, including Mongols and Buriats, who make forays into the frontier cities and towns, wreak some havoc, and then retreat.

FIERCE STRUGGLE FOR VILLAGE

MUKDEN, Manchuria, August 20 —Chinese sources to-day told of a fierce struggle for possession of the village of Tungningsien, near the south-east border, in which the settlement changed hands several times, but was finally retained by the Chinese.

NEWS IN BRIEF

(By Canadian Press)

CAR RANSACKED

INGERSOLL, Aug. 20. — Leaving their car standing at the curb all night, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. McMalcof, Webster Grove, Missouri, touring Ontario, returned yesterday morning to find that thieves had broven into the car and stolen $500 worth of clothing.

That the tourists would spend nearly $200,000,000 in Ontario this year was the prediction of Premier Ferguson in a speech yesterday at Ottawa.

The port of Montreal is faced with a serious grain tie-up, with the elevators full, orders scarce, and 36 boats waiting to be unloaded.

A honeymoon couple, Harry Sales, of Detroit and his bride, were in a motor crash near Woodstock yesterday, and are now in hospital.

BISHOP ILL AT SOO.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Rt. Rev. Sheldin Griswold, Anglican Bishop of Evenston, Ill., who has been vacationing at Richard's Landing, is in the hospital here in a critical condition.

METEOR FALLS INTO LAKE.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Fred Baskerville, Toronto, reported yesterday that he had seen a meteor flash out of the southern sky and drop into the waters of Lake Ontario, some distance from Scarboro Bluffs, in the eastern part of the city.

FLYER BURIED IN BARRIE

BARRIE, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—A large and impressive military funeral was yesterday accorded the late Flying Officer G. H. Stafford, killed in a plane crash at Camp Borden, August 16. Rev. W. H. Barber, Chaplain at Camp Borden, conducted the service. Interment was made in the Royal Air Force plot at Union Cemetery here.

RESCUED FROM FOREST FIRE.

NELSON, B.C., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Some twenty men, woman and young girl, reported missing in the Evans Creek forest fire on Slocan Lake, were rescued unhurt yesterday, according to information brought here last night from Slocan City, near which fires are still burning. The city, however, is unharmed so long as the wind does not change.

OTTAWA EX. OPENS

Premier Ferguson officially opened the Ottawa, Central Canada, Exhibition, yesterday, and all records of attendance were broken.

Russian cavalry from Nikolsk, about 50 miles north of Vladivostock, was said to have dashed across the border and fallen upon the Chinese defenders. The latter were forced back, but during the succeeding violent fighting slowly won their way back.

Announcement was made to-night that the tanks, airplanes, and the searchlights were being sent here to "the front."

ORANGEMEN HOLD DECORATION DAY

Duke and Duchess of Clarence True Blue Lodges Hold Annual Parade.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 20.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence)—Sunday afternoon was decoration day for the Duke and Duchess of Clarence True Blue lodges. The parade left the lodge rooms at three o'clock, headed by the True Blue band, and marched to the Anglican Cemetery, and to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, pausing on the way to place a floral remembrance on the cenotaph. In the Anglican cemetery there was but one grave to decorate, the late Mr. Southworth. In Mount Pleasant Cemetery there were thirteen graves. At both cemeteries the ceremony of the order was gone through, and at Mount Pleasant the ladies lodge also held service. The graves in Mount Pleasant were those of Sam Frederick, Martin Frederick, Captain Harry Hodge, John Free, William Hubble, William Phillips, Robert Linn, Bert Boyce, James Carruthers, John Thompson, Chas. Ibey, William McKelvie, Mrs. George Webber.

Next Sunday the Lady True Blues will hold a decoration service in Stirling at which Orange and True Blue Brethren will take part.

DR. LONGMORE IS SPEAKER

Further Re-organization Within Existing Club Keynote of Address.

AT ROTARY LUNCHEON.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 20 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Further organization within the existing club was the keynote of the address at the Rotary luncheon in the St. Lawrence dining room yesterday noon when the local Rotary club met for its weekly get-together. Dr. Longmore was the speaker. There was a large list of absentees at yesterday's luncheon and only one visitor, Dr. O. C. Watson of town.

During his address, Rotarian "Bruce" Longmore, vice president of the club, outlined the several ideals of Rotary. The first, he said, was the ideal of service. Rotary was for the encouragement of high ethical standards, and their application both in private and professional life. As an outlet for these ideals, fellowship was to be developed.

There were a number of committees in every Rotary club, and he urged that additions be made to the list of the local organization's committees. He passed several small pieces of paper down the table, requesting each member to take one and write on it, the name of the committee to which he would like to belong. Convenors of several committees had already been appointed. Elie Brunelle is the head of the membership committee. Dr. Longmore (the speaker) was in charge of programs. Howard Lapp and Harold Carr have the Ways and Means at their command. Don Douglas is head of the Community Service branch. There were still several to be appointed, among them being, Fellowship, Attendance, Aims and Objects.

N. Alex MacColl, president, expressed his gratitude for the excellent manner in which the doctor had handled the subject, which ordinarily was one both dry and technical.

RAIN RELIEVES B.C. FIRES.

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Rain had brought relief to weary fire-fighters in this section of the province, and cooler weather has decreased the fire hazard. While black acres lie smouldering for many miles, the danger from renewed outbreaks is considered slight.

Why there is no substitute for ENO

Because

ENO's "Fruit Salt" is recognized by the people of every nation as the finest, safest, and most pleasant laxative aid to good health.

Because

ENO first thing every morning is the natural way to ensure internal cleanliness—to eliminate waste matter which causes acid poisoning and intestinal toxicity.

Because

ENO contains only those ingredients which are acceptable to all systems—no purgative mineral salts, no sugar, no flavoring matter.

Because

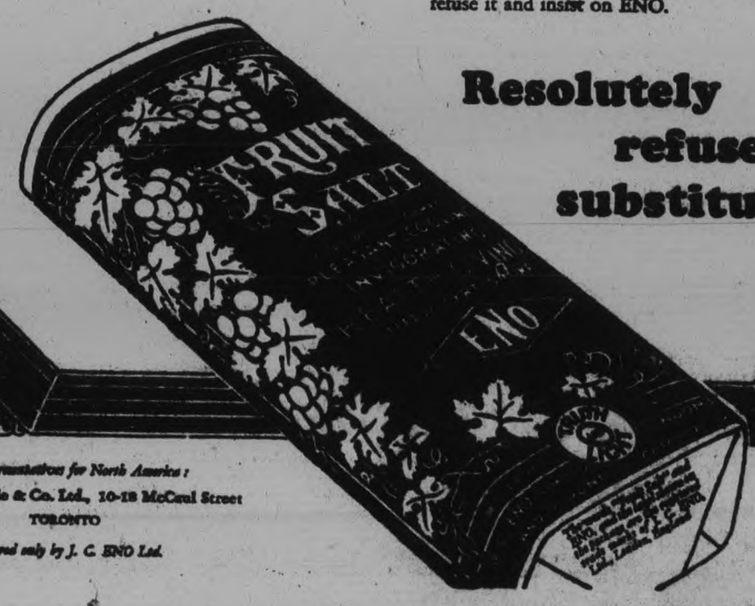
ENO is non-habit forming, therefore quite safe for anyone to use.

Because

ENO, wherever bought is always the same perfect product, unvarying in quality, composition and purity, and untouched by hand during manufacture.

Because

ENO has triumphed over every test of time and usage—for over sixty years it has been the standard saline laxative. ENO has many imitators but no rival! So if you are offered a substitute refuse it and insist on ENO.



Resolutely refuse substitutes

Lucille designs this black velvet coat for the formal afternoon party as well as the informal evening occasion.

BLACK VELVET COAT PRACTICAL FOR MANY OCCASIOGS.

By Lucille.

When I designed this extremely chic black velvet coat, I had in mind something that could be worn for the formal afternoon party, as well as the informal evening occasion. Conducive to this idea is the line, the material and the trimming. The line of the slightly flaring skirt is also carried out in the little puff sleeve ending in a cuff of ermine. The entirely tailor made line of the bodice and tight hips finds perfect complement in the high collar of ermine fur, from one side of which falls a soft fichu of velvet.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angela Patri

HOUSEHOLD EMERGENCIES.

Children are sensitive to the emotional moods of the family. If there is anxiety and fear in the home the children will feel the strain and react to it. I believe that children should be saved as much of that as possible.

It is not possible to avoid the emergencies of life but it is possible to lighten the weight of them for the children. When there is severe illness in the family, or grave trouble of any sort, it is well to send the children out of the home to friends or relatives who understand the situation and the children, until the worst is over and the emotional tension in the atmosphere is relaxed.

For this service blessed be all kind grandmothers, all good aunts and family friends. Knowing that the children are cared for lifts the weight from the afflicted one's spirit to a great extent. Recovery will be speedier and the more assured. The mind of the child will not be disturbed to any serious degree as might be the case if he remained within the home.

I have no fear that the child so shielded will grow into a selfish, unfeeling adult. I believe that his chances for becoming a healthy minded, stable, well-rounded personality will be strengthened. It is unwise to expose a sensitive mind a growing nervous organization to shock. Children have been influenced harmfully by remaining in an atmosphere of fear and strain and carried the effects along into the years of maturity. There is a hygiene of the mind that must be guarded as cautiously as one guards the hygiene of the body. It would be a queer parent who would expose a child to a contagious disease? Remember that fear, anxiety, shock, create a mood of depression, anxiety and fear in those immediately in association with the original sufferer. The emotional mood is as catching as measles. And as dangerous.

It is for this reason that we demand that all teachers all nurses, all mothers and fathers, all those who come into close relationship to children shall be healthy-minded. If the teacher is hysterical, given to brooding fears, the children must suffer. If the mother and father are warring souls the children must suffer. If the atmosphere of the home, the school, the neighborhood is unharmonious, the child must suffer. Much of the childish misconduct, that annoys us springs from such a cause.

It is not possible to avoid all of it, but by taking thought we can spare the children some of it by providing for them during the household emergencies. The old neighborly kindnesses of pioneer days had their roots in this idea. It would be too bad to allow our modern society manners and customs to kill it. Take care of the children first in emergency. Save them from shock.

DIFFERENT HATS.

It is smart now not to have one's hat match one's coat or suit, but rather to make some color contribution of its own, in blending or harmonizing tones. Red hats increase in popularity.

HOUSE FROCKS.

The tight bodi e and full skirted vogue offers charming designs for colorful peasant house frocks. Made of tawny yellows and reds, they liven the home and give lilt to the spirits of their wearers.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

MODERNISTIC furniture includes one recognized article consisting of shelves so put together that spaces are irregular and shelves are at varying heights.

* * * * * * *

And do you know, it resembles that which your column was formerly called—Whatnot. They are really as reminiscent of whatnots as they are of book cases.

* * * * * * *

When we see these in use they hold books on some shelves and ornaments on others showing that a combination purpose was intended.

* * * * * * *

The idea is sort of mid-Victorian, but those pieces were ornate while the modernistic ones are severely plain, yet each provides places for bric-a-bric.

* * * * * * *

Some of the shelves at least can scar cely be used for anything except ornaments—they are too small for books or so oddly shaped, in modernistic pieces at least, that books that would go on them would have to be tiny, short and thick—or else more like ledgers which are extremely high without the usual width of pages that is customary in long books.

* * * * * * *

It seems to me that to have places exactly right for ornaments and not use them for their express purpose would be silly.

* * * * * * *

And so one wonders at this, whether we are returning to the era of ornaments in decoration and if bric-a-brac is returning to favor.

* * * * * * *

I don't think they would be very hard to find in many attics—isn't it funny how we often think of attics and antiques as being closely connected?

* * * * * * *

There are many homes where people of declining years are living where I would just love to be able to roam to my hearts content in the attics.

* * * * * * *

They love their furniture no matter how old or shall I say antique? And I am sure it is more entitled to be called antique than many pieces of furniture one sees being sold for antique these days.

* * * * * * *

It reminds me of a story I heard over the radio of a man who made chairs and sold them to a merchant for $4 apiece and the merchant demanding $25 for them.

* * * * * * *

But is is so long since bric-a-brac has been a feature in decorative schemes that it is interesting to watch its return. We will find housewives searching eagerly among the old things in the attics. Of course, there have been many stores carrying a stock of vases, figurines, paper weights, match boxes, etc., which belong to the category of bric-a-brac.

* * * * * * *

Now since modernistic furniture of some types, invites the use of such ornaments, providing just the right size and shape of cubby hole for the articles, there seems every reason to expect the return of bric-a-brac.

* * * * * * *

The homemakers who are ultra-modernistic in their decorative schemes must have some such ornaments, and the revival of the mid-Victorian furniture provides another reason for the appearance again of little and large useless ornaments.

* * * * * * *

But it remains for those who would stress good decoration to see that tawdry articles are replaced by artistic and worthwhile pieces.

* * * * * * *

Doesn't it make you sigh to think of dusting these useless little things?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

I examined a number of professional wrestlers a few weeks ago, and the strength, symmetry, and beauty of their bodies was amazing.

The first thought that came to me during the examination was the fact that they were all past thirty,one or two at least forty years of age.

When they got into the ring for their bouts, they were unusually agile; one or two of the oldest of them as fast on their feet as a lightweight boxer.

As I tried to think of boxers who had remained in the boxing game up to this age, they seemed very few, in fact there were only four or five that I could remember off hand.

Now why can wrestlers go on to thirty five, forty five, and even past that age, whilst boxers are never taken seriously after thirty five.

It is all due to the different systems in taining.

A boxer whose natural weight, at which he feels strong and rugged, is 142 pounds, strives to make the lightweight limit of 135 pounds; one with a natural boxing weight of 154 pounds tries to make 145 to 147 pounds, and so on.

What about wrestling?

The wrestler knows that above all things he must be "strong", that when his shoulders are almost to the mat, that he must try to give one supreme effort and get away. He may have to do that three or four times in a twenty five or a forty five minute bout. He needs his strength, and also his weight to combat the other man's strength and weight. He quite often takes off five or six pounds of weight in one of these bouts.

In other words the wrestler does not take away his "natural" strength by dieting and doing without water to keep his weight down. And this is exactly what every boxer does.

Another point is that boys take up boxing earlier in life at school, high school, and university.

And this is the serious thing and one point I wish to make

At this early age, in fact any time up to twenty five there should be no "serious" reducing of weight, because with reduction of weight is too often reduction in strength of all the tissues,

And this is why boxers burn out sooner than wrestlers.

Parents are well advised to let their boys learn to box, but they should not allow them to try to reduce weight during their growing years.

PURSES' SUITABILITY.

Some stores now advertise that purses should be "tried on" with the costume they are to go with. Only that way can one be sure they are the right size, shade, and in other manner be entirely suitable.

Norman E. Pearson Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"The trouble first started with a few blotches on my face. A little later pimples formed and spread all over it. They were quite large and some of them festered. The pimples itched and burned and bothered me a lot. Many nights I could not sleep on account of the irritation, and when I scratched it caused disfigurement.

"I tried different remedies without success. I had the trouble about four months when I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using a few days I was greatly relieved so purchased more and in about two months I was healed." (Signed) Norman E. Pearson, 5387 Fabre St., Montreal, Que.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, will keep the skin and scalp healthy.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

"Dear Anne:

I'm bringing a little personal problem to you, in the hope that your experience of the world, if not of married life, will enable you to give me a hint that may help.

I have been keeping company with a young man who is admirable in every way, except that he does not give me credit for having any business sense at all. When I try to discuss the business end of married life with him he brushes it aside and tells me not to worry. Once I asked him (we're to be married shortly) about an allowance to run the house, and he looked, actually, as if I had insulted him. He didn't like the idea, I gathered, of paying his wife a set sum as if she were a servant.

Now, Anne, I have been in business for some years, in a rather important office position, and I know quite a lot about the management of business—enough, at any rate, to discuss affairs intelligently. I'm used to having money of my own, and outside of that I didn't like to leap without knowing just where I'm going financially.

What should I do?

Yours truly,
SECRETARY."

Some men such as you describe your fiance to be, Secretary, make might good husbands, but they usually require handling that may irk the modern girl. They like to feel a woman's dependence upon them; that everything they give, even the money with which to pay household bills, is given in the same spirit with which they gave the odd box of chocolates during their courtship.

It's all wrong, of course, and I should, on general principles, try to cure the man before I married him. I should insist upon an allowance, and if he persisted in being insulted when I asked, I would seek elsewhere for a more compatible mate.

In giving this advice, I quite recognize that love is blind, and that you will marry him anyhow Women usually do!

"Dear Anne Wilcox:

In the chat with Examiner neighbors on Friday night, you gave us a beautiful thought about hurtful gossip. I have no doubt you will all agree with me when I say that one of the greatest evils of our day and that which is getting the unconscious support of many of our best intentioned people, is the sin of gossiping about others.

I feel when a lady or gentleman commences to indulge in gossip, just then they throw honor away, for what true man or woman would wound another? A person should learn to shield and not to strike even the fallen. I speak true when I say 't is not always the blameless who is most eager to condemn. The sinless hand rarely, if ever, casts the first stone.

Indulging in gossip is like indulging in liquor—there is no happy medium which it is safe to adopt. The line never can be drawn where drinking can be safely done.

If one half the time were used to cultivate a kindly habit of speech, to unveil the better side of humanity, that is devoted to the collection of hurtful and evil rumors, there would be less discouraged people in the world. Gossip has made wounds for which there seemed no balm and many a life has gone to the grave by some speech of thoughtless meddlers or tattlers.

With life so full of stirring events, what time have we to listen to a set of idle talkers? It is well to avoid any person who comes to you continually full of confidence and communications which would not bear telling in the presence of the person under discussion

Wishing you continued success,
Yours sincerely,
Lucinda."

P. S.—Can anyone supply a recitation entitled, "Stars in My Crown." I am too busy to write any recipes or songs today, but I will be glad to come in again, if I may.

You have the right idea about gossip, Lucinda, and it would be well for all of us to take your advice, at all times. Be sure to come again soon for I know all the neighbors will be looking forward to reading your next letter. I am inserting an S.O.S. for the recitation you request.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"Kiss Me, Mother, Kiss Your Darling"
(Contributed by 'Beatrice')

Kiss me, mother, kiss your darling,
Lean my head upon your breast;
Fold your loving arms around me,
I am weary, let me rest;
Scenes of life are swiftly fading,
Brighter seems the other shore,
I am standing by the river
Angels wait to waft me o'er.

Kiss me, mother, kiss your darling,
Breathe a blessing on my brow,
For I'll soon be with the angels,
Painter grows my breath e'en now.

Tell the lov'd ones not to murmur,
Say I died our flag to save,
And that I shall slumber sweetly
In the soldier's honored grave.

O, how dark this world is growing,
Hark, I hear the angel band;
How I long to join their number
In that fair and happy land.
Hear you not that heavenly music,
Floating near, so soft and low,
I must leave you—farewell, Mother;
Kiss me once before I go.

Chorus

Kiss me, Mother, kiss your darling (repeat)
Lean my head upon your breast;
O, fold your loving arms around me, Mother,
I am weary, let me rest.

C.G.E. ATHLETIC CLUB'S FLOWERS.

The C.G.E. gladiolus show in Heintzman Hall Saturday night was an agreeable surprise to flower lovers, especially when it was learned that the floral competition was sponsored by the shop athletic club, of which it may be called a "sport" in the horticultural sense of being an unusual offshoot. The quality of the spikes was virtually on par with those in the Horticultural Society's own show earlier in the week. Only the professional finishing touches that are gleaned in competitions were lacking in some of the exhibits to have given them even a higher standard as a group than they would have received if placed alongside the Horticultural Society's bloom. That, however, is only a technical detail. The encouraging aspect is seen in the number of employees who took advantage of their shop offer at planting time, and retained their enthusiasm to the stage of entering their best spikes in the show. The gladiolus has grown rapidly in favor in this city; gardens have been made brighter, and men who five years ago might have thought the "glad" a sentiment are almost experts, reeling off the names of the varieties, their colors and markings, like professionals.

The C.G.E. Athletic Club is a strange patron of horticulture, but its first year's effort warrants renewed interest when the planting season comes again.

A MARVELLOUS FLIGHT.

The Graf Zeppelin's non-stop flight across Asia from Germany to Japan is an achievement in aviation that would have thrilled the world with its wonder if we had not grown accustomed to man's tremendous conquests of nature during our own time. The course lay almost straight east from the Zeppelin's hangar at Friedrichschafen, over Russia north of Moscow, then soaring above the Ural mountains and coming out above the Siberian plains, plateaus and virgin forests, probably paralleling for endless miles the Trans-Siberian Railway, perhaps approaching the great Gobi desert and coming out upon the fertile valleys and fields of Manchuria into which land-hungry Chinese hordes have been pouring in recent years and where now the rumble of war rumors is heard.

Along that route Tartar and Mongol and numerous other strange peoples of the east must have gazed in amazement, and in the interior regions possibly in fear, at the great dirigible speeding across the sky at a speed of seventy miles an hour. The experience of the twenty passengers and the crew of forty men challenges our far ranging imaginations, and we can only guess at the full significance of the German Eckner's historic success.

One clear fact must impress us groundlings, that we are living in one of the greatest ages mankind has recorded, in many respects the greatest, especially for the ordinary man in all the streets of the civilized world. The discoveries of today are immediately his knowledge particularly if they lie within the realm of the spectacular. If a modern Columbus were to discover a new continent to-day, we should have the news in the evening paper and the pictures within a week, probably the same day if the Santa Maria did not leave the photoelectric apparatus behind. The new knowledge in practically all the sciences overwhelms us, and most of us must be content with a smattering of it. If education rolls back its horizons before our young students, it also points the way to new fields and opportunities.

BUY EXHIBITION TICKETS NOW.

The Peterborough Exhibition is only a month away, and its near approach is accompanied by the readiness of the didrectors with preparations complete for another big effort to eclipse in usefulness to the community all the achievements of other years.

Possibly, the public gives little thought to the endless work the Exhibition Board devotes year in and year out to the smoothing of the details of exhibits and attractions and the other features of the annual show.

There is no compensation for the directors beyond the satisfaction of participating in an enterprise whose primary object is the promotion of all branches of agriculture. Peterborough is particularly fortunate in the number of men from the city and country who are actively interested in this work. But in the end all the time and thought they give to the Exhibition would be of little avail without the generous support of the public.

This year the Board is offering during August a strip of four admission tickets for one dollar, a bargain that should be very largely accepted. If you have not already bought your tickets at this price you should not neglect the opportunity. People in the country should not overlook it on their next visit to Peterborough or to the villages and towns near which they live. In all these urban centres Peterborough Exhibition tickets are for sale this month.

Have you bought yours?

THE MACHINE AND THE FARM.

The depopulation of Ontario farms, so much lamented during the last decade, may be accelerated rather than checked by the increasing use of motorized agricultural implements. From various parts of this district reports are occasionally heard of a tendency to enlarge farm holdings, and this intelligence comes in the same breath that tells of reduced operations by farmers who have fallen back upon their own single-handed efforts.

Finding it difficult to engage or retain labour to assist them, many farmers have been content to depend upon their own work. An industrial analogy might be imagined in the action of a factory which would be satisfied to close some of its departments and carry on with the production of only a part or a few of its goods. The overhead remains more or less constant while the revenues shrink. The solitary farmer on the farm of average acreage is in a position akin to this; and if he owns the property he can no doubt make a satisfactory living.

But some of his progressive neighbours are taking a different view of the problem, and accepting the aid of motorized machinery have concluded that with a certain investment in machines of this kind they possess the equipment to extend their working of the land. In some of these experiences it is becoming apparent that the present investment in machinery will enable the farmer to speed up his output—using a term of present day industrial idiom. In other words he has a plant with a capacity exceeding the labor requirements of the average farm, and it becomes apparent that with the same mechanical equipment he could extend his operations with proportionately little cost of production but with a larger output or turnover and correspondingly greater returns.

If this be so, and there are reasons and actual results to believe it, it may be that the progressive farmers will gradually increase their holdings. Within recent years there has been quite a number of instances of expanding farms being operated on this larger, modern scale. Those which comprise hundreds or thousands of acres naturally must have the capital for their development, and if their financial success becomes generally recognized it will follow that they will absorb the independent farmer, just as industrial and mercantile units have disappeared in amalgamations and mergers. And the more general becomes the use of machines the less manual labor will be needed, and consequently the less employment in the oldest of occupations.

If these possibilities, which in some places have already been established as facts, are generally realized it is easy to imagine that only the most intelligent and progresive farmers will survive. Or it may be conjectured that co-operative farming will be the course of development, and the last of the individualists whose sires cleared the land for themselves and their families shall have disappeared.

At any rate the machine is among us and may ultimately revolutionize old agricultural methods as completely as it has upturned and systematized urban industries. Farmers, of course, have joined together in the selling of their products; they may yet combine their capital and equipment and land in some form of co-operative production. But in any possible change it is not apparent that it will increase rural population.

ABANDONED CAR FRANKENSTEIN.

The statement is made by the president of the Borough of Queen's, New York City, that the United States is faced with a Frankenstein in the shape of abandoned automobiles. Automobiles which have served their day of usefulness are now being left in streets, vacant lots, and on country roads by their owners. It is getting to be a decided nuisance, and the president of the Borough of Queen's foresees the day when it will be a national problem.

With this in mind he has appealed to Henry Ford, whom he has described as the most prolific producer of motor cars in the world, and he has asked Mr. Ford to use his inventive brain to devise a way of getting rid of abandoned cars. So far Mr. Ford has not made public any plan.

In these days when it is almost impossible to find parking space in the central business areas of great cities, automobile traffic is an ever-increasing problem and as years go by it is quite possible that the abandoned car will become almost as big a problem, even in the smaller communities. The solution lies in devising some way to profitably make use of the old material in the abandoned cars. Men can work miracles when they are to receive a handsome profit, and it is likely that some inventive genius will come to the rescue of the president of the Borough of Queen's before it is found necessary to use the roofs of the houses for parking the family used car.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

RESPONSIBILITY.

While riding with a friend in his automobile a Michigan girl was injured when two cars collided. She has begun suit against the owners of both cars.

This is a lesson for motorists, which, unfortunately, is not always heeded. Even in these days of many hold-ups on the highways, there are still motorists who will generously stop and offer rides to strangers. Probably the danger from robbery in such cases has been exaggerated, but there is another menace for the driver.

If a passenger in your car is injured, you are responsible. The Michigan car-owner concerned in this present case is not the first to discover this to his cost. Of course, it is seldom that friends, if they be real friends, will hold the owner of the car to book, but strangers will not hesitate to do so, no matter how kindly was the motorist's intention in offering the ride.

This is an age of selfishness, we are told. Some of the selfishness, however, is not entirely to be condemned. It pays, sometimes, to appear just a little selfish and thoughtless when the generous and unselfish act may lead one into an sorts of trouble.—Border Cities Star.

A CRY OF WOLF.

Mr. George Young, Labor member of the British House of Commons, has given utterance to a most surprising statement. He declares that Britain and the United States are "heading for a collision," by which he apparently means that a war will occur between the two great powers.

He bases his prophecy on some slight differences of opinion over naval strength between the two. Therefore, he founds it on an unsound premise. He is entirely exaggerating the extent of these differences, if they may really be called that. As a matter of fact, they amount to nothing more than a temporary lack of unanimity, and that unanimity will certainly come. The United States and Britain can be depended upon to meet finally on common ground, little as has seemed to be accomplished by former naval conferences.

Petty little disputes over arms limitation and immigration will never be enough to set these two powers at each other's throats. They are both nations with a high standard of intelligence. True, they have both recently participated in a great war, but it was war into which they were drawn by the call of honor, and not one which they initiated through a lust for power or territory. They know only too well that neither of them could be winner of any conflict, that they must go hand in hand to lead the world in its commerce, its finance, its industry and its goodwill.

The only construction that can be placed on Mr. Young's statement is that he is simply trying to say something different, that he is making a bid for publicity. Even in this, he fails, for many, many people before him have made the same sort of prophecies, only to see a growth of harmony between the two great powers add daily to the absurdity of their prognostications.—Border Cities Star.

Some of the flying men might investigate the habits of Mr. Lloyd-George, who recently saw the sun of peace rising in the West.—Ottawa Journal.

School Examination Papers

Dear Editor:

From various reports, I understand that Premier Ferguson is making changes in the educational system of Ontario. It seems that now is the time to make radical changes in the system of marking matriculation examination papers. (Something could be said about the setting of them too.) Would it not be better in every way to have the year's work completed by the end of June, i. e., papers marked, and commencement held then.

I can see no reason why the papers should not be marked locally in spite of the arguments I have heard against it, such as fairness and lack of time. I was once a High school teacher, marked final examinations and the pupils have made successful doctors, preachers, lawyers, yes and professors in colleges!

Our teachers are very well paid, and such sums as are used for marking papers could well be used otherwise in educational work.

Pupils should not have to wait until the middle of August or later to learn whether they can go on with their work.

I believe more pupils would be ambitious to finish the Collegiate academic course if commencement were held in June. As I see it commencement seems to mean very little. Certainly for a city the size of Peterborough, the graduating classes in the academic course are far too small.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

What To-day Means To You.

AUGUST 20TH. "LEO".

If August 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m., and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Do not run risks, financially or otherwise, on this date. The influences are bad, and will affect most all phases of life. Remember, however, "The stars incline, but do not compel." Take exceptional care of your health.

Children born on this August 20th will be high spirited and full of energy. They will have a romping childhood. Care should be taken that they do not become "excitement" mad, and excessively good natured.

Emotionalism is the keynote of your nature in all its phases, and as a result you are neither logical nor constant. You are very much carried away by your feelings, and are very temperamental in your likes and dislikes. They are not fixed factors by any means, for your tastes and ideas change with your emotional barometer.

Your greatest weakness is that you are too adaptable to those with whom you are thrown in contact. You strongare too adaptable to those with whom y reflect your environment and associates, and in consequence often suffer for the faults of others. Physically you are a pacifist; mentally you are a fighter. Your tongue is as sharp as it is clever. Your words are not always savored with kindness and diplomacy. You are quick tempered, but your anger soon cools down, and you most readily forgive your enemies without harboring resentment. You are a very clever character analyst, and are not easily "taken in." People interest you as a study, but you are not philanthropic or sympathetic. There is very little sentiment in your make-up.

The last half of your life is indicated as being brighter than the first. There are troubles and difficulties pictured in your early years, but you will have the ambition and will power to surge ahead and success or fame will crown your efforts.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER 21.

"She's devoted to him, wonderfully sweet and kind with him, always," the man resumed, as if he were merely thinking aloud. "Natural. Natural that the boy should—most natural thing in the world!"

"If only it doesn't make them unhappy." Aileen suggested delicately, with faint anxiety in her tone.

Hugh glanced at her sharply.

"No, no, no!" he said decisively. "It's merely—She herself, Bee, hasn't the faintest notion of it!" he diverged to say hastily.

"Hugh, dear, that's where I think you're mistaken," she said firmly, but gently and regretfully.

"Why, what did you think you noticed, Aileen?" he asked, patiently, kindly. She saw that she had not reached him.

"Ah, I wasn't spying. How could I possibly answer that?" she protested.

"There's no question that he has a boy's fancy for her," Hugh admitted, walking on, speaking unalarmedly. "I've seen that; I'm not surprised. I suppose the sensible thing would be to pack him back to Europe—he wants to go."

"He did want to go," Aileen said, nettled at the course the conversation was taking. "He doesn't want to go now."

"You think not?" Hugh asked, with a shrewd, disconcerted glance.

"He told me so. No, he doesn't even want you to win that California college contest," the woman added, losing her head a little. "He doesn't want you and Beatrice to go away! I'm sorry, Hugh" she broke off to say, with a little emotion. "I'm so sorry! Perhaps I shouldn't have mentioned it at all—I don't know why I did. Except—loved Alice—" Aileen ended, a little incoherently.

"No, no, I'm very grateful. It's just possible that we'll be off in California this winter," Hugh said presently. "And that will end the thing for a while."

"I'm as much taken aback as you are at the thing, Hugh!" Aileen hastened to say. "And I only felt—"

She paused. Hugh nodded toward the edge of the field behind her.

"I'm over there—in the stubble. You're right there," he said briefly.

The woman felt snubbed.

"Hugh, you'll forgive me if I—out of my devotion to all Challoners—" she began impulsively.

"Oh, my dear girl, of course I understand!" he said, coldly and wearily. They separated, and when they met again, Aileen was careful to open a totally different subject of conversation.

"How many firms are competing for this prize, Hugh?"

"Oh, a great many. Two or three hundred probably—that's a lot, in a contest like this. But I have a notion—had a notion—" He stopped speaking, and brushed his forehead fretfully, as a man might do who was pestered by gnats. "What does it matter?" he muttered, under his breath, not looking at his companion or seeming aware of her presence. "I had an idea that I might win it," he resumed. "My chances are especially good because the men Kreutzmann appointed as judges mostly live in California, as it happens—one is a retired architect who lives in a Spanish hacienda in Santa Barbara, and the others—well, I know most of them; they all favor that type of thing. One very good friend of mine, Philo Applewhite, is a fiendish enthusiast for Spanish architecture; all of them are big men in the profession—and I know most of them intimately." He sighed impatiently, looked up, as if for air. He had the manner of a man suffocating. "Whew, what a day!" he said.

"Beatrice is not at all anxious to go. Why?" Aileen asked simply.

"Beatrice not anxious to go?" he asked, stopping again.

"Well, she said it wouldn't make the slightest difference to her, either way,' Aileen corrected herself.

They did not speak again for some time. They had reached another green' now, and Aileen had decided to leave him here; in any case, even before she saw Beatrice and Bert cutting across from the clubhouse to join Hugh—Beatrice and Bert, not hurrying, not apparently in the least self-conscious, as they came along. Evidently they were deep in talk, talk so absorbing that they stopped now and then to speak to each other face to face. Against the eastern sky hot clouds were massing slowly together; there was no wind.

Beatrice was in blue, broad stripes and angles of blue and darker blue and white, and wore a brimmed blue hat under which her hair smoldered like flames. The smooth cream of her cheeks was without color on this oppressive day; her blue eyes were blazing with some unexplained excitement.

She greeted Hugh with a glance and an upflung hand, but did not approach him; she paused beside Aileen instead.

"I didn't know that you played, Mrs. Kavanaugh?"

"I play very badly," Aileen assured her.

"Where have you been, dear?" Hugh asked, feeling suddenly cold and tired and clumsy.

Her eyes danced. She looked at Bert, and bubbled with mysterious laughter.

"We've been selecting your birthday present, Hugh!" she burst out, electrically.

"You're in time," he said, in his dry, quiet way. "My birthday's September 20th!"

"I went shopping, and stopped at Bert's office," Beatrice said, "and he took me to have an ice, at the Underhill, and drove me out here. Do you realize that it's nearly six?"

"Two more and I'm done," Hugh explained. "I played the second nine first, because there were a bunch of women on this one, and I've about finished."

"We'll walk with you," she offered, nodding pleasantly at Aileen as she sauntered away at Hugh's side.

"Stay and gossip with me, Bert, until Frances Lennox comes up," Aileen said, said, boiling within, but outwardly waving a smiling farewell to Beatrice Bert's fatuous gaze was upon the younger woman, now walking lightly, elastically, at his father's side, and turning her brimmed hat now and then, to glance into Hugh's attentive, serious face.

Beatrice's brown wrist, emerging from the striped blue cuff—her doubled fist, pushed into the pocket of the blue gown—her silky red hair, curling like feathers about her shapely ears—the rise of her firm breasts under the frail fabric of her dress—things affected Bert like a potent wine. The fumes of her were in his nostrils, dizzying him and making him hardly conscious of what Aileen was saying.

Beatrice came running back. Her eyes were very blue, in the shadow of her hat.

"Bert was have my house key!" she reminded him.

He could hardly answer; he laughed confusedly.

"But aren't you going to drive me back?" he asked blankly.

"No, I'm going with Hugh!" she answered, surprised. Her firm, warm fingers touched his as she took the key; she ran off again, with a nodded goodby over her shoulder.

Aileen watched Bert, as a scientist might watch an insect impaled on a pin. She saw him look after the girl's figure dazedly, and heard him give an abrupt, mirthless laugh. Then suddenly he turned away and began to walk toward the clubhouse slowly, without so much as a backward look for her

"Fireworks there, sooner or later," Aileen reflected, sitting on the little bench beside the sand box, and alternately glancing at the receding figures of father and son, the gap widening between them, and Beatrice's slim figure fluttering faithfully along beside the older man. "I wonder just—how—long—it will take him to get her?" she mused aloud.

The late sunshine illuminated Bert's magnificent figure as he strode along; it glinted on his bared head. A few women loitering across the greens, stopped and spoke to him; Aileen saw one of the younger ones look after him as he went on his way.

"Now, if he'd married Beatrice," she thought, "how much more suitable! Mrs. Houston Challoner. Mrs. Houston Challoner! Poor Hugh, what else can he possibly suppose she married him for, if it wasn't just to be that—Mrs. Challoner. She's not awake yet. But she'll wake up, Hugh. They don't sleep forever, in this day and generation!"

"You and Bert have a nice time?" Hugh asked, with a little effort, as they walked along.

"Oh, wonderful!" Beatrice said, and laughed. "He really is a darling, Bert," she said absently. A moment later, happening to glance at Hugh, she exclaimed concernedly, "Hugh, you look queer! Is your head—your head is aching again!"

"No—not a bit. Yes, it's splitting!" he said incoherently.

"Oh, Hugh, dear! Mr. Challoner won't play any more," Beatrice said hurriedly to the caddie. "Take all the clubs, we'll cut right to the car, Hugh, darling," Beatrice pleaded, her young hand firm under his elbow, as she guided him across the rising ground, "why didn't you tell me? How long has this been going on?"

Reaching the car, she sprang in, took the wheel; his door had barely slammed before they were off for home. Not a word was said while she helped him upstairs, established him on the couch, and stopped to touch his closed eyes with her fresh, fragrant kiss.

"Tell me the first instant you feel better, dearest!"

STORE FIRE.

What might have proved a disastrous blaze, was discovered in the basement of the Redden Hardware, Tice and George streets, about 11:45 Saturday night. The alarm was sent in and the brigade managed to extinguish the blaze without much trouble. What caused the fire is not known, but it was only extinguished after the under part of the main floor had been considerably charred. The damage to both stock and building will be comparatively small. Both are insured. The building is the property of Mrs. C. W. Turner, Queen street.

CHICKEN EGGS

Pat Morgan's grin is wider than usual these days. He is, in his spare time, a poultry fancier in a small way. His ideas tend more toward quality than quantity. On March 21, one of his hens hatched sixteen chickens from sixteen eggs. All the youngsters lived and thrived. From these birds, he gets as many as four eggs a day now, and ventured the opinion that that was "pretty good."

FALL FAIR

The next thing of importance in town, is the Fall Fair. This is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, September 26 and 27. The directors are making the rounds now soliciting special prizes.

QUOTED ABROAD

Every once in a while, the name of this town crops up in far-away places. The marathon swim in connection with Old Home week got plenty of publicity for the town. Its electrical development has also given it considerable publicity. The latest echo comes from London, England. The London Morning Post, in its leader column, refers to the speech made by the Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party in Canada, in Campbellford, Ontario.

TO KNEECAP THE CLIMAX

(Painted pictures on such feminine knees as may be exposed by rolled advocated by Chicago beauty specialists).

The knees of my Gertrude are printed,
They tell me, a light navy blue,
While Edith's, it's hinted, are tinted
A sort of pale heliotrope hue.
The knees of Priscilla are yellow,
While Pearl's are two colors combined—
And believe me, it's tough on a fellow
Who always has been color-blind!

The kneecaps of Fannie are stenciled
With generous splashes of green,
And those of my Annie are penciled
((They whisper) in aquamarine.
They tell me they used pink on Mabel,
While Susan in purple is smart;
And shucks—now I'll never be able
To tell all my sweethearts apart!

SUFFERS INJURIES.

ROSENEATH, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence). — While trimming limbs from a tree, Archie Zufelt, the telephone lineman, had the misfortune to cut a big gash in his knee. Several stitches were necessary to close the wound. Mr. Zufelt was taken to his home in Warkworth.

AUGUST FROSTS COOL MANITOBA

No Damage To Grain—Scattered Showers On Prairies.

SHORTAGE OF FEED.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 20.—The Prairie Provinces continued to experience fair and warm days with cool nights during last week, according to the weekly crop report issued by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, while the temperature dropped below freezing point in some parts in Manitoba.

On the whole it was ideal harvest weather. Apart from garden truck no damage is reported by frost to the crops. Light to heavy showers occurred in various parts and were welcome for late coarse grains and pastures. They will be of no advantage where the grain is ripe.

Harvesting Coarse Grain

Cutting of coarse grain has been in full swing almost everywhere during the week and also wheat cutting in central and southern parts. The latter will be general in one or two days. The frequent showers and cool nights appear to have benefited the crops and whereas the heads are small and inferior in many acres grain on summer fallow has lied unexpectedly well. A little better yield than previously expected is looked for. The crop, however, is a very spotty one and there will be tremendous variation in results.

Th summer fallow lands have much better prospects than stubble or fall or spring plowed land. Rye threshing has been done at scattered points with yields ranging from 12 to 30 bushels to the acre. Odd wheat threshing has been carried on as well as combining with variable results from 5 to 30 bushels to the acre, grading two, three, four and five. Different kinds of contrivances are being used on binders to catch the short grain and extensive use of headers and combines is indicated by the recent sales in various districts. Some hail damage took place at the beginning of the week, being very severe in some areas north and east of Calgary.

Scarcity of Water

Water for stock in some areas is very short and considerable tanking is reported as well as deepening of wells. Some unfinished cattle have been hurried to market because of feed shortage. Because of the recent rains farmers have held on to their stock generally as long as possible and no great sacrifice has as yet taken place.

OIL GROUP HOLDS UP DESPITE HEAVY SURGE OF PROFIT-TAKING

Prominent Stock of Past Few Days Fail To Hold Interest.

BRAZILIAN TUMBLES.

Hiram Walkers Advances in Turnover of More Than 9,600 Shares.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—With the neglecting of some of the stocks which have been prominent in the forward movement of the past few days, prices began to slip backward on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Oils held up well under a heavy surge of profit-taking, with British-American breaking 1½ to 58, Royalite 6 to 144, McColl 1 to 42, and International Petroleum ⅝ to 27⅛.

Service Stations equipment came back strongly to recover its three-point loss of yesterday at 76, while Massey-Harris at 57 and Beatty Bros. at 50 both recorded single point advances.

Hiram Walkers provided the bulk of morning trading and in a turnover of more than 9,600 shares advanced 1¼ points to 19⅝. Durant scored a further appreciation of 1½ to 18, and Nickel slightly improved to 52¾, but Brazilian in easy trading, tumbled two points to 70.

LEAD ISSUES SUFFER SLUMP

Lindsley Group Tumbles Downward Despite Unconfirmed Favorable Reports.

ON MINE MARKET.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Stocks which had made considerable headway in the past few days were the hardest hit to-day when practically all the more active stocks on the Standard Mining Exchange joined in a downward procession. The Lindsley group, which shot forward when traders received unconfirmed reports of favorable progress at the Sudbury property, all tumbled downward to-day. Sudbury Basin led the group, breaking 45 cents to 10.15, while Falconbridge was hammered down 50 to 13.50, and Ventures 65 to 8.55. Sherritt-Gordon moved in opposition to the general movement, advancing 50 cents to 7.60.

Disconcerting reports concerning the company's mine were credited for a further dip in Teck-Hughes, the price breaking to a new low for the year at 6.75, off 75 cents. Hudson Bay at 19.00 was off 50 cents while McIntyre at 15.25 and Noranda at 64.50 both recorded 25 cent declines.

NEW HIGH MARKS ARE ESTABLISHED

New York Market Continues Advance in Face of Heavy Selling in Specialties.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Led by the "Blue Chips," as Wall Street terms those issues selling above $200 a share, the stock market continued its advance to-day in the face of frequent flurries of selling in the pool specialties. New high records were established by at least a score of issues including U. S. Steel Common, General Electric, Allis Chalmers, Westinghouse Electric, Commercial Solvents, New York Central and Norfolk and Western, with the gains running as high as 29 points.

Call money was in comfortable supply at the 7 per cent level, with indications that the rate might be maintained. There was no change in other monetary accommodations.

Gov't Distributes Liquor Profits Of Over $682,919

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug 20 (C.P.) The Provincial Government yesterday announced the distribution of liquor profits amounting to $682,919.48, covering the six months' period ended March 31, 1929, among seventy-three municipalities of the province, embracing city, district, township and village corporations.

CERRO DE PASCO COPPER CORP

Property of the Cerro de Pasco Copper Corporation has been worked for some centuries although the present company is only about 14 years old. It is supposed to be the world's lowest priced copper producer, turning out copper at about 4 cents a pound. This is due largely to the gold and silver content to the ore which aids to pay reduction charges. The company also makes lead and zinc concentrates.

The property of the Company located in the Cerro de Pasco district of Peru consists of about 12,000 acres of lands including five groups of mines. The corporation owns and operates two smelters, some of the operations of which are on customs ores and has an electric power plant with 16,000 horse power capacity, a railroad with 134 miles of track, two coal mines, 70,000 acres of plantations, water power sites and other property. In May 1929 it was announced that a program of expansion was in progress which would extend over three or four years and cost $15,000,000.

Net earnings for 10 years have exceeded $2,000,000 a year. Following the trend of metal quotations the high price of copper in 1928 raised net to $5,756,238. This compared with $3,664,279 in 1927 and $4,550,837 in 1926.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding consists of 1,122,842 shares of common of no par value. The present dividend rate is $6 a share annually.

PREMIER STUDIES NOTE WITH DAWES

MacDonald States Dawes' Note Makes Great Advance in Negotiations.

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—The Press Association to-day quoted Premier MacDonald as stating that he was studying a message from Washington which he discussed with Ambassador Dawes yesterday regarding the disarmament conversations.

The Premier was quoted as follows:

"General Dawes came up to exchange views with me upon a message from Washington which I am studying. It marks a distinct advance in our conversations."

Japanese Agent Attends

TOKYO, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Captain Saburo Sato of the Naval Affairs Bureau has been ordered to proceed to London for the purpose of exchanging views on disarmament questions with Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador in London.

It is understood that Captain Sato will explain the details of recent interdepartmental deliberations between the Foreign Office and the Navy Office. He will then act as special "Disarmament Attache" at the Embassy.

Disraeli, English statesman, wore corsets.

Four Millions Left By William Wilder

TORONTO, Aug. 20. — In the will of the late William E. Wilder, former member of the financial firm of Wood, Gundy and Company, an estate of $4,556,787.42 is disposed of. Mr. Wilder, who died May 28, was born in Michigan, of Ontario parentage, was educated in the Picton High School and University of Toronto, and entered the Wood, Gundy firm in 1911.

Of the life insurance, $139,554.30 is payable to Mrs. Marjorie Wilder the widow of the deceased. Mrs. Wilder is also given the household and personal effects, together with the use of the residence at 32 Whitney avenue. In addition Mrs. Wilder receives all the income from all the rest of the estate during her lifetime. On her death the capital of the estate is to be held in trust for the two children in equal shares.

CANADIAN HEADS TOBACCO MERGER

Syndicate Takes Over United Cigar Stores and Tobacco Product.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Control of the United Cigar Stores of America and the Tobacco Products Company, representing more than $200,000,000, formally passed yesterday to a syndicate of Canadian and American capitalists headed by George K. Morrow, Chairman of the Gold Dust Corporation; H. H. Porter, of Sanderson and Porter, and a director in 35 companies, and Thomas F. McInnerney, president of the National Dairy Products Company.

Details of the projected transfer of control have been known for some time and announcement of the change in ownership of the huge tobacco combine was printed on June 10.

It is understood that the acquisition of control was made through large purchases of the stock of G. J. Whelan.

George J. Whelan, C. A. Whelan and W. T. Posey, heads of the old company, stated that in turning over their control to the new interests they were retaining a substantial stock interest, but believed it in the best interests of the stockholders to get the companies under Morrow management which had been so successful in several other manufacturing and merchandising enterprises.

George K. Morrow, who heads the new company, is a Canadian who came to the United States 30 years ago and made a success of every enterprise into which he went.

He first went to the Quaker Oats company and became a marked man of business and because of his success was asked to join many other enterprises. At present he is chairman of the board of the Gold Dust Corporation, which he organized six years ago and director in more than a dozen other companies. He was graduated from a Canadian college in Toronto.

FORT EXPLODES AT BUCHAREST

War Minister Denies 18 Soldiers Killed As Seven Cars of Powder Blow Up.

3,000 SHELLS DESTROYED.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, August 20 (Canadian Press). — Seven carloads of powder and 3,000 shells stored in old Forto Domnesti, 12 miles outside of Bucharest blew up last night. The cause of the explosion could not be immediately learned by investigators from the War Department.

First reports said that at least 18 soldiers had been killed and ten were wounded, and that the presence of a large number of workmen in the building would probably swell the casualty list.

The Minister of War subsequently denied, however, that there had been any casualties, and described the material damage as limited to the destruction of a few railway cars and a magazine.

The populace of the region was panic-stricken by the sound of the explosion.

CLEANING REVOLVER IS FATAL TO YOUTH

Police Investigation Disproves Suicide Theory of Shooting.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Beresford Woods, 18-year-old son of Alfred J. Woods, of Amherstburg, accidentally shot himself to death in his bedroom last night. Provincial Police learned after their investigation to-day. A revolver bullet penetrated his brain. The youth was found lying across his bed a few moments after the sound of the shot disturbed the family. The revolver was found on the floor. The earlier theory of suicide had been discredited by the police. Young Woods had been cleaning the weapon, it was thought.

DREADED DISEASE TAKES LONDON MAN

Streptococcus Puzzles Physicians For Considerable Time.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—The dread malady, streptococcus claimed a victim here with the death of Norman R. Lund, Manager of the local branch of Johnston and Ward, stock brokers, in St. Joseph's Hospital at 4 o'clock this morning, after an illness of about three weeks.

At the commencement of Mr. Lund's illness, physicians were under the impression that he was suffering from typhoid, but the patient, not responding to treatment, was removed to the hospital on Monday night. The disease was then definitely diagnosed as streptococcus laemoly-tycis, the same disease which claimed three lives in Ekfrid Township several months ago and mystified physicians for some time.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 20. — Confronted by a big increase of United States visible supply total yesterday, wheat values took a decided downward swing. Enlarging movement of the spring wheat crop, both domestic and Canadian, tended also to make prices descend, and so likewise did slackness of export call for wheat from the United States. Particular notice was being taken that the spring wheat harvest south and north of the Canadian line, is about two weeks earlier than last year.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 2⅝c to 3⅝c a bushel lower htan Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅞c to 1⅜c down; oats unchanged to ⅜c off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 12c.

With the United States wheat visible supply yesterday showing a record-breaking total, 169,368,000 bushels against only 79,085,000 bushels a year ago, traders were friendly to higher prices, especially as the day drew to an end.

Free selling was in evidence on all price upturns here, and it was apparent that many holders of future delivery contracts were curtailing ownership, as well as that numerous speculators deemed lower prices more or less a certainty.

Unions That "Reds" Lost

BELFAST, Aug. 20 (By ... Champion, Canadian Pres... Correspondent.—One of the mo... teresting matters coming before t... Trade Union Congress here next month will be the report on the Communist menace within the trades union movement. The report, made by a committee of enquiry, is long and detailed, and the general conclusion is: "With the exception of one or two cases, the disruptive element instigated by the Communists and National minority movement is having a less and diminishing influence.

"There appears no doubt whatever," the report goes on, "that the Communist and minority movements' activity does mitigate against not only retention of members, but especially against enrolling of new members within the unions. The Communist and minority movement appears to have done most serious harm in those unions which had not thought it advisable in the early stages to check Communist activity in their branches and districts."

The report states confidently: "The policy of disruption has been deliberately framed and applied ever since establishment of the Third International and of the Red International of Labor Unions."

In connection with a Communistic Sunday paper published in London, it is stated the donations to it, from unnamed sources, are considerably in excess of the proceeds from sales of the paper.

RUSSIAN PULPWOOD.

PRESCOTT, August 20. — Seventeen thousand cords of pulpwood from Russia, passed up the St. Lawrence River on Saturday on board of the steamer Barrie of the Canada Steamship Lines. The cargo was loaded at Archangel on the White Sea, brought to Quebec on the steamer Quercus and transhipped to the Barrie for its destination to the Hammer-Mill

SUSPEND WORK AT MALARTIC

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—At a meeting of the directors of the Malartic Gold Mines Limited yesterday, it was decided, after due consideration, to issue instructions to suspend operations at the property, but to keep the same de-watered pending the calling of a shareholder's meeting which has been fixed for September 5.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 20. — There were no changes in the local grain market here yesterday.

Cheese prices were higher, with No. 1 Ontario white and colored selling at 18c to 18¾c, and No. 1 Quebec white and colored selling at 17¼c to 17½c.

Receipts were 3,445 boxes, as compared with 3,201 boxes on the same day last week.

The butter market was quiet, with prices, both wholesale and retail, unchanged. Receipts were 788 boxes against 999 boxes on the same day last week.

Egg prices were improved, western fresh extras selling at 45c per dozen, f.o.b. Edmonton. Receipts were 1,095 cases against 1,356 cases on the same day of last week.

The potato market was steady at $1.40 to $1.50 per 80 lbs., locally grown. New Brunswick new potatoes were quoted at $1.60 per 90 lbs. in bulk or $1.75 per 90 lbs in bags.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20.— Fractional advances during the first hour of trading on the local wheat market to-day were quickly wiped out, and the market finished the day with losses of 3¼ to 3½. There was no real selling pressure in evidence, but, with the market lacking in buying power, it did not take much in the way of offerings to depress values. Pit trade was local in character, and the market was uninteresting.

It was reported that the drought in Argentine and Australia was mostly dry ,with temperatures touching as high as 90. Edmonton was the only spot reporting rain. Fair weather, with the posibility of scattered showers, was forecast for to-day and Tuesday on the Prairies.

Cash wheat trading was slow, with prices generally unchanged to 1c. easier than the previous close. Practically no export business was done over the week-end.

Wheat delivered to country points on Saturday totalled 185,274 bushels, compared with 63,740 bushels on the corresponding day last year.

Coarse-grain trading was dull and featureless. Oat prices were ½c. lower, barley was off about 1c. and rye was down 1¼c. to 2c. Flax also declined fractionally.

World shipments of wheat and flour last week totalled 13,480,000 bushels, of which 5,572,000 bushels came from North America. Supplies on passage decreased about 1,600,000 bushels, indicating foreign consumption of imported wheat for the week just ended at 15,000,000 bushels. The total on passage is now 37,504.000 bushels, or about 8,000,000 less than it was at this time last year.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 20.—Trading on the local wholesale butter market was very little changed over the week-end and it was stated that general conditions were almost the same as were the case in the last few days. The market was quite steady, and the demand was understood to be approximately equal to the supply. No particular amount of activity was in evidence, but a quiet undertone of strength was obvious, and although prices were unchanged, and brokers were disinclined to make casual statement as to the future trend it was felt that a decidedly stronger feeling has been imparted to the market during the last day or so. No. 1 creamery was quoted at from 39c to 39¼c per pound, and the No. 2 grade was at from 37c to 38c per pound.

There was little underlying change in basic conditions of the local wholesale egg market, and the fairly obvious shortage was still in evidence. Western eggs are available, but the price to Toronto consumers would be too high for the local dealers to import in anything like quantity. Demand continues to be very strong for the number of eggs for sale on the market, and it was considered that the shortage would see no immediate let-up and that there was every chance of a continued high price. Dealers were quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered and cases returned, as follows: Fresh extras, 43c per dozen; fresh seconds, 29s to 30c per dozen.

The local cheese market continued strong and fairly quiet, and the price of the No. 1 large, colored, paraffined and Government-graded cheese was quoted at from 18¼c to 18½c per pound.

WHEAT BUYERS TURNING TO U.S.

Lower Prices Induce Manitoba Dealers To Import in Quantity.

SHIPMENTS STARTED.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20.—The wide spread in the prices of wheat on the Winnipeg and American grain markets has brought about a sort of "carrying coals to Newcastle" movement in Manitoba. Strange as it may seem, United States wheat is being imported into this Province, known the world over as the producer of the world's finest bread wheat A glance at the daily grain quotations reveals the reason. Chicago wheat, for instance, is selling from 15 to 27 cents below the Canadian product. Added to this is the fact that United States wheat pays only 12 cents a bushel duty coming into Canada, while Canadian wheat going into the United States is charged 42 cents a bushel.

The situation is unusual because the wide spread is uncommon itself. Considerable American wheat is being shipped across the border to Gretna, near the international boundary. The information was brought to Winnipeg yesterday by C. Peiper, President of the Gretna Board of Trade. "Last week alone there were 1,000 bushels shipped across from the United States to Gretna," Mr. Peiper said. As long as the wide spread in prices remains the wheat will continue to flow northward and the result will be to weaken the Winnipeg market.

Mr. Peiper has been in the Gretna district for 47 years, and has been connected with the grain business for 40 of them. Confirmation of the situation was obtained from E. B. Ramsay, General Manager of the Canadian Wheat Pool and recently appointed Chairman of the new board of Grain Commissioners. Some of the imported wheat, he said, was selling at about 30 below top Canadian product Mr. Ramsay did not know what the buyers were, but believed the elevators were privately owned.

SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

Members of Belmont Women's Institute Attend Gathering At Chard's Bridge.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Aug. 20.—Despite the threatening clouds and rather cool weather prevailing in the morning, a large number of members of the Institute, their families and friends turned out to attend the annual summer outing at Chard's bridge, Thursday, August 15. The committee members were first on the scene at about 10 o'clock, choosing the tables and covering them with long tablecloths. They also got the fire going and the boiler of water on so that there would be lots of tea for dinner at 12:30.

The cars full of picknickers began to arrive and soon the grounds were alive with those who were out for a day of pleasure. All kinds of goodies were unpacked from the large baskets, chickens, salads, pickels, roast meat, jellies, pie of all kinds and everything that goes to make up a bounteous board, and everyone sat down to do full justice to the meal prepared. After the lunch was cleared away, the races were run off and won as follows.

Young Men's Race—Gerald Anderson.

Married Men's Race—Alan Hubbel.

Young Ladies' Race—Dorothy Hubbel.

Married Ladies' Race—Open. Mrs. Elmhirst.

Married Ladies' Race, over forty—Mrs. W. Anderson.

The committee in charge of the racing consisted of Miss Minnie Williams, secretary and Mrs. John Sexsmith, District President, with Mr. George Smith assisting.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Anderson then chose up sides for a game of softball, the former side winning by a score of four to three. The children, meanwhile indulged in boating and bathing. Supper was served at five-thirty, and the guests departed, after voting the outing a most enjoyable one.

The children's picnic was held a week ago when their races were run off.

INSTITUTE MEETS.

Mrs. I. C. Montgomery and Misses Montgomery Entertain Fenella Society.

FENELLA, Aug. 20. — Mrs. I. C. Montgomery and the Misses Montgomery entertained the Fenella Women's Institute at their home on Thursday afternoon. On motion it was decided that the bill of $14 be paid. This amount being the cost up to date for milk and eggs supplied by the Institute for a tubercular patient in the community.

Much business was done regarding the garden party to be held on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brenton on Friday, Aug 23.

The following committees were appointed: Program, Mrs. A. Nill, Mrs. W. J. Jibb and Mrs. Clifford Leach; Refreshment, Mrs. M. Adams, Mrs. I. C. Montgomery and Mrs. S. Leach. Canteen, the girl of the Institute.

The weather being favorable, the Institute is looking forward to a very enjoyable evening's entertainment, as a good supper is being provided and a first class artist has been secured for the program.

Mrs. M. Adams gave a humorous reading, "Caleb's Courtship and What Became of It." This number caused much merriment.

Mrs. A. Nill gave a talk on Canadian authors, giving a short sketch of their lives and reading and commenting on extracts from their work, concluding her talk on some of things books have meant to the speaker.

Mrs. Clifford Leach on the program of music, provided a substitute, bringing a guest, Mr. S. Minnes, of Hamilton, who delighted his audience all through the tea hour with his piano selections. Mr. Minnes is an artist of the first class and the members were favored in having him present.

Miss Mullholland, councillor for Haldimand township, was present, and on invitation spoke briefly, telling her hearers something of the efforts she has been making for a system of good roads through the township.

In the absence of the president, the meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Mrs. A. Nill.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Montgomery and the Misses Montgomery for their hospitality.

At the close of the meeting the hostesses served a sumptuous lunch.

Personal.

Rev. J. N. and Mrs. Lovelace and family were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Macklin.

W. A. MEETING.

Good Program Provided At Meeting of Dunsford Society.

DUNFORD, August 20. — The monthly meeting of the W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Milton Thurston on Wednesday afternoon. A good crowd attended. The president, Mrs. George Burgess, occupied the chair.

Mrs. I. Lyle ably read and explained the Bible reading for the day. Mrs. Walter J. Thurston read an interesting portion of the study book of Africa. Miss Lois Maires sang a very pleasing solo, "Jesus Loves Me," accompanied at the organ by Miss Anna Burgess.

Business discussions followed and the program was arranged for next month as follows:

Bible reading, Miss Isabel Devitt; Study Book, Mrs. Teddie Brien; solo, Mrs. Allan Thompson.

Luncheon was then served and a pleasant half hour was spent.

Miss Pearl Brien kindly invited the members to her home for the next meeting.

5,000 American Veterans Will Parade at C.N.E.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 19 (C.P.) — Approximately 5,000 United States veterans of the Great War will visit Toronto, August 24, when the annual American Legion Goodwill trip will be made to join the Canadian Legion in the Warriars' Day Parade at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The visitors are coming from Buffalo, Tonawanda and Niagara Falls, N.Y.

MASONS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Members of Clementi Lodge No. 313 Take Part in Gathering At Lakefield.

GOOD PROGRAM.

LAKEFIELD, August 20 (Examiner Correspondence). — A very pleasant picnic was held on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of Clementi Lodge No. 313, A.F. & A.M. The attendance was not as large as was hoped for, but the threatening weather no doubt kept many at home as it did not clear until nearly two o'clock. However, nearly one hundred gathered at the Lakefield Park and spent a jolly time, as there was entertainment for old and young, and the brethren were generous in serving refreshments during the afternoon. In order to get the picnic properly under way, a softball game as organized with W. A. Fairbairn and H. Sanderson the captains. The following was the way they lined up for play:

Fairbairn's Team — W. G. Morrison, p; C. Lake, c; Simpson, 1b; S. Nixon, 2b; T. Crawford, 3b; W A. Fairbairn, ss; C .Thomson, rf; A. H. Clark, cf; D. H. Webster, lf.

Sanderson's Team—E. H. Northey, p; J. R. Hull, c; F. Payne, 1b; Dr. J. C. Smith, 2b; H. Sanderson, 3b; J. R. Hill, ss; C. Hunter, rf; Roy Charlton, cf; D .Matheson, lf.

Umpire— F. L. Erskine.

The baseball ground at the park is as yet in the future and the base runners were considerably handicapped by many hazards in the shape of stones, holes, and thistles, but what are these things in a softball game after all? One prominent citizen announced that he had never played before, and hinted that he was in the game to stay. The record at the fifth innings showed a score of 17-14 in favor of the Sanderson team, and it was decided to call the game and proceed with the program of races.

The Prize-winners.

The folowing are the results of the sports:

Boys, 6 and under—1, Billy Clark; 2, Kenneth Knox.

Girls, 6 and under—1, Ethel Millar; 2, Betty Lake.

Resolution of Sympathy

At the meeting of the Municipal Council held on Monday evening last the following resolution of sympathy to Reeve C. S. Tanner and the Tanner family was moved by Councillor S. Harrison and seconded by Councillor Lillecrap:

"Resolved, That this Council of the Village of Lakefield avails itself of this the first opportunity of tendering to our Reeve, Mr. C S Tanner, and all the members of the family, our heartfelt sympathy in the loss they have been called upon to bear in the death of a beloved sister.

"In her death we feel that they have lost one who did much to elevate the home and instill into the members of the family the ideals that go to make up good citizenship. Also we feel that the village has lost a real friend, one who was a real promoter in every movement for the betterment of the village.

"Praying that the consolation of divine grace may sustain them in this their time of need.

"Signed at Lakefield this 12th day of August, 1929."

Church Anniversary.

The parish of St. John the Baptist, Lakefield, celebrates this fall its seventy-fifth anniversary. The actual date has not been kept, but it was in the autumn of 1852 that the little old church (the first in the settlement) was opened. On the last Sunday in September this historic event will be commemorated by special services, with Archdeacon Warren of Toronto (the oldest living rector of the parish) as the special preacher. Rev. W. J. Creighton (the present rector) is the next oldest rector, having returned after an absence of 20 years. On Thursday of that week the annual harvest festival services will be held, with Rev. Canon F. J Sawers, of St. Matthew's, Toronto, as the special preacher. Canon Sawers is the third oldest living rector of this parish. During the week it is proposed to hold a parochial social and to mark the anniversary suitably.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Take a vacation that will benefit all the family alike—a place where there are no annoying little chores or the everlasting housekeeping routine to attend to—a place surrounded by the wild beauty of the northern woods, yet having the convenient facilities and comfortable accommodation of the city home.

Nipigon Bungalow Camp, situated on the east shore of Lake Helen in the Nipigon River district, is easily reached by Canadian Pacific Railway or Great Lakes Steamers.

French River Bungalow Camp, located on the beautiful French river, a mere 200 miles from Toronto, is also served by the Canadian Pacific.

In these camps one enjoys the privacy of a cozy bungalow comfortably furnished and electrically illuminated, with maid service to take care of details. Charges which are very reasonable are "American Plan" and meals are served in the big dining room of the Club House, or, in hot weather out on the wide, screened, cool verandas.

Both camps have every facility for outdoor recreation such as tennis, swimming, boating and hiking. Fishing, for which these camps are famous, is perhaps the most popular pastime. French River also boasts an excellent nine hole golf course.

For further information enquire from any Canadian Pacific Agent. He will be glad to help you.

RECORDS MADE BY NEW SHELLS

Three Hundred Projectiles Tapered At Both Ends Prove Successful.

FIELD TACTICS STAGED.

PETAWAWA, Ont., August 20. — (C.P.) — Shells of streamlike design made new records in accuracy during tests here yesterday. Experiments were carried out in connection with manoeuvres being held this week at the military camp. The new projectiles are tapered at both ends; reduced wind resistance results in greater effective range.

Only 300 shells of the special type have so far been manufactured in Canada. Those used yesterday were 18 pounders. Tests were carried out by the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Tactical exercises were carried out at the camp in which airplanes cooperated with ground troops and with the new six-wheeled motor trucks designed for hauling heavy guns.

The Guides' Challenge Cup, open to commissioned officers of the active militia and Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was won over the weekend by Captain H. O. N. Brownfield, M.C., of Kingston. Lieutenant W. E. Gillespie, R. C. D., St. John's, Que., and Major R. S. Timmis, D.S.O., Toronto, were second and third respectively.

The competition, intended to encourage cross-country riding under service conditions, is run over a 15-mile point-to-point course with several jumps representing natural obstacles.

WEDDING BELLS

MILANEY—FRANEL

The wedding took place on Wednesday July 24 at the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, East 61st street, New York city of Anne Evelyn daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Franel of that city and Basil Francis Milaney, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Milaney of Veteran, Alta., formerly of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Milaney are spending their honeymoon with the groom's parents, also visiting his sister, Mrs. J. J. Cunningham of Onoway, Alta, enroute to New York city, where they will reside. They will visit the groom's brother, L. J. Milaney of Toronto and also his sister, Mrs. D. F. Garvey of Indian River.

RUTTLE—SAUNDERS.

A quiet wedding took place on Friday, August 16, when Verna Mary, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Saunders, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to George Harold Ruttle, second son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruttle, of Lakefield.

The young couple were unattended, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Thomas Brown, of Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruttle will reside in Peterborough.

BENNETT URGES TORY ACTIVITY

Calls Party To Rally In "Economic War' 'Now Waging.

VANCOUVER ADDRESS.

BY THOMAS GREEN

Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 20—A call to young Conservatives, men and women, throughout the Dominion, to rally to the defence of Canada in the "great economic war now being waged" was sounded by Hon. R. B. Bennett, opposition chieftain, in his address before the Young Men's Conservative association of this city Monday.

"Without our being fully conscious of it", Mr. Bennett declared, "there is going on in this country as in other countries an economic war. It is the war of commerce. Other countries are making efforts to sell their goods in Canada. Every country," he declared, "is endeavoring to sell their goods and the economic pentration of our country is going on every day. A great economic war is now being waged."

Mr. Bennett proceeded:—

"Are we to meet the situation? Are we to be a great nation of 25,000,000 or more in a short time? Are we to survive or are we to lose our entity? These are no longer problems that can be lightly set aside. These problems must be solved. We cannot delay. It remains for us, for the young men and women of the Conservative faith, to find the solution. The reason I say the Conservative faith is because of the great history and traditions of our party. It is a history of which every Canadian might well be proud."

He recalled the days when our battalions marched out in great numbers in the Great War, the splendid showing they made, and the "weapons used to defend the freedom of the world."

MADOC, August 20. — Dr. Spurr, of Glendale, West Va., a nephew of the late W. M. Spurr of Madoc, and well known to many of our citizens,has been awarded the Cross of Honor by the Order of Sangreal for welfare work, having established two Settlement Houses in the Blue Ridge Mountains. The following is from the Moundsville, West Va., paper: -

"As a reward for his Christian and community welfare work, not only in Moundsville, but elsewhere, Archdeacon B. M. Spurr, Glen Dale, has been awarded the Cross of Honor of the Order of the Sangreal. The cross will be presented to Dr. Spurr on All Saints' Day.

Among the various settlement houses established by Archdeacon Spurr on the Blue Ridge Mountains, were two that for more than twenty-five years have supplied nursing, education and comfort to the mountaineers, who have found the struggle to make ends meet generally to end in failure. These settlement houses are at St. Andrew's on the Mountain, and at Christ church. The houses have been erected under the direction of Dr. Spurr and nurses and teachers are maintained through financial aid extended by Dr. Spurr's friends.

When you find cabins measuring 16 by 12 feet housing from three to twelve people, and sometimes more, with penty of room between the ceiling and the roof to bed the children you obtain a picture of the needs of these people who have been too far from a doctor, or too poor to pay one where he is near.

It is for this work that the cross of honor of the order was recently conferred on Archdeacon Spurr as the following letter shows:

"Archdeacon B. M. Spurr,
Moundsville, West Va.,

My Dear Brother—In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, Supreme Master of the Order of the Sangreal, and by authority of the Grand Chapter, it is my joy and privilege to announce that you have been awarded the Cross of Honor of the Order.

"This award was made because in an obscure and difficult field you have called into being a Christian community, applying the Gospel to the whole of life.

"The Cross if of wood because the cross of Christ was of wood. It is black in token of humility. The emblem upon it is of gold because the chalice was of gold. The emblem embodies the initials of the order and represents by its circle the eternal life of God, with human life beginning and ending in God. The nameplate on the back is of silver because we are tried in the fire as silver is tried.

"The cross will be sent to your bishop with the request that he present it to you on All Saints Day. I am,

"Praying for God's blessing upon you in all your life and work,

"Faithfully yours,
(Signed) Irwin St. John Tucker,
"Grand Master."

Dr. Spurr is a brother-in-law of Mrs. D. A. Owen, Campbellford, and of Mrs. T. L. Nickle, Madoc.

Children's Ailments

One of the most useful and dependable remedies a mother can have in her medicine cabinet is ABBEY'S. It is helpful in correcting the little troubles of childhood. When little stomachs get upset—when little heads ache—when little breaths are heavy—when little bowels become irregular—mothers can always rely on ABBEY'S to set the matter right. And little folk take ABBEY'S so willingly. For ABBEY'S, with its gentle sparkle, is like a glass of soda water. And its slightly tart flavour is like mild lemonade. It's not medicine at all to the children—it's fun. And ABBEY'S does them so much good — cleans stomach and bowels—and cools the fevered blood. The directions on every bottle enable mothers to regulate the dose to suit children of every age.

For half a century, ABBEY'S has done its full share in protecting and maintaining the public health. It has brought the comfort and enjoyment of good health to people all over the world: and is generally regarded as the highest type of efficient effervescing saline.

KEEN CONTESTS AT REGATTA

Long Distance Swim and Canoe Sailing Race Features of Program.

AT JUNIPER ISLAND.

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 20.—(Examiner Correspondence).— The long distance swim, the canoe sailing and last but not least, the children's regatta proved a triple attraction, which brought an especially large crowd on Saturday afternoon to Juniper Island, which was the centre of activity. The long distance swim was run last as it was the biggest outstanding event of the program and had aroused interest all over the lake. Although the list of entries was not as large as was expected, neverthless the swimmers showed real ability and made excellent time. The men's swim got away first, starting at McCracken's dock at 4.20 E.S.T., with four entrants, who all made a good showing; Don Fitzgerald finished first, making it in 34 minutes 12 1-5 seconds; George Cooke was second, the time being 36 minutes 25 seconds; Bob Morris was third and Davis McCarthy fourth. The finishing point was at the south end of the floating dock on the east side of Juniper. Dozens of boats followed the course and cheered the swimmers who each received an ovation as they landed at the dock. The distance is said to be one and one eighth miles on good authority.

The girls' swim started three minutes after the men got away with five entrants, all of whom finished. Margaret Strickland was first with the time 38.30 minutes, Ruth Sutton finished just two minutes later; Gwen Sorby who was third, was four minutes behind Ruth Sutton; Frances Ackerman and Helen Tewsley were fourth and fifth respectively. Three of the entries were from the "Y" camp and the girl's enthusiasm in cheering on their mates was encouraging and when second and third places were taken by "Y" girls the camp yell was given in rousing style.

"Oak Ridge" boy's camp was interested, as their manager, Don Fitzgerald, swam in victorious bringing fame to the camp and reflected glory to the boys.

Dixon Is Winner

The canoe sailing race was won by Reg. Dixon against a field of four contestants. with Gordon Wotherspoon second. The day was ideal for sailing and the race was a good one.

Children's Regatta Popular

The children's regatta was especially remarkable for two things, one being the example in sportsmanship set by Spencer Piper, (who won the championship cup donated by Ryrie Birks for the children's regatta for the greatest number of points) who refused to accept more than three prizes, asking that the boy next in line should receive it. This voluntary sacrifice by a fourteen year old boy brought hearty applause and the unqualified approval of the committee. The other outstanding feature was the fact that the younger men accepted the suggestion of the senior committee and ran the regatta in a manner which showed tact, fair play and genuine skill, with Bob Morris, John Guillett and Jack Langley at the judge's stand. Ian Wotherspoon the referee and George Wadds the official announcer, the regatta ran like a clock (one guaranteed to go without stopping) and was generally satisfactory.

There were no serious fouls, no upsets, in fact there was nothing to mar the pleasure of the afternoon. The single events showed nearly double the number of entries of last year, but the swimming races showed a decrease in numbers. The little girl's swim brought out five fair maids who showed excellent form and in a few years will be in the big event and will give a good account of themselves. Ruth Gouinlock and Theo Elmsley were the only contestants for the 16 years and under swim and from start to finish they were neck and neck, finishing at exactly the same time. By special request three races were added to the program, a boy's tandem canoe and girl's tandem Canoe, both open to those 16 years and under and boy's tandem skiff, 14 years and under. The entry list in all three was so good that the addition of these races was fully justified.

Prizes Presented.

Immediately after the regatta the prizes were presented in the pavilion by Mrs. Gordon Smith, the convenor of the Ladies' Committee. The trophies were beautiful silver cups and are much prized by the winners. Spencer Piper, with 24 points, won the boys' championship cup and the Ryrie Birks Trophy, Ruth Gouinlock, with 23 points, won the girls 'championship cup. The handsome W. G. Morrow Cup and accompanying pennant was presented to Reg. Dixon.

The trophies for the long swim were presented by their donor, Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser. They are handsome, representing the diving figures of a man and woman respectively, each on an eighteen-inch pedestal, and suitably inscribed. The winners each received a bronze diving figure and the second prizes were dainty silver cups. To each man and girl who finished was given a box of chocolates.

Mr. G. K. Fraser, president of the Cottagers' Association, thanked all who had assisted in making the afternoon such a success, especially the young men who so capably ran off the regatta. He paid a well-merited tribute to Mrs. Gordon Smith, who had done so much all season to make the social events go off well, and who, as convenor of the children's masquerate achieved such success. "The committee," said Mr. Fraser, "is always open for new suggestions for improving the regatta and kindred events, and any constructive criticism is welcomed."

With the scattering of the crowd, another happy gala week was closed, and soon the opening of the C.N.E. and the ringing of the school bell will close the holiday season once more.

WILDCATS ONE UP IN SOFTBALL FINALS

CLEVER FIELD WORK AND SMART HURLING FEATURES BRIDGENORTH'S 4-2 WIN

Although Outhit By Harrison's 8-5, Wildcats Make Blows Count.

TAKE EARLY LEAD.

"Hap" Bradshaw and "Bud" Weese Fielding Stars of Snappy Fixture.

Giving the finest display of fielding seen this season, Bridgenorth Wildcats defeated Harrisons 4 to 2 at Central School grounds last evening in the first game of the softball championship playoff.

The Cats won the game by the sensational way in which they snapped up their hits and their accurate throws around the bases. Harrison's outhit them 8 to 5, but in the face of the Bridgenorth team's impregnable defence, they could not make their clouts count. "Hap" Bradshaw, taking Jack Baird's place at the hot corner, was the outstanding fielding star of the game along with "Bud" Weese, at second. The former scooped everything hit his way, having five assists and two putouts, while Weese had a total of eight outs to his credit. The rest of the outfit did their share of the work also. Jim Gillespie ran away over from centre to short right to gather in Dorrington's drive for the last putout of the game with two Harrison men prancing on the sacks.

On the other hand errors proved costly to the Harrison clan. They combined to make five and all but one figured in the scoring.

The Cats won the game in the first innings when they squeezed three runs across on one hit and three errors. G. Dormer, first up, layed down a perfect bunt and was safe at first, stealing second. He went to third and brother, Harold, was safe at first on Ross' error. Baker sacrificed to Dundas and G. Dormer scored. Weese drew a walk and both runners continued a sack on Dundas' wild pitch. Gillespie's fly behind second was taken by Ross, but H. Dormer scored on the play. Dobson's throw to third to get Weese was wild and Weese crossed the platter. Shearer made the third out, when Ross touched him at second on Bradshaw's roller.

A single by Connors in the second and double by Baker in third, both coming with none out were wasted. With the exception of these and Dobson's hit in the second for Harrison's both sides were retired in order up until the fifth when the North Enders secured their first counter.

E. Vinnete drew a walk, but was out, Bradshaw to Weese, on Montgomery's grounder. Montgomery went to second on a wild pitch, and to third on Smith's perfect infield hit and he scored on Clarke's foul, after it had been caught by Connors.

Again the sides were retired in jig time until the seventh when Harrison's crowded in three hits for one run, being unlucky not to have gotten more. Ross hit. E. Vinnete rolled to short. Montgomery singled and Ross went to third. Smith filed to second. Clarke hit, scoring Ross. Dorrington's roller was taken by G. Dormer, who touched Montgomery, going into third.

In the eighth, the Cats got their other counter, when Baker, first up, was safe on E. Vinnete's error of his giant drive, and with two down he scored on Shearer's tremendous clout into deep centre. Shearer's hit could have easily been stretched into a homer.

Montgomery and Smith gained recognition, each getting two safeties.

The nine-inning struggle was tossed off in forty-three minutes, ringing up a new record for short time in softball fixtures.

MONTREAL FIGHTER DEFEATS FIFIELD

Joe Brown Scores His Second Successive Victory Over Toronto Welterweight.

TORONTO, August 20. (C. P.) — Joe Brown, Montreal welterweight, scored his second successive victory over George Fifield of Toronto, when he took an eight round decision at the Arena gardens last night was a round knockout, and although he found a wary slugger on his hands last night the Montrealer had little difficulty in getting top honors in point scoring.

Brown weighed 149 1-2 lbs., and Fifield 147.

Art. McCann, Toronto, who has had an eagle eye on Al Foreman's Canadian title, received a setback at the hands of Frank Varroll, of Rochester, over the six round route. It was McCann's second appearance in the ring since a severe illness last spring, and he appeared slow.

Carroll outboxed and outhit McCann, taking the decision easily despite McCann's flurry in the last round. McCann weighed 139 and Carroll 135 1-2.

Bobby Clary, of Buffalo, earned a close six round decision over Frankie (Red) Edgerton, Toronto, finishing with a burst of speed and hitting that had Edgerton groggy for a time in the last round. Edgerton weighed 113 3-4 and Clary 115.

Harry Sacks, the Toronto boy, who made his second professional appearance, took the decision from Emanuel Kiggins, the Buffalo negro, over 6 rounds. Sacks weighed 155 1-2 and Kiggins 149 3-8.

Rennie Headley, of Ottawa, opened the card with a clean cut knockout win over Frank Smith, Buffalo, in the second round.

Headley weighed 145 1-2 and Smith 147.

'TOM' MITCHELL RIFLEMAN DIES

Picked Twelve Times To Attend Bisley Meet As One of Canada's Best Shots.

VIOLIN MAKER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—A noted Canadian rifleman of the older school, "Tom" Mitchell, 78, died in a hospital here over the week-end. In his younger days was was one of Canada's most brilliant shots, having attended the Bisley meet 16 times. On twelve occasions he attended Bisley as a member of the picked team representing the best marksmen in Canada.

A retired Militia Captain, he served in the Queen's Own during the Fenian Raid. He was born in Dundee, Scotland, coming to Canada in 1872, and had resided here since 1877.

Mr. Mitchell, in addition to being a famous marksman, was also a violin maker of repute.

WHAT AN EATER

LONDON, Aug. 20. — Hagenbeck's Animal Park at Stellingen, near Hamburg, has been supporting an 18-foot elephant seal for some time. This seal is the most expensive animal to feed in captivity. It consumes more than 400 pounds of fresh fish a day, and the food bill at the end of the week totals more than $150.

PECK CUP REPLAY WEDNESDAY NIGHT

C.P.C. Versus Brinton A. A. On King Edward Park—Kick-off at 6.15.

On Wednesday evening the replay Peck Cup tie will be played between the Canadian Packing and the Brinton A. A. on King Edward Park. Kick-off at 6.15 prompt. A. Aitkenhead, referee.

These two elevens have met twice already in this competition and always gave a good exhibition of the code.

The C. P. C. have chosen the following players to represent them: Griffin, goal; Westwood and Downer full backs; T. Craig, Buchan, and Bromley, halves; N. Downer, Preston, A. Beggs, Foster and Williams, forwards. Reserves: Laidler and Carmichael.

Over forty soccer fans turned out last evening to the special general meeting called under the constitution of the Peterborough and District Football Association, so as to elect new directors to fill the vacancies. Two new members were elected to the executive. A financial statement was given by the secretary and accepted by the association.

Before the business of the general meeting was transacted, the accounts, reports and correspondence was dealt with under the vice-president, Charlie Lloyd. The association authorized the secretary to pay the official of the C.G.E. vs. Deloro game.

On Saturday afternoon the Brinton team will meet the Canadian General in a league game on King Edward Park. Kick-off at three o'clock. J. C. Russell, referee.

Sorrell Hurls Tigers To 6-2 Win Over Boston

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Vic Sorrell pitched the Tigers to victory over Boston in the second game of a bargain-day bill here yesterday, winning 6 to 2.

Milton Gaston held the Detroiters to seven hits and won the opener 3 to 2.

Dale Alexander got his 20th home run of the season in the nightcap with Fothergill on base.

Walker Now In Light Heavyweight Division

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20.—(Canadian Press). — Mickey Walker, the embattled toy bulldog, of Rumson, N.J., who has lead the welterweight and middleweight fistic divisions in his 10 years of leather slinging, geared himself up another notch last night and punched his way into the heart of the light heavyweight domain by winning a 10-round decision over Leo Lomsk, from Aberdeen, Wash. The victory gave Walker an unofficial leg on the light heavyweight title, which Tommy Loughran is expected to relinquish in order to joust in the future with heavyweights.

Softball Final Wednesday Night

Wednesday night will see the second game of the play off series between Bridgenorth Wildcats and Harrisons and the game should be a real one. Smarting under the 4-2 defeat handed them last night by the Cats in the first game of the play-offs, Harrisons are determined to win to-morrow night's fixture and tie up the series. The Bridgenorth team are out to make it two in a row and thereby go right in the Ontario softball semi-finals.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed Monday night's struggle between these two teams and were treated to a real ball game. Tomorrow night's struggle should be equally as interesting and should draw another bumper crowd.

The game will get away at 6.30 sharp and will be played at Central School Grounds.

LOCAL RINK BEATS TORONTO

G. F. Cairns Has Count of Fourteen in First Round of Dominion Trophy.

LAWN BOWLING.

TORONTO, Ont. Aug. 20.—(C.P.)—Fine weather conditions favored the bowlers at the annual Dominion Lawn Bowling Tournament which is being conducted on the rinks of four local clubs. Of the 112 rinks, representing all parts of Ontario, 103 commenced bowling in the preliminary round. The rinks successful in these matches entered the first round of the Dominion Trophy, while the losers competed in the first round of the Ontario Trophy.

The Toronto Cup is the third rink trophy to be offered for competition, while the Primary Doubles, Willison Doubles and the Singles Championship will also be decided this week.

ORIOLES SINK BEFORE LEAFS

Baltimore Remains in Slump Losing Horrible Battle By 9-7.

EIGHT ERRORS.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—That the slump jinx, or whatever it is, that has fastened its claws on the Orioles recently, still has a tight hold was evident yesterday when the Toronto Leafs grabbed the final game by a count of 9 to 7.

The battle was a robust hitting affair and one that became all loose and wobbly as it progressed at the end of two hours and thirty minutes, 16 runs, 32 hits and 8 errors had been inserted here and there into the clash.

Outside of the runs scored the Birds led in the other things. They slapped the offerings of Paul Zahniser for 17 merry wallops and came up haltingly with five of the boots.

WINGS TAKE KEYS FOR TWO

READING, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Reading's losing streak was extended to eight yesterday, when the Keys dropped a pair to Rochester. The Wings won the first by 7 to 2, and the second by 4 to 3, scoring their winning run in the second game on two successive errors by the Reading infield.

The double victory increased the Red Wings' lead over Toronto to 8½ games and the Keys dropped into a tie with Buffalo for fourth place.

THREE INJURED AS WALL FALLS

Church Wall Being Razed Caves in, Carrying Workmen Under Debris.

HURTS NOT SERIOUS.

HAMILTON, Aug. 20. — Three workmen were injured yesterday afternoon when the west wall of the old church at Hughson and Cannon street, being razed by wreckers, collapsed without warning. The workmen were on top of the wall and went down in a shower of bricks and mortar. The injured are Andrew Openu, 188 Queen street north; Chas. Craiger, 35 Sheffield street, and Geo. Moncur, 14 Kelly street. Openu sustained back injuries and Craiger and Moncur suffered only cuts and bruises. All three were discharged from the general hospital in the evening.

Baseball Game Is Slated For Roseneath

ROSENEATH, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—An exciting baseball match will be held on the Agricultural Grounds to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 4 o'clock. Mr. Clarence Varcoe is presenting the regular team, while Mr. Merrith D. Brown is manager of a picked team. Both teams have confidence in winning the game, and those who stay away will miss seeing some real sport. Following the game of ball, supper will be served in the Agricultural Hall, where a good meal will be provided, and later a concert given in the Orange Hall.

NEW YORK GOLFER WINS MEDAL ROUND

Eddie Held Scores 148 in First Round of Canadian Amateur Event.

JASPER, Alta., Aug. 20.—Coming home with a beautiful 71, one over par, on his second round, Eddie Held, clever New Yorker, scored 148 in the 36-hole Canadian amateur golf championship qualifying round yesterday and won the tournament medal.

D. Clarke Corkran of Nobla, Pa., should have tied Held, and would have had it not been for a bad "break" on the 18th green. He missed his six-foot putt for a 147, the ball hanging on the lip of the cup. Carelessly, Corkrane poked his putter at it and missed. He took another stroke and finished with a total of 149.

Third place went to Don Carrick, twice a winner of the championship, who had cards of 75 for both rounds.

Ross Somerville of London, the defending champion and Frank Thompson of Mississauga, Toronto, tied for fourth place with scores of 153. Rounds of 78 and 75 made up Somerville's total. A score of 154 put W. K. Lanman, Columbus, Ohio, fifth place.

Nicol Thompson, Jr., Cedarbrook, Toronto, another of the famous golfing family, and Jack Cuthbert, former Western Canada champion, were tied for sixth place with 155.

WOMAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 19 (C.P.)—Mrs. Lesple Dunseith was probably fatally injured in a motor car accident here Saturday night in which her husband was also critically hurt, when their automobile collided with another driven by James Verner, Startford.

VETERAN BASEBALL PLAYER SUSPENDED FOR BREAKING CARD CLUB TRAINING RULES

President Sam Breadon Has Not Decided On Disposition of Cleveland's Case.

HAS WON 373 GAMES.

42 Year Old Pitcher Broke Record of "Big Six" Christy Mathewson.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 20 (Canadian Press).—Soon after setting a new National League record for games won at 373 victories, Grover Cleveland Alexander, hero of the 1926 world's series, is in the bad graces of the St. Louis Cardinal management, facing at the least suspension for breaking training rules.

The 42-year-old pitcher, who broke the record of "Big Six" Christy Mathewson, was sent home from New York yesterday by Bill McKechnie, Red Bird manager, after Alexander disregarded the manager's warning that his next escapade would be his last.

President Sam Breadon of the Cards, has not decided upon the final disposition of Alexander's case, but he pointed out Alexander was told two weeks ago when he rejoined the team, he would be given another chance, and if he broke training again he was through.

"I do not care to pass judgment on Alexander's case until I have talked with him," Breadon said. "I am very fond of Alexander, and do not wish to say at this time whether I will release him. Of course, I am giving my full support to Manager McKechnie, and if McKechnie says this is final, then it is."

UNDER SUSPENSION.

GREAT STRAWBERRIES.

Thomas Walling of North Monaghan, near Crawford's Grove, brought into The Examiner Office two boxes of excellent strawberries, just picked. They are a new variety in this district, and are called the Everbearing. Mr. Walling expects to get three crops from the plants this fall and next spring and fall. They were exceptionally fine looking berries.

The consumption of wheat flour per person decreased from 224 pounds in 1900 to 203 pounds in the pre-war period.

'SWEEP' WINNER BOUGHT A HOME

Won $84,000 in the Quebec Lottery on the Derby.

WHAT MONEY DOES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 20.—Thousands of persons have dreamed what they would do if they suddenly became rich, but it remained for Arthur Court to put his ideas into practice.

Until a few weeks ago, Court toiled before the open door of a furnace in an apartment house, wiped the sweat from an aching brow and longed for the time when he would have enough money to "go fishin'."

In a ramshackle house, Court's wife "skimped" and saved in an effort to make his meagre wages stretch into food and clothes for their eight children.

Then the Goddess of Chance smiled, and Arthur Court suddenly found himself a rich man. He won $84,000 on a $1 ticket in the Quebec Army and Navy Veterans sweepstake on the Derby. His $1 ticket happened to be on Trigo, the winning horse. His name was blazoned in newspaper headlines throughout the country.

Money meant new clothes, a home, an auto, an electric washer, a chance to "go fishin'," and, most of all, happiness. To-day, the Courts are carefree and contented on "Trigo Farm," 16 miles north of Indianapolis, which they bought for $20,000.

The house, an old-fashioned brick, of eight rooms, is only semi-modern, but the Courts point proudly to its great rock fireplace, its numerous windows and wide porches. "The minute we set eyes on this house, we said, 'this is where we want to live,' Mrs. Court told a reporter.

A particularly valued object among several thousand dollars' worth of new paneled and period furniture is a combination radio and phonograph.

"We had always wanted a phonograph, but if I tell the truth the thing I appreciate the most in the house is my electric washer," declared Mrs. Court.

Does Her Own Washington

"Sure I do my own laundry work. Why not? Money hasn't made me proud. Last week I had a laundress. She scorched about $20 worth of clothes. I'll be my own laundress after this."

Court manifests pride in the stock—cows and sheep—on the place.

"I've only one horse on this farm," he smiled. "That's painted on the barn—a picture of 'Trigo,' the horse that brought us luck. We've named the farm after him."

A big and expensive automobile, recently purchased, was referred to by Court as "something my wife thought we ought to have."

The couple are mildly ambitious for their children, and are happy to think they can have an education, but Mrs. Court says the greatest thrill was the realization that money gave her power to make a lot of other folks happy.

"Maybe I shouldn't tell it, as we are already getting a lot of requests," she said, "but we have entirely fitted six children and their mother with new clothes and had been happy doing other things like that. I always had wanted to help folks. So far, this has been the most joy of all."

Hundreds of Visitors

Hundreds of persons have visited the courts. Some want to ask questions and advice, some want to sell them things and others just want to stare.

One woman wanted to shake the Courts by the hand, "so some of the luck can rub off," she said.

"Well, I'm superstitious, too," laughed Court. "I bought a fine new dresser in there because it had a horseshoe-shaped mirror and I've bought another ticket—yes, just a $1 one—for the October Derby drawing."

This former furnace tender even has lived to see the day when he could tear $20,000 right in two and be happy about it.

"I paid $20,000 for this house and the 59 acres," he said. "We had hardly got in before I received an offer of $40,000 for it. The offer turned out to be bona-fide and, as much as we like the place, we were about to sell when—"

"Then I just broke down and cried," broke in Mrs. Court. "We had found our ideal home and were about to give it up. My husband saw how things hurt me, so he grabbed up the papers and tore them in two. We have understood that folks wanted this for a country club. Well, more money doesn't mean more happiness."

DANGEROUS DAILY DOZEN.

Ed. Vinnete, short stop for Harrison's softball aggregation, is noted around the north end for his strength, but recently his bulging biceps reacted to his own injury. It was to be noticed in last night's tussle at the Central School grounds that the burly Ed was wearing a big bandage over his right jaw. He wounded his face the other evening when the "strong man appliance," consisting of five leather straps on which he is wont to strain his muscles, broke in his hands as he was stretching it out while doing his daily dozen.

BANTAM GAME HERE ON THURSDAY.

The Grafton team, city bantam champs will be put through a sharp test on Thursday evening when they will be opposed by an all-star aggregation recruited from the other three teams in the league. Alex. Kay has watched most of the bantam games and, having selected the All Stars, he firmly believes that they will humble the champions. The game will be played on Thursday evening, at 6.15, at James Stevenson park.

Speaking of Grafton's, it must be said that they created a fine impression in Deloro last week, when they played the Smelter town's youngsters. "A team of sportsmen on and off the field," said Jules Ethier, the Deloro coach and manager. "In the game they never argued a word but just tended to their knitting. They're all smart ball players, too."

He also spoke highly of Clayton Frost and the manner in which he managed the team.

After the game the Peterborough kids were banquetted by the Deloro nine, and there were toasts and short speeches. Deloro will return the trip, coming here as soon as it can be arranged.

WILDCATS EARN VICTORY.

The biggest crowd of the season turned out last night to see the first game of the softball finals. Superlative fielding earned the 4 to 2 verdict of the Bridgenorth Cats, and it was only this major factor that counterbalanced the hefty clouting of the Harrison herd. Manager Percy will have to find some way to fill the gaps in his defence that lately seem to have sprung into being, or there may be a repetition of last night's result in Wednesday's game.

IS RUTH ON THE DOWN-GRADE.

According to the experts Babe Ruth is slipping and they point to his home run record to prove their claim. Just about this time last year the Babe had pounded out his 45th homer, and yesterday he went into action with 31 as his 1929 total, and something over 500 as his all-time record. He is just about 14 behind last year, and the so-called experts hang their opinion on this comparison.

Ruth never did have a girlish figure. Last week he ran out a two-bagger that clicked off the centre field bleachers, at Navin Field, a clout that was good for three sacks to any other player, indicated graphically that the Ruth of to-day is not the Ruth of yesteryear. His waistline always did tax the tape measure and his weight is surely telling on him as he heads towards the stretch turn of what he hoped would be another great season of clouting.

The Babe is making a supreme effort to prove to the Yankee owners that he is worth the $100,000 a year contract that he hopes to sign next year.

LOCAL DRIVERS BRAVE ROUGH SEA.

Wes Kelly and Don Wood both drove sea fleas in the Marathon race from Sunnyside to Oakwood, Saturday night, against waves piling 4 to 6 ft. high, which nearly swamped Toronto sea flea fleet of twenty-one boats. Only twelve boats crossed the finishing line—in some order or other—and life saving crews and motorboats searched until midnight before seven of the other boats and drivers were located.

The real race for first place against the buffeting of white water was between Kelly in Lou Marsh's boat, 'Canada Flyer," and Harold Ballard of Toronto, driving "Torcan's Pup." From Port Credit on, over the wastes of water, Kelly and Ballard battled it out for the wire. Both crossed the line between the wrong buoys, Kelly 15 seconds behind. Kelly's craft sank at the pier right after.

Don Wood's boat got into difficulties off Port Credit, when it zoomed up clear of the water, and the engine kicked the stern off her. He was rescued by a Port Credit patrol.

The N. Y. C. are still trying to figure out just who were the winners, and meanwhile there will have to be vast repairs done to the fleet in preparation for the sea flea race at the C. N. E.

OSHAWA O.L.A. TEAM AMONG THE MAJORS.

The Oshawa G.M.C. senior lacrosse team are batting 1.000. They have only been in the senior O.A.L.A. two years and they have won it twice. For the second time Oshawa has defeated Brampton Excelsiors for the Ontario championship, taking the second game of this year's finals in Brampton on Saturday, and winning the right to meet Montreal Columbus in a sudden-death game in Toronto, Saturday, for the Eastern Canada championship.

Africa Scores 492 Runs For 8 Wickets

LONDON, England, Aug. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—South Africa in their first innings of the fifth cricket Test match with England at the Kennington Oval put together the enormous total of 492 runs for eight wickets and then declared. England made 258 in their first trip to the wicket, so that they were faced with the task of making 234 to escape a single innings defeat. As the match ends to-day and South Africa's declaration was made at lunch time, a draw looked to be the likeliest upshot of the match.

while driving an automobile, and his son was fined $25 and costs, $11.50, for obstructing an officer.

"We are glad to have visitors from the other side," said Magistrate Woodrow, in addressing the defendant pair, "but there have been a great many complaints reported in papers of ill-treatment of tourists here by the police. Fortunately there has been no such harsh treatment in Lambton county. When you people are brought to court here you cannot plead ignorance of the laws, because you know what the laws are on the other side. I have given you the benefit of the lowest penalty I can. You must not argue with the traffic officers. They are out there with thousands of cars on the highways, and they must be protected rather than hindered."

Voice of the People

Sporting Editor.

Dear Sir.—I have just read your account of the ball game at Deloro between that team and the Petes. I had predicted earlier that if it lay within the power of a certain individual named Collings, Deloro would undoubtedly get the breaks.

How both players and fans have kept their hands off the face of this would-be umpire, is beyond me. His last appearance here was sufficient to convince all present that he should not be permitted to handle such games as Peterborough and other worth-while teams are in the habit of playing, and that his near sightedness, plus lack of experience and ridiculous rulings, should be rewarded by relegating him to some sand-lot league.

I would suggest, if we must be inflicted with this person's presence for the balance of the season, that some generous optician present him with glasses, some other person to smell his breath before he starts a game, and lastly, do not supply him with his chewing.

The more I see and hear of this individual, the more I love my dog.

Sportfully yours,
Grand Stand Critic.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Norma Shearer wins new screen laurels in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" which opened at the Capitol yesterday.

There may be finer speaking voices than those heard in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," Norma Shearer's all-talking starring vehicle now playing at the Capitol theater, but we haven't any idea where they may be found. Miss Shearer, who proved her supremacy as a star of the talking screen in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," repeats the splendid impression that she made at that time. Her supporting cast in this newer production is also of an equally splendid caliber, for this screen adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's famous stage play, seemingly was cast with great attention to the vocal qualities of all the players.

Certainly Norma Shearer was the most logical choice, in this reviewer's estimation, that Hollywood could offer for the role of the aristocratic, sophisticated and thoroughly charming lady crook, a role made famous on the New York stage by Ina Claire. Brilliant, beautiful and fascinating, Miss Shearer makes "Mrs. Cheyney" virtually a masterpiece in her category of superb interpretations, even excelling her splendid characterization of the murder defendant in the Bayard Veiller drama.

Basil Rathbone, beloved by sophisticated stage audiences, makes a happy debut on the talking screen as Lord Dilling, the handsome philanderer who exposes Mrs. Cheney, and later makes amends by losing his heart and marrying her.

George Barraud, already familiar of face and voice to screen fans, is seen—and heard—as Charles, the suave butler-burglar.

In fact, the entire cast may well be proud of their work in this difficult picture, for in no sense can it be termed merely a talking motion picture. It is a motion picture background for the cleverest dialogue penned in many seasons.

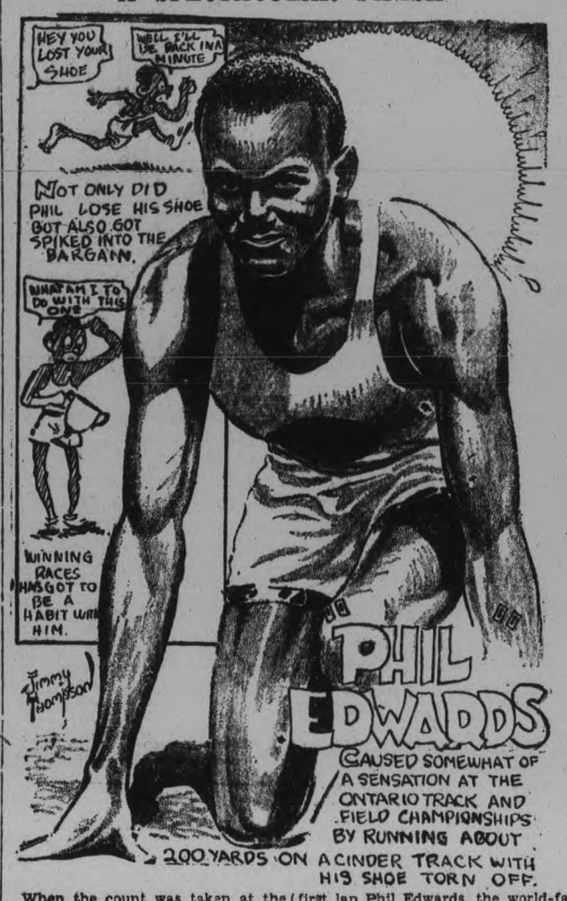
Herbert Bunston enacts the role of Lord Elton, the part he played in the original stage production, and the balance of the cast includes such sterling players as Hedda Hopper, George K. Arthur, Cyril Chadwick, Moon Carroll, Maude Turner, Madeline Seymour and Finch Smiles. All are deserving of special mention.

The plot is one of those amusing sidelights on smart society of the present day. It is packed with humor, of the more subtle kind, suspense, and a thoroughly surprising climax.

The production is modishly dressed both as to settings and wardrobes. Miss Shearer appears in some costumes that will doubtless hypnotize the masculine part of her audience and stir the feminine to imitation.

Sidney Franklin, the director, has done a capable job and provided out of the ordinary screen entertainment.

A SPECTACULAR FINISH



When the count was taken at the recent Ontario provincial championship track meet at Toronto the Hamilton Olympic club had taken 36 points as compared to 16 by the Toronto Central Y, their nearest rivals. The Hamilton club also won eight out of the 17 provincial titles and took all but three of the track events. A most unusual accident took place in the half mile event, when after the first lap Phil Edwards, the world-famous British Guiana flash, running under the Hamilton Olympic Club colours, attempted to change his position on the track and passing in front of Buster Johnston, was severely spiked and had his shoe torn off. Edwards finished the race in the lead but lacked his usual final punch, and it was not known until after the race that he had finished with one shoe off and a cut leg.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

A WASTE OF SKILL.

Prizefighters now find surgeons of great assistance in improving their punching ability.
I have growing respect for the surgical art:
I honor the deft fingered men
Who with saws and with scalpels can tak- folks apart
And put them together again.
No longer the cars that careen down my street
With terror I need apprehend
And dents I sustain, if we happen to meet
I know will be easy to mend.

If a man should be born with an ingrowing nose
A surgeon can straighten it out;
With his knife he can swiftly dispose of the throes
That come with the pip or the gout.
A slip on the ice or a tumble down-stairs
With never a qualm one may view
For after a few scientific repairs
He'll be quite a bit better than new.

But why should a man with such marvelous skill
A prizefighter's tissues replace,
And build up his powers of punching until
He can bash in another man's face?
Why round out the torso and arms of one pug
And thicken and roughen his neck
Until, with a swift irresistible slug,
He can render another a wreck?

A far nobler pathway should surgery seek;
I hold it is foolish and wrong
In those who can easily succor the weak
To squander their art on the strong.
Of far greater service I think it would be
And I'd like to observe it work out—
If they just could enable a slight man like me
To put a big prizefighter out.

SPEED CRAZE IS SPREADING TO PACIFIC

Giant Canadian Liner Expected To Establish New Record.

YOKAHAMA TO VICTORIA.

28 Knot Speed Predicted For "Empress of Japan" On 4,200 Mile Trip.

(By Archie Wills—Special to The Examiner).

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 20.—Speed craze which has affected Atlantic shipping since the advent of the German liner Bremen is spreading to the Pacific.

There is plenty of talk now as to what the new C.P.R. liner Empress of Japan will do to Yokohama-Victoria speed record when she enters service next year. But not waiting for the arrival of the Empress of Japan, the great red stacker, Aorangi, of the Canadian-Australian line(steamed into port this week with a new mark for the run from Honolulu to Victoria. She arrived at Quarantine five days and seventeen hours out from the Hawaiian Islands, which is three hours better than the previous record.

The Aorangi, fresh from overhaul at Sydney, N.S.W., clipped along all the way at a fast pace. She was in Honolulu from Sydney eighteen hours ahead of schedule, and then proceeded to carve out a new mark on the final leg to Victoria. She averaged better than eighteen knots and her daily runs were 418 miles. She is the biggest motorship on the Pacific.

There is prospect of the eight-day record held by the C.P.R. liner, Empress of Canada, from Yokohama to Victoria, being shattered this year. It will undoubtedly fall next summer when the Empress of Japan, now under construction in Scotland, enters service.

Competition for the silk trade on the Pacific is becoming increasingly keen and lines that make the best time get the biggest cargoes because of the value of silk and the high rate of insurance.

When the Admiral liners of the United States started in service they were almost as fast as the C.P.R. liners, Empresses of Asia and Russia, and this resulted in the Empress of Canada being built. She is the speed Queen of the Pacific now, but the C.P.R. found she needed another knot or two, and have sent her to Scotland to be re-engined, somewhat similar to the Empress of Japan. It is likely that both these ships will hit close to twenty-eight knots, with the Japan being the faster of the two, owing to her new lines.

Japanese ships which have been getting considerable of the silk business for patriotic reasons, have found it necessary to get faster ships. They were satisfied to get across in twelve days, but new ships of twenty knots are now being constructed.

The Empress of Canada will be here inside of three months, and will make her first big bid for a new record. It is expected that the new record from Yokohama to Victoria, a distance of 4,200 miles, will be pretty close to seven days.

"Never signal with an honor" like practically all of the so-called Bridge Maxims is but half-truth. Let us see to what extent this maxim is true and to what extent false. Assume for example a player to hold but two cards of the suit led by partner and such two cards to be, A-K or K-Q, or Q-J or J-10, or A-x, or K-x, or Q-x or J-x.(Note: "x" denotes any small card of suit.) With A-K only, the Ace is played followed by the King to signal two only; with K-Q only or Q-J only, the higher honor is played to signal either the next lower honor or that the higher honor so played is a singleton. It is also permissible to signal with the Jack or Ten to show J-x or 10-x but not permissible to signal with the King or Queen to show K-x or Q-x.

It is for the reasons given above that on this deal, South knew positively that North's Queen of Diamonds, played to his lead of the King, was a singleton and that North must be able to trump the second Diamond lead as South himself held the Jack of Diamonds.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South passing, West has an original one Heart bid, his lack of Quick Tricks in the Heart suit well compensated by the Ace of Spades and the King-Queen of Clubs. North overcalls with two Diamonds, following which East assists partner by bidding two Hearts.

South and West passing, North rebids his Diamonds as a defensive proposition. He can figure on six to seven tricks practically certain in own hand and therefore, despite the fact that partner has not assisted, he feels justified in bidding three Diamonds.

It is a close question whether East should now bid three Hearts. While he lacks the actual values for a second assist, he holds the Ace-King of Hearts and may soundly bid three on the assumption that partner must hold strong side compensation for his original Heart bid, lacking these two high honors. All pass thereafter and West plays the hand at three Hearts.

Contract: The first round of Contract bidding is the same as at Auction. On the second round, however, West carries the Heart bid to four. His original bid of one showed but four probable tricks and as his hand will almost surely produce six tricks (assured that partner holds three cards of the Heart suit) he can increase the contract by two tricks following East's assist. Four Hearts therefore becomes the final declaration.

The Play

North leads initially the Diamond King upon which South plays the Queen, a clear indication to North that the Queen is a singleton as North himself holds the Jack. Accordingly North lays down the Ace of Clubs and follows with a small Diamond forcing South to trump and return a small Club which in turn is trumped by North, thus stopping game at Hearts. Thereafter East and West have the balance of the tricks laid down.

It will be noted that against any defense other than the Club and Diamond cross ruff, Declarer can make four odd and that the reading of the Queen as a marked singleton gives the North player an obvious and practically sure defense.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

SHIP EXPLODES KILLING SAILOR

Rescue Tugs Have Difficulty in Saving Crew From Blazing Boat.

ELEVEN INJURED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 19 (Canadian Press).—One man was killed and eleven injured in an explosion this morning aboard the Standard oil tanker William Rockefeller, at anchor off Bayonne, N.J. The tanker, a flaming torch, was pushed by tugs away from the oil docks and toward the lower bay in New York Harbor.

The detonation could be felt in Staten Island, Lower Manhattan and all along the New Jersey waterfront.

Burning oil was spread over the water, through which tugs, attracted to the scene, had difficulty in finding a clear passage to rescue the eleven injured members of the crew.

REGISTER Of Social and Business Meetings

The Register is published to enable organizations planning major meetings to know in advance, and reserve, evenings on which there are no rival attractions. It will pay Peterborough organizations to consult the Register prior to settling dates. Responsible officers should mail notices well in advance.

Before deciding a date for any event, consult the Register to ascertain that there is no conflict with other events—and then send in YOUR date quickly so that other organizations will not use it.

A.O.F. WELCOMED BY MAYOR DENNE

High Circle Companions in 22nd Biennial Meeting.

IN SESSION TO-DAY.

The 22nd biennial meeting of the High Circle Companions of the Ancient Order of Foresters was opened in the parish of St. John's church last night when more than fifty delegates present were extended an official welcome to th city by Mayor Denne. In a few words His Worship expressed the pleasure of the citizens on the choice of their city for this year's convention and gave a warm welcome to all. He spoke of the parks in the city, the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, the War Memorial and school system and other topics of interest to visitors and urged them to make an inspection of the many objects in the city.

Among the officials of the order present at the convention are High Chief Companion Miss E Ashby Hamilton; High Sub-chief Companion Mrs. Bateman, Toronto; High Marshall Mrs. A. Geddes, Toronto; High Inner Guard Mrs. H. Howell, Toronto; High Sentry Miss E. Veary, Toronto; Past Chief Companion, Mrs. Rockwood, Toronto; Past Chief Companion, Mrs. Stoneman, Toronto; High Court Secretary A. Martin, Toronto.

Greeting From Lodge

Following the Mayor's address an address of welcome was read on behalf of the Peterborough members of the Order by Chief Companion Mrs. W. Terrace of this city High Chief Companion Ashby replied to the welcome thanking the Mayor. The Mayor was presented with a delegate's badge.

The purposes of the convention were outlined by High Court Secretary Archie Martin. A number of the officials of the order spoke words of greetings and welcome following companion Martin's address.

The meeting was for social purposes and the business of the convention did not start until ten o'clock this morning. Vocal solos were rendered by companions J. Pattison and L. Simmons.

Refreshments were supplied by the Queen Alexandra Circle of Peterborough in the parish hall which was beautifully decorated in the forestry colors of green and red.

APSLEY.

Mr. J. J. Turner, of Peterborough, conducted services at St. George's church, Apsley, St. Stephen's church, Chandos, and St. Paul's church, Lasswade ,on Sunday, August 11, taking the place of Rev. C. A. G. Spence, who was taking the services at All Saints' church, Peterborough. Mr. Turner motored from Peterborough after evening service, making the day a very strenuous one.

The True Blues had delightful weather for their picnic on Monday, which was held on the United church parsonage grounds. A great many visitors from outside points were present and the function was a huge success. During the afternoon addresses were given by the Revs. C. A. G. Spence, W. H. Taylor and Mr. Samuel Carr. Sport were held and a baby how created much interest, Mrs. Fred Whitmore's baby winning first prize and Mrs. Gordon Lean's second. The judges being Mr. Arnott, of Peterborough, and Mr. Anderson, Havelock. A platform for dancing had been erected and that pastime was indulged in during the evening.

On Wednesday evening St. Stephen's A.Y.P.A. held a social at Mr. Phil Tanner's cottage on Loon Lake, which was patronized by most of the tourists who are at the lake. The sum of $21 was realized from the sale of lunches and candy. The object of the social was to raise funds to purchase an organ for the use of the school and the A.Y.P.A.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C .Wallwork and family, Peterborough, returned home on Saturday after spending a week at Fairy Glen Falls, Loon Lake, the guests of Rev. and Mrs. C. A. G. Spence.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston ,Rochester, are at their summer home, Birch Lodge, on Loon Lake.

MONEY STOLEN

When Mrs. George Jenkinson of 709 Bethune street had the kindness to allow a stranger to use her telephone Saturday afternoon, she was treated with great ingratitude as a result. Mrs. Jenkinson allowed the gentleman to enter on his request and showed him where the telephone was to be found. She then left the house. When she returned she found that her purse had been rifled and that the small amount of money that it had contained had been removed. The gentleman visitor was gone also.

PLANE AT STONEY LAKE

The envy of many persons on Stoney Lake and the vicinity was aroused by the sight of a Gypsy Moth owned by Messrs. Ackerman and Wood sailing serenely over the waters at a high altitude Sunday afternoon. The day was an excellent one for joy-riding in the air and many a person on the lake would have been glad to have had the opportunity of seeing the surrounding district from the clouds.

ENTRANCE RE-DECORATED

The entrance to the Collegiate facing George street is being refinished. The old finish has been removed and the ground color for new graining has been applied.

MEETING AT THE OASIS

The world is not so large after all. Two tourist cars bearing Ohio licenses drew up to the curb outside of Sir Henry Drayton's refreshment booth on George street and the drivers with a friendliness inspired by the similarity of the license plates got into conversation. It did not take them long to find out not only that each was from the same city, Cleveland, but that they both lived on the same street in that city, not more than four blocks separated from each other.

MODERN METHODS

It is of interest to note in the report of the International Kiwanis convention held recently in Milwaukee that appears in this month's Kiwanis Magazine that the methods of registering the thousands of delegates that attended were the same as those used in this work by the authorities during Old Home Week here in the registration department at the Duffus Building. The task of recording was done on typewriters of which about twenty were used. The use of machines in this type of work has been proven most satisfactory on account of the legibility and speed afforded.

At the convention, the local Kiwanis Club was represented by Isaac P. McNabb and A. J. Reynolds.

GYPED!

The small edition of the Canadian five-cent piece that has fallen into disuse still bobs up frequenty to perplex our American visitors. One such lady was seen standing on the street yesterday staring at her hand in great distress as though she had just had one of her digits accidently removed. The object of her intense scrutiny was one of the small coins amongst a number of more substantial representatives of the coin family. For some time she stared in agony, thinking that she had been gyped into taking some kind of counterfeit piece, but was greatly relieved when the matter was explained by a kindly Canadian nearby.

NEW ROAD.

The Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham are taking definite steps to build a roadway on Armour's Hill. The Warren Paving Company have very kindly loaned them a large steam shovel to cut out this driveway, and they will soon have finished their work there. The road this year will be finished in a rough fashion by the end of September when a driveway will form a loop around the crest of hill, and will join the entering road about 200 feet from Hunter street. This will ensure a safe drive with no dangerous grades or curves, so people will be able to enjoy the view afforded by this hill, and appreciate the great undertaking that the Ladies of Ashburnham have volunteered to do.

DONATIONS GIVEN.

The Ladies' Committee of the Peterborough Health Association wishes to acknowledge and thank the following people for their kind donations to the kiddies at the Jackson Park Camp: Mrs. W. H. Hill, who donated $10.00; W. G. Morrow, who donated $10.00; G. A. Gillespie, who gave ice-cream; and W. J. Oke, who gave watermelons and bananas. The camp is in charge of Mrs. W. E. Taylor this week, and everything is reported to be in good order. A large number of children continue to take advantage of the camp daily.

WHAT NEXT?

Spectators on the wharf at Chemong Park yesterday afternoon were provided with an item of sport when two boats, the Eva Sayne and the Parkdalian, manned by husky crews, engaged in a pitched battle. The battle was operated on a basis of two out of three wins. The first fierce skirmish came to an end when the crew of the Parkdalian swamped the Eva Sayne, only to be precipitated into the water themselves a moment later by the vanquished. The second was won by the Eva Sayne, and the third struggle was a draw when both boats disappeared below the surface.

GRAHAM-PAIGE HAS COMPLETE NEW MODEL

GRAHAM-PAIGE

The outstanding features of the Graham-Paige line for 1930 are as follows:

A completely new model 612 chassis of 115-inch wheel-base and larger engine ,giving increased power at lower engine speed (66 h.p. at 3,000 r.p.m.)

Bodies of advanced structural design.

Superior riding comfort ,attained not only through the adjustability of both front and rear seats, but through the use of over-padded pat cushions, form-fitting seat and back contours, and extra seat and back springing.

Clear-vision instrument panels, without ornamentation but strikingly handsome in appearance.

Three-spoke steering wheels (safety-type), models 612 and 615.

Inspection of the new 612 chassis, and of the other two sixes and the two eights ,shows the consistent use throughout the line of the latest refinements and improvements in design and equipment. For once, however, a new line of cars is presented in which the achivements of the body engineers are likely to arouse more interest among motorists in general than are the mechanical details, even with one new chassis model in the line-up.

SOCIETY MEETS AT LAKEFIELD

Wet Weather Forces Girls of Junior Institute To Hold Gathering Indoors.

BAND CONCERT.

LAKEFIELD, August 20. — The regular meeting of the Junior Institute was held on Wednesday, August 14, at the home of Miss Ora Dunford on Chippewa Street. The schedule called for a picnic at the Park, but unfortunately the rain made it impossible to follow this plan, so Miss Dunford opened her home, and the girls held their picnic on the spacious verandah. There were eight members and six visitors present. An invitation was received from the Norwood branch inviting the girls to a picnic to be held on Thursday, Aug. 22. The invitation was accepted, and as many as can do so will attend.

Band Concert.

The Citizens' Band will visit the House of Refuge on Sunday afternoon and give the old people a sacred concert, and in the evening, after the evening services, they will (weather permitting), give a sacred concert in the Memorial Square. This will be the second of these concerts, which are very much enjoyed by a great many citizens.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Agricultural Society, held on Wednesday night, it was decided to hold an old time dance on the second night of the Fair, instead of having a concert as in the past.

Presentation Made.

On Monday evening last, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamblin received a surprise visit from a number of members of the Lakefield Volunteer Fire Brigade, of which Mr. Hamblin is a prominent members. The boys came in style, with the two fire trucks and the assistant's car, creating a sensation in the neighborhood, but they were on pleasure bent, as the Fire Chief, A. H. Clark, in a neat speech, soon made plain as he gracefully expressed the good wishes of the brigade to the young couple, wishing them many years of happiness, and presenting a rocking chair and a handsome mirror for the new home, from the boys of the Lakefield Fire Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamblin expressed their thanks to their friends who had so generously remembered them.

Among those present were: A. H. Clark (Chief), H. Hamblin, E. Robertshaw, M. Hampton, W. Robinson, F. Darling, G. Scriver, C. Hunter.

The Lakefield Tourist Camp at the Park has had a busy season, the busiest of its history, as there have been a very large number of motor campers who find it an ideal holiday resort, near to the village, but not too near, and with boating, bathing and fishing all within reach.

FORESTERS STAGE FORTIETH SESSION

High Chief Ranger Hogarth Preides As High Court Degrees Are Given.

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 20.— (C.P.)—The fortieth session of the High Court of Ontario West of the Independent Order of Foresters was opened in the city hall auditorium at 10 a.m. to-day by Brother E. S. Hogarth ,High Chief Ranger, who will preside at the sessions of which three will be held each day until the final adjournment.

High Court degrees were given to new delegates and committees were submitted. One of the most important discussions of the conference is expected to centre around recommendation to be made by the surgical benefits committee. Mayor Clement extended the welcome of Kitchener to the delegates. Brother Laughton of London, replied briefly.

Editor Draws $250 Tax Also For Objectionable Articles Published.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 20 (C.P. Cable, via Reuter's).—A fine of $1,250 was imposed on the newspapers Labor Daily and a fine of $250 upon its editor to-day on the ground there had been real and substantial interference in the course of justice by the newspaper, in publishing articles headed such as "I.W.W. Frame-up"; "The Great Conspiracy Against Labor."

The Labor Daily was cited, along with The Sydney Morning Herald, for alleged contempt of court arising from activities published on the arrest of Joe Garden, alleged Communist, and six others in connection with the dispute in the timber mills.

In the case of The Herald, decision will be made later.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEAGUE IS FORMED

Object Is Abolition if Bilingualism From Public and Separate Schools of Province.

TORONTO, August 20. (C.P.) — A new association to be known as the English Language School League of Ontario was organized here last night, according to an announcement made to-day, its chief object being to bring about the abolition of bilingualism from the Public and Separate schools of the province by direct or indirect political means.

Cecil W. Armstrong, Toronto, a Past Provincial Grand Secretary of the Orange Order, was elected president of the league, and George McCombe, Past County Master of Toronto, First Vice-President.

SPENCLEY HAS RECORD DISPLAY

Local Horticulturist Exhibiting Three Hundred Spikes of Gladioli.

AT BARRIE SHOW.

A. Spencley, well known horticulturist in Peterborough is at present exhibiting three hundred spikes of gladioli at the Barrie Floral show. These represent some sixty-five different varieties and ten seedling entries. Last year Mr. Spencley captured twenty-nine prizes at this same show and this year with the better plants he expects to take honors in more than that number.

The seedlings that he is showing at Barrie are perhaps some of the most successful that he has experimented with, he told The Examiner. In the Peterborough Horticultural Gladioli show for this class he captured a number of prizes. Some of those that he is showing at Barrie are very beautiful and demonstrate a great deal of careful work. There is one shaped almost like a butterfly with a bloom about three inches across. They are of a smoke color with silver markings, with four blooms open at a time and in good placement.

Another specimen is white with a yellow throat and the outer petals are touched with pink. These have sefen flowers open at one time and which are also very well placed on their individual spikes.

One of the most attractive is of a light salmon coloring with a big maroon blotch on the petals which shades off into the more delicate tones of the same coloring. On this spike there are five blooms, well placed and opened at once.

In his garlens Mr. Spencley has had very good luck with the blubs that he planted this year. In all he states that there are about 185,000 plants that he has placed in the ground.

Beside the gladioli he grows many other kinds of flowers and receives numerous calls daily from the local florists and residents of Peterborough for his splendid flowers.

ZEPPELIN RESUMES FLIGHT ACROSS PACIFIC WEDNESDAY

Hop of 5,470 Miles to the American Coast.

MAIL SERVICE PROJECT.

TOKYO, Aug. 20. (Canadian Press) The Graf Zeppelin, conqueror of one ocean and two continents, was preened today for the conquest of another sea and another continent, and completion of its round-the-world trip.

Lodged safely within the hangar at Kasimagauga, the giant dirigible was gone over carefully by workmen, who again tested every inch of its fabric and motors and listened to their hum, and sought possible weakness which may have developed on its flight across Eurasia.

Thursday at dawn, Wednesday mid afternoon, E.S.T.) barring adverse weather or other contingencies the Zeppelin will be taken from the hangar and started on the third lap of its globe encircling cruise, from Tokyo to Los Angeles, across the Pacific, north of the Hawaiian group, down the American coast from Seattle, a distance of about 5,470 miles.

From Los Angeles after a brief stop it will fly the 2,500 miles across the continent to Lakehust N.J., completing the trip begun Wednesday, night, Aug. 7, with the start from Lakehurst, N.J., for Friedrichschafen Germany.

Passengers and crew, freshened by a long sleep last night at Tokyo hotels, spent to-day sight-seeing and accepting the entertainment of Japanese hosts.

Propose Mail Service

BERLIN, Aug. 20. — (Canadian Press).—The Graf Zeppelin's flight from Friedrichschafen to Tokyo today brought forth a $20,000,000 project for regular German-Russian-Japanese air service with terminals in each of the three countries. It was announced that plans for the scheme are completed.

The only regular stations on the route are Leningrad, Krasnoyarsk, Harbin and probably Osaka. Mooring masts would be used at the intermediate points. At Krasnoyarsk the idea is to construct a hangar as a permanent base for a reserve airship to be ready in emergencies.

If all European mail for the far east could be obtained for the airships, returns would be paid on the estimated investment of $20,000,000.

The ambitious adventure calls for a possible extension of the service over the Aleutian Islands to Vancouver, B.C., and San Francisco, Calif.

It is estimated that if all the first class roads in Great Britain were placed end to end they would encircle the earth.

TWO BROTHERS DEAD IN MARMORA CRASH

Death of Lindsay Girl Attributed To Neglect Of Peterborough Driver

Fatal Ending of Grace Scott's Ride With Vernon Beavis.

INQUEST AT LINDSAY.

Car Skidded At Corner and Toppled Over In Ditch.

"That on the night of Friday, Aug. 16, in the Township of Ops, at the stonehouse on the corner of the Oakwood road, Grace Scott came to her death in a motor accident which was caused by the negligence of the driver in approaching the curve," was the verdict returned by the jury at the inquest held in the Lindsay Town Hall last night to ascertain the cause of death and who to hold responsible for the fatal automobile ride when Miss Scott of Lindsay was killed as the result of a motor car missing the curve, and driven by Vernon Beavis of Peterborough on the night he went to Lindsay to attend the street carnival there, accompanied by Harold Hollingsworth, also of this city, who took the Lindsay girls for a ride.

A great deal of interest was taken in the case, as the Council chambers were filled to overflowing, and many people from Peterborough were noticed in the audience, especially younger men, indicating the many friends of the unfortunate Peterborough boys were anxious over the sad affair.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner Dr. F. A. Logan, J. E. Anderson, Crown Attorney, and Chief of Police R. H. Lawler, all of Lindsay, while the jury were all prominent members of that town. James B. Begg was foreman, and the others were: Newton Smale, Harry Reid, Harry Brimmel, Harold Humphries, C. Perkins, George Mathie, and A. J. McBride.

Eight witnesses were called, and the probe continued for over two hours, after which the gentlemen of the jury retired for over sixty minutes before they could reach a unanimous verdict.

Dr. F. Blanchard, Lindsay, was the first witness called. He arrived at the scene of the accident about 11.30. He found Grace Scott lying on a cushion from one of the cars. "She had very few marks on her body," he stated. "One on the left side of her forehead; her legs were also marked. I understand the car toppled over on her," he continued, "and I believe she died from suffocation. There were no signs of a fracture, but life was quite extinct when I arrived."

"Picked Up" the Girls

Vernon Beavis, of Peterborough, who was in Lindsay, Friday night, stated that he possessed a driver's license. In Lindsay he saw Grace Scott on the street with Miss Ashmore and Miss Gassien. "As we were driving along the main street we noticed them smiling at us," he said. "They went on, and we drove along turning around, and came back, when Miss Scott spoke and came to the car. We asked her where the carnival was and then asked her to show us the way, to which she consented. Hollingsworth got into the back seat with the other girls, while Miss Scott got in with me. We then drove out past Oakwood, as we had seen the carnival. On the way out we passed the scene of the accident and had no trouble with the turns. I did not remember going around two curves on the way out, as it was my first time over the road.

On a Side Road

About two miles past Oakwood we turned on a side road and stayed there about 10 or 15 minutes. Then we started back. The steering gear and brakes were working all right that night. Approaching the curve I saw the sign and slowed up. The side road leading off the main one made me believe that it was the highway and then I saw the curve and applied the brakes and tried to swing around the turn. After that I do not know

Bear Is Found In Lake Five Miles From Shore

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—The tug Reliance bound for the Sault from Michipicoten, Monday afternoon picked up a bear some five miles from shore in Lake Superior. The bear was released this morning by Game Warden W. Lyness. It was a fine specimen and would undoubtedly have met a tragic fate had it not been for the crew of the tug.

NEW GUARANTEE GIVEN BRITAIN TO SAVE BREAK

Four Powers Would Pledge 50 Per Cent England's Claims Satisfied.

SNOWDEN SEES PIRELLI.

Though France Attempting To Get Further Concessions From Italy.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 21 (C.P.) — France, Italy, Belgium and Japan made Great Britain a new offer today in the hope of saving the conference of the governments on reparations from complete breakdown.

The offer was, since there was disagreement as to the value of a former offer, to guarantee that 50 per cent. of Britain's claims for an increased share of the German payments would be satisfied.

Previously the committee of experts appointed to determine the worth of the former offer to Great Britain had reached a disagreement, some holding to the British Chancellor's contention it was between 20 and 30 per cent. and others maintaining it was between 50 and 60 per cent.

Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, had an interview to-day with Alberto Pirelli, of Italy, at Schevenginen, while the French, Belgian, Italian and Japanese delegates met at The Hague. It was assumed in British circles the French were trying to use their influence to obtain further concessions from the Italians, while those nationals declare they already haev made comparatively as much sacrifice as anybody.

Belgians to Move Out

BRUSSELS, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Belgian troops are preparing for evacuation of the second Rhineland zone on Sept. 15, as an outgrowth of the Hague conference and as a token of the conciliatory spirit of Belgium toward Germany.

France's desire for Belgium to participate in occupation of the third zone has not yet been presented to Belgian officials. It is stated in political circles that this idea has encountered serious objections in all quarters but Nationalist.

Germany Won't Pay for Failure

THE HAGUE, Aug. 21 (C.P.).—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, to-day made an eleventh-hour effort to save the reparations conference by warning the creditor powers that Germany could not pay the cost of their failure to agree on the Young plan.

The German Foreign Minister, at a meeting of the six powers who had called the conference, left no doubt in the minds of those who heard him that the German Government was determined not to suffer from their disagreements over the distribution of the reparations payments by Germany.

Small Boy Strays From Chemong Park Seeking Father In Nicholls Hospital

Chemong Park was a scene of great excitement last night as hundreds of residents and visitors joined in a search for Andrew Scott, 7-year-old son of Dr. Raymore Scott of Peterborough, when he was reported missing about 9 o'clock. The park and surrounding district had been scoured thoroughly before word was received about 11 o'clock from Peterborough that the child had been found by the police and was safely at the police station.

The lad's father, Dr. Raymore Scott underwent an operation yesterday in Nicholls Hospital and his little son decided last night to follow him on foot. With this idea in mind, little Andrew Scott commenced to walk down the Chemong road to the city about 6 o'clock and was given a lift in by a passing motorist. He was picked up some time later, wandering down Stewart street and taken to the police station.

Immediately when it was announced at Chemong Park that the child was missing hundreds of people volunteered their services. Harry Forler, the proprietor of the dance pavilion enlisted the aid of the dancers and closed the pavilion during the time of the search. The host of searchers were organized into parties and under the direction of the Provincial police methodically combed the district. The park was a maze of moving lights as most of those in the search had procured a lamp or flash light of some kind to aid in the work.

Swiss Aviators Have Disappeared

RUSS ALLIANCE WITH JAPANESE MUKDEN REPORT

Japanese Army Officers Said To Be Assisting Russians.

WAR PREPARATIONS.

Martial Law Declared By Chinese Along Eastern Railway.

SHANGHAI, August 21 (Canadian Press).—The Nationalist Government semi-official Tachung News Agency to-day issued a despatch under a Harbin date line saying:

'Although no major developments have taken piace on the Manchurian frontier during the past two days, both China and Russia are quietly preparing for war."

The Chinese authorities declared martial law throughout the entire length of the Chinese Eastern Railway as a result of "the increasing gravity of the situation as well as because of a number of incidents along the railway such as the derailing of trains and the recurrence of sabotage by both Russians and the Chinese Communists."

Artillery Brigades Sent Out.

The despatch added that the Kirin Provincial Government had ordered two artillery brigades to proceed to the eastern border of Kirin province to oppose alleged raids by Russian troops. Telephone communications from Harbin to the East have been interrupted, and Communist agitators are believed guilty.

A military communique, considered to have an ominous aspect, was issued by the semi-official news agency, Tachung, to-day, stating:

"Reliable circles indicate that the Manchurian situation may be expected soon to assume a different aspect inasmuch as the Soviet military demonstrations have failed to produce the desired effect."

Chinese Prepare To Resist Attacks.

The despatch did not explain this reference explicitly, but continued: "On the contrary, the National Government seems preparing to meet any Soviet military measure with strong resistance as is evidenced by official reports of troop movements northwards reinforcing the frontier forces."

This contention of the Chinese that the Russians are seeking to test out public re-action to active measures along the Manchurian border is further made in a Mukden despatch of the official Nationalist news agency, Kuomin, which says:

Action Is Public Feeling Test.

"Foreign observers returning from Manchuli stated that Soviet troops along the frontier were adopting a provocative attitude, apparently seeking to test public opinion regarding Russian military action. In the event of the absence of a hostile public opinion, Soviet Russia is expected soon to launch a formal offensive against China."

This same agency issued another bulletin under a Mukden date, saying:

Rumors of Soviet-Jap Alliance.

"It is learned that some Japanese military officers were found within the Soviet army. It is reported that the Soviet and Japan have entered an agreement whereby Japan promised to assist Russia, the latter promising to give up fishing right in North Saghalien in favor of Japan. In addition it is believed that Japan is strongly opposed to the Powers' intervention in the Sino-Russian crisis, which move the United States is believed to have attempted."

(Presumably this latter reference is to aide memoire which Secretary of State Stimson sent to the Powers interested some weeks ago. The exact terms of this aide memoire were not made public, but Russian despatches have stated that it suggested an international commission to operate the Chinese Eastern Railway pending a settlement of the dispute).

FARMER KILLED BY C.N.R. TRAIN

Was Slightly Deaf and Walked Down Track Into Approaching Freight.

INQUEST TO BE HELD.

LINDSAY, Ont., Aug. 21.4—(Canadian Press).—Dennis McCarthy, farmer residing near Sunderland was killed yesterday when struck by a Canadian National Railway freight train. McCarthy, who was slightly deaf, was walking to work at the time and apparently did not hear the train approaching. An inquest will be held.

Sea Silent Of Their Fate

Two Young Airmen Are Believed To Have Fallen.

ARE LONG OVERDUE.

Eight Others Have Disappeared in East-West Flight.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—The disappearance of the two Swiss fliers, Ascar Kaesar and Curt Luescher, somewhere on their trans-Atlantic course between the Azores and the American coast recalled to-day the tragic fate that presumably overtook eight others who sought to span the Atlantic from East to West.

Since Captain Charles Nungesser and Captain Francois Coli took off for New York from Le Bourget field on May 8, 1927, never to be seen again, three other attempted westward flights ended in the mysterious wastes of the Atlantic. Only the Bremen, manned by the late Baron von Huenefeld, Captain James Fitzmaurice and Captain Herman Koehl, ever successfully negotiated the treacherous westward crossing.

Princess Lost in Void

Two months after Nungesser and Coli started on their last flight, Princess Lowestein-Wertheim, Captain Leslie Hamilton and Frederick F. Minchin left Upavon, England, on an attempted non-stop flight to Ottawa, Ont. It is believed their plane went down in mid-ocean.

On March 13, 1928, Captain Walter Hinchliffe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay left England for the United States. Nothing was ever heard from them after they passed the Irish Coast.

The most recent fatality was that of the Polish flier, Louis Idzikowski, who died off the Azores in the wreck of his plane on July 13. His companion, Casimir Kubala, survived.

Atlantic is Silent

The same silence which has shrouded outcomes of other westward trans-Atlantic flight ventures to-day cloaked the end of the attempt to two Swiss boy aviators, Oscar Kaesar and Kurt Luescher, to reach New York from Lisbon.

Nothing has been heard or seen of the two airmen and their snow-white plane, the "Jungschweitzerland" or "Young Switzerland," since it circled a village on Terceira Island, Azores, at 1 p.m., E.S.T., Monday and continued north and west toward Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, and New York.

Silent Disaster

There was scant hope that either the plane or its crew of two had survived the great adventure, and had not gone the way of other trans-Atlantic failures, to a silent, mysterious disaster, "somewhere out at sea."

Leaving Juncal, a village near Lisbon, Portugal, at 7.30 a.m. (1.30 a.m., E.S.T.), Monday, the Young Switzerland was sighted but once, by the German steamship Werra, 175 miles west of Lisbon, before it reached the Azores, circling Praia Victoria, Terceira Island, 11½ hours after its start.

Riley and Hickey Limited are leaving their old place of business and will move into new and modern quarters in the Kresge Building on George street on or about September 14.

Ed. Riley and Butler Hickey told The Examiner in an interview this morning that their business was expanding at such a rate that larger quarters were necessary and also this firm is adding a boys' department to their already complete line of men's wear as well as the enlargement of their men's department. Mr. Riley stated that business was so prosperous that they needed a larger store.

One great advantage of the new store is that it will all be on one floor which is of a greater convenience to the customer. Other improvements are a more attractive window space and a daylight store made possible by the use of modern skylights and at night by the newest lighting arrangements.

KILLED BY TRAIN

SARNIA, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Robert John Kempston, son of William Kempston of this city, was killed yesterday when struck by a coal car being shunted near the Canadian National round-house. He came to Canada with his parents from Ireland three months ago. An inquest has been ordered.

Infantile Paralysis Signs

On being questioned regarding the symptoms of infantile paralysis in its incipient form, Dr. C. B. Waite, of the Provincial Health Laboratory in Peterborough, stated to-day that the first sign of the disease often takes the form of a cold in the head with a sore throat, and a headache. Among small children convulsions sometimes occur. The state of paralysis does not generally occur until four days after the first symptoms, and in some cases it comes on without symptoms of any nature.

"Infantile paralysis is not a very contagious disease," Dr. Waite claimed. "It is not as contagious as scarlet fever or diphtheria. The germs may be spread in the same manner as those of others of the contagious diseases, however."

Four Cases of Incipient Infantile Paralysis Here Two Definitely Diagnosed

Two Boys From Niagara Falls Removed To Isolation Hospital.

CAME HERE SUNDAY.

Two Others Under Observation—May Also Be Quarantined.

Two cases of incipient infantile paralysis were definitely diagnosed here to-day. The outbreak of the disease was recognized by Dr. E. H. Wood, who has under observation four children, two of them visitors, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Armstrong, 218 King street, at the corner of Louis and King streets.

Symptoms of the disease were diagnosed in two children of Mrs. W. J. Armstrong of Niagara Falls, who arrived here by automobile Sunday for a visit. They were removed to the isolation hospital this morning. At the same time two children of Mrs. P. Armstrong are receiving Dr. Wood's attention. One of them is believed to have been infected by the disease, and it was expected this afternoon that both would also be sent to the isolation hospital.

Serum From Toronto

Serum for the checking of this disease was received at noon to-day by Dr. Wood on an exceptionally fast delivery from Toronto. He informed The Examiner that he honed to prevent the consequent paralysis which makes this disease so dreaded.

Mrs. W. J. Armstrong said that while driving from Niagara Falls her son "Jackie," aged seven, complained of not feeling well, and Monday noon the other boy, Max, nine years old, also became ill. They had headaches and high temperatures, indicating fever, and their throats were sore.

Others Become Ill

The same symptoms appeared on Tuesday in Stanley and Pearl Armstrong, children of Mrs. P. Armstrong, who have come in contact with the two sick children since their arrival on Sunday. Dr. Wood was called in last night. As a result of Dr. Wood's conclusions he took specimens of the spinal fluid of the two visiting children, and examination of the two specimens last night confirmed his first opinions, he stated this afternoon in response to The Examiner's queries.

Dr. C. B. Waite of the Provincial Laboratory here, and H. Kelsey, technician of the same office, were appealed to by Dr. Wood for assistance, and they immediately called Dr. A. L. McNabb of the Provincial Board of Health last night. Dr. McNabb promised to send the serum by the first train out of Toronto this morning, and as a precaution Dr. Wood called Col. C. H. Ackerman for his help. Col. Ackerman was ready at Picton this morning to fly to Toronto if the important package missed the train. The scarcity of this serum is due to the fact that it has to be obtained from the blood of persons convalescing from infantile paralysis.

Ample Supply in Toronto

Hon. Dr. Godfrey, Minister of Health in the Ontario Government, announced last night that there was a supply of the serum available for any possible spread of the disease in this province.

Mayor Denne and John J. Turner, chairman of the local Board of Health, this afternoon were considering the advisability of removing all four of the Armstrong children to the Isolation Hospital as a thorough precaution in the interest of the community and the children themselves. The two little visitors were received at the hospital, and the others will likely join them.

Dr. Wood, in an interview with The Examiner to-day, said that it was extremely important that this disease be recognized on the very first evidences of it, before paralysis developed. After that stage serum is too late.

There were no evidences of quarantine restrictions at the Armstrong house this morning.

PARALYSIS CASES REACH 19.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—The number of cases of infantile paralysis in the city which have been reported to the civic health authorities is now 19. Of these, five have been reported since Sunday. It was stated some time ago by the health authorities that the peak of this epidemic might be expected about September.

Mayor Issues Warning To Avoid Queen's Park

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—A warning to the general public of Toronto to keep clear of Queen's Park on the night of August 23 to avoid contact with city police in their efforts to disperse Communists who have planned a public meeting there, was issued last night by Mayor Samuel McBride.

Official notice of intention to hold the gathering was served on the Mayor and Chief Constable D. C. Draper yesterday by Charles Sims, Communist official. Eight o'clock is the hour set for the meeting.

Mayor McBride reiterated previous statements that the meeting would not be allowed and that orders of the Police Commission prohibiting Communist meetings in public streets, parks or halls, still stand, and that Chief Draper is bound to obey them. He added that the methods to be used in preventing such a meeting were entirely a question for the Chief of Police.

THINGS QUIET AT SANDRINGHAM AWAITING KING

Norfolk's Flowers Will Add Pleasure To His Stay.

SHELTER FROM WIND.

Preparations Complete in Hope of Assisting His Majesty To Health.

LONDON, August 21. (C.P.) — In connection with the prospect of the King's speedy departure for Sandringham in Norfolk, it is learned that for several weeks everything has been in readiness to receive His Majesty at Sandringham House. A large marque has been erected in the beautiful grounds, in front of the house, to shelter His Majesty from the breezes which sometimes come with stinging force.

It is expected that the King will spend many recuperative hours there among the flowers and the birds he likes so well.

Interested in Poultry.

It is anticipated His Majesty will take considerable interest in the arrangement carried out in his absence for the improved comfort and convenience of the tenants and workpeople on the estate. Another of his probable preoccupations will be the poultry, in which he is greatly interested.

Radio Installed

A remarkably fine electric gramaphone and a radio receiving set, have been placed in the King's apartments there and electrical apparatus to enable him to continue the therapeutic treatments, if necessary, has been installed.

Deserted Steamer On Fire Is Navigation Menace

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 21. — (Canadian Press).—The Radio Marine Corporation to-day received a wireless message from the freighter Yalza, stating she had seen the steamer Quimistan on fire and deserted about 1,100 miles east of Norfolk, Va

There was no sign of the crew.

The Quimistan was well down in the water, the message said, and was a menace to navigation.

The ship was formerly a Honduran vessel, but recently was sold to German interests to be scrapped. It was bound for Genoa, Italy, from Norfolk.

The Yalza is a United States freighter from Baltimore, Md.

ARCHIBELL BROTHERS PURSUED BY POLICE ON STIRLING ROAD FATALLY INJURED IN DITCH

One Brother Almost Instantly Killed in Night Flight.

LIVED IN MARMORA.

Other Died in the Belleville Hospital During the Night.

MARMORA, August 21 (Examiner Correspondence). — Ben Archibell, aged 26, was instantly killed last night and his brother Alvin, aged 25, died in the Belleville Hospital at 1.40 this morning, as a result of injuries sustained when the light roadster in which they were fleeing from the police ran into the ditch on the road between Marmora and Bonarlaw at a point four and a half miles from the former village and a half-mile north of the latter about 9 o'clock (standard time). Both of the victims were of Marmora.

A warrant for assault was issued for Ben on August 10, and last night he came into Marmora and was recognized when he arrived at the cross roads in front of the Memorial Hall of that village by Constable Hugh Gillen of Marmora and County Constable Manley Lavender, who under took to capture him.

Raced at High Speed.

However, the Archibell brothers fled in their car and the police followed in Lavender's car. The chase was carried on at a high rate of speed, and the constables were on the point of giving up the pursuit when they passed a load of hay driven by George Wellman, who had heard a crash, and his brother investigating found the wrecked car and the unconscious occupants in the ditch.

Both Skulls Fractured.

After receiving this information the police were on the scene about two minutes later and found the car badly wrecked in the ditch, with Ben thrown clear of the wreckage, while his brother was lying over him with his legs still on the car. Both were bleeding at the mouth and ears. Ben was dead, while Alvin still was alive. Both of their skulls were fractured.

Dr. D. Thomas, of Marmora, was summoned, and soon arrived on the scene and in company with Horace Leonard and Wilbert Bedore took him to Belleville Hospital.

Coroner Dr. W. S. Harper of Madoc was called and it was decided that an inquest will be held to-day at ten o'clock.

LIFE SENTENCE REFUSED BY GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Pair To Be Hanged At Hull On Friday For Murder.

OTTAWA, August 21. (C.P.)—Mary Viau and Philibert LeFebvre, sentenced to be hanged at Hull on Friday, August 23, for the murder of the woman's husband, Zephyr Viau, have, it is understood, failed to have sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Official announcement will be made to-day after an order-in-council is approved by the Governor-General.

RIVAL'S NAME BRINGS TERRIBLE PUNISHMENT

Afghan King Depressed Because of His Rival's Successes

PESHAWAR, British India, Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press).— Habibullah Khan, as Bacho Sakao, Afghanistan's water boy king, calls himself, has become depressed, Afghan reports state, because of the successes of Nadir Khan who is contesting him for his throne.

Consequently he has given orders that anyone mentioning the name of Nadir Han shall be nailed publicly to a wall by the ears and afterwards blown from a cannon. Rebel tribesmen fighting against Habibullah recently captured a general and staff and boiled them in oil.

RACE WITH ZEP BY FRENCH ACE

Plans Non-Stop Flight To Vladivostok To Beat Graf To New York.

Uses Trans-Atlantic Plane.

LE BOURGET, France, August 21.—(C. P.) — Dieudonne Coste, the French air ace, announced this afternoon he would take off at five a.m. tomorrow in a flight around the world in pursuit of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin which he hoped to overtake and pass before she could reach Lakehurst N. J., and New York.

The French aviator, who has already made a flight around the world since he crossed the South Atlantic ocean, in 1927, told an intimate friend to-day that he would attempt to break the world's non-stop distance record for aeroplanes on the first stage of his race around the world with the Zeppelin, which is at present in Tokyo.

Coste, flying on the machine with which he recently attempted to cross the Atlantic from east to west, will attempt to make the distance from Le Bourget to Vladivostok, Siberia, in a single flight to-morrow.

CRAFT UPSETS -- FOUR DROWNED

Only One Of Party Of Five Saved In Buffalo Lake Storm Tragedy.

BODIES NOT FOUND.

STETTLER, Alta., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Hurled into the choppy waters of Buffalo Lake when a storm broke loose Tuesday evening, two men and two boys were drowned and another boy rescued when the small boat to which he was clinging was blown near shore.

W. J. Burell, of Hanna, and his two sons, Ernest, aged 10 years, and John aged 12, and Sidney Steele, also of Hanna. The lad rescued was Harold Burell, aged 16 years, also a son of W. J. Burell.

Search for the bodies of the four victims was abandoned last night, but will be resumed by police and people of the district to-day.

The two men and the three boys left their homes earlier in the day to spend the day on an island about two miles from the shore of a summer resort on Buffalo Lake. In the evening shortly after 6 o'clock, they left the island and were headed toward the mainland when they were overtaken by the storm.

RESIGNATION PRESENTED

REGINA, Aug. 21.— (Canadian Press).—The resignation of Hon. C. H. Hamilton as Minister of Agriculture in the Saskatchewan Government will be presented to Premier J. G. Gardiner to-day, according to an announcement by the Premier yesterday. Hon. George Spence becomes acting Minister of Agriculture and as such will be shortly sworn in.

COMMISSIONERS ARE APPOINTED

Old Age Pension Act Names 15 Men in Unorganized New Ontario District.

FIVE DISTRICTS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—Announcement has been made that by Provincial Order-in-Council, local commissioners of the Old Age Pensions Act have been appointed for five of the unorganized districts of New Ontario. The appointments are made in accordance with the section of the Act which empowers the Government to name the local administrating board for unorganized districts. In organized municipalities, the local commission is appointed by the municipal council.

The Ontario Old Age Pensions Act will come into force November 1.

The commissioners appointed for the New Ontario districts are:

Nipissing District—Charles A. Fink of Mattawa, Gordon M. Bradley of North Bay, Arthur Jackman of North Bay. Cochrane District—G. A. McDonald of Timmins, F. K. Ebbitt of Iroquois Falls, Richard Carter of Kirkland Lake. Rainy River District—Norman L. Croome, F. H. Huffman and H. V. Maltby, all of Fort Frances. Muskoka District—Joseph G. Myers of Bracebridge, Wesley John Smith of Huntsville, John B. Lindsell of Gravenhurst. Timiskaming District — A. K. Roberts of Cobalt, R. R. Woods of New Liskeard, John Clark of Englehart.

AUSTRALIAN IMPORTS SHOW U. S. LEADS IN AUTOMOBILES

Great Britain Lowest in Cars but Leads in Motorcycles

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 21 (C. P. Cable via Reuters).—Out of 100,000 complete motor cars imported to Australia in the twelve months ending June 30, 66 per cent. were from the United States, 23 per cent. Canadian, and the remaining 11 per cent. English.

The scales were turned when it came to motorcycles, however, for more than 80 per cent. of the motorcycles imported in the 12 months came from Great Britain.

JURY CONVINCED WEST END GANG CAUSED DEATH

Hit With Blunt Instrument By Unknown Person, Findlay Died of Fractured Skull.

ATTEMPTED TO PACIFY GANG

Coroner Says Might Happen in Chicago, But Surprised Such Gangs Are in Toronto.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press).—"It must have been as much of a revelation to you as it was to me, to learn that this could take place here. One reads of such things in Chicago and elsewhere, but not in our own city" said Coroner H. W. Burgess to the jury when summing up the evidence at the inquest yesterday into the death of George Findlay, 26, of Toronto, who was fatally injured during a melee following a women's softball game in a local park August 13. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that Fnidlay, who died in a hospital on August 15, met his death through a fractured skull, caused by being struck with a blunt instrument by some person or persons unknown.

Friends Held Bat

The original theory of police that Findlay's injuries were caused by a blow from a baseball bat used in the game was exploded when evidence was given that the bat was held only by two men, Both of whom were friends of Findlay.

In his summing up the coroner said: "I do not think that the baseball bat was the cause of the injuries to the deceased; the bat was in the hands of friends and they would not be likely to strike him." The Coroner said he believed Findlay "Came to his death at the hands, or feet of some of the west end gang."

Coroner Expresses Surprise

Coroner Burgess said he was surprised at learning of the prevalance of such gangs in the city. Findlay, it is said, was attempting to pacify two gangs supporting rival girl's softball teams. A fight broke out after the game and it was during the fracas that Findlay was hurt. He was found lying on the ground after the battle had ended.

FIRE EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT

CORNWALL, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Evidence heard at the inquest yesterday into the death of Osias Givoque, one of four persons who lost their lives in a fire here July 17, was insufficient to support a verdict, the Coroner's jury found. They recommended that a further investigation be made.

Millbrook Decorated For Street Opening

MILLBROOK, Aug. 21.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The streamers of colored lights across the business section of King street are now in place for the big celebration on Thursday, August 22, when the official street opening takes place. Flags and bunting will also decorate the stores and offices for the occasion, and this addition to the gala appearance of the community will be made early this week. Granted fine weather, Thursday, with its attractive program of sports, in the afternoon, Warden's banquet in the Armouries, street carnival, band concert, street opening, memorial service at the cenotaph, and two dances as a final item, hould be one of the outstanding events in local history. The Oshawa Regimental Band, which put so much pep into the Old Boys' Reunion, will be on hand early in the afternoon; Millbrook's fiftieth birthday, since incorporation, is being celebrated on Thursday, in connection with the street opening.

TEMPLARS HOLD 46TH SESSION

Simon of Cyrene Preceptory Takes Honors in Drill Competition.

H. A. PORTER, N.B., PRESIDES

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 21.—(C.P.)—The forty-sixth annual assembly of the Knights Templars of the Sovereign Great Priory of Canada met here yesterday under the presidency of Most Eminent Knight Horace A. Porter, St. John, New Brunswick.

The morning session was occupied in routine business of the various preceptories in attendance and in the afternoon a drill competition was held. Nominations for officers for the ensuing year were made at the morning meeting and elections will be held to-day.

The drill competition between the Simon of Cyrene Preceptory of Sarnia and the Richard Coeur De Lion Preceptory of Montreal was won by the Sarnia Knights who were awarded the $300 prize. Lieut.-Col. Mills of Kingston was the chief judge of drill and announced the winning squad.

Among those present at the convention are A. B. Barr of London, Ont., Deputy Grand Master; B. Noble of London, Grand Constable; Col. A. A. Campbell of London, a Past Supreme Grand Master.

GIGANTIC ERROR IN YOUNG PLAN IS DISCOVERED

France Able To Make Concessions On $25,000,000 Over Payment.

PLAN DRAFTED WRONG.

Experts Find May Go Long Way To Pacify Britain in Deadlock.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Discovery of a gigantic error in the Young Plan, as a result of which France would actually receive $25,000,000 yearly more than the plan states she is to get, has been made at The Hague, according to information received here last night in official quarters. The sensational discovery was made, reports reaching here state, by treasury experts who are examining figures in connection with the deadlock at The Hague conference over the division of German reparations among the Reich's principal creditors as provided in the Young plan.

It is asserted that the mistake occurred in drafting the plan at the Paris reparations parleys. In computing the annuities for the first 37 years it was thought that France was being given £52,000,000 ($252,720,000) annually, whereas, in fact she would receive £57,000,000 ($277,020,000)

How the miscalculation could have been made is not understood here. But it is pointed out that it gives France an opportunity to make large concessions to Great Britain which might go far toward ending the financial stalemate.

FALLS ASLEEP AT WHEEL

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Homer Keaton, Detroit, after driving continuously for nearly 24 hours fell asleep at the wheel of his automobile while passing through Maidstone. The car was ditched and Keaton and his wife, Ethel, received serious injuries. They will recover, Hotel Dieu reported. The Keatons left Detroit for Buffalo, via Cleveland Monday morning.

CAN'T MIMIC BIRDS.

DENVER, August 21. — Man, since long before the birth of aviation has endeavored to imitate the flight of birds by attaching some wings on his arms and attempting to fly. Robert Baker, two, recently saw some birds on a tree outside his second-storey window. When they flew away, he tried to fly with them. He fell and injured his head.

MINISTER FINDS WIDE FIRE LOSS

Conflagrations Never Been So Serious From Coast to Coast.

ARE FAIRLY WELL IN HAND.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who has just returned from a visit to the different provinces, during which he devoted much time to ascertaining the fire hazard in the Dominion's timber belts, stated yesterday that it is rarely that this hazard has occurred from coast to coast with such seriousness as during this year.

He declared that the hazard has been so great that it strained to the utmost the resources and ingenuity of the various organizations formed to combat forest fires.

"Forest fires have been generally controlled all over the country," said Mr. Stewart, "and I found this favorable condition due to the intensive fire protection campaigns which have been waged by the various Provincial services acting in close co-operation with the Federal Forest Service."

Nipigon District Still Burning.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—Ontario Government fire fighting forces, both on land and in the air, are battling grimly against what is considered the most serious fire hazard of the present season in the New Ontario districts.

The territory west of Lake Nipigon continues to be the danger zone. East of Nipigon—in the Cochrane, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie and Timigami sections—there is little to be feared, officials of the Land and Forests Department said yesterday.

Five Fires Around Red Lake.

Five fires have been reported in the Red Lake district since Saturday, and there have been three new ones in the Thunder Bay district in the last few days. New outbreaks have also been noted in the districts to the west of Thunder Bay.

MANXMEN HOLD THIRD CONVENTION

Isle of Man Has Only Parliament in World With No National Debt.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press).—One thousand Manxmen from Canada and United States and including 25 from Isle of Man registered at the International Convention of the North American Manx Association which commenced here yesterday.

Among those present were William Quirks, Mayor of Douglas, in the Isle of Man, and Hon. A. B. Crockall, member of the House of Keys, the Manx legislature, who conceived the idea of organizing the North American Manx Association three years ago.

The House of Keys Mr. Crockall said was the oldest parliament in the world and dates back to the tenth century. The Isle of Man has the only parliament which can boast of no nationall debt, he said.

NEW COAL GAS METHOD.

BUDAPEST, August 21.— Professor Joseph Varga, of the Budapest Technical University, has devised a method of extracting gasoline from coal which is said to extract from 60 to 70 per cent. of the available product. The process is supposed to differ entirely from American and German methods.

VILLAGE SWEPT BY FIRE.

LOWVILLE, N.Y., Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—The village of Glenfield, about six miles south of here, was swept by fire early yesterday, six buildings being burned with an estimated loss of $200,000.

MODERNIZING.

LONDON, August 21.— Churches too, are modernising to keep pace with present civilization. A sign of present times is seen at Byfleet Parish Church. In order to accommodate its parishioners, this church has constructed a parking lot for motor cars. Church goers find it easier to attend when they don't have to seek for a place to park.

DULL EXPORT TRADE CAUSES SHARP DECLINE

Foreign Grain Offered Well Below Canadian Quotation.

TIE-UP AT MONTREAL.

Elevators Are Full, While New Harvest Is Under Way.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Heavy liquidation induced by extremely weak prices at Liverpool caused a market, which closed 4 to 4¾d lower, grain market yesterday, and, in the face of very limited buying, the market rapidly lost ground until it was from 5 to 5¾ cents under the previous close. Efforts to bring about a rally were ineffectual until within an hour of the final gong, when there was less wheat for sale. The final quotations were 2½ to 2¾ cents lower for the day: October, $1.61⅝; December, $1.58⅝ asked, and May $1.63⅝ to $1.63¾.

Lack of export interest and outside buying left the market in the hands of local interests, who antisipated some pressure from the Canadian crop now beginning to move in moderate volume.

Cheaper in Europe

Liverpool advices stated that Danubian countries were offering wheat cheaper than the Argentine, and this was a bearish factor in the English market, which closed 4 to 4¾d luwer. A Buenos Aires cable reported labor troubles again in the Argentine with a general strike at the Port of Rosario.

The only reason that appears for the Liverpool break is the unexpectedly large increase in United States visible, which now has reached 169,380,000 bushels, an increase of 90,000,000 over what it was at this time last year. European buyers are still holding off off the market and appear to be drawing to a large extent on native supplies for immediate needs.

JAPANESE SILK PACIFIC TRADE IN DIFFICULTY

Awaskai Jap Cargo Lines Cut Prices Away Below Canadian Figures.

DOWN $1.50 PER HUNDRED.

Trade That Was In Foreign Hands 25 Years Ago Now Mostly in Jap Companies'.

TOKYO, Aug. 21 (By Percy Whiteing, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The Japanese silk and especially raw silk carrying trade which has for many years been one of the most important items of cargo for steamships plying to Canadian Pacific ports and then across Canada by rail to the mills in the United States is now in a peculiar position.

The immediate difficult situation has been brought about by a rate war provided by various Japanese cargo boat owners, especially the Awaski Line, operating between Yokohama and Seattle and other Pacific Coast ports.

Non-Member Cuts Prices

This line, which is not a member of the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference, has been cutting rates to such an extent that recently the Canadian steamships companies and other conference lines were obliged to slash the ocean rate of $4.50 per hundredweight to $3.00, and it is believed the Awasai Line will cut this figure.

Trade Changes Hands

Twenty-five years ago a large portion of the silk trade was in the hands of foreign merchants at Yokohama, but year by year the Japanese companies have been securing a practical monopoly. Among these the great firm of Mitsuio and Company ships a great deal of its silk by its own vessels.

In former times silk cargo depended entirely on rapid transit by steamer and rail from Yokohama to New York and in this connection the Canadian Pacific Railway held and still holds the pre-eminent position. Conditions have somewhat changed, however, in that more and more silk is being shipped via the Panama Canal, on account of the warehousing and mill taking arrangements in force at New York.

ARTILLERY FIRE DEMONSTRATED

Demonstration Directed By Radio Watched By All Troops in Camp.

STAFF WATCH FROM PLANE.

PETAWAWA, August 21 (Canadian Press). — The feature of yesterday's program in the exercises being carried out by the units of the permanent force was a demonstration of artillery fire with airplane observation by the personnel of the Royal Canadian School of Artillery from Kingston.

Communication between the battery and the observing officer was maintained by radio. The demonstration was witnessed by all the troops in camp.

The staff officers who assisted in conducting the practical portion of the Militia staff course at R.M.C. and which was completed last Saturday, are now in camp in order to witness the combined training.

Here's Proof Enough For Doubting Editors

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 21.—(Examiner Correspondence). — A tame bass is on exhibition in Herbert Roses boat house at "Ye Olde Mill." This fish remained at this particular spot during all last summer, and when Mr. Rose returned from Toronto this year the fish was waiting for him.

It is a fair sized bass and feeds on worms. When Mr. Rose holds out a worm the fish will jump out of the water to take it. It is quite a novelty and a number of visitors have called at this resort during the season.

The fish will not take bait from any of the other members of the family, and when Mr. Rose takes his motor boat out of the boat house the fish disappears but is always there on his return.

PARTY IN WOODS ESCAPE FLAMES

Rescue Crew Discovers Lumberman and Family Safe Beaween Two Lakes.

SLOCAN CITY THREATENED.

NELSON, B.C., Aug. 21 (C.P.) — Vic Johnson, Locamoo Lake lumberman, his family and a party of loggers, believed trapped by the monster forest fire raging up Evans Creek above Slocan Lake, were reported safe last night. A special rescue crew went up the north shore of the creek and discovered the party who were not worried about the flames. The camp, situated between two small lakes about three and a half miles from Slocan Lake, was not touched by the fire.

Refuse to Leave Bush

Mrs. Johnson and the children, when the flames became threatening, went to the second lake for safety. The party would not leave the locality after the rescue party arrived. Great anxiety had been felt for their safety since a wild gale whipped the Evans Creek fire into a fury at about 11 o'clock last night.

Flames Within Mile of Town

Conditions at Slocan City are much the same with the fire burning within a mile of the town. Some 25 or 35 men are patrolling it and unless a change in wind occurs the settlement is safe. Spot fires on all sides of the city have been extinguished or controlled. Special apparatus to combat a blaze in Slocan City is held in readiness but the C.P.R. has withdrawn its tank car sent out for any emergency.

Mill is Destroyed

It was learned that although the Watts Lumber Mill, three-quarters of a mile up Evans Creek, was burned down, the warehouse at the landing and lumber piles there was intact. Dense smoke is making progress up and down the lake most difficult.

CANADIAN RADIO BRANCHING OUT

W. D. Robb Claims C.N.R. Will Show Greatest Broadcasting Advance Within Year.

BETTER PROGRAMS

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—"That the next twelve months will see the greatest advance in broadcasting in Canada that has ever taken place since the commencement of the art a few years ago" is the prediction of W. D. Robb, Vice-President Canadian National Railways, in whose department radio is included. "Two major factors will bring this about" continued Mr. Robb, "The extension of regular weekly schedule of network broadcasting on a national scale, and a marked improvement in programmes generally, and especially by providing more opportunity for Canadians to hear outstanding talent from their own country.

"I can only speak for the Canadian National Railways, but as the nation's greatest broadcaster, now operating thirteen stations and owning the only system of wires adapted for broadcasting under one direction stretching from coast to coast, we are planning to institute marked improvements and to co-operate in every way possible to assist other broadcasters in doing similarly. Commencing in October we are planning to extend our National networks three times weekly from the Maritimes to the Rocky Mountains, and once or twice weekly from Atlantic to Pacific.

Unite Provinces

"These regular weekly national broadcasts should go far to create a better mutual understanding among the Provinces, unite more closely the many elements and interests within our country and remove the feeling of isolation felt in not a few communities.

"We expect to 'tie-in' the Maritime Provinces on our Eastern chain of stations in August, to extend our chain programs regularly to the Rockies by October 1st, and to Vancouver in November. Sixteen Canadian National and associated stations will regularly and simultaneously broadcast our concerts."

"We will broadcast regularly on Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. On Sundays commencing October 20th, the hour 5.00 to 6.00 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) will be known as 'The Canadian National Railways Symphony Hour.' A series of twenty-five concerts featuring Canadian talent exclusively will commence then and continue until April 6th, 1930. The Toronto Symphony Orchestra, the finest in Canada, will provide the orchestral music and on each occasion will be assisted by one leading soloist. These artists will be Canadians of national and international reputation. The Toronto Symphony Orchestra is one of the greatest orchestras in America. Their series of 'Twilight' concerts in Massey Hall each year have long been noted for their brilliance. Its conductor, Dr. Luigi von Kunits, is an artist of rare talents with a great reputation, and Manager H. J. Elton is now visiting London, Paris and Germany with a view to perfecting plans to make this series the best ever provided in Canada."

French Hour Tuesday.

"On Tuesday evenings Canadian National Railways programs will last from 9.00 to 11.00 p.m. (E.S.T.) Our 'French Hour' will be from 9.00 to 10.00 p.m. (E.S.T.) on Tuesdays instead of Thursdays, commencing shortly. It will be put over by stations in Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec and Moncton, and will be followed by a varied educational and musical program of special features over the same chain with the addition of Toronto and London."

"On Thursdays, commencing August 8th, our programs will open at 9.30 p.m. instead of 8.30 p.m. We will continue the regular weekly market service for farmers provided through the co-operation of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. That will be followed by the regular 'Canadian National Railways Hour of Music.' After October 1st, it will be over a nation-wide hook-up and will be known as the Canadian National Railways 'Continental Hour.'

Greatest Broadcaster.

"The Canadian National Railways as Canada's greatest broadcaster realized its responsibility as well as its opportunity to give the public something more than entertainment. With in r sonable limits we hope to provide next season popular educational features of national and Empire interest, to discover and bring before listeners more Canadian talent, to disseminate through the use of radio greater knowledge of the vast natural resources of Canada, and to create in Canadians themselves greater confidence in the future possibilities of their own country."

PETERBOROUGH INDUSTRIAL Exhibition

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—Trading on the local wholesale butter market yesterday was of a little more active nature than has been the close for the past few days, and prices were quite firm. Supply and demand continued to be fairly well balanced, and dealers stated that the market was in a very healthy condition for this time of the year. Quotations yesterday were from 39c to 39¼c per pound for the No. 1 grade creamery, and from 37c to 38c per pound for the No. 2 grade.

Eggs continued to be very scarce yesterday on the local market, and storage eggs are freely used. The coast is successfully absorbing the Western output, and no eggs from this source are reaching Toronto as yet. As a result of the shortage there was very little activity displayed, and dealers found it difficult to state an accurate price level under small volume of sales. Quotations to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered and cases returned, were generally conceded to be as follows: Fresh extras, 44c to 46c per dozen; fresh firsts, 41c to 42c per dozen; fresh seconds, 29c to 30c per dozen.

Trading on the local wholesale cheese market yesterday was not very active, but quite firm, on all sales that were recorded, the No. 1 large, colored, paraffined and Government-graded cheese selling at from 18¼c to 18½c per pound.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Wheat scored a brisk rally in price late yesterday after breaking earlier to as much as 7 7-8 cents a bushel under Monday's top level. Denials from Canadian railroad officials that they had authorized an extremely bearish crop estimate which was current Monday, and which continued to have a depressing effect most of the time yesterday, did much to help restore confidence of buyers at the last. On the other hand, export business yesterday in wheat from North America appeared to be virtually at a halt.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as Monday's finish to 7-8 cents down. Corn closed at ½ cent to 7-8 cent advance. Oats unchanged to ½ cent off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 10 cents.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, August 21. — Including the 2,000 stale cattle left from Monday the supply at the Union Stock Yards yesterday was too heavy for requirement. Trading was very slow during the morning, and although a few sales were made at steady prices the general feeling was decidedly weaker.

Store cattle were from 25 to 50 cents a hundred lower for the week owing to a smaller demand from the country and to the narrowing of the export outlet.

Calves continued strong with choice vealers 50c higher for the week and $15.50 to $16.00 per hundred. The small run was cleaned up during the morning.

Hog buyers and salesmen have not yet come to an agreement and no price has been established so far this week. Packers bids are on a basis of $12.75 f.o.b. for select or $14.25 w.o.c.

The lamb trade was delayed at the opening with salesmen holding for a 50 cents advance. Good lambs will probably be weighed up at $13.00 to $13.50. Sheep continued steady at an extreme range of $3.00 to $7.00 a hundred according to quality.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, August 21. — Cheese prices were a little lower with No. 1 Ontario white and colored selling at 18c to 18 1-2c per lb., and No. 1 Quebec white and colored selling at 17 1-4c to 17 1-2c per lb. Receipts were 6675 boxes, compared with 8707 boxes on the same day a week ago.

Trading on the local butter market was steady with no price changes Receipts were 83 boxes as compared with 48 boxes on the same day a week ago.

The egg market was firm wth no changes in retail prices, and in a wholesale way carlot prices were: British Columbia fresh, f.o.b. Vancouver, 45c per dozen for extras and 40c for firsts; Alberta fresh eggs, f.o.b. Edmonton, 40c for extras, 36c for firsts and 27c for seconds. Receipts were 3560 cases, compared with 1531 cases on the same day a week ago.

The potato market was steady with new potatoes locally grown seling at $1.40 to $1.50 per 80 pounds.

DEATH OF LINDSAY GIRL ATTRIBUTED TO NEGLECT

if I stepped on the gas or not, but we rolled over."

Beavis said he cut across the road and could not explain why he did not follow the line of the curve.

He was going about 30 miles an hour from the sound of the engine. The car is equipped with four-wheel brakes, but he could not state how far they had skidded.

The car was bumping along, and the reason why I did not turn, he stated ,was because I was afraid it would turn over, which it eventually did, with the car landing on its side facing west and the wheels next to the road.

Miss Scott Under Car.

After the car came to rest, we called to each other, and Miss Scott failed to answer. I climbed out and helped Miss Ashmore. The rest got out, but for a time we could not locate Miss Scott, afterwards locating her near the back of the car when Hollingsworth and I endeavored to raise the car without success. The girls had gone over to the farm house nearby. Hollingsworth followed and I stopped a car. The farmer from the house came over, and those from the car helped as we raised the wrecked car to its wheels. We then found Miss Scott's body.

The traveller from the car we stopped felt her pulse and said it was beating faintly. I asked someone to go to the farm house to 'phone for the doctor, an ambulance and the police.

In the meantime Grace was placed on a cushion and we did not know she was dead until the doctor arrived.

She was in a cheerful mood, and I believe that the accident was the cause of her death.

"Just a Good Time."

The object of the trip, Beavis stated, was merely a good time. When the accident occurred Miss Scott was talking to those in the back seat.

Harold Hollingsworth.

Harold Hollingsworth was then called. He accompanied Beavis on the night of the accident when the Lindsay girls were met and taken for a drive. He did not notice the speed along the way, and the first idea he had that there might be an accident was when he heard the brakes and felt the car skid. Miss Scott was faced towards the back seat talking to the other girls at the time, and he was sitting between the other two girls who were conversing with Miss Scott.

Mildred Ashmore.

Mildred Ashmore took the stand after Hollingsworth. She is a resident of Lindsay and was one of the fatal party last Friday night.

"When we would have returned to Lindsay," she said, "we intended to go to the dance, where we started for in the first place until we met the boys, and then we went for a ride.

"While we were parked it was suggested that all return and go to the dance.

Just before the accident Miss Ashmore stated that she felt the brakes, noticed the car go over on its side, and then rolling over. When the car came to rest she was on the bottom after which she crawled out through the window.

Mary Gassien, the third girl of the party, gave similar evidence to Miss Ashmore, the former witness. Moreover she affirmed the statement that Miss Scott knew the boys before that night.

Two Other Accidents.

Russel Graham, a farmer in Ops Township, who lived in the house near the scene of the accident was next. Having lived there all his life, it was only during the last eight or nine years that the curve on the road was graded, and during that time there were two similar accidents, both happening in the daytime.

"I heard the excitement following the accident, and when I arrived on the scene I helped to lift the car off the body of Miss Scott," he stated. "But before I went out I phoned for Dr. White."

Hailed a Traveller.

P. C. Bacon of Saskatoon, then took the stand. He arrived at the scene of the accident last Friday night, coming from the west. There were no other cars there. "When I approached the curve," he said, "I saw a man and a girl in the road waving their arms, when I stopped, and they told me that there was a girl under the car in the ditch.

"The curve is rather high," he stated, "but can be easily negotiated at 30 miles an hour."

"Miss Scott, when the car was raised, was lying on her stomach with her face pressed into the ground with the head to the rear of the car. I felt her pulse and it was beating much faster than normal. Later I could feel no pulse beats when she was placed on the cushion.

"I heard the driver of the car (Beavis) state that he knew none of the girls, but that one of them was called Grace," said Bacon.

Chief of Police.

Chief R. N. Lawler, of Lindsay, then took the stand. In response to a telephone call at 11.50 he left for the accident and arrived there shortly after 12.00.

"The lady was lying on a cushion there, and the car was in the ditch. The car on examination showed that it was considerably damaged about the left hand side; all the windows were broken and damaged on the right side, with traces of mud on both sides of the top," he testified.

"There is a possibility that the right door was partly open, as after the accident it was sprung, so it could not be closed" the chief added.

"Skid marks on the road showed the car skidded 42 feet along the shoulder and then 48 feet more along the ditch where there were two distinct places in the ditch showing the car rolled over.

"The road is 23 feet wide at the curve and the normal width of 22 feet in other places. There is also a wide shoulder at the turn.

Says Turn Is Easy

"There is a warning sign 110 paces from the curve" he further testified, adding that the turn can be easily negotiated at 45 miles an hour" he concluded.

Provincial Constable D. A. Porter of Lindsay was called at 12.30 and went out to the scene of the accident with Provincial Constable F. Wetherall where they met Chief Lawler. He corroborated the evidence as given by the Chief.

WATCH THE POISONS.

When you swallow Carbolic Acid or Tincture of Iodine, by mistake, you at once become alarmed and say, "Send for a doctor, I have been poisoned." For one person poisoned from these preparations, there are thousands of persons poisoned daily from faulty elimination of poisons produced by the body itself. When the kidneys or the liver are not working well, they fail to carry away these dangerous poisons and the result is that you wake up in the morning with a headache, a stiff back or stiff joints ,caused by poisons that remain in the system. If you wish to correct this condition, procure a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will enable the kidneys to eliminate these poisons from your body and will make you feel fit and active for any kind of work.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are for sale at Lynch's Drug Store and if they fail to do what we claim for them your money will be refunded.

HOME TOWNERS

CAMPBELLFORD
Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous

The local fish and game inspector has just returned from one of his trips along the river. He reports that the number of tourists at the various resorts is on the decrease, as the usual exodus gets under way. On his travels lately he had noticed that there are plenty of black ducks, and anticipates some fine shooting for the lovers of the sport. This year the opening day, September 15, comes on a Sunday. Thus the opening will not be till Monday morning, September 16.

The exterior of the Ferris Block Bridge and Front Streets, is being re-decorated. The woodwork is being done in brown by J. W. Frederick.

Parking By-laws.

Every once in so often, someone starts an argument as to how far from a hydrant a motor car must be parked. There is one on Front Street with an open invitation to park right alongside, since the parking lines are painted there just as though no hydrant existed. Cars parked there have ceased to attract attention. On Tuesday afternoon, however, a car bearing Quebec license plates, drew up and remained beside the fire plug. Eventually a gentleman from the country appeared with a horse and buggy as his means of transportation. He took his place just south of the car and used the hydrant for a hitching post. In due time the visiting motor car departed for other scenes. Some time later, the farmer, having transacted his business, returned, untied his trusty steed, threaded the rein back through rings of the harness, and drove off. There were no fires during the time the hydrant was otherwise engaged.

With Care.

The slang phrase, upside down with care, is used fairly frequently here. Lately it has been applied to a British flag floating proudly in the breeze above one of the tall buildings of the town. The flag is "upside down with care." It was the local postmaster who brought the case to Hometowner's attention. Asked what was the reason for flying the distress signal, the man who was responsible for it admitted he knew there was a correct and incorrect way, but did not know which was which. So he just took took a chance and hoisted the flag. He said he intended to take it down, but it was still flying last night.

MOTOR ACCIDENT.

Driving along Centre Street yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, a farmer's wife from near Bradley Bay, had a narrow escape from what might easily have been a serious accident. Only her careful speed saved more serious results. The woman was alone at the time. She was coming to town, and had just come on the pavement on Centre Street when the car suddenly turned across the road and came to a stop against a telegraph pole. The driver was unhurt, but badly shaken and nervous. The radius rods had either buckled or dropped off. The right front fender, lights and the left front tire, as well as the axle and spring, suffered considerable damage. The car was taken to Davidson's garage for repairs.

PLEASANT MOTOR TRIP.

A motor trip through more than a thousand miles of Western Ontario without the slightest sign of trouble of any description, was the delightful experience of Miss Meiklejohn and Miss Locke, who have just returned from a vacation by motor.

COMMUNISM FAILS IN UNIONS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor will report to the annual convention of the Federation at Toronto, Ont., in October, that the attempt of Communsim to capture unions allied with the Federation has been checked.

NEW LABOR LAW TAKES EFFECT

No U. S. Subject May Be Imported To Do Work Already Arranged.

U. S. HAS SAME ORDER.

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 21.—(C.P.)—Immigration officials reported here yesterday the receipt of an order from the Department of Immigration, Ottawa, which is intended to curb entry to Canada of laborers from the United States to accept employment previously contracted for. The order prohibits the admission of such clas sof labor and is made effective immediately.

It is understood that United States' concerns operating in Canada have been in the habit of importing help from the United States, a condition said to be detrimental to the labor situation in Canada.

Under the new order, immigration officials said, a resident of United States can enter Canada to seek employment, but is barred from coming to this country to take up work already arranged for.

A regulation similar to this is operated in United States for the protection of American labor.

Slave-trading still flourishes in the countries bordering on the Red Sea, some 2,000 slaves from East Africa being sold every year in the various Arabian markets.

IMPURE ETHER SEIZED IN U. S.

Any One of 500 Cans Seized Had Enough Impurities To Cause Death.

WILL CLEAN UP MARKET.

BOSTON, Aug. 21 (Canadian Press)—Impure anaesthetic ether has been seized by Government officials in Boston as well as in Providence. Dr. G. H. Adams, in charge of the New England pure food and drugs division of the United States Department of Agriculture, stated yesterday that the seizures are being made as part of a general campaign to clear the market of all ether which is thought to contain impurities.

The ether seized in Providence, together with 500 cans already seized in Boston, he said, was intended for hospital or private use as an anaesthetic, and every can of it contained impurities which might have caused the death of any patient submitting to its influence.

Nickel and Walkers, Gooderham and Worts Only Issues To Show Activity.

PAGE-HERSEY ADVANCES.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21. —(Canadian Press).— With International Nickel and Walkers-Gooderham and Worts experiencing the only marked activity, price changes were not definite enough to establish any particular trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Such stocks as Page Hersey which, in a turnover of only 10 shares, gained 1¾ points to 139¾, and Royalite in a similar turnover advanced 4 to 148, where the only ones to make any definite move. Canada Dredge was a little more active and sold off three to 63 while Moore at 34, Massey-Harris at 56¼ and Brazilian at 71¼, all showed minor delcines.

International Nickel, after striking a high of 56, was knocked down to 54⅜, off 5-8. Walkers moved in the opposite direction, strengthening 1-4 point.

MINE MARKET IS STRONGER

Downward Trend Practically Disappears During Trading On Standard Curb.

PEND OREILLE STEADY.

TORONTO, August 21. (C.P.) — Though the market still presented a rather unsettled appearance the reaction which yesterday pounded prices down to lower levels, practically disappeared during trading on the Standard mining exchange to-day.

Falconbridge Nickel led the Lindsley group back up after heavy profit taking had sent them tumbling yesterday with substantial losses. Falconbridge came back to score a net gain of 75c to 13.25, while Sudbury at noon showed only a five cent loss at 9.40. Both Ventures and Pend Oreille were steady, while Noranda was firmer at 65.25. Teck-Hughes broke to 6.85 and then recovered to 7.00, to show a further loss of 30c.

A number of the lower priced stocks made fairly good headway under heavy buying. Ajax Oil was the foremost of these, climbing up 16 to 3.56, while Arno at 40, Canan Metals at 1.15 and Amulet at 2.40 all showed advances ranging from 5 to 10 points.

Wheat Prices Break In Early Trading

CHICAGO, Ills., Aug. 21. (C.P.) — Announcement of railroad embargoes against rye, oats and barley shipments to Minneapolis and Duluth led to a sharp early break to-day in wheat values here. Weakness of the wheat quotations at Liverpool tended also to pull Chicago prices down. Opening at 1-4c to 2c decline, Chicago wheat afterward continued downgrade. Corn and oats went lower with wheat, corn starting 1-8c off to 1-2 up and subsequently undergoing a general sag. Provisions were easy.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 21—(Canadian Press).—Heavy liquidation by tired holders sent wheat prices scurrying to lower levels to-day, declined of 5 cents to 5⅝ cents occurring as traders embarked on a selling rampage.

October wheat slumped 5⅝ to $1.56; Dec. 5 cents to $1.53⅝ and May dropped 5 cents to $1.58⅝.

The selling movement made its appearance suddenly around noon and threatened to continue until the close of trading.

HEALTH OFICERS ...c ...c ...c .

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press).—The increase in the number of infantile paralysis in the city has brought forth an appeal from Dr. W. T. Shirreff, acting medical officer of health, for volunteers to give serum for treatment of the disease. The serum consists of the blood of those who have had the disease. In his appeal the medical officer says the only known method of treatment is by this serum and it must be administered during the early symptoms before paralysis has taken place. There are 19 cases in Ottawa.

Young Wolf For Editors When They Reach "Soo."

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 21.—(C.P.)—Ernie Henderson, taxi driver, who fears the Ontario editors touring the north may doubt the wolf stories emanating from the Soo, went into the bush yesterday morning and captured a month old pup. He will have it at the train when the visiting newspapermen arrive Friday afternoon.

SIFTONS HONOR OLD EMPLOYEE

E. H. Macklin Of Manitoba Free Press 50 Years In Business.

IS GENERAL MANAGER.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 21 (Canadian Press).— E. H. Macklin, president and general manager of the Manitoba Free Press, to-day celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of his entry into the newspaper business, for he joined the staff of the Toronto Globe in 1879, remaining there till 1899, when he came west to the Free Press in Winnipeg. Never connected with any other business, he holds an almost unique position among the newspaper men of the continent, and his associates marked the occasion by the unveiling of an oil portrait of himself this afternoon.

The function took place in the presence of a number of newspaper friends from all parts of Canada, for, quite apart from his work on the Free Press, Mr. Macklin has been to the fore for many years in the co-operative movements of Canadian newspaper publishers.

The portrait is by the well-known Toronto artist, C. Wyly Grier, and is the gift of the four Sifton brothers, Hon. W., Victor, Harry A., and Clifford, sons of the late Sir Clifford Sifton, and chief proprietors of the Free Press. The presentation was made by John W. Sifton, secretary-treasurer of the Manitoba Free Press Company, who recalled how Mr. Macklin had started on the Toronto Globe as a mere youth addressing envelopes, and in twenty years rose from one position to another until in 1899 he had become cashier and treasurer.

YOUTHS DISAPPEAR FROM FARM HOME

Parents Are Distracted, While Police Search For Only Child.

HANOVER, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Police are searching for Jimmy Merchant, farmer near Walkerton, and Claud Benfield, 17, farmhand, who are believed to have left here together. It is not known just when they set out, although they have been traced as far as Clifford. They are said to have mentioned in casual encounters along the road that they were headed for Montreal. Merchant's parents are distracted over the disappeance of their only child.

Benfield is described as four feet seven inches tall, with dark hair and eyes, weighing about 100 pounds. Jimmy Merchant weigh 90 pounds, is four feet six inches tall, and has dark brown eyes and brown hair. When last seen he was wearing gray trousers and a blue coat. Broadcasting stations have been asked to publish their descriptions.

NORTHERN INDUSTRIES INSPECTED BY EDITORS

Strawberry and Raspberry Seasons Overlap at Cochrane.

HEARST, Ont., August 21 (Canadian Press). — Two great industries of the northland were viewed yesterday by the editors of O'd Ontario and Montreal who are touring this part of the province. Early in the morning they went through the plant of the Hollinger Mine at Timmins and later the paper mills at Iroquois Falls. The berry season is still at its height in the north. At Cochrane, the centre of an agricultural district, the strawberry and raspebrry seasons are overlapping.

The party last night reached Hearst and then turned south on its way through Algoma.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 21 (Canadian Press). — Foreign exchange steady; demand rates: Great Britain, $4.84⅝; Canadian dollar, 9-16 discount.

Arno

Lower levels of Coxheath property of Arno reported giving encouraging results. These levels are 280 and 330.

Toronto Club Buys Two Right-Handers

WATERLOO, Iowa, Aug. 21.— John Niggeling and ("Sig") Vick, both right-hand pitchers, were sold yesterday by the Waterloo Club of the Mississipi Valley League to the Toronto Club of the International League. They will report at the close of the Mississippi Valley League season.

Niggeling is considered one of the best pitchers in the league. He has won 12 games and lost 3 to date. Vick has won 6 and lost 13, but is considered a bright prospect.

ONE GIRL FAILS MEDICAL TEST

Rest Of Lady Swimmers Totalling Over Sixty Ready For Friday's Race.

Weather Predicted Fine.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21.—(By the Canadian Press).—Southerly breezes over Lake Ontario to-day brought smiles to the faces of about 400 mermaids and mermen training here for the marathon swims to be held during the next seven days at the Canadian National Exhibition. Unless weather changes and northerly winds develop during the next two days the ten mile swim for women will be held on Friday as scheduled. It is planned to hold the men's 15 mile race on August 28 but in each case regulations call for water of a temperature of 58 degrees at least.

One Fails Medical Test

Women swimmers underwent medical examinations to-day to determine their fitness for the long swim. About sixty are expected to plunge into the water at noon on Friday. Miss Irene Lett, Memphis Tenn., failed to pass the examination. Doctors stated her blood pressure was 106 and in view of this they hesitated to allow her to enter. Her mother stated that she had intended entering with her daughter but in view of the adverse decision it was probable she would not be an entrant.

Notables All O.K.

Ethel Hertle, New York, winner of the swim last year, Olive Gatterdam, Seattle, the runner-up, Martha Norelius, famous New York natator who is one of the favorites for Friday's gruelling race, and several others whose names are household words in aquatic circles found no trouble in satisfying the medical officials of their physical condition.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF BRASS DEPARTMENT

Softball Game Feature of Program at C.G.E. Employees' Gathering.

The employees of the C. G. E. Brass Department with their families turned out in large numbers on Saturday afternoon for the annual department picnic which was held at Nicholl's Oval.

The feature event on the day's program was a softball game between the married men and the single men for the much coveted F. B. O'Connor trophy which resulted in an overwhelming victory for the bachelors. This trophy was presented to the Brass Department by Mr. O'Connor in remembrance of the days when he himself was employed there and is to be competed for annually.

The Benedicts matched the single men in hitting ability but fell down badly on the fielding end of the game. Pellow and Robinson divided the pitching honors for the Benedicts, displaying several new poses and deliveries but failed to mystify the Batchelors who wallopped the ball all over the field to win 22-11.

Umpires—Williams and Bannon.

A detailed sports' program which was carried out in a very efficient manner that spoke of careful planning occupied most of the afternoon. The following is a list of the prize winners:

Mens 100 yds. dash, open—B. Stevens. For married men—F. McLarnon. Over 35 years—W. Pellow.

Shop boy's raced—1 C. Heal, 2 R. Francis.

MINING BRIEFS.

Amulet

Ore reserves Amulet estimated by Jay Tuttle, new manager, at 401,341 tons, or $10,202,900. His tonnage figures are below last officia. figures but his average per ton $25.42, is higher with gross about the same. Any estimate must ignore recently found "F" body which is being proven up steadily by diamond drilling.

Howey Gold

Crosscut on 625 ft. level of Howey has cut ore and shows negative gold. Full width not yet determined. The crosscut on the 1,000-ft. level has some 60 feet farther to go than on 625 horizon.

Acme Gas

Shares of Acme Gas, which holds acreage adjoining Ajax in Western Ontario, have approved for listing on Standard Exchange and will soon be called for trading.

Lake Geneva

Lake Geneva Mines, subsidiary of Towagmac, has now 500 ft. ore shoot opened west of shaft and test shipments show values as 3.44% lead, 9.41%, .01 oz. gold, 1.25 oz. silver.

Teck-Hughes

Teck-Hughes' fall to below $8 not due to any change at the mine. These shares have been quite neglected but many anticipate that one of these days the shares will give one of their old time upward swings.

St. Anthony

Mill test of ore at St. Anthony Mines showing up better results than anticipated, 50 tons daily being handled. Ore being drawn from 250 ft. level while drifting on 150 ft. level is proceeding.

Walsh Katrine

Operations here are being temporarily suspended pending further financnig. It is planned to keep a small crew on, pumping out the workings to permit a complete resampling of the ore opened up.

MISS OF SIXTEEN STEALS SPOTLIGHT

Sarah Palfrey's Winning Tennis is Feature at Forest Hills.

FOREST MILLS, Aug. 21.—"Sweet sixteen" in the person of winsome little Miss Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., stole the spotlight away from the other feminine tennis stars on the courts of the west side stadium yesterday afternoon.

Not even the straight-set victory of such famous international figures as Helen Wills, Helen Jacobs and Betty Nuthall could compare in popular approval with the dramatic match in which the smiling Sarah outplayed the British veteran, Mrs. Dorothy Shepherd-Barron, -10, 6-0, 6-4, to reach the third round of the national women's championship.

Soviet Attacks On Border Test Of World Opinion.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21. —(Canadian Press). — The Japanese News Agency, Rengo, to-day carried the following despatch from Nanking, quoting Chang Hsuech Liang, Governor of Manchuria, as saying:

"The aggressive attitude Soviet troops along the Manchurian Border are showing, is aimed to explore the world regarding public opinion toward the Soviet.

"If the powers remain silent and inactive not expressing their disapproval, I am convinced that before long the Soviet troops will inaugurate a more aggressive policy toward China, later launching a military expedition.

ARCHIBELL BROTHERS

Ben, the younger man, was driving the car, and was instantly killed when crushed behind the steering wheel.

County Constables Lavender and Gillen, armed with warrants for the arrest of the brothers on charges of assault, were approaching the Archibell home, when a light coupe carrying the wanted men, dashed out of the side drive and sped along the highway. Alvin was hurled through the roof.

The officers pursued the fleeing car and were rapidly losing ground when the leading car swerved to avoid a hay wagon, shot into the ditch, and crashed into a fence. The car was badly smashed.

Inquest Opened.

MARMORA, Ont., Aug. 21st—(Staff Correspondence). — Where and when the two brothers, Benjamin and Alvin Archibell met their deaths was fairly well ascertained this morning at a preliminary inquest held under Coroner Dr. W. S. Harper, of Madoc, in the Town Hall, Marmora, this morning.

The scene in the basement room of the little stone building was heavy with tragedy. On a wooden table, elevated at one end by hardwood blocks placed under the legs, the body of Benjamin Archibell lay swathed in rough coverings of coarse sack. Only the feet and the black sweater coat were visible.

There were no spectators allowed inside until after the jury had been empanelled, and the date for the adjourned hearing set for Wednesday, August 28th, at two o'clock in the same building. Before being formally dismissed the jury arranged to view the wrecked car. They viewed the remains of the one body present. Dr. Harper pointed out that so far as he knew there were no long bones broken. There had been hemorrage of the ears, nose and throat which invariably indicated a severe fracture of the skull. There were also other indications which would be definately shown if a post mortem were performed.

Watch Stopped at 9.05.

The silver wrist watch worn on the left wrist of the deceased had stopped at five minutes past nine. This the coroner believed established fairly well the time at which the accident occurred. The body along with the brothers had been discovered at Lot 12, Concession 13, in the Township of Rawden. Thus, the second question was answered. It remains still to determine by what means the two men came to their deaths.

The coroner will issue burial permits for both bodies as soon as he has gone to Belleville to view that of Alvine Archibell who died there at one o'clock this morning as the result of injuries received when in the wreck where his brother was almost instantly killed. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Car A Total Wreck

This morning scores of spectators were clambering over the wreck of the new Ford roadster. It is practically nothing more than a twisted mass of metal. Little or nothing except the horn and battery remains uninjured.

Before the inquest several citizens who knew of the incident and who heard the smash which terminated the roar of open motors expressed the opinion that the cars were travelling as fast as they were able. This theory was also the opinion of county constable Lavender.

The jury empanelled consisted of Howard Sabine, foreman, T. Byrnes, J. Barlow, P. Sopha, C. Lummis, T. Potts, G. Wellman D. McGarvey. Provincial officer F. J. Hill was also present.

Home on Havelock Road

The Archibell brothers lived with their parents about one mile west of this village on the Havelock road. Benjamin was the driver of the car and was the man wanted by the police on a minor charge. His brother had just returned a few weeks ago from the United States and was paying a visit to his home. He was thirty-five years of age. Benjamin was in his twenty-sixth year.

SHORT COURSE IS CONCLUDED

Presentation Made Mrs. Lowe Who Acted As Instructress To Institute Members.

AT HAVELOCK.

The members of the Havelock Women's Institute who have been attending the short course in home nursing were entertained at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hubel on Friday evening, when Mrs. Lowe of Toronto, the capable conductress of the course, was the guest of honor.

Five tables of progressive euchre were played, the prize, a handsome vase, being won by Mrs. J. Hoffman. The members of the class who do not play euchre indulged in the game of lost heir.

Before refreshments were served, Mrs. Lowe was made the recipient of a short address, when Mrs. Rigby, on behalf of the class, expressed sentiments of appreciation of the splendid course just concluded and of Mrs. Lowe's untiring efforts and unending good humor throughout. She concluded by reading the poem, "The House by the Road."

Mrs. Hubel then presented Mrs. Lowe with a handsome georgette scarf and crepe de chene handkerchief as a small memento of her sojourn here. Mrs. Lowe thanekd the ladies in a few well-chosen words, and assured them she appreciated the many kindnesses extended to her by every one, which had made her two weeks' stay in Havelock one to be pleasantly remembered in years to come. All joined in singing "For she's a jolly good fellow."

Mrs. Whitton moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Hubel for her splendid hospitality in throwing her home open for the occasion. The members signified their appreciation by a hearty hand-clap.

A dainty luncheon was then served and the evening brought to a close.

INSTITUTE MEETS.

Monthly Meeting of Omemee Society Held in Form of Picnic.

OMEMEE, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute, which was held at the home of Mrs. R. J. Cornwall, took the form of a picnic and was a decided success. An invitation to the members of the Reaboro Institute had been accepted by about twenty-four ladies.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with the president, Mrs. Widdiss, presiding. Following the receiving of reports, an excellent account of the annual convention held in Lindsay in June was given by Mrs. H. McGinness. The roll call was responded to by short humorous stories. Community singing was another enjoyable feature on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Staples, of Lindsay, arrived at this juncture and at once, Mr. Staples was called on for an address. Although taken by surprise, he in his witty and jovial manner, entertained the ladies for a short time.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the Orange brethren for their co-operation and assistance in making Decoration Sunday in Emily cemetery a success.

Races of various kinds were indulged in, for which prizes were awarded to the winners. Almost sixty people partook of a dainty and appetizing lunch consisting of sandwiches, ice cream and cake, and a very enjoyable hour was spent together.

Cups on Display

Two silver cups are now on display in Omemee, having been won by the local softball team, who have recently made a name for themselves in this popular sport. The cups were donated by W. Smith of Lindsay, and the United Church at Bridgenorth, and were won in a tournament against teams from North Emily, Downeyville, Bridgenorth, Fairview, Keene, Lakefield and Selwyn.

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAVAN, Aug. 20.—The Cavan Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. F. M. Staples on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. R. M. Howden, conducted the meeting which opened with the singing of the Institute Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unision. Among items of business discussed, arising out of the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, was the matter of assisting in building a piece of sidewalk in Cavan village, Mesdames Hunter and Keegan were appointed a committee to interview the president of the Cavan Dramatic club, to see what steps were taken to carry out this project, and to bring back further information to the Institute.

Letters were read by the secretary from two persons acknowledging fruit and flowers received.

At the next meeting it was planned to have a demonstration, illustrating the making of mats from silk hose and lingerie, by crochetting or knitting. Mrs. J. W. Perrin and Mrs. A. Elliott to demonstrate.

Mrs. Matchett was asked to contribute a paper on "Living a Life to the best of ones advantages," at the September meeting.

Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, who was unable to be present, sent an invitation for the Institute to meet at her home in September.

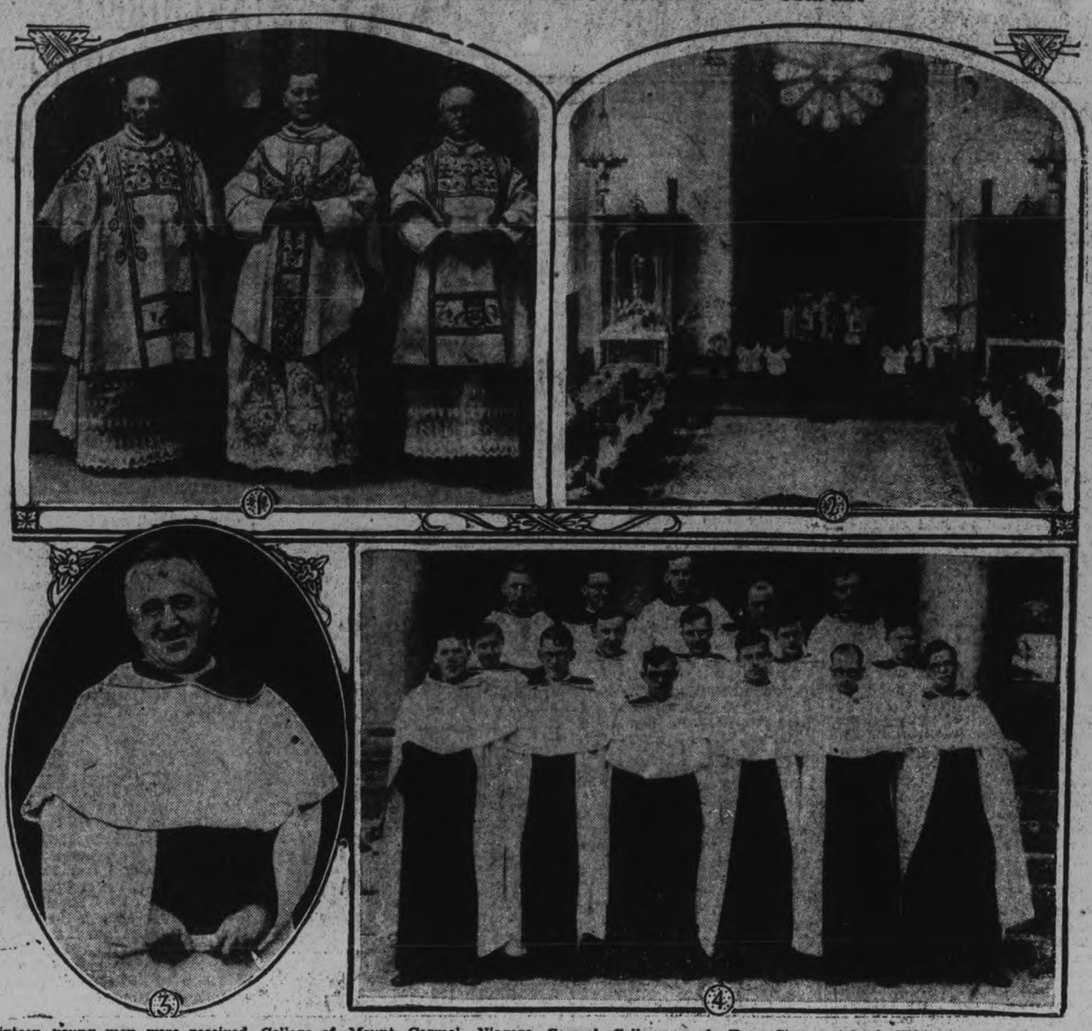
One new member was added to the roll. The roll call was answered by a pickling recipe.

After discussion it was decided that the Institute would give prizes for the races at the Ida school fair, Sept. 6. The president, Mrs. R. M. Howden and the secretary, Miss M. E. Hunter, were named as a committee to co-operate with the sports committee of the fair and look after this part of the day's program.

Mrs. J. H. Snider then gave an excellent paper on "Habits." Mrs. Lloyd Sutton had been on the program committee, but was unable to be present. She sent her paper "Keeping Out of Ruts", which was read by Mrs. F. M. Staples. Both papers were much enjoyed, and a discussion on these two topics followed, almost every member taking part.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, after which the lunch committee, Mesdames White, Matchett, Paul and Perrin assisted the hostess in serving lunch. The usual social half hour was enjoyed around the tea tables.

YOUNG MEN RECEIVED INTO CARMELITE ORDER



Sixteen young men were received into the Carmelite Order, and, for the first time in history, the press was invited to view the sacred ceremony of College of Mount Carmel, Niagara Falls, Ont. (3) Father Lawrence C. Diether, provincial of Chicago, received the candidates. (4) Young men who entered the Order. They come from all parts of the continent.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM CHURCH.

MOUNT JULIAN, Aug. 21. — The sad news has recently been received here of the death of Mrs. William Church on August 4, at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. W. F. Connal of Montreal, a nephew of deceased, and the Misses Alison and Gertrude Robertson, nieces came with the remains to Peterborough. Burial took place in Little Lake cemetery by the side of her husband, who predeceased her several years ago.

The deceased, who was formerly Marion Borrowman, had a large circle of friends ,being a Public school teacher before her marriage. Mrs. Church was a resident at Mount Julian for a number of years, where her husband kept a red cedar and grocery store. Many friends will miss her kind face, as she returned each year to visit those to whom she had been a kind and loving friend. She was always devoted to the church and an active worker in the missionary cause. She was a member of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough. Beides her donations there, she also sent a donation each year to the United church at Mount Julian.

The deceased enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew her for her sterling character.

The friends from a distance that attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Church, Mrs. Victor Shewen, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Church and daughter, Mrs. David Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Church, Mr. and Mrs. William Church, Mrs. Chas. Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arott, of Toronto, Mrs. Andy Cobean of Toronto, Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Haultain, Mr. Oscar Church, Peterborough, Miss Tillie Church, Peterborough, Miss Dollie Church of Belleville, Miss Scott, Belleville.

CHIEF PRAISES FIRE FIGHTERS

Clark Says Volunteer Firemen Did Well at Lonsberry Fire.

MORE SUPPLIES NEEDED.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, August 21. — Fire Chief Clark from Lakefield, came down to Warsaw on Friday and looked over the scene of the recent fire. Mr. Clark thinks it should be known that Hilliard Darling and the men who assisted him, could not have done better than they did. Had the fire brigade from Lakefield or Peterborough been there nothing more could have been done. The men went about the work in the orthodox way. Very little could be done with a wooden building filled with hay, fired by lightning and blazing. Other buildings of wood were quite close; large burning brands lighted upon them, but no injury happened them; the pile of wood beside the barn was saved, even the fence posts.

Saved Surrounding Buildings.

When nothing more could be done for the burning barn they played the stream on the surrounding buildings. There was no stock in the barn. Mr. Lonsberry, living in the village, has only one horse and a few hens; the hens were outside, and the horse away from home.

The committee who had been appointed to purchase the extinguisher had asked Hilliard Darling if he would act as fire chief, but there was no appointment of anyone for anything. When the need arose the men were level headed and got the extinguishers out, and Mr. Darling took command, and the other men helped gallantly. There was no jangling. Rev. H. B. Herrington, George Taylor, Harry Digweed, and many others, all worked with one mind, to save all they could.

Of course there were a few knockers. One man who was listening to talk on Saturday evening said it seemed that those who had helped pay for it were satisfied; those who did not found fault.

If men are appointed and responsible, it seems nothing but right that they should have some remuneration. There must necessarily be some place to store the machine, some one to care for it and some one to operate it, with a second assistant operator.

Since the fire these have been appointed, Hilliard Darling, and Harry Digweed, both of whom are men who are willing and responsible.

Committee Meets.

The members of the fire committee met at George Taylor's house on Wednesday evening. Those present were George Taylor, Rufus Payne, David Miller, Mr. Herrington, Alex. Rose, Hilliard Darling.

The object of the meeting was to make plans to keep supplies on hand; some method of paying those who run the engine, and organize a brigade.

Hilliard Darling was appointed as fire chief, David Miller, chairman of committee, Harry Digweed, assistant, George Taylor, treasurer, Alex. Rose, secretary.

There will be a conference with Allan Clark, fire chief at Lakefield, about methods.

Harry Digweed reported that most of the supplies had been used at the Lonsberry fire.

MILLBROOK UNITED CHURCH.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Aug. 21.—Rev. F. J. Mears, B. D., of Port Hope, had charge of the services in the United Church on Sunday, August 18, both morning and evening, supplying for the final Sunday of the pastor's absence from his pulpit, Rev. Mr. Jones' holidays terminating this week.

The soloist for the day, Mr. Gillard Darling, of Port Hope, sang twice at each service, his selections at morning worship being, "What Will You Do With Jesus?" and "My Task". Miss Ella Elson presided at the organ in the absence of Miss S. Hetherington, who is taking her annual two weeks' holidays.

David's assertion, "My soul followeth hard after Thee" (Psalm 63:8) was the text of the morning sermon, the speaker stating that there is in every man's life a central idea, distinct in varying degrees, and constantly seeking to assert itself. A dominant quality cannot be long hid, and in fact a man is what his central idea makes him.

In David's life religion was the pivot round which all else centred. With some people religion is not the governing quality, but only a veneer. What of David's lapse? may be asked. A frail member of the human family, greatly tempted, may fall from his ideals and go into sin, but by definite, personal choice, David gave whole-hearted allegiance to Jehovah, and his confession and repentance were evidence of deep-rooted sorrow and shame. "In the colder atmosphere of these practical days may God lead the young men and the young women of our land to just such loyal devotion to Himself as characterized David's life all through."

"The Psalms have been called Divine correspondence letters to God; if they were but expressions of a dream of holiness and fellowship in the mind of the writers, as some assert, then I strongly advise that we dream again, and dream often, to reach that high experience, in this present age."

"Worship was David's conception of God; Paul writes of a changed life; later, men said it consisted in an allegiance to creed and doctrine; still later they said it was an experience in terms of life; today service is the key note. Which is true? All, in some sense; but the whole is greater than its part, and God is making use of the spirit of this present age, as He did in all past ages, for He still reigns and rules."

"Service is an important part, but not the whole, of Christian life; other features are not to be neglected; we must look up often if we are to lift up; the connection between our souls and the Fountain Head must be kept pure and open, if we are to continue to serve well our fellowmen, the motive power being, 'the love of Christ constraineth us'."

The Men's Bible Class, Mrs. (Dr.) Rae teacher, assumed the responsibility for the services of Sunday, engaging the singer, and seeing that cars were provided to bring Rev. Mr. Mears and Mr. Darling both to and from Port Hope.

EFFICIENCY DUE TO UNION WAGES

Unions Acting Independently of One Another Harmful to Employment.

LOW RESULTS

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Aug. 21 (C.P.) — The public regulation of wages in Great Britain was discussed today by Professor Henry Clay, professor of social economics in the University of Manchester, in his presidential address to the economic science and statistics section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

Prof. Clay said the task of co-ordinating wage settlements in various industries and of securing in each the consideration of such apparently remote factors as the productivity and rate of expansion of industry, may be too much for the spontaneous democratic machinery by which collective settlements are negotiated at present; but the alternative, he said, is almost certainly a breakdown of that machinery under the growing pressure of the problem of unemployment.

The wielders of wage-fixing authority, he said, acting independently of one another and disregarding the general economic situation were maintaining wage rates at a level at which existing industries cannot provide full employment. In opening Professor Clay traced the history of trade unionism in Great Britain from 1910 when a comparatively small portion of the working population worked for wages the rate of which was fixed by a collective or union agreement, up to 1927 when of a total wage-earning population of about 14,000,000 at least 8,000,000 were members of trade unions.

The significant fact in the change was that where formerly the employer had practically all the authority in setting the wage scale under the new conditions, the agents of the employees fixed the scale of wages for him. The effect of this state of affairs in the industrial situation was principally in increased efficiency. Concentration on the policy of improving standards on minimum rates and conditions had grown and was the chief characteristic of trade unionism in the expanding of industries.

Production Increases

The efficiency was increased in two ways, by the reaction of this policy on the worker and by the reaction of this policy, on the employer.

"The workman" said Professor Clay "prevented from securing employment by accepting a lower rate of pay than his competitors, was compelled to improve his efficiency, and was enabled to do so by the increase in income and security that trade unionism usually brought. More important were the reactions on the employer. Stopped from taking the easy but dangerous path to lower costs of cutting wages, he had to find other means of increasing output in relation to wage payments. Hence trade unionism encouraged an increase in the scale of production, a more expensive use of mechanical equipment, a more eager search for technical improvements, and generally the economy of labor. It did not extinguish competition, but diverted it from wages to other factors in cost."

The speaker compared the situation in the United States where trade unionism has been on the decrease steadily for some years while the manufacturing output has been on the increase.

This showed, he said, that collective bargaining was not an essential adjunct to increase efficiency. Certain trade unions in the United States had abandoned the old policy of leaving the employers to find ways and means of meeting their claims and had assumed direct responsibility on behalf of their members for reducing labor-costs as a condition of maintaining or increasing wage rates.

Professor Clay continued: "The increased element of publicity and public control of wages will tend to harden wage rates in a depression provided that the representatives of the wage-earners really wish to resist reductions. Whether they do so or not will depend on the consequences of successful resistance at which we must glance. Before the war the consequences would have been unemployment, and unemployment would have involved for the small minority of wage-earners covered by trade union unemployment insurance a drain on the union funds; for the great mass of wage-earners who had no such resource, early and extreme hardship. It was impossible for the representatives of the wage-earners in wage negotiations to ignore.

Change After War

To-day things are different. Successful resistance to a reduction may still involve unemployment, but unemployment does not involve the same certainty or degree of distress. Before the war the provision for unemployment relief was partial and inadequate. To-day there is a system of unemployment relief that covers all the industries that are liable to serious unemployment. The spokesman of the wage-earners consider the employment situation, because their clients would be the chief sufferers if their wage-policy restricted employment; now in such a case they may nevertheless persist in such a policy since they are conscious that their clients are not without resources, if all cannot be employed at the level of wages exacted."

On the effects of wage-fixing authority, the speaker observed that the wielders of such authority, acting independently of one another and disregarding the general economic situation, were maintaining wage-rates at a level at which existing industries cannot provide full employment. "The considerations that explain their policy will not serve to explain away the unemployment that has accompanied it," he said. "The outlet for labor thus excluded, which was provided before the war by industries in which wages were not controlled, no longer exists. There remains for examination the possibility that new industries may provide an outlet, industry as a whole expanding to absorb the excluded labor.

Wage Rate is a Price

"A wage-rate is a price and every price has influence on every other price in the same field of demand and the same area of supply," he continued. "The fixing of a wage rate may, therefore, effect the demand price and the supply price of every other kind of labor working for the same market. The organic nature of the system of wage-rates was abundantly illustrated during the war when public intervention at one point led to reactions that compelled intervention at other points, and finally to the attempt to control all wages. It has received a more painful illustration since the war in the persistent unemployment and check to expansion that have accompanied the purely sectional handling of wage problems. The task of co-ordinating wage-settlements in different industries, and of the securing in each the consideration of such apparently remote factors as the productivity and the rate of expansion of industry may be too much for the spontaneous democratic machinery by which collective settlements are negotiated at present; but the alternative is almost certainly a breakdown of that machinery under the growing pressure of the problem of unemployment," he concluded.

OCTOGENARIAN ADDED TO LIST

Alexander Anderson Attains Ripe Old Age After Spending Fruitful Life.

LIVES AT MARMORA.

MARMORA, August 21 (Examiner Correspondence). — With the birthday of Alexander Andreson, which occurred on Thursday, the number of Marmora's octogenarians has been added to. Mr. Anderson came to Marmora about ten years ago, having married Ruth, widow of the late John Green, and since then has been quite a familiar figure in the town, coming to be known as one of the best gardeners in the district. Mr. Anderson looks the picture of health for one of his age. He was born on August 15, 1849, on the 8th Concession of Seymour Township. He is of pure Scottish descent, his father, Peter Anderson, coming to this country from Banffshire, Scotland, after marriage to Agnes Henderson, a native of Aberdeenshire. Alexander is the last survivor of the twelve children, ten of whom were boys. Five of these boys from an early age took to "fiddling," and were in great demand when house and barn dances were the pleasure of the times.

When in his twenties Alexander Anderson spent about two years in Huntingdon, Quebec, and not only did he play at local bidding, but also was hired to play at nearby places in the United States. Though not a member of any fraternal society, Mr. Anderson has great respect for such. Seven of his eight children are living and for the past eight years at least a family re-union has been held close to his birthday. This year, on Sunday, August 18, his old home on the 12th Concession of Rawdon Township, now occupied by his son Francis, was chosen as the venue for the re-union. Among those attending were Ben Herrington and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Waddell and family, all of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. John Varcoe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Millen, Mr. Frank Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Baker and son Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hay and Miss Agnes Anderson, all of Campbellford, Mr.W. Allen of Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Burnbrae ,Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Green and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson and family, all of Stanwood, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Anderson and Mrs. Lilian Anderson and family of Rylstone, Mr. and Mrs. William Green and son of Bellevil'e, and Mr. and Mrs. Rosebush of Glen Ross.

Enjoys Excellent Health.

Mr. Anderson has great admiration for the town of his adoption. He still enjoys excellent health and takes delight in reading. He is beginning to find that he can read for a period without glasses, and concludes that second sight is being vouchsafed him. As a farmer he found little time for hunting, but many years ago had the satisfaction of shooting a deer in Chandos when settlers were beginning to come in. As suggested by his parentage, he was brought up in the Presbyterian faith, and asked concerning his favorite book in the Bible, replied that it was the Book of Psalms. The main difference he thought in ministers of to-day to those of half a century ago was this. "ministers of to-day don't visit the homes of their church members as they used to." Again Mr. Anderson feels "that the youth of to-day are a little too much given to sport."

Villagers in general will join in congratuating him on having attained to this ripe old age without the impairing of any faculties.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS WORKER

Two Pipe Fitters Working in Same Pit Not Expected To Live.

BURNS FATAL.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 21—(C.P.)—Tom Hunter, 27, electrician, died of burns in an hospital here last night and little hope is held out for the recovery of David Forrester and William Walker, pipe fitters. The three men were injured in a violent gas explosion at the Cynamid plant here yesterday.

The trio was installing a pipe in the pit of a liquid air machine at the time of the blast. Their clothing ignited and all three were badly burned about the face and body. Hunter was also severely injured by the force of the blast.

The cause of the explosion is not known. Coroner W. W. Thompson will open an inquest to-day.

HOW HEROES ARE MADE

The wind swirled about the two bent figures, lashing their numbed faces with stinging flurries of sleet. Sinister, penetrating, the cold wrapped their tortured bodies in its freezing embrace, chilling the very marrow of their bones.

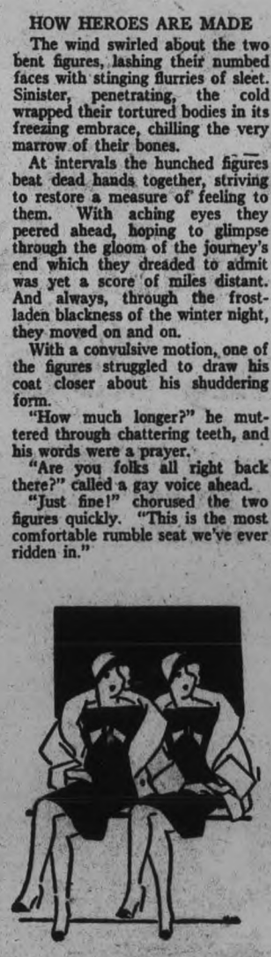
At intervals the hunched figures beat dead hands together, striving to restore a measure of feeling to them. With aching eyes they peered ahead, hoping to glimpse through the gloom of the journey's end which they dreaded to admit was yet a score of miles distant. And always, through the frost-laden blackness of the winter night, they moved on and on.

With a convulsive motion, one of the figures struggled to draw his coat closer about his shuddering form.

"How much longer?" he muttered through chattering teeth, and his words were a prayer.

"Are you folks all right back there?" called a gay voice ahead.

"Just fine!" chorused the two figures quickly. "This is the most comfortable rumble seat we've ever ridden in."



"Oh, Horace, but what will become of poor Fifi?"

"Coffee—milk—tea—"
Waiter: Well, gentlemen, let's see. That makes it three coffees, two milks, two teas.
"Say, waiter, I've changed my mind. Make mine a milk, and bring along some butter."
—Yale Record.

FROM THE BIGSVILLE BUGLE

A party of sight-seers in a big touring car drove through town last Sunday before they realized it.

"Does your wife do her own ironing?"
"I should say not! I won't allow a flatiron in the house!"
—Illinois Siren.

"For ten years, ten long and lean years," cried the writer, "I have been composing this drama, changing a word here, a line there, working on it till my fingers were cramped and aching, my brain and body weary from the toil."
"Too bad, too bad," the producer murmured sympathetically. "All work and no play."
—W. Va. Mountaineer.

"Are you a letter man?"
"No, sir. She might want to, but I don't letter."
—Carnegie Puppet.

—Pomona Sagehen.

The fencing champ goes on in life.
—Yale Record.

Inventor: This, sir, is an epoch-making machine.
Capitalist: Is it? Then let me see it make an epoch.
—Washington Dirge.

"If a man bites a hot dog, that's not news, but if a hot dog bites a man, that's news!"
—C. C. N. Y. Mercury.

"Will you marry me?"
"I'm afraid not."
"Aw, come on, be a support."
—Annapolis Log.

St. Peter: Who's there?
Voice Without: It is I.
Peter: Get out of here. We don't want any more school teachers.
—Green Goat.

"Is she a nice girl?"
"I'll say so. The other night when she dreamed of an auto ride she walked in her sleep."
—Boston Beanpot.

"Honey, yo' sho' am fat—an' there's no gettin' 'round it."
—Washington Dirge.

HOW'S THIS FOR A TOAST?

He who goes to bed and goes to bed sober
Falls as the leaves and dies in October;
But he who goes to bed and goes to bed mellow
Lives as he ought to do and dies a good fellow.
—Cajoler.

No question about it, the corset is here—to stay.
—Ghost.

"Well, well, I understand you are in business for yourself."
"Yes, quite so, I have twelve offices in that building."
"Yeh? That's a lot for one janitor."
—Green Goat.

Senior: I'll give you a hundred dollars to do my worrying for me.
Frosh: Great! Where's the hundred?
Senior: That's your first worry.
—Hamilton Royal Gaboon.

A robust woman lost her thumb in a trolley accident.
"But why," asked the company's attorney, "do you think that your thumb was worth twenty thousand dollars?"
"Because," she replied, "it was the thumb I kept my husband under."

OLD FOLKS WITH "YOUNG" KIDNEYS

People past middle life need not yield to kidney or bladder weakness. Many older folks, formerly suffering from backaches, night rising, irregular, painful elimination, etc. now have comparatively "young" kidneys thanks to a proper diet and Santal Midy capsules. Genuine bear signature of Dr. L. Midy, noted French physician.

RACINE LACE TRIMS THIS PRACTICAL LISEUSE.

By Lucille.

Every woman necessarily includes a liseuse or bed jacket in her lingerie wardrobe. This one I have designed not only for appearance but for practicality as well. It is made of rather heavy crepe de chine, and of course in any color suitable to the woman who wears it. The basque and revers are of matching crepe georgette, a combination of materials always in high favor for the most chic of French lingerie. The collar is of a cream, hand made Racine lace.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"RING THE BELL WATCHMAN."

(Contributed By 'Beatrice').

High in the belfry the old sexton stands,
Grasping the rope in his thin, bony hand;
Fix'd is his gaze, as by some magic spell,
Till he hears the distant murmur, ring, ring the bell.

Chorus—
Ring the bell, watchman, ring, ring, ring;
Yes, yes, the good news is now on the wing;
Yes, yes, they come, with tidings to tell,
Glorious and blesesd tidings, ring, ring the bell.

Baring his long, silver locks to the breeze,
First for a moment he drops on his knees;
Then with a vigor that few could excell,
Answers he the welcome bidding, ring, ring the bell.

Hear, from the hill-top the first signal gun,
Thunders the word that some great deed is done;
Hear, through the valley the long echoes swell,
Ever and anon repeating, ring, ring the bell.

Bonfires are blazing, and rockets ascend,
No meager triumph such tokens portend;
Shout, shout, my brothers, for "all, all is well,"
'Tis the universal chorus, ring, ring the bell.

FAVORITE RECIPE.

Cucumber and Olive Salad

(Contributed by 'Mrs. S. A.')

Peel and dice two cucumbers and two hard-boiled eggs, reserving the ends of the eggs for garnishing. Add two-thirds of a cup of sliced stuffed olives and one half a cup of broken pecan meats.

Line bowl with lettuce and pile salad in middle after it has been mixed with dressing. Decorate this with the ends of the eggs, pimento and a few stuffed olives.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Give me wide walls to build my house of life—
The north should be of love, against the winds of fate,
The south of tolerance, that I may outreach hate,
The east of faith, that rises clear and new each day,
The west of hope, that even dies a glorious way,
The floor beneath my feet shall be humility,
My roof, the very sky itself, infinity,
Give me wide walls to build my house of life!

• • • • • • •

This, by Elinor Lennen, I thought to be, on reading it in a magazine on Psychology the other day, one of the finest petitions we mortals could make.

• • • • • • •

Most of us are bounded by narrow walls and lowering ceiling—the north not strong enough to shut out, or even break, the storms of sorrow; the south broken and shallow, so that hate reaches in to lay his blighting hand on our hearts; the east a thin thing that supports no beautiful picture; and the worst a smouldering wreck that the fire of adversity has destroyed.

• • • • • • •

Give me wide walls, a splendid vista of life that lets me see far and free. That enables me to appreciate the other person's viewpoint and ideas.

• • • • • • •

Love is life's end! and end, but never ending;
All joys, all sweets, all happiness, awarding;
Love is life's wealth, (ne'er spent, but ever spending,)
More rich by giving, taking by discarding;
Love's life's reward, rewarding in rewarding;
Then from thy wretched heart fond care remove;
Ah! shouldst thou live but once love's sweets to prove,
Thou wilt not love to live, unless thou live to love.

• • • • • • •

Tolerance does not overcome hate, it averts it. If you are tolerant you cannot hate.

And if you do not hate, then you save yourself a great deal of wear and tear, and you will live longer to enjoy love.

• • • • • • •

Always think of the other person's problems. You have not the whole truth, or the only truth. There are two sides to every question, and you should not judge until you know the other—if indeed, you judge at all.

• • • • • • •

No matter how great your love for one person may be, it cannot be perfect, nor can it bring you the greatest joy, if there is hate for another person in your mind.

• • • • • • •

And as with persons, so with causes. You may believe your church or city or club to be the only perfect one; that is right. But don't tincture your love for it with hatred of your neighbor's church, city or club.

• • • • • • •

Faith is of two kinds—faith in yourself and faith in others. You are lacking in a very essential ingredient of success if you do not believe in your own ability to do what you aim to do—in business or home.

• • • • • • •

You will never make a good housewife if you are content to say to Mrs. Jones, "My, I wish I could make cake like you can, but I'll never be able to."

• • • • • • •

In things that can be accomplished by rule, everyone has the same opportunity, and you CAN bake just as good cake as Mrs. Jones, if you follow the same directions.

• • • • • • •

Then comes the second act of faith. Having assured yourself of your own faith in your ability, you must believe Mrs. Jones! You must take her recipe and use it.

• • • • • • •

And hope—the pillar that holds up the world—the most friendly of all passions—how could we get on without it?

• • • • • • •

Hope is like the cork float to the fisherman's net; it keeps the soul from sinking in despair. And faith is like the sinker to the net; it keeps the soul from floating in presumption.

• • • • • • •

All of these are useful only to the woman who walks in humility, for presumptious persons do not realize their need of love, faith and hope, and have no tolerance.

• • • • • • •

And then, with humility added, there is no limit to achievement. Let us go on toward the heights of our ambition.

• • • • • • •

If all our homes were bounded by faith, hope, love and tolerance, what a wonderful city Peterborough would be!

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

"Dear Anne Wilcox:

May I join your friendly circle? I have recently moved to Peterborough and I think it is a splendid place in which to live. My neighbors have been very friendly and kind to me and I certainly appreciate it. I hated to leave my home town because I did not know anyone here, but I am not sorry that I came, now.

I read your column every night and think it is splendid, also the letters written by neighbors.

Here is a hint which I think will interest many of the readers. To make a garbage pail last longer, paint it on the inside before being used for the first time. I think the pail lasts much longer when it is painted.

As this is my first letter to you, I do not want it to be too long, so I will stop here. Wishing you continued success,

Yours sincerely,
Paula."

Why, of course, you may join our circle, Paula. We are always glad to welcome new readers, and especially those who, like yourself, have only been in Peterborough a short time. Thank you for the hint which I believe is a good one. Don't forget to write again.

"Dear Miss Wilcox:

Just let me add my word of welcome, and tell you how much I enjoy your articles and the splendid answers you give to correspondents. I suppose the letters will start coming again soon, when the neighbors get back from vacation.

I didn't get away this year, because of so much to do, but Peterborough is so nice at any time that it is almost like a vacation anyhow. Lots of people from big cities would be tickled to come here for a holiday—I don't think there is a prettier little city in the country.

Here is one of the hints for which you ask; I think it would be a splendid idea for every neighbor, no matter on what subject she writes, to close with a hint about household work—don't you?

When poaching eggs, let the water come to a full rolling boil; drop the eggs in, turn out the gas, and the eggs will finish cooking in the boiling water.

Yours truly,
Betty."

Thank you, Betty, for your nice remarks and I am very glad, indeed, to know that you enjoy the women's page so much. I, too, think Peterborough is a splendid place in which to live. I am sure all the neighbors will appreciate the hint you give and perhaps they will close their letters with a hint as you suggest. Don't forget to come again, Betty.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DEATH FROM A HANGNAIL.

A prominent business man died the other day from blood poisoning.

The details were "from an infection of a hangnail on his thumb acute blood poisoning developed, and in one week he was dead."

Now, why can a simple little condition like a hangnail cause blood poisoning and death?

The skin looks to be such an ordinary thing, just a sort of covering for the body, like the covering you put over an umbrella which hides the ridges and folds.

You perhaps think of the skin in the same way and yet it is as delicately organized as any organ in the body.

It regulates the body heat, keeps out water, carries a supply of water in it for emergencies, and prevents poisons from entering the body.

It has a number of coats, the outer couple of which scale off during use, leaving other coats beneath to do their work in safety.

However, when these outer coats are removed or injured and the coats below with the blood vessels, are exposed, then trouble can start.

Fortunately, nature is kind here as elsewhere, and exposure to the air simply helps a cut or injury to heal more rapidly.

But if that little injury or cut, such as a hangnail, comes in contact with certain organisms which may be on money (this man was a banker), on knife or scissors with which the hangnail is removed, perhaps happens by the teeth, then blood poisoning may result.

The condition of the individual, and the strength or virulence of the organisms enter into the fight. Organisms get into the body frequently, but infection occurs because the individual is worn out physically.

Fortunately, in most cases the result is not fatal, but the lesson is there for us all.

Any little cut, if only the slightest scratch, should be treated with the idea of the dangers that may arise if proper care is not exercised.

Washing with any antiseptic solution of boracic acid, carbolic acid, lysol, iodine, putting just one layer of gauze over it to protect it from dirt, allows air to get to it, and helps it to heal quickly.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

A POOR PATTERN

"Sonny, come back on the mat."

"Huh huh," said Sonny without lifting his eyes, edging still closer to the edge of the porch as he built his tower.

Very gently, his mother folded her work, very lightly she crossed the floor until she stood beside the little boy. "Come, son. Wiggle back on the mat. See. You are too near the edge of the porch and head over heels you will go in a minute."

Sonny looked up, blinking. His whole mind had been intent upon his task. His ears had caught his mother's voice but his mind had not centered her words and he had not truly heard her. Slowly it seemed to those who looked on, the mind turned toward the new idea, the light in Sonny's eyes flickered and then brightened. He nodded, wiggled back to safety and went on building. Mother returned to her work.

"I suppose that's the modern way of training a child. Well, all I can say is that's it's sheer waste of time and energy. The idea. You got to get out of your chair, stop your work, and make him heed you. When I was a child, mother spoke to me once and I jumped We obeyed I can tell you. Why, even to this day when my mother tells me to do something I do it and that's the end of it. Children obey your parents" is the commandment. Those that don't follow it will sup sorrow with the spoon of grief. In these days there is no respect for parent's orders."

None of the modern mothers who sat by replied in any way. Mother counted stitches, Sonny built his tower, the other folk looked at the scenery or read their books. You see Aunt Jessica was such a poor pattern. She was far over her fiftieth year but she never did anything alone. If she wanted a new hat mother had to be along to advise. If she went to the store for eggs somebody had to go along. The man might not have two dozen. Then what would she do? Certainly someone must go along. Nobody could remember the time when Aunt Jessica did anything for anybody not omitting herself. A more helpless person it would be hard to find in a day's march. A very poor pattern for the old obedience.

When children are very young, before they have the power to remember and reflect, we have to be the guiding power. We have to protect them from harm. It is then we teach the implicit, unquestioning obedience. If we do that well we have no need for fear when the child reaches the time of reflective memory, of reason, of self direction. He has learned the simple rules of safety. He can go on very well from there with a word of suggestion, a bit of advice, with a stiff rule holding the line against danger.

The old notion of implicit, unquestioning obedience throughout life must be discarded if the children are to become self sustaining adults. The implicit obedience must grow into reasoned obedience and self diredetion. Test your demands on this basis, be guided by this principle and you will not go wrong and the children will grow up in grace and wisdom.

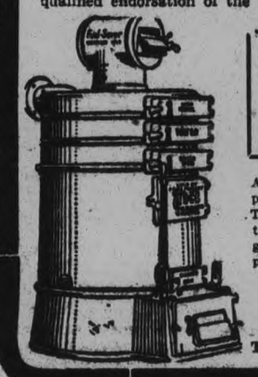
Pease "MOGUL" BOILER

The following letter (one of thousands of similar letters we have received from satisfied Pease users) is very emphatic in its unqualified endorsement of the Pease Mogul Boiler:



"We have a Pease Mogul Boiler No. 8½ in an eight-roomed house and have had more heat and comfort than we ever had before. We like it fine."

A striking feature of the Mogul is its perfect metal-to-metal water joints. These joints are permanently water-tight and are infinitely superior to gasketed and packed joints. For complete information, write us now.

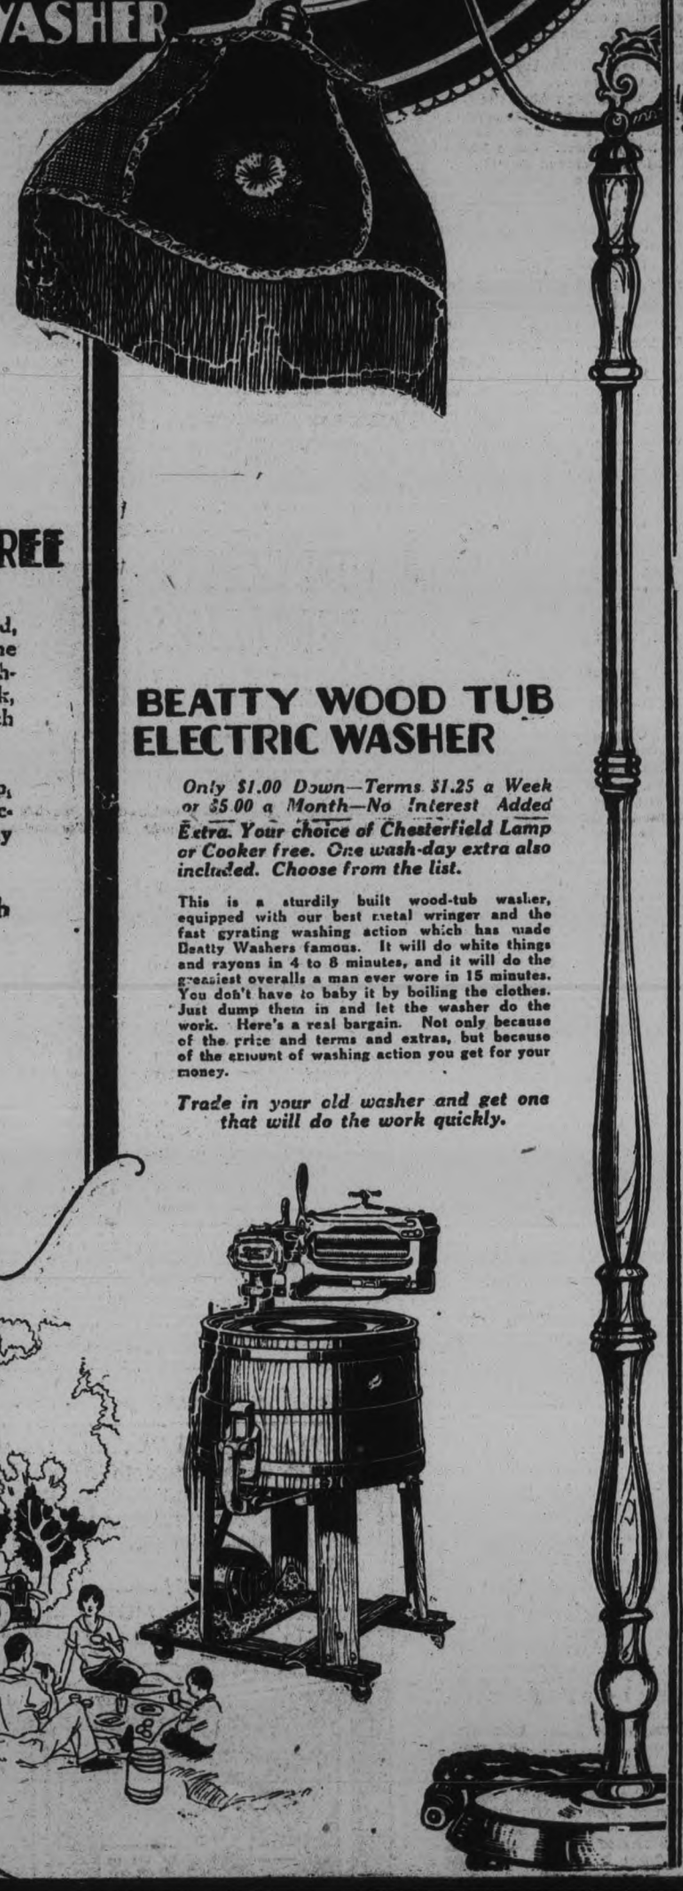
CHESTERFIELD LAMP FREE

WITH EVERY BEATTY ELECTRIC WASHER



How long have you needed an Electric Washer? How long have you wanted a Chesterfield lamp? Here now is your opportunity to get both of them, and for the price of washer alone. And, in addition, a third piece will be given with every purchase—one of our wash-day extras from the list below. As a second choice you may have the Everhot Cooker, also shown below, instead of the lamp, if you prefer. Terms as low as $1.00 down and $1.45 a week. No interest added extra and no increase in weekly payments because of the lamp or stove.

ALSO ONE LAUNDRY PIECE FREE

Stands are walnut, beautifully finished, gracefully turned, mounted on weighted bases. Arms are adjustable at the socket, with fancy fretwork design and wired with push-through socket. Shades are lined and interlined in silk, covered in georgette and trimmed with two four-inch fringes, one of silk and one of metal.

The Everhot will cook a roast and vegetables, make soup, bake biscuits just like a regular stove. Thermal construction keeps things hot or cold as you wish. Runs off any light socket. A handy thing for a picnic.

One laundry piece from the list below is free with every purchase. Select to suit yourself.

Folding Tub Bench
Square Rinse Tub
Tub Drainer and Hose
Clothes Basket
Elevating Drier

THE BEATTY ELECTRIC WASHER $169

Only $1.00 Down—Terms $2.25 a Week or $9.00 a Month—No Interest Added Extra. Your choice of Chesterfield Lamp or Cooker, free. One wash-day extra also included. Choose from the list.

Here is the washer for a hot day. Does the whole thing without fuss or muss in an hour. You scarcely have to put more than your finger tips in the water, and there won't be a drop on the floor when you have finished. The piles of white things, rayons and summer wear, mounds of bedding, melt away. Start at 9 and you are through by 10 without fatigue. No rubbing or scrubbing or boiling. That's why the Beatty Washer is popular.

Trade in your old washer, if it is too slow for you, if it won't wash wrist-bands and neck-bands. Turn it in if it is cumbersome, slow and tedious. We will allow you something for it.

BEATTY WOOD TUB ELECTRIC WASHER

Only $1.00 Down—Terms $1.25 a Week or $5.00 a Month—No Interest Added Extra. Your choice of Chesterfield Lamp or Cooker free. One wash-day extra also included. Choose from the list.

This is a sturdily built wood-tub washer, equipped with our best metal wringer and the fast gyrating washing action which has made Beatty Washers famous. It will do white things and rayons in 4 to 8 minutes, and it will do the greasiest overalls a man ever wore in 15 minutes. You don't have to baby it by boiling the clothes. Just dump them in and let the washer do the work. Here's a real bargain. Not only because of the price and terms and extras, but because of the amount of washing action you get for your money.

Beatty BROS LIMITED

SALESMEN

So great has been the demand for Beatty Electric Washers during this summer sale we are short of men to arrange and give our demonstrations.
An electric washer is a blessing in any home, and when it is possible to get one for as little as $1.00 down, our men can hardly keep up with the work.
Most women intend to get an electric washer sooner or later, or trade in their old one. It pleases them to do so when they can secure this beautiful lamp at the same time.
We need men with intelligence to appraise the value of the old machines correctly and to assist our customers to select the proper laundry equipment to go with their washers. We assume the entire responsibility for the old machines. The best of them are refitted for sale again on very easy terms.

The Beatty Washer Store is one of a chain of stores operated by Beatty Bros., Limited, Fergus, Ont., in 32 Canadian cities, selling direct from factory to consumer.
The company has been established for more than 55 years, and is much the largest in its line in the British Empire. Besides washers, it makes 17 other lines of merchandise.
A factory service branch is maintained at each of these stores, with an expert mechanic in charge and all machines and parts carried. Our customers are well satisfied with the service they receive.
All accounts with local people are kept by the local store, where the manager may be seen at any time. Our local manager understands local conditions.

We have men in our ranks from all of the insurance companies, from implement companies, piano companies, men who have sold appliances, sewing machines, hosiery and other specialties to the consumer.
They tell us this work is the most agreeable they have ever tried. Because any woman who gets a Beatty Washer is so delighted she immediately urges all her friends to purchase one.

COMEDY OF ERRORS IN O.B.A.A. PLAY-OFF

IMPORTANT BATTLE IS MARRED BY LOOSE PLAY; COGS WIN BY LONE RUN

Game Is Carnival of Errors and Bone Head Base Running.

FINAL COUNT 6-5.

One of Worst Exhibitions of Baseball Seen Here This Summer.

Cognawagas have the drop on Raybestos, taking the first game of the playoff in the initial round of the intermediate O.B.A.A. playdowns at Exhibition Park last evening 6 to 5.

Close to fifteen hundred fans, the largest crowd of the year, overflowed the main stand to watch the battle. They saw one of the worst exhibitions of the summer pastime this season; a carnival of errors and bonehead base running; and yet withal a game fraught with excitement and see-saw scoring that kept them on edge. The brand of ball that both clubs turned in during last night's setto would have kept both away from the championship in their respective loops.

The struggle started away in good form and classy ball was displayed until the sixth. Then the break came and the players romped the diamond like public school youngsters.

The Cogs' errors in the field were not of the glaring type made by the Rays' pair around second base, but they ran the bases in a brainless fashion that robbed them of several earned scores.

In the second innings Cogs secured a brace of counters to take the lead. Rooke's walk, Hillier's double and Masterson's single made the two runs possible. The Rays got one right oack in their half, when Mein singled, was sacrificed to second by O. Nicholls and crossed the platter on Kitchen's hot smash between short and third.

The Cogs threw away opportunities galore in the fourth and fifth frames by crack-brained movements on the pathways.

Art Primeau's team broke loose in the seventh with two hits, one a triple by Moore, to score three runs, aided by three errors. But their period of leadership was brief since the Cogs collected a total of four in the eighth on two doubles and three open-handed errors. Rays got one back in their half of the same frame, but that was all they could do.

Maudsley Good in Final.

One of the bright spots in the game was the pitching feat of Sailor Maudsley's in the last inning. He had taken up the burden from Kitchen with one out in the eighth after three runs had dribbled across, and in the ninth he seemed to regain some of his former ability, striking out the last two batsmen with the bases loaded.

Rus Kitchen pitched winning baseball for the first seven innings, keeping the Cogs' hits well scattered. His task was made doubly-difficult by the errors of his team mates which frequently placed the first batter on the runways.

Casey Masterson got the call from Manager Davis and although he started wildly he improved with toil, only thirteen batters facing him from the beginning of the third inning to the end of the sixth. After the Rays had secured their trio of counters in the seventh, Vannest was rushed to the hilltop at the start of the next frame and he finished the game.

Billingsley was the hitting giant of the game with three safeties. Moore had two hits, one a triple and the other a double, while Hillier obtained two doubles.

How They Made 'Em.

Crary of the Cogs advanced to the plate and the battle royal was on. He struck out. Cripps singled to centre. Ross flied out to Moore. Cripps was picked off first by Kitchen. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Batten walked to start the Rays' half, and he advanced to second while Masterson was tossing out Nicholls. Moore struck out. Collins drew a pass. Corrin grounded to Crary. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Cogs scored two runs in the second. Rooke started the fireworks with a walk. He scored on Hillier's two base blow to left. Collins made a nice play on Billingsley's sacrifice, throwing him out at first. Masterson singled to centre, scoring Hillier. Jones flied to Moore. Wilson grounded to H. Nicholls. 2 runs, 2 hits, no errors.

The Rays got one of these back in their half. Hickey popped a foul fly to Jones. Mein singled to left. Nicholls sacrificed Mein to second. Kitchen singled between third and short, and Mein counted. Batten walked. Nicholls popped to Crary. 1 run, 2 hits, no errors.

Mein captured Crary's pop in back of the box. Cripps fanned. Ross singled to right. Rooke looked at a third one. No run, one hit, no errors.

Reaches First On Error.

Hillier reached first on Mein's error to open the fourth. Billingsley singled to left, Hillier stopping at second. Hillier rashly attempted to make third base after Kitchen had caught Masterson's little foul fly near the plate, and was thrown out, Kitchen to Batten, who covered. Jones struck out. No runs, one hit, one error.

Mein grounded out to Crary. Nicholls flied to left. Kitchen popped to Hillier. Nothing across.

The Cogs wasted a triple in the fifth. Wilson whiffed. Moore tried to make a shoe-string catch of Crary's drive and it went for three bases. Cripps hit to Kitchen who threw him out, and Crary was out at the plate, trying to score on the play, Hickey to Collins. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Batten struck out. Nicholls rolled to Masterson. Moore flied to left. Nothing across.

The Cogs threatened but failed to score in the sixth. Batten fielded Ross' grounder, but threw wild to first and Ross went to second. Rooke flied to Moore. Hillier hit to Batten and both runners were safe when Batten elected to throw to third, but too late to catch Ross. Hillier went out stealing second. Billingsley struck out to end the frame. No runs, no hits, one error.

Collins grounded to Rooke. Corrin popped to second. Hickey flied to right. Nothing across.

Poor base running robbed the Cogs of a potential counter in the seventh. Masterson was safe when Hickey juggled his grounder. Jones had a short single over second and Masterson out going into third, Moore to Nicholls, Jones going to second on the play. Wilson flied to left. Crary strolled. Cripps fanned. No runs, one hit, one error.

Rays Take Lead.

The Rays rallied and went to the front with three runs in their half. Mein rolled to third. Nicholls' attempted bunt was a little fly to Jones, which the latter muffed. He was the first Rays' batter in fourteen to get to first. Kitchen followed with a single to right. Batten walked, filling the bases. Nicholls struck out, but O. Nicholls scored when Ross' peg to catch him off third went into short left field. Moore followed with a triple to deep centre, scoring Batten and Kitchen. Crary threw out Collins. Three runs, two hits, one error.

The Cogs went into the eighth two runs down, but lost no time in getting these back and also two more. Mein kicked in with two errors in a row on Ross and Rooke. Hillier hit for two bases, scoring both runs. Billingsley's double scored Hillier. Maudsley now pitching for Rays. Masterson struck out. Jones' grounder went through Batten's legs and Billingsley crossed the plate. Wilson walked. Crary flied to right and Cripps struck out to end the inning. Four runs, two hits, three errors.

The Rays retrieved one run. Vannest entered the box for the Cogs, Masterson going to centre. Corrin walked. Hickey bunted and was safe on Jones' wide throw to first. Mein lined to Crary and with Corrin caught flat-footed, half way between second and third, but he got back to the bag safely when Crary and Hillier both dropped throw to catch him. Maudsley doubled into centre, scoring Corrin, but Hickey was out at the plate on a fast relay, Masterson to Hillier to Ross. Kitchen rolled to first. 1 run, 1 hit, 3 errors.

Maudley turned back the Cogs in the ninth after they had three on. Ross' hit to centre was good for a base. Rooke walked. Hillier popped to H. Nicholls. Billingsley singled over third. Masterson and Jones both struck out. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Rays went out in order. Batten took three strikes. Rogers, hitting for H. Nicholls, rolled to pitcher. Moore ended the game when he flied to second.

INFANT ROVER

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 21—What a lad of 11 could do with a tricycle is lost to the world through the intervention of Sheriff Joe Dreher and deputy with the plans of Daniel Radford, little colored lad. The boy had started out from Terre Haute for his home in Chicago on his trusty vehicle, and was picked up at the Illinois state line. Car fare was raised to send him home.

MALONEY BESTS R. BERTAZZOLO

Takes Revenge For Former Foul Beides Winning Every Decision in Ten Rounds.

30,000 FANS OUT.

BOSTON, Mass., August 21 (Canadian Press). — Jim Maloney, of South Boston, won the decision from Riccardo Bertazzolo, of Italy, in a ten-round heavyweight bout at the Braves' Field last night.

Maloney took every round. A crowd of 30,000 saw the match.

The South Boston battler gained ample revenge for the victory Bertazzolo scored on him on a foul recently when Maloney knocked the Italian flat after the bell rang. With the exception of a brief moment in the sixth round last night, Maloney always had the upper hand.

Bertazzolo strutted confidently into the ring with a weight advantage of almost nine pounds, having tipped the scales at 212 pounds to Maloney's 203½ pounds.

LONDON THISTLES AND TORONTO ST. MATHEWS MEET TO-DAY IN FINAL FOR DOMINION TROPHY

Major Competition at 37th Annual Dominion Lawn Bowling Tournament.

IN QUEEN CITY.

G. F. Cairns of This City Falls Before Bewley's Rink in Semi-finals.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—London Thistles and Toronto St. Matthews will meet to-day in the final of the Dominion Trophy, major prize offered for competition at the 37th annual Dominion Lawn Bowling Tournament being conducted here this week.

Thistles, skipped by that doughty bowler, F. C. Wilson, yesterday scored decisive triumphs in the third and fourth rounds to enter the semi-final. In the third round the Forest City representatives eliminated E. Entticknap, Toronto Withrow club, 17 to 5. Their fourth round victory over Dr. Brereton, Toronto Oakwoods, was equally convincing, the score being 18 to 9.

In the semi-finals played last night Wilson's rink engaged F. L. Allan's Toronto Kew Beach quartette, in a tight game which the London four won, 18 to 14, qualifying for the final.

W. A. Bewley's St. Matthew's rink were hardly as impressive in their three matches as London was, but many of the bowling experts are selecting them to win the final and retain permanent possession of the coveted gold cup.

In the third round the locals ousted W. Worden, Kew Beach, 22 to 16. They followed this up with a 15 to 12 victory over G. F. Cairns', Peterborough four. In the semi-finals, Bewley's quartette eliminated Arthur Downing's smart West Toronto rink, 16 to 14, in an exciting match.

PRIZE ROOKIE.

Dale Alexander, formerly with the Toronto Maple Leaf's Baseball Club, and now with Detroit Tigers has been named as one of the prize rookies of the year. He is named among the six best players who broke into the major leagues this season.

WHITE SOX LOSE BEFORE YANKS

Yanks Take Lead By Winning Third Game and Ninth Straight For Zachary.

FABER IS HONORED.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press).—The Yankees took the fore in the series with the White Sox yesterday, winning the third game 5 to 4 to give Tom Zachary his ninth straight victory of the season. Zachary was relieved in the seventh by Wilcy Moore, who kept the lead intact.

"Red" Faber, veteran of sixteen seasons with the White Sox, was feted by the 18,000 fans who turned out to honor the veteran on "his day." Faber could not squelch the heavy Yankee attack, but pitched a steady game throughout. He was showered with gifts and presented with a cheque for $2,700 before the game.

RED SOX WIN FROM TIGERS

DETROIT, Aug. 21.— (Canadian Press).—Three Detroit pitchers were unable to stop the Red Sox yesterday and the Tigers dropped a free-hitting contest 12 to 8.

Charlie Guffing, who managed to outlast Kyle Graham, Johnny Prudhomme and Emil Yde, was far from airtight, allowing 13 hits, but he sided materially at bat. He collected three hits in four times and scored twice.

Indians Go Under to Washington

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press).—The relief pitching of Miles Thomas after Burke had been knocked from the box in the first inning gave Washington a 6 to 2 victory over the Indians yesterday.

Thomas came on the scene with the bases filled and none out and retired the side with no further scoring. He allowed only six hits.

Newcomers Defeat Doubles Champions

(Canadian Press).— Shortly after being introduced to each other yesterday, Philip Neer of Portland, Oregon, and young Bruce Barnes, of Austin, Texas stepped out on to the historic Newport Casino tennis courts, and overwhelmed Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, who became the world's champion doubles team by defeating Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra in the recent Davis Cup play with France. The scores were 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

FIELD DAY IS BIG SUCCESS

Good Program Carried Out Despite Unfavorable Weather Conditions.

AT PONTYPOOL.

PONTYPOOL, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—The tenth annual field day held recently was a huge success even under unfavorable weather conditions. The field day was held under the joint auspices of the Memorial Park Society, L.O.L. 82, and R.B.P. No. 1063. Owing to the Memorial Park being flooded, the sports were held in John Shackleton's field, south of the village. The sports consisted of a baseball and softball tournament, and horseshoe pitching. The first game was a hardball game between Orono and Pontypool. The Orono team was managed by their veteran manager, Orme Gamsby, while the local outfit was piloted by John Payne.

This proved to be most the thrilling game of the afternoon, which went seven innings. The local team was leading at the end of the fifth, 8 to 5, but ragged fielding on part of Pontypool team enabled the Orono outfit to win out in the latter stages of the game. Clark pitched for the locals and twirled a nice game and received good support with the exception of a few slips at inopportune times. The fielding honors went to Pearlstein, a youngster who displayed great skill in left field without a slip. He also showed up well at the bat, coming through with a Texas leaguer. The batting honors went to Payne, who came through with a double, two singles and a walk in four trips to the plate. The Orono team also displayed some good work both at the bat and in the field.

The next game was between Newcastle and Bowmanville, the latter being victorious. The final baseball game was between Orono and Bowmanville, which was an easy victory for the latter town. Dutch Osborne twirler for Bowmanville, pitched superb ball and was a great factor in bringing home the bacon to his town.

Softball Tournament

In the softball tournament Millbrook defeated Kendal, 8 to 5; Orono defeated Pontypool, 6 to 3. The final game was between Orono and Millbrook, and the game had to be called before it was finished, but Orono was eading with a good majority.

In the evening a good concert was given by a Toronto company to a well-filled hall. This brought to a close one of the best field days ever held in this village.

Browns Drop League Pace-Setters 2 To 1

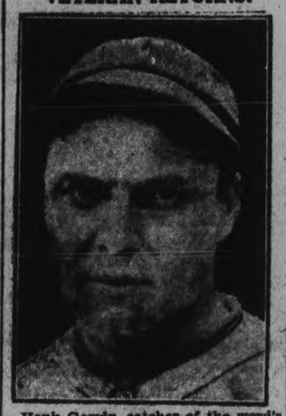
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 21 (C.P.) — Ralph Kress's home run in the sixth with one on base gave the Browns a 2 to 1 victory over the pace-setting Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis an advantage of two victories to one in the series.

Earnshaw was nicked for eight hits and Crowder for four. Quinn finished for the Athletics after Earnshaw was withdrawn for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

CRICKET

Full practices of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held at the Oval to-night and Friday night. All members are urgently requested to turn out. Preparations are being made for the Birchcliffe game on Labor Day. A bus has been chartered and all players and friends who are able to go are asked to notify the secretary of the club as soon as possible, as a limited number only can be accommodated.

VETERAN RETURNS.



Hank Gowdy, catcher of the word's champion Braves in 1914, who has not had an active big league season for five years, entered the Boston line-up on August 18, and got four hits in four times at bat against Cincinnati. The Braves won a slugging match by a 10 to 9 score. Gowdy is battery coach of the team.

SCORES OF 9-8, 5-2.

Reading Ends Home Stay By Losing Ninth Straight—Wings Win 11-0.

NEWARK, N.J., August 21 (Canadian Press). — Newark again took both ends in a double-header from the Montreal Royals yesterday, giving the Bruins a clear sweep of the four-game series. The scores were 9 to 8 and 5 to 2.

The first game was a free-hitting affair, the Royals pounding Carl Fischer for five of their ten hits in the eighth inning, when they scored four runs and came within one of tying the score.

WINGS BLANK KEYS 11-0.

READING, Pa., August 21 (Canadian Press). — Reading ended its home stay by losing its ninth straight, taking an 11 to 0 drubbing from Rochester. The league-leaders socked two Reading pitchers for 13 hits, while "Tex" Carleton held Reading to 6 to win his sixteenth victory of the year.

SKEETERS SPLIT BILL.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., August 21 (Canadian Press). — Concluding their last home stand against invading northern clubs, Jersey City divided a double bill with Buffalo. The Skeeters won the first game 6 to 2, and dropped the second 5 to 4.

GIANTS BREAK EVEN WITH CUBS

Bush Loses Third Game of Season in Opener, But Carson Turns Tables in Second.

HORNSBY'S TRIPLE WINS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—The New York Giants and league-leading Chicago Cubs broke even yesterday in two brilliant pitching duels. Guy Bush lost his third game of the season for the Cubs in the opener, bowing 4 to 1 before Freddy Fitzsimmons' pitching.

In the second game Hal Carlson blanked the Giants 1 to 0 in an even prettier duel. Hornsby's triple followed by Wilson's single accounted for the only run of the game in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

PHILLIES EASILY DOWN PIRATES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—The Phillies made it three in a row by defeating the Pittsburg Pirates here yesterday 8 to 6. The game started to become a rout when Brame was hammered for eight runs in the first three innings, five of them coming in the third, but Carmen Hill and Jess Petty, who followed him to the mound, kept the Phillies from further scoring.

BROOKLYN AND ST. LOUIS SPLIT

BROOKLYN, Aug. 21 (C.P.) — Brooklyn and St. Louis broke even yesterday in a double-header studded with smart pitching and opportune hitting. Wee Willie Sherdel shaded Dazzy Vance in the opener to give the Cards a 3 to 2 victory, but Ray Moss, young Dodger righthander, was supreme in the second contest, blanking the Red Birds 4 to 0.

BRAVES DOWNED 6-2 BY REDS

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Fred Lucas of the Reds chalked up his sixteenth pitching victory of the season yesterday when he pitched Cincinnati to a 6-to-2 win over the Braves. He permitted the Bostonians eight hits, but the Braves failed to bunch them.

SOFTBALL.

Harrisons and Bridgenorth Wildcats will be the attraction at Central School when these two teams will battle for the city championship and the right to go into the O.S.A. playdown. A win for the Cats tonight will give them the championship, but a win for Harrisons will necessitate a third game to declare a winner.

It should be a grand battle. Both teams are evenly matched and both play good ball.

The game is called for 6.30 sharp at Central School grounds and should draw a big crowd.

SCHOOL BOY ATHLETES LEAVE FOR KINGSTON

Will Complete in Ontario Schoolboys' Track and Field Championships

NORTH BAY, Aug. 21—(Canadian Press).— Fourteen Northern Ontario schoolboy athletes left last night for Kingston, where they will compete in the Ontario Schoolboys' Track and Field Championships. The competitions will be held under the auspices of the Ontario Athletic Commission at Richardson Stadium, Queen's University.

In the party, which was in charge of M. L. Troy, are eleven boys from North Bay and three from points along the T. and N.O. The North Bay boys are: Bert Brownell, Harold Miller, Gordon Dudley, Kenneth Milne, Arthur Angus, Sam Herman, John Poupore, Jack Ostrom, John Bartleman and Edgar Parsons, all of the North Bay Collegiate, and Charles McMillan of St. Mary's separate school. The other northern representatives are: John Kostiu of Cobalt, Lars Carlson of Haileybury and Donald Hurd Kirkland Lake.

T. Church of Kirkland Lake qualified in the senior class at the district meet but he was later found to be over age.

BETHEL BEATS HOARDS 25-6

Losers Blow in Early Stages of Game To Suffer Decisive Defeat.

SOFTBALL PLAY-OFF.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondent).—Hoard's staged their first and only blow-up of the season at home on Monday evening in the first play-off game with Bethel when the team from the highway village trounced Hoard's 25 to 6. Pierce started in the box for Hoard's but after two innings gave way to Hoard who was not more successful, being touched for eleven counters in the sixth. Pierce finished the game in better style. Errors in a large measure accounted for Hoard's loss, the misplays coming at critical mements. Bethel were very steady, except in the third and gave Broadworth splendid support in the pinches. The young pitcher was in a large measure responsible for the win, as his fast-breaking curve had the Hoard's batters completely fooled. Gunning, with three hits, and Jones with two were the only Hoard's batters to have any luck, each getting a two-bagger. Hume, Hoard and Pierce failed to hit safely. Jones and Hume were both good in the field and Jeffs was steady behind the bat as usual. Oddie played the worst game of the season, while Heagle and Rannie were off color as well.

In the first two innings, Hoard's were retired in order, every play being to first with Dodwell figuring prominently in the assists. M. Gibson retired thirteen of the Hoard's batters, three unassisted.

Ernie Broadworth led the attack for Bethel. At bat seven times he scored six runs, reaching first once on an error, once on a walk, and five times on hits, including a homer and two triples. W. Warren scored five, but only got two hits, the others being on errors. P. Gibson scored four runs on two hits and a bunch of errors. G. Broadworth got four hits and three runs.

The next game of the play-offs is at Bethel on Thursday. Line-up:

Bethel.—G. Broadworth, p; A. Warren, c; M. Gibson, 1b; Dodwell, 2b; E. Broadworth, 3b; K. Broadworth, ss; Carlisle, lf; P. Gibson, cf; W. Warren, rf.

By innings:	R.	H.	E

Somerville Eliminated In Canadian Golf Play

JASPER, Alta, Aug. 21—(Canadian Press).—"Sandy" Somerville of London, Ont., the defending champion, was eliminated from the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship yesterday afternoon when Cecil Coville of Vancouver defeated him on the thirty-sixth hole of the first match-play round. After finishing the first 18 three up, Somerville lost his advantage in the afternoon. He was in a trap with his second on the last hole and tcok two to get out, lying four on the green, while Coville was on in two and down in four.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

NEGLECT OF DUTY

Anyone not only can be rich, but ought to be rich.—John J. Raskob.

I know it is my duty
To be a wealthy man,
With tons of gold, as I am told
That Raskob says I can.
But while unaccounted millions
This active lad has made
And laid aside, I've merely plied
A rather trifling trade
And when, as soon they will be,
My earthly sands are run,
My duty, which is growing rich
Must be left quite undone.

This lies upon my conscience:
My head is bowed with shame.
Too late I learn with grave concern
I haven't played the game.
While John piled up a fortune
Which any one can do
In daily gains, as he maintains,
I haven't saved a sou.
It may be that a fortune
Would do me little good,
Yet I must die, aware that I
Have not done what I should.
And so it's Raskob's duty
To each and every one,
To teach the knack of getting jack
As fast as he has done.
Some nay not want the money—
Though plenty of them might
But I believe they all will grieve
If they have not done right.
And if he'll give me lessons
In gathering the pelf
I'll gladly learn my pile to earn
And thereby square myself!

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Davy Lee diminutive star of "The Singing Fool" will be seen and heard at the Capitol commencing to-morrow in "Sonny Boy."

Davey Lee, the world's best-loved child, shortly after having passed his fourth birthday, was raised to stardom and "Sonny Boy," his first starring picture, a Warner Bros., picture, comes to the Capitol theater tomorrow for a run of three days.

"Sonny Boy" has none of the heart-rending tragedy of "The Singing Fool" which caused oceans of tears to be shed over the adorable Davey, and yet its appeal is as great. "Sonny Boy" is a comedy of domestic life. Sonny Boy's parents, having disagreed, his mother's sister kidnaps Davey, to make the father come to time. The picture is well cast and well-directed, but it is the tantalizing personality of tiny Davey that dominates.

He is so very tiny, his eyes have such an elfin twinkle, and his wink is so captivating, that audiences are in a state of continual "ohs" and "ahs," and their laughter is strangely near the verge of tears.

Davey is supported by a star cast including Betty Bronson, Edward Everett Horton, Gertrude Olmsted, John T. Murray, Tommy Dugan, Lucy Beaumont, Edmund Breese and Jed Prouty. The story is by Leon Zuardo. C. Graham Baker did the scenario and Archie L. Mayo directed.

SECOND ROUND PLAY.

Four of To-day's Eight Matches Has International Flavor.

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta., Aug. 21.—Sixteen players started out this morning in the second round of the Canadian amateur golf championship intent on defeating their opponents and entering the third round Wednesday. Yesterday 16, including the defending champion, Sandy Somerville, of the London, Ont., Hunt Club, were eliminated; to-day they entered the second round of the Western Canada amateur, which on Tuesday sixteen others entered by defeating their opponents in the first round.

Four of to-day's eight matches in the Canadian will see Americans and Canadians pitted against each other. In three others Western and Eastern Canadians will cross clubs. The other match is between two Westerners, Cecil Coville of Vancouver, who sprang the surprise of the tournament yesterday by defeating Somerville and F. D. Fraser, a fellow-townsman.

Discussion to-day as the first pair got away in perfect weather centred on Coville's chances to reach the final. He has been a finalist in six tournaments in the Canadian West and the Western United States, but never has won a championship except the Vancouver City, which he has won twice. His chances are not as highly thought of as those of Eddie Held, New York, who yesterday played brilliantly on his first 18 but was not so good in the afternoon. Monty Hill, a Vancouver youngster, held him to two up. With Somerville out, two other Easterners, Don Carrick, of Scarboro, Toronto, and Frank Thompson of Mississauga, Toronto, both double winners of the Canadian and the only former champions left in, loom large as title prospects. C. C. "Happy" Fraser, the only other former winner entered, was eliminated yesterday by Freddy Woods of Vancouver.

FIFTH TEST MATCH DECLARED A DRAW

South Africa Makes Strong Fight, Scoring 492 Runs First Inning.

LONDON, Aug. 21 (Canadian Press Cable).—South Africa's challenge to English cricket, which reached its most dangerous strength in the drawn fifth and concluding Test match at the Kennington Oval yesterday, has been turned back.

The Springboks, however, though they lost the rubber, came out of the five-game series with three creditable draws. Yesterday, by scoring 492 for eight wickets and declaring in their first innings, they put up the greatest score ever compiled by a South African team against England.

In addition, H. G. Deane, the South African captain, and H. W. Taylor, the veteran, made a new record for a fourth wicket stand in Anglo-African matches, 214, which displaces the 143 made by Nourse and White at Durban in 1910.

PICTORIAL GOLF

STANCE AND FOOTWORK ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESS.

The stance is as important as anything in golf and footwork is quite essential to success. It can make or mar one's game. Many golfers in their eagerness to hit the ball a long ways rise on their toes. Usually they are unconscious of this fault, but some acquire the habit early in their career and it sticks with them.

To play well one must settle well back on the heels. Never at any time are both heels off the ground as this would cause one to fall forward, thereby spoiling the shot. As the Scotch say, "Sit doon to it." This means resting the weight on the heels and using the leverage of the left foot in the backswing and the right foot in the follow-through. The right heel comes up as the ball is hit.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—When Eddie Emerson's name appears in the line-up of the Ottawa Senators football team it is nothing unusual. For without the name of Emerson in that lineup, it wouldn't be the Ottawa team. Emerson, hailed as the greatest flying wing in the Dominion, has been playing football since he was knee high to a grasshopper, and isn't thinking of quitting just yet. He will be out again this year with the pigskin warriors from the Capital.

He is known as the "veteran of veterans" and the "grand old man of Canadian football", and the titles are not hung on the wrong individual. Of course he is not old—just about 39—and has vitality of a man of 25. He is a product of Georgia but has been in this country for the greater part of his gridiron career which commenced when he was about 15 years old. Emerson is to Canadian football what Babe Ruth is to major league baseball—one of the greatest drawing cards in the field of sport.

Played 120 Games

Eddie has played in more than 120 games of senior football, and forgets how many junior games. When Emerson hangs up his cleated dogs, Canadian football is going to have a tough time angling for another flying wing like him. Eddie's position has not always been confined to flying wing because he has played at every position in the game. In the great game be-And what a help that was!

Not so long ago football fans began gossiping that Eddie was through. "Not a chance" says Eddie, "because he worshipped the game, and now tells the wide world he won't be through for a long time yet." The burly 190 pounder is just as fresh as a daisy, and is just hankering to be up and at 'em this season. When he first started with the Ottawas he got an awful ride. In 1912, the team decided they needed Emerson and he has been with it since. His first berth was center scrimmage. Eddie has been with the Ottawa team when it stood at the bottom of the heap, but it was never due to his playing that the team finished anywhere but the top.

When Eddie isn't playing football he will be found plunging into bundles of business matter on his desk at the Emerson Motor Sales, of which he is the president.

He looks like a business executive—which he is. He looks, too, like an athlete. Right again. He is Eddie Emerson, evergreen veteran star of the Ottawa Senators, who has been in the game for years, and years and years. At any rate he has played for the Ottawa Inter-provincial team for 15 years. And now he's far from through. He devotes his spare time to being president of a motor sales company.

LEAFS BACK HOME FOR FINAL STAND

O'Neil Men Meet Baltimore in Two Games This Afternoon.

TORONTO, August 21. — To-day the Leafs take up the pursuit of the runaway Rochester Red Wings, and while their task seems well nigh hopeless they are clinging to the hope that the champions will falter to an alarming degree. Steve O'Neill brought his battle-scarred team back to Toronto yesterday and they thus got a day of rest before tackling the Baltimore Orioles at Leaf Stadium in a double header this afternoon.

"The players are in great condition and the hurling staff is in tip-top form," stated the pilot last night. "I have been badly disappointed over the failure of the teams in the Southern section to cut in on that Rochester lead. The Leafs will have to fight a lone battle now. It's a high hill to climb but we'll keep on trying."

Questioned in regard to Guy Cantrell's case, Manager O'Neill stated that the pitcher was suspended because he broke training rules when he had been informed that he would be used on the mound the next day. "Cantrell's suspension without pay and the $200 fine, will stand as far as I am concerned," said O'Neill. "Players must be taught that they cannot jeopardize the chances of their team by breaking training rules."

OAK RIDGE CAMP.

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 20.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Begun last year as an experiment, and continued this year with enlarged capacity, an increased staff and a sound business management Oak Ridge Camp may be said to have arrived. A visit to the camp shows a group of healthy happy boys spending their holidays in ideal surroundings and in their play learning day by day lessons in self reliance and self preservation on land and in water, developing healthy bodies, clean minds and a wholesome outlook in life. The boys receive individual attention and instruction impossble in one of the very large camps and in the realization of personal responsibility and individual importance find in the camp a real home from home. Unlike some of the large camps "Oak Ridge" does not specialize in any particular line but the management declare their ideal to be to develop an all round boy who with good wholesome food and plenty of it, a reasonable amount of exercise on land and in water coupled with instruction in swimming, in handling a canoe and intelligently and in the proper manner, training in land sports and physical drill, will develop into an all round man. It's a high ideal and result of the first six weeks of the camp is very encouraging to the management, as the boys are showing a real aptitude for the life and are proud to display the skill they have attained.

All up at Seven.

At seven o'clock a.m. the whistle blows and the boys rise for their morning dip after which they have breakfast. Then there are two hours free time during which they put their rooms in order and play or go out fishing or boating. The noon day meal is at 12.30 which is followed by a rest period of from 15 to 30 minutes. The afternoon is spent in various ways with supper at 6.30 with the exception of the regular meal hours and time of rising and the morning dip the routine is informal and never monotonous or irksome. The hours for swimming vary and in this they are instructed in the proper methods of swimming and diving and in consequence they are as much at home in the water as on land. They also receive lessons in handling a canoe and every youngster in camp can shake out a sixteen foot canoe. They gave the writer a practical demonstration which was most convincing, a small boy of nine years was shaking out his canoe with his eight-year-old brother looking on from the shore with a critical eye. When asked if he could shake out a canoe as well as his brother he replied, "Yes, much better" and in his turn gave a highly creditable demonstration. The little eight-year-old, who is the baby of the camp, gave a good exhibition of diving and can swim well with a good turn of speed. One boy with just four lessons excelled especially in the shake out and also in the jumping on the gunwale of the canoe to propel it. The boys can all do this and take a great deal of pleasure in it. The sleeping quarters are in a comfortable cottage which has a fine place for the cool days and nights in its living room. The porch is screened and among its furnishings is an inviting swing couch whch is always popular. A pretty rustic cabin built high above the main cottage has room for four boys and is the headquarters of the councillors of the camp. Some of the boys prefer tents and these are provided. There is an open air gymnasium with parallel bars, etc. and a quoits course. Norman Smith, an undergraduate of R.M.C. directs the "gym" work while Reg Bloomfield is the canoe instructor and Don Fitzgerald, the champion swimmer of the Kawartha Lakes, is swimming director. Mr. Bloomfield is the best canoe instructor in Canada and his connection with the camp means a great deal as he has won a reputation that is nation wide. Don Fitzgerald is not only a swimmer of note but also is one of the best canoeists on the Kawartha Lakes. These gentlemen in their canoe work wont to make the canoe the safest craft afloat.

Excursionists a Feature.

There are numerous excursions and all days outings and also real camping trips up Eel's Creek, sometimes two-day trips, the largest was a three-day trip. These trips teach the boys the proper management of a canoe on a trip, the way to light a camp fire and to carefully extinguish it, to prepare food and to learn the great lesson of self reliance. These trips are immensely popular, as are also the bonfires which are built on a small rocky island at the mouth of the creek and are rea social events.

The father of the little Winlow boys, who have spent the summer at Oak Ridge, presented the camp with a fine sloop which the boys enjoy and are learning the use of.

The dining quarters are situated on the east side of creek and there besides the kitchen and dining room, which are roomy and airy as are the quarters of the camp doctor, the resident director and a hopital tent which is prepared for emergencies.

The cook is an important person and very popular with the boys, who with the councillors, keep up the supply of wood and water.

The camp will in the near future be situated at "Oak Ridge" which lies east of the present site and just behind Quarry Island and is an ideal location. The entire party boarded the launch "Marie" en route for "Oak Ridge" which has a remarkably fine natural dock, a good bathing beach and a view of the lake which is unrivalled and a shore supper was cooked and served here and those who have never partaken of a meal of flapjacks served out in the open will know just how good they are. The flapjacks constituted the first course but there was plenty to follow, hot buttered toast and jam, cake and cookies, fruit, etc. and what a huge meal everyone ate for Stoney Lake is guaranteed to produce good appetite. Then the sail back to camp in the glow of the sunset, the return trip was enriched by the unusual spectacle of a flock of loons on the wing evidently making an endurance flight or non stop flight or whatever is fashionable in the loon best circles. Rumor says that they have been driven out of the northern lakes by fires and that they are flying to find safer quarters. Whatever the reason of their presence in such numbers they gave a touch of interest to the close of a perfect day.

JACK HOBBS SUPPLANTS HAMMOND AS TOP BATSMAN ENGLISH CRICKET

Strength After Childbirth

"After my baby was born I was very weak and run-down. I was not able to do any heavy work but I had to be around on my feet all day. The strain proved too great and I was real sick for about two months. My mother advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to take it. You should have seen the change in me. I am now well and strong and in good spirits. I have taken the Vegetable Compound ever since if I feel my energy lacking. I also take Liver Pills and I find them a wonderful help for constipation." —Mrs. James E. Robson, Box 693, Fernie, British Columbia.

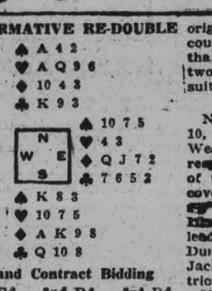
SOUND AUCTION BRIDGE

By WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD

The World's Greatest Authority

THE INFORMATIVE RE-DOUBLE



Auction and Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd	3rd Rd.
South	1 N T	Double	Pass
West	Double	2 N T	Pass
North	Redouble	Double
East	2 ♦	Pass

There are certain situations in the game of Bridge in which a partnership should always try for penalties instead of playing the hand at own best bid. The most outstanding of such situations is the one in which a No Trump is doubled negatively by opponent on left and partner of the original bidder also holds a No Trump. In such case, the partner should always redouble regardless of his very definite ability to assist.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South bids one No Trump which West doubles negatively, hoping for a response in either Major suit by partner. North, holding a No Trump bid himself, re-doubles. East now has no option but to bid two Diamonds which South doubles positively.

West, holding but two small Diamonds, realizes he is in a tight hole in view of North's re-double and particularly as his own original negative double was extremely doubtful. In self-defense West therefore bids two No Trumps, North doubles and all pass thereafter.

Contract: While North-South have the values for a game bid at No Trump, there is clearly more to be gained by the procedure as outlined in the Auction bidding above. Following North's positive double of West's two No Trump, South figures that the penalties to be collected should be far more profitable than the value of a game.

It will again be noted that West's original negative double is weak and could only be justified by the fact that he holds four cards, inclusive of two honors, in each of the two Major suits.

Salient Points of Play

North leads initially the Diamond 10, an opening clearly marked by West's denial of partner's Diamond response and South's positive double of the two Diamond bid. Declarer covers the Diamond 10 with Dummy's Jack and South wins with the King. South returns the Heart 10, leading up to the weakness in the Dummy hand; West covers with the Jack and North's Queen wins the trick.

North now leads the Diamond 4, Declarer plays Dummy's 7, South's 8 winning. Again South leads Hearts, the 7, and as West refuses to go up with the King, North's 9 holds the fourth trick. North now leads his remaining Diamond, the 3, Declarer plays from Dummy the 2, refusing to go up with his last honor, and South takes the fifth trick with the 9 and lays down the Diamond Ace upon which North discards a small Spade.

Following this, South returns his remaining Heart, West plays low, North wins the trick with the 6, and in turn, lays down his Ace of Hearts upon which South discards a small Spade.

North now shifts to Clubs, leading the 3, and Declarer takes South's Queen with the Ace, following which he attempts to establish a Spade trick by laying down his Queen, which North passes and South's King wins.

South now responds to partner's Club lead by returning the Club 10. West refuses to cover and the 10 holds, whereupon South leads his remaining Club, the 8, which North wins with the King and lays down the Ace of Spades for the thirteenth trick.

Thus North and South take twelve tricks against West's two No Trumps doubled, setting East-West at Auction, 700 points plus 50 points for making a Small Slam and 30 Aces; at Contract, if Not Vulnerable, 1800 points; and if Vulnerable, 3600 points.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your bridge problems. Write to him, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

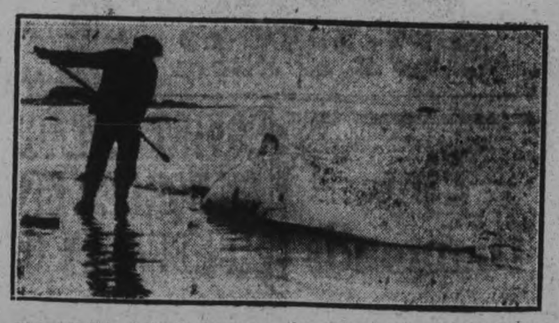
HUNTING WHITE PORPOISE



The wolf fish of the St. Lawrence—the white porpoise—is being hunted from land, air and water just now in an attempt to drive them from Quebec waters. Bombs are being dropped on them from the air, explosive bullets fired at them from small boats, and traps built to catch them near the land. This fellow, who weighs over 900 pounds, was struck twice by an exxplosive bullet before being reduced to so much bad odor. Porpoises frequently escape after being hit six or seven times with the ordinary steel nosed bullet. The dum dum, however, usually kills quickly.

A VISIT TO THE "Y" CAMP

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—Wednesday is visitors' day at the Y.W.C.A. Camp, and the superintendent and girls are usually hostesses to a large number each week who come to see the camp, and in each case they leave full of enthusiasm. Other ventures have been made with rented property, but the purchase of "Inglestane," the beautiful summer home of the late Henry Sutherland, has inaugurated a new era in the history of the "Y" Camp on Stoney Lake. The cottage is well furnished and possesses a large fireplace, which is the joy of the camp on cool or wet days; the wide verandahs are really the living-rooms of the girls, as every possible moment is spent out of doors, and this season has been an ideal vacation time. A bathing place which is accommodated to the needs of the skilled and unskilled swimmer is a real feature, and the dressing-rooms all close at hand, but perhaps the greatest joy of all is the flat rock which lies between the water and the dressing-rooms, for here the girls take sun baths and spend hours of their leisure. The hours for swimming are arranged for 11.30 a.m. and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. There are many excursions within reach. Among the favorites are Perry's Creek, Eel's Creek and Indian River. The girls enjoy these very much, and in days when the wind is too strong for water trips, Eagle Mount lends itself well for hiking, and the neighboring cottagers find the "Y" girls very pleasant neighbors. The camp is run on daylight saving time, and the girls have a long happy day with a few duties and many pleasures. Meal hours are enlivened with singing, and the various cities represented vie with one another in extolling their virtues. One hears a lively group send out this challenge:

"Some like peaches, some like cherries
Some like apples, but Hamilton is the berries."

Toronto retorts, and Peterborough does not lag behind, then Windsor chimes in, and so it goes. Town pride is strong, and there is much planning of new verses so that each meal is enriched by at least one new effort.

Domestic Science.

The girls take turns in serving and find in the few domestic tasks the real home touch, never irksome, but merely pleasant. The best kept room each day is awarded the pennant, and it is proudly displayed; the idea of a place for everything and everything in its place is evidently well observed, for with the house full to its limit, there was no confusion or lack of orderliness.

There is a basketball court, and also a set of deck tennis. Next season it is hoped to have a real tennis court. There is a splendid library, inherited with the place, which offers attractive reading for wet days or for the book lover at any time. The girls edit a newspaper and take a great deal of pleasure in it; in fact everything appears to please, and the bright, cheery, wholesome girls are the best advertisement the camp can have. This year has brought a large patronage, girls coming from Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Kitchener, Peterborough and other places. It is expected that next year the dining-room will be enlarged, and also the sleeping quarters.

There is a fleet of boats which are used with discretion. A girl has to pass a test to be allowed to take out a boat, and in taking trips the proper loading of boats is carefully supervised, and then there is the motor boat which has been added during the season, and which is the pride and joy of the whole camp. Mrs. Arnott, the camp cook, looks after the material needs of her large family, and appears to like camp as well as the youngest girl. Mr. Arnott, who enjoys the distinction of being "the only man," enjoys great popularity, and helps in many ways to make things better.

Last but not least is the superintendent, Miss Kennedy of Hamilton, who is the busiest woman on the lake, and if looks are an indication, she is one of the happiest; she is custodian of the motor boat, the camp and the "tuck shop." The camp has a cat as its mascot, and pussy enjoys a "rare good time."

Four of the girls plan to enter the swim on Saturday, and are preparing for it.

As the sun goes down behind Mount Julian's green crest, and one chugchugs away in the camp launch to re-unite with one's motor car, one says "good-bye" with sincere regret to the jolly group who are spending a happy holiday at the sign of the Blue Triangle.

A LOCAL CIRCLE BANQUETS A.O.F.

One Hundred Delegates and Visitors Attended—Memorial Service

DEGREE WORK PRIZE.

A banquet was tendered to the delegates to the A.O.F. convention in the parish hall of St. John's Church last night by the Queen Alexander Circle of Peterborough, with about a hundred delegates and visitors present. An excellent program of addresses and musical numbers was provided by the local members of the Order and visitors.

Following the banquet, the degree team from the Hamilton "Concord" Circle, No. 54 A.O.F. put on a display of degree work before the assembled delegates and was awarded the silver cup, being the only team entered. Eighteen took part in this work, in charge of District Deputy Dunsmure of Hamilton.

A memorial service in memory of thirty-three companions who have passed away in the past two years was held by the High Circle officers and the degree team from Hamilton. Among those in whose memory the service was held was the late Miss M. Burke, Past High Chief.

Visited Collegiate

The morning session of the convention opened at 10 o'clock yesterday and continued until noon, the business of the Order being the program for the morning. At one o'clock the delegates were taken through the Collegiate Institute building and returned to the convention hall to resume the business of the conference at 2 p.m. A trip around the city in cars kindly provided by the Peterborough Auto Club took place later in the afternoon.

The program of the banquet last night was as follows:

Toastmistress—Ethel Ashby, High Chief Companion.

Toast—"The King." "God Save the King."

Toast—"The High Circle, C.O.F." Proposed by Comp. J. J. Hargarth, H.C.R.; Response by H. I. G. Howell.

Solo—Companion J. Pattison.

Toast—"The Subsidiary High Court of the Ancient Order of Foresters," Proposed by H.S.C.C. Bateman; Response by H.C.S. A. Martin.

Reading — Companion L. Grace Nicholls.

Toast—"The High Chief Companion." Proposed by Mrs. Rockwood, P.H.C.C.; Response by Miss Ashby, H.C.C.

Solo—Companion Mrs. Tucker.

Toast—"Our Entertainers," Proposed by High Marshall Comp. Geddes and High Sentry, Comp. Veary; Response by Comps. Simmons and Martin of Peterborough; and Comps. Robinson and Pomeroy of Bowmanville.

DIES FROM SHOCK.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—When she cut a wire attached to an electric heater while preparing for a bath in her home here yesterday, Mrs. Emma G. Field, 72, was shocked by the cut wire and was knocked back into the bath tub where she was found dead by her daughter a short time later.

Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford decided an inquest unnecessary.

REGISTER Of Social and Business Meetings

This Register is published to enable organizations planning major meetings to know in advance, and reserve, evenings on which there are no rival attractions. It will pay Peterborough organizations to consult the Register prior to settling dates. Responsible officers should mail notices well in advance.

Before deciding a date for any event, consult the Register to ascertain that there is no conflict with other events—and then send in YOUR date quickly so that other organizations will not use it.

DOLLAR DAY

Important particulars about the big Two-Day Midsummer Event at this popular store, next Friday and Saturday. Preparations have been on the way for months, in an effort to far excel any previous Dollar Day. Loads of the most beautiful merchandise will be sold at extremely reasonable prices.

As in the past, the Dollar Day estimating blanks will be given with all purchases of $1.00, for cash paid on accounts, and to those having open accounts with the store, on charged orders given on the Dollar Days. Fair's customers are always among the successful prize winners, and, no doubt will continue to be, due to the fact that information about results in former contests are given by any of our clerks on request. It pays to use the Dollar Day blanks, secured at Fair's, to try for a part of the $150.00 in cash offered by the Merchants to the fortunate estimators.

Our $15.00 in Prizes

Should anyone win the first prize of $50 in the big Merchants' Contest with a ticket obtained through a purchase at Fair's, we will give the winner $10.00 in goods; and if second prize is won in the same way, we will present the winner with $5.00 in goods.

On account of the very low prices at which goods are sold on the Dollar Days, we are unable to allow exchanges or give refunds on purchases.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR MEMBERSHIP.

All intending members for the coming season are invited by the conductor and executive of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir to meet at Mr. Chenhall's home, corner of Water and McDonnel Streets, on Saturday evening at 7.15 sharp. It is hoped many will be present, so they can prepare for the broadcasting event by the choir on the evening of October 16.

Executive of the choir will meet in Chamber of Commerce Rooms tomorrow (Thursday) evening, at 7 o'clock sharp.

ENGINEERS AT WORK.

The lobby of the Regent Theatre is piled high with equipment for the installation of the "talkies." Engineers have been busy for some time now and the Regent will utter its first sylables at an early date. The theatre will be one of the smallest houses on the continent to afford the "talkies," and very satisfactory results are expected as it has been found that the smaller the house the more realistic the effect is.

The booth has been enlarged and the stage altered in preparation for the sound pictures, but otherwise the theatre will require little alteration. Announcements regarding the opening and the opening pictures will be made shortly.

BUILDING PAINTED.

The side and a portion of the front of the building recently occupied by the Review plant, and now to be occupied by the Bell Telephone Company, has been refreshed with a bright coat of red.

SAMPLES GIVEN.

For the past few days the children of the city and some of the grown-ups have been delighted by the gift of samples given out by the makers of a well-known chocolate bar. The doners have been riding about on the top of a truck casting the wax-wrapped samples to the sidewalks. These samples have been eagerly snatched up by children, and even an occasional adult has been seen stooping to retrieve one and then glance hastily with a sudden sense of shame to see if he were being watched.

WHOSE HONOUR.

It is a matter of doubt who claims the honor of owning the most dilapidated car in the city, but anyone who saw a certain old Ford on North George street yesterday afternoon would be inclined to make the award on the spot. To begin with, the ancient vehicle had a sad list to the port side, that was so bad the driver had several cushions placed in such a way on the seat as to keep him from sliding down and out, for the evidence tended to indicate that it was a long time since it had boasted doors. Hay wire was the principal reason why the back of the car and the front remained in partnership, and even these bonds seemed strained to the limit. No running boards were to be seen and evidently the owner was not accustomed to venturing forth in the chariot at night, for there were no headlights, or tail lights, either.

Police Headquarters May Be Moved Here.

That the headquarters of the Provincial Police may be moved from Belleville to Peterborough was learned to-day. It is understood that the matter has not yet been definitely decided. If they are moved to Peterborough, it is probable that the offices will be located in the new Kresge Building.

SOVIET ATTACK ON BORDER CITY IS BEATEN OFF

Chinese Suffer 30 Casualties in Successful Defence of Manchuli.

CAPTURE RUSSIAN GUNS.

Martial Law Declared in Eastern Railway Zone Due To Sabotage.

TOKYO, Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Manchuli correspondents of Nichi Nichi and Asahi Shimbun to-day reported a heavy battle yesterday just east of Manchuli between Soviet invaders and Chinese troops.

The two newspapers said Soviet armored trains appeared within 500 yards of the Manchurian frontier town. Four hundred infantrymen jumped from the trains and deployed, opening fire on the Chinese under cover of their own artillery.

The Chinese troops replied with Howitzers and the Russians eventually retired after two hours' fighting in which the Chinese suffered 30 casualties. A number of Russian guns and some ammunition was captured.

(Manchuli is about 10 miles from the Sino-Russian frontier, in Manchuria.)

Chinese Boat Captured

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Aug. 21 (C.P.).—Chinese military despatches from Harbin to-day stated a Russian gunboat on the Sungari river near Fuchinghsien fired upon a Chinese postal barge and captured five postal employees and the boat's mail.

Minor engagements were reported to-day from Mulinsien and Hsingkai in the neighborhood of Lake Hanka, while it was said severe fighting took place near Chal Nor on Aug. 18 and Aug. 16.

Railway traffic at the eastern end of the Chinese Eastern Railway has been crippled by attempts to blow up trains.

Martial Law Reigns

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21 (C.P.).—A message from Harbin said that martial law had been declared throughout the Chinese Eastern Railway zone as a consequence of increasing gravity of the situation in Manchuria and recurrence of sabotage and track wrecking.

Battle of Propaganda

TOKYO, August 21.—The Russo-Chinese war in Manchuria has settled down to a "battle of propaganda" and is likely to be fought out on this line all summer and far into the winter, according to reports received here.

Although accounts of border clashes are too frequent to permit doubt that the situation approaches approaches hostilities with considerable loss of life on both sides, the main concern of each party appears to be to fix the blame for these incidents on the other.

ZEP TO FOLLOW CIRCLE ROUTE BY ALUETIANS

Eckener Treats Take Off The Same as If Sailing Ship From Harbour.

LEFT AT 2 O'CLOCK TO-DAY.

Has Sufficient Fuel For Four Motors For 120 Hours Flying.

TOKIO, Japan, August 21 (Canadian Press). — Final preparations were all but complete late to-day for the take-off of the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, at 4 a.m. tomorrow (2 p.m. E.S.T. to-day), for its trans-Pacific flight to Los Angeles.

Dr.Hugo Eckener, the ship's master, who treats the take-off as no more eventful than the departure of a ship from New York Harbor, has asked the passengers to be ready to go aboard at 2 a.m., a full two hours prior to the scheduled departure.

He said to-day he expected to follow the northern great circle route to Seattle, probably along the line of the Aleutian Islands, following the coast southward to the southern California goal.

Japanese weather surveys of the Western Pacific area made by the meteorological service particularly for Dr. Eckener, showed not a single disturbance anywhere.

The fuel put into the ship was a mixture of pyrofax combined with hydrogen in the proportion of 65 to 35. It replaced the Blau gas used in Germany, but unobtainable here, and will be sufficient for flying four motors 120 hours against the 100 Dr. Eckener thinks likley.

KANES REMANDED WEEK SERIOUS CHARGES.

Will Appear in Belleville Court for Assault on Young Girl

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—Frederick Kanes was remanded one week when he appeared before Magistrate William Keith in County Court to-day to face four serious charges laid by the East York Township police, the result of a two weeks' camping trip near Belleville, when it is alleged, he was accompanied by a 10-year-old East York girl, whom he assaulted. He will appear in Belleville police court next week.

WEDDING BELLS

WARD-SCOTT.

A quiet wedding took place at the Murray street Baptist church on Saturday, when Alstha, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Scott, was united in marriage to John Mason Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ward. The marriage was solemnized at three o'clock, with the Rev. Mr. Haddow officiating.

The bride looked charming in a gown of coral georgette with silver embroidery trimming, with picture hat of ivory mohair, blonde shoes and hose to match, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Velma Scott, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and was gowned in yellow georgette trimmed with lace, cream picture hat and hose to match, with black satin shoes. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and maiden hair fern. Mr. Frederick Ward, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, supper was served to about 50 guests at the home of the bride, 305 Mark street. Among the many gifts received by the young couple were a handsome New Haven clock, presented by the employees of the Western Clock Company, where the bride was employed for a number of years, and a pair of wicker chairs and mirrors, presented to the groom by members of the De Laval Company.

The happy couple left by motor for Toronto and points west and on their return will reside in Peterborough.

OBITUARY

OLIVE KEATING.

The death of Olive Keating, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Keating, 5 Edison Avenue, occurred this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital after a very short illness. The child was seven months of age.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2.30 p.m. from the residence of her parents to St. Peter's Cemetery.

DOUGLAS TAYLOR WILSON.

In Paris, Ont., on Monday, August 19, Douglas Taylor Wilson, eldest son of Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Wilson, aged 22 years, 8 months.

The funeral service was held at St. Paul's United Church Parsonage, West Broadway, this afternoon. Interment in Paris Cemetery.

In Police Court

The case against Andrew Jackson, who was charged with allowing his dog to run at large and not having paid the dog tax was withdrawn this morning. Someone had paid the necessary two dollars for the tag.

A local man was charged with desertion of his wife, but the case was adjourned until next week.

A charge of operating under false pretenses was preferred against Byron Lear, alias Gualter de L'Eveille, who, it is alleged, obtained in a fraudulent manner a valuable quantity of cigars, cigarettes and candy from two distributors in Peterborough by ordering the goods to be sent to one of the local halls where he claimed a large convention was to take place. It is claimed by the police that when he was arrested he had sold part of the goods.

The case will come up again on Wednesday, August 28.

HUNDREDS ARE BUYING EXHIBITION TICKETS

Sale of Strip Tickets Has Only Ten More Days To Go.

Hundreds are buying the strips of tickets (4 for one dollar) for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. These tickets are on sale at many points in the city and district. They are good for admission at the gate and on the grandstand, giving the purchaser a ticket that costs only 25c for admission and 25c for grandstand.

Every effort is being made to have this year's show surpass all others and from the request for prize lists it would lock as if we would have a record entry.

The tickets may be purchased at any of the following stores in Peterborough and in the district and you should not put off getting them at once as they will not be sold after September 1st:—

Denne, Flour and Feed; Frank Dawson, Flour and Seed; Bond's Drug Store; McDermid's Drug Store; E. F. Mason; Peterborough Milk Products; Choate's Hardware, East City; Bank of Nova Scotia; Examiner Office; Lowe and Outram; LeBarr's Sporting Goods; Grady's Grocery, near the Exhibition; T. B. Manlece.

LAME BACK

May be the result of a strain, twist or exposure to cold. Any of these will cause a tightening of spinal muscles, and an interference with spinal nerves. You feel as though old age had suddenly descended upon you and life had lost its joy.

CHIROPRACTIC.

Spinal manipulation does afford relief in cases of lame back, so do not continue to suffer, but use a logical, scientific way to get well.

McCORMICK-DEERING NEWS
"Good equipment makes a good farmer better"
Published by
W. BURNS
THE FARM EQUIPMENT MAN

Vol. 1, No. 22 Peterboro Wednesday, August 21, 1929

Watch for the "News" each week. Suggestions and news items invited.
W. Burns, Editor.

If the bravest are the tenderest, the steer that supplied the meat for our dinner last Sunday was a coward.

If you pick your potato seed for next year's crop off the field, you'll want to get acquainted with our famous McCormick-Deering Potato Digger. This splendid machine makes seed selection easy because it digs the crop out with no bruising or cutting and shakes all the dirt free from the potatoes. You can pick the seed easily and accurately because all the potatoes are in a neat, compact, trash-free row.

Over here we hear a good deal about the Flanders poppy—and all to the good. Farmers in Flanders detest the flower because it multiplies so rapidly and becomes a serious pest to the crops.

Why not decide to get your Tractor now and get ahead of your work? You can get any land ready for wheat quickly and well, no matter how hard. Others are doing it, why not you? We can give immediate delivery.

"I want to buy a pair of shoes for my little girl."

"Yes, mam. Right this way. French kid?"

"I should say not. She is my only daughter!"

According to the latest and most worthy statistics, the population of the world is about 2,400,000,000.

Do You Know That:

The connecting rod of a McCormick-Deering tractor passes through twenty-one different machining operations and each one is carefully inspected for accuracy in machining as well as weight and balance, before reaching the assembly line?

Ice is that sort of substance which is associated with a tumble in the winter, a tumbler in the summer, and a skate the year round.

So Long. See You Next Week.

BIRTH.

COLLINS.—At Plumber Memorial Hospital, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., on Wednesday, August 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Collins (nee Ollie Grissin, formerly of Peterborough), a son, Milton Charles.

HONEY AND BUTTER spread better than either alone. Children like it. Let them eat all they want. It's good for them. The mixture costs less than butter alone, and tastes much better. Careful mothers know that bread and honey is the safest answer to the children's "between meals" hunger.
